Thanksgiving Day

Monday Nov. 6th, has been proclaimed as Thanksgiving Day for this year, being the Monday of the week in which Armstice Day falls. If the war scare of this week fad s out in the meantime it will be an other great cause for thanksgiving.

Shoots at Hawk Kills Little Girl

Betty Reid, aged eight, daughter of Amos Reid, of Bedford Mills, was shot and killed Sunday afternoon, by a neighbor boy named Andrews, aged 15 The boy was shooting at a hawk, when the girl ran in front of the gun and received the full charge in her head and face.

Finch Farmer Injured

Mr. Luke Hunter of Finch, had a very close call from a serious accident on Thursday last. As a tractor was being placed for threshing purposes at the barn Mr. Hunter's coat was caught on one of the lugs on the wheel as he stooped too near to direct the driver just where to put the machine. He was thrown down, the wheel catching his shoulder and one leg. His condition is reported as progressing favorably.

Hickers Hit Town

Many citizens in town had a call yesterday from a couple of comely hikers ostensibly footing it across Canada from Prince Edward Island to Vancouver. They are accompanied by their husbands who kept in the back ground while the ladies sought subscriptions for a magazine in an endeavour to raise sufficient funds to defray expenses while jogging along. The two couples are Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Griffin and Mr. and Mrs. D. Saunders. They have travelled afoot all the way from New Brunswick since along at the end of May and expect to reach Vancouver in February.

The party is all dressed in khaki, the women dispensing with skirts travel in knickers and puttees Judging by their appearance the hardships have not been many on the journey so far.

Sinclair—Wells

A pretty wedding was solemized at the home of Mrs. Alice Wells, 184 Simcoe St. Oshawa on Tuesday Sept. 12th, at high noon when her eldest daughter Lillian Mabel was united in marriage to Mr. W Clarence Sinclair, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sinclair of Sault Ste Marie. Rev. A. M. Irwin officiated.

The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her brother Mr. Fred Wells of Port Hope, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by Miss Pearl Sinclair, sister of the groom. The bride looked very pretty in a dress of pale orchid georgette, with floral trimmings and radium lace panels, with black picture hat and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, also wearing the groom's gift a platinum bar pin set in diamonds. During the signing of the register Mrs. Fred Wells of Port Hope sang very sweetly "Beloved it is Morn."

The gifts to the soloist and pianist were white gold bar pins with onyx and pearl settings. After the wedding ceremony a dainty buffet luncheon was served by caterer Welsh to about thirty immediate relatives. Immediately after, the bridal party left amidst showers of confetti and good wishes for a motor trip to Ottawa and eastern points. The bride travelling in a brown suedine suit with Isabelle fox collar and hat to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair will reside at Sault Ste. Marie.

H. Wilmont Younge and Marjie Adams, with their most excellent company will play at Finch on Saturday, Sept 23rd, in the Massey Hall. A brand new play and six big Acts of Vaudeville including the Kilty Band and Scottish Dancers. The play will be "The Rosary."

The sun on its swing south crosses the line to-day. The old sign of the wind's direction should mean a late Fall.

Ready to Recommend Sale of Beer and Wine

The Toronto Telegram Tuesday published the following: Another referendum in the immediate future in which Ontario will be asked whether the province decides to give Standard Hotels throughout the country the sale of light wine and beer was forcasted to-day, to follow the deliberations of the special committee of the Legislature dealing with the hotel situation. The news came from a source which can be regarded as official.

In answer to a question, a party on the "inside" of deliberation said that the committee had made up its mind that its recommendation to the Drury Government, which will come in a few days, will be that a referendum be taken previous to the next sitting of the House.

The straight question put as to whether there would be anything in the nature of the "trick" ballot submitted was answered in the negative. It would be a straight "yes" or "no" to the question as to whether the people want hotels to sell wines or beer.

This is in direct opposition to the declaration of Attorney General Raney, who told the hotel men who appeared before the committee Monday that he would oppose any referendum in the near future, on the ground that four years was not long enough in which to properly test out the O T. A. It therefore remains to be seen if the Cabinet will kill the recommendation at the dictation of the Attorney General.

Shoe On The Other Foot

The Chinese have a proverb; "It is not the wine that makes a man drunk; it is the man himself." This reminds us of the old fellow who came to Sam Jones a ter a hard set-to with John Barleycorn and said penitently; "Brother Jones, I've been overtaken in a fault again."

Ford's Industrial Strike Is Now in Full Swing

Henry Ford's industrial strike against what he charges are excessive coal prices is in full swing, and approximately 73,000 of his workmen in the Detroit district are out of jobs for an indefinite period. Thousands of others in assembling plants throughout the country also were ordered to lay down their tools.

In addition, a score or more of small industrial concerns there, dependent upon the Ford Motor Company for orders were preparing to close. These employ upwards of 30,000 men.

Maxville Man Missing

Assistance of Ottawa police was asked Monday in the search for Joseph Boisvenue, aged 44, who has been missing from his home at Maxville since Friday night. No reason for his disappearance is known. When last seen Boisvenue was wearing a dark grey suit, black hat, soft collar, black tie and shoes. He is of a dark complexion and wears a small black moustache. His height is five feet, nine inches. Reeve G. H. McDougal of Maxville, communicated with Ottawa police asking that a thorough search of the city be made for the missing man. He has a family.

Spontaneous Combustion Fire

Investigation into the cause, origin and circumstances of the Fred H. Latimer fire, of Aug. 16. near Pana, Russell Tp., by Deputy Fire Marshall C. H. Cowan gives the following:—

Fire occurred about 2 o'clock p. m. and had its origin in the top of the hay mow.

Mow where fire originated contained 30 tons of new hay, timothy and alsike clover mixed, also a ton of old hay in bottom of mow.

Hay was cut in full bloom, about 12 of July, out in field only two days cocked up one day, got rain in the swath, hauled into the mow with Horse Fork, not well levelled in mow, barn had no ventilation except open drive doors.

Total value of barns, house and contents of both, including 40 tons hay, implements, etc., about $10,000 total Insurance $4500.60 net loss over $5000.00.

Evidence obtained, gives absolute proof of combustion and shows that Mr. Latimer and his near neighbors are thoroughly convinced of the reality of spontaneous fire in hay mows.

On the night of Aug. 15, F. H. Latimer laughed when A. E. Hamilton spoke of digging into his hot hay mow, and asked what he was afraid of.

On the morning of Aug. 16th, Latimer examined his hay mow before unloading a load of grain into it, and found it warm, but not being alarmed did not dig deep into mow.

At 2 o'clock p. m. Aug. 16th, a greyish white smoke, like steam was seen coming up through the roof over the mow, and in a moment or two the roof was all ablaze This was seen by Mrs. A. E. Hamilton, a near neighbor.

At the same time Mr. Latimer, who had entered the south grain barn with a load of grain, immediately drove out again when his son outside shouted fire.

Five or six seconds later a bluish colored flame shot a distance of 80 feet down through the barn behind him, with so terrifying a roar and heat, that Mr. Latimer feels sure, had he been in the barn on his load he would have been lost as the roof behind him was about to collapse with fire before he reached his house 100 feet away.

Live stock were rescued out of the horse stable barely in time, and only a few things were saved out of the house, the intense heat compelling all to retreat.

Mr. Latimere and son were the only persons in the buildiugs all morning, while they worked hauling in grain, and also after dinner.

No combustibles or inflammable materials were in the barn, no smoking had taken place.

Not a sign of fire or smoke was noticed by Mr. Latimer and his son as they approached the barn.

Already a number of Ontario's finest barns have gone down with Spontaneous Combustion with losses ranging from $10,000 to $40,000.

In several of these instances cows were being milked and could not be saved, so quick was the fire and so intense the heat.

In all those fires the produce was clover, or clover mixed with timothy' and in most cases of these fires old hay was in the bottom of the mow.

"Does Hobson wish to be single again?" "Yes; but what makes him so mad is to think that he paid a minister to get him in such a mess."

Maud; "Have you offered Tom any encouragement?" Edith; "Oh, yes. When he asked me what my favorite flower was, I said; 'Brown's for pastry and Smith's for bread."

Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Analyze The Air Criminals Breathe

Analysis of the air breathed by a criminal is the newest aid to the French police in identifying malefactors. They scientifically examine the air in the room in which he operated, then examine the man, and reach a definite answer to the question whether he breathed in that room at a particular time. If by chance the man expectorated while at work, he can be traced as surely as if he had left his calling card.

The machine which does this is part of a crime detector system. It is based on science applied to the detection and identification of criminals. If the Paris police wish to show that a man was at a given place at a given hour, they do not spend days trying to find witnesses. They prove it by the air he breathed; by the clothes he wore, and by several other scientific records which they say cannot be denied. There is no room for doubt, they say, such is their confidence in the accuracy of their deductions.

When a crime has been committed the scientists, in their well-equipped laboratory, are notified. They crowd into a big automobile, filled with scientific instruments, and proceed to the scene. There is the expert photographer; the artist to make sketches; the chemist, and the man to operate the spectroscope. The last mentioned takes a section of the air for future careful analysis; each of the others does his assigned part, and no possible bit of material analysis is overlooked. The floor and the walls, the furniture; threads of clothing, bloody rags, broken lights, finger prints, anything that offers a possible suggestion is packed up in air-tight receptacles and taken back to the laboratory. Here everything is analyzed, and finally, the labatory is able to give instructions to the detectives whom to arrest and what to look for, so that final and definite comparisons may be made.

"When we appear in court we do not confront the prisoners and the judges with suppositions or probabilities," said M. Bell, chief of the laboratory. "We present proofs and facts. We explain exactly how the crime was committed. In 1,110 cases of crime, 1,677 imprints were made, requiring 101,616 examinations and 4,775 photographic prints, and this work led to the positive identification of 126 criminals. Criminals who wash up blood stains now waste their time. In this labortory blood diluted 200,000 times can be traced, whether the origina stain was on a floor or a bit of cloth."

"Each man or woman has his or her distinctive heat and this is why bloodhounds are able to trace by smell," continued the speaker. "The spectroscope can be made to detect the light radiating from a given person, and if that person has passed through a room unseen, at a given moment, this faet the machine will reveal. The fact that the person in question was in a state of excitement or not also will be berecorded.

Storage of Vegetables

(Experimental Farms Note)

Winter storage of vegetables is an old question often discussed, but apparently not yet well understood. To store the crop seems a comparatively easy task, but to guard against heavy loss while in storage is sometimes quite a problem even for the most experienced growers.

Some of the first and most important factors influencing the keeping of vegetables in storage are to see that the vegetables are free from disease, well grown, fully matured and free from injuries such as bruises caused by careless handling at harvest time. If these important points are kept in mind and carefully attended too at the time of selecting the material for storage, much worry and subsequent loss in dollars and cents will be avoided later on.

For the storage of such crops as beets, carrots, potatoes, cabbage, celery, parsnips and turnips, a properly constructed frost proof cellar should be available, with adequate ventilation to keep the temperature as constant as possible around 56 degrees F at all times during the storage period. By no means should a storage cellar become excessively damp, because excessive moisture favours the development of many of the common diseases attacking vegetables in storage and more especially when in warm, ill ventilated cellars. Moderate-sized, slattned bins or crates should be used for the storage of roots and potatoes, while cabbage can be stored on slatted shelves or in bins. Celery is usually stored in the root cellers. The plants are stripped of all rough leaves and placed in an upright position on moist sand, more sand being placed around the roots. However, where only small quantities of vegetables are to be stored for household use, and a basement is available, a compartment or room should be provided therein, of such construction as to exclude the heat from the furnace and with suitable vents in the wall to provide good ventilation. It is not advisable to store a great quantity of cabbage or turnips in the cellar of a dwelling house. A good earthen floor in the storage room is to be preferred to cement. Where an earthen floor can be had in a well constructed vegetable room, it is seldom necessary to store the carrots, beets, parsnips and potatoes in sand, because, as a rule, sufficient moisture will escape from the floor to keep the air moist enough to prevent the vegetables from withering up.

Onions require quite different condition while in storage, to the other varieties of vegetables. A dry, cool, dark room is best suited for this crop, where the temperature can be kept around 34 degrees F. By no means should onions be stored in a cellar, except where it is possible to maintain a dry, cool atmosphere.

Squash and pumpkins should be stored in a dry moderately warm room, where a temperature of 50 degrees F. can be maintained. Particularly careful handling is necessary at harvest time if this crop is to be kept for any length of time. Place the squash or pumpkins on shelves or on a table in a single layer.

An Old-Time Dairy Farm

The old-time dairy farm was a picturesque place, especially when butter was being made. The late John Burroughs in the story of his boyhood in Harper's Magazine gives an interesting account of butter making on the farm that his father owned in the Catskill Mountains.

At eight o'clock every morning in summer, he says, the old sheep or the old dog was brought in and tied in the big treadmill of the churning machine. Sheep were usually more unwilling churners than dogs; they rarely acquired any sense of duty or of obedience as a dog did. The endless walking and arriving nowhere soon made them protest vigorously. Sometimes a sheep would pull back, brace himself and choke, thereby stopping the machine; and once a sheep threw himself off the treadmill and choked to death before he was discovered. I remember when the old hatchel from the day of flax dressing did duty behind the old churner and spurred him on with its score or more of sharp teeth whenever he settled back to stop the machine. "Run and start the old sheep," was a command we heard less often after the hatchel was in use.

The churn dog was less obdurate and perverse than the sheep, but he would sometimes hide away as the hour of churning approached, and we would have to hustle round to find him. But we had one dog that seemed to like the task and would go quickly to the wheel and finish his work without being tied. A few times when neither dog nor sheep was available I have taken their place on the treadmill. In winter and in early spring there was less cream to churn than at other times, and we did it by hand; two of us would lift the dasher together. The work was hard even for big boys, and sometimes when the butter would not come until the end of an hour the task would try our patience.

I never grew tired of seeing mother lift the great masses of golden butter from the churn with her ladle and pile them up in the big butter bowl, with the drops of buttermilk standing upon them as if they were sweating from the ordeal they had been through. Then when the butter had been worked and washed to free it from the milk and at last was packed into tub or firkin, what a picture it was! How much of the virtue of the farm went each year into those firkins! Literally the cream of the land. Ah, the alchemy of life that by means of the bee can change one product of those wild, rough fields into honey, and by means of the cow can change another into milk!

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. Catarral deafness requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine is a constitutional remedy. Catarral Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced, your hearing may be destroyed forever. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

To Holders of Five Year 5½ per cent Canada's Victory Bonds

CONVERSION PROPOSALS

THE MINISTER OF FINANCE offers to holders of these bonds who desire to continue their investment in Dominion of Canada securities the privilege of exchanging the maturing bonds for new bonds bearing 5½ per cent interest, payable half yearly, of either of the following classes:—

(a) Five year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1927.

(b) Ten year bonds, dated 1st November, 1922, to mature 1st November, 1932.

While the maturing bonds will carry interest to 1st December, 1922, the new bonds will commence to earn interest from 1st November, 1922, GIVING A BONUS OF A FULL MONTH'S INTEREST TO THOSE AVAILING THEMSELVES OF THE CONVERSION PRIVILEGE.

This offer is made to holders of the maturing bonds and is not open to other investors. The bonds to be issued under this proposal will be substantially of the same character as those which are maturing, except that the exemption from taxation does not apply to the new issue.

Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to avail themselves of this conversion privilege should take their bonds AS EARLY AS POSSIBLE, BUT NOT LATER THAN SEPTEMBER 30th, to a Branch of any Chartered Bank in Canada and receive in exchange an official receipt for the bonds surrendered, containing an undertaking to deliver the corresponding bonds of the new issue.

Holders of maturing fully registered bonds, interest payable by cheque from Ottawa, will receive their December 1 interest cheque as usual. Holders of coupon bonds will detach and retain the last unmatured coupon before surrendering the bond itself for conversion purposes.

The surrendered bonds will be forwarded by banks to the Minister of Finance at Ottawa, where they will be exchanged for bonds of the new issue, in fully registered, or coupon registered or coupon bearer form carrying interest payable 1st May and 1st November of each year of the duration of the loan, the first interest payment accruing and payable 1st May, 1923. Bonds of the new issue will be sent to the banks for delivery immediately after the receipt of the surrendered bonds.

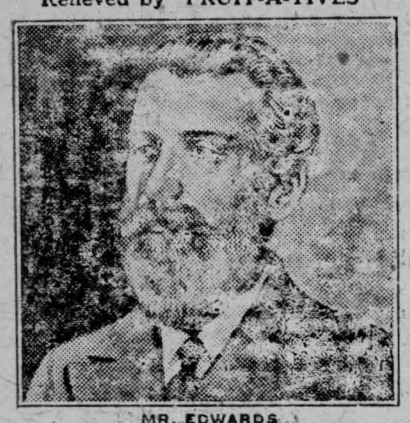

The bonds of the maturing issue which are not converted under this proposal will be paid off in cash on the 1st December, 1922.

W. S. FIELDING,
Minister of Finance.

Dated at Ottawa, 8th August, 1922.

STOMACH ULCER AND GALL STONES

MR. EDWARDS

MAPLEHURST FARM, HILLHURST, P.Q.

"I am in my 78th year. About 25 years ago, I began to have trouble with my Stomach. One doctor said I had Cancer; another said, Ulcer of the Stomach; another, Gall Stones; others, Ulcers of the Liver and Inflammation of the Gall Bladder.

Three years ago, I consulted one of the best specialists in Montreal. He said I must go to the hospital, have an Ulcer cut out of my stomach and gall stones removed. I was then 74 years old. I said "NO."

Then, I began to take "Fruit-a-tives". I found they helped me a lot, and I still take them occasionally, and I am so much better that my old friends often ask me what I have done to myself to look so well. I am gaining in weight and enjoying life very much"

Wonderful Cures of Miracle Water

"Miracle" water, said to contain the elixir of life, has been discovered in an old well in the little Essex village of Vange in England. Stories of wonderful curses effected by the water have caused pilgrimages from many parts of the country, people arriving on foot, with teams and in luxurious motor cars.

A titled woman who drank less than two glasses said that it made her feel better. A millionaire who drank from the well took a jug of the water away and told the humble owner of the well that if the water did what it was claimed it would do, the man would never have to do another day's work.

An average of more than 500 visitors daily have been visiting the well, carrying every conceivable sort of receptacle, and all are served free.

The "miracle" water was discovered during a drought by an eighty-year-old farmer, named George Murrell. He had recourse to a puddle which never seemed to dry up, and used the water for making tea. It had a curious taste, but a few hours after drinking it Murrell felt a strange new vigor within him. The next day he drank more, and said "I felt better than I had in twenty years."

Murrell told about his discovery to a seventy year-old neighbor named Charlie Cash, who found that the water came from a well. He drank some of it and experienced the same sensation as Murrell.

On the advice of a doctor a sample was sent to a public analyst in London, who discovered an amazing combination of medical properties which he says, are not equaled even by the famous springs in Bohemia. Then the pilgrimages began. People suffering from rheumatism, dyspepsia, gout and skin diseases drank the water and claimed that they were cured. There are many ex-service men among them. The farmers have been urged to make a charge, but they will not do so as they think the spring was sent by God.

Meanwhile the village is crowded, and tents have been ordered to accommodate the visitors.

Town Versus Country

Little Emmeline was on a visit to her grandmother in the country.

They had chicken for dinner, which pleased the little girl very much.

"Oh, where did you get the chicken, grandma?" she asked.

"From the chicken yard, dear. It's one of those you saw this morning."

"What one of those I fed?"

"Yes, dear."

"Did you kill one?"

"Yes, darling!"

"Oh, did you!" said Emmeline. "At home we buy ours ready made!"

Athletics for Public School Boys

The boys of the Public and Separate Schools of the Counties of Leeds, Grenville, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry are invited to an athletic meet to be held on the Lacrosse Grounds, Cornwall, on Saturday, Sept. 23rd. This meet is being conducted by the Ontario Athletic Commission, combined with the Branch of the Ontario Athletic Union. The Athletic Commission is supplying gold filled, silver and bronze medals for each event, and four gold-filled medals for the winning team in the relay race. The events are:

75-yard dash for boyes 13 and under.

Running broad jump for boys 13 and under.

100 yard dash for boys, 15 and under.

220-yard dash for boys, 15 and under.

Running high jump for boys, 15 and under.

Running Broad jump for boys, 15 and under.

Pole vault for boys, 15 and under.

8-lb. shot put for boys 15 and under.

75-yard dash for girls, 15 and under.

These events will be carried off without any admission being charged.

The following gentlemen are acting on the local committee—W. C. Burns, J. C. Macfarlane, W. T. O'Neil and J. E McPhee.

Mr. Ed. B. Archibald, of Toronto, formerly Sporting Editor of Ottawa Journal, who is arranging for these games in this section, is one of Canada's greatest athletics. During the war he was supervisor for recreation and sport for the Canadian Corps in France, and in 1908 made a record of 12 feet, 5 inches for the pole vault, which has never been equalled.

As the Public School is not yet opened for the fall term, no organization has been formed in that institution. Boys of that school who come under the ages mentioned in the list of events, and who would like to participate, should practice the events at once and get in shape for the meet. The Separate School boys are at work preparing. Those who intend competing should see any member of the local committee at once and leave their names and entries.

Whose Roads Are These?

No load of hay, beyond a certain width is to be permitted upon provincial roadways. Farmers have been warned that their cattle must not be allowed at large upon these same roads, a restriction which necessarily means that cattle must be kept off adjacent thoroughfares as well, since otherwise they would stray from one to another. It is probably only a question of time until restraint is made still more stringent and the prohibition extended even to the driving of cattle on what by courtesy are still called "highways."

Quite as significant as these restrictions is the recent action of the Attorney-General in deciding that local magistrates shall no longer be permttted to hear cases against violation of the speed limit, and that all such cases must be taken up before police magistrates. In other words, rural justices of the peace, living near thoroughfares which have been taken over by the Province, and who thus are vitally interested in keeping speed fiends in check, are not to be allowed to deal with those to whom anything under 35 miles an hour is a funeral gait. That duty is to be reserved for chief magistrates who live in urban centres, where speed maniacs are grown, and who are naturally, because of their environment, disposed to take a more friendly view of the action of those who seemingly have an irresistible tendency to step on the gas.

When farmers thus find themselves under compulsion to adjust by foot-rule the loads they may haul past their own doors, and at the same time see the lid practically torn off in regard to speeding, they will not unnaturally begin to ask themselves if roads, which their grandfathers cut out of the forest, have been taken wholly out of their control and are not longer for their benefit.

His Prayers

"Well, my young friend," he said smilingly, 'are you trying to get a hint or two on gardening?"

"No," said the youth.

"Are you surprised to see me working like this?"

"No. I do be waiting to see what a parson do say when he hammers his thumb."

Care of Health on Trains

THE care of the public health on trains is a matter which occupies a great deal of the attention of railroads. The average passenger on an up-to-date train, while enjoying the luxury it affords, is not fully aware of the pains that are taken to provide for his comfort. The Canadian Pacific Railway has its health regulations for the welfare of its patrons. These regulations are compiled by eminent doctors, chemists and sanitary engineers in collaboration. The regulations are strictly enforced all over the system. The result of these efforts is that the sleeping, dining, parlor and other cars are as healthy as a comfortable and sanitary home.

In order to give the most hygienic service, the Canadian Pacific wherever possible, has food put up in individual containers. Cereals are in small packets, one of which is used by an individual at a time. Jams are in small jars. Shell oysters are always used for all purposes, as it is difficult to keep bulk oysters fresh for long. Canned goods are never used on the Canadian Pacific.

Every employee on the trains must be in good health. Doctors are engaged by the railway to see to this. At all lay-over points and large terminals, large hostels are conducted for the benefit of railway men. These hostels are supplied with shower and plunge baths, sleeping quarters, reading and writing rooms.

In handling people on millions of trips each year, it is only natural that some are not in perfect health, but frequently disinfection of cars with a special fumigation of formaldehyde kills all bacteria and makes trains more healthy than any other place where any large number of persons congregate.

The greatest care is taken that sweeping, mopping, dusting, brushing, ventilation, heating, lighting, watering are done in the most thorough and sanitary fashion.

The average person spends about one-third of life in bed, so it is especially desirable that railway sleeping quarters should be sanitary and comfortable.

On the Canadian Pacific after a long trip over dusty roads, mattresses must be taken out of car, vacuumed and aired; upper berths dusted and washed out; lower berth seats, upholstery and carpets removed, vacuumed and cleaned; the floor washed and scrubbed; walls and woodwork washed and polished; washbasins and metal work have to be polished until they shine like mirrors.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is the only company operating a sleeping car service which uses the "triple sheet system" of making beds. This is one of the greatest improvements from a hygienic standpoint yet adopted. It is of course necessary to use an under sheet, and an over sheet on any bed, but the third sheet which is placed over the blanket, prevents the blanket from coming in touch with the passenger, and is something extra. This adds one-third to the cost of laundry work on sheets, but the Company feels fully justified in paying the additional sum for the sake of the hygienic advantages.

(2) A luxurious observation car on the Canadian Pacific cross continent trains.

After 23 Years

Twenty-three years ago when engaged in operations on their farm on the south-west side of the town, Norman Smart of Collingwood had the misfortune to lose a silver watch. A search was instituted at the time but no trace of the missing timepiece was discovered. Last week however, it was ploughed up by one of the farm employees and to the surprise of Mr. Smart was found to be in very good condition. It was taken to a Jeweller and is now reported to be running and keeping good trme. The watch was a silver hunting case and being closed through the years probably accounts for the fact that the works were not destroyed.—News.

FOUR Shingles In One

Brantford ASPHALT Slab Slate

THE newest idea in roofing. Just think of the time and cost of labor saved in laying the roof of a big barn, freight shed or other large building with this new Brantford Asphalt Slab Slate which is four shingles in one. Fewer nails are also required.

Brantford Asphalt Slab Slates are so cleverly designed that a roof laid with them has the appearance of being covered with individual size shingles.

One size only: 32 inch x 12 inch, with cut outs five inches. They are laid five inches to the weather. Red or green color.

Brantford Asphalt Slab Slates are made of the same materials as our famous Brantford Asphalt Slates which have given such satisfaction for artistic homes.

The same roofing in roll is called Brantford Crystal Roofing and weighs 80 to 85 lbs. per square.

Particulars about these roofings furnished on request.

Profit and Patriotism

The Minister of Finance is offering, on attractive terms, to exchange Victory Bonds maturing December 1, 1922 for new bonds bearing the same rate of interest and running for a further period of either five or ten years. An an extra inducement a bonus of a full month's interest is given to those accepting the offer which is open until September 30

The Minister's proposals carry us back to the grim war days of 1917 when these bonds were first put out. Under the impetus of the patriotic appeal and the intensive campaign of the first Victory Loan Organization the issue was successful to a degree that the most optimistic had not dared to anticipate. Literally, hundreds of thousands of Canadians became, for the first time, investors in bonds,— a result of tremendous importance to the country as well as to the investors themselves. Accumulated savings were invested and surplus earnings for many months ahead were pledged, calling for a very practical response to the "Save and Serve" appeal of the then Minister of Finance.

The 1922 maturity was particularly favoured by small investors and, even as it was important to Canada that they should have subscribed in the first instance, so it is desirable now from a national as well a personal standpoint that their investment should continue It would indeed be regrettable if any considerable number of the holders of bonds subscribed to under these circumstances should pass over the Minister's offer with the idea of using the money at maturity for less sound investments or unnecessary expenditure.

Invested in Dominion securities the money is safe, and the interest return sure and profitable. The Minister makes a generous concession to home investors, as a large issue of Dominion bonds were floated in New York last April at 5 per cent.

It is hoped, and anticipated, that there will be a large percentage of re-investors from the ranks of the small investors who purchased bonds for the first time in 1917.

If War Comes; This Will be the Cause.

At the conclusion of the Great War, when the demand for the complete expulsion of the Turk from Europe was whittled down in face of opposition from the whole of the Mohammedan world, Smyrna was declared a Greek Protectorate, and Constantinople and the Dardanelles were declared a neutral zone and handed over to an Inter-Allied Commission for administration.

Almost immediately afterwards Turkish Nationalists launched an agitation for the restoration of Turkish sovereignty over Smyrna. The Greeks resisted the demand, and last year, following stories of Turkish atrocities against Christians, launched a great but unsuccessful offensive against Angora.

Since then the rival claims of the two countries has been the subject of endless discussion and controversy between the Allied Power, Great Britain backing the claims of the Greeks, and France, apparently, rendering moral—if not military— assistance to the Turks.

Some months ago the Greeks, impatient for a settlement, made a demonstration against Constantinople, which was checked at the behest of the Allies. For the purpose of this demonstration, 50,000 Greek troops were taken from Anatolia and sent into Thrace, the result being to weaken their forces operating from Smyrna and give the Turks a long-awaited chance.

In a speech in the British House, delivered about this time, Mr. Lloyd George declared that Smyrna would never go back to the Turks; but the Turkish answer was Kemal Pasha's drive, which smashed the Greeks in Asia Minor; the capture of Smyrna: and the threat to Constantinople.

That the Turks contemplate the taking of Constantinople may be seen from the following statement of Fethy Bey, who recently visited Paris to present the case for the Turkish Government. He said:

"Turkey will continue to struggle until her sovereignty is re-established in every part of her national territory. This is the view of every Turkish patriot. We are ready to make every reasonable concession, and give every guarantee in regard to races, nationalities and religion. Turkey today possesses a liberal Government based on the popular will, and confidence may be placed in us. But there will be no peace in the east until the Greeks evacute Asia Minor and until the Allies have given us back our sovereignty over Constantinople."

In this connection it is worth recalling that the Turkish Nationalists are bound by explicit treaties to the Bolshevists, who, according to the London Times, have been rendering them every possible assistance.

Everybody Dance and Express Yourself

You said it, Dick.

A form of self-expression.

Once upon a time you had to learn the intricacies of a step. Once there were rules to dancing. There was a time when some men and women did not dance because they couldn't learn the steps.

Everybody can dance now. There aren't any steps to learn. There are no intricacies left. All you do is get out on the floor and mooch around and express yourself.

Look at a modern roomful of dancers and what do you see? A crowd of people doing as they please. The music is the same for them all. But the only thing they are all doing is breathing. No two couples are performing the same steps or doing the same evolutions or even stepping at the same part of the beat.

There is one couple conspicuous by their grace and lightness. They are good dancers. But what is it they are dancing? The program says it is a fox trot. If that is a fox trot they are doing then everybody else on the floor is doing a horse-trot, a truck horse trot.

They gleam and glide and float among the rest of the heavy-footed crowd. They dip and curve and poise. They have hold of each other gracefully. The girl's skirt scarcely moves, yet they are speeding faster than any others on the floor.

If this is self expression then there is a nice young couple indeed.

But what of the others? There is a couple expressing themselves as a pair of mud turtles, yonder a couple of shirts flying on a clothes line on a windy day, and there a pair of fowls scratching in a barn yard, and yonder a team of brewery horses playing round and round the mulberry bush.

Fox trot indeed. Why there is a couple who are not trotting at all, but slithering round and round on their soles, covering about one square yard of floor in the whole dance. And another couple go galloping, and trotting around the outer edges of the floor, both red and perspiring, both wide eyed, as if they were rushing to catch a boat that had whistled.

Some clinch fight and others push each other off to finger tip distance. Some hunch forward, others lean backward. Some walk with stiff legs and waddle about if they were crouching for a spring.

It is great for the flat-footed and the old and clumsy. Families that haven't danced in ten generations are getting their innings now. There is a great big blonde girl, the last dancing in whose family was done around the wassail bowl in the fifth century. There is a little of the wassail left in her veins, it seems. She galumphs. That describes her actions. There is a small lean dark fellow, who by the expression on his face, is thinking of stilettos and poinards and long velvet cloaks. He is slinking around the floor holding his lady as if he were looking for a nice dark window to chuck her out to his varlets awaiting below. Here is a daddy of a grown up family. The last time he danced, Sir Roger de Coverly was the fashion and round dancing the rage. He simply walks. But as he walks, he bobs gently up and down on his toes. At every turn he makes a hop. There is a fixed and gallant smile on his face. The young thing he is holding in his stiff embrace is damp with apprehension. She knows that the least thing will set the old boy back twenty years and he will give her a spin and go prancing off with his coat tails flying.

But it is all right. The day of the dudes and the dandies is gone. You don't critize anybody's dancing anymore. If your partner wants to express himself as a swallow, and go dipping and skimming, all right, you go along. If he wants to express himself as the last rose of summer, all right; droop with him.

It doesn't matter what the tune is. You can rave to a waltz or dead march to a fox trot.

All rules are off. Express yourself

Preparing Bees For Winter

Now that the honey crop of 1922 is practically all gathered it is time for the beekeeper to begin his preparations for the crop of 1923. The beekeepers' success depends largely upon the condition of his bees in the early spring just after coming out of winter quarters, and this condition in turn depends upon the preparations given for th winter.

Three things are essential for successful wintering; namely strong colonies consisting mainly of young bees, sufficient wholesome stores, and adequate protection from the cold. To neglect anyone of these factors is to invite failure.

By strong colonies we mean populous colonies. A colony cannot be too strong in bees for the winter. These bees must be comparatively young in order to live through the winter until blood rearing is safely commenced the following year. To get the hives filled with young bees every colony must be headed with a young, vigorous queen during August and September; therefore, all colonies containing old or failing queens should be requeened not later than the last week in July. Colonies with bees covering less than eight full-sized Langstroth frames at the beginning of October should be united.

A colony of bees should have not less than forty pounds of stores to carry it through the winter until new honey is coming in in the spring. The honey stored in the brood chamber is usually of uncertain quality and deficient in quantity; it should therefore, be supplemented with either good clover or buckwheat honey, or, better still with a syrup made of two parts pure, granulated sugar to one part water. The colony should be given enough honey or sugar made into syrup to bring the stores up to the required weight. Even if a colony has enough natural stores in the brood chamber it is advisable to give it at least ten pounds of sugar made into syrup in order to postpone or minimize the consumption of poor honey and thus delay a possible attack of dysentery.

There are two methods of protecting the bees during the winter; either to place them in a cellar or to pack them in cases outside. For outside wintering the bees should be placed in the cases during the latter part of September or early in October and the packing placed on the bottom and all four sides. The bees should be fed the required amount of stores as rapidly as possible, then the top packing is put in place These bees will require no further attention until the following spring.
