JAS. CURRIE - CRYSLER

Now $261 Poorer for His Fun

A young man from near Avonmore, who drove a couple of ladies to Cornwall in his Chevrolet car Friday was arrested by Officer Crites for driving his auto at an excessive rate of speed and also for being under the influence of liquor. He was fined $50.00 and costs of $6.60, and was also fined $2.00 and costs of $5.10 on a second charge of having liquor in a place other than his private dwelling.

Steel Splinters Taken From Eye.

Mr. Percy Hummel of Ottawa, who has been spending a couple of weeks with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Hermon Hummel, had very unusual trouble in one of his eyes and being unable to account for it consulted a specialist in Ottawa who extracted two small splinters of steel from the eye ball. Percy cannot account for the steel being where it was taken from and the theory is held that they were splinters from the explosive bullet with which he was wounded in the left arm which have now been takfrom his right eye.

Invasion by Nestle's Co.

The Morristown branch of the Nestles Food Co., operating a condensary there, has undertaken an invasion of Leeds county in search of additional milk supplies. At a meeting held in the Athens town hall on Wednesday night of patrons of the Farmersville cheese factory, it was decided to sell the entire amount of milk at their disposal to the Nestles Co. at the rate of $60.20 per ton for milk testing 3 per cent. The Farmersville factory will be remodelled to provide cooling apparatus, etc., under the management of W. R Wright.

Dimmers Will be Enforced

Word comes from Toronto that the headlight glare restriction clause of the Ontario Motor Vehicle Act will become effective on or before September 1. This means that all motorists will be required to dim their headlights or use deflecting or diffusing devices. The latter are in general use in Quebec, Manitoba, and Saskatchewan, as well as in the United States, and have been found to be effective in making night driving more safe and comfortable. The cost of these deflectors or diffusers ranges from $1 to to $10 per pair, and there are many types.

Movies Part of Service

The management of the Presbyterian Church at Hallville, this county, will instal this fall an electric lighting plant for the church and manse, also an electric moving picture machine to be run in connection with the services on Sunday nights, besides devoting one evening a week for young and old. A contract has been signed with a film company for the whole winter. The estimated cost of the extensive plant is $2,000, and the Hallville Church is the first church in Canada to adopt this system.

Mourned as Dead Four Years

Mrs. William Holmes of this place had the unusual experience last week of welcoming her brother Mr. Thos. A. Johnston, to her home, after mourning him as dead for almost four years. Mr. Johnston had been in Mexico for thirty years and for twenty-one years no word had been received from him. A short news item in the daily papers four years ago seemed to confirm his death and since then all hope of seeing him this side of the grave was abandoned. It is a story stranger than fiction that bridges the gap of twenty-one years of silence. Mr. Johnston's wanderings after leaving Chesterville thirty years ago led him to the turbulent country of Mexico where he became interested in mining and was known as an expert in his ilne. Through all the strife, revolution and counter-revolution encountered there he came to a time four years ago when it was necessary for himself and two friends to make a trip by special car to a remote mine through a dangerous section of the country. The followers of Villa were murdering and plundering right and left. and although Carranza had promised protection to this special car he was unable to carry it out. The day before the start Mr. Johnston became aware of this fact and decided to take some other means of reaching the mine. During the night one of his friends who resembled Mr. Johnston very much in build and complexion, stole important papers from the latter and with the other member of the party, started in the special car for the mines. When about ten miles on the road they were held up by a party of Villa's men and lined up and shot. The papers on the one man identified him as Johnston when found and his body was sent to California for burial at the expense of the mining company, who believed it to be that of their employee. At this juncture Mr. Johnston thought it would be a good time to get out of Mexico before getting the same treatment as his friends and quietly left for Texas, where he has been until taking the trip home to hunt up his relatives.

When the news first came of her brother's supposed death Mrs. Holmes got in touch with the British Consul in Mexico who confirmed the report apparently settling this matter.

BETTER COOLING

(FARMERS CUT THIS OUT.)

At this time of the year when the sun is hot, and the flow of the milk is high, remember that more water is required to cool milk to the desired temperature. The more milk you have the more water is required. Don't try to cool eight cans in water that will only cool four cans. Change the water often. Milk cooled and not kept cool will sour.

Shinn-Flat

Lightning Rods Prevent Lightning Losses

WHEN your buildings are protected with Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods, you may be absolutely sure that they're safe from Lightning damage Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods are the only kind made in the form of a flat cable—which has 36% more conducting surface for electricity than the same amount of material made into a round cable.

Lightning Can't Strike if Shinn Gets There First!

Shinn-Flat prevents the accumulation of electricity in the building, by permitting it to gradually pass from the heavily charged ground and building into the atmosphere above.

Bonded to Protect

A large Bonding Company issues a Surety Bond to the owner of every building we protect, guaranteeing that Lightning will not damage.

Had on Something Warm

It was dawn and very chilly in camp, and one man was unable to find any of his outer garments. He wandered about, asking all his mates if they knew where they were. "Has anyone seen my b-b-blanket?" he demanded, and was told that no one had. "Has anyone seen my t-t-trousers?" No answer. "Well, I'm jolly g-glad I have got on my nice w-w-warm pair of sus-suspenders."

Milk Company Wins Test Case

The test case brought by the Lord's Day Alliance against the Carnation Milk Co., of Alymer, for removing and caring for milk on Sunday has been decided in favor of the company.

The case was heard before County Magistrate Hunt, who expressed his opinion that the alleged offence was absolutely legal under the Act, that the work had to be done either by the company or the farmers, or a serious and criminal loss of food would result. The company, not using compulsion on the farmers were within their legal rights. Magistrate Hunt, after delivering his verdict dismissed the case.

Crown Attorney McCrimmon prosecuted, and W. Harold Barnum, Aylmer, and Thompson H. Hobson, of Hamilton, represented the company, who defended their cause by calling on many of the representative farmers of East Elgin. The farmers declared it was absolutely necessary that Sunday delivery of milk should continue in order that serious loss to both the producers and the manufacturer might be averted. It is believed that the case will be appealed, and that the Aylmer case is a preliminary combat of a long series of legal battles, as the Lord's Day Alliance and the Carnation Milk Products Co. are reported to be prepared to fight the question to an end.

A farmer who has made careful observations in the past predicts that there will be very little snow next winter as the yellow bees have built their nests near the ground this season. This our farmer friend says is an unfailing sign and when the nests are built high on tree limbs there is invariably a heavy fall of snow the following winter.

A Million Babies - and One Pair of Pink Cheeks

WHEN my doctor told me to give my baby Nestlé's Food because I couldn't nurse him, I said, "Have many babies been brought up on it?"

He smiled. "Right here in the United States" he said, "at this minute there are many thousands of babies keeping well and strong on Nestlé's. All over the world it's the same way—and that will give you some idea of how many babies have kept well on Nestlé's Food during the past fifty years."

And yet it wasn't all those millions of babies that convinced me. It was the pink cheeks of my own baby.

Nestlé's Milk Food is made out of pure milk, to which has been added just the right amount of cereal and of pure sugar. This is made into a white fluffy powder, which makes the curds of the milk easy to digest. You just add cold water, boil, and your baby has the food nearest to mother's milk—free from the germs of raw cow's milk—safe, clean—almost sure to bring him pink cheeks and a sturdy dimpled little body.

I found that the Nestlé Company likes to save babies and keep them well. They sent me free enough Nestlé's for 12 feedings and a very interesting and valuable Mother's Book about how to take care of babies. All you have to do is to fill out the coupon below.

Nestlé's is pure milk in powder form that is already modified and does not require the further addition of milk. Always pure and safe, always uniform, and free from the dangers of home modification, Nestlé's has stood the test of three generations and has today the largest sale of any baby food in the world.

FREE! Enough Nestlé's for 12 feedings. Send the coupon!

First in England

The first Canadian soldier to set foot on the soil of England in 1914 has just returned home with an English bride. He is Sergt. Robert Headon, of North Pelham township, who for a long time resided in Beamsville.

Headon, who is a Welland county man, went overseas with the original 4th Battalion as a private, and brought back a document which he received from a a committe of Plymouth citizens accompanied by a ten-pound note. His privilege to go ashore from his ship before disembarkation was due to his need of a dentist's services. Stepping first from the small boat to reach shore, he was immediately taken in charge by a committee, driven about the city and given the time of his life.

With the honor of being the first to set foot in England of the 500,000 men Canada sent overseas, Headon forgot all about his toothache, and as he was replaced in the small boat he was presented with an envelope sealed, containing the first Canadian document, together with a bank note which, under instructions, he did not open until his return to the troopship.

Headon served twenty-six months in France and Belgium before being wounded. Since his recovery he has been instructor at Seaford camp. His bride, a blushing English lassie, expressed her great pleasure in coming to Canada to reside.

Against Use of Non-Fertile Eggs

An interesting point for poultrymen and food experts is raised by a subscriber to The Mail and Empire whose letter is reproduced herewith. The collection of "Don'ts for Poultry-raisers" to which he refers was approved of by F. C. Elford, Dominion Poultry Husbandman, and issued in a circular by his department. It is possible that Mr. Elford and other poultry experts may have something to say on the matter of the suitability of non-fertile eggs for human consumption. Of late years the advice to remove all roosters from the laying flock has been more and more closely followed by poultrymen in general, and until now we have heard no word against the practice. The writer's remarks on the subject will provide reasons for special consideration of the matter.

The seventh "don't" as published reads: "Don't keep a male bird with hens not intended for breeding," and our correspondent in correcting this point says:

"In a collection of "Dont's for the Poultry Raiser" on page seven of The Daily Mail and Empire August 6, the seventh "Don't should be changed to read "Don't take the male bird from the flock when the eggs are not intended for breeding purposes, because a non-fertile egg is never fit for human food." The effect of an occasional one may go unheeded, but to continue eating daily two such eggs or more will without fail produce stomach trouble. Two prolific sources of all the stomach trouble are: first non-fertile eggs, and, second, potatoes boiled in brine. Salt is necessary, but should never be added until potatoes are boiled and drained. Other things cooked in salt are also bad for the stomach. Salt meats should be parboiled to extract the salt used as a preservative before being set before one to eat. The final cooking of vegetables or meats should be as free from salt as possible. Add the salt according to taste when ready to go on the table or at the table. Try the egg experiment upon two people of equal physique and apparent health, and you will be convinced. I can find no fault with the other "Don't." They look good to me. But the seventh don't is a a man-killer."

War Savings Plan and Penny Bank

The War Savings Campaign conducted throughout the schools has not, as some people imagine, had a detrimental effect upon the operations of the School Penny Bank. The deposits made by the children in the schools to the Penny Bank are on the increase, especially among the school children of Ottawa as shown by the reports of March and April.

In the National movement to inculcate habits of thrift among the young people of Canada, there is room for the War Savings Stamp Campaign as well as for the Thrift Organizations of the Penny Bank. The one ably supplements the other and both work for the betterment of the individual and the Community.

Reports are being received daily at the Headquarters of the National War Savings Committee indicating how splendidly the War Savings Campaign is being taken up in the schools all over the country. The record of the savings of the pupils in some schools is most remarkable. One school in Cumberland County, N. S. where the average attendance is only seventeen (17), the total invested in War Savings and Thrift Stamps by the pupils up to the end of May was $450.

Evidently the young people, with their keen appreciation of what is good, have realized the value of investing their money in this new security of the Canadian Government and are showing the way to their elders.

Knocked Kaiser Down.

A Postman in the Finsbury Park district is proud of the fact that he is the son of a man who once knocked the ex-Kaiser down.

"My father," he told the "Tit-Bits" man, "was an old and favorite employee of Queen Victoria's. He worked for many years with a number of other men in the grounds of Windsor Castle. As their work consisted for the most part in planting the sloping banks of the Thames with bushes and shrubs, these workmen were known as members of the 'Slope Gang.' My father, who was the foreman, was popularly called 'Old Bill.'

"On account of the Fenian scare that existed in the late 'seventies he was instructed to be particularly suspicious of strangers, and he and the members of his gang were provided with police whistles with which to give the alarm should any supicious person appear in the grounds.

"One morning, while 'Old Bill,' was sweeping up leaves on the banks of the river, a strange young man approached him. 'You are not working at all,' he said 'only killing time. What are you doing here?

" 'What you ought to be doing—minding my own business!' was the gruff reply.

"The young man turned livid with passion.

" 'How dare you, fellow!" the stranger almost hissed. 'How dare you speak in such a manner to your future king!'

"Thinking that the young man was mad, 'Old Bill' promptly knocked him down, blew his whistle for assistance, and prevented him from rising by threatening him with his broom.

"Great was the consternation when the royal servants and detctives came running up to discover that Old Bill's prisoner was Prince William of Prussia, now the ex-Kaiser, who was on a visit to his grandmother, Queen Victoria.

"The affair was carefully hushed up, but even at that time my father was convinced that his victim intended some day to claim the English throne."

Fishing

I take my patent jointed pole, which cost me quite a hefty roll, and hie me to a sylvan nook infested by a babbling brook, and there I sit, a patient scout, and fish, and fish for trout. Oh, my equipment's out of sight, in each detail exactly right. Through Walton's stuff I often toil; I study up the works of Hoyle, to see just what to buy, what kind of bait, what sort of fly. My reel and sinkers and my line imported are, and vastly fine. I imported my raiment at a shop where sporting vestments are on top. And so I sit and fish and fish, and think of what a princely dish we'll have at home when I return, with all the troutlets in the burn. But when at last I homeward go I have no speckled trout to show. I have a grouch a temper sore, my costly rig and nothing more. And meanwhile Johnston's freckled lad goes toiling homeward to his dad all burdened with a string of trout that weighs a ton or thereabout. He caught them with a pole of pine to which was tied a cotton line. In agony my voice I lift and ask you, whither do drift? There's something wrong with congress, sirs, when anything like this occurs.—W. M.

Peter Tunny was famous for his humour, his jokes being the best round the countryside for miles. Well, poor Peter got the "flu" and lay dying on his bed. His wife was busy preparing a mustard poultice to put on his thin and wasted body. Peter saw his chance and, not wishing his wife to be sad, said:

"Musha, Mary asthore, isn't that a great deal of mustard to so very little meat."

An Irishman once met an Englishmen who had an artificial leg. Being of a sympathetic nature, Pat inquired the cause of the loss of the limb, whereupon the Englishman said: "A short time ago, I discovered that there was some Irish blood in my body and that it had settled in this leg, so I had it cut off." 'Tis a pity it didn't settle in your head." came the quick retort.

"There can be too much of a good thing."

"That's right," commented Cactus Joe. "I was once in a poker game where somebody discovered that there were five aces in circulation."

Good Advice Anyway

Tweed Advocate –An item has been going the rounds of the press that a sign has been placed in the roadside between Belleville and Napanee which reads "Be prepared to meet your God" and placed their as a warning to motorists of the dangerous condition of the roads. We can hardly credit the inference, as long before the advent of automobiles similar sings were painted on the face of rocks along the highways in this part of the country one of these being within 3 miles of Tweed. The scriptural quotations were the work of a religious sect who made a hobby of painting signs of this kind on every vantage point within their reach along the highways of the country. However, we are not writing with the intention of discouraging anyone from accepting the good advice.

Canadian Aces in Air Circus at Exhibition.

Following directly on the news that General Sir Arthur Currie has accepted an invitation to attend the exhibition comes another announcement regarding the big fair, of exceptional interest to the public. The Exhibition Association had just closed a contract with Colonel W. G. Barker, V. C., D. S. O., and Colonel W. A. Bishop, V. C., D. S. O., of the Canadian Aviation Company, Toronto, to put to an aerial circus during exhibition week. The contract was negotiated through Captian Percy Shaver, Ottawa, representative of the company.

Colonel Bishop and Colonel Barker are Canada's foremost aviators. They were, in fact, among the few most successful and most famous aces of all the nations, their successes in aerial battle having won them world renown Colonel Bishop has the second largest number of victories to his credit of all the British aviators and Colonel Barker made a high record.

To see these famous aces would be a privilege in itself, but the people of Ottawa and vicinity will not only see them but witness them perform elaborate air spectacles. Col. Barker will bring to the exhibition a German Fokker machine captured on the western front and will fly it here. The aerial circus will include combats between military planes, in which the Fokker will participate.

There will also be nose and spinning dives, spirals, and all the other spectacular "stunts" in which these aviators excel and which they used to such advantage in many dangerous battles with the Germans.

Col. Barker, in addition to his war record, also had the distinction of being the pilot with whom the Prince of Wales flew over London.

In securing this aerial circus, the Exhibition Association is providing what undoubtedly is the greatest attraction the fair has ever had. It together with the presence of the Canadian Commander-in-Chief, assure for the exhibition visitors features of unnsual interest.

Comparison of Different Kinds of Winter Stores for Bees

(Experimental Farms Note.)

In the experiments with bees at the Experimentat Farms, it was early recognized that the nature of the winter stores is an important factor in successful wintering, and the experiments have confirmed this. Experiments at the Central Experimental Farm indicate that clover honey (alsike and white clover) makes reliable stores for wintering, but poor results have followed the use of stores that granulate hard during the winter. A colony wintered on dandelion honey came out in spring very weak; the honey had granulated hard and the bees had uncapped it but could use very little of it. In some years a mixed honey that comes largely from clover, sweet clover, and other plants, granulates hard with the same result and causes heavy loss. Buckwheat honey has been found wholesome, but some of the other honeys gathered in the fall have been found unwholesome, especially in marshy places in Nova Scotia, and have caused dysentery and death. In one season in Northern Ontario, the fall honey was not capped over and failed to ripen and soured, causing dysentery and heavy loss. Honey containing jucies collected by the bees from over ripe fruit killed a colony before spring, so also did cane syrup used as an exclusive food for wintering. Syrup made from refined sugar, two parts of sugar to one of water, fed to the bees in the early fall, has given fairly good results as an exclusive winter food, and has been found to be the best practical corrective for stores that are slightly unwholesome. Year after year at the Central Farm, colonies on natural stores that have been fed liberally with this syrup come out stronger in spring than those that have wintered on the natural stores alone. Syrup made from raw cane sugar has given less satisfactory results than that made from refined sugar.

The Old Gardener Says.

It is not too late to start a strawberry bed which will bear next year, at least if you use potted plants. In fact, a great many beds are made every year in this way. Potted plants may be purchased, and make it possible to start a bed in gardens where strawberries have not been grown before. The advantage of pot-grown plants is that the roots are not disturbed at all by the process of transplanting. If the ground has been well prepared, and if the plants are kept well watered they will establish themselves in a few weeks and soon start making new growth. Set the plants no deeper than they were in the pots, and firm the ground well around them. Remember that strawberries are more notional than most plants. There are localities where some varieties will not thrive. Make sure you choose a kind which is at home in your neighborhood.

Three "Lost Sheep."

Several weeks ago Mr. Alfred Hammond of Boyd's, lost three sheep, and a week or two later found them under peculiar circumstances. On the farm where they were pasturing is an old root house, and the door was ajar. No one ever thought that the animals would enter this and did not look in when the search was on. But some time later, accidently someone pushed open the door and found that it was so hung that it closed itself, and in this hovel was found three lumps of wool, all that remained of three sheep valued at over $100. They had evidently sought shelter at some time, and the door falling to, had trapped them until they were starved to death.

Eggs-actly So

The following item is copied from an exchange. We will not attempt to vouch for its veracity, but we have no license to discredit it. We will say, however, that the hen that performed the trick was "some biddy".

The Exchange says;—"Prof J. G. Halpin of the poultry department of the University of Wisconsin, has spent several days in La Crosse, Wis., as a guest of Gustave Rhodes, owner of the hen Biddy which has puzzled poultry experts by her record of laying an average of 23 eggs a week for the past two months. Prof. Halpin is convinced that except for her egg laying propensity, Biddy is a normal hen in every way. He has examined her carefully and has observed her actions. One day he saw her lay nine eggs in 45 minutes, and the next day seven in half an hour. Prof. Halpin is arranging to exhibit Biddy at country fairs this fall and will ask for a university appropriation to purchase the hen for $2,500. He declares that it would be possible to cross breed poultry so that hens would ordinarily lay two or three eggs a day just as the milk yield of cows has been increased through regulated crossing breeding."

Wake up, Ontario!

Let the Referendum Battle-Cry Be "No!"-"No!"-"No!"-"No!"

SINCE the announcement in the Legislature last spring that a Referendum on the Ontario Temperance Act would be taken this fall, the different temperance organizations of the province of Ontario have met together to consider what attitude they should take. The result has been the formation of the Ontario Referendum Committee, which comprises representatives from the organized temperance forces of the province and the temperance sentiment of the province outside of these organizations. The new Committee will conduct the Campaign. We are asking the voters of Ontario to vote "No" to all questions submitted on the ballot.

The Referendum Ballot
AND HOW TO VOTE

	Yes	No
1. Are you in favor of the repeal of THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT?		X
2. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than two and fifty-one one hundredths per cent. alcohol weight measure through Government agencies and amendments to THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT to permit such sale?		X
3. Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than two and fifty-one one hundredths per cent. alcohol weight measure in standard hotels in local municipalities that by a majority vote favor such sale, and amendments to THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT to permit such sale?		X
4. Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies and amendments to THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT to permit such sale?		X

By the Ontario Temperance Act, sale and distribution of alcoholic liquors for beverage purposes within the province were prohibited. For practically three years the province has experienced the good effects of this law. Its repeal would be a calamity. Any of the amendments would spoil it.

For the Temperance forces to win they must secure four "No" majorities. That is, a majority for "No" on EVERY question. The Temperance forces will be defeated if there is a majority for "Yes" on any of the questions. You must mark an X after each of the four questions, or your ballot is counted as spoiled.

A century of temperance progress in this province is at stake in the coming Referendum. The Ontario Referendum Committee earnestly and respectfully ask you to mark your X in the "No" column after each and every question, as indicated in the sample ballot reproduced herewith.

In common with other villagers who believed the report of the death of Mrs. (Capt.) Walter J. Baker last week at Morrisburg, we were in error. The death of an elderly lady, Mrs. Walter Baker of Morrisburg, was the cause of the mistake.

The Presbyterian and Methodist congregations of Winchester enjoyed a treat on Sunday when Rev. Thirty years ago Rev. Callum preached at Dunbar, so no doubt will be remembered by some in this vicinity.
