SD & G and East Grenville MPP Noble Villeneuve and his campaign team kicked off a sign campaign from Winchester on Saturday. Workers distributed hundreds of signs throughout Dundas and Stormont County: East Grenville was distributed earlier that day, and Glengarry County the evening previous. A total of 2,000 lawn signs were planted throughout the riding.

Moving ceremony by Legion marks VE Day in Morrisburg

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—There were some tears shed, and many happy and sorrowful memories recalled, with the Legion's celebration of the 50th Anniversary of Victory in Europe Day here Sunday.

As in many cities, towns and villages world-wide, the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 48 marked the event with a moving ceremony and laying of wreaths. Service officer Ross Hummell said the service was to mark not only VE Day, but also the Liberation of Holland, the end of the war and the Battle of the North Atlantic.

Legion Padre Donald Prunner led the service in prayer, while others read well-known Scripture passages concerning peace including the Beatitudes (St. Matthew) and Micah: "They shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

Directing the Legion Choir and group in hymns was choir director Wayne Johnston. Reeve Gord McGregor piped in the Color Party and the Lament, and Seaway High students Laura and Hannah Barkley played the trumpet in the Last Post and the Reveille. As well as Legion members and friends, the service was attended by Jim Fraser, World War 1 veteran, and a number of World War 11 veterans, Special guests included SD & G MPP Noble Villeneuve, Morrisburg councillors, the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides.

Also acting as speaker, McGregor addressed the crowd. While too young to participate in World War 11, McGregor had vivid memories of the horrific event. "My grandfather looked through the community newspaper weekly, to see the lists of who died, where and when. I remember playing with kids who had no dad, and I remember VE Day 50 years ago. We were on a farm 10 miles out of town, and I swear I heard horns that distance."

As a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force, he heard war experiences from people in the service, and was familiar with some of the regiments which served overseas.

He also recalled what followed the Second World War: "the 50's, 60's, and 70's were good times. Now in the 90's we're in different times with some economic difficulties, difficulties with mother nature, terrorism etc. It would make them wonder."

McGregor drew attention to the sacrifices veterans had made. While some had made the supreme sacrifice, others like Carson Baker had sacrificed in other ways. Baker had "spent time behind barbed wire, so we could be free and live in a democratic society," McGregor said.

"We were all Canadians together. They fought, some died for a free world, for a free Canada," McGregor noted.

"We should work and be proud to be a Canadian. We should also be grateful and thankful and never forget those who fought so we could enjoy all of that."

Laying wreaths on behalf of those who had died were the following: Lloyd Merkley laid a wreath on behalf of Branch 48 and Villeneuve on behalf of the Province of Ontario. Representing the local Dutch community with a wreath to celebrate the Liberation of Holland was Kurt Pollak.

Bob Howald, a veteran representing the Royal Canadian Navy; Carson Baker, representing the Canadian Army in the Second World War, Ross Hummell, who served in the Royal Canadian Air Force in peacetime: all laid wreaths.

As a final tribute, Sergeant at Arms Frank Oake, who served 25 years in the Royal Canadian Navy during peacetime, threw a wreath into the river in memory of those who died at sea. Oake recalled that it is a Navy tradition to thus honor those lost at sea during World War 11. "When the ship's captain passes over the latitude and longitude where a ship sunk, he throws a wreath, says a prayer and tells a sermon about the ship that sank," he said.

Villeneuve, P.C. supporters kick off election campaign

WINCHESTER—On Saturday at noon here, SD & G and East Grenville MPP Noble Villeneuve and supporters launched a campaign kick-off.

Led by organizer Basil Dawley, the campaign workers set out to distribute hundreds of signs throughout Dundas and Stormont County. East Grenville received its signs earlier that day, and Glengarry County had signs the evening previous, for a total of 2,000 throughout the riding.

Villeneuve was off on a busy day of campaigning. "We're on our way to the new addition to Maxville Manor, to Chesterville for a 50th anniversary. We're to Kemptville at 3.30 to open a new business, and at 4.30 we'll take part in a Legion activity representing the 50th anniversary of the end of the war. Tomorrow to Northfield Station for the Cattlemen's Association, and the Morrisburg Legion Victory Day ceremony at 2.30 p.m," Dawley said.

"We're campaigning all the time. We do it between elections too. We go to whatever is going on and we try to be as visible as possible, and when some one asks us to e somewhere we're there as possible," Villeneuve explained.

The Tory MPP has represented the traditionally Conservative riding since December 1983. He is the P.C. part Critic for the Ministries of Agriculture and Food, and Francophone Affairs. He was re-elected in September 1990 for the riding.

On November 21st, 1990, he was appointed Second Deputy Chair of the Committee of the Whole House. He is also a member of the Standing Committee on the Legislative Assembly, Ontario-Quebec Parliamentary Association.

At Queen's Park, he has served on various Standing committees of the Legislature including Procedural Affairs and Resource Development, Administration of Justice, Finance and Economic Affairs, Education and Legislative Assembly.

He was appointed Minister without Portfolio responsible to the Ministry of Natural Resources and Energy in 1985, and has also been the P.C. Party Critic for Government Services.

Raised and educated in Maxville, Ontario, Villenevue has operated the family farm and is an accredited Real Estate Appraiser. Active in the community, he has been involved with many organizations including the Knights of Columbus, the Ontario Farm Machinery Board, the Federation of Agriculture Tax and Assessment Committee, the Stormont Cattlemen's Association, the Maxville and District Lion's Club, and the Optimist Club of Moose Creek.

He is a former first vicpresident of the Ontario Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers. He and his wife, Elaine, have five children, Darlene, Micheline, Brian, Diane and Roxanne.

Challenging the incumbent are Liberal Denis Sabourin, a Monkland resident and Stormont Dundas MP Bob Kilger's assistant; and NDP candidate Michael Cowley-Owen, a Maxville business man and business consultant.

Dispute yet to be settled at Morrisburg Council

Frontage issue ongoing

MORRISBURG—The dispute continues over frontage requirements for row houses on Part 13 of Block C, Carraway Crescent .

At a previous meeting, Andy Bowers owner of Bowers Construction Ltd. appeared to speak for his client Dick Kropp. At the time, Kropp objected to the lack of a building permit for the addition of a sixth unit, and a perceived shortage in the required frontage. The building permit which had been issued on a conditional basis was since received, and the matters referred to the solicitor.

At Monday's Council meeting, dputy reeve Dirk Testerink relayed the solicitor's interpretation: "As far as he could determine based on a scaled plan he had and the zoning by-laws, he couldn't see any particular problem."

However, Bowers speaking for Kropp didn't agree with the interpretation of the solicitor. He held to the view that under the zoning by-law, the frontage should be 30 meters. The existing frontage is eight meters. Bowers pointed out the driveway on the property in question is only six feet wide, too narrow to permit the passage of an average vehicle, and there is lack of parking space. In addition, the house faces on Kropp's property.

Not only is Kropp opposed to what he sees as non-conformity with the zoning by-law, but he is opposed to a perceived negative impact on property values, life style and living conditions as a result.

Council has agreed to arrange a meeting on these issues between Dick Kropp, the Village solicitor, and zoning by-law officer Cheryl Tynski and chief Building Official Art Carkner.

In addition, Council will not make comments to the Land Severance Committee on a proposed severance on the same property, until the issue is resolved.

Correspondence from Eckel Industries, Beavers Dental, and St. Lawrence Medical Clinic on garbage issues indicated discontent with the Village's new policy on commercial garbage pick-up.

The companies had written with their concerns over the Village's new plan to handle commercial garbage pick-up through a contractor.

Eckel's Industry management wrote to object to the privatization of garbage pick-up, noting that the three bag

Rohm and Haas celebrates expansion at Morrisburg location

MORRISBURG—Rohm and Haas Company (NYSE:ROH) marked the completion of their Petroleum Chemicals plant expansion at Morrisburg, Ontario, with a ribbon-cutting ceremony on May 5.

This major expansion at Morrisburg will increase the plant's petroleum additives capacity by 30 per cent, in order to be more responsive to customers' requirements for established products plus new, speciality applications.

The plant expansion is good news for the community of Morrisburg, which saw the Rohm and Haas work force decrease last fall when Ato-Haas, a joint venture of Rohm and Haas and Elf Atochem, ceased production of acrylic sheet products at Morrisburg.

The Petroleum Chemicals business unit of Rohm and Haas makes additives that are sold to formulators for use in the production of lubricating oils with improved performance properties. Products manufactured at Morrisburg include ACRYLOID pour point depressants and hydraulic additives. Production of these Rohm and Haas petroleum additives is centralized at Morrisburg, which also took over the manufacture of several products formerly made at the Rohm and Haas facility in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Morrisburg services the needs of customers in Canada, other North American locations, and Japan.

According to site manager Vic Harward, the plant expansion was designed to allow for the production of large-volume petroleum additives as well as small-volume specialty products that customers often request. "The new equipment is sufficiently high-tech to offer us greater versatility in the petroleum additives we can now make at Morrisburg," he stated.

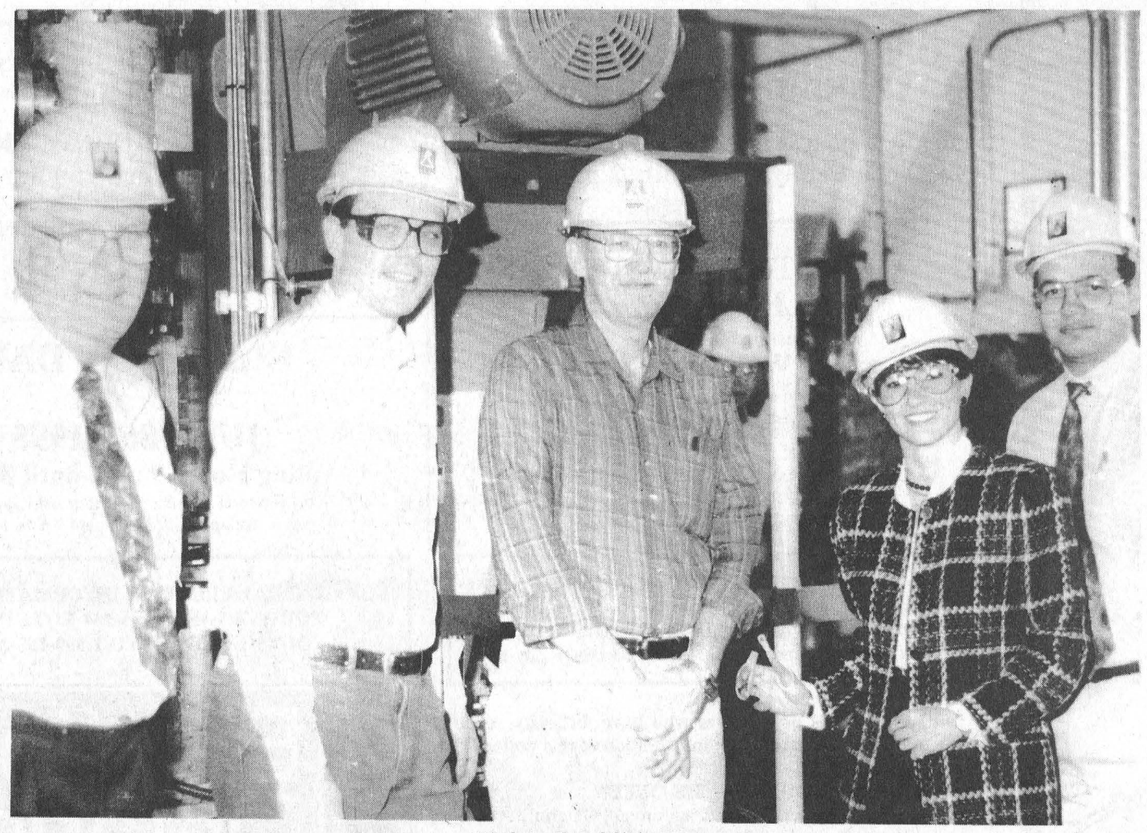
Harward does not expect this will translate into additional jobs immediately; however, he said that future jobs may result if volume will grow as a result of the plant's expanded capabilities.

Morrisburg plant personnel, their spouses, and business team leaders held a ribbon-cutting ceremony on May 5 to celebrate the completion of the expansion, which began in June last year. Local elected officials and media from several communities were invited to the ribbon-cutting.

Nance Dicciani, Ph.D. Vice-President and Business Unit Director, expressed her satisfaction for the confidence Rohm and Haas has placed in the plant's ability to meet the increasing demand for the petroleum additives product line. "Expanding our capacity is a tangible sign of Rohm and Haas continued commitment to the Petroleum Chemicals business, as well as to the Morrisburg site," said Dr. Dicciani.

She noted that the expansion is one of several key components in the Rohm and Haas global program to improve the supply capability of the Petroleum Chemicals business. Capacity initiatives are in place at all four of the company's petroleum additives plants, strategically located around the world. (The other three plants are in Houston, Texas, Lauterbourg, France, and Nagoya, Japan). A global stocking program also was implemented in 1994.

Rohm and Haas Company's Morrisburg plant is ISO 90002-certified. ISO registration is a quality system standard created by the International Organization for Standardization in Geneva, Switzerland. ISO status is received only after a manufacturing site is evaluated by a third party auditor to determine that the quality systems in the plant meet or exceed ISO standards.



High tech addition

Independent Order of Oddfellows Aberdeen Lodge celebrates 100th anniversary

INGLESIDE—Highlighting the 100th anniversary celebration of Aberdeen Lodge #302 (International Independent Order of Oddfellows) at St. Matthews Presbyterian Church last Tuesday was the presentation of a 75 Year Service Jewel to Brother Baden Empey, Past Grand Master.

Immediately following this some friends of Mr. and Mrs. Empey said it was also their 58th wedding anniversary, and an appropriate response was given when the District Deputy Grand Master Brother John G. Perrin announced this. It could be rightly said that the 75 Year Member and his wife Ethel stole the show with everyone congratulating the two of them on this Historic Occasion.

During the evening a very enjoyable meal was served by the ladies of the Church, and entertainment was capably provided by three ladies of the local area. Those in attendance joined in on many nostalgic tunes such as "Take Me Out to The Ball Game," and so on.

Prior to the presentation Bro. Charles Rielly, Past Grand, recording secretary for Aberdeen Lodge #302 spoke from the minute book regarding some events of Avonmore Lodge #334, prior to members transferring to Aberdeen Lodge on June 9th 1972. The Avonmore Lodge was instituted August 9, 1900, and held their meetings in the Begg block. Dues were $6.00 per year. They somehow accumulated a lot of money, as on at least two occasions, they were able to lend the Township of Roxborough $2000.

On August 1, 1900, smoking was prohibited in the Lodge Room, but no mention was made on the use of chewing tobacco. At that time, officers missing a meeting had to give an acceptable reason at the next meeting in front of members as to their absence.

On March 2, 1913, an agreement was reached to build a new hall. The property cost $150, and the contract for $4500 was given on May 16, 1913, with the final payment made on October 13, 1913. The total payment was for $4510 and dedication of the new hall was on January 21, 1914. It is hard to imagine building today within $10.00 of the contract and in such a short time.

Another item noticed in the minute book many years ago. One member known to be long-winded gave his report on sessions he had attended at Grand Lodge, and members had to sit and listen to the report for three and a half hours.

Due to a loss of membership Avonmore Lodge #221 realized that it could no longer remain active. On June 9/1972, 10 members transferred to Ingleside Lodge and the building in Avonmore was sold and dismantled and a new bank building was built on the site.

Glenn Crites, past Grand, and present Noble Grand of Aberdeen Lodge spoke on notes taken from the Lodge's records, since its Institution in 1884. On January 2, 1894 a meeting to institute an IOOF Lodge in Aultsville, was called to order by the chairman A.M. Brockely Grand Chief Patriarch. The institution of Aberdeen Lodge #302 was declared, followed by the election of officers. Brother G.T. Wood was the first Noble Grand. The rest of the officers were duly elected and installed.

A lodge meeting was held on Saturday January 13th from 8.30 p.m. to 12:00 o'clock. On January 20th decisions were reached to call meetings at 8.00 p.m. and not to accept applications for beneficial membership from applicants over 60 years of age. All applicants had to pass a medical examination.

On July 21, 1894 a cheque was drawn for $5.00 to pay the per capita tax. On September 17, 1894 it was decided to hold regular meetings of the Lodge on the first and third Monday of each month. The same holds true now. The landlord, The Sons of Temperance, did the caretaking of the premises for $5.00 per year. Rent in the amount of $14.34 was paid for the year 1894.

The Fraternity Hall in Aultsville was built in 1902, and the first meeting of Aberdeen Lodge #302 was called to order on January 17 by Noble Grand Brother N.O. Cramer.

Aberdeen Lodge #302 continued to meet in the Fraternity Hall at Aultsville until January 6, 1958 when Noble Grand Brother Glenn Crites called the final meeting to order. The Fraternity Hall was then demolished to allow for the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The next meeting of Aberdeen Lodge was held in temporary quarters in the basement of Trinity United Church in Ingleside on February 3, 1958. The Lodge conferred degrees in the gymnasium of the Rothwell Public School. These two locations were used until the present Fraternity Hall was built in 1959.

The first meeting of Aberdeen Lodge #302, to be held in the new Fraternity Hall in Ingleside was called to order at 8:40 p.m. on January 4, 1960 by the Noble Grand Brother William Rutley. The new Lodge room was dedicated in November 1960 by Past Grand Master Grant Chambers of Ottawa, with many members present. In 1972, Aberdeen Lodge was joined by Avonmore Lodge #334.

Grand Master Bro. Don Howes closed the evening with a speech, which emphasized some of the very important contributions made both locally in communities where the Lodges are located, and also outside the community. He stressed that as a World Wide Organization, the I.O.O.F. is serving with distinction in areas like the Arthritic Foundations Research where they have contributed in the search for cures and or medication.

Another example was the building of a wheelchair ramp at a residence so that the elderly resident could remain mobile in the community. Also Aberdeen Lodges contributions to the U.N. Student Program, the Bursary to the Local High School and South Mountain Lodges work with the Dogs for the Blind Program was noted.

Head Table guests were Grand Master Don Howe of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, Bro. Mort Turner, Grand Marshall of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, and his wife Mary; Bro. John G. Perrin, District Deputy Grand Master of Harmony District #51 and his wife Hedi.

Master of Ceremonies was the Noble Grand of Aberdeen Lodge #302, Bro. Glenn Crites, who was accompanied by his wife Thelma. Also at Head Table was the Secretary of Aberdeen Lodge #302, Bro. Charlie Rielly Past Grand and Regional Director, Bro. Harold Eyre Past Grand Master and his wife Doris.

limit is not adequate for their industry. While the cost may seem insignificant now, there appears to be no guarantee that costs will not rise, nor that the type of industrial and commercial refuse which is acceptable now will be in future.

On behalf of Beavers Dental Limited, manager Bob Leroux wrote expressing concerns over the announced change, that limiting the amount of waste in the plan to three 23 kg containers per week is inadequate for their industry, and will add to costs of production by having to pay for additional waste.

On behalf of the clinic, the business manager wrote their objection to the new plan, which they felt may be discriminatory. The following questions were asked: Do businesses in the shopping center have pick-up more than once a week, are they limited to three 23 kg containers once a week, and do they have to put garbage out on the curb?

It was noted, the clinic pays taxes as do other establishments, and expects the equivalent in services. "Please advise us as regarding this policy," the letter states.

Coun. Cam Martel will meet with these representatives to clarify the policy on commercial garbage pick-up.

Council has adopted a suggested resolution by lawyer Doug Grenkie to oppose the closure of the Courts Administration Office in Dundas County to be directed towards the Ontario Government.

Grenkie has learned that the Government, through its Regional Court's Advisory Committee intends to close the judicial Court Office or at least restrict its hours of operation to times when the Courts are in session. "This is obviously the first step to finally closing all semblance of a justice system in Dundas county," Grenkie wrote.

Council is still awaiting some final figures from the School Board, and some final auditing figures before the budget will be ready to present to the public, deputy reeve Dirk Testerink reported at Monday's Council meeting.

New Democratic candidate brings small business prospective

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

FINCH—If elected, the recently nominated NDP candidate Michael Cowley-Owen, would bring the perspective of small business management to the New Democratic Party.

Last Wednesday, the Maxville businessman received the nod of the NDP provincial riding association to run in the upcoming provincial election.

Cowley-Owen is a management and communications consultant, running his consulting business and a part-time bed and breakfast business out of the Old General Store in Maxville. With this background in small business and management consulting, he believes he can well represent the small business and economic development interests in the community.

A director of the Maxville and District Chamber of Commerce, he also sits on the steering committee of Eastern Ontario Chambers of Commerce. He is vice-president of Seaway Valley Tourism, and is involved with the North Glengarry Community Economic Development Group.

"Community and economic development go hand in hand," Cowley-Owen said at the nomination meeting. "We need to develop the grass roots, so changes come from the bottom up rather than the top down."

He is on the Local Training and Adjustment board steering committee for the five United Counties of SD & G and Prescott Russell. Cowley-Owen says the Board's function has changed from what it appeared to be under previous administrations, to have big business and unions "duking it out for the money. It's become a more grass roots movement under the NDP."

If elected he would work to simplify the running of small business which he believes is hampered by "a lot of forms and time spent in administration" on items like the GST.

While the NDP has not been traditionally seen as the party to represent small business, he would like to change this perception. "They have an extensive policy on small business. They recognize it as a potential for economic growth in the province in the province and they're going to try and make it easier," he stated.

Some business organizations like the Chamber of Commerce, in which he is actively involved, may be viewed as right wing because of their business orientation. At times, they have spoken out against the NDP Party which has been viewed as anti-business. "But the Chambers have to recognize the world is changing and the NDP is definitely recognizing the province can't go anywhere without small business. They recognize it as a potential for economic growth," he stated.

Having worked in small business since 1979 and surviving through three administrations, he said there hasn't been much of a difference. "It hasn't got worse for sure, despite the fact this country has gone through the worst economic times since the depression. If anything, a lot of laws, business taxes etc. people complain about were introduced during the Liberal era."

Some critics have described government's policy towards small business as "benign neglect." But Cowley-Owen indicated this is a sector difficult to get a handle on.

"Big business and big labor are easier for government to deal with because of their organization, and because there are only a few people to deal with. However, although small business has been traditionally disorganized, there a few mouthpieces. Cowley-Owen believes that "to some extent small business has to take some responsibility to themselves."

As one familiar with the issues, he has been involved in trying to get business representatives to come up with a concerted plan.

On provincial policy issues, Cowley-Owen stands firmly on the government record and he supports Bob Rae whom he believes is the best leader for the times.

He said he has become more aware of the Party's many accomplishments since his nomination, and one of its faults is "hiding its light under a bushel."

"A lot of organizations are against the government, that's pretty obvious, but I'm meeting individuals constantly who have benefitted from NDP policy," he stated.

He cited an example of an individual who benefitted from previous legislation passed by the NDP. "When a company went bankrupt in the past, he would have been "out of luck" in securing what was owed him. But the NDP passed a law "making workers secure creditors like banks", thus providing them some protection from people who are trying to avoid their obligations.

He also praised Rae as "the best leader," who has seen Ontario through some of the most difficult times since the depression. And despite the pressures of hard times and special interests, he believes the Party has introduced "some of the most socially just legislation and policies protecting most Ontariens against the full impact of economic instability."

Although Ontario's Social Contract which imposed unpaid days off on public servants and a freeze on wages for three years, has been widely criticized, the Act protected thousands of workers from lay-off, he said. In addition, it helped control government spending without putting the province deeper in recession.

Speaking from a purely personal point of view, Cowley-Owen said he would like to see everyone work together more, including sectors of "small business, labor, right wingers and left wingers, government and opposition."

Asked whether this kind of cooperation is possible in rural areas, he replied: "It has to start in rural areas. Most major social developments in the country like Medicare in Saskatchewan started in rural areas. Rural people realize the reliance they have on one another."

Name's in the hat

NDP candidate Michael Cowley-Owen threw his name into the hat for the provincial election set for June 8. He is pictured at his nomination meeting beside the poster of leader Bob Rae, whose government and leadership he supports. When Cowley-Owen decided to enter the election race, he said he would "stand up and be counted." He is competing for votes with Tory MPP Noble Villeneuve and Liberal candidate Denis Sabourin.

Mothers deserve the best

Right across this country, and many other countries, it is recognized that the most single group in any society is not politicians, nor the governing bodies; it is the mothers. For without their important contribution, the entire human race and all its works and accomplishments would would very quickly disappear from the earth.

On one Sunday each year—this year may 14th—most of us pay some sort of tribute to our mothers, or to their memories. And it can never be too great!

For mothers not only bear the children; they provide constant care and direction from the very earliest years; they are the arbitrators of childhood quarrels; they provide early training and sage advice to the growing child. Above all, they teach love of God, of other members of the family, and of the community.

This day was originated to thank that very special period who gave you those important gifts of life and love. She deserves every accolade.

Thank you Dr. Pasteur

Despite the fact that he died 100 years ago, in 1895, Louis Pasteur is still one of the world's most recognized scientists. No wonder. His discoveries revolutionized chemistry; laid the foundation for the study of microbiology (he discovered germs); formed the genesis of modern immunology (he developed a method of killing viruses which allows them to be used in preventive vaccines), and led to the development of the sterile procedures practised in health care today.

To mark the centenary of his death, France has declared 1995 the Year of Louis Pasteur. A number of exhibitions and events have been planned to celebrate his achievements.

What most Canadians don't know, is that Pasteur had a great influence on health care in our country.

In 1888, the Pasteur Institute was founded to manufacture rabies vaccine (which he discovered), conduct research into infectious diseases and teach what was then knows as "microbics" (microbiology).

One of the many scientists who studied there was a young doctor from Toronto named John FitzGerald who attended the Institute in 1911. The time he spent there was to influence the rest of his life and many of ours.

Pasteur had an interesting philosophy which the Institute tried to instill in its students. he believed strongly in the notion that scientific knowledge should be applied to public health and that everyone should benefit from medical care regardless of economics or geography.

John FitzGerald agreed with him. He knew that many people in Toronto died simply because they couldn't afford to pay for treatment. He came away from the Pasteur Institute with a plan to help change that.

When he returned to Canada, Dr. FitzGerald's immediate goal was to reproduce and manufacture Pasteur's rabies vaccine here, making it less expensive and more readily available. He accomplished his goal in 1913 at the Provincial Labs in Toronto where he went on to set up production of diphtheria, small pox and anti-tetanus vaccines as well.

The demand for these products quickly reached the point where a new facility was needed and in 1914, Connaught Laboratories was opened as part of the University of Toronto, with Dr. FitzGerald as its head. He also founded the School of Hygiene at U. of T. where doctors were trained in the principles of public health. Today, Canada's health care standards are a match for any in the world thanks to people like Dr. FitzGerald and Louis Pasteur.

Dr. FitzGerald would be pleased to know that Connaught Laboratories has grown to be the largest vaccine manufacturer in North America with a history that includes the discovery of insulin by Drs. Banting and Best, and the development of Salk polio vaccine.

Today, Connaught carries on Dr. FitzGerald's work, developing vaccines for the prevention and treatment of diseases including meningitis, pertussis (whooping cough) and flu. Connaught provided vaccine for the World Health Organizations' program to wipe out smallpox, a goal that was reached in 1977.

Connaught has also been working on the development of a vaccine against HIV, the virus that causes AIDS. Connaught's partner in this project is its parent, Pasteur Mérieux, a French company that traces its roots to the original Pasteur Institute. (Pasteur Mérieux, bought Connaught in 1989.)

In 1984, Marcel Mérieux, the founder of the company that eventually became Pasteur Mérieux, worked in the lab at the Pasteur Institute. He was fortunate to work alongside Pasteur himself. Like Dr. FitzGerald, Mérieux was deeply influenced by Pasteur's philosophy and left the Institute determined to use his knowledge to improve human health.

It's a great tribute to Louis Pasteur that these two companies have continued throughout their history to devote their resources to the "world of the infinitely small" as he called it.

This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles by Catherine Thompson

The 19th edition of The Leader reports S D & G MPP Noble Villeneuve's second election victory. Villeneuve maintained the 118 years of Tory tradition in SD & G in defeating Morrisburg reeve Bill Dillabough, who ran for the Liberals. Dillabough only garnered 7,037 votes, well shy of the 13,123 which which saw Villeneuve convincingly re-elected. NDP candidate Rudi Derstroff turned in 1,698 votes, tripling the 627 he received in the 1983 byelection.

Despite the defeat, Dillabough and his followers rejoiced in the party's triumphant showing across the province. Under leader David Peterson, the Liberals scored a stunning upset, grabbing 48 seats of the 125-legislature and relegating the Tories, who dropped to 52 seats from 72, to the position of minority government.

About 65 local Ontario Hydro linesmen, forresters, office and customer service personnel walked off the job, joining 15,000 Ontario Hydro workers across the province as talks with a provincial mediator broke off. Area manager Vince Lynch said the strike was not expected to cause blackouts. Only builders and new homeowners requiring electrical hookups would feel the pinch. The key issue in the labor dispute was not money, but the utility's contracting out of renovation and repair work at operating nuclear plants to construction workers.

Morrisburg's Friendship Circle honored five area residents 90 years or older with plaques: 97-year old Mae Watt, Charlie Crober, 90; Willa Johnston, 95; and Ethel McInnis, 90.

The Hosea Droppo Library was officially opened at Morrisburg Public School. The new library was to house 5,000 books which used to be located in a classroom. However, the introduction of the learning disability class necessitated another facility. Dr. Gerry Rosenquist, a trustee with the SD & G County Board of Education, said Droppo, a former principal, upheld all the traditions and objectives a principal should, involving himself in all aspects of the community, especially in the field of sports.

The 19th edition reports a raise for Morrisburg taxpayers due to an increase in the county tax rate from 16.9 mills to 23.3 mills and hike in educational levies by both SD & G Board of Education, and the Separate School Board.

The Rideau Amateur Radio Club, founded in 1972, met at the Kemptville College of Agriculture Technology. A membership of 25 hailed from as far away as Ottawa, Brockville, and Ingleside.

An enthusiastic audience enjoyed the outstanding performance of the Seaway Singers in their spring concert, "Down Memory Lane." Directed by Marion DeGray, the program was the result of many hours of work involving over 50 members in cast and stage crew. Mrs. Marjorie Droppo was pianist throughout the production.

Morrisburg Council heard a delegation of parents of pre-school children who attended the Morrisburg and District Pre-School. Heading the group was Mrs. Claire Dunn. The issue in question was a raise in fee structure. The board and parents had no objection to the raise in fees but they questioned the method of two rates, one for in-town and one for out-of-town. Councillor McInnis suggested the total needed be evenly divided so there would be one fee structure, and the group concurred with the suggestion.

Headlines in the May 13th, 1955 issue of The Leader read F.M. Cass, Q.C. Conservative Candidate. Frederick M. Cass, Q.C., prominent lawyer of Chesterville and Winchester, was selected to carry the banner of the Progressive Conservative Party in the June 9th provincial election for the riding of Grenville-Dundas.

The 42-year old Dundas County Deputy Magistrate succeeded Hon.. George H. Challies of Morrisburg, who retired from political life after representing the riding for 26 years. Reeve Lloyd C. Davis of Iroquois and Deputy Reeve Allan Farlinger of Matilda Township, opposed Mr. Cass and were the first to congratulate him when his candidature became official.

The Iroquois men's team consisting of A. Bray, H. Morrison, J. Williamson, K. Easter, D. Edgar and W. Williamson won the Morrisburg men's senior bowling league. The Edgerton ladies' trophy was won by Shirley Zalman, Mercedes Hess, Ethel Casselman, Audrey Hummell, Dorothy Merrill and Gertrude Aikman.

At the Dominion 16 ounce jars of Richmello salad dressing were 35 cents and Paramount sockeye salmon 37 cents a half pound tin.

Gone With the Wind starring Clark Gable and Vivian Leigh was playing at the Cameo Theatre and the Picadilly at Williamsburg was showing Beau Brummell starring Elizabeth Taylor and Stewart Granger.

The Aultsville correspondent wrote: Did some one notice this is the year 1955, the 5th month and the fifth day of the week? This will not happen again for some years. Maybe this is the cause of the changeable weather. One day 80 degrees, next 60 degrees, even down to 32 degrees, then rain, and a few flakes of snow-and even hail.

Pictured on the front page of the May 11th, 1945 issue of The Leader was Victory is Ours. Today the United Nations, Partners in Freedom, have triumphed over the beast of Berlin and all his Nazi tyrants. Let us join in joyous thanksgiving, praising God that through His Wisdom, Justice and Freedom have prevailed.

V-E Day was marked in Morrisburg with a spirit of thanksgiving to God for deliverance from the evils and perils of nearly six years of war. A street parade at three o'clock stopped at the monument park to hear the address from King George.

Cpl. Carson Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker of Glen Becker, who had been freed from a German prisoner-of-war camp in Austria, was now safe and well in England. He had been captured in Italy on December 13th, 1944 after being wounded three times.

For the third time Walt Disney's unforgettable Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs was playing at the Cameo Theatre and Johnny Weismuller was starring in Tarzan's Desert Mystery at the Picadilly Theatre, Williamsburg.

Despite the inclement weather almost 1,000 people from Williamsburg and area attended the V-E celebrations in Williamsburg. A parade marched through the village to the Picadilly Theatre where a service of worship was conducted by local clergymen, Rev. W.C. Nolting, Rev. R.G. Newmann and Rev. E.C. Lacey.

Pte. George Jarvis, son of Mr. and Mr. Harold Jarvis of Morrisburg had returned to his home, after spending four years overseas with the SD & G Highlanders. Others to return home were PO. Lawrence "Skippy" Clark and PO. Officer Charles Blancher both of the RCAF.

It was reported in the May 10 issue that George Mattice had been authorized by council to look after and care for the fairgrounds without compensation.

Members of the Young Peoples League of Williamsburg United Church under direction of Mrs. Strader McIntosh presented a play entitled Mary's Castle in the Air. Cast included Estelle Irving, Stella Herriman, Harold Casselman, Wilbur Garlough, Edna Johnson, Gladys Cunningham, Ethan Alguire, Gerald Norval, Grant Algire, Edna Cunningham and Miles Barkley.

Among those who received the King's Jubilee Medal were Hon.. George H. Challies, M.L.A., A.C. Casselman M.P. and Mrs. Casselman, and A.J. Casselman, Williamsburg.

A financial statement for the Village of Morrisburg showed total receipts of $62,062.76.

The May 15th edition reported that several members of the Board of Education motored to Carleton Place to look over the Institute there. Visitors were favorably impressed with the building but felt it was too large for Morrisburg. Just how long the Department would continue to delay the preliminary work was a matter of concern to many in Morrisburg and the surrounding area.

Horse races were planned for Morrisburg on the King's Birthday June 3rd. A number of the fastest horses in Ontario had already been booked with $450 offered in purses.

Charles Hanes had resumed his business on Main Street, Aultsville. He was prepared to do custom work both new and repairs in the line of plumber and was to reopen his coal business again shortly.

Addressing literacy issues

The Honorable Joyce Fairbairn, Senator for Lethbridge, Alberta, Leader of the Government in Senate, and Minister with Special responsibility for Literacy addressed the issue of literacy in Canada at the Morrisburg and district Canadian Club meeting here Monday. Statistics reveal a percentage of 25 per cent of Canadians have difficulty with reading tasks, and many will be unprepared to deal with the technological age which the 21st century will bring. She is pictured here, flanked by Stormont Dundas MP Bob Kilger, left, and Gord Thom, chair of the Speaker's Committee for the Canadian Club.

Novico franchise will boost business

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

MORRISBURG—Co-owners of the Morrisburg Building Centre are excited about their decision to join the Novico franchise.

The nine-year old business, which was formerly owned and operated by Aart Jansen is now owned and managed by his son Harold, and daughter Margaret, and their spouses, Joanne Jansen and Rick Johnston with the help of three employees.

The Novico franchise is a group of hardware and home improvement centers, which aims to provide members with an excellent marketing program and buying support.

Since its launch in 1986, the franchise counts over 200 members across Canada, and approximately 40 in Eastern Ontario. Another nearby outlet is in Kemptville.

Owners stress the business is an independent business as before, and is still a division of the same Canadian distributor of hardware and building supply items, SODISCO/Howden Inc.

The marketing program includes store identification, merchandising, advertising, promotions, and management services.

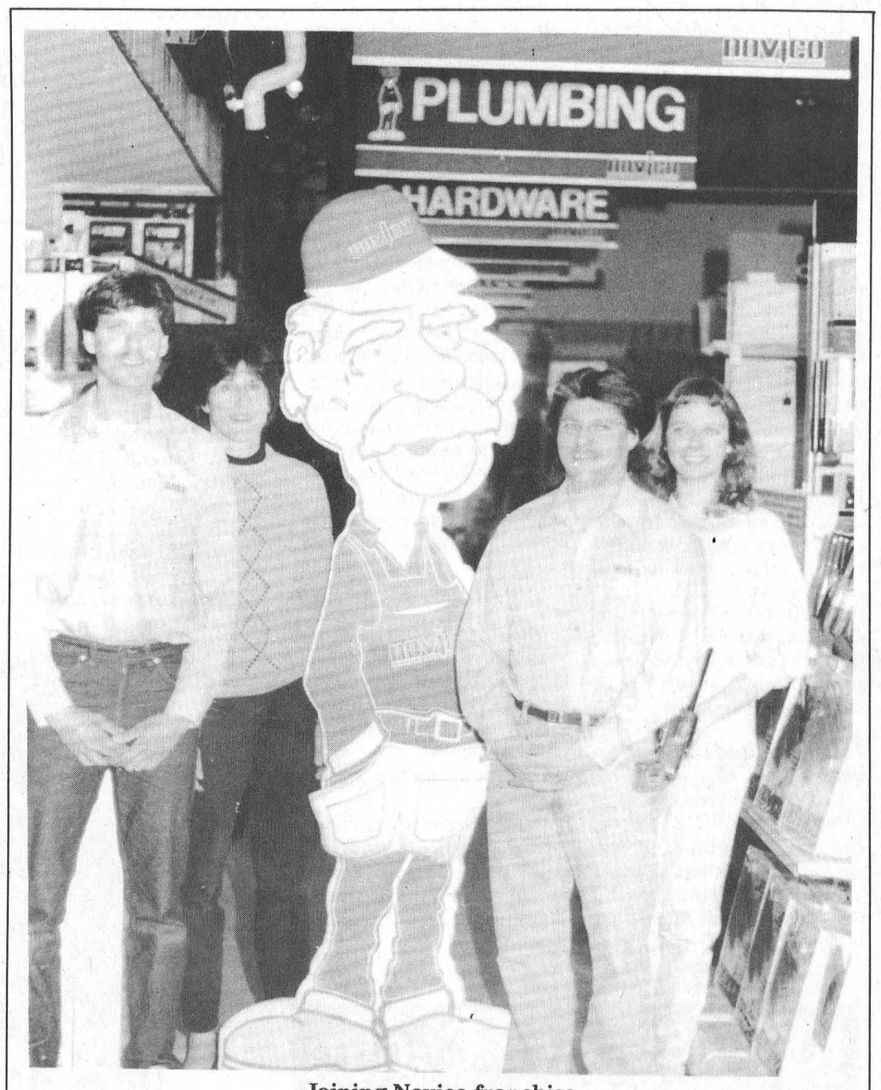
Harold said the program applies to building supplies and hardware items. "They offer us a better buy through an advertising program which includes flyers, joint newspaper advertising, and a special spring fundraiser on the Children's Miracle TV Network they help sponsor. Not to mention "Rock Bottom" pricing on popular items all year round," he added.

Joining the franchise will help the Building Center be more competitive, by "just being able to buy more popular items at a competitive price. Because we got a better buy on it, we can sell at a better price, especially items like power tools," he added.

He stressed there won't be a lot of new items, just a better selection of things the Center already has: for example, a better choice of plumbing and electrical devices.

To mark the change, the store will carry a banner with the slogan "Novico—your Neighborhood Renovation Center," and a large sign near the highway will indicate the franchise.

"The change in signage will in no way reduce the fine service and product selection we have offered in the past," the business owners said. "The Novico Hardware program is owned by the same distributor we dealt with as an independent in the past, ensuring the same efficient service and improved product availability in 1995 and beyond. The main reason for the change is to position our store in line with the changing retail in the community."



Joining Novico franchise

Morrisburg Building Center co-owners from l-r Harold and Joanne Jansen, and Rick and Margaret Johnston were pleased to join the Novico Franchise, a group of hardware and home improvement centres, who participate in a marketing program with buying support. The nine-year old independent business will remain independent and family-owned. Joining the franchise is expected to boost sales through the ability to obtain a better selection of goods at competitive prices.

MNR tells of ways to reduce threat of rabies in local areas

May has been declared Rabies Awareness Month to bring to public attention this sometimes forgotten but always fatal disease.

Local municipalities, agencies, veterinarians and health units are encouraged to promote this month, so that people will be better able to protect themselves, their children and their pets from rabies.

Eastern Ontario once held the not-so-distinctive title of "The Rabies Capital of North America." In 1967, the provincial and federal governments combined resources to study the cause and spread of rabies. They have also been working at developing ways to protect the public.

As a result of this partnership, the Ministry of Natural Resources has developed an oral vaccine system that is spread through the countryside by airplanes. This program has targeted red foxes, the main carrier of rabies to domestic pets and livestock. Human contact with rabies generally occurs with pets and domestic animals.

Is the threat of rabies gone?

Unfortunately, no.

Although the MNR is working hard at stopping the spread of fox rabies, another strain is waiting in the wings. A strain of rabies that is spread primarily by raccoons is moving north through the eastern United States. Unless it is stopped, this type of rabies will enter Ontario.

In an effort to create a protective buffer, MNR staff have been trapping and vaccinating raccoons in susceptible areas. In 1994, efforts were directed an an area around Niagara Falls. This will continue in 1995. In addition, MNR crews will be out trapping, vaccinating and releasing raccoons along the St. Lawrence River. The primary target areas will be the bridges at Ivy Lea, Johnstown, Iroquois and Cornwall.

In addition to this trapping, vaccinating and releasing, rabies researchers are working at developing a way to deliver an oral vaccine to raccoons by air, similar to the one in use for foxes. Once perfected, these aerial baits will allow control programs to be conducted over large areas.

While panic is not the order of the day, it is very important for people to understand how the disease is spread, and ways to protect you and your loved ones.

What can we do to stay safe?

The best defense against all forms of rabies is to avoid contact with stray and wild animals. Keeping pets and domestic animals vaccinated and under control, teaching children of all ages to stay away from unknown animals and teaching everyone to enjoy wildlife from a distance are very important and effective rabies control strategies. If you suspect contact with a rabid animal, it is important to call the Lanark, Leeds and Grenville District Health Unit at (613) 345-5685. They will provide guidance on the next step to take.

The Health Unit, in cooperation with a few local veterinarians will be offering clinics throughout the United Counties of Leeds and Grenville.

The clinics will be held on Wednesday, may 10 and Wednesday May 17, from 2-6 p.m. at the following locations: Athens, Fire Hall; Chantry, Municipal Garage; Merrickville Fire Hall; Kemptville Public Works /Police Garage; Brockville Youth Arena, Gananoque Works Garage, Prescott Works Garage.

While most rural residents may never have close contact with wild animals, almost everyone has handled a "wild" or barn cat. These animals have the potential to pass rabies on to humans. If you have any of these cats around your home or farm, you should consider taking advantage of the low-cost rabies clinics.

In the event that raccoon rabies does arrive in this area, a Contingency Plan has been drawn up to deal with the problem. This plan was created with input from the Health Unit, Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada, municipal and provincial police, local trappers, the Humane Society and others.

If a case of raccoon rabies is identified in the area, the plan will help to ensure a quick and effective response to containing the problem.

For further information contact the MNR, Brockville at (613) 342-8524.

Thanks for the coverage

"Leader" Co-owner Sam Laurin accepted appreciation for coverage from Canadian Institute for the Blind volunteers, Juanita Hill, left, Barb Bradford, right. At the CNIB annual meeting for Dundas County, volunteer certificates were presented to the Morrisburg ladies among other volunteers. Juanita was thanked for two years service, and Barb was thanked for her five years service, which included helping start a support group, and organizing volunteer drivers for the area. Juanita is a retired teacher of visually impaired children.

Giant yard sale

Despite cold weather, Williamsburg's fourth annual Giant Yard Sale drew lots of visitors, and was profitable for participants, said Community Association president Dave Lapier. Although there were 30 yard sales registered, others sprang up all over as residents took advantage of the opportunity to sell old items and make a few dollars. Canadian Tire and the Oddfellows also did well with their sales. And Audrey Casselman's Cake Walk netted $190 to help defray costs of the event like flyers and other incidentals.

Rothwell-Osnabruck School celebrates Education Week

INGLESIDE—The Lancer Centre at Rothwell-Osnabruck School was filled with the sounds of music Thursday afternoon as 135 students from Junior Kindergarten to Grade 3 sang and danced their way through the play "It's a Small World."

Family, friends and community members enjoyed the story of a group of students who had been given permission to plan a field trip anywhere in the world.

A dedicated travel agent brought in experts from Mexico, the United Kingdom, Europe, Africa, the Far East, Australia and Canada in an effort to convince the students of the merits of each place. In the end the group decided to tour their own country first.

This play was a natural choice for Rothwell primary classes since it offered a rich range of music, both familiar and challenging. Students of all ages worked and learned together, one of the key goals of the school.

Classes prepared travel posters, researched country locations, geographical features, and cultural customs. Enthusiasm for the play was evident in the playground as children created new dance sequences and helped each other to learn lines.

The audience was treated to such familiar songs as "The Happy Wanderer", "Kookabura", "She Loves You", and "This Land is Your Land".

Traditional folk dances like the Mexican Hat Dance and the Irish Jig were enthusiastically presented by the children, along with interpretive dances choreographed with the help of Heather McBride, a former R/O student, now at CCVS.

Colorful costumes added to the international flavor of the show.

The Morrisburg Figure Skating Club shared their collection and many parents offered souvenirs and treasures gathered from travels abroad.

Music accompaniment was provided by two parent volunteers. Pat Timmers, on the piano, joined the group for a third production. Steve Ellam provided music and special effects on his keyboard. Both these parents juggled work schedules and family responsibilities in order to practice with the cast. Organizers said they could not begin to attempt a play of this nature without their help and they were most grateful.

"Working with them has ben a happy learning experience," one said.

One student wrote in her journal of the day of dress rehearsal: "I feel nervous and excited at the same time! That's how I feel. But I also feel good and proud of my part. I am looking forward to performing my part the day of our terrific play."

The teachers were also very proud of each child's performance in this play. Everyone made a commitment, gave a quality effort and followed through to completion.

Stage fright?

Primary students at Rothwell Osnabruck School line the halls prior to their play entitled "It's A Small World." They performed brilliantly to a full house of guests last Thursday as they celebrated Education Week at the school.

Seaway Lifestyles brings feeling of well-being

C. THOMPSON
Leader Staff

INGLESIDE—Crowning the achievements of the Seaway Valley Lifestyles Program was a banquet featuring "heart healthy" foods and the presentation of certificates to graduates who had learned a new "lifestyle."

The hall at St. Matthews Presbyterian Church was crowded with graduates of the month-long Coronary Health Improvement Program, their families and volunteers who had helped with the program and dinner.

Organizer Carson Elliott together with Valerie Johnson, RN and president of the Cornwall CHIP Alumni Association, handed out certificates of appreciation for sponsors, volunteers, and graduation certificates to over 90 people who had participated in the program.

The majority of graduates benefitted not only from an increased sense of well-being through a healthier diet resulting in a lower cholesterol count, improved fitness, and moral support provided by fellow participants.

Through a walking program by individual participants, the group had walked an amazing collective distance of over 2,190 miles from Ingleside to Brooks, Alberta.

The Lifestyle Poster contest received more entries than anticipated, Ellioot said, with a total of 70 from Rothwell Osnabruck School and Our Lady of Good Counsel.

Dr. Graham Jacques, spoke on "Reversing Heart Disease with a Fork and Knife," outlining the factors leading to coronary heart disease, and how these may be countered with diet and exercise.

The banquet was a culmination of a month-long program which included a video series by internationally-known Dr. Hans Diehl, dealing with heart disease, the umber one killer in North America. The series featured weekly themes on topics like "Atherosclerosis—Unravelling the Mystery", "Disarming Diabetes", and "The Cholesterol Controversy."

Ttechnical subjects are presented in an entertaining and informative manner, and case histories of patients who have overcome a multitude of health problems through the Coronary Health Improvement Plan.

Participants were given an initial medical assessment of levels of cholesterol, triglycerides, blood sugar, health habits, risk factors, and simple measurements of blood pressure, height, weight, and pulse. The program shows a way to healthier living through the video series, guest speakers including medical and other experts, recipe tasting and health tips.

Speakers gave personal testimonials to the way in which the program had changed their life. In all 15 cases, a marked improvement in health and general enjoyment of life was seen.

For example, Glen Maynard of Spencerville attributed a transformation nothing short of miraculous to the changes in lifestyle. In August 1994, Maynard faced the prospect of triple coronary bypass surgery, "with 90 per cent blockage in one artery and two others with over 50 per cent blockage around the heart."

But Maynard chose a different route, the route of diet and fat reduction, after reading the writings of Dr. Dean Ornish who recommends no more than 10 per cent dietary fat.

Last fall, he joined Diehl's CHIP program in Cornwall, and started on the road to well-being. "I feel good, I feel great, 100 per cent better. In 1993, I could hardly go up the stairs, now I bike 15-20 miles a day," he said.

In fact, Maynard felt so good he bicycled an amazing distance from South Mountain to Ingleside one evening to participate in the program. A patient of Dr. Henry Prins, and listed with the Heart Institute, Maynard had medical approval of his physician and specialists before embarking on this course of action. While still on the waiting list for surgery, he thinks he may somehow "Bypass the bypass."

Ottawa resident and former diabetic Connie Thebarge spoke of her outstanding success with the program. Five years ago, Thebarge had difficulty walking due to a complication from diabetes affecting her feet, but now does volunteer work, dances and wears high heels.

Having reducing her pill intake from 22 daily to six, Thebarge now feels like a new person. And to what does she owe the change? To a simple diet of whole grains, vegetables, pasta, and fish once every two months, the support of friends and husband Keith.

"I'm having a whale of a time thanks to people who encouraged me all along. Life is so wonderful when you have health everyday to make the best of it and enjoy life every day," she said.

As Connie is a patient representative at the Ottawa Heart Institute and at the Ottawa Civic Hospital, she can encourage others along the way.

Seventh Day Adventist Pastor Rob Putt, his wife Denise, who are the parents of a family of four boys, the eldest 16, testified to the health and unflagging energy provided by a strict vegetarian diet.

These were just a few success stories shared with participants by speakers, but a shining inspiration to the group.

But CHIP won't end with graduation from the program, as its future is assured through formation of the Seaway Valley Lifestyle Alumni Association.

During the evening of May 25, the first alumni meeting will be held at St. Matthew Presbyterian Church, featuring a Cooking School preview of the banquet dessert, when Wilma Scott will reveal her secret recipe regarding the delicious fruit flan served at the banquet. Guest speaker will be Alan Mills, of the Cornwall Heart and Stroke Foundation. A large crowd is expected.

The Alumni Program will feature a monthly newsletter shared by Cornwall and Seaway Valley Lifestyle members, or any new subscribers. Activities are being planned for Cornwall and Ingleside with meetings to rotate once a month.

Supported by many volunteers, community groups, businesses and organizations including the St. Lawrence Medical clinic, the program was deemed an outstanding success. "We're still getting letters and thank yous," said Elliott. "We're very pleased with the evaluation sheets. It was highly rated, most said they would come again."

"The one complaint some participants had about the program was that it was too crowded," he added with a laugh.

The Park Drive Seniors Support Center in Williamsburg has expressed an interest in hosting the program, and Dr. Diehl is to visit the Osnabruck Support Center in November.

For those who died at sea

From l-r Branch 48 Legion members service officer Ross Hummell, Navy veterans John Rice and Bob Howald, Padre Don Prunner, and Sergeant at Arms Frank Oake remembered those who were lost at sea in a finale to the VE Day ceremony. Oake who has served 25 years in the Navy during peacetime, threw a wreath into the river to remember those who died. Traditionally, ship captains throw wreaths, and say prayers at the locations where ships went down during the Second World War.

Moon Mullin looking to eclipse dirt competition

LAURIE DAY
Leader staff

IROQUOIS—Iroquois' Bill (Moon) Mullin is looking to compete more consistently in the modified division at local speedway tracks this season.

Equipped with a new car, and a big new sponsor—Cardinal's 730 Truck Stop, owned by Bob Lodge—the Iroquois dirt racer hopes to be unstoppable this season.

"We're better equipped this year," says 38-year-old Mullin, who has been competing in the modified division for the past three years.

Prior to that, Mullin was at the top of the street stocks and admitted that he jumped to the modified division a little two quickly.

"You have to have the funds in order to race competitively with the big guys at the top," he explained.

Guys like Pat and Danny O'Brien, and Dave Heaslip have the equipment needed to win the big races, and now Mullin expects he too will be at the top of the winners' list.

With an estimated budget of around $100,000, Mullin will be taking in a 75-race schedule.

"I'll be racing in Brockville and Cornwall this year, in both the Skoal and Mr. DIRT series. I even hope to get into a couple specials in Lafargeville."

Sporting his brand new $55,000 1995 Troyer chassis, Mullin is hoping to be in Lafargeville on May 13th to "get the bugs out."

On May 18th, he's going to be racing at the Brockville Ontario Speedway opener, and will be hitting the Cornwall Speedway's opener on May 21st.

At Cornwall, Mullin will have his new car on display from noon hour along with the 730 Truck Stop truck and trailer.

"We have two bodies this year," said Mullin. "One is to show and the other to race."

There is a new look for the racing team this summer, as the black body is trimmed in orange and yellow. Child Find is still prominently displayed on the car as Mullin is still doing extensive work for that organization.

Mullin will be at a variety of special events with his new car this year, including many appreciation days launched by some of his sponsors.

The 730 Truck Stop is hosting an appreciation day in August, and another sponsor, Parcoll Products of Morrisburg, will be having one this summer as well.

Two new members have joined the pit crew this year and they are mechanic David Graham of Cardinal, and PR man, Doug Barnett from Kemptville.

They will join crew chief David McIntosh, as well as Jeff Byvelds and Jeff Whitteker.

Something a little different for Mullin this season is the fact that he is trying to start up a fan club. He now has hats and t-shirts available.

"We're just trying to get more people involved and we thought this would be a fun way to do it."

Hoping to top last year's "successful season on the budget we ran" Mullin is looking forward to a very exciting summer this time out.

Other sponsors for the race team include Losey's Haulage of Long Sault, Edgerton Baker Fuels, G.T. Automotive, Riverside Pontiac Buick at Prescott, City - A1 Rad of Brockville and the Bouchey family.

IROQUOIS—Spring is finally here and the golf course is taking shape. Even the construction crew is back working on the course.

Clubhouse

The staff is now in place. Kelly Trilla from last year is back. Newcomers are Leslie Waddell and Stacey Potter. Food will be available starting this week on Wednesday and Thursday nights, for the Twilight Leagues. Breakfast will start this weekend and be available on Saturday and Sunday mornings from 8:30 to 11 a.m. Also, during busy times fresh sandwiches will be available. The old stand-by, the microwavable sandwiches will be available all the time.

Twilight Leagues

Both men's and ladies' leagues began last week and they look like they will be successful. The men held a cash scramble with 33 players. Four teams tied at two under and had to go to a sudden death playoff. All four teams parred the first hole and due to darkness, a chip-off was required to determine the winners. Roy Lapier, Roger Levere and Mark Lewis picked up $27.50 each for their first place finish, while Perry Swank, Sean Tetley and Ted Styles claimed $16.50 apiece for their second place finish. Derek Watson, Roger Levesque and Gary Barkley were third for $11 each, and coming in fourth were Brian Fawcett, Rob Delegarde and Don O'Brien. Notice that the name BRENT MATTICE is not listed with the above winners? No, he was busy getting his vehicle stuck on the golf course. Will explain later in the club happenings.

Lessons

The adult beginner golf lessons start May 15th. If not yet registered, call the pro shop for details. Classes are filling fast, so call as soon as possible.

Raffles

The warm-up suit raffle was drawn on Men's night with Scott Corden winning the draw. This week, we are offering a Spalding carry bag and a straw hat. Get your ticket for $2. Since this deck of cards has a joker, a sleeve of golf balls will be won by the picker of the joker. The kitchen improvement draw for the TV, VCR and Walkman is still going strong. Draw for this is July 22nd, and tickets are available in the pro shop. Another form of raffle going on at the club for clubhouse improvements is the 100 Club. Tickets available for $20 with four cash draws each week of $25 for five weeks, and one draw for $500 at the end of June. Get your ticket today in the pro shop. Nevada tickets are also in the works and should be here soon.

Seniors

We are working on setting up a Senior Day with different events happening weekly with a small entry fee for prizes. Watch this column for upcoming details. We have registered for the Ontario Senior Games. Qualifying for the final event held on June 6th at Summerheights must be finished here at Iroquois by May 31st. Cost is $3 for the qualifying and is open to all men and ladies over the age of 55. Get more details from the pro shop.

Annual meeting and fun scramble

These were held on Sunday, May 7th, with a good turnout. No major problems were discussed.

A fun scramble was held with 40 participating for gift certificates. The results were:

First place: Brian Fawcett, Diane Fawcett, Roger Levere and Gary Easter, $25 each; 2nd: Perry Swank, Nancy Swank, Gerry Belanger, Shirley Belanger, $15 each; 3rd place: Brook Leightizer, Nellie Leightizer, Dan Trillo and Gail McCallum, $10 each

Club Happenings

A lot of people qualify for the "Idiot of the Week Award" this week but we are limiting it to the two best ones. First, we have BRENT MATTICE who, during the cash scramble on men's night, thought he would be a nice guy and drive his team to #3 hole to start. In the process, he proceeded to get his van stuck and had to call a tow truck to winch him out. One good thing though, he did drive around the 'No Trespassing' sign without knocking it over.

The second one involves ROB DELEGARDE. First he loses his wallet and even is looking through the garbage cans trying to find it only to later find it in his yard at home. Then on Sunday, he registers for the fun scramble himself, and misspells his name. I have been in this business full-time for 23 years and have never had a member register for a tournament and not spell his name right.

It is a toss-up for the winner of this week's award.

Tip of the week

A new feature this week will occasionally show up and offer tips. This week, we have one. DON'T GO FOR A CAR RIDE WITH BRENT MATTICE!

Dundas County holds annual gymnastic meet at NDDHS

CHESTERVILLE—Last Tuesday, the Dundas County gymnastic meet was held at North Dundas District High School where 287 students from nine area public schools took part in the events throughout the day.

According to organizer Larry Berry of Morewood Public School, the meet is held at NDDHS because it is the only Dundas school large enough with the necessary equipment to handle the event.

Twenty-two high school students were on hand to act as judges, while 10 parents were safety supervisors.

The high school staff accommodated many needs and altered their schedules to pull off yet another successful gym meet.

"It was a good day for self-confidence and self-esteem building," noted Berry. "Many elementary teachers worked diligently to teach, train and prepare the students."

Track Side

With Rick Cauvier #29

Well, after a long cold winter of replacing, fixing, fabricating and rebuilding the race car we are at Frogtown international Speedway in Hogansburg, N.Y. waiting to start the heat race. Many things go go through your mind when you're sitting in the car with a 575 hp engine about 10 inches ahead of your knees. I hope Jim and Paul tightened all the bolts!

The green flag drops to start the 25-lap 358 modified race. The track is very rough and tacky. I am sitting in 10th place. The first caution came out when a car took a wild ride off turn one. The race was plagued with cautions. On the 18th lap the 57c of Kevin Fetterley got tangled with the 40 of Ovide Dorion causing a lot of damage to Dorion's car.

I was in 6th position until the gas line in the fuel cell (gas tank) somehow came to the top, making the car run out of gas. After putting more gas in I rejoined the race finishing 12th—not a bad day.

The Pocket Rocket, Danny O'Brien won with Dave The Slip Heaslip finishing second. We are now setting the car up for Can-Am in Lafargeville N.Y. on Saturday night. A very fast half mile oval with speeds reaching over 100 mph on the back straight.

Stay tuned...

IN MEMORIAM

WHITTEKER–In loving memory of my dear wife, Muriel Etta, who passed away May 11, 1986.
Sadly missed along life's way,
Quietly remembered every day.
–Ward 19p

McMILLAN–In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and sister, Hilda, who passed away May 12, 1975.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.
–Sadly missed by husband Frank, sons Gordon and Ross and brothers Keith, Ralph Carl and Lloyd Casselman 19p

IN MEMORIAM

CASSELMAN–In fond and loving memory of our dear mother and mother-in-law, Alice, who passed away May 11, 1991, and our dear father and father-in-law, Jake, who passed away May 13, 1994.
We often lie awake at night
When all the world is fast asleep
And take a walk down memory lane
With tears upon our cheeks.
We cannot bring the good days back
When we were all together
But loving memories of the past
Will stay with us forever.
The years we had with you
Are worth their weight in gold
The joy and laughter that you gave
Are ours to have and hold.
–Sadly missed and always remembered, son Ron and Janice, daughter Carolyn and Jack 19p

CROWDER–In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Claud, who passed away May 11, 1992.
Sunshine fades and shadows fall,
But sweet remembrance outlasts all.
–Loretta and family 19p

CASSELMAN–In memory of Mr. & Mrs. Jake Casselman who passed away May 13, 1994, and May 11, 1991.
Dear Grandma and Grandpa:
It's been lonely here without you
Life hasn't been the same
In life I loved you dearly
In death I do the same.
Lord wrap your arms around them
And keep them in your care.
Save a place beside them
Until I meet them there.
–Missed by Lois Ann 19p

Police Week May 14-21

Police Week originated in 1970 involving a collaborative effort between the federal Solicitor General and its provincial counterparts. It was decided that Police Week would be held in May, starting on the Sunday in the week that contains the 15th day, and ending on the following Saturday. May 15th is recognized internationally as Peace Officer Memorial Day.

Police Week has focused on a variety of social and crime related topics since its inception. Over the last several years,the main purpose of Police Week has been to forge stronger partnerships between policing services and the communities they serve. By working together everyone benefits; through the interaction of individuals, organizations and institutions which all share a responsibility for the well-being of the community.

During Police Week, community groups such as Neighbourhood Watch and Block Parents Program Inc., will join with police services in arranging special activities and displays that promote the concept of police and community working together to enhance public safety and security.

This year, local events will include mall displays, award presentations, tours of police stations, demonstrations by police units, special citizenship courts and a variety of picnics and barbecues.

The theme of this year's Police Week is "Partners in Community Safety". It reflects the ongoing commitment to community policing on the part of the police services across Ontario. Building partnerships between the police and the community will go a long way to ensuring the safety and security of all Ontarians.

"Partnerships the key element in community policing, which is the way police services will increasingly be delivered," said David Christopherson, Ontario Solicitor General and Minister of Correctional Services.

"Police Week gives us an opportunity to recognize these links and focus on the vital role fulfilled by the police services."

Police Week in Ontario is endorsed by the Ontario Association of Chiefs of Police, the Ontario Provincial Police, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, municipal police services and the Ministry of the Solicitor General and Correctional Services.
