Plug may be pulled on Gren - Dundas waste plan

SPENCERVILLE — The two-year-old Grenville-Dundas Waste Management Master Plan study may die if enough area municipalities opt to join a planned Leeds and Grenville United Counties study.

Representatives of the 13 municipalities involved in the study met for two-and-a-half hours in Spencerville last Wednesday afternoon and in the end decided to take the matter back to their individual councils for a recommendation.

The future of the study could very well be determined at the steering committee's next meeting, set for Mon., Jan. 30 at the Winchester Township hall.

Ministry of the Environment officials Hans Mooij and Susan Clarke told the meeting that their recommendation was to have those Grenville municipalities already involved in the Grenville-Dundas study consider joining the Leeds and Grenville study.

If that were the case, they said, the Dundas municipalities could then join a similar long-term waste management study currently being conducted by municipalities in Stormont and Glengarry counties.

Some municipal representatives, most notably former study chairman and former Edwardsburgh reeve Allan Gillis, were upset with the ministry's suggestions, particularly when Mooij pointed out that the move would result in a delay to the study of 12 to 18 months.

Those Grenville municipalities which have already invested time and money in the Grenville-Dundas study would be forced to put their work on hold until the other municipalities in Leeds and Grenville catch up to where they are.

The meeting was told that the same delay wouldn't apply for the Dundas municipalities, since the Grenville-Dundas study was at approximately the same stage as is Stormont-Glengarry study.

Though both Mooij and Clarke said the ministry would continue to support the participating municipalities no matter what decision the steering committee made, they pointed out that the MOE would provide funding for a municipality to participate in one study only.

Legislation coming

Clarke also pointed out that impending provincial government legislation, which she said could be passed within six months, will require all waste management studies to come under counties administration.

"We started this study," a visibly upset Gillis said. "Edwardsburgh started it and there was no talk (of participation) from Leeds and Grenville, although there should have been.

"To jump in at this stage, when we are 75 per cent through it, really throws a person, especially the initiating municipality."

Gillis demanded to know from the MOE representatives why they neglected to warn the study participants at the start that a move toward county administered waste studies was coming.

"Why did you allow us to start this study," he asked. "Why didn't you insist that the counties do it?"

Mooij responded that he wasn't in the ministry at the time and he couldn't answer the question.

In contrast current Edwardsburgh reeve David Sloan indicated he would favor a county-wide waste management study, adding that that had been the feeling when his township started the study two years ago.

One of those most strongly against splitting the study was Winchester village reeve Larry Gray. Gray complained that those municipalities who joined the study at the start, "those who saw the light", will be penalized by having to wait while other municipalities play catch up.

"It should be the other way around," he argued. "We shouldn't alter our study in any way. If we (in Dundas) are taken into the Stormont and Glengarry study our costs will go up.

"There should be some monetary compensation for the extra costs and the grievances we've already been through. We've had some pretty rough meetings and I don't want to go through that again.

"I'm still not convinced that the counties is the best place to administer anything, including garbage."

Opposed

In the end, Gray and Matilda representative Michael Ault were the only members to vote gainst a resolution to have Grenville-Dundas representatives hold discussions with officials from the Stormont-Glengarry study and from Leeds and Grenville County Council.

"We've waited for six months," said Sloan. "Hopefully now we can decide to push on or to leave (the study) by the wayside. Either way, we should know in a month."

Parent committee, board to discuss overcrowding

CHESTERVILLE — Members of the Chesterville Public School parents' committee will meet with the SD&G County Board of Education's facilities committee at the school next Tuesday night to discuss the overcrowding problem at CPS.

Parent committee spokesman Maureen Smirle told The Record Tuesday that about 10 members of the school committee will meet with board representatives to present them with a brief on the problems at CPS.

Four committee members met Monday night to begin work on the brief.

Enrolment at CPS now stands at 201 students, up 24 since 1984, and the number of students is expected to increase in 1989.

The increase could be exponential once the village's water shortage is ended and development controls on building lots in Chesterville are lifted, Smirle said.

The overflow of students continues to be handled with three portable classrooms, the oldest of which has been at the school for 19 years. The others have been there for over 16 years and a fourth may have to be added in 1989.

School committee members will tell the board representatives that the addition of another portable classroom is not the resolution to the problem. Parents want a permanent addition with new classrooms and an expanded library, Smirle said.

Chesterville Public has been gradually working its way up the county board's capital expansion priority list and now sits at the top of the tri-county board's wish list.

The snag for many years has been that the provincial government will only provide grants for one capital expansion per year and Chesterville's need has not been deemed great enough.

Once the expansion of Berwick Public School is completed, the Chesterville project would be eligible for provincial funding.

The boards' plan calls for the construction of two additional classrooms, but that may not be enough to satisfy local parents.

The school committee is willing to give the facility committee a chance to state its position, but if action is not forthcoming, Smirle said additional pressure will be brought.

The board wants to meet with only a few parent representatives next Tuesday night, "but if push comes to shove, we won't have any problem filling the school with parents."

With a predicted increase in enrollment in the fall of 1989, the kindergarten class at CPS may conceivably require four classrooms.

CPS now has 58 kindergarten students, 31 in senior and 27 in the junior class.

Board policy calls for a class to be split once it exceeds 26 students. The senior class has already been split while the junior class, with 27, has had its problem solved with the addition of a teacher's aide.

However, once this bulge begins working its way through the upper grade levels, more classroom facilities will be required, especially if there is a building boom here once the water shortage is over.

Rox. Township, resident make final Payne appeal

Greg Kielec

MOOSE CREEK — The township of Roxborough and one township resident are appealing the cost of engineering for work done on the Payne drain two years ago in hopes of reducing residents assessments for the project.

Erwin Loewen, who was assessed for $29,000 of the project cost, and Roxborough Council, representing the township ratepayers say the estimated $298,000 in engineering fees charged for the project is too high and should be lowered.

Residents living near or benefitting from the drain have been hit with significantly larger assessments because of the loss of a one-third federal grant from the $1.3 million project, coupled with an increase of the project cost.

Frank Hakvoort, who owns a 157 acre farm near the drain listed by the township under former owner Arnie Hakvoort, is one of the hardest hit, facing a $50,000 assessment for the drain work. About eight other residents have assessments above the $30,000 mark.

Loewen, a part-time farmer who lives south of the Roxborough Township Hall, near the mid-portion of the drain, said the appeal is the last legal avenue left for residents to get their assessments lowered.

He said the province's drainage tribunal had on a number of occasions before the project was started, sent letters saying it was concerned about engineering costs.

Brian Boyd, manager of A.J. Graham Engineering Consultants Ltd., Ottawa, refused comment on the issue until after the tribunal hearing.

But Loewen said one thing has been clear since the beginning of the project, and that is the engineering fees are too high.

"All I know is when the fees were $90,000, the tribunal asked to have them lowered."

The difference between the tribunal's order and the engineer's figure is significant enough to warrant a reduction, he said.

"We're not talking peanuts. It's not just a matter of a few dollars. We're talking big bucks here."

But Township Reeve Donald Cummings said that residents shouldn't be too optimistic for a reduction in their assessments.

What gain the township will receive will likely have to be paid toward the laywer fees for the appeal, he said.

He admitted that the engineering fees for the project are high, "but whether it's justified, is another thing."

He hopes residents will receive some benefit from the appeal, but he was reluctant to predict what the final outcome will be.

"It's hard to say. The engineer is not going to back off either," he said.

Loewen said he feels its the engineer's responsiblity to ensure a drain's design is cost-effective and should foot the bill if problems crop up and a design needs to be redone.

"That's the premise I've been operating on for the past three or four years now," he said.

He blamed the additional cost for the design of the drain on extra measures addressing environmental concerns, not specifically dealing with drainage.

Because of the environmental concerns, the cost of the drain went up, but farmers didn't receive an increased benefit.

"How exactly we're going to come out of this, I don't know," he said. But he maintained, farmers shouldn't be forced to pay anything "over and above" the cost of the drainage work for the project.

He said he's not specifically appealing the costs just to lower his own assessment, but said the $29,000 bill, which he paid on Friday will "almost terminate his farming operation entirely."

He could have debentured the $29,000 with the township over a ten-year period but he said it would make it virtually impossible to sell the farm with such a debt load.

Loewen had a brief hearing with the drainage tribunal in December but it was adjourned because one member couldn't attend. He doesn't know when his case will be back before the tribunal.

Fundraiser a sweet success

But no volunteers coming forward for village youth group

Greg Kielec

CHESTERVILLE — Chesterville's youth has money sitting in the bank waiting for it to use, but no one willing to oversee the spending of it.

Money from a November fundraiser by local rock group Sweet Success is sitting in the bank waiting for the formation of a village youth group.

But so far, no volunteers -- either youth or adult -- have "officially" come forward to help organize the group, says band manager Helen Lenthall.

The band raised about $4,000 at two concerts it put on at the Chesterville Community Hall in late November. The final total, after expenses, still hasn't been worked out yet, but Lenthall has guaranteed the group will have a healthy sum of money to start out with.

Unfortunately, no one seems willing to take over where the band left off and assume responsibility for a new village youth group.

"None...have officially come forward. There's just been some talk. But we need some official movement now," Lenthall said Monday.

She says the band would like to hand over the project to a committee of youth and adults from the community within the next 30 to 60 days.

"The band itself cannot handle the project," she said. "We're appealing for some new blood to get out and support this thing."

Youth representatives from the high school age level are needed to run the group with the help of a three to four member adult steering committee, she said.

The local Lion's club or Rotary could form the adult representation, with one member specifically overseeing group activities, she said. She also hopes a representative from the village business community will be able to oversee the group.

The group will have control of the group through their own president and vice president, she said, but they won't have completely free reign They'll have guidelines set by her and band members to operate under.

"They just can't go out and go crazy with this," Lenthall said. "It's a limited amount of funds. It's not an open-ended situation and we don't want it to be thrown on one big event."

Included in the guidelines are the stipulation that regular events, such as dances, be held at a location in the community, that the committee of representatives be renewed each year, and that a specific amount of fundraisers be held each year.

She would like the youth group to set up a budget and then work from there, she said. Learning to budget properly will also be good experience for the group's committee members, she said. "It gives them also learning tools for the future."

She plans to hold a meeting later this month to establish the youth group. She is hoping for a good turnout from both adults and the youth.

"We're investing in the future here."

Rox. reeve slams council on arena board decision

Greg Kielec
Record Staff

MOOSE CREEK — Roxborough Township Reeve Donald Cummings has criticized council's decision to withdraw its representation on the Maxville Sports Complex board of directors.

Township council decided at a meeting Dec. 20 not to appoint a director to the complex board this year. The decision was the first step in a move to withdraw the township's funding for the arena which amounts to about $4,000 annually, said Councillor Gerald Montcalm.

In the last 10 years the township has donated about $120,000 to the arena, he said.

If council decides to withdraw its funding, the money will instead be divided to be used by the three recreation associations in the township. The recreation associations will then subsidize part of the cost for children using arenas either in Maxville, Casselman or Finch, he said.

"Rather than totally subsidizing the arena, we are going to subsidize our own kids that are in minor hockey," he said.

"I think the money would be better spent that way. I think it probably makes a little more sense."

But Cummings said township residents using the arena will suffer from the decision. If the township withdraws its funding, residents using the arena will likely be hit with large user fees, he said.

"There might be a little cost-saving to the township, but it might be more costly to the ones using it."

He said he had received "quite a bit of flak" from township residents against council's decision. "As far as I'm concerned, it's a very narrow-minded decision," he said. "I guess they just didn't want to be part of it."

The arena is owned by the whole district and is operated by a board of directors comprised of members from each municipality using the complex.

By withdrawing its representation and funding, the township is eliminating itself from having any say in something it owns part of, he said.

But Montcalm said the township hasn't supported the Finch Arena for the past six to seven years and it wouldn't be fair to continue supporting the Maxville Sports Complex.

"Why do we give $4,000 a year in Maxville? It's not the only arena in the township either."

"The whole township here has always been a little bit one-sided as far as Maxville is concerned. We've supported the arena, we've supported the curling club, we've supported the manor, we've supported a lot of their facilities in the past."

But when the township as short of money last year to run its pools in Moose Creek and Avonmore because its Wintario grants had been denied, all it received was $500 and "a big letter" from their council "telling us how to raise funds," he said.

But George Currier, Maxville village reeve and chairman of the sports complex board, said the $500 it gave Roxborough was adequate, based on the number of its residents using the Moose Creek pool.

He also reminded Montclam that the Maxville and District Lions Club had its share in helping build the pool, donating $8,000 to the cause.

And Roxborough Township hasn't been one-sided in its handing out of grants to Maxville, he said. Kenyon Township, another neighboring municipality funds the arena the same way Roxborough has in the past.

Roxborough Council may complain about spending $4,000 a year for the sports complex, but the village of Maxville paid $16,000 itself last year to keep the arena running, he said.

He hopes to meet with Roxborough Township Council by Jan. 24, he said. But if members do decide they won't fund the arena, the village will have to slap user fees on the township residents, he said.

"If there is no funding coming from them, we'll have to go with user fees," he said.

Montcalm said, council will also save paying its representative $40 to $50 for each meeting attended for the arena board. "I couldn't see where we were getting anything out of it."

"At this point in time, I think it will be a little more equitable for the people of Roxborough," he said. "I just don't think it's fair we're supporting one (arena)."

Power outage leaves Stormont County in the cold

Greg Kielec
Record Staff

AVONMORE — One of the coldest nights of the year was considerably colder for residents who shivered their way through power outage throughout the area Thursday night.

The electricity went out in Avonmore, Ingleside, Long Sault, and part of Cornwall Township, at about 8 p.m. when a main feeder line three miles west of Cornwall "burned down," said Sheldon McLeod, sub line foreman at the Winchester Hydro office.

The outage was likely caused by an overload on the 45 kilovolt line, McLeod said. The line could have been damaged during electrical storms the past summer, making it more susceptible to a burnout, he said.

The outage, which lasted about two hours in Avonmore, wasn't a serious inconvenience to village residents, said Murray Barkley. "If it lasted overnight, it wouldn've been a lot worse," he said.

The short blackout sent people "scrambling for candles and flashlights", but many took comfort in the fact they had wood heat to keep them warm, he said.

He heard no major complaints from village residents. There was "a little bit of excitement" at the seniors apartment, but the residents were calmed with the arrival of the apartment's caretaker, he said.

While the outage only caused minor havoc in Avonmore, it significantly slowed work at the Kraft Foods Ltd. plant in Ingleside, grinding work there to a halt for 90 minutes.

"Our plant operates on a 24-hour a day basis so if it happens on a work day, the whole plant is shut down," said plant manager Ike Sawatsky.

The plant has enough emergency power for lighting but not enough to run the equipment used to make its cheese products, he said. "We have emergency lights in the area and they all find their way back to the cafeteria and wait."

The outage did back up production at the plant somewhat, but he said everyone tries to be patient, realizing it is a situation "beyond the control of the power company."

"When a peak becomes a peak, I guess this sort of thing happens," he said.

He considered the plant lucky, compared to some areas which waited to 5 a.m. to have power restored.

Power outages are not that unusual at the food plant, he said. There usually are brief outages at the plant caused by electrical storms during the summer months, he said.

One thing that is difficult to get used to is the quiet when the power does go out, he said. "It is very, very quiet when nothing is running in a plant this size," he said.

McLeod said the outage is ranked by Hydro "as a fairly major problem because there are so many people affected", and because of the amount of lost revenue during the power failure. But he said it isn't an unusual occurrence.

"This happens all the time -- cold weather, car accidents," as well as lightning in the summer, constantly play havoc with the company's power supply, he said. "All elements affect us."

The company had four to six men out working to restore power to the area, he said.

Toy hazard warning

OTTAWA — With the holiday season just over, the federal Department of Consumer and Corporate Affairs advises parents and caregivers to take particular care to keep small items -- especially broken toy parts -- out of the reach of small children.

The Department's Product Safety Branch warned that children under the age of three have a tendency to put all types of objects into their mouths.

Small objects, such as pins, batteries, buttons and parts of broken toys are particularly dangerous as a child may swallow them or choke on them and suffocate.

Recently, a 22-month-old boy died after a cone-shaped piece of broken finger crayon lodged in his throat. Most crayons are intended for use by children aged three and older.

However, certain types -- specifically finger crayons -- are used by children under the age of three. These children should be supervised when they are playing with crayons.

Crafts take new turn in Chesterville

CHESTERVILLE — Are you into making dolls?

All you need is a styrofoam ball -- for the head, perhaps a bottle, a few crocheting tips, a few other accessories -- and you are on your way to being a dollmaker.

You can get all that and more if you check out Turners' Craft shop in King St. in Chesterville. The new shop opened Jan. 3 and offers a wide variety of manuals and pattern books for craft-making and assorted raw materials such as the aforementioned styrofoam balls, pipe cleaners, pom-poms and different paints.

Pauline Turner, a Chesterville resident who owns the shop said, "It was my dream to have a craft place of my own. It's something I've always wanted to do."

Turner said she makes dolls at home, some of which are featured in the store's showcase window. She also gets help from her two daughters Mary La-Forest, also of Chesterville and Debbra Pittsford, who lives in the U.S.

Doll paraphernalia seems to stand out in the store, but you can also find do-it yourself craft making books, crocheting manuals and supplies for stamp and coin collectors among other things.

Turner said, "I hope it goes over well." She has plans to expand the shop if it does.

She said she would like to include items in her store that will appeal to more traditional men's hobbies. "We (hope to) go into models, trains if it goes over."

So far, she said, she's been happy with the first week. She's had customers from Prescott, Cornwall and as far as Ottawa.

Turner who also receives some help from her husband Ron, a retired electrician, said they moved to Chesterville about 4 years ago to retire here. Turner is originally from Bay City, Michigan.

THE CHESTERVILLE Record Editorial / Opinion

Parents of children at Chesterville Public School owe a debt of gratitude to members of the school committee for their persistence in bringing the SD&G County Board of Education to the table to discuss the problem of overcrowding at the local school.

It's been 19 years since the first portable classroom was installed to deal with overcrowding at CPS. A second portable school was added 17 years ago and the newest of the three has been in service now for 16 years. It leads one to believe that these temporary classrooms are about as portable as the pyramids of Egypt.

Coincidentally, it's been just over 19 years since local schoolboards amalgamated to form the tri-county board so the legacy of county-wide education policy in Chesterville has been not one, not two, but three, count 'em three, portable classrooms.

Now, in the tri-county board's 20th year, local parents will at last have a chance to sit down with members of the board's facilities committee to discuss the situation. School committee members will present the board representatives next Tuesday with a brief outlining their concerns and their solutions to the chronic overcrowding at CPS and will meet the board's facilities committee in a low-key setting.

However, committee representative Maureen Smirle has issued a warning that if a solution isn't soon found, the local committee will consider that push has come to shove and will involve all parents. It may be about high time, too, since Chesterville children have been pushed and shoved now for over 19 years.

At the risk of sounding like a broken record, the Free Trade Agreement, which went into effect between Canada and the United States last week, is once again the subject of this column, although this time on a more local angle.

Jim Jordan, newly-elected MP for Leeds-Grenville, used the agreement as the topic for his maiden speech in parliament last month to launch a lengthy cautionary note on the possible adverse effects on Eastern Ontario's industrial milk industry. Mr. Jordan raised the spectre of cheap American industrial milk, produced in states where winter quartering of livstock is unheard of, flooding across the Cornwall, Prescott and Ivy Lea bridges to inundate our small family-owned farms and cheese plants. Mr. Jordan used this argument successfully in the recent federal election campaign as he painted Leeds-Grenville red for the first time since the riding's inception, but like so many arguments against the FTA, it is misleading at best and specious at worst.

On the first count, commodities whose production is regulated by agricultural marketing boards are exempted from the agreement for at least 10 years. This point in the FTA was the major reason that the Consumers Association of Canada gave the agreement only lukewarm endorsement during the campaign, since it put an end to the prospect of cheaper Amercian products, like milk, chickens, eggs and turkeys, being imported into Canada.

Mr. Jordan also made the point in his inaugural speech that milk can be produced in the U.S. more cheaply than in Canada because in many areas, American farmers need not worry about the extra expense of the winter quartering of their dairy herds. However, what he neglected to mention in his speech - and what many FTA opponents conveniently forgot during the campaign - is that the largest dairy producing state in the United States is Wisconsin, which can hardly be considered as being in the sunbelt. In fact, the state is so cold in winter that only the Green Bay Packers can play football there and only one other NFL team - the Seattle Seahawks - is on a more northerly latitude (and those candies play indoors in the rainsoaked Pacific Northwest).

Tucked between Lakes Michigan and Superior, Wisconsin's northern boundary is on a rough parallel with Sudbury and its southern boundary is a touch north of Windsor. We here in Chesterville are on a rough parallel with Wausau, still well south of the state's most northerly town of Superior.

If anything, the Americans should be concerned about the flood of cheap Canadian milk pouring across their borders from such banana-belt locales (relatively speaking) as Chatham and St. Thomas.

No Mr. Jordan, if Wisconsin can withstand competition from the U.S. sunbelt states, then we should rest in comfortable security knowing that Ontario and Quebec can do likewise.

Chesterville's Past

09 From the Record Thurs., Jan. 7, 1909

Monday, being election day in town for municipal honors, and also for Local Option, quite a large crowd of people were in evidence all day until the poll closed, and long after. Quite an interest was manifested in both ballots, and everything that could be done was done, for victory or defeat. During the day many predictions were made as to the result in each event, and when the poll as made known, you could hear in different quarters from the knowing ones the expression of "I told you so". Winning with position of reeve was S. Robinson, defeating W.R. Fulton 128 to 109 votes, and positions winning for councillors were Dr. W.A. Brown, Dr. Geo. Eillis and T.J. McGee.

An exceptionally good program was given by the Finch Methodist Sunday School in their church New Year's night to a full house. Great credit is due this school, being so few in number, to render such an excellent programme. Special mention might be made of the four drills and especially the military and Harvest Drill.

The five horses brought to Ogdensburg by a farmer named Edward Hummel of Winchester, which were detained by the customs authorities and subsequently released upon payment of duties by Dr. Stephenson, who had a power of attorney from Hummel, were sold at an auction by W.G. Moore, Saturday. They brought a total of $770, the prices ranging from $105 to $195.

A Christmas family party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Crump, The Boyne, consisted of fifteen grandchildren, and Mr. and Mrs. Sproule of Cornwall, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Elliott of Grantley, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Crump, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Aggett of Cambridge and Mr. Christopher Aggett of Ottawa.

Miss Helen Lacy left Sunday night for Pittsburg, Penn. where she will spend the next six months in the Dietetics Department of the Western Pennsylvania Hospital.

Miss Maude Lacey left Tuesday morning for Boston, Mass. to attend the Dietetics course in the Peter Bent Brigham hospital during the next six months.

Mr. R.F. Hummel of St. John, New Brunswick, and Reginald Hummel of Perth, spent part of the holidays with their mother, Mrs. G.H. Hummel.

49 From the Record Thurs., Jan. 6, 1949

Baron Arther Teichamn Logischen, formerly a well-known international diplomat associated with Swiss Legations throughout the world, died unexpectedly Sunday night in Winchester Hospital. Baron Logischen, who was retired from the Swiss diplomatic corps, came to Canada a little over a year ago when his extensive estates in Austria were taken over by the Russians. It was his intention to take up farming here, and for this purpose he purchased a large farm near Winchester Springs. Previously considered to be in an excellent health, he had recently completed extensive alterations to his new farm. He had returned just last November from a trip to Switzerland, where he made arrangements for the transfer of his business affairs to Canada.

Chesterville Legionnaires narrowly averted defeat in their first home game of the Central Ottawa Valley Intermediate Hockey League Monday night, when Grenville Fyke slammed home a goal with a minute remaining to give the home team a 2 to 2 tie with the Morrisburg Intermediates. Only two penalties were handed out by referees D. Hutt and Alf Jarvis, to Woodman of Chesterville, and Cassel of Morrisburg, both in the opening period.

The Chesterville Rotary Club voted the sum of $25 worth of hockey sticks to the local Junior hockey club at their regular meeting Monday evening.

69 From the Record Thurs., Jan. 23, 1969

The fact that the CPR station here in town is slated for closing, as well as the one in Finch, did little to excite the village populations. At the peak of the crowd, this newspaper counted 14 souls present, aside from council members. A CPR superintendent of systems and precedures, James Gillespie, explained with clarity just what the railway has in mind.

The reeve of Winchester Township Council, Cecil McNabb, was elected and sworn in as warden of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, at a ceremony Jan. 20 in the council chambers of the county buildings at Cornwall. The motion of Mahlon Zeron, reeve of Matilda placed the MacNabb name in nomination. The reeve of Lancaster, Alex MacNaughton, seconded the motion.

All parts of the Finch hockey machine were functioning smoothly when they blanked Morewood 2 to 0 in the first game of a North Stormont Hockey League played at Finch Jan. 15.

The meaning of Remembrance

To the Editor:

Occasionally one hears the expression "Saved at the eleventh hour". I am not sure of the origin of this statement, although some people believe that it is related to Remembrance Day. If you recall, the Armistice, signalling the end of World War 1, was signed at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month in 1918.

Since then, however, we struggled through another global war, in 1939, but the original Remembrance Day has been retained to remind us of the many sacrifices made during those conflicts. Eact year, on November 11, we pause and reflect upon those same sacrifices. I always felt that it was a time of reverence for all Canadians...up until now.

Very recently, to commemorate this day, the Department of Veterans Affairs created a poster showing a Spitfire fighter plane with a pilot standing on the wing. This poster was mailed, free of charge to all schools, government buildings, and Legion halls across Canada. As many of your readers will remember, this plane was the backbone of the fighter squadrons during the Battle of Britain. Winston Churchill honored the R.A.F. contribution by saying "Never in the field of human endeavor, has so much been owed by so many to so few"...a fitting tribute and well deserved.

Three thousand of these posters were mailed to the Quebec Department of Education. The Communications Director, Suzanne Beaulieu, refused to have these posters displayed. She claimed that they glorified war, and tended to show that war had positive benefits. In addition, she stated that the Quebec Nationalists would find them offensive because they did not mention the fact that Quebec had rejected conscription during World War 1 and World War 2. Why she would want to draw attention to that fact is beyond me. This utter rejection of "things English" is paranoid in the extreme.

I am surprised that the Royal Canadian Legion has not taken exception to this incident. As a veteran, I find the Quebec attitude offensive. What the fate of France might have been without the assistance of those dreaded English and American soldiers is anybody's guess. Remembrance Day, as the term implies, means remembering. Quebec has not quite grasped the idea.

Yours truly,
Ken MacDonald

The Farmer's Wife

by Wyn Thompson

Enjoying the New Year

This beautifully sunny day offers welcome reprieve. To celebrate the mild day and the New Year, my friend and I went cross-country skiing.

My friend had not skied in years. As we got ready to take to my son's farm ski trails, my friend said, "This endeavour is not for the rigidly fashionable or the faint of heart."

It required some bundling up and prowling in drawers and closets for the proper clothing and the best fit possible as there was some fair difference in our sizes.

My gear is fairly standard and it varies little from day to day but, for my friend miles from home, it was catch as catch can. However, with the major tools of the trade there was no problem. The Farmer's skis and boots and poles were precisely the right fit.

As I shrug into a thick sweater, my friend bursts into the family room and lifts both ski pant legs, exposing violently purple knee socks. "This time I'm finally ready," she says, "I'm wearing a thin pair of cotton socks under these wooly ones. My feet will stay warm no matter where we go."

Up over the hill and onto the ski trail behind Hill House we go. Soon the old skiing skills returned to my friend, and in no time we were on the bush trail en route to number two son's home. We stopped in the shelter of the bush to enjoy the sound of the wind in the trees.

"Why did I ever give this sport up," my friend queried herself as much as me, "thought I was too busy with hiking up the corporate ladder, I guess. But what a mistake that was, I just now realize."

We blew our noses and pulled on our gloves again. "But on second thought," she laughed, "maybe I'll want to reverse that last statement when I attempt to crawl out of bed tomorrow morning."

We skied on, reached number two son's bush and decided to avail ourselves of his ski trails. Deep in the cedar woods, the little chickadees were singing their hearts out. What a magical choir here amid the peace and quiet of a January day.

We headed down the last trail to number two son's back door. We peeled off jackets and sweaters and sat cozily drinking tea while waiting for the promised snack.

Soon we were served homemade vegetable soup in thick white bowls - perfect fare on such a clear, crisp day. Warmed by the hearty soup and pleasured by the good visit, we head home through cedarlands, birch woods, slash trails, and pasture fields.

As we came out of the slash bush trail into an open field, snow fell: the first of any consequence in several weeks - serious, business-like snow, fine-grained, slanting downward upon gray-brown pasturelands, brown furrows.

The air was perfectly still, the heavens hung low. "How could it change so quickly?" my friend asked.

As we skied up the hill to Hill House, every branch of my spruce tree carried steadily its heaping load, while the roof began to be stoutly thatched with it.

I heard the call of a crow in the bush across the way, lonesome and muffled in the heavy air. We looked down the laneway. We are shut in by snow: no tracks, no trails, no roads to the outside road. Or so it seemed, for all looked smooth and white and clean.

"Wow," yelled my friend, "an excuse to stay a few more days before I'm Toronto-bound - the roads are simply impassable."

"Famous last words," I laughed, "just listen."

"That darned snowplow - why isn't the country like it used to be?" she groaned, then brightened and said, "but I've still got tonight, anyway."

"How would you like a big mug of mulled cider," I asked, as we peeled off our ski togs.

"You know, that's something I haven't had since I was a kid," she confided. "But where do you get the real cider to begin with, now?", she concluded as she disappeared into the last layer of a cotton t-shirt being pulled over her head.

"I know a place nearby where I can still buy the real stuff. It's not been filtered and pasteurized to remove all the fruit pulp and most of the flavor. This is the real stuff."

"Will you share your recipe," she continued.

"There's not much to it," I said. "Just pour the cider into a glass, enamel or ceramic-lined pot. For each pint of cider I add one stick of cinnamon, four whole cloves, cover and heat over a very low flame for about an hour. And that's it. However, it you're making it for a crowd, a slow cooker is the ideal way to simmer it."

We filled our mugs, put another log in the fireplace, and drank a toast to the New Year.

"Fine," said my friend, "and to the joys of the ski trails."

We waved her off in full sunshine the next morning. The Farmer went to the barn and I put a gnarled-pine chunk, chopped by the Farmer on our own land, upon the fire: and the odor of it burning brought such a wave of homesickness for the old camping days the Farmer and I shared with our Toronto friend and her husband - as I cannot describe. The odor of campfires - nothing can equal!

The mail lady stops at the box. I go to collect it. There in the box was the most gorgeous seed catalogue that ever I saw in my life. We spent half the evening gobbling it up: onions six inches across, corn eighteen inches long, and the color of pure gold. We will surely plant some of that seed.

It is a fine morning, I decide, as I watch the sun filter through the branches in the bush across the way. The best of these fine winter days, when the yard is full of snow, is my morning walk in my warm, old duffell coat, with my walking stick in my hand. The use of this walking stick began as a protection against the neighbour's dog, long gone, and now fulfills the role of walking companion.

The inner glow, the life of the mind, as I tread the snow and watch the sun moving slowly across the sky. Life is good! Life is good! I ask not, as the philosophers do, why I am here, what it is all about, and yet I enjoy, without answers, the beautiful wintry days, the heady morning air.

This bit of life, this idea, this vision, seems interesting to me, somehow beautiful. A New Year - how I will enjoy it. I wish you the same capacity for enjoyment!

Council decides to butt out

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — Winchester Township Council has passed a By-law banning smoking during council sessions.

The No-smoking motion, introduced by Deputy Reeve Wyman Barton, was passed by a 3-2 vote Jan. 7 after some debate.

The ban follows the recent widely publicized move by the federal government to ban smoking in federal buildings and a growing trend towards protecting non-smokers from smokers in public buildings.

Barton, a non-smoker, said he had asked his fellow councillors to consider the ban at the inaugural township council meeting Dec. 5. He cited the health hazard caused by smoking as his main motive for his motion.

At the council meeting Barton referred to the trend of legislating against smoking. He said that within two years the province may consider legislating against smoking in municipal buildings across Ontario.

In an interview with The Record he said, "When you read the papers you read about another group that is legislating against smoking."

Barton was surprised though that his motion was passed by a narrow margin. "I thought it would be passed by all people."

Councillor Jack Durant, a smoker, opposed the motion. He said, "It didn't go far enough."

It wasn't worthwhile for council to debate just a no-smoking ban during council sessions and put off further debate for later. "Why not address the issue once and get over with it."

Durant suggested a by-law to cover all municipal buildings except the fire department and recreation centre. He said firemen and recreation centre users would probably oppose a by-law affecting them.

Winchester Township Reeve Claude Cousineau, a smoker, voted in favor of the by-law. He said he respects the wishes of non-smokers who don't want to inhale second-hand smoke.

Cousineau added that he hopes the by-law would be extended to other municipal buildings. However that would have to be done in consultation with the fire department and the recreation association.

"I realize we didn't expand it as far as we could have, but it's a starting point," he said.

Barton agreed that a blanket smoking ban would be more difficult to put in place. He said if a ban included municipal buildings such as the Morewood Community Centre and a dance were held there, there could be problems. He favored studying other communities to find out what their solutions were.

Cousineau had a second motive for supporting the new by-law. He wants to quit smoking -- again. "I don't know why I started again. I had quit for two bloody years." But one night in December two years ago at a dinner someone passed out cigars and he couldn't resist.

Producer egg price rises

OTTAWA — The price paid to producers for Grade A large eggs this month will increase in all provinces according to the Canadian Egg Marketing Agency.

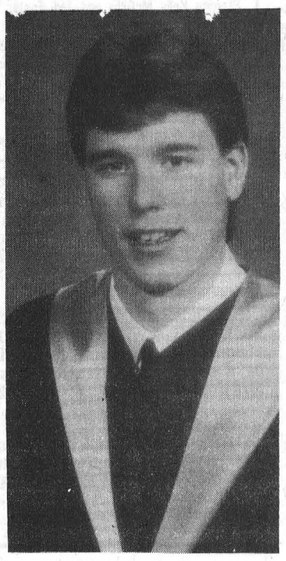
Prices paid to farmers in most provinces will increase by two cents per dozen due to increase pullet costs which are now reflecting the dramatic rise in feed costs.

The price in Newfoundland and New Brunswick will increase a penny a dozen to reflect differences in production costs in those two provinces. Nova Scotia prices will rise three cents per dozen for the same reason.

Saskatchewan and Alberta egg farmers will receive only one penny more per dozen taking into account a revised freight rate differential between Manitoba and the two prairie provinces.

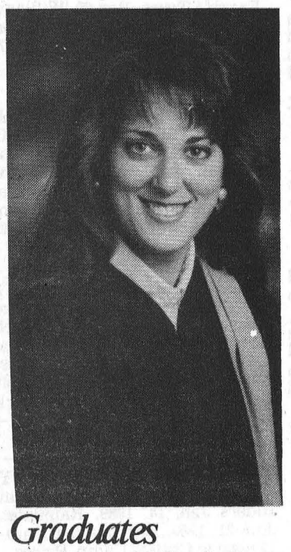
CEMA sets the producer price for Grade A large eggs at the beginning of each month using a cost of production formula.

The federal government's National Farm Products Marketing Council is advised of the prices before they are announced.



Graduated

Gary Beisheim, son of Karl and Hazel Beisheim, graduated from Civil Techonology, at the Loyalist College in Belleville. Gary is now employed by A. J. Robinson and Associated Consulting Engineers, Ottawa.



Graduates

Gerald and Lucille Scott are proud to announce that their daughter, Brenda has successfully completed the Medical Laboratory Technologist program at Toronto Institute of Medical Technology. Previously, she graduated from the University of Waterloo with a Bachelor of Science. She is currently employed in the hematology and blood bank department in a Toronto Hospital.

JANUARY KICKS OFF ONTARIO MARCH OF DIMES ABILITY FUND CAMPAIGN

January brings the snow, but it also brings a bright cheery face to warm your doorstep. The Ontario March of Dimes is once again kicking off the 1989 Ability Fund Campaign, on January 2, in the Ottawa area year the goal is to raise $3,175.

The annual campaign employs the help of 10,000 volunteers to canvass in 300 communities across Ontario.

The Ontario March of Dimes spends 90% of its dollars on three programs which include independent living assistance, mobility aids and employment training. The remaining funds are used to support programs ranging from a summer recreation program to a post-polio education network. Only 1.6% of the March of Dimes budget is directed toward administration.

"Independence is the yard stick we use to measure all of our services to disabled persons across Ontario," said Andria Spindel, Executive Director of the Ontario March of Dimes.

If you would like to make a contribution or volunteer time, contact the Ottawa Regional Office, at (613) 225-3912. Help us to develop the ability in disabled adults.

Rockland wins showdown 5-2

Todd Hambleton
Record Staff

FINCH — It doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out North Stormont Sixers and Rockland Nats don't like each other.

The two Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League clubs have been feudin' all season long and relations didn't improve any during first place Nats 5-2 win Thursday night at the Finch Community Centre.

"Me? I love 'em," facetiously retorted Sixers head coach Steve McRae shortly after game's end, one that, midway through the second period, began to degenerate from a hard hitting, tight-checking playoff type matchup into a series of cheap shots and dumb penalties.

In all referee Mike Burton issued 103 minutes in penalties (53 to Sixers) slapped three game misconducts at Rockland, two to North Stormont, and, for good measure, tossed four players out of the game for a pair of rip-roaring toe-to-toe split decision melees.

"Why don't we like them? Because they're intimidating and they take runs at us," answered Sixers assistant coach Kevin Mackler.

After a short pause, Mackler elaborated. "The reason we don't like each other and the reason the games are usually rough when we play them is because we're the only team that stays in the game with them. Most of the time they (Rockland) blow teams out in the first period. But we can stay with them and it gets chippier as the game goes on. "They get frustrated and start taking runs at us if they're not way ahead," continued Mackler, who's club, indeed, had played Nats even until Jean Maisonneuve took over notching a natural hat trick scoring once late in the second and twice in the third period to snap a 2-2 tie.

Not surprisingly, Rockland coach Bob Fairfield's impression of the two clubs sour disposition differed slightly. "It's true, it's a very physical game when we meet. I think the problem is that once the game is out of reach they start hitting. It's not just against North Stormont it's against everybody.

"We have a really strong team and once we get ahead of the other team we start taking a lot of cheap shots," said Fairfield.

Got a feeling these two teams won't be sharing a table at the EOJCHL banquet at season's end?

Fairfield went on to say he feels higher calibre officiating is required to keep EOJCHL games from getting out of control. "One of the kid's will get seriously hurt if a lot of the games are played like this one was tonight. The refereeing just isn't consistent enough. Both sides get upset with the calls and the result is the games become more physical and dirty."

Fairfield's Nats also got goals from Jean-Marc Vinette and Pierre Payant, in the first period, as the visitors carried a 2-1 lead to the second.

After a dearth of good scoring opportunities early in the middle stanza, Sixers big break came midway through the frame when they were presented with a two-man power play opportunity for the full two minutes.

Although Nats defended well and were able to hold North Stormont shotless for the duration, Sixers capitalized just as two penalized players stepped out of the box before they were able to retreat to the defensive zone. Pierre Landry did the scoring honors taking a pass from Ken Robinson at the right point, waltzing towards the goal untouched and beating Mario Laplante to the left corner over the top shoulder with a close range wrist shot.

Both teams broke out of their defensive shells late in the period displaying wide open end to end action culminating in Maisonneuve's game winner with 2:52 left, who worked the two-on-one to perfection beating Sixers' keeper Brad Barton on a crossing pass from Eric Laviolette.

Maisoneuve notched the clincher with five minutes left converting a pretty tic-tac-toe passing play with Rockland enjoying a man advantage.

Maisonneuve's third marker came with 1:21 to go.

Randy Lasperance, on a Ken Konink pass, gave Sixers a short-lived 1-0 lead midway through the first period.

The loss, their only game over the week, dropped third place Sixers record to 13-8-1, 27 points, and, with just 13 games remaining, leaves them with little chance of catching Rockland (19-1-2, 40 points) for first place.

But despite witnessing Nats knock off Sixers for the second straight time in three outings thus far this season, coach Steve McRae isn't convinced Rockland is destined to win their second consecutive EOJCHL championship.

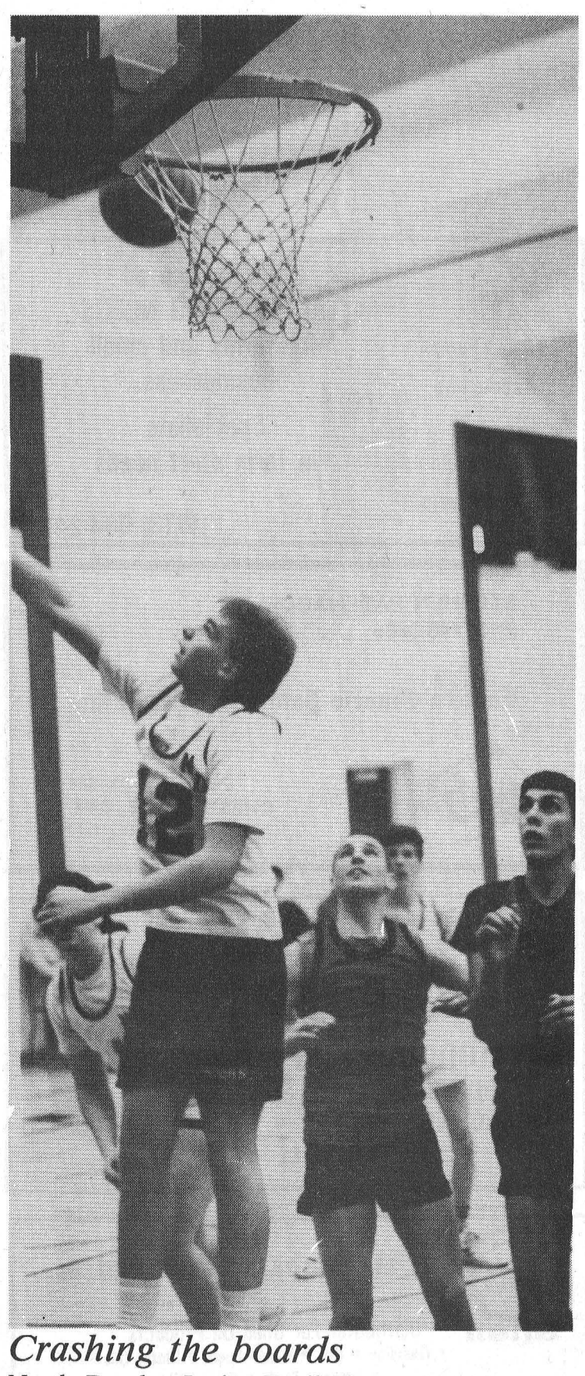
"I still think they're beatable," said McRae, pointing out Nats only regular season loss was administered by Sixers (7-6) back on October 20. "But we have to play as a team and not play shorthanded. You can't play them and win if you've got someone in the box all the time. You just have to keep your cool."

Mackler also touched on the penalty theme. "It was the penalties that cost us a comeback. Once they got the lead we spent the whole third period in the box and didn't give ourselves a chance to come back.

"If we'd have gotten a bounce and had the lead I don't think they would have caught us. But don't get me wrong," added Mackler. "They're a good hockey team. They have an awful lot of talent."

Sixers will attempt to close the four-point gap on second place Casselman-Cambridge Stars when they welcome Chesterville Flyers to the Community Centre Thursday night. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Sixers are in Clarence Sunday for a 2:30 p.m. start.



Crashing the boards

MAPLE RIDGE — Perhaps it was a case of oversized portions of holiday gourmet fare, jestingly offered North Dundas Devils junior boys basketball coach Gerry Jean.

Or maybe the fact that neither team had seen action in over three weeks had something to do with it, suggested Glengarry Gaels mentor Marc Sauve.

Whatever the cause the result was a sluggishly-played, turnover-ravaged Gaels 42-34 win, Devils first loss after opening the campaign with three straight victories.

"It was a sloppy game. We haven't been practicing because of the holidays and this is our first game back. Usually we can score 50 or 60 points when we're on our game," said Sauve, who's club was led by A. Chalmer' 15 point effort.

"He's their best player," said Jean, who, although Gaels don't appear again on Devils regular season schedule, is anticipating another matchup against 3-1 Glengarry. "We'll tighten up defensively. Chalmers won't have enough room to put a piece of paper between himself and the ball next time we play them.

"We'll be ready for them. As the game went on I used all ten players to strengthen our second squad. I want to get both lines a lot of playing time so we can get them ready and have two solid units working in the playoffs."

Devils, who led 15-14 at the half but fell behind 22-18 after three quarters, allowed Gaels to go on a 9-0 early fourth quarter run taking a 31-18 lead, a spurt they couldn't recover from.

"Alexandria is a good, big team," said Jean. "But we controlled the boards and we were able to get inside, it's just that our shooting was off; that was the big thing. That will happen from time to time.

"Usually our shooting percentage is much higher. But there haven't been many practices lately, and we were off our game because of it."

Jason Kennedy led North Dundas offensively scoring eight points. Darren Hutt pumped in seven points, Philip Burns was good for six. Also scoring for Devils was David Harper (four), Ashley Byers, Trevor Plumb, Sean Salter (three), Brian Helmer and Todd Marcellus (two).

Seniors Lose

In the early game Gaels seniors set the stage for a Glengarry sweep turning back Devils 38-35.

Devils played Gaels even through one quarter, tied at 14, but an 11-6 second quarter edge put Glengarry out in front, 25-20 at halftime, for good.

Karim Oliver was Devils top point getter, sinking 13. Andy Van Bruinessen contributed eight. Also scoring was Jevon Groves (four), Chris Williams, Shawn Clark, Dennis Ouellette, Andre Harvey and Jason Groves, each with two.

M. Mayes led Glengarry connecting for 13 points.

Warriors now 4-0

AVONMORE — Tagwi Warriors senior boys basketball team improved their SD&G Athletic Association regular season record 4-0, bouncing Seaway Spartans 77-33 here Wednesday.

Guard Sylvain Hebert, who's led Warriors averaging 16.5 points per outing, was high scorer against Spartans, netting 19.

Forward Randy Canham poured in 17. Five other players - Luc Curotte (10), Roch Benoit (9), Chad Brownlee (7), Andrew Brown (7) and Rod Theoret (6) -- shared in Tagwi's offensive attack.

"We've been getting balanced scoring and unselfish play from our lineup of late," said Warriors coach Larry Poirier. "I'm really pleased with the team's progress. That was our best team effort all year."

At an individual level Poirier says Chad Brownlee is molding into an offensive force -- "his scoring touch is improving each time out -- and added Andrew Brown's unselfish play was a highlight in Wednesday's win. "Andrew is a super passer. It's unfortunate we don't keep assists and rebounds statistics at the high school level because they tell you so much about the game. But Andrew picked up a bunch of them (assists)," added Poirier.

Warriors, who led 13-8, 35-14 and 49-21 at quarter intervals, improved their overall record to 7-0.

Chris McCurdy led short-staffed and overmatched Spartans with 14 points.

Joe Stelmach's junior Warriors dodged a late bullet to win their first of the year, 34-32 over Seaway. Spartans went to the line in the dying moments but couldn't can a pair of free throws that would have tied the game.

Center Stefan Ratayczak pumped in 19 points to lead 1-3 Warriors.

Dean Canham (4), Anson Acres, Kevin MacCormick, Jon MacCormick, Brad Maloney (2) and Jeff MacLean (1) all scored for Tagwi, who broke an 18-18 half-time deadlock outscoring Spartans 8-4 in the third quarter.

D. Merkley's nine points was tops for Seaway.

Warriors are in action again Thursday (Jan. 12) at St. Lawrence.

Cornwall takes 'A' at bantam tourney

Vankleek Hill steals 'B' final

FINCH — In the end Vankleek Hill Cougars led the only time it mattered.

Cougars rallied from one-goal deficits four times to steal the "B" title from host NG-S Braves at the North Glen-Stor Bantam Tournament Saturday, winning the highly entertaining final 5-4 on Dave Page's dramatic goal two minutes into a sudden death overtime period.

Page, positioned in the high slot, beat Braves goaltender Rodney MacKillican with a backhand high to the right corner capping a series of comebacks that left NG-S coach Don Foster talking to himself. "We just couldn't put them away," said Foster shortly after the contest. "We just blew it. We had our chances, but that's been our problem all year -- scoring goals. We just missed too many chances early in the game when we had a chance to put them away."

Foster wasn't satisfied with his forwards defensive effort, either, who staked themselves to the lead four times but got sloppy in their own end and allowed Cougars to roar back. "We weren't getting the puck out of our own end well. The defence got it up to the forwards but they couldn't get it out."

Braves, who got two goals from Chris Leroux and singles from Jason Foster and Paul Jackson, appeared to have shaken Cougars from the trail when Leroux notched his second goal giving NG-S a 4-3 lead with under five minutes left.

Danny MacMillan's low point drive re-directed off a defenders skate to Leroux positioned to the right of the goal, who, in one motion wheeled around and slid the puck into the open right corner past a startled M. Howes.

But C. Barton, with his second goal, got Cougars back on even terms just over a minute later, converting a goal mouth scramble.

S. Perrault and A. Higginson also scored for Vankleek Hill, recipients of the most sportsmanlike team award.

"The team award means more to me than winning the "B", said Cougars coach Jim Horner, pointing out his club didn't take a penalty in a semi-final round overtime 5-4 win over Canterbury. "It was a very disciplined effort from our players. We showed a lot of character winning both our games in overtime. The boys played well and they played hard.

"Everytime we got behind our guys kept pumping them back. They just wouldn't quit."

After a lethargically-played first period with few bona fide scoring chances, Chris Leroux opened the second period scoring floodgates fanning on a breakaway shot but getting enough of the puck to slide it past Howes, four minutes in.

Cougars tied it at one two minutes later but Braves took a 2-1 lead to the final period win when Jason Foster pinched in from his rearguard position and unleashed a wrist shot from 20 feet out that found the target.

The clubs then combined for three goals in 56 seconds early in the third. Cougars' Barton notched his first tying the game at two at 7:18, but Jackson restored Braves lead, at 3-2, 26 seconds later. Leroux drew an assist when he was stripped of the puck while driving down the middle lane towards the goal. Jackson, trailing on the play, picked up the loose puck in the slot and drilled in a wrist shot.

Higginson tied it for never-say-die Cougars thirty seconds later.

Vankleek Hill was bounced to the "B" pool losing their early morning game 5-2 to Massena.

The overtime loss was Braves second of the tournament. They were dealt to the "B" after suffering an extra session preliminary round 2-1 loss to St. Isidore.

Braves recovered to down Ogdensburg 4-2 in their "B" semi-final matchup, on the strength of Chris Leroux's three goal effort. Marc Hebert also scored for NG-S, who built up a 3-1 first period lead and led 4-2 heading to the scoreless third.

Hebert scored Braves' lone goal into the St. Isidore loss, tying the contest at one midway through the second period. P. Rozon's goal with 34 seconds left n the fourth period decided the issue.

Cornwall Takes "A"

Cornwall won the "A" division championship over Massena 2-1. R. Fox scored the tournament winner breaking a 1-1 tie with 4:27 left in regulation on a left point slapshot beating Massena goalkeeper T. Hayes low to the glove side.

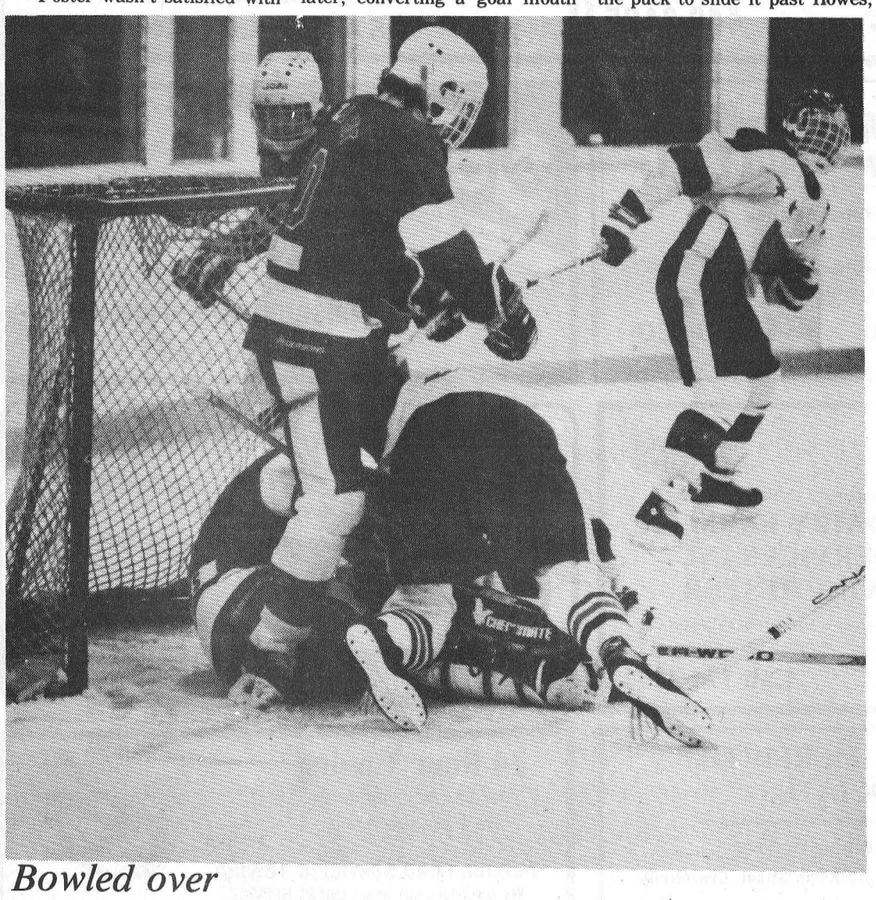
S. Murphy had given Massena an early 1-0 lead scoring 28 seconds into the first, but J. Gallinger tucked a wrist shot just underneath the crossbar midway through the second period to get Cornwall back to square one.

Cornwall advanced to the championship game shutting out St. Isidore 4-0 in a semi-final matchup.

Cornwall sent Ogdensburg to the "B" pool winning their preliminary round game 7-3.

Massena eliminated Char-Lan 2-1 in their second round encounter. Massena skated past Vankleek Hill in their first game.

The other preliminary round result saw Char-Lan double the count on Canterbury, 2-1.



Bowled over

Cornwall Royals foward is roughed up in the crease by Massena defender C. Leather at the North-Glen Stor Bantam Tournament in Finch Saturday. However, Massena goalie T. Hayes appears to be getting the worst of the exchange. Cornwall came out on top winning the "A" championship game 2-1 over their cross-border rivals.

North conquers South 8-5

ROCKLAND — North, comprised of players from Casselman-Cambridge Stars, Rockland Nats, Clarence Township Beavers and St. Isidore Eages, topped South 8-5 at the Eastern Ontario Junior "C" Hockey League All Stars came here Wednesday (Dec. 28).

League-leading scorer Daniel Jean of Clarence Beavers scored twice and added an assist for North, who built up a 4-1 first period lead and led 5-3 heading to the third.

Rockland's Daniel Vinette also scored twice. North singles went to Mario Bertrand (Clarence), Paul Maisonneuve (St. Isidore), Pierre Demers (Clarence) and Luc Lavictoire (Rockland).

North Stormont Sixers had seven players, (goaltender Todd McIntyre, defenceman Bob Van Delst, Mike Van Delst, forwards Pierre Landry, Todd Blaine, Tim Ouderkirk and Dale Murray) named to the 19 man South squad.

Chesterville Flyers were represented by forward Raymond Sherrer, who scored once.

Jr. 'C' Flyers not out yet - Anderson

ROCKLAND — Don't count the Chesterville Flyers out yet.

Just because Rockland Nats humbled Flyers 16-5 here Sunday ending a modest two game winning streak is no reason to dismiss Flyers Chesterville's playoff aspirations as a pipe dream, says coach Kirk Anderson.

"Let's face it, Rockland's got a good team, they've only lost once all year. We knew going in there it was going to be tough. But as for us making the playoffs I think it will be very close. We're not mathematically out of it by any stretch of the imagination," said Anderson Monday.

With 14 regular season games remaining, Flyers trail sixth place Clarence Township, who have slumped badly of late, by ten points in the race for the final playoff spot.

Anderson figures he'll need to put at least eight or nine of those games into the win column -- a mighty torrid pace for a club that's only won three times in its first 21 outings. "We can do it. We're a different team now," said Anderson. Most of our kids are back -- we've got a full lineup for the first time this year.

"We play Russell three more times and Clarence Township twice. We have an excellent chance at winning all five of those games. If we don't win them we don't deserve to get into the playoffs."

While Anderson says he doesn't expect 7-11-2 Beavers to post too many more victories he knows full well Flyers will need to take away points from some of their upcoming games against the Eastern Ontario Junior "C" Hockey League's first division teams. "Beating Clarence and Russell isn't going to be enough. We're going to need more wins against the St. Isidore's and the North Stormont's.

"We've got a lot of ground to make up and if we're looking at eight or nine more wins, we're going to have to beat the top teams."

Flyers will get a chance to do just that Thursday night when they meet the North Stormont Sixers in Finch. Says Anderson: "We're looking forward to that game. North Stormont has a good team and I enjoy playing them. Hopefully we'll give them a better run for their money this time."

Flyers dropped a 5-1 last time the clubs met, Dec. 22.

In Rockland, Jerrold Boulanger handled the bulk of Flyers scoring, tallying four times. Ray Sherrer scored their other goal.

Rockland built up period interval leads of 5-1 and 8-2 before erupting for eight more in the third.

"They've got a big rink up there, and they're quick," said Anderson. "Hopefully we'll play better against them at our smaller rink (Chesterville Arena, Sunday, 1 p.m.)."

Flyers stretched their unbeaten string to two games in Russell Friday night hammering lowly Russell Lions 15-9.

Flyers, who received a four goal effort from Jerrold Boulanger, cruised to a 7-3 end of one lead, scoring three times in the first minute and a half.

Kevin Byers and Brian Brown each added three Chesterville goals. Ray Sherrer scored twice. Chris Leblanc, Chris Green and Ken Byers each scored once for Chesterville, who carried a 10-7 lead advantage to the third period.

Russell is last in the eight team loop with just one win in 21 outings. "I know what their coach (Brian Robinson) is going through. It can be rough," sympathized Anderson, who has incurred more than his share of shellackings this season.

"But as far as we're concerned the Russell win was a real moral booster," added Anderson. "I know it was only our second win in a row, but it's something to build on."

Layoff takes its toll on ND midget Demons

CHESTERVILLE — The long holiday layoff has taken its toll on North Dundas Nestle Canada Ltd. Midget Demons.

Flying high before the break with a 6-1-2 record, Demons have now lost back-to-back Upper Canada Minor Hockey League regular season games for the first time this season, dropping a 5-2 decision against North Leeds in Westport Monday (Jan. 2) and suffering a 7-2 setback at home against Metcalfe one night later.

"We're scraping the bottom of the barrel right now. "That was definitely our worst performance of the season," said coach Bernie Harper of the Metcalfe loss. "But you can't take anything away from Metcalfe. They were sharp and persistent -- they get full marks for their win."

Mustangs were sharp enough to explode for four first period goals. Will O'Connor, from Chris Holmes and Gerry Van Kessel scored for Demons with 4:27 left in the first frame to narrow the deficit to 3-1 but a Metcalfe goal by Chris Wilson, his second, late in the period put Demons behind the eight ball again at 4-1.

After a scoreless second, Metcalfe, who also received a two-goal effort from Darrell Warren and singles from Chris Wynn, Glenn Murphy and Ken Stanley, increased their lead to 6-1 midway through the third before Jeff Miltimore responded with Demons second marker. Andrew Henderson and Chris Holmes drew assists.

Against North Leeds, Demons got out of the starting gates slowly, and trailed 2-0 before the game was six minutes old.

David Donald cut the deficit in half scoring with 2:40 left in the first, but North Leeds, who received a pair of goals from Jamie Scott and singles from Joe Grace, Troy Bresse and Thomas Myers, scored again before the period was out putting the home side up 3-1.

The teams exchanged goals in the second period. Gerry Van Kessel, with help from Andrew Henderson and Scott Francis, notched Demons final marker.

Jason Kennedy and David Harper drew assists on David MacDonald's first period goal.

"The long layoff really showed" said Harper. "There was just no intensity. We hadn't practiced since early December because of a lack of icetime and it really had an effect.

"But we had a great practice Sunday, so hopefully we've turned the corner."

Demons attempted to pick up their first win of 1989 hosting South Grenville Grenadiers Tuesday (Jan. 10).

Demons next action is against Athens Flyers, in Chesterville, Tuesday, Jan. 17. Game time is 8 p.m.

Maroon increases first-place lead

CHESTERVILLE — Maroon has increased their first-place Chesterville Men's Town Hockey League lead to seven points following a 6-1 win over Green Wednesday (Jan. 4) night at the Chesterville Arena.

The win was Maroon's fifth consecutive. They have 18 points on the strength of nine wins and three losses.

In Wednesday's win Maroon received goals from six different players. Steve Plummer and Jim Peters tallied in the first period, Don Imrie and Lyle Servage found the net in the second and Kevin Moore and Curtis McMillan struck for markers in the third.

Moore picked up a pair of assists for Maroon. Credited with one assist each was Lyle Servage, Todd Findlay and Bruce Angus.

Darren Kelly, with help from Brad Hanes and Dale Hutt, spoiled Pat Brugmans shutout bid with 80 seconds left in the third.

The loss dropped Green (three wins, five losses, four ties, 10 points) into third place because Blue was able to double the count on White, 4-2.

With the score tied at two in the third Blue's Terry Barkley notched the go-ahead and game winning goal with seven minutes left.

Steve Dillabough, who assisted on Barkley's effort, added a Blue insurance goal with three minutes left in the contest. Barkley and Paul Robertson drew assists.

Blue had taken a 2-0 lead to the third period scoring twice in the first, but Darren Kirkwood got White even early in the third. Kirkwood converted a Sandy Johnston pass forty seconds into the final period narrowing the gap to 2-1, then struck again just 51 seconds later to tie the game.

Wally Van De Kemp set up Kirkwood's second goal.

Jim Pennock, thirty seconds in, and George Michels two minutes later, scored for Blue in the first.

Pat Imrie and Mark Smith each drew assists on Blue's first frame goals.

Blue (four wins, five losses, three ties) has 11 points and occupy second place in the four team league.

White rounds out the pack in fourth place with nine points. They have three wins and three ties in twelve regular season outings.

In action the previous week Maroon kept their win streak alive scoring twice midway through the third period overcoming a White 4-3 lead. Todd Findlay drew Maroon even at four scoring with 7:33 left, Curtis McMillan notched the game winner with 4:20 to go.

Kevin Moore, Wade Levere and Greg Kelly also scored for Maroon, who led 3-1 after one but gave up two second period goals and went to the third tied at three.

Pat Moran and Gary Beishem each scored twice for White. Beishem's second goal came with 50 seconds gone in the third giving White a 4-3 lead.

Also on Dec. 28 Green and Blue skated to a 3-3 tie.

Lady Demons settle for tie

EMBRUN — North Dundas Lady Demons built up a 2-0 first period lead then had to settle for a 2-2 draw in a ROMEKS Intermediate Girls Hockey League game played here Sunday.

Stacey Berry got the visitors off to a quick start scoring on the game's first shift, 37 seconds in.

She increased Demons lead to 2-0 eleven minutes later, scoring on a pass from J. Roach.

Embrun's Mylene Leblanc trimmed the North Dundas lead to 2-1 scoring the only goal of the second period, one minute in.

After holding onto their advantage for most of the third period, Demons allowed Nadine Bourdeau to tie the contest with 1:21 left.

No chance

Berwick Blazers' goaltender Brugmans can only watch this close-range Finch Merchant shot sail into the net in a North Stormont Intermediate Hockey League game at the Finch Commmunity Centre recently. Pat Merchants were knocked out of first place in the four team league by surging Avonmore Aces in weekend action. Blazers are in last place having lost nine straight.

Aces in penthouse, Blazers in basement

FINCH — Avonmore Aces are the new occupants of the North Stormont Intermediate Men's Hockey League penthouse.

Aces displaced Finch Merchants as league frontrunners Sunday night by edging Berwick Blazers 2-1. Merchants could only earn a 7-7 draw against stubborn Morrisburg Goads.

The two teams began the night's action tied for first place, by virtue of Avonmore's 4-2 win over Finch Friday night. Finch had led the four team loop since regular season action began in October.

Against Berwick Sunday Aces needed a goal from Terry Gove with just five seconds remaining to break a 1-1 tie.

Blazers appeared to be ready to put the brakes on a eight game losing skid when John Guy connected to tie the game at one with 2:33 left, but Gove's dramatic goal marker sent Berwick to their seventeenth loss in 19 outings.

Blazers are in last place with three points.

Aces' Brent Theede opened the scoring notching an unassisted goal midway through the first half. Aces sport a 12-4-2 mark, good for 28 points, one better than Finch.

That's because Merchants blew a 7-3 lead allowing Goads to score twice in the last four minutes. Doug Byers scored his second goal narrowing the gap to 7-6 with 3:59 left; Bruce Casselman netted the equalizer with 24 ticks remaining on the game clock.

Dale Adams, Bill Mullin, Steve Casselman and Lindsay Weegar also scored for Goads, who trailed 4-2 at halftime.

Gordie MacDonell scored three times to lead Finch. Ed de Witt notched two goals, while singles went to Hughie Coleman and Pete Clements.

The loss dropped Finch's record to 11-2-5, for 27 points.

They're still comfortably in front of third place Morrisburg, who, with the draw, improved to 7-8-4 (18 points).

In Friday's clash of the frontrunners, Aces pulled into a first place tie with Merchants rallying from a late second half 2-1 deficit with three straight goals to win 4-2.

After Frank Sinfield, with his second goal, had given Finch a 2-1 lead with six minutes left, league-leading scorer Brent Theede responded with a pair of goals, with 4:30 and 2:36 to go, to turn the game around.

Randy McRae scored his second goal with 44 seconds left to ice the win and draw Aces into a first place tie.

The teams were tied at one at the half.

In Friday's early game Blazers and Goads combined to score 18 goals, with winning Goads picking up two thirds of them to record a 12-6 win.

Doug Byers five goal effort paced Morrisburg. Dale Adams and Trevor Gill each notched deuces. Singles went to Lindsay Weegar, Donny Nesbitt and Bill Mullin.

Andy Brown scored twice for Blazers, who trailed 4-3 at the half.

Bernard Grady, Denis Landry, Frank Landry and Barrie Smith tallied Berwick singles.

Are You Really Big-Hearted? (Part II)

Last time we discussed how it has long been recognized that the heart becomes "larger" with athletic activity, especially through aerobic exercise. The wall of the heart does not thicken, as it does with anaerobic exercise (i.e. weight lifting), but the heart cavity itself enlarges, increasing the heart's capacity to pump more blood with each beat. So, continuing along these lines;

F. The Body Uses Oxygen More Efficiently By Developing Its Aerobic Metabolish Capability. The body produces energy at the microscopic level of the cells. With exercise, the body learns to produce larger amounts of oxygen to produce a sustained supply of ATP. ("ATP" stands for adenosine triphosphate, which is the form of energy ready to be used for muscular activity.) The lungs increase in size, and breathing capacity also increases.

G. The Lactic Acid System Is Used Less. The lactic acid system, producer of the fatiguing by-product lactic acid, becomes less necessary to the aerobically trained body. Remember that the two anaerobic energy systems function to deliver a "kick" of energy for the first few minutes of exercise, and can also be drawn upon for another end-of-the-marathon "kick". As the body adapts to lengthier, low intensity sessions of exercise, aerobic metabolish replaces the lactic acid system earlier. So it reduces the accumulation of lactic acid, resulting in overall greater endurance without early fatigue.

H. The Ratio Of Fat To Muscle Begins To Shift. Aerobic exercise, which burns fat for energy, can decrease the stores of fat in the body when incorporated with a low fat diet. At the same time, lean muscle mass increases to meet the workload of regular exercise. The combination of fat decrease and muscle increase results in a shift of body composition. The body weight may not change significantly, but as muscle occupies less space than fat, the body loses inches and feels more firm and toned.

I. The Body Burns Calories More Efficiently. Muscle burns about 90 per cent of the calories we eat, but fat burns nothing! With the shift in body composition as lean muscle replaces the stores of fat, the calories we eat can be used for energy needs instead of being stored as unwanted body fat. At a high level of physical fitness, we may consume more calories and not gain weight.

J. Exericse Can Help With Psychological And Emotion Coping. When we understand the large contribution exercise makes to physical fitness, we can see that a satisfying lifestyle almost always incorporates regular exercise. Exercise, by conditioning the body to become more efficient and produce larger amounts of energy, gives us the ability to achieve more than everyday survival. Stress can be met and handled more easily; the challenge of setting and reaching everyday and long-term goals becomes more than just a possible dream.

The last two weeks have been concentrating on the body's response mainly to aerobic exercise. Next time we'll look at the body's response to anaerobic exercise. Both anaerobic and aerobic exercise induce a shift from fat to muscle in body composition. Both also cause the body to increase its energy levels. Anaerobic exercise, however, focuses on delivering power response from the muscles. It does not develop the endurance properties that aerobic exercise develops and refines.

My Silent Achiever this week is a very beautiful red-haired Nestle's employee. This energetic mother of two has made exercise a priority for many years. Lately, however, she has become even more nutrition conscious, and is looking skinnier and more gorgeous than ever! Well Done!

We are so very lucky to be able to do it for ourselves.
