Price Of Milk Drops; Foreign Firms Undersell Powder and Butter Take Biggest Skimming

On Monday in Toronto, the Executive of the Ontario Powdered Milk Producers' Association met the manufacturers in an effort to reach an agreement on the price of milk going into the powder plants. It was finally settled that two minimums were to be established, that of $2.50 for Skim Milk Powder and butter, and $2.60 for all other powdered milk products

On Tuesday the representatives of the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association met the condensery operators. The situation for evaporated milk has worsened somewhat and the manufacturers feel that more price arranging is in order. Some of the plants are still carrying milk manufactured last August and are having extreme difficulty getting it out of the warehouses. The export business in Canada is stagnant because of the $1.00 difference in cased milk on the export market between Canadian and USA milk. In the end, it was agreed that the price for domestic milk was to be $2.90 per hundred while export milk would take a drop to $2.65 a hundred. These are minimum prices of course. The Chesterville Nestlé's plant will pay as a result of the readjustment in prices, for about half its milk at the export price and the rest at the domestic price.

Next Tuesday a committee is to meet with the Department of Agriculture. It is planned to explain the difficult situation that has arisen in the export milk and to ask for aid from the Agricultural Prices Support Fund to endeavour to stabilize the price of evaporated milk until the situation clears up.

The processors of evaporated milk are turning back as much milk as possible to cheese.

Elma Fashion Show Successful Wednesday Last

The commentator, Mrs. L. H. Doering, in her usual pleasing manner, introduced the models who were Mesdames W. E. Wright, H. Hough, A. Jarvis, O. Olsen, J. Doering, J. McMillan, J. Fyke and M. Phillips, Misses Leona Gallaghar and Perry Barker.

The fine display of coats, suits, afternoon and evening dresses, cottons, rain wear and accessories was supplied by Mrs. Colquhoun and the shoes by Maurice Beckstead.

Soft music was played by Mrs. Allison Graham who also accompanied a trio, Mrs. James Fyke, Mrs. Milton Phillips and Mrs. Jack Doering that sang "Easter Parade" and "Lavender Blue" Mrs. Hubert Loucks contributed a solo. This meeting included a shower for babies' wear for the bazaar, accordingly the articles and money received by Mrs. G Merkley and Mrs. LeBlanc. Mrs. Lyle Marcellus reported for the Parsonage Committee. The ladies decided to cater for the Chamber of Commerce Banquet and a committee was formed to draw up menus, etc.

Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. Fred Smith and Mrs. Eric Casselman were appointed to take charge of the Easter decorations in the church.

Mrs. Stanley Shay sang very sweetly to the piano accompaniment of Mrs. P. Hewitt, "Lavender Blue" and "An Irish Lullaby".

A dialogue, as in the London of the 17th Century, written by Mrs. B. Campbell, was enacted by Mrs. Geo. Barkley, Mrs. D. Docksteader and Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. G. Merkley (Penelope Lovelace) accompanied by Mrs. Hewitt (Hepzibah Montfort) sang "Barbara Allen", a song over 300 years old, and mentioned in the dialogue. Great applause was given the presentation of this fine old folk song. Cass presided and the club welcomed as guests Mr. Berry of the Retail Merchants Association of Toronto, and Mr. E. Whiessiel, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Chesterville.

After a review of some of the economical and political difficulties of the world today, the speaker expressed the opinion that closer co-operation between all phases of humanity are necessary to make a peaceful and fruitful world for all.

George H. Barkley expressed the thanks of the club to Mr. Atkinson.

Holy Trinity Guild Meets With President

The members of Holy Trinity Anglican Guild met at the home of the President, Mrs. John Sutherland, with a good attendance. Rev. Leon B. G. Adams opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Miss Gladys Fairbrass and approved, she also acknowleged letters of appreciation that were sent in. The treasurer, Mrs. Melvin Clarke, gave the financial report with a substantial balance on hand. Mrs. Ringerow was elected Vice-president for the balance of the term in the absence of Mrs. Acheson.

The ladies decided to invite the Ladies' Guild members of St. Peter's Church, South Mountain, and St. Matthias Church, Winchester, to attend the May meeting to be held in the Public Library on May 25, with Mrs. Jefferson, wife of the Right Rev. Robert Jefferson, Bishop of the Diocese of Ottawa, as guest speaker.

The meeting closed with prayer by the Rector and a dainty lunch was served by the hostess Mrs. Adams poured tea.

Council Meets In April Meeting; Routine Hydro Rebate Hits Jackpot With $3,792.69

The Chesterville Hydro-Electric System received a rebate from the Ontario Hydro-Electric System which will swell the Chesterville coffers by a sum of $3,792.69. The way this works out is as follows: the amount paid for power and service for the year was $18,019.50 but the actual cost to the municipality comes to $14,226.82. Therefore the difference between the two amounts is the sum rebated to the municipality. The rebate is very welcome as the net profit for the year has been rather low due to heavy installment costs in 1948.

A delegation from the Chesterville Chamber of Commerce was on hand to discuss the proposed Public Park with council. Counties Council is proposing to turn over the Reforestation plot to the municipality and it is hoped that arrangements can be made to combine the plot with the land at the waterside and make a real town park.

At last it is possible to read or make notes in the clerk's office without undue eyestrain. A new fluorescent lighting system has been installed and is a vast improvement over the old drop lights that were originally installed.

A township delegation of the reeve, Mr. Durant and Deputy-Reeve, Mr. McMillan met with council to discuss fire protection in the township. It was pointed out that the village pumper was not equipped with chemical tanks and the average farm well is pumped out below 20 feet in less than five minutes by the powerful pump of the fire-truck and then is useless. The problem reached no solution.

Workmen are rapidly completing the new office for the Police Officer of the Village, Mr. Tait, in the old firehall. A partition has been run up and an office has evolved with an entrance on Main street and a rear entrance into the jug. Convenient. After passing and approving accounts, council adjourned.

CANADA'S TENTH PROVINCE

Thousands of Canadian servicemen, representing all branches of the armed forces, were introduced to Newfoundland and her people during the war of 1939-1945. Therefore, when Newfoundland, with her area of 42,000 square miles, became Canada's tenth province, was welcomed by many as an old friend.

When finally accepted into Confederation the new province is entitled to seven members in the House of Parliament and will be governed by the provisions of the British North America Acts.

In addition to her own area of 12,000 square miles, Newfoundland's sovereignty extends to about 110,000 square miles of Labrador, on the mainland. The population of Newfoundland is over 320,000; this figure includes some 5,500 in Labrador.

The interior of the Island is very sparsely settled, the majority of Newfoundlanders preferring to settle down in one of 1,300 communities scattered along the 6,000 miles of shoreline. St. John's, the capital of Newfoundland, has a population of 60,000 persons.

Generally speaking, Newfoundland's topography is rough and broken and boasts very little fertile soil. Although there are some very heavily wooded areas, the trees are of the smaller varieties.

Bulwarking Newfoundland's economy are three main industries: fishing, pulp and paper, and mining. In the latter connection it is interesting to know that fluorspar, one of the ores required for the production of aluminum, is mined in Newfoundland.

The majority of villages located along the Newfoundland coast rely on fishing for their means of livelihood although most fishermen are subsistence farmers as well Farming, because of the soil, is a minor industry. Newfoundland's 55 miles of narrow gauge railway will be taken over and operated by the Canadian National Railways.

Gander airport, which contributed so much to Allied victory during the war, funneled through 450,000 passengers last year and remains one of the world's busiest airports.

Discovery of Newfoundland is generally credited to John Cabot. In any case, it was his glowing reports of abundant and profitable fishing off the coast which first attracted attention to the cod banks of Newfoundland.

The names of various Newfoundland towns and hamlets often fascinate the visitor. Names like "Heart's Ease", "Seldom Come By", "Spanish Room" are in this category but the inquisitive visitor is often disappointed, because Newfoundlanders themselves often don't know the reason for the names.

APRIL MEETING
WINCHESTER TWP. COUNCIL

The regular meeting of Winchester Township Council was held in the Presbyterian Hall, Morewood, on Monday, April 4th, with the reeve, Mr. H. E Durant in the chair. The minutes of the last regular meeting were adopted as read by the clerk and signed by the reeve.

The Reeve and Road Superintendant were instructed to contact owners of bulldozers and find out the charge per hour rental as the Government apparently will not approve of the purchase of one by the Township.

A delegation from the Ormond district waited upon council asking that the road north of that village be widened and graded. Each of the owners of farms along this piece of road signed an agreement to donate the necessary land free, the Township to pay 60% of the labour costs, furnish the posts and pay 20c per rod on the cost of wire, in the erection of a new fence. Not less than seven strand woven wire to be used.

The Clerk was instructed to advertise for tenders for crushing gravel and the Council will make an inspection of the roads as soon as possible in order to decide on the amount of gravel required, and on the roads in most need of gravel.

The following accounts were passed and paid:

Roads and Bridges	$1,591.45
Relief and Charity	205.43
Schools	500.00
Miscellaneous	141.53

Council adjourned to meet in Chesterville, on Monday ,May 2nd, 1949, at 10.30 o'clock.

Dirt Farmer's Cow Smashes World Record For Milk Production

The thrill of a lifetime came to Jack Wauchope, young York County dirt farmer, when one of his Holstein cows, Daisy, completed an official test that far surpasses any record ever made by an animal of any breed anywhere in the World on twice-a-day milking. Lynnden Hartog Daisy, to give her her official name, produced in 365 days as a six-year-old 1324 lbs. butterfat from 28,422 lbs. milk, average test 4.66 percent butterfat. The record was made under the supervision of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

"Daisy" far exceeded the previous World Record on twice-a-day milking of 1130 lbs. butterfat and in 1947 by another Canadian Holstein. O.H.H. Abbekerk Darkness owned by the Ontario Hospital, Hamilton, Ontario, boosting the record by 183 lbs. In fact no Holstein in the World has ever beaten her record even on three times-a-day milking. During her best day on test Daisy gave 111 lbs. (44½ quarts).

Jack Wauchope is a modest young man and when interviewed disclaimed any particular credit for Daisy's achievement. However, M. F. Cockburn, Agricultural Representative for York County said. "Whenever a great record such as this is made, the man is equally as important as the cow. I have known Jack Wauchope since he first started Calf Club work fourteen years ago when he was but 12 years old. He is the type of modern young farmer who has taken advantage of the Junior programs sponsored by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, thus becoming a better farmer than would otherwise be the case. Jack Wauchope learned how to handle livestock through his Calf Club activities and this record proves that he has applied that knowledge well. He has been a member of either the Woodbridge or Schomberg Calf Clubs for the past fourteen years, first as a member and for the past three years as a Club leader Three times he was the top Calf Club boy in his Club and in 1940 he and his brother Clifford took 2nd prize in the Provincial Calf Club Contest at the C.N.E

He is a member of the Schomberg Junior Farmer Club. He has developed into a good farmer and a fine citizen and I am proud indeed that he has brought honor to himself and this district through the completion of this outstanding record."

Jack purchased the mother of Daisy as a Calf Club calf for only $25.00 back in 1940, the purchase being made from Archie Cameron, Woodbridge.

At the Annual Banquet of the York County Holstein Club held March 31, a Silver Tray was presented to Jack Wauchope from the Club members in recognition of Daisy's outstanding World Record.

The World Championship for yearly milk production on twice-a-day milking is still held by Doncrest Peg Top Burke, another Canadian Holstein who made her record of 31,935 lbs. milk containing 1108 lbs. fat in 1945 in the herd of Mrs. Roy Brown, Stouffville.

BLACK CROWS

By Glenn G. Edwards

D'JA EVER SEE a flock o'block crows
'Bout sun-down time o'day
A-sitting in an old dead tree
And they seem to laugh sardonically
In an evil croaking way?

Seems to me they're ole dreams o'mine
Come home to roost at night
Perched on the limbs o'Dead Hope tree
And they mock and laugh and jeer at me;
Ole black dreams that once were white.

Bitter Recollections

On the suburban train, Jenkins had just finished reading a long letter he had received that day from his old home town. Mellowed by the happy memories it conjured up, he turned to the morose stranger beside him and genially remarked:

"Did you ever get a letter that brought back visions of the past?"

Stark misery stared out of the other's eyes.

"Have I?" the man cried. "Only today I got one from the government telling me I still owed them $1,500 on my 1944 income tax!"

Church News

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

The services at Morewood United Church were conducted on Sunday by the minister, Rev. W. J. Copsey, B.A. The theme of the morning service was "The Witness of Faith", based on Acts 1,8 "Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost has come upon you and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem and in all Judea and Samaria and to the uttermost parts of the earth."

The great task of the early church fathers was to bear witness that God had sent His only begotten Son to open up for all men a true and living way to Himself, that Christ Jesus—the eternal Son of God—had completed the work of redemption through His teaching, his life, death and resurrection. The Apostles having received power from on high gave their witness faithfully, yet at the close of their generation the task was incomplete and the unfinished task was passed on from generation to generation of Christians all the way down the Christian Era. That task is still unfinished and living Christians must still obey the command to witness for Christ. Witness may be made in many ways such as the invitation given to an unbelieving friend to turn and seek the Lord; by taking a definite stand on moral issues; by using the Christian motive in business; by maintaining the Christian spirit in all human relations and by being living epistles known and read of men. As Christians we should find joy in witnessing to the saving love of God in Christ, who for the joy that was set before Him endured the Cross, despised the shame and is set down at the right hand of God.

The quartette, "Christ Shall Be King", was rendered with Miss Ellice Smith at the organ.

A man who has driven a car 33 years without an accident said the other day that "when a driver kills a child he (the driver) is 100% to blame." When asked, "What if a child runs out from behind a car?" he replied: "There is always a child going to run from behind a car I am passing unless I can see under the car that there is no child there. Twice in one day I have stopped my car within two feet of a child that jumped onto the road in front of me."

OWL DECOYS BEST FOR CROW SHOOTING

A stuffed great horned owl mounted on a fence post in a grain field has proven the best bait for luring the wily crow within shooting distance.

This method is recommended by experts of the ammunition division of Canadian Industries Limited, who have studied crow habits for many years. They suggest the stuffed owl be placed some 30 to 35 yards away from the hunter's blind so it will be visible to crows flying from all directions. When the crows see the owl, believed to be their only wilderness enemy, they become obsessed with a gangster hysteria and attack en masse. It is an easy matter to dispose of a dozen or more from one or two blasts of a shot gun.

Since crows have amazing eyesight and shy clear of anything unusual in the landscape, it is essential that blinds are carefully constructed. They should be built of vegetation native to the shooting area and as low as consistent with shooting comfort. Hunters should avoid building blinds near crow roosts.

To attract crows towards the decoy, crow calls properly employed have been found highly effective. The sound coming from the calls should imitate crows in distress, the discovery of some enemy of the crow clan or a crow mourning over one of its fellow crows. By grunting through a crow call it is possible to get a much truer tone than that obtained by merely blowing through it

Properly done such calling should moan and wail and shriek for help much as would a crow that had gotten itself into a mess of trouble and calling on all of crowdom to come to its rescue.

A lady was training her Chinese servant to answer the door bell. She went outside, rang the bell and the servant answered the door.

The next day she was worried by a continual ringing of the bell. At last, when no one answered the door, she opened it herself and found her servant on the step.

"Whatever are you doing, Li?" she asked.

"Yesterday you foolee me, now I foolee you," was the reply.

Interesting Letters From Holland And Greece

Two interesting letters have recently been received by Mrs. M. E. McPherson of Elma, which go to show that gifts sent overseas really reach their intended destination.

From Athens, Greece February 25, 1949:

4 Evangelistrias St.
Athens, Greece,

Dear Mrs. M. E. McPherson,

Dear Madam—I just received a small note on which was written your address in a handbag which was handed out to me by a gentleman.

God sent me this bag with the note in, so as to know you, and I beg you that whatever you could send me, please send it to my address above. I was the wife of a famous sculptor, and the recent war left me alone with a daughter twenty years old, in poor condition, and we are obliged to work so as to be able to earn our living. I was living very richly before the war, but now unfortunately I am in need of many things as, outwear, coats or costumes, stockings, shoes or whatever you want to send

Awaiting further news and thanking you in anticipation with much love to you I remain

Faithfully yours,

Mrs. Eleni N. Englezon,

Athens, Greece.

Second letter from Rotterdam, Holland, dated March 6, 1949.

Dear Mrs. McPherson:

This week I got your most beautiful present, the very beautiful Dresden Plate. What a good deal of work you ladies have had to make such a fine quilt. I suppose it took a good deal oftime to piece it. When I look at it I am thinking of beautiful things as a joy forever.

It was a very long time before it reached Holland, for you wrote your letter June 10, 1948. Will you be so kind as to thank all the ladies for their kindness.

My grandfather had the same name as yours, McPherson. He came from Scotland.

With many thanks and greetings from your Dutch friend

Mrs. Ivan Raalt Shauben,
Rotterdam, Holland.

Hidden Light

A Parson, diminutive in size, and with head covered with hair of the most fiery hue, officiated one Sunday in a remote coal mining village in Britain.

The old-fashioned pulpit had a high desk, over which the parson's red head was hardly visible.

This was too much for a burly miner who was seated immediately under the pulpit, and who, when he heard the text, "I am the Light of the World," exclaimed aloud to the clerk: "Push him up higher, mate; don't let him burn in his socket."

He who confers a favor should at once forget it, if he is not to show a sordid, ungenerous spirit.—Demosthenes.

When the Tribesmen First See Movies

Montague Slater spent some time recently in Eastern Nigeria, and in a bush town watched the people seeing their first film, which was shown by one of the mobile vans of the Colonial Film Unit. He told BBC listeners about the way in which the film was shown in the town centre, the people's name for it, though there was not much of a centre and no town was visible. All there was to be seen was an area of sandy earth trampled flat by bare feet. The palm trees had been cleared away and somewhere beyond the clearing, behind the trees, stood hundreds of mud houses.

Before the film was shown, records were played, and over the sound of millions of chirruping crickets that made the air seem alive came the strident tones of George Formby, the Lancashire comedian, a great favorite with the Ibos of Eastern Nigeria, who like the chungchung of his banjolele. Formby's voice, hugely magnified, searched the crevices of the bush a couple of miles away, and gradually people gathered round, preceded, of course, by all the children of the place. Beside the screen was a microphone, through which an African talked to the audience in their own dialect. He was specially trained for the job, of course, and so was the crew of the film van. He had a true sense of showmanship, and talked direct to his audience, who exchanged questions and answers with him. As the show went on more and more people appeared, running up in their anxiety not to miss anything The last film showed the people of a neighbouring town clearing the bus and making a new road. It was the climax of the evening; something they knew about and a multitude of breaths were inhaled and let out in deep contentment as they watched.

Slater concluded by saying: "I don't think I'd ever seen hunger for knowledge on quite such a big scale as in that bush cinema. There's no self-consciousness about it. The bush goes after knowledge like a dog goes after a bone. When you get to high school standard you can pretend not to care, but you don't pretend in the bush. So far as I can tell the bush people have a firmly utilitarian approach to the cinema. They want it to tell them how—how a motor car works, how diseases are cured, how things came to be as they are. It's knowledge they're after, feature stories bore them, though they like musicals. When we first reached the town-centre there was a feeling of excitement I couldn't quite account for. I think I can now. It was the feelin, "You've got the know-how and we want it," the feeling shared I think both by the crew of the film van and the very first arrivals, that this time perhaps communications have been established, there's a way of getting across the gap with moving pictures".

Unique Churches of New York

By
AMELIA McMILLAN LAMBKIN

During the next several weeks we hope to publish discriptions of a number of New York Churches written for her friends by Mrs. Amelia McMillan Lambkin. They will appear each week as space permits.

THE WEE KIRK O' THE HEATHER

In Southern California, not far from Los Angeles, the tourist will do well to visit Glendale, which place is publicized because of its great cemetery - The Forest Lawn - wherein you find a mausoleum containing priceless marble statuary and rare, intricate brasses from the old world, in urns, vases and boxes which hold the ashes of prominent people. The mausoleum itself is a magnificent structure built of white marble at a cost of two million dollars. But its one great treasure is the stained-glass window representing "The Last Supper" and done in Milan, Italy, by the last descendent of Leonardo da Vinci the master who produced the original world-renowned painting on the wall of a church in Milan. Miss Moretti was seven years producing this masterpiece in stained glass, which stands as one of California's greatest features.

Here in "Forest Lawn" you will find two most interesting and unique little churches.

"The Wee Kirk O' the Heather" and "The Little Church of the Flowers".

The Wee Kirk O' the Heather has been copied from Annie Laurie's own wee Kirk in Scotland. The pulpit here is made from a single Scots oak grown in the County of Perthshire. On an outer wall is a tablet reading:

"May the peace and happiness of Him who loves you with a love that passeth all understanding enter your soul in this holy place and remain with you always".

Annie Laurie's original will and the communion tokens she actually used in worship are a part of the Kirk's collection of romantic and historical objects. Here has been conducted the last sacred rites for many widely known and greatly loved persons.

Set in the hillside adjoining the Wee Kirk O' the Heather is "God's Garden" a sequestered haven of peace and loveliness where silence is requested for the benefit of those who wish to rest and pray. White against the ivy-covered wall stands an exact reproduction in marble of the great Thorvaldsen's famous statue - The Christ. A faint smile envelops the face which ever epitomizes the Master's eternal invitation "Come unto Me all ye who labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest".

* * * *

The Little Church of the Flowers

This church was inspired by, and built in exact miniature reproduction of the quaint, old-world, village church of Stokes Poges in Buckinghamshire, England, where Thomas Gray wrote his immortal "Elegy in a country churchyard"

Within this little church the old-world atmosphere is sustained by the Communion table from the Stoges Poges church, also a quaint carved oak contribution box and other historical objects, sent as gifts from the mother church in the old world.

Flanked on either side are bowers of fragrant flowers which are massed in colorful arrangement to add beauty, while the songs of birds reach you from the branches of the flowering shrubs which grow all about the grounds. Like the We Kirk O' the Heather, it is a dedicated church, nonsectarian, and non-denominational. Over eight thousand couples have been married in the two little churches.

100 NEW AND ENLARGED BUILDINGS
help provide more and better telephone service

IN THREE SHORT YEARS, despite labour and material shortages, we have put up 50 new telephone buildings and greatly enlarged 50 others. Altogether we have added 444,000 square feet of space to help in the big expansion and improvement program which is making your telephone service better all the time.

Building costs have gone up 45% in these three years. Yet, up to now, despite rising costs on all sides there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 22 years ago. Few things give you so much real value at such low cost as your telephone.

We've broken all records, but there are still orders we haven't been able to fill. We will keep right on working and building to make your telephone service a bigger bargain than ever — to continue to provide more and better service at the lowest possible cost.

She received her early education in the local schools later going with her brother, the late Geo. Eli Merkley, M.A., to Greensburg, P.A., where she taught in the Seminary there for several years. She afterwards attended the School of Design in Philadelphia. Having artistic talents she painted the altar picture "The Consoling Christ" for St. Peter's Lutheran, Williamsburg, and "Behold I Stand at the Door and Knock" for St. John's Lutheran, Riverside.

Her warm friendly manner made her a host of friends.

Of a family of twelve children, nine girls and three boys, Miss Merkley is survived by three sisters: Misses Maude, Ella May and Louise, all of Morrisburg. The great sorrow and loss which has come to her surviving sisters is shared by innumerable friends and relatives. On account of the illness of her sisters, the funeral service of the late Miss Merkley will be held at a later date. The remains were placed in Williamsburg vault for burial in the family plot in Williamsburg cemetery.
