It's not usual for the "Chief" to see the planks in his election platform change from naughty pine to seed 'er strip.

Following the game, Chesterville received the trophy that goes to the top team.

An appropriate address was given by Peter Manley on behalf of those present.

Three men escape burning car following accident

A Long Sault man and his two companions escaped injury Saturdya night after his late model car left the road, rolled over in a field and broke into flames.

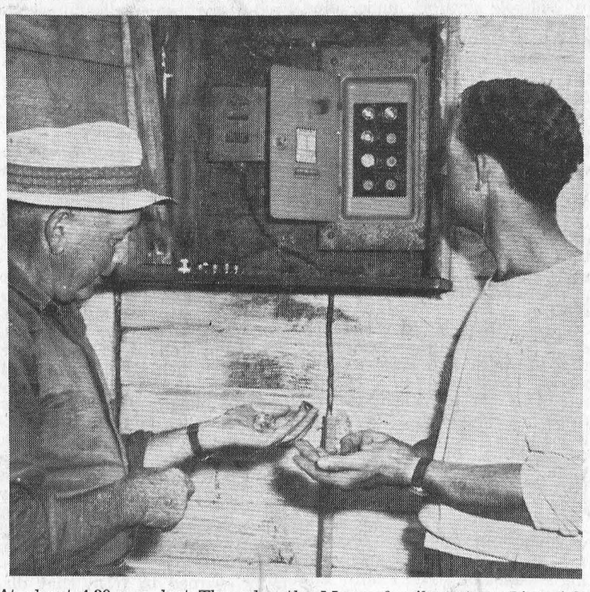
The car was destroyed by fire, described as of undetermined origin.

The accident occurred shortly before nine o'clock Saturday night on the Third Concession Road, Winchester Township, one-quarter mile west of Cass Bridge.

Owner and driver of the car was William Alguire, 26, Dixon Drive, Long Sault. His passengers were Earl Markell, Long Sault, and Ernest Lascelle, Riverside Heights.

Cst Ray Dow, of the Morrisburg Ontario Provincial Police detachment, said Alguire was going east on the township road when he failed to negotiate a sharp left turn. The car left the road and rolled over in a field. The three men jumped from the vehicle unharmed, moments before it burst into flames.

Winchester Fire Brigade was called to the scene but could do nothing to save the car which was left a charred wreck.



At about 4.30 a.m. last Thursday the Moore family out on Limerick Road thought they had been sent for. Lightning struck a fence about fifty rods south of the barn, popped posts right and left stripped out staples, blew fuses to bits and generally did what lightning sometimes does. Fortunately cattle in an adjoining field suffered no ill effects. We interrupted Mr Moore and son Neil in their fence mending and had them show us some of the fuse damage the wild flash caused.—Record Photo.

$12,000 fire near Avonmore destroys farm buildings recently

Fire caused damage estimated at $12,000 on the farm of Roy Brownlee, First Concession of Roxborough, four miles south of Avonmore. Lost in the blaze was a large frame barn, a hen house and a machinery shed.

Cause of the fire is undetermined. Loss is covered only partially by insurance.

In addition to the buildings lost in the blaze, the family home, situated about 30 feet southeast of the barn, and a garage were damaged considerably. Through the prompt efforts of neighbours and local fire departments, the house was saved.

The fire was sighted about 8 o'clock by Lorne Harris, a neighbour, who saw flames belching from the roof of the barn. Mrs Harris phoned the Brownlee home and the daughter, Jean, 17, summoned the Avonmore Volunteer Fire Brigade.

Mr Brownlee had left home only five minutes earlier to visit his wife who earlier in the week had given birth to a baby boy in a Cornwall hospital. Their other nine children were alone when the fire broke out. Mr Brownlee was contacted at the home of his brother-in-law, Stanford Rupert, at Lunenburg, en route to Cornwall.

Milking operations at the barn were completed only a short time before and all the livestock, with the exception of one calf, were out of the barn when the fire broke out. A son, Kenneth, 11, freed the calf but in so doing suffered burns to one hand. The roof of the barn collapsed just as Kenneth emerged from the barn.

Members of the Avonmore Fire Brigade concentrated their efforts on saving the other buildings. At the height of the fire the Newington Volunteer Fire Department was summoned and its members remained on the scene for five hours. There was an adequate supply of water available.

Lost in the barn were 10 loads of hay and 200 bales of straw.

Temporary accommodation for Mr Brownlee's 16 head of cattle is being provided by a second machine shed. Mr Brownlee indicated his intention to rebuild the barn at the earliest possible date.

Mr Brownlee bought the farm a year ago last March.

Fire razes house near Winchester

Fire of undetermined origin totally destroyed an $8,000 frame house in less than an hour in Mountain township, 1½ miles southwest of Winchester, Monday afternon.

The house was occupied by Mr and Mrs Kenneth Larmour and their six children. Only Mrs Larmour and the youngest child, Donald, 2½, were home when the blaze broke out.

Mrs Larmour had just gone upstairs leaving the child in the living room. She returned moments later to find smoke pouring from the kitchen.

She took the child outside and called for help from a neighbour working in a nearby field.

Winchester fire department answered the call, but were unable to do anything but prevent the flames spreading to nearby buildings.

The house, owned by Floyd Coons, of Mountain township, was insured. Contents lost in the blaze valued at $4,000 were not insured.

The May meeting of the local branch of the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations met at Chesterville Public School on Tuesday, May 22nd, at 8 p.m. The meeting opened with the singing of O'Canada, followed by The Lord's Prayer.

The minutes of the last two meetings were read by the secretary, Mrs F. English, and approved by the members present.

Mrs Irene Ross introduced the guest speaker Miss Marion W. Weatherhead, member of the Board of Directors of the F.W.T.-A.O.

Miss Weatherhead gave a most interesting and instructive talk in the meaning and function of the F. W. T.A.O., using the initials of the Association to introduce her main points. Many teachers had not realized the extent to which their Association could give them advice and practical help in times of need or difficulty, and Miss Weatherhead cleared up several points of interest in the brief question-time that followed.

The Speaker was thanked by Mrs Barkley of Elma and presented with a small gift as a token of apreciation.

Lunch was prepared and served by the lady teachers of Chesterville Public School, assisted by Mrs Anne Curran, Mrs Thelma Johnston, Miss Armstrong and Mrs Marilyn Wouters. During the lunch-break a short programme of film-slides was presented by Mrs Marguerite Cole.

The meeting reassembled later to hear and approve the new slate of officers for 1962-63. The new President is Mrs Vera Clelland, South Mountain and the Secretary is Mrs Mildred Simms, Mountain.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

CRUMBS from Graham's Loaf

The election campaign seems to be hotting up a bit. Even over in Carleton Mr Bell is claiming credit for the complete rejuvenation of that riding in the last five years. He has even taken steps to rid the Ottawa River of pollution. Wonder if we could import him out here and do something about the slightly stagnant Petite Nation? Of course for the past 90 years or less Carleton has been slightly Conservative. Wonder why they have been so slow about the rivers and the Green Belts?

British Columbia is another tough spot to campaign The weather is hot and the audiences seem to be a little more exuberant than most. Take that mixture and add a dash of Doukhobor ladies in a disrobing mood and the headlines are made at the drop of a pinafore. We think a lesson is to be learned from it all, though. Consulting with our Muse, the one with the doggerel mind, we were presented with the following item.

Take warning, girls, word well
your brief;
Your barest plea to Dief the Chief
Is apt to founder at the cry:
"Put back the veil and pass me
by."
'Cause
Though Douks will strip
Our John will quip:
"I've seen it all before!"

We spend most of our summer weekends on the banks of the rushing Rideau up at Little Chesterville at the summer Castle there. What with one thing and another, it is a reasonable place to go, let out the anchor and check the state of the family malt. Then one fine winter's night, a nasty character or two arrived with sticky fingers and looted the place. We ended up without power for the boat. As a result the S.C. has been substituting on the bow paddle of the canoe. But during the past winter we hocked the family jewels, asked the v.p. to work a little harder at the office and bought a new outfit. It ended up as 17 feet of mahogany with a putt-putt on the back that develops just a little more h.p. than a farm tractor. Last weekend we launched the device.

We took advantage of Ross Tuck who happened to have a boat trailer large enough and persuaded him to make the tow to the river. We also sobbed about a crick in the back, and he mustered up enough willing hands to do most of the work. Saturday afternoon the second "Hel-Mar-Ke" took to the river. Then because we are blessed with a mechanical nephew, we knew there would be little or no problem in starting the machinery. This was attached, that was lovingly tightened, all lines were cast loose, and we turned on the juice.

Nothing happened. We read the book again, Charlie consulted his newly burnished calculus textbook, this Crumb muttered a number of prayers to a variety of dieties, and still nothing happened. The sun was down in the sky quite a bit by the time we found we were pushing when the directions said to pull. So we pulled, the thing whirred, and rumbled into life. We poured a couple of quarts of gas into the carburettors, eased out into the stream and became a member of the river hot-rod gang again.

The wheel has turned quite a number of turns since the 1939 days of the mighty 2½-h.p. Johnson. At that time we knew it was the ultimate in power and convenience. Anyone owning anything larger was asking for trouble. But the little engine was a workhorse all its long life. It may even still be going because we sold it to a friend a few years back and he used it on his sailing canoe as auxiliary power.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my sincere thanks to my neighbours, friends and relatives who so kindly remembered me with cards, flowers, gifts and personal visits while I was a patient in Cornwall General Hospital and Ottawa General Hospital. These acts of kindness were greatly appreciated and will always be remembered.

Mrs George Zeran.

OPINIONS . . . OURS AND OTHERS

Those underage drivers

While the urge to drive a car is paramount in the minds of most teenagers, they know they can only drive after a certain training and testing period. It is with a certain amount of unrest that we draw attention to a development on our streets and highways.

We have lived long enough here to have some idea of who is sixteen and who is not. When these old eyes look out and see familiar figures behind car wheels, accompanied by companions of their own age, it makes one wonder.

The day of the fast car and good roads makes it more than ever imperative that teenagers learn to respect the laws of the road early. Parents who knowingly let their underage children take the family car out for a spin on village streets are asking for trouble. They are developing a disinterest in basic obedience to the rules of safety as well as the laws of Ontario. Regardless of the ability of the driver, he or she is not entitled to drive until tested and passed and especially until the age of sixteen is reached.

Local police officers are loath sometimes to do more than warn young offenders in these matters. It might be well if somewhat sterner measures were taken. No matter what you may think, a driver breaking the law is a bad driver.

Reeves and politics

One of the interesting developments in Grenville-Dundas is the sudden unveiling of the politics of many of the local government heads. Under ordinary circumstances, that is nothing to get hot under the collar about. Every man has a right to a day in the sun. If the rainbow happens to be blue, red or NDP, it is of little moment.

When the situation takes a turn into support for candidates as member of Parliament, then we are constrained to mutter out loud.

The town of Chesterville operates on a system of government headed by a reeve supported by a number of councillors. For many years there has been no party favour in the elections. One of the results has been a steady flow of men and women from every branch of the community into the seats of council. While this situation has not necessarily held in other communities or, indeed, that it is a bad thing, we have not followed the practice.

Mrs Jean Casselman, a charming politician whose footwork is as quick as ever when the votes need to be garnered, has a good thing going. She has gathered into the fold nearly all the reeves of the riding to speak on radio in her behalf. Perhaps a couple of notable exceptions could be mentioned but we will leave the gentlemen in outer darkness.

It seems to this writer that the reeves of many of our municipalities were voted into office by people who voted for a man. Therefore advantage is being taken of that fact when our elected municipal officials take to the hustings, first as reeve of this town or that in support of the Conservative candidate, and only secondly as a Conservative willing to support the candidate of their choice.

We have never liked the extension of provincial and federal politics into local municipal governments. The fear is always there that somehow, in a measure to streamline our system, we will reach for the American pattern. When the day comes that even the dog catcher has to be of a certain political stripe, then we will head for the moon on the first non-stop Russian model rocket.

We will defend the right of any man to speak publicly for his choice of candidate in any kind of election. We will also decry the use of public officials as if their elected office gave them sanction to speak for any but themselves.

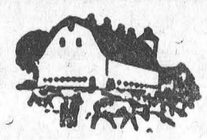
FRENDLEE FARM CHATS



By Lillian Allison

"They tell me the decorations were really beautiful," someone said when I mentioned the High School Prom which was held last week. Well they most certainly were. And if you've got five minutes or so I'll tell you about this lovely event. I was just about as excited as the girls in Grade IX for it was my first High School Prom too.

Each year the students attempt to convert our large, ordinary Community Hall into a sort of fairyland for their spring formal dance. This year they offered a prize for a theme. The winning entry was "Rhapsody in Blue." Then the Students' Council took over to make that theme a reality.

Since Easter there have been great plans afoot. There was talk of dyeing and fire-proofing cheesecloth—a quarter of a mile of it. There was a committee elected to manufacture 200 big silver stars and another to make 1,000 paper flowers. I overheard talk of a fountain. Obviously the decorations this year were to top all decorations. I kept away from the hall, however, so it would be a big surprise on the final night.

We arrived unfashionably early so had plenty of time to inspect the place before the crowd gathered. The decorations were out of this world. It was certainly a "Rhapsody in Blue."

Most of the quarter mile of blue-dyed cheesecloth was used to form a false ceiling for the hall. Wires had been strung crosswise at regular intervals and the strips of cheesecloth fastened together were draped perfectly over them creating a pretty blue sky. From the sky the sparkling silver stars hung shimmering in the light of a number of blue bulbs. The blue cheesecloth was used for drapes for the windows and also for the stage.

In the centre of the room was a most unusual tree. Actually it was an eight-foot deciduous tree painted pure white. (I never found out who picked off all the leaves but they were gone.) In their place were the thousand tiny blue pansy-like flowers attached with copper wire. The tree "grew" from a patch of real green sod.

The back-drop for the stage was a ful-size white paper with the title and first two lines of music for George Gershwin's famous "Rhapsody in Blue." The art work was perfect.

But the part of the decorations that created the most interest was "Ye Olde Wishing Well" just below the stage. It was a mechanical masterpiece. It was a well five feet across with a fountain in the centre spraying blue water which trickled down its plastic interior over pretty blue stones. It seemed always a group was gathered there curious about how it operated.

Of course, added to the decorations were the lovely dresses of the ladies who attended. Every pretty shade in the book was displayed in frothy chiffon, shiny taffeta or cool lace. The dresses were enhanced by matching or contrasting corsages which in time semed to perfume the entire hall.

And I mustn't forget the handsome young escorts in their dark suits and boutonnaires polished and groomed to the tips of their shoes. All in all it was a very delightful occasion.

I didn't have time to watch much of the dancing. The Principal had asked me to bring along my camera for some coloured pictures. It got off to a bad start and spoiled two shots when the flash failed to go off. New batteries solved that problem but it seemed to take a great deal of dashing around to get the fifteen or so pictures. And probably they won't be any good anyway. I'm no expert with a flash.

We were quite pleased with the number of parents who attended. Their interest is always gratifying. Two former teachers and the band instructor and their wives came from Ottawa. Everyone seemed to have a perfectly wonderful time.

Of course in such a delightful setting it would have been difficult to have done otherwise. The Student Council and all the committees that worked on decorations certainly deserve the highest praise. And the more I work with teenagers the more I realize that their capacity to do things well is unlimited. The trouble is we oldsters often fail to give them the opportunity to show what they can do.

Annual conference Children's Aid Society

Seven Delegates from the Children's Aid Society representing the board and the staff will attend the Annual Conference of the Ontario Assoc. of Children's Aid Societies in Toronto from May 28th through May 30. Several members of the United Counties Council will also attend the conference.

The Board of Directors will be represented by the President, P. C. Clarkin and by Mrs F. K. Hall and Mrs J. R. Campbell. Staff delegates will be M. T. O'Brien, Local Director and social workers, Mrs Hazel Baker, Mrs Susan Clark and Miss Irene Verdon.

These conferences enable staff and board members of agencies throughout the province to work together on common problems, review the year's activities and develop new ways to meet the needs of deprived child and troubled families.

Nineteen resolutions will be presented to the conference group by the various agencies. These reflect needs which the individual agencies feel can best be met on a province-wide basis.

One of them asks the Minister of Welfare to amend the Child Welfare Act to eliminate the use of the child's original surname on the adoption forms. Those in favor feel that this would give greater protection from identification of the natural family to the child and his adoptive parents. Those opposed feel that an open acknowledgement of the child's adoptive relationship leads to a stronger bond between the child and his adoptive parents; and that the removal of the child's original surname encourages adoptive parents to close the door on discussion of the child's biological family. The board was divided in its opinion on this resolution.

The board took a favourable stand on a second resolution which asks the Minister of Public Welfare to amend the Child Welfare Act so that the municipalities may be asked to continue financial responsibility for a child when wardship is extended beyond the age of eighteen. This would provide the funds to continue to help a child who is in school and/or undergoing treatment for a specified period of time.

A third resolution on which the board took a unanimously favorable stand, states: that the Ontario Association of Children's Aid Societies records its firm conviction that the preservation of proper standards of service in children's work require that Children's Aid Societies be retained as an autonomous part of welfare services and resolve that we stand for full cooperation with all levels of government with whom we may have dealings.

A negative position was taken on another resolution suggesting that all welfare services to children be coordinated under one department of provincial government. Recognizing the importance of good cooperation and coordination of the varied services, the board felt that specialization leads to a better quality of service to the child.

The study session for social workers will focus on "Family Life in the Nuclear Age" including sessions on "The Family and Stress" and "Health and Sanity in Family Life." A new film produced by the Canadian Mental Health Association "Roots of Happiness," will be shown.

The BIBLE TODAY . . .

Miss Millicent Howse, of St. Johns, Newfoundland, is home from Angola, Portuguese West Africa, after spending several years in preparing the Umbundu Bible as a missionary of the United Church of Canada. There are one million Umbundu speaking people in Angola of which nearly half are Christian.

"When I went to Angola 30 years ago," reports Miss Howse, "the New Testament, the Psalms and the first five books of the Old Testament only were available."

Work had been done on other parts of the Bible and was scattered about in manuscript form During her last term in Angola, she, together with African colleagues, spent the time gathering, revising, translating and retranslating the manuscripts from Genesis to Revelation.

The Portuguese authorities require that all African languages appear with the Portuguese in parallel columns. To print the Bible in Umbundu requires that the whole book be in two languages. This presents a major book-making task.

When completed the Bible in Umundu and Portuguese will comprise 2,000 pages and weigh over two pounds. Three other Bibles are being prepared in Angola and each is faced with the same problem.

SHELTER-BUILDER PREMIER WISHES HE HADN'T

Premier Duff Roblin, who one year ago built a fall-out shelter in the basement of his Winnipeg home, has thrown cold water on the whole shelter program, writes the Winnipeg representative of The Financial Post. He told the Manitoba legislature that he would not build one today and would not recommend that other people go to the expense. The development of "clean" bombs appeared to have lessened the danger from fallout and this had altered his view with respect to shelters, the premier said.

He was speaking in connection with a proposed expenditure of $67,000 as the province's share of civil defense activity in Manitoba. Roblin said his government had not received a sufficiently clear directive from Ottawa on a question of shelters.

Later Industries and Commerce Minister Gurney Evans said the province would not advocate a shelter building program but said if a person could afford to build one, he would be well advised to do so.

SPORT OF KINGS ANYBODY'S GAME

The president of The Jockey Club, cheerful Toronto millionaire E. P. Taylor, predicts Ontario's horse racing season this year will be a bumper one, reports McKenzie Porter in The Financial Post. Since he took its reins in 1952, Taylor has transformed The Jockey Club from a decaying social vanity into a thriving corporation that controls more horse racing than any other enterprise in the world.

By providing free quarters for horses and grooms, offering free training facilities, and limiting meetings to three tracks reasonable propinquity, he has enabled Canadians of modest means to share in the thrills of thoroughbred ownership. Anybody who can afford $3,000 for a thoroughbred of average spirit and speed, and then set aside between $4,000 - $5,000 annually for its expenses, stands a good chance of at least breaking even during a single season on the Jockey Club's circuit of three tracks — Old Woodbine in Toronto, New Woodbine in the Toronto suburb of Etobicoke and Fort Erie in southwestern Ontario.

Cancer campaign

Congratulations Finch! A whooping $235.00 over and above their objective of $1200.00 has been reported by Ken MacMillan, Campaign chairman of our Finch Branch. Ken, a natural organizer, runs a slick, fast moving campaign, attributing his fantastic success to his dedicated executive and top-notch area captains. He was particularly pleased with the response from the Crysler area, which under the direction of captain Jean Benoit and with the help of the Crysler Chamber of Commerce, almost doubled the collection usually turned in from that district.

Well done Vernon; Roy Porteous in his first attempt as area captain in an uncanvassed district more than vindicated his selection by our Extension chairman Jack Frazer and Ken MacMillan. Roy collected $261.20, much more than we had anticipated from this new area.

Our Women's Services Chairman, Mrs G. W. Gilbert points out that we must have a really successful campaign this year because our expenditure for dressing materials, drugs, etc., are curently heavier than ever.

Frank Cox, Chairman,
District Cancer Campaign

TECHNICAL DIFFICULTY

Millions of Britains watched television one night recently to find out which way bath water spins when it goes down the drain.

A BBC television program had a bathtub in the studio to demonstrate the way water whirls in different hemispheres.

When the program ended the water was still in the tub. The drain was clogged.

Hon. John J. Connolly speaks at ganquet of Liberal Women

"The Tory tide has turned and the Tory campaign is faltering," the Hon. John J. Connolly, president of the National Liberal Federation of Canada, told some 300 party supporters at the annual banquet of Grenville-Dundas Liberal Women's Association, held Wednesday night last in the auditorium of Morrisburg Public School.

Senator Connolly, who has been travelling with Lester B. Pearson on the election campaign tour of the country, told of warm and enthusiastic receptions in all areas, showing "deepfelt confidence in Mr Pearson and the program of Liberal principles. An election in Canada," he said, "is not a popularity contest. A leader must have a majority of capable members in the House.

"In its great promise to give good administration the present government stands indicted. It has merely kept a number of 'straw promises.'

"Canada needs strong domestic plans as outlined by the Liberals. We must get going in the field of trade and develop our economies as a defence against Communism," said the speaker.

Senator Connolly discussed unemployment prospects under the present government, the deficit budgets of the past several years, the trade situation and Canada's fiscal crisis. He asked "How long can a country stand such administration?"

In conclusion, he said "The Liberals have a policy based on the principles of Sir Wilfred Laurier, the Honorable MacKenzie King and the Hon. Louis St. Laurent, establishing responsibility at home and respect abroad. Europe and America understand this and Canada knows it. Let us turn out the orators and clean up the mess. Let us get going on trade and jobs and let us give our country a chance."

The guest speaker was introduced by Mossman Dubrule, past president of Grenville-Dundas Liberal Association, and was thanked by Mrs Lillian Allison, Chesterville.

Peter Manley, M.L.A. for Stormont, briefly addressed the gathering, saying "We have a great task ahead, a challenge and an opportunity to demonstrate that a change would be one of the best things ever to happen for Grenville-Dundas."

Dr Robert Watters, of Prescott, candidate for the riding, urged his listeners to "eliminate the failure of the present government and correct the scores of Seaway Valley problems by casting a Liberal vote."

Mrs Edna Baker, president of Grenville-Dundas Loberal Women's Association, chaired the meeting, welcomed those in attendance and introduced headtable guests who were piped to their places by piper George Montgomery, of Cornwall.

Mrs Edith Cox

Mrs Edith Elizabeth Cox, daughter of the late William Bancroft and the late Esther Alguire of Newington, was laid to rest recently in Oshawa.

In her 59th year, Mrs Cox died suddenly at Cobourg District General Hospital.

Rev F. Swackhammer, of First Baptist Church, conducted the funeral service at the Gerrow Funeral Chapel, Oshawa. Burial was in Mount Lawn Memorial Gardens, Oshawa.

Area relatives paying final respects were Mr and Mrs Frank Stewart of Ingleside.

The late Mrs Cox was born and brought up in the Newington district. Following the death of her mother, around 1910, she lived with an aunt and uncle, Mr and Mrs James Bancroft, also of Newington.

At the age of 17, she left Newington to enter training at the Ontario Hospital in Whitby, Ontario. After graduation, in 1923, she married Gordon Cox, of Oshawa, in Cornwall. They later took up residence in Oshawa and district. At the time of her death, Mrs Cox and her husband were operating a business in Cobourg.

Mrs Cox is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs A. L. Bilton (Dorothy), of Brampton, and Mrs Michael Bonk (Patricia), of Oshawa; two sons, William, of Rexdale, and David, of Cobourg, and four grandchildren.

She was predeceased by her parents and a twin sister, Mrs James Steen (Elda), who was formerly of Cornwall.

She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs Thomas Guest (Verna), of Brockville, Mrs Frank Gemell (Lillian), of Cobourg; two brothers, Andrew, of Newington, and Forrest, of Entistle, Alberta.

An enjoyable program of entertainment followed the turkey banquet to which Morrisburg Women's Institute catered. Don't risk feed flavours in the milk just because you prefer to feed silage before you milk, cautions F. W. Hamilton Ontario Agricultural College dairy specialist. Corn silage fed 1 hour or less before milking could give objectional flavors. Feed given 5 hours before milking generally do not cause flavours.

Cars collide on Main S. Friday night

Two cars came together with rather shattering effects on Friday night shortly after the supper hour. Jack Cross, son of Mr and Mrs Donald Cross was proceeding north on Main Street, accompanied by John Wemerman, son of Mr and Mrs Gerrit Wemerman. As the Cross car approached the Victoria Street crossing at the south end of the bridge, a car driven by Ranald Shaver, son of Mr and Mrs Reginald Shaver, RR 2, Chesterville, proceeding south, appeared to cross the centre of the road and come into collision with the Cross car.

The Shaver car proceeded on south until it stopped at the Mary Street corner below the St. Mary's School property. The Cross car remained at the place where the collision took place.

Damage was extensive to the two cars. In each case the left front end of the cars took the brunt of the crash and steering and fenders were bent and badly crumpled. John Wemerman suffered a badly bruised forearm in the sudden stop.

Mrs Alex Allison

One of the oldest residents of Russell, Mrs Alex Allison passed away in her 92nd year at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs Lorne Honey.

Her death occurred on Monday morning, May 14, after being confined to her bed for the past 2 years.

Mrs Allison was the former Mary Celia Pitcher, daughter of the late Wm. Pitcher and his wife Catherine Smith of Chesterville.

On January 1896 she married Alex Allison of Chesterville. They took up farming on the Maple Ridge. In 1904 they moved to North Russell where they farmed for a number of years. In 1942 they moved to the village of Russell.

She was a member of the North Russell United Church, where she took an active part in the church and community.

Her husband predeceased her in 1954, also her youngest son, Harold the same year.

Surviving she has four sons, William, Donald and Carleton of Ottawa, Miles of Bearbrook and Lawrence of North Russell, one sister Mrs Wm. Boyce, of Crysler, one brother John Pitcher of Smith Falls. Seven grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

The funeral service was held at the Warner Funeral Home, where a large crowd gathered to pay final respects.

The service was conducted by Rev. Norman Hair, a former pastor, who preached a very comforting sermon.

The Pall bearers were: Melvin Stanley, Edgar Loucks, Leonard Woods, Ernie Burton, Robert Morrice and Arthur Long.

Burial was in the North Russell Cemetary.

The many floral offerings showed the esteem in which the deceased was held by many friends and relatives.

The Ontario Safety League quotes these "Trafficisms" from a South African paper:—

Nothing can give you that run-down feeling like jaywalking.

The coating of civilization is so thin that it often comes off with a little alcohol.

A young woman hailed a taxi. "Maternity hospital, please" she told the driver. "But don't hurry — I only work there"

DO IT AGAIN

Two elderly spinster sisters, Amy and Ada Blackmore, routed two bandits from their tiny post office in Bristol, Eng., repeating a performance which won them the Queen's commendation for bravery 10 years ago.

One bandit leaped onto the counter when 64-year-old Amy had her back turned. Amy unhesitatingly swung around and knocked the man off the counter with a right hook.

As the man picked himself off the floor, Ada, 61, rushed in and the pair started screaming so loud that the men fled.

Police are still searching for the men.

Ten years ago, the sisters helped capture two men who later were jailed.

EVERYBODY EATS - TRY THESE

By Helen Graham

TO SERVE WITH CAKE

ICE CREAM OF COURSE. But if you are short on cake try one of these recipes below. They all have ice cream as the main ingredient but are dressed up so you do not need to serve cake as well.

Peach Ice Cream Pie

1 pkg. strawberry flavour gelatine
1¼ cups hot water
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 cup drained sweetened sliced peaches, canned, fresh or frozen
1 baked pie shell, cooled

Dissolve the gelatine in hot water. Add ice cream by spoonsful, stirring until melted. Chill until thickened, but not set (about 15 or 20 minutes). Fold in drained peaches. Turn into pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream and peach slices, if desired.

Jiffy Ice Cream Pie

2 tbsps. butter
12 marshmallows
1½ cups rice cereal
1 quart ice cream, any desired flavour

Melt butter and marshmallows together in double boiler. Add rice cereal and stir till coated with marshmallow mixture; press on sides of greased refrigerator tray. Chill. Stir ice cream to soften; spoon into cereal crust. Freeze till firm. Cut in wedges to serve.

Caramel Crunch Sundae

⅛ cup brown sugar
2 tbsps. butter
2 cups cornflakes or rice cereal
Chocolate or vanilla ice cream

Put sugar and butter in a heavy saucepan and melt over low heat, stirring occasionally. Add cereal and toss lightly until coated with syrup. Spread on a buttered platter and allow to cool. Put ice cream in dessert dishes and sprinkle with caramelized cereal.

Ice Cream Meringues

4 egg whites
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1 cup measured and sifted sugar
½ tsp. salt

Egg whites should be at room temperature so they will whip up extra fluffy. Separate the eggs while they are cold for easier handling. Also have all utensils free of fat. Wash in hot soapy water beforehand to be sure. Beat whites till stiff but not dry. The next step is to add the sugar. Add 1 tablespoon at a time. Beat thoroughly after each addition until well blended and dissolved. To tell if dissolved taste a little. There should not be any sugar crystals. Line a cookie sheet with unglazed brown paper. Mound meringue in circles or heart shapes of desired sizes. Make a depression in centre of each meringue for ice cream. If desired you can make one large meringue instead of individual ones. Bake in a slow oven (250 degrees) for 1¼ hours for the large meringue and 50 minutes at 275 degrees for the individual ones. Fill with ice cream of any desired flavour. Garnish with fresh fruit for an added touch of glamour.

* * * *

You can make a quick ice cream sauce by using double the amount of milk required for an instant pudding.

* * * *

To make popsicles for children follow directions for instant pudding. Line small size muffin pans with paper liners, pour in pudding; put a popsicle stick in each and freeze. Not so young children like these too.

* * * *

Try maple syrup for an ice cream sauce.

DOWN ANOTHER AISLE

The wedding day dilemma of 20-year-old Fiona Campbell, of Dundee, Scotland, was change her wedding dress with its crinoline skirt or change her church. She changed churches.

"You'll never get down the aisle of Auchterhouse kirk in that dress," a recently married girl friend told her.

Fiona did some measuring. The skirt was six inches wider than the aisle. So Fiona decided on Muirhead Church — after she measured its aisle.

Make sure plenty of water is available for your dairy cows in the winter: and that it's above 35 degrees F, say livestock specialists with the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The average dairy cow drinks about 12 gallons of water per day, and a heavy milker might need as much as 20 gallons a day.

Only persons who have been dead for ten years can qualify for election to the Hall of Fame.

High School News

The classes of Physical Education in Grades Nine and Ten had a film on Tuesday afternoon, entitled "Needs of Adolescents."

Thursday noon the teaching staff of C.H.S. was treated to a full-course dinner, prepared and served by the girls of the Home Economics classes. They were served cold ham, scalloped potatoes, salad, a fruit cup and two kinds of cookies. From all reports the dinner was quite a success.

Last week being a short week crews for decorating the hall for the formal were working hard every day. The theme of the prom this year was "Rhapsody in Blue." The ceiling was covered with blue cheese cloth. Stars of silver foil were pinned to the sky and a tree painted white had blue flowers growing from it. The back-drop on the stage had several bars of the theme song painted on it. At the front of the hall was quite a masterpiece. It was a fountain with blue water entitled "Ye Olde Wishing Well." The fountain was made by Mr Graham our principal and several boys from the shop. Thanks to every one who worked so hard to make the last C.H.S. formal such a wonderful one!

The kids from the band and majorette corps have been working hard too prepare for various concerts. Saturday they performed at the Winchestr Cub Jamboree. The majorettes introduced several new routines.

A band concert will be held this Friday afternoon on the United Church lawn. There will be a visiting group of majorettes from Ottawa along with our own C.H.S. majorettes. We hope many of our readers and parents will come and enjoy the performance.

SMITH—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, George C. Smith, who passed away May 31, 1956.

No one knows how much we miss you,

That we do not think of you.
