The bridge, which is to be built at this point, is of the type known as the Scherzer Roller Lift, and as yet there are only two of the kind in Canada. It is expected that the work will be commenced at once.

The family were moving into a new home and unnoticed by the mother the can had been set on the floor, together with a number of other articles. The little one, who was about a year and a half old, toddled over to it, and no doubt attracted by the bright color, picked it up and drank a small quantity of the fluid. It immediately became ill and all efforts to save its life were unavailing.

Barkley—Barkley.

A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, the 28th inst., at the residence of Mrs. S. E. Barkley, of Williamsburg, when her youngest daughter, Miss Idella Barkley, was united in marriage to Mr. Herman I. Barkley, of Hanesville, in the presence of immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Mr. Dennig of the Lutheran church. The parlor was beautifully decorated with sweet-peas and ferns and other flowers in profusion and as the clock struck the noon hour the happy couple entered amid the strains of Lohengrin wedding march, played by Miss Jackson of Brinstons. The bride was handsomely gowned in cream silk, with all-over lace tunic trimmed with pearl ornaments. She wore a wreath of lilies of the valley about her head. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Frank Barkley of Prescott. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served to all present, after which the happy couple left for Montreal and other points. The bride wore a beautiful navy blue travelling suit with hat to match. On their return they will reside at South Mountain where the groom is doing a prosperous mercantile business. We join in wishing the happy couple long life and prosperity.

Good Form

The Card Party.

Cards are a source of unending interest to most women and many men, and the hostess who selects a card game as the basis for her entertainment is pretty sure of meeting with success.

When giving a card party it is well to provide prizes, as in this way the hostess may let her guests know that she does not expect them to play for money.

To invite people to your house and then oblige them to do something of which they may disapprove is an unpardonable offense against good manners as well as good morals. It also shows a lack of consideration for the young men and women who cannot afford to lose money. A girl can often escape by making some excuse, but for a man, who is supposed to be independent in money matters, this is more difficult. As debts contracted at cards are not recognized by the law and are therefore held to be debts of honor, a young man in poor circumstances who is forced by a thoughtless hostess to incur such a liability is placed in a most unpleasant predicament.

Since expensive prizes create envy and bad feeling, it is better to select pretty trifles that please by their novelty, beauty or oddity, rather than by their money value. The exact cost of these gifts will vary somewhat in accordance with the means of the giver and her friends.

It would be in bad taste for the wife of a man living on a small salary to offer a prize that might be given without impropriety by the wife of a man with large means and rich associates. One's circle of acquaintance usually knows more accurately than one supposes the amount of income the hostess possesses and criticizes any display of extravagance. The well bred woman tries to avoid the two extremes of meanness and ostentation.

It is now thought best not to show the prizes until the end of the evening, and the consolation ones are awarded by lot rather than to the poorest player.

It is important to have the seats of the right height so that the guests may be comfortable. Dining room chairs are better for the purpose than those usually found in a drawing room, the latter being too low and often to cumbrous. Light gilt chairs and card tables may be hired. If ordinary small tables are used they should be covered with a cloth to prevent the cards from slipping.

The hostess herself does not play at a card party unless it should be necessary to fill a vacancy. It would be awkward for a late comer on her arrival to find every one deeply absorbed in cards and no one free to welcome and talk to her. The lady of the house moves about among her guests to see that all are comfortable, well placed and not exposed to drafts.

Manners.

Every one is familiar with the story of an accomplished host who drank out of his finger bowl to save an unsophisticated guest from embarrassment. This is offset by the social kindness and tact of a certain physician, famous alike for courtesy and skill. A countryman, coming early one morning for the doctor, was kept for breakfast. At the table the countryman poured his hot coffee into his saucer and set his cup on the immaculate damask beside it. Then he looked around the large table only to perceive that he alone had done this. But before the flush could fairly show in his face the doctor had likewise poured his coffee into his saucer and set the cup beside it, to the evident great relief of his guest. There is a saying in the Talmud that he who causes another to blush is as if he shed that other's blood. And so, conversely, he who spares or shields another's blush saves some wounding of the spirit. For good manners really call for much chivalry, much heroic self control and living for the moment in the experience of another. For as soon as we go below the surface we find that manners are one with morals, since the taproot of both is the same. That famous order of Grant's by which Lee was spared the soldier's pain of surrendering his sword is a happy instance of the "best" manners, since it combines chivalry and magnanimity alike, a full appreciation of the situation with a fine consideration for another's feelings.

Good Form In Dress.

It is hardly possible to put the whole matter of good form in dress into a series of stated rules, for it frequently happens that over dress is as much an error of judgment as dress of too informal character. Therefore, the sense of exact proportion, perfect fitness for the time, place and occasion is the important element of good taste in dress. There are instances in the life of every Previous to that, I had been troubled with Rheumatism and Kidney Disease, and had taken many remedies without satisfactory results. man and woman when the question of just what to wear was a more or less perplexing one. The exact hour, the object, the character of the entertainment, the manner of life and ideas of one's host or hostess, the locality—all these enter into the matter of dress—and while in the great majority of cases there can be no doubt whatever, in others the question must be decided entirely by circumstances and common sense. But it should always be remembered in cases where there is the least doubt that full dress is the safe rule for an evening affair.

The Only Way.

"Betty always dresses in the latest style."

"How does she manage to get the latest every time?"

"She waits up at night for them to come out."

Not Complimentary.

"Can she sing?"

"She just can, like a bird."

"What bird?"

"A night hawk."

A Strain Upon Ingenuity.

"Did you hear about Kate's taffy pull?"

"No. Did they make molasses taffy?"

"They did not. Each girl told the other how much she admired her summer outfit."

"My, it must have strained their inventiveness and veracity!"

Saucy Youth!

"Say?"

"Well?"

"Aren't you exceeding the speed limit with this hot pace of yours?"

"Well, if the authorities don't like it all they have to do is to speed up their old limit."

Didn't Need It.

"The air at the place where we are going is said to be an excellent nerve tonic."

"Then don't take Bill with you."

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

A woman calls a doctor every time she has a pain in her head, but she can always tell her neighbor how to handle a case of typhoid or scarlet fever.

Some men are born pessimists and others are defeated for office.

If it were as easy to do a thing as it is to talk about it there wouldn't be a job left in a week.

Our idea of a good natured man is one who will listen complacently to stories about his neighbor's baby.

There's no law against a man's keeping a puppy, but just as soon as we begin to run things there will be.

Some men are bachelors because they are looking for a woman who can create a Paris gown out of her grand mother's wedding dress and the trim ming from her last winter's hat.

The man who is always advertising his own honesty seldom gets any on else to take the job off his hands.

Because a woman can make beautiful Irish lace it doesn't follow that she will get up in the morning and get a early breakfast.

The man who gets his own breakfast in the morning wouldn't be any worse off under equal suffrage.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

JUNE, the month of brides, roses and presidential conventions, is invariably followed by July, devoted to political and matrimonial squabbles.

The men who are industriously engaged in making history are generally too busy to read any of it.

It is easier to foretell victory than it is to have events following square with the predictions.

But, then, you know, the hopeful never recognize it as the inevitable.

The easiest way to please some men is to displease them from the start.

The thrifty housewife doesn't understand why the men can't wait until the canning season is over before they expect her to get excited over politics.

There's always something to be thankful for, but it usually takes one's friends to point out what it is.

If a woman can throw more out of the back door with a teaspoon than a man can shovel in at the front door with a scoop shovel the wise man is he who changes jobs with her.

The poorer the match a woman has made the greater her delight in telling her daughters about the men she might have married.

The Winners.

The world is run by those who tug serenely at the traces.

Not by the ones who sit around and only work their faces.

The latter think they are the goods and say so in their speeches.

But that is not what common sense or what the school book teaches.

It is the ones who shovel sand, who post holes dig and ditches.

And other useful works perform, who gather in the riches.

Not very much at first, perhaps, but it keeps daily growing.

Until to what it will amount there is no way of knowing.

The man who makes the wheels go round, who keeps the world a-spinning.

Adown the course that it has run way back from the beginning.

Who sees that work that should be done does not turn out a fizzle.

Is he who toils from day to day with hammer, tongs and chisel.

All other workers are a bluff. They write things down on paper.

And think that they are doing stunts and cutting quite a caper.

But they would starve to death, I fear, for all their column shifting.

If it were not for those stout boys who do the heavy lifting.

Those Gentle Girls.

"I fear that Belle and Nelle don't love each other any more."

"What makes you think that?"

"Nelle was saying the other night that she thought that bathing was rather hard on the complexion."

"Yes?"

"And Belle remarked, 'Yes, indeed; I wonder they don't make a kind that will wash.'"

The Kind That Pays.

"What a splendid looking fellow."

"Isn't he? He's a poet."

"A poet! How fine! Has he tem perament?"

"Don't know, but he has lots of cash."

"Inherited it, I suppose."

"I guess not! Made it writing ads for the breweries."

Frank.

"Should you call me lazy?"

"I should say not!"

"Thank you. Some people seem to think I am."

"Not on your life. Laziness is a common affliction, but what ails you so far surpasses it that it has laziness beaten a thousand miles."

How She Started Something.

First Woman—You'd never think Mrs. Brown forty five, would you?

Second Woman—No; not with a complexion like hers.

Second Woman (later)—Hasn't Mrs. Brown a lovely complexion for a woman of her age? Do you suppose it is artificial?

Third Woman—It probably is. There's so much of that these days.

Third Woman (later)—Isn't it just awful the way that old Mrs. Brown calclines, and at her age too!

DIG THEIR OWN GRAVES.

English Army Methods in the Execution of Condemned Spies.

The ceremony of disposing of a condemned spy in the English army always follows a definite precedent.

The unfortunate man is surrounded by a detachment of infantry, and after he is provided with a pick and shovel he is marched off to a selected spot and ordered to dig his own grave. This done, the tools are taken from him and his eyes are bandaged. The attending chaplain reads portions selected from the burial service, and from the ranks of the escort twelve men are selected at random by the officer in charge.

These men, having stacked their own rifles, are led to where twelve other rifles are awaiting them, six of which are loaded with blank cartridges. One of these is handed to each man, so that no one knows whether the rifle he holds contains a bullet or not, and none can say for certain that the shot fired by him killed the prisoner. The firing party then marches to an appointed position. The commands "Present!" "Fire!" are given, and almost before the last word rings out the volley is fired and the spy falls into the grave he has dug.

Nearly every man is more or less affected on being selected to form one of the firing party, and many men have been known to faint away on being singled out, while others are so overcome as to be scarcely able to pull the triggers of their rifles.

Carlyle's Bluntness.

Thomas Carlyle once took Lord Houghton (Richard Milnes) to task in regard to the proposed pension for Lord Tennyson. "Richard Milnes," said Carlyle, taking his pipe out of his mouth, "when are ye gaun to get that pension for Alfred Tennyson?" Milnes tried to explain that there were difficulties in the way and that possibly his constituents who knew nothing about Tennyson would accuse him of being concerned in a job were he to succeed in getting the desired pension for the poet. "Richard Milnes," replied the sage, "on the day of judgment, when the Lord asks ye why ye didna get that pension for Alfred Tennyson, it'll no do to lay the blame on your constituents. It's you that'll be damned."

Vulcan.

Vulcan, the god of ancient blacksmiths and metal workers, was lame in consequence of a pretty hard fall he had in his early days. Jupiter and Juno had a row, and Vulcan sided with his mother against the old gentleman, who promptly kicked him out of heaven. He fell for a whole day and lighted on the island of Lemnos, broke his leg and received as severe a shaking up as though he had tumbled down an elevator shaft. Aesculapius set his leg, but, having only just received a diploma, did a poor job, and for a long time Vulcan went on a crutch.

Beloved of the Gods.

Miss Mary Anderson (Mme. Navarre) in the play of "Pygmalion and Galatea" once turned with outstretched arms toward the audience. She was supposed to be appealing to heaven. "The gods will help me!" she cried. At once with one accord the "gods" of the gallery roared response, "We will!"

Women as Wireless Operators.

Women will supplant men as wireless operators on the steamships in the north Pacific if the plans of R. H. Armstrong, manager of a wireless telegraph company that has contracts with many liners, are followed. Mr. Armstrong, who says men are not always satisfactory, has engaged Miss Mabel Kelso and Miss S. Through for his first woman operators and turned them over to Chief Operator C. B. Cooper for instructions. The young women will be taught to repair.

Will Address Army Women.

Mrs. Leonard Wood, wife of the chief of staff of the army, will undertake to get the co-operation of army women in the plan for a woman's memorial to the men who died on the Titanic. She will address a letter to every woman connected with the army asking for contributions.

For Pantry Shelves.

Do away with papers on your pantry shelves by substituting for them two or three coatings of white enamel. The effect will appeal to housekeepers on account of its inviting and cleanly appearance, aside from its sanitary qualities.

READ ABOUT THE GREAT INVENTION THE ECCENTRIC SPROCKET WHEEL

Immediately after our Knotter ties the bundle, the chain is pulled over the short spokes (see arrow B) and note difference in length of spoke as compared with arrow A). The shorter spokes greatly increase the speed of the chain. The bundle is given a swifter discharge than with ordinary wheel, and the needle is speedily brought back, out of the way of the downcoming grain, into position for the next sheaf.

The Eccentric Sprocket does this, too—it prevents that "jar" or "jerk" always noticed on other machines when a bundle is being tied and discharged. You will not feel it on the No. 3; neither will your horses be annoyed by it, nor "the life" of the machine be shortened. Frost & Wood No. 3 runs along and does its work without even a suggestion of that "jerk."

Now, you see why every maker would put the Eccentric Sprocket Wheel on his binder if we did not control the patents for Canada. You see why it's wise to invest a post card and get our Binder Booklet so as to become thoroughly posted on the peer of them all—the Frost & Wood No. 3.

You are on the right track when you start investigating our No. 3—the binder that is built by a purely Canadian Company, who thoroughly understands Canadian conditions. We would like you to read a few of the hundreds of testimonials we have received from Canadian farmers, which back up our claims to the letter.

MAINE TURNS BACK.

State Goes Republican Again by a Small Plurality.

Portland, Me., Sept. 10.—Maine turned back to the Republican party in the state election yesterday. William T. Haines of Waterville being elected governor over Governor Frederick W. Plaisted, his Democratic opponent, who sought a second term, while the Republicans regained one of the two congressional districts lost to the Democrats two years ago. The new Legislature is expected to have a small Republican majority, although returns before midnight were not sufficient to show whether former Congressman Edwin C. Burleigh, Republican, or Senator Obadiah Gardner, Democrat, will be sent to the United States Senate for the term beginning next March.

Returns for governor from 550 out of 634 election districts gave Haines, Republican, 66,121; Plaisted, Democrat, 62,127.

The corresponding vote for 1910 was: Fernald, Republican, 60,556; Plaisted, Democrat, 67,501.

These returns show a Republican gain of 9 per cent. and a Democratic loss of 8 per cent. If the same percentage is maintained throughout the state, Haines' election is indicated by about 3,750 plurality, compared with 8,660 given Plaisted in 1910.

The Congressmen elected are: First district—Asher C. Hinds of Portland, Republican. Second district—D. J. McGillicuddy of Lewiston, Democrat. Third district—Forest Goodwin of Skowhegan, Republican. Fourth district—F. E. Guernsey of Dover, Republican. Hinds, McGillicuddy and Guernsey were re-elected.

TRADES CONGRESS.

Laborites From All Over the Dominion Assemble at Guelph.

Guelph, Sept. 10.—There was no session of the Dominion Trades Congress yesterday afternoon, but instead the delegates accepted the hospitality of the reception committee of the local Trades and Labor Council and paid a visit to the provincial prison farm. Officials of the C.P.R. supplied a special train free of charge for the purpose, and nearly every delegate took advantage of the trip.

They left the depot in the city at 2.15 and were let off at the crossing on the prison grounds. They were met by Mr. Armstrong, who conducted the party to the various points of interest around the farm.

The majority of the visitors had heard about the place, and were very anxious to learn all they could about it, how it was conducted and under what conditions the men worked. They were amazed at the manner in which the prisoners were treated, and it was the general opinion that no better means of treatment could be devised.

The afternoon was very hot and it was an interesting spectacle to see the delegates walking around the farm with their coats on their arms.

Hon. T. W. Crothers, Minister of Labor, and Keir Hardie, British M.P., accompanied the party and were delighted at what they saw. After a trip around among the buildings and the various works under way, the train returned to the city at 4 o'clock.

A large number of convictions have been secured under the second clause. An appeal questioning the validity of the first clause is now before the courts.

How Automobiles were first Introduced into the Real Estate Business in Montreal and a Story of the Career of one of Montreal's foremost Real Estate Brokers.

It reads like a fairy tale but is absolutely true.

About seven years ago, when Automobiles were not so common-place a vehicle as they are today a little car, called the Stanley Steamer, was introduced into Montreal and sold for $500.00. The gentleman who purchased this car spent much of his spare time keenly enjoying the pleasure of this novel means of transportation, but more of his time was spent in keeping it in running order.

Once this car in a runaway down one of Montreal's steepest hills came within an ace of costing the owner his life; a second time it took fire and but for prompt action and plenty of assistance would have been consumed and this story might never have been written.

But destiny held greater things in store for both car and owner. As time passed, and gasoline cars became more perfect the owner realized that to dispose of his car without serious loss, he must act quickly. Being mechanically inclined, he put the car in good order for a demonstration and then thought of the best means to sell it. The first expedient which suggested itself was to advertise it for sale, agreeing to exchange for some Montreal Real Estate if necessary.

In those days the Real Estate business of Montreal was not so live an issue as at present, but property in the West End of Montreal was being placed on the market, and some little interest was being taken in it.

By the next mail came a reply from the biggest subdivision Real Estate Broker, that he would consider an exchange and a demonstration of the car was given early one June morning 4 years ago.

A first ride in an automobile, providing all goes well, has a most exhilarating effect and so pleased was this big Real Estate Broker with his first experience that he agrees to allow $800.00 for the automobile on the purchase of two lots Sherbrooke Blvd. the price of which was then $1500.00.

Just here commenced the career of one whom today is recognized as the biggest and best known Real Estate Broker in Montreal with an established name that is known from Coast to Coast but which was then practically unknown.

However, to follow the experience of this Stanley Steamer the first Automobile to be used in the Real Estate business in Montreal.

No sooner was the sale effected than this car was pressed into the service of the Real Estate Broker, and it is perfectly safe to say in all sincerity that it earned the price it cost hundreds of times over in a few short weeks. Prospective purchasers of Real Estate were promised a free automobile ride to view the property and the novelty of the scheme effected wonderful results. The car man eventually sold for a good figure and soon went the inevitable way of all old and much used automobiles. This one however served its purpose well.

We must now go a little further into the history of the man who sold his car to the Real Estate Broker at a profit of $300.00 after using it for 3 years, something very unusual in the disposal of cars it is safe to say.

The arguments put forth by the Real Estate Broker as to why an investment in West End Real Estate was a good venture, sank into fertile ground and took deep root, and a hint to introduce this good thing to his friends rapidly bore fruit.

This is a wonderful difference between the man who sells what he conscientiously believes to be a great investment and the really good salesman who talks well and effectively for big returns in the shape of commissions to himself.

The first kind of Salesman was he who sold his car as the sequel of this story will show.

Soon the orders for lots came rushing in, and the astute Real Estate Broker realizing he had made a find, suggested that this good seller become his Salesman and this also in short order became a fact.

Quickly a new order of things became established. Old properties were sold and new ones opened up. Larger quarters were secured to accommodate a small army of salesmen and hundreds of thousands of dollars of Montreals West End lands were disposed of to the advantage of all concerned for the Real Estate Broker has become a millionaire, and purchasers have made small fortunes out of their early investments.

To accomplish all this, automobiles—large and expensive cars—were purchased through the Salesmanager, and produced marvellous results.

As an illustration of the great benefits to the purchasers that have resulted we will cite but two cases.

The two lots exchanged for the Stanley Steamer car are today worth $5000.00 and increasing in value. Think what the sale of that Auto accomplished.

The second was the purchase of three lots on Sherbrooke Street West in a new property for $3200.00. Sold one year and a half ago for over $8000.00. At the end of the year our salesmanager came to the conclusion he had some knowledge and experience and might as well start up business on his own account but he had no farms to subdivide and sell, and the prices of farms were rapidly rising and here his real difficulties commenced.

In a small way a start was made, opportunities presented themselves and were seized at once and soon the tide commenced to turn.

This now well known Montreal Real Estate Broker, with a trademark signature, that every person really interested in Real Estate know, and which signature many attempt to initiate in vain. With one of the largest, finest, most attractive and conspicuous offices in Montreal and 3 city branch offices, attributes his success to three principles.

Judicious advertising and lots of it. Persistent and consistent effort and Conscientious dealing.

His motto is, give the other fellow a chance to make money, and the prices and terms on which he sells his lots together with the prospects of enhanced values, are ample evidence of this. He believes in co-operation and puts it into practice and it brings excellent results.

In the person of C. C. Cottrell, President of C. C. Cottrell, Limited, Montreal we find the subject of this sketch.

Mr. Cottrell is just opening up a subdivision in Smiths Falls, Ont., a town he predicts will soon be known as the Railway City and he promises his offerings there will be on a par with all his previous offerings in Montreal as regards price and terms, and predicts splendid results to all purchasers.

Look for further particulars about one of the sensational Real Estate offerings ever placed before the public in this connection in the near future.

Little Lady Jane Butler, Youthful Tennis Expert.

The young tennis player here pictured with racket lowered is Lady Jane Butler of England. That is rather a high sounding name for such a plain looking, everyday tennis girl. She looks very much as do our own young tennis players, and if it were not for her title we might think her just Mary Smith or Sally Jones of any state in the Union. Titles are well enough, we suppose, in the old countries, but here in our own land we take people, young and old, for just what they are regardless of any claims they may have because of birth or social position.

Strength of the Beetle.

If asked to name the strongest animals most persons begin with the largest, the elephant, and continue with oxen, horses, etc. This is, of course, correct in so far as their total horsepower is concerned, says the London Globe.

But for real strength, proportioned to the size and weight of the animal, one must go to the insect world. Compared with insects, the strength of almost any large animal, and especially of man, is absurd.

A man is considered strong if he can drag a mass weighing three or four times as much as himself, but the beetle will walk with 500 times his own weight. If a man were placed under a wooden box with five times his own weight on top to hold it down he would remain there indefinitely.

An Odd Chair.

A Mr. Curtis, who lived in the reign of Queen Victoria, invented an acoustic chair, a high backed library one, which would enable the person sitting in it to hear, no matter how deaf he might be. The chair had two barrels to fit each ear, but there was no need of a mouthpiece for the talker. Perforated plates collected the sounds of the room into a vase, and from this they were carried into the ears of any one seated in the "comfy" chair. Tubes could be attached to the barrels, connecting other rooms. Thus a deaf person could do even more than a well hearing one, for he could hear sounds from the rest of the house.

Pull—A Game.

A jolly romping game for young boys and girls is played in this way: Roll back the rug from the center of the floor and on the boards make a small square outlined with chalk. All then join hands in a circle around it. The music starts up and the children begin to dance around the square. As they dance they try to draw some member of the circle into the square. Any one stepping inside the chalk boundaries is out of the game, which continues until but one player is left.

The Work of Our Tubs.

On Monday we wash and hang on the line Dolly's white dresses, so dainty and fine. Oh, how we love to rub up and down in the foamy white suds each pretty gown! When the bubbles pile high and shine in the sun
A handful we throw at each other for fun. We hang out these tiny things all in nice rows,
For Dolly is proud of her pretty white clothes.
The wind whistles through them, trying to play,

And shakes them and twists them, near tears them away.
As they wave back and forth and jerk all about,
Just having a jolly time 'cause they are out.
Don't you think we look like the real washer maid.
With sleeves rolled up high and in aprons arrayed,
As we stand in the doorway with hands on our hips,
While words of great pride come forth from our lips?
For we are so proud of our tubs and the suds.
Filled to the brims with foamy white suds.

Woman's World

New President of Woman's Clubs a Capable Leader.

MRS. PERCY V. PENNYPACKER.

Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker, who was recently elected president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will direct its destinies for the next two years.

The new president possesses in her makeup a striking combination of conservatism and progressiveness which distinguishes her as one of the sanest and calmest minds in the forefront of the modern woman movement and at the same time as one of the most courageous.

A notable orator, fluent and compelling, she is anything but a voluble woman, being rather given to listening both in public and private, to weighing her words and to withholding them until the predetermined moment for utterance arrives.

Both Virginia and Texas claims Mrs. Pennypacker as their daughter. She began life in the Old Dominion State as Anna J. Hardwicke and has lived in Texas since her early childhood. A true daughter of the south, she is one of the most delightful expressions of the traditions and charming characteristics that have elevated the gentle women of the old south into a world of their own.

Mrs. Pennypacker was one of the pioneers who laid the foundation of the present public school educational system in Texas and is the author of a history of Texas, which has been used in most of the state schools, public and private, for the last twenty-five years.

The new club president has been more fortunate in her domestic life than is given to most women destined to a public career. Her husband himself was a noted educator, and during the years of her early married life, when her children and her homemaking were her first care, he extended to her every aid in her work for human betterment.

Her husband died in 1899, and she at once assumed the added duties of administering to her children's and her own financial interests. In doing this she developed the practical business sense which has made her services as a member of the general federation board of such high value.

Mrs. Pennypacker's home in Texas is a distinguished social and intellectual center from which radiates a cordial and generous hospitality. Here she lives, one of the busiest women of America. Her own hand on the domestic machinery; her children are devoutly mothered. From here she attends to the publishing of her text books and manages her own financial affairs generally; keeps in close touch with social duties and church activities; is the guiding spirit of her home club; she is patroness of every movement for the advancement of education and the expression of culture among the people; responds to continual demands for public lectures and still finds time for widely extended travel and broad study. A busy woman certainly is Mrs. Percy V. Pennypacker, president of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs.

EQUAL TO LAST YEAR

Sir Wm Mackenzie Says Crop
Will Not Break Records.

President of C.N.R., Returning From His Annual Tour of the West, Declares That While the Wheat Yield Is Good It Will Not Exceed Last Year's Output — C.N.R. to Help Handle 1913 Crop.

Toronto, Sept. 10.—"The Western Canada crop, while equal to it, will not exceed that of last year," declared Sir William Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway, in an interview here last night. Sir William returned to Toronto after his annual trip of inspection to the west. This year he proceeded right through to the coast. He returns in splendid health and spirits and with an optimistic outlook regarding the future progress and welfare of the C.N.R. in Western Canada.

Sir William said that he saw plenty of wheat cut throughout the west, but no threshing had been done yet.
This was bad, as the crop had been hampered by much wet weather and the result would be that instead of the record crop prophesied the crop of the west would only equal that of last year.

The railway magnate was enthusiastic over the progress being made with the construction of his road in the west, and showed it by stating that he expected the completion of the C.N.R. transcontinental line right through from Montreal to Port Mann
by next fall.

This was not all. Not only is the line to be completed right across by the fall of 1913, but the president stated that it was just possible that the Canadian Northern Railway would be a factor in moving the 1913 crop to the completed line. It was only just possible, but Sir William was hopeful.

The C.N.R. president had another announcement to make regarding the progress being made with the construction of his railway in the west.
This was the completion of the connecting links between three important western cities, which is almost at immediate completion. By this the cities of Edmonton, Calgary and Saskatoon will be joined together by C.N.R. connection.

Wheat Nearly All Cut.

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—With the weather settled down to what promises to be a fine spell, harvesting is now progressing rapidly. General reports indicate better harvesting conditions than have existed so far, and with a moon last night prospects for a settled spell of fair weather are good. Apparently finding its level after variations of the last few days, the barometer remained steady Sunday and yesterday.

Reports received from all over the three prairie provinces indicate that harvesting is general, except in a few isolated cases on low-lying lands, where it will be a couple of days before a resumption will be made. There is no doubt that farmers have made far better progress than appeared possible under trying circumstances.
Many districts report wheat all cut and quite half the oat crop is safe.
Short straw has contributed much to speedy harvesting and has also reduced to a minimum the labor shortage which still exists. Threshing from the stock is badly handicapped by the soft ground after repeated rains.

Murder and Suicide.

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—After refusing for the second time inside of twelve hours to tell Arthur Dupuis that she liked him, Mary Rose Fontaine was murdered by her rejected lover shortly after eight o'clock yesterday morning.

The tragedy occurred a short distance from the village of St. Joseph d'Orleans, eight miles from this city, in the County of Russell, and the mur-derer after committing his crime turned the double-barrelled Winchester rifle upon himself and committed suicide.

U. S. Rifle Team Off to Ottawa.

Rifle Ranges, Sea Girt, N.J., Sept.
10.—The United States rifle team to compete at Ottawa next Saturday for the Palma international trophy, was selected yesterday afternoon and left late yesterday for Ottawa. Lieut. Col.
S. W. Brookhart, Iowa, is captain of the team, and Capt. M. C. Mumms, U.S.A., is team adjutant. The other members of the team are marksmen from all sections of the United States.

Fell 18 Inches and Died.

Orangeville, Sept. 10.—That James Dale, Caledon farmer, found dead in the barn of the Alexandra Hotel, was killed by a fall from a chair on Tuesday night, Sept. 3, was the verdict returned by Coroner Hendry's jury last night. Although he fell only about 18 inches, the manner in which he pitched forward caused his neck to be broken.

Coal 8,000,000 Tons Short.

Philadelphia, Sept. 10.—Officials of the big coal companies say that many of the miners who stopped work on April 1 have not returned to their places, and that because of lack of labor anthracite production will fall short about five million tons.

This, together with the shortage caused by the two and a half months' cessation of work, brings the year's shortage, to eight million tons.

Suing Hydro Commission.

Oshawa, Sept. 10.—Claim upon the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission for three million dollars is made by Hon. Wm. Harty of Kingston and O.
O'Connor, K.C., of Ottawa, for damages for the expropriations by the commission of the Chats Falls, on the Ottawa River.

Part of the property, which consists of a number of islands, was secured in 1883 from the Ontario (Liberal) Government by Mr. Harty. The balance was granted Mr. O'Connor last fall by the Laurier Government. No development work has been done.

The owners paid under $2,000 for what they now seek three millions.
They claim that 50,000 horse-power can be developed.

The expropriation was decided upon by the commission last spring after a conference at Ottawa.

Typhoon In Chekiang.

Shanghai, Sept. 10.—An immense loss of life is reported in mail advices which have just been received from Wenchow, in the Province of Che-kiang. The Chinese estimates give the death toll as between 30,000 and 40, 000 as the result of a typhoon, combined with torrential rains and high tides which occurred on Aug. 29. Great floods followed and the upper Wenchow River overflowed its banks and swept over a vast area.

The town of Esingien, about 40 miles to the northwest of Wenchow, was overwhelmed and 10,000 of the inhabitants were drowned. Various other towns and villages were destroyed, and the prefecture at Chuchow, which is an important missionary station, was washed away.

A Bid For Trade.

London, Sept. 10.—(C.A.P. Cable.)— Dr Stresmag, one of the managers of the powerful Hansa League of German Merchants and Manufacturers, will leave for America to-day to attend the International Congress of Chambers of Commerce at Boston and afterwards will proceed to Toronto, where he will address a meeting of Canadian and German business men.

The meeting is called for the purpose of organizing a German-Canadian Commercial League, which will maintain an active organization in both Canada and Germany, and will aim at the systematic development of trade between the two.

Governor Wilson on Tariff.

New York, Sept. 10.—Governor Wilson made two tariff speeches yesterday afternoon, one at the tariff exhibit, and the other at an open air meeting in Union Square. At the tariff exhibit, Governor Wilson said:
"We are preventing the prosperity of the United States, for you will observe that articles of American manufacture are sold much cheaper in other countries than we can buy them, which shows that America already is able to compete with foreign markets, at the same time taxing ourselves."
To his auditors in Union Square,
Governor Wilson said:

"I would hesitate to advocate radical reductions in our tariff schedules if I thought it would interfere with the prosperity of the average American, but I believe it will double and treble our prosperity."

Governor Wilson declared that in the main protected industries paid less wages than unprotected industries.

He pointed to an advance of from 30 to 40 per cent. in the price of meat within the past ten years, while during the same period the price of meat in London had stood absolutely still.

Hon J. W. Sifton Critically Ill.

Winnipeg, Sept. 10.—Hon. J. W. Sifton, who has been ill some time, has taken a turn for the worse. Hon. Clifford Sifton, his son, and Premier Sifton of Alberta have been summoned by wire.

Cobalt, Sept. 10.—Fred T. Homosuo-kis received two years in the penitentiary and Edward Bignell three months in North Bay jail for high-grading from the O'Brien and Miller-ette mines in Gowganda.

Mountain Tunnel of Eight Miles.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 10.—It is understood in well-informed railway circles here that the vast improvements in building the double track of the C.P.R. between Calgary and Vancouver, to be carried out during the next four years, will include the driving of a double track tunnel a little over
