Looking back

This week the Winchester Press officially turns 100 years old. Half of that century of progress was witnessed by printer Ran Wylie, who was a full-time employee of the Press from 1929 to 1979.

Cooperation will ease drainage woes: Whitteker

DIXONS CORNERS — It would take another joint federal and provincial government initiative to bring about a quick solution to the flooding problems plaguing Matilda Township farmers, the vice-chairman of the South Nation River Conservation Authority said Monday.

Addressing a public meeting to discuss the issue at the Matilda Township hall here, SNRCA vice-chairman and Williamsburg reeve Johnny Whitteker said another venture similar to the Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Agreement would be the best source of funding for a flood control project in the township. The agreement provided funding for the Chesterville Channelization Project, completed in 1984, which dredged the South Nation from Chesterville upstream to the mouth of the South Branch.

"I feel that Ontario would come in tomorrow if the feds would pick up their 45 per cent," Whitteker said at Monday night's meeting.

The meeting was organized by a committee of Matilda Township farmers and council members, who plan to lobby for a dredging project to relieve flooding of the South Branch in the township during the growing season. About 150 people turned out for the information meeting, including MPP Noble Villeneuve, and representatives of Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, the Ministry of the Environment, Ministry of Natural Resources, the federal government and SNRCA.

Committee members presented their case for giving a project to dredge the South Branch high priority, arguing that the township is a highly-productive agricultural area, and must be adequately drained to remain productive.

Meeting chairman, Arden Scheckenburger of the Dundas Federation of Agriculture said the committee was set up after a group of farmers approached the federation about the summer flooding problem.

According to township councillor and farmer Norm Tinkler, the flooding problem is a recurrent one. At a press conference in late March he said the high cost of flood damage in the Brinston flood zone should make up for the expense of the necessary dredging work to improve drainage.

Committee member Anna Smail said the township generates an estimated $15,182,000 in milk and cash crops each year. "Imagine the increase dollar-wise if we could get our drainage working properly," she said.

Whitteker told committee members he thought they were going about the process of lobbying for drainage improvements "the right way", but that the conservation authority's number one project at present is work in the Plantagenet flood zone. "I think you have to look at it through the eyes of the whole South Nation," he said.

According to SNRCA general manager Jim Windsor, the committee's statement on the invitations to the meeting that the South Branch isn't on the authority's current list of projects was misleading. Preliminary survey work on the branch has already been carried out by authority staff, he noted.

Windsor said the rerouting of the South Branch into the undredged portion of the South Nation, after a new bridge was installed on County Road 5, was not the responsibility of the conservation authority. The decision to do so was made by the Ministry of Natural Resources, he said.

"I think it's important that we get together and find a mechanism to make things work,"

MPP Villeneuve told the meeting that additional money from the provincial government for drainage projects is available. Alvah Hanrahan, assistant to MP Norm Warner, who was unable to attend the meeting, said Warner is concerned about the flooding problem and intends to find out if federal funding can be obtained.

Bill Tupper to oppose new boundary proposal

OTTAWA — The latest proposed changes to the federal electoral boundaries for Eastern Ontario announced last week in the House of Commons sits fine with one MP affected, but has raised strong objections from another.

The report released last week by the Federal Electoral Boundaries Commission, the body responsible for revising the way federal ridings are situated, revised the original proposals as a result of hearings held in November and December in eight cities across Ontario.

The latest proposal changes keep most of Stormont-Dundas intact, with the exception of the Township of Charlottenburgh, which will be returned to Glengarry-Prescott-Russell.

Although many people in that affected area would prefer to stay with Stormont-Dundas, MP Norman Warner said that the solution seems reasonable to him.

"If they have to reduce the size of the riding I'm glad they decided to keep the entire counties of Stormont-Dundas together," said Warner from his office here Monday.

Even though the constituents will be represented in another riding, he added that he would probably still be in contact with many Charlottenburgh and St. Regis area residents.

"Many of those people know me well, and if they have a problem I'll still listen to their concerns even though they're not formally in my riding," he said.

The proposed changes also include the formation of several new riding names in Ottawa-Carleton. Population growth in the present district of Nepean-Carleton and Ottawa-Carleton required the addition of a new district called Nepean.

Lanark-Renfrew-Carleton is re-named Lanark-Carleton and the rest of the district is divided into Carleton-Gloucester, Nepean and Ottawa-South.

But MP Bill Tupper, who represents the existing riding of Nepean-Carleton, feels the outer-ring effect the commission has created with its latest proposal, is not logical for those constituents who naturally flow to the city.

Instead, Tupper would like to see the outside ridings pie-shaped around the metropolitan Ottawa-Carleton region, to maintain some contact with the area, people in Gloucester, Orleans, Cumberland, Rideau and Osgoode flow toward.

He also said he couldn't understand why the commission didn't make some major changes to the proposal once it saw the opposition to the first change.

"The objections at hearings in November seemed unanimously opposed to this revision, and yet there have been no substantial changes in this interim report," Tupper said on Tuesday.

"The constituents on the extreme outer edges of the riding have nothing in common together," he added.

Tupper plans to launch a formal objection to the proposal, but he admits he doesn't know what it'll bring. "I'm confident the standing committee will listen to our objections, but I have no feeling for what the commission will do," he said.

He also added that he won't decide on what area to represent in the next election until the commission releases its final report sometime in late June or early July.

Members have 30 days from April 7 to object to the proposals. But the changes will become law automatically without further review of Parliament once the final report is written.

Board, Township to share

METCALFE — Osgoode Township mayor Albert Bouwers met recently with Carleton Board of Education (CBE) representatives to discuss the sharing of resources such as libraries and recreational facilities.

Bouwers, CBE superintendent Lyle MacLennan and trustee Carol Parker discussed the proposition in principle, said the mayor, and speculated the Osgoode library, which is in need of renovation, might be a good place to start. The school also requires increased facilities, and possibilities for co-operation exist, he told council at last Tuesday night's regular council meeting.

On the library board's report, too, was the prediction of a requirement to spend money on the Vernon building which is costing too much to heat, according to board member and councillor Mary Cooper.

In other business, council pledged its co-operation with the Melenhorst family who plan to try a new method of getting manure to their fields. The piping used in the system will have to be laid across Regional Road 29, south-west of Kenmore and could necessitate the closing of the road for one day.

Council explained that closing the road presents difficulty, especially in May when school buses rely on the road for their routes, but that it is possible a ramp can be rigged to protect the piping and still allow slowed traffic through the area.

Another proposed business enterprise was discussed at council and scheduled for a further meeting with Planning Advisory Council. Campground owner Phil McEvoy plans to erect a dry slide, similar to the Avalanche at Lansdowne Park, Ottawa, to complement his water slide.

The slide, approximately 150 feet long, will allow young children who might be afraid of the larger water slide, to enjoy a day's fun at the park, commented McEvoy in an interview last week.

Happy birthday to us ...

Centennial comes as a surprise

This issue marks quite a milestone in the history of the Winchester Press.

Operating under the assumption that the Press was founded in 1888, our staff thought we were about to enter our 100th year of publication and was making suitable preparations.

A search through some old files revealed that the paper was actually established in 1887, making this our 100th anniversary issue. A copy of the "flag" from a 1929 issue (at right) shows the founding year as 1887.

This week we asked Ran Wylie, an employee at the Press for over 50 years, to share with our readers some memories of the early days. See the story on page 3.

Battle looming over quarry plan, reeve predicts

MAPLE RIDGE — If the Winchester Township reeve's predictions prove true there'll be more controversy than stone coming from a proposed quarry.

"I can see we'll have a battle," said Reeve Gerald Holmes at a township council meeting here Monday night. "It will turn into quite a controversial matter before it's done."

Council approved in principle the rezoning of the proposed quarry site for David Grant of Cornwall Gravel Ltd. The land, at the south end of Concession 9 by the Winchester-Finch Township border is presently zoned for agricultural use.

In order to have a quarry the land must be zoned for mineral extraction. "This is not very good farm land," Grant said. It is quite rocky and rock is exposed in several areas, he explained.

"It won't be a very active site," he added. He estimated about 100,000 tonnes of stone will be hauled out annually.

"That's what they all say," Holmes said jokingly.

Holmes told Grant he wasn't against the quarry but maintained throughout the discussion there would likely be objections made by residents close to the site.

Hit and run driver sought by detachment

CHESTERVILLE — Police here are still investigating a hit and run incident in the village that left a bicycle driver with minor injuries and $50 in damages to the bike.

On April 11, the car and bicycle collided at the intersection of Main and Mary Streets in Chesterville.

Gregory Leclair, 22, of Chesterville was making a left turn from Main St. onto Mary, on his bike, when he collided with an eastbound vehicle approaching the intersection.

When Leclair fell off the bike, the motor vehicle left the scene. Const. Kevin Kennedy is investigating, but no information has become available leading to the identity of the vehicle.

On April 6 a two-car collision occurred on Highway 43 east of Highway 31 in Winchester Township. Algernon Crummey, 75, of Lasalle, Que., was eastbound on Highway 43 in his 1986 Plymouth, overtaking a 1986 Chev driven by Peter Hudz, 51, of Ottawa when the accident occurred.

The vehicles collided when Hudz's vehicle began a left turn, while Crummey's vehicle was in the process of passing it.

Damage to Crummey's vehicle was estimated at $4,000, while Hudz's vehicle sustained approximately $700 damage. As a result of the investigation conducted by Const. Mary Lyons, Peter Hudz was charged with a turn not in safety.

On April 10 a two-vehicle collision at the intersection of County Road 7 and the Winchester-Russell Boundary Road in Winchester Township resulted in injuries and approximately $8,000 damage to the involved vehicles.

Roy Anderson, 39, of Morewood, was operating his 1983 Olds southbound on County Road 7, while Adrien Cloutier, 94, of Crysler, was northbound on County Road 7 in a 1981 Buick.

The collision occurred when Cloutier's vehicle began a left turn towards the boundary road across the path of Anderson's.

As a result of this collision, Anderson's vehicle sustained approximately $5,000 damage, while Cloutier's vehicle sustained approximately $3,000 damage. Both drivers and all occupants were also injured.

Adrien Cloutier was charged with a turn not in safety in an investigation conducted by Const. Martin Berlin.

Liquor related offences increase

With the arrival of the warm weather the number of liquor-related offences has also started to increase.

Over the past weekend officers of the Winchester Detachment investigated nine occurrences involving the illegal consumption of alcohol. Over half involved having open liquor in vehicles.

Last weekend nine persons were charged under the Liquor Licence Act, and given fines totalling $63.75 for liquor in a vehicle and $53.75 for illegal possession or consumption not involving vehicles.

Land dispute continues

MAPLE RIDGE — Accused by local developer Steve Summers of "running scared", township council here has given one of its solicitors an ultimatum.

Either he finishes the necessary legal work for a land dispute involving Summer's development or they'll find someone else who will.

Steve Workman will have until Mon., April 20 to present his finished business to township council here.

The dispute between Summers and two residents near his Winchester Springs development has gone on for about half a year, said township clerk Nancy Krisjanis.

What is at issue is a road allowance bylaw which is part of a township plan registered in the 1800s. The dispute concerns the allocation of the road allowance between Summers and the residents.

Summers told council last week he didn't mind being patient but said he was just about getting to the end of his rope. "Why are you backing up and being afraid of it (the issue)," he asked council members.

Summers originally asked council to cancel the plan requiring the road allowance, so his development could proceed, but Reeve Gerald Holmes advised against it.

"I don't know whether we should just like that," he said. "It's not our battle."

"The road is in the middle of the lot, but it's holding me up. The lousy little 50 by 40 feet piece of property is holding me up," Summers said.

"I tried to get the problem solved."

Township clerk Nancy Krisjanis said township officials will be meeting with Workman today (Wed., April 15) and a settlement looks promising.

"It was kind of a mixed up deal," she said.

Correction

In a front page story of the Press last week, it was incorrectly stated that a loud speaker system to be purchased this year for Mountain's recreation department would go to the Mountain Ball Park. It will in fact, be available for all recreation groups to use. The fire department's request for $6,000 in salaries this year, is also not an increase from other years. And, the 28 per cent increase mentioned with reference to the recreation budget in 1986 was only a proposed amount. In fact, township council trimmed the increase to 4.5 per cent in its final budget. The Press apologizes for these errors.

Council throws cold water on doctor's request for clinic

METCALFE — Osgoode Township council dismissed Dr. Louis O'Connell's hopes of establishing a medical clinic on his rural property at Tuesday night's regular council meeting.

O'Connell is proposing to locate a clinic next to his home south of Greely. The property's current zoning permits agricultural uses, but not a medical clinic.

O'Connell has approached the township's planning advisory committee for permission to erect the clinic, but was told the zoning didn't permit this use. He is seeking a zoning change.

Councillors argued Monday night that O'Connor's land is in an unsuitable location for the use he proposes. The lot is south of Greely, the community O'Connell proposes to serve. According to the councillors, the established traffic pattern runs north to Ottawa and south to Greely.

O'Connell said he was willing to take the risk of setting up the clinic outside this pattern because the success or failure of a doctor's office would not depend as much on location as for a retail establishment. Word of mouth would be a more important factor than location, he added.

O'Connell emphasized the importance to the Greely community of having a doctor's residence adjacent to the clinic. Few doctors are willing to live near the office, he said, and it would mean an increased level of service for the patients.

Council members said the suitability of the site was not the only factor in their reluctance to approve rezoning. Mayor Al Bouwers also said council had reservations about locating a facility that will generate a high traffic volume on a road that has not been upgraded. If the doctor establishes his practice there, said Bouwers, requests to upgrade the road would be likely to follow and would increase expenses for township ratepayers. The extra costs would be supporting an individual commercial enterprise, said Bouwers.

One note of hope for O'Connell, according to Bouwers, is the opportunity to appeal the decision of the planning advisory committee and council to the Ontario Municipal Board.

Medical centres figured highly in Monday's meeting, with council also proposing not to renew the lease on the Metcalfe-area medical centre on Highway 31, but to sell it, possibly to the medical practioners currently occupying the space.

When the space was originally converted from a school, council leased it to the Metcalfe and District Lions Club, which performed extensive renovations and worked to attract medical and dental practitioners to the area.

Breast self-examination clinic to be held at WDMH May 6

WINCHESTER — Next year the Canadian Cancer Society (CCS) predicts that 10,400, or one in 11 women in Canada will have breast cancer.

The hard and true fact is that of these women, CCS says a third will not recover from treatment and will probably die.

What's probably more astonishing is that if the cancer is diagnosed at an early stage, before it's been allowed to spread, doctors predict an 85 per cent recovery rate, says Diane Withnall, a registered nurse and past chairman of education in Ontario for CCS.

Many of the early warning signs of breast cancer can be caught by women doing regular breast self-examinations, says Withnall. "Even though 85 per cent of lumps in the breasts are cysts or infections, and not cancerous, they should still never be self-diagnosed, she stresses. "Women should always check it out with their doctor."

But self-examination might not be the best preventive measure anymore. Even though a woman might be able to find a lump when it's only the size of a pea, "it's probably been growing there for three to 10 years," said Withnall.

Mamography, a special x-ray for the breast and something that's only used now on women diagnosed with cancer, might become a common means to prevent the deadly disease in the future.

However, Withnall stresses that self-examination is still the best way for women to diagnose cancer in the early stages at present. "Mamography might become more common practice if studies prove that it can catch cancer at an earlier stage, but it's costly and the results of the study won't be complete for another few years," she explains.

To help women who don't already know how to examine their breasts for lumps, Withnall will teach nurses here at the hospital how to teach others at a clinic to be held here on May 6.

The clinic is designed to teach women how to examine themselves. "There won't be any examinations by doctors," says Astrid Bierworth, the organizer of the clinic.

Four registered nurses trained by Withnall, will be available on May 6 from 3-5 pm and again from 7 to 9pm in the conference room of the hospital to assist with teaching the technique, says Bierworth.

The technique will be taught in private cubicles set up in the conference room and toys will be available for the children, she says.

"If there's any problem, Winchester physician Dr. Katherine Darbyshire has agreed to assist," Bierworth adds.

Today, between 55 and 60 per cent of breast cancer patients survive five years as compared to 43 per cent in the 1950s, so research seems to be paying off.

Withnall stresses that if women are in a high risk group they should be regularly checking their breasts for lumps and any other unusual changes such as dimpling of the skin.

Women in the high risk category are those with a family history of breast cancer, previous patients diagnosed with cancer elsewhere in the body, older women over 50, women who eat high-fat diets and those who have never had children.

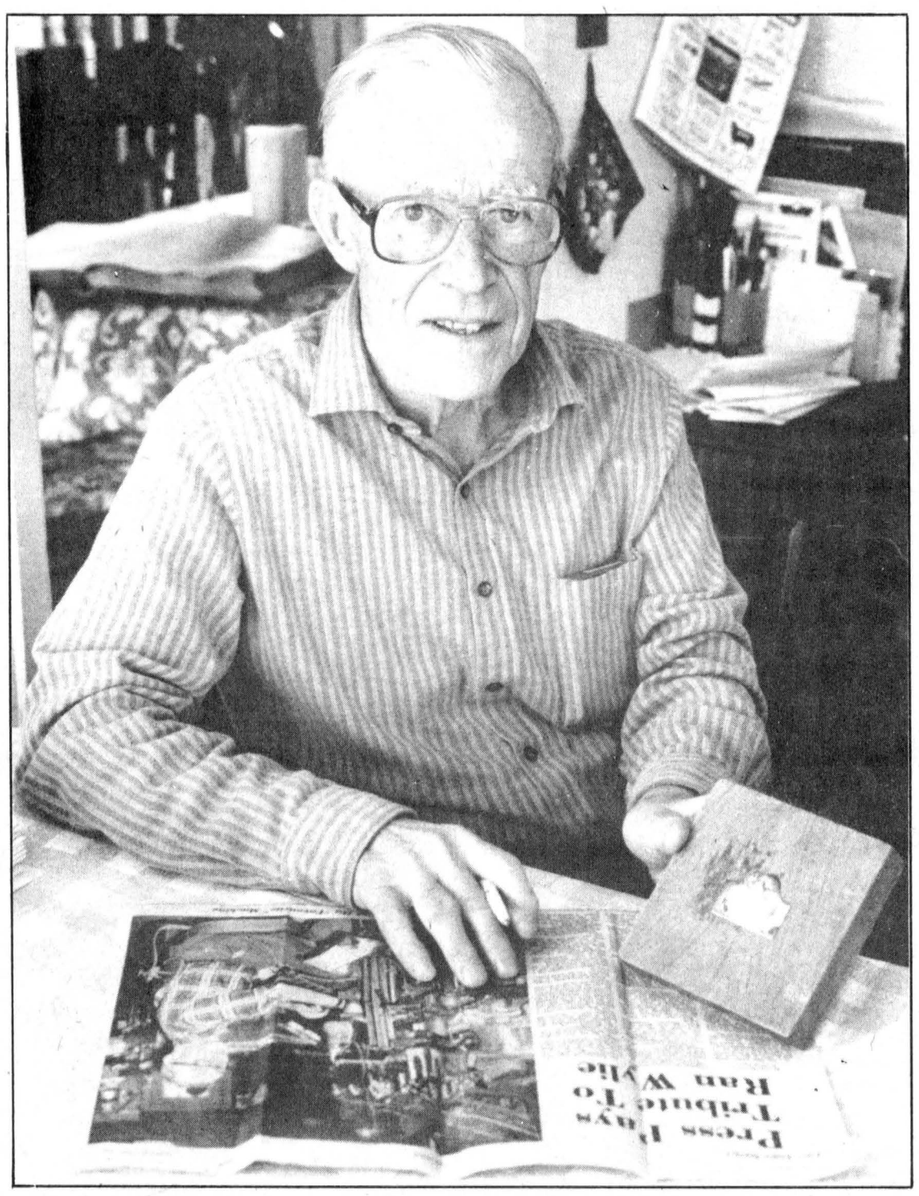
Through the pages of the past



A way with words

Ran Wylie displays a copy of the Press story written in 1979 to mark his 50th year as a printer, and a special plaque given to him by Press employees. The metal plate on the plaque is actually a make-up rule, used in the days when type was set in place by hand, one letter at a time. Over the course of his career, Ran witnessed dramatic changes in the technology of newspaper production and printing.

Oldest link with paper's history recalls early days at the Press

WINCHESTER — When the April 25, 1929 issue of the Winchester Press hit the newsstands, readers were eagerly awaiting the second installment of a continuing story called "The Desperate Lover" by E. Phillips Oppenheim.

The editorial page in that issue noted that chicken thieves had so far stolen between $3,000 and $4,000 worth of poultry in Matilda Township alone.

An advertisement placed by M. Bailey, local agent for Durant Motors of Canada, announced that passenger cars were available from $675 up to $2,095.

Another item of news which somehow escaped mention in the paper was that the Press had just hired a new employee named Ran Wylie. Although no one knew it at the time, this was a significant event. The 16-year-old printer would be a faithful employee of the Press for the next 50 years.

In 1929, the Press had a circulation of over 1,000. The paper had been founded in 1887 by Byron Lane, who had taken over the office of a publication called the West Winchester Directory, edited by E.L. White. Lane was succeeded as editor and publisher by George C. Lacey, who later owned the Chesterville Record.

When Ran Wylie started work at the Press, the paper was owned by James H. Ross, who had taken over the modest operation in 1915. Other employees were Fern Workman, who had begun his career at the age of 15 and would later own the paper and pass it on to his sons, and a girl named Della Barkley (known today as Della Reid). A second printer, Reg Barnard, was hired later.

Ran, then a student at the high school in South Mountain, had heard from a neighbor that there would soon be an opening at the paper because a female employee was leaving to get married. "I failed chemistry that year," he recalls. "I got to running around too much." Ran took advantage of the inside information and on April 19, 1929, he was hired.

In those days, type was set by hand, one letter at a time. Ran recalls he spent his first afternoon at the paper memorizing the California type case, in which the pieces of type were kept. "In a day or so, you'd get onto it."

Weekly newspaper technology has changed dramatically since those early days, but perhaps the most significant change in 50 years was the linotype machine. The Press got its first linotype, a machine which set type automatically through a process that cast column lines in lead, in 1932.

The machine became available at that time because the Cornwall Standard had amalgamated with the Cornwall Freeholder, leaving one surplus linotype. Although a linotype would be regarded by most journalists today as somewhat "prehistoric", it was at the forefront of modern technology 50 years ago. "You did get a certain amount of speed out of it," says Ran.

There were other changes as well. The firm's first printing press was operated "by pumping it with your foot," according to Ran. A motorized press soon replaced it.

Newspaper technology took another major step in the 1960s, with the introduction of photographic typesetting and offset printing. It was a big change, Ran remembers, "but it was so much handier."

Regardless of the technology used to produce the newspaper, says Ran, the Press came out every week — although sometimes it came out a little late. On one occasion in 1943, a severe ice storm caused a power failure on production day. The work that was in progress had to be taken by car to the Morrisburg Leader office to be finished — and the work lasted the rest of the night. "I think that would be the worst time that I can remember," says Ran.

After 50 years as a printer, Ran was honored by Press staff in 1979 at a "roast" in the Winchester Lions Hall. He received commemorative plaques from publishers Reg and Ron Workman, and from the provincial government. He also received the prestigious Gold Quill award from the Canadian Community Newspapers Association — an award usually reserved for editors and publishers.

In 1979 it was estimated that over the course of 50 years, Ran had set more than six million words and worked on more than 2,600 issues of the Press. He has been retired since 1981.

As the Press reaches the century mark, Ran can look back on more than half of that time-span and reflect on the changes that have come to the newspaper and the community it serves. As the letter he received in 1979 from Premier William Davis stated: "your long and devoted association with the firm has spanned a full half-century, and your expert skills ... have contributed immeasurably to building maintaining the reputation for quality work that characterizes the Winchester Press."

Co-operation needed

A public meeting to discuss Matilda Township's drainage problems Monday night gave the issue a thorough airing, but brought no promises from the politicians who attended that there can be a solution in the near future.

No one who travelled in the township during one of the floods that plagued last year's growing season can deny that the farmers living along the South Branch of the Nation River face serious problems. Farmer Henry Zandbergen, a member of a local committee lobbying for action to control the flooding, told those who attended the meeting that carp were swimming in his corn fields at one point last summer.

The committee, made up of township farmers and council members, feels the South Branch must be dredged as soon as possible to alleviate crop losses from summer flooding. Members have argued rightly or wrongly, that the South Nation River Conservation Authority has not given sufficient priority to the problem.

According to SNRCA general manager James Windsor, who attended Monday's meeting, the authority will have to get together with the committee to find answers. Representatives from SNRCA pointed out that survey work on the South Branch has already been done, but that a project at Plantagenet remains the authority's first priority this year.

Dredging work to improve drainage in the township could cost over $1 million, and it is clear that co-operation between all levels of government is essential for such a project to get off the ground. The Chesterville channelization project completed in 1984 required joint federal-provincial and local participation under the Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Agreement. While work on the South Branch would be more modest in scope, it would be unreasonable to expect all the funding to come from one level of government.

The local committee has done a commendable job so far in gathering information and presenting proposals to remedy the problem of summer flooding in the township. It is now up to our representatives to take their concerns seriously and help to ensure the continued productivity of some of the best agricultural land in Eastern Ontario.

The life of Riley

by Wayne Riley

With the snow barely off the ground and hockey players still on the ice, it seems incredible that anyone would be thinking about gardening.

Yet my wife, whom I have long suspected to be a vegetarian (why else would someone consistently grow tomatoes without any meat to them?), has already picked out her seeds, set out the shovel by the garden and mentally pictured the crops that will flourish there.

It does not matter that last year's carrots, some of which measured almost three inches in length, had to be carved out of the five foot by six foot slab of modelling clay we call a garden because all the tops were pulled off.

It does not matter that the entire bean crop was wiped out by a one-year-old girl in less than 10 minutes.

It does not even matter that most of the seeds that were planted did not bother growing at all, leaving the garden looking like a botched hair transplant.

My wife planted new hopes last fall and optimism has grown.

To understand the delirium of gardening fever, one has to know some of the basic gardening terms:

GARDEN: This is the dirty spot in the lawn where the weeds grow. At its best, a garden becomes a monument to the wonder of nature, a stage where the drama of life is played out, a place where salads and side dishes grow from tiny seeds. At its worst, a garden is an underworld into which the innocent go, never to be seen again.

SEEDS: Seeds are baby plants. They are identified by pictures on the envelopes in which they are sold. The pictures are meant as a challenge, a sort of Rubik's Cube of horticulture. Can the gardener produce a round red tomato like the picture or will he get one that looks like Mount Rushmore on a rosy summer afternoon.

WEEDS: Weeds are seeds gone bad. They have no respect for property lines, loitering all over the garden. Left unchecked they will resort to worse crimes, sometimes even choking an innocent plant to death.

RAIN: Generally speaking, this is what comes out of the garden hose. Rain is very important for the growth of plants, which makes you wonder why gardening is done during the driest part of the year. Once again, it is the challenge.

INSECTS: Insects are the things gardeners take their frustrations out on, buying products like Slug Death and Slug Destruction to carry them out. Partners of gardeners are thankful to have the insects around.

VEGETABLES: Rich in variety, shape, color and taste, these are things found in the produce department of supermarkets and at roadside vegetable stands. Cheap and plentiful during the summer, they complement any dish.

GARDEN VEGETABLES: Extremely rich in variety and shape, these things are found in home gardens. Expensive when all costs are considered and rarely plentiful, they are served in small portions to make the harvest last.

It is the combination of these things that makes gardening the exciting, challenging hobby it is. Small wonder my wife can't wait to get out and started.

This week in . . .

A few helpful hints were published in the Press this week. Always take for granted that the other driver is a fool. You can't get hit if you're out of the way. Don't get the idea that your car is the fastest thing on the road, death is very swift. Remember that gas mixes with love no better than it does with liquor, and don't think the speed cop can't catch you, that's the way he makes his living.

1937

Over 150 members of the Canadian Legion were present at a special Vimy banquet in the village township hall. It was sponsored by the local No. 108 of the British Service Empire League.

On April 1, rural telephone rates were reduced by 25 cents per month to $3 per year. Other reductions included hand cradle telephones reduced from 30 cents to 15 cents per month, inside move charges were reduced from $2 to $1.

In a vote of 12-4 Winchester merchants voted in favor of keeping their businesses open late Friday night and closing them earlier on Saturday. The vote represented the majority of feelings and was held at a well-attended meeting of the chamber of commerce chaired by Walter MacDonald, president. The trend toward Friday night opening was quickly sweeping the province and having its effects on local retail outlets, as merchants tried to compete with larger stores.

1967

Three Osgoode Township High School students were participating in the Miles for Millions walk for OXFAM in Ottawa this week. George Scharf, Ewan Alexander and Beth Patterson started out at 9am and finished 12 hours and 40 miles later at 9:30 pm.

North Dundas District High School debators proved themselves the best in Eastern Ontario. Out of 18 affirmative and negative debating teams from all over this part of the province, the North Dundas senior and junior debators placed first with Brockville and Loyalist of Kingston. The top senior team of Judy Pringle and Brian Racine defeated Mountain, Osnabruck and two teams from Kingston Collegate.

Agriculture Minister Eugen Whelan announced the new federal dairy policy this week. The main features of the policy administered by the Canadian Dairy Commission were, the increased support price for butter from $1.08 to $1.18 and from 68 cents to 70 cents for skim milk powder. The program was worked out between the provinces and producers and would strengthen the industry by leading to stability in future years, Whelan said.

The 9,200 students affected by the teacher walk out in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Board of Education were pressuring the board this week to settle the dispute or accept voluntary arbitration. The 553 teachers took strike action against the board after failing to reach an agreement on working conditions in a new contract retroactive to September 1976.

Letters

Safer PCB storage, transport wanted

The Editor:

This letter which I have directed to Tom Campbell, chairman of the board, Ontario Hydro, is being released simultaneously to members of the media.

I am writing to you as chairman of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education in the hope of expressing our concern as trustees and, indeed, as a board of education relative to imminent plans of Ontario Hydro to store PCBs (polychlorinated biphenols) at the Robert Saunders Generating Station.

We have been made aware of the uses of these particular PCBs in oil used in your electrical transformers and are equally aware of the need to remove them from the transformers and arrange for storage pending government action in regard to safe disposal methodology. We are equally, however, aware of the powerful carcinogen that PCBs represent.

Having witnessed the spill in Northern Ontario last year and having been made aware of the possibility of the recurrence of such a spill as well as the possibility of undetected leaks in storage containers I strongly urge that all plans for the storage of the PCBs at the generating station be put in abeyance so as to safeguard the safety of our most precious asset - our students.

Until such time as safe, efficient methodology is accepted by all concerned for the disposal of such materials we strongly urge that such materials neither be transported to nor stored in our immediate jurisdiction.

I would appreciate your immediate attention and response to this urgent plea.

Yours truly,
Joe Gunn
Chairman of the Board

Ottawa Rough Rider fans out here in the valley of the Castor will be pleased to learn the club is back on track and will have an exciting entertainment package to offer this coming season. For years it appeared those in control forgot there were actually knowledgeable supporters residing outside the 'concrete jungle'. That's all changed. Last week, on extremely short notice, we contacted friend Moe Racine requesting a guest speaker. No problem! Twenty-four hours later we had a call assuring us Wayne Giardino would be happy to dine with Lions Club members. Listening to the former linebacker reminded us of days when Bob Simpson, Doug Collins, Russ Jackson, Ron Stewart and other stars of the past were familiar and welcome guests at community functions in valley towns. And Wayne didn't leave empty-handed either. We're betting early the following morning he was in General Manager Robson's office displaying blueprints of ingenious strategy hatched in the mind of long-time Vernon season ticketholder Bill Porteous. Bill says the play proved a winner when he played for Winchester High School. Thanks for coming Wayne. You're always a welcome guest at dinner meetings ... even if you are a neighbor of 'Tiger Cat Reg' over at Almonte.

Occasionally, in this space, we include reference to highly skilled players who compete in the weekly six-hand euchre marathon at Enniskerry. Naturally, being the modest type, we purposely make absolutely no mention of the fact our team is always in the upper echelons when standings are released. One might very easily get the false impression that dealing cards; recklessly pounding tables; and scowling at the underhanded tactics of opposing players is not an educational pastime. Perhaps not --- but for those of us who have 'mastered' the game and take time to listen, we can assure you there is indeed, plenty of 'idle gossip'. Yes ... that's right ... the women play too! And sometimes, in the heat of battle with a 'mitfull' of jokers, the fair ladies pour out their woes. One sharp lass (married to a farmer) tossed caution to the winds recently and brought along a copy of the 'contract' her husband had her sign on their wedding day. Although she has faithfully honored every clause she admits there were times when she wondered if, perhaps, she should have studied the thing more carefully. We think she deserves an 'Oscar' for courage and fortitude (at Enniskerry they call them 'Lynns'). We'll let you be the judge. Here's a condensed version of that historic document signed so long ago. I hereby promise: 1. To remain attractive with a strong constitution, good teeth, even temper, and always prepared to work with efficiency and flair at lovemaking, child-rearing, sewing, cooking, housecleaning, and interior decorating. 2. That additional duties will include family letter writing, sending Christmas cards, birthday cards and the purchase of appropriate gifts for such occasions. 3. To produce, at a moment's notice, all calf-breeding data, dates of sales, and previous year's records. 4. To always remove from pants pockets and top of dresser all expense bills and properly file for income tax purposes. 5. To work tirelessly and obediently from 6am to 11pm seven days a week. 6. That my one holiday each year will not interfere with my household duties and care of children. 7. That I will not allow my hobbies to interfere with such regular duties as gardening, canning and lawn mowing. 8. To clearly understand there will be no salary, sick leave, social security or pension plan but that I will be provided with room, bed and food provided I keep room clean and share both bed and food. 9. To maintain a good sense of humor and be able to distinguish between nagging (my complaints) and constructive criticism (your complaints). 10. To thoroughly understand that you have the privileges to terminate this contract at any time should a better prospect appear on the horizon. 11. To produce a notorized certificate of sanity, issued by a qualified psychiatrist, to prevent me from entering a plea tha I was 'out of my mind' when I signed this agreement. Of course, we don't reveal your name Phyllis. But now we understand why you laugh so hard every time Chris is 'euchred' on a lone hand.

NDDHS mathematicians improve ranking of school

MAPLE RIDGE — North Dundas student Randy Byers has proven he counts.

The Grade 10 student from Winchester placed 43rd out of almost 19,000 Canadian participants in the annual Cayley math contest, sponsored by the University of Waterloo. Byers also ranked 28th among the 8,750 Ontario contestants.

North Dundas was one of more than 1,600 schools from across the country taking part in the Canadian Mathematics Competition. Nationally, this year's results and enrolments were the highest ever recorded.

North Dundas continued its own winning record as students from Grades 9, 10 and 11 distinguished themselves individually and in team competition.

The Grade 10 Cayley team placed first among SD&G high schools, a record it has lost only once in the past six years. (In 1985, it dropped to second.)

It improved on last year's fifth place performance in the Eastern Ontario district, jumping to second among 24 high schools.

Team members ranking on the district's honor roll included Byers (first), Ethan Hogg (30), Pamela Giles (37), David Lannin (62), Scott Helmer (78), Reg Laglois (79) and Allison Gibson (80).

In the Fermat contest for Grade 11 students, North Dundas achieved its seventh consecutive first place finish in SD&G. It ranked fifth among the 16 schools participating from Eastern Ontario.

The school's Fermat team's success in the district has ranged from first to seventh since 1982.

Team members attaining provincial honors and their district ranking were: Andrew Gruich (17), Leslie Durant (30), Michael Bouck (42), Donald Bowman (52), Richard Stewart (53) and Scott Melchior (58).

North Dundas' Grade 9 team, competing in the Pascal contest, also contributed to the school's winning record, placing second in SD&G and sixth among 27 teams from Eastern Ontario.

Placing on the district's honor roll were Glen Rodger (6), Lexie Arnott (32), Lori Durant (57) and Ashley Byers (76).

Scrabble en français

Dundas' best speakers

Joanne Coleman, second from right, a Grade 6 student from Chesterville Public, was judged the top speaker among 10 from across Dundas in the county's annual junior public speaking contest held Wednesday night in Elma. She received the champion's trophy from Bud Craik, chief of Winchester Township's Fire Department. Catie Clapp, left, a Grade 6 student from Winchester Public, placed third and Jason Garlough, right, from Elma Public was second.

Morrisburg wins scrabble tourney

WINCHESTER — A good game of Scrabble can be something of a challenge. For English-speaking students, the challenge is considerably greater when the game is played in French.

Eighteen teams from nine Dundas County public schools gathered at Winchester Public School Thursday for the third annual Dundas County Scrabble Championship for students in the core French program.

The Morrisburg Public School team were the winners in the one-day tournament with a score of 826 points. Winchester was second with 804 points and Dixons Corners placed third with 762 points.

Teams from Chesterville, Elma, Inkerman, Iroquois, Morewood and Riverside Heights public schools also took part. Each team was made up of four students in Grades 5 and 6.

Fencepost Players solicit entries for one act play

SPENCERVILLE — Area theatre goers will be getting 'three for the money' in this year's production by the Fencepost Players.

The troupe is putting on three one-act plays this year because of the large number of would-be actors who came out for auditions. A total of 28 actors will be appearing in the three productions, the largest cast ever assembled by the Fencepost Players.

The show will take place Fri., May 8 and Sat., May 9 at Centennial '67 Public School in Spencerville beginning at 7:30pm. The first of three plays to be presented by arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing Co. of Chicage will be Once Upon A Shoe, a children's play by Joseph Robinette. Also on the bill is But Listen, a comedy drama by Susan Cottrell. The third play will be 'Oh What a Tangled Web' by John R. Carroll, a comedy.

Tickets for the show cost $3 for adults and $2 for children and are available in advance or at the door.

The Fencepost Players are also holding their second annual play writing competition. The first contest held last year was won by J. David Black of Cardinal with a play entitled 'The Municipal Palace of Variety.'

Entries this year are to be submitted by June 1 and organizers hope to select a winner by September. A panel of three independent judges will be looking for a comic one-act play, suitable for a family audience, which could be produced locally. The winner will receive a $75 prize plus an extra $25 if the Fencepost Players decide to produce the play.

Entries can be submitted to Ivah Malkin at RR1 South Mountain.

This tip will help you keep your barn neat and orderly, and prevent many possible accidents.

Most people use large nails in the barn wall to hold brooms, pitch forks and shovels up out of the way, but the least jar will cause them to fall down. If you have an electric welder, or access to one, make up half a dozen holders like the sketch above and your problems are over.

Boulders, Osgoode take other Old Hawks titles

WINCHESTER — The Winchester Capitals, sparked by John Ralko's overtime goal, the Boucks' Hill Boulders powered by Big Bruce Casselman's dramatic winning goal and Osgoode led by Paul Charlebois' two goal game emerged as division champions here Saturday evening.

The three clubs ended their 1986-87 hockey seasons on winning notes claiming a wagon load of Labatt prizes in the annual Winchester Oldtimer Hawks' oldtimer hockey tournament.

The Winchester Capitals won the Labatt 50 Division's (30 years and over) top prize, a division that tied three of its four teams for two playoff berths. The Capitals, who lost once in four games to the Harvex Huslers, outscored their opposition 14-9 in round robin play to earn one final game berth. Spencerville Hotel Blues, who dealt Harvex their only loss but lost 6-3 to the Capitals outscored their opposition 13-8 to take the other spot. Harvex defeated the Capitals 3-2, lost 4-1 to Spencerville but thumped the Cardinal Bulldogs 7-3 to finish just out of the running with 11 goals for and nine against.

In the Labatt's Blue Division (open age limit) the high scoring Ault Foods squad entered the final game with a perfect three win no loss record. But the Boucks Hill Boulders rolled over them posting a surprising 2-1 decision in the final match. The Boulders won one game by protest, lost 6-3 to Aults but made the final, posting a big 5-3 win over Newington.

The slightly gray (over 40) Labatt Classic 40s Division champions were the Osgoode old Pride squad who trimmed Greely's Wiser Guys 5-2 in the grand finale Saturday night.

MVP PRIZES

Winchester Capitals' goalie Steve 'Bear' Johnston and two goal shooter in his club's 4-3 win over Spencerville John J.R. Ralko received Labatt's MVP awards for their efforts in the Labatt 50 Division final.

Stellar goalkeeping by Boucks Hill Boulder Steve 'Twister' Guy, who was as solid as a rock in the nets, and Big Bruce Casselman's winning goal, earned that pair MVP statues in their "Blue" final 2-1 win over Ault Foods.

Paul Charlebois scored twice leading Osgoode to a 5-2 win over the Wiser Guys from Greely. His scoring and Roy McCooeye's goaltending earned them Classic 40 Division MVP honors.

CAPITAL DECISION

Winchester Capitals got two goals in the second half from Neil 'Smiley' Beckstead and two more from John Ralko en route to their 4-3 win over Spencerville. Ralko sent the Caps into a 3-2 lead when he scored from Pierre Beausoleil and Owen Shortt with 7:07 left in regulation time and then scored unassisted at 7:40 of overtime to give the Caps the tourney title in the "50" Division.

Bill Lawrence tied the game up with 4:23 left in the third period. Dave Valcour and Pete Hutton marked the other goals.

Spencerville reached the final defeating the Cardinal Bulldogs 6-1, Harvex Huslers 4-1 and losing 6-3 to the Capitals.

Caps lost their opener 3-2 to Harvex. Tom Kirkwood scored both goals while Phil Lyall scored twice and Richard Gilmer netted the winner for the Huslers.

They then beat the Cardinal Bulldogs 6-3 on Saturday. Tom Kirkwood was the big gun shooting in two goals and setting up two others. John Ralko and Don 'Bush' Crowder each had a goal and one assist. Larry Moore and Glen Taylor each scored once. Pete Filion and Pierre Beausoleil each drew two assists.

Winchester then made the final, doubling Spencerville 6-3 Saturday afternoon. John Ralko, Tom Kirkwood and Smiley Beckstead each scored twice in the win. Pete Filion (3), Owen Shortt (2) and Larry Moore (2) picked up all the assists.

BLUE WIN FOR BOULDERS

Bruce Casselman's goal set up by Bill Mullin with 4:15 left in regulation time lifted the Boucks Hill Boulders to their 2-1 win over Aults in the Blue Division final. Barry Casselman put the Boulders up early when he scored from Brian Moran and Doug Brunt at 5:44 of period one. Aults tied it up when Al McLean finished off a play started for him by Larry Moore and Geoff Summers at 13:37 of the second stanza.

Steve Guy was solid allowing the one goal. Aults' Dan Hogaboam had three wins on his record prior to the match.

Aults opened with a 12-1 win over Jiggers of Iroquois. Al McLean led the charge with four goals and two assists. Steve Sullivan and Curtis McMillan had two each while Pete Marriner scored once and set up four goals.

Pete Marriner's second goal of the game with 54 seconds left on the clock then lifted Aults to a 5-4 win over Newington. Al McLean also scored twice. Doug Duncan netted a single goal.

Al McLean (2), Curtis McMillan, Pete Marriner and Geoff Summers scored and Larry Moore picked up three assists for Aults.

Boucks Hill lost 6-4 to the Jiggers but won a protest over an ineligible player. They dropped a 6-5 decision to Aults but won 5-3 over Newington thanks to two goal efforts of Bill Mullin and Barry Casselman. Brian Moran scored the other and Bruce Casselman set up three goals.

CLASSIC FINALE

Paul Charlebois and Roger Duffy scored twice and Bruce Gilliland added a single as Osgoode defeated Greely's Wiser Guys 5-2 in the Classic 40 final.

Osgoode doubled Greely 6-3, tied Kemptville 1-1 and blanked Ottawa Queenswood 5-0 to reach the final game. The champs outscored their opposition 13-4 in record setting play.

Greely lost 6-3 to Osgoode, whitewashed Queenswood 4-0 and dumped Kemptville 5-2 in their round robin games.

Jets lead Rideaus by one game

METCALFE — The Jets will try and take a three games to one lead in their Eastern Ontario Junior B Hockey League semi-final with the Westport Rideaus here tonight (Wed., April 15) at 8:15pm when they host the Rideau-St. Lawrence Division champions.

So far this series has produced three 7-5 results with the Alex English Division champion Jets registering the first two. Westport took game three in Westport Sunday night.

In the EOJBHL's other semi-final set, the South Ottawa Canadians, Metro Division champs lead the Ottawa Valley champion Renfrew Timberwolves two games to one. South Ottawa took game one 9-7, Renfrew bounced back with a 7-5 decision in game two and the Canadians won game three 9-5.

The winners of the two semi-final sets will then clash in the Eastern Ontario Junior B championship best of seven final.

Metcalfe eliminated the Alexandria Glens four games to nil and then ousted the defending champion Char-Lan Rebels four to one to win the Alex English Division title.

Their semi-final opponents, Westport Rideaus eliminated the Kemptville 73s four games to one to claim their divisional title.

With five regular players out of action due to injury the Metcalfe Jets have been forced to add some late season assistance (three players from the Ottawa Valley Titans), but have still kept in step winning two of the first three games of their semi-final series.

Their first setback came Sunday in Westport when they dropped a 7-5 decision to the Rideaus.

The contest was deadlocked at one after the opening 20 minutes. Metcalfe took a 4-1 lead in period two but the Rideaus, led by scoring sensation Rob Parslow charged back to tie it up 4-4 before the second session had been completed.

Westport out-gunned the Jets 3-1 in the final frame to gain their first victory, a 7-5 decision.

Parslow led the winners with a three goal effort. Mark McCreary netted two while Terry French and Jim Vickers hit for singles.

Dean Usher scored Metcalfe's first goal from Pete Holmes. Mike Upton scored from Usher and Dave Warren to make it 2-1, newcomer Doug Clunie scored unassisted and Darcy Provost connected from Upton for the 4-1 lead.

Chris Lavallee netted Metcalfe's only third period goal on a play set up for him by Barry Stefureak and Mike Fournier.

POIRIER LEADS WITH SIX

Veteran forward Gary Poirier scored six times in Metcalfe's first two wins, both 7-5 decisions, as the Jets roared into a two nothing series lead.

Poirier scored twice in the first period of last Tuesday's 7-5 victory in Westport and snapped home another in the second frame.

He was right on target again in game two here last Friday scoring his second consecutive hat trick en route to the club's second straight 7-5 win.

Westport took an early 1-0 lead in game one as Barry Seed put a shot behind Doug Dobson at 15:21 of period one.

But the Jets zoomed into a 2-1 lead before the period was over. Gary Poirier scored back-to-back powerplay goals at 7:44 and 1:34 to give the Jets the lead. Brian Downey helped out on both markers. Pete Holmes and Barry Stefureak also drew assists.

A Westport powerplay goal by Barry Seed at 14:37 of period two knotted the count at 2-2 but before that session had been completed it was Metcalfe on top by a 6-4 count. Barry Stefureak, Gary Poirier, and Pete Holmes with two, connected for the Jets. Alain Robinson, Pete Holmes, Doug Provost, Brian Downey and Mike Fournier drew the assists.

Seed, Rob Parslow and Terry French all scored for the Rideaus.

Parslow hit for his second goal of the game at 13:29 of the final frame slicing Metcalfe's lead to 6-5 but Mike Upton cracked in the insurance marker on a fine unassisted effort at 6:22 to ice the win.

Doug Dobson made 35 stops for the win. Dave Wills and Rick Glen shared the loss. Wills handled 13 drives, Glen made 20 stops. Each team took 11 minor penalties.

ANOTHER 7-5 VERDICT

Jets got another three goal effort from Gary Poirier here Friday as they dealt the Rideaus another 7-5 loss.

Don Bissonette's powerplay goal from Brian Downey at 17:32 of period one gave the Jets a 1-0 lead but Rideaus' Paul Rogers made it even at 1-1 at 6:45. It was even at three after 40 minutes of end to end action. Mark McCreary gave Westport a 3-1 lead at 13:28 scoring on a powerplay. Gary Poirier hit from Sean Beckstead at 8:46 to tie it up at two. Barry Seed made it 3-2 Rideaus at the five minute mark but Dave Warren hit from Mike Fournier on a powerplay at 4:40 to make it 3-3 after two periods.

The clubs alternated goals throughout period three. Gary Poirier connected from Pete Holmes and Doug Clunie at 16:35 but Mark McCreary evened it up again at 13:18.

Pete Holmes turned a Dean Drevniok relay into a 5-4 Jets' lead at 10:53.

But Barry Seed pulled Westport even at five scoring from the Parslow boys (Rob and Russell) at the 8:52 mark.

Gary Poirier's third goal of the game, sixth of the series, with 2:04 left came from Holmes and Bissonette and proved to be the winner.

Dave Warren fired a Barry Stefureak relay into an empty net with nine seconds left to make it a 7-5 final.

Doug Dobson posted the win. Jets lost another player in the final stages of the game when Mike Pratt was assessed a match penalty (a three game suspension applies). Metcalfe took a dozen minors and Westport 10.

Hawks win MTHL title

METCALFE — John Melenhorst scored from Dave Vanderydt and Marc Cousineau at 9:34 of overtime to give the Cold Spring Country Inn Hawks a dramatic 6-5 victory over the pennant winning Wichers Bruins and the 1986-87 Metcalfe Town Hockey League championship.

Melenhorst's marker snapped a 5-5 tie and completed a four goal third period comeback his club mounted to erase a 3-1 Bruin lead.

Wichers' Bruins took the opening game of the final series posting a 5-4 score on April 8. The Hawks roared back into contention winning game two 3-1 on April 9. Sunday's 6-5 overtime decision handed the Hawks the '87 MTHL title.

The fourth place Hawks ousted the Dan Morris Leafs three games to nil in the semi-finals while the top ranked Bruins needed five games to get rid of the pesky Bradley Computax Bruins.

Fred Young scored twice, once on a penalty shot at 19:11 and again on a powerplay set up by Mike Stanley and Keith Benn at 9:41, in the first period of Sunday's third and final game to put the Bruins up 2-1 after a period. Dave Vanderydt scored from George Nesbitt at the 16:02 mark to put the Hawks on the board.

Paul Nooyen hit from Mike Stanley and Brian Wynn at 9:52 of period two to put the Bruins up 3-1.

But the Hawks came out with their guns blazing in period three and tied it up at three before the session was two minutes old. Fred Zlpning hit from Steve Wade and Erin Franey at 19:30 to cut it to 3-2 and then Wade tied it up when he put in his team's third consecutive powerplay goal at 18:54. Zlpning and Vanderydt set up that goal.

Kevin Downey's unassisted marker at 16:16 put the Bruins up 4-3 but the Hawks fourth straight powerplay goal at 9:45 evened things up again. Dave Vanderydt scored from Neil Quinn and Erin Franey on that play.

Bruins took a 5-4 lead with 4:31 left on the clock when Doug Hicks tipped in a Kevin Downey relay.

Once again the Hawks came back. Dave Vanderydt's second goal with 1:04 left in regulation came on a set-up from Neil Quinn and Erin Franey and made it a 5-5 contest.

John Melenhorst's goal at 9:34 of overtime eventually made champions of the Hawks.

GAME ONE

Doug Reaney's unassisted short-handed goal at 19:05 of period three was the winner in the Bruins' 5-4 victory in game one. Bruins scored two short-handed and two powerplay markers en route to the victory. The game was tied at one after a period but the Bruins led 4-2 after two.

Fred Young led the Bruins with two goals. Doug Reaney had a goal and one assist. Kevin Downey and Blake Morrison each netted a goal. Mike Stanley and Brian Wynn each had an assist.

Neil Quinn had two goals and one assist for the Hawks. Steve Wade scored a goal and set up another. George Nesbitt found the net once. John Melenhorst and Dave Vanderydt each drew an assist.

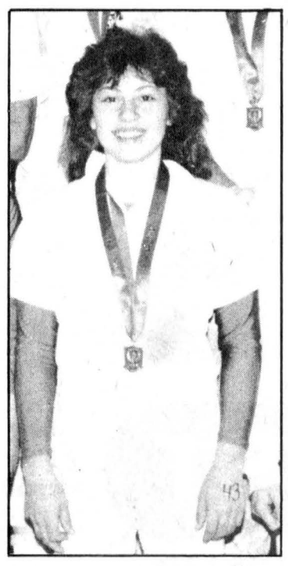
GAME TWO

The Hawks tied the series up at a game posting a 3-1 win in game two.

Kevin Downey scored the lone Bruin goal on a pass fed him by Brian Wynn at 7:12 of period two. That shot ruined Mike Preston's shutout.

Steve Wade and George Nesbitt set up Jude Cyr with the winning goal at 8:07 of the second frame. Erin Franey scored the first goal unassisted and Steve Wade scored at 19:36 of period three on a short-handed play started by Dave Vanderydt to make it a 3-1 final.

Scheuner earns high marks at All Ontario meet



Marianne Scheuner
9 points on uneven bars.

MAPLE RIDGE — North Dundas District High School welcomed their 1987 EOSSA champion gymnastics team home from this year's Ontario provincial championships in Toronto on Monday.

Although there were no medal winning performances to be reported, the school's representatives did distinguish themselves against the best high school gymnasts in Ontario.

Junior Marianne Scheuner, who claimed Best All Around Junior honors at EOSSA on April 1 here at NDDHS, set a school record in Toronto when she earned a mark of 9.00 on the uneven bars. It was the first time a North Dundas athlete had reached such a level. Senior Carol Graham earned an 8.8 during last year's Ontario meet to post an all-time high.

Scheuner's amazing mark of 9.00 was good enough for a sixth place in the event. The winner posted a 9.20 to take the gold. Marianne also picked up 8.10 marks in vaulting, good enough for 10th place among 56 girls.

Coach Fran Kelly was extremely happy with all of the team members noting they all posted above seven points in their events, and noted many or most girls earned over eight marks, "over eight at any other meet and the girls are in the top three or four but at the provincial level the differential in the marks is so small the final placings ranked them lower in the standings," she explained.

"Marianne's (Scheuner) nine was just .2 points behind the winner's mark, yet she was sixth which is the real indication of the stiffness of competition the girls were against," coach Kelly said.

The coach noted that most competitors at the Provincial level are from bigger schools and larger towns and cities and have had the opportunity of more experience at the club level, "here at NDDHS the girls shared one gym, two days a week with three basketball teams and two volleyball teams so their practice time was limited. Our aim is to give students exposure and coaching in this sport. To give them the opportunity to compete at this level," something the coach felt the girls had done a terrific job of. "They all have proven they can perform against top notch competition."

Coach Kelly also wanted to thank team competitors Shelley MacDonald and Cheryl Freda who used their valuable experience in the sport to assist other team members, "I really appreciated their help and I know the girls did as well."

Club "A" competitor Cheryl Freda injured her leg at EOSSA and couldn't compete at All-Ontario meet over the weekend. She accompanied NDDHS to Toronto as an assistant.

Senior champion at EOSSA, Carol Graham injured her hands warming up for her routine on the uneven bars and had to be scratched from that event. She recovered enough to earn an 8.65 (20th place) in vaulting, an 8.50 (20th) in floor exercises and a 7.65 on the balance beam, good enough for 30th in a field of 50.

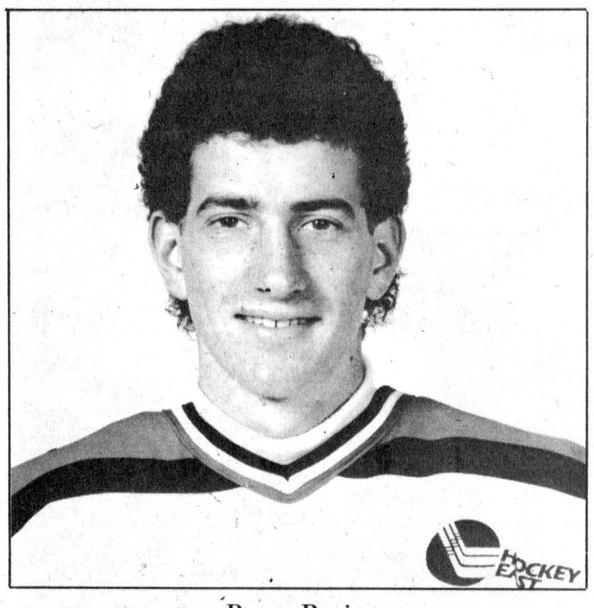
EOSSA Club B winner Shelley MacDonald earned 33.87 of a possible 40 points, including an 8.8 on the balance beam, and finished 17th of 43 girls in her division. The winner claimed the gold with a 36.47 total.

Junior Tracey Bothwell (third at EOSSA) was 14th in floor exercises with 8.3 points, the winning mark was an amazing 9.35.

Intermediates Marcie McClatchie (second at EOSSA), Janet Matthew (third at EOSSA) and Michelle Helmer (first at SD&G) all earned above eight points in their various routines. Helmer had an 8.35 in vaulting and was 31 of 56 in Ontario. McClatchie posted an 8.10 on the bars, a mark of 8.9 won the gold. Matthew posted an 8.43 in vaulting and 8.17 on the bars.

North Dundas Juniors Karen Gilroy had an 8.13 on the bars and a 7.75 in floor exercises while Marie Fazzino collected 7.05 points on the balance beam.

Metcalfe's Racine earns All America status



Bruce Racine

BOSTON, MA — Countless ultra-talented hockey players have passed through the old Boston Arena (now called Matthews Arena) here garbed in the red and black of the Northeastern University hockey Huskies.

Only three have earned college hockey's highest plateau, that of All America.

Make that four.

As of Fri., March 27, 1987, the distinguished Northeastern 'Academy of All Americas' includes centreman Art Chisholm and Sandy Beadle, and goaltenders Ray Picard and Metcalfe's Bruce Racine.

The coaches University Division All America First Team is as high as a college hockey player can climb without winning the Hobey Baker Award, bestowed each spring to the very best undergraduate skater in the United States.

Racine, a junior netminder at Northeastern and the son of former Canadian Football League Hall of Famer Moe Racine, was selected to the first unit along with defencemen Brian Leetch (Boston College) and Mark Benning (Harvard), and forwards Joe Nieuwendyk (Cornell), Lane McDonald (Harvard) and Craig Janney (Boston College).

Racine copped the honor in addition to an All Star berth on the Hockey East Association All-Conference squad.

"We were hoping and praying that Bruce would get his just rewards this year," commented Husky coach Fern Flaman, a former National Hockey League all star defenceman now in his 18th season at Northeastern. "Bruce was the backbone of our team and certainly proved he has the skills to someday play professional hockey."

Although the Huskies' season as a team paled in comparison to the individual performance of Racine, Northeastern did manage to finish with a flourish late this winter. The Huskies won six of their last seven games, including a 3-2 quarterfinal playoff victory over arch-rival Boston University.

The final record was a deceiving 13-21-3, an aggregate that included victories over NCAA Final Four participant Harvard (5-4, OT in the Beanpot), a 5-3 win over Hockey East Champion Boston College, and three victories over HEA Tournament runnerup Maine.

The Huskies finished fifth in the seven member HEA, behind Boston College, Lowell, Maine and Boston University.

Racine, who played his Tier II hockey with the Hawkesbury Hawks, shattered the University career saves record halfway through his third full varsity season. The 6'1", 170 pounder has now snagged some 2,845 enemy shots. This season, he posted a 3.99 goals against average, with a sparkling save percentage of .874 in 29 league games, with a 10-16-3 record.

Racine, an Arts and Sciences major at Northeastern, is a 1983 graduate of St. Pius Xth High School in Ottawa.

Harvex narrowly miss finals in Hawks Oldtimer tourney

WINCHESTER — Despite a winning record of two victories and a loss the Harvex Huslers just missed qualifying for the championship game in the Labatt's 50 Division of the annual Winchester Old Hawks Oldtimers Hockey tournament over the weekend.

Harvex opened their ninth tournament of the season with a come from behind 3-2 win over the eventual division champs, the Winchester Capitals. It was the lone loss of the tournament for the Caps.

Friday night the Huslers came out flat and dropped a 4-1 decision to the Spencerville Hotel Blues but finished on a high note Saturday outscoring the Cardinal Bulldogs 7-3. The Huslers needed a 10-2 win to qualify for the final game.

The Old Hawks' tournament closed the 1986-87 oldtimer hockey season for the Huslers, a very successful year marked with six tournament "A" championships in nine tries and just 11 losses and six ties in 74 games.

Harvex would like to thank all those players who filled holes in their roster for them throughout the season. Your help was very much appreciated.

Last Thursday the Huslers trailed the Capitals 1-0 after the first half, tied it up 1-1 early in the second stage, fell behind 2-1 but managed to pull off a 3-2 victory.

Tom Kirkwood scored both Capital goals scoring from Pete Filion and Neil (Smiley) Beckstead on both occasions, first at 7:20 of the first period and again at 10:34 of the second stanza.

Phil Lyall netted the first two Husler goals scoring from Dick Christie at 11:39 of period two and from Christie and Richard Gilmer at 5:24 to tie it up. Richard Gilmer fired in the winner with 4:17 left, scoring from Bob Peddle and Roger Swerdfeger.

Friday night the Spencerville Hotel Blues outhustled the Huslers 4-1. Ronnie Clarke scored twice for the winners, while Bill Lawrence and Dave Valcour added single goals.

Dick Christie scored the lone Harvex goal from Phil Lyall at 11:20 of period one.

The Huslers then needed a big 10-2 win, at least to beat out either Winchester or Spencerville for a berth in the 50 Division final. They started out with a 2-0 lead against Cardinal, but fell into a 2-2 tie at the half before making a run at it. The final 7-3 total left them short of the mark.

Bob Peddle led the charge with three goals and one assist. Dick Christie scored once and set up two goals. Pete McKay and Phil Lyall each had a goal and one assist. Richard Gilmer scored once. Gary Lapier (2), Brian Simpson, Jim Shaw (2) and Rodger Swerdfeger all drew assists. Grey Allen and Al Van Bridger failed to hit the scoresheet. Kevin Baldwin posted the victory.

Don Bird, Bill Mullin and Larry Cooke scored for the Bulldogs.

WDMHA presentations mark final chapter

WINCHESTER — Sun., April 12 marked the final official function of the Winchester and District Minor Hockey Association. With amalgamation between Winchester and Chesterville's systems approved and set to be organized, Sunday's closing parties marked the final chapter in the WDMHA's history.

The next time the awards are presented the function will be part of a new, as yet unnamed, minor hockey association.

Outgoing WDMHA president Bryan Helmer thanked his past executive for their support and hard work. Each member was introduced and presented with a special award.

President Helmer asked everyone to take note of the date, Mon., May 4 for the first organizational meeting of the new association. He urged the large turnout to attend the 7:30 session at Maple Ridge Public School and to get actively involved in forming the new association, "it's your association, make it work."

Sunday was divided into two sessions with the WDMHA's large contingent of novice players gathering in the afternoon in the arena hall. It was announced there, in front of a large turnout, that the senior novice Hawks, second place finishers in UCMHL play had earned the league pennant as the 1986-87 season's most sportsmanlike team, an accomplishment team manager Elzeon Raistrick said players, coaches and parents were very proud of.

Sunday evening parents and relatives filled the hall as Atom, Pee Wee and Bantam players were honored.

Coaches and players exchanged mementos of the season and gifts of appreciation during the hour-and-a-half long gathering.

ATOM

Coach Elwood Coons introduced his Atom Level III champion Hawks and thanked the team mothers, parents and assistants for making the year a successful one. Catie Clapp, the team's only female member, was voted Esso Medallion winner as the Most Improved player. Craig Arsenault was deemed the Most Sportsmanlike player and scoring leader Brendan Bumbaco the Most Valuable Player.

Level II and I Atom Hawks were introduced by coach Gray Allen. No individual awards were announced but gifts were presented.

PEE WEE

Junior Helmer and his Eastern Champion Pee Wee Level III Hawks were next on stage. Manager Rod Fluke passed out this year's awards which went to Greg Bell as Most Valuable Player, Phillip Burns - Most Sportsmanlike and Jason Ibbetson the Most Improved Player. Greg Bell also accepted the '86-87 coaches' award.

Coach George Bloom and manager Jack Gibson introduced their Level II team and presented awards to MVP - Shawn Backes, Bud Coulter Trophy - Dereck Holmes, Most Improved - Kevin Williams, Esso Medallion - Most Improved - Chris Oldford (second in scoring, nine minutes in penalties), Most Sportsmanlike, and to Trevor Barkley - Earl Casselman Trophy as the team's Best Defenceman.

Rosalind Drewery of Drewery Pontiac also made a special presentation to each player.

BANTAM

First year coaches Keith Moore, Geoff Summers and Sandy Johnston introduced their Bantam Level II squad and after presenting each player with a gift acknowledged Todd Halpenny as MVP, goalie Billy Zrymiak as Most Improved and Andrew Henderson as the Most Sportsmanlike player.

Winchester's Bantam A OPP Hawks handed out an armful of silverware. The team coached by Bryan Helmer and Bob Bruce and their assistants Brad Hanes and Al Van Bridger, presented Esso medallions to MVP - Dennis Ouellette, Sportsmanship winner - goalie Matt Giles and Most Improved Player - Tony Holmes.

Carleton Board of Education
PUBLIC EDUCATION AND YOU - FACTS & FIGURES

The introduction of Bill 30, extending full funding to the separate school systems in Ontario, may have affected the educational choice for your children. Effective January 1 this year, only those people who have designated their school taxes as public may send their children to public elementary school.

This means that if you are a separate school ratepayer, your children must attend a separate elementary school. Your children who are currently in a public high school may finish out their schooling in the public system. As well, all secondary school students have the option to attend the high school of their choice in either the public or separate school system, given normal boundary restrictions within either school board.

The Carleton Board of Education is proud of the quality of education provided to the 41,500 students under its care every school day. The quality of education provided to its students is second to none.

The "three R's" remain the cornerstone of public education. But there is so much more!

- Caring and dedicated staff
- High academic standards
- Student Codes of Behaviour in secondary schools
- Daily physical education in all elementary schools
- Special education for all in need
- Computer literacy with a high ratio of computers to students
- Programs in Technical & Vocational education that lead to the world of work or community college
- Co-operative education & ties with business
- Adult day school and continuing education

If you and your family are not already part of the public education system in Carleton, it is easy for you to join us. To change your taxes to become a part of the Carleton Board of Education family, you must do so on or before September 30, 1987 to be effective for the 1987 - 88 academic year. Please call our admissions office for details and help in changing over to the best in public education. If you do not have children in the school system but wish to support quality public education, you can do that by making sure your school taxes are designated public.

For full information, just call the Admissions Office of the Carleton Board of Education at 820-1820.

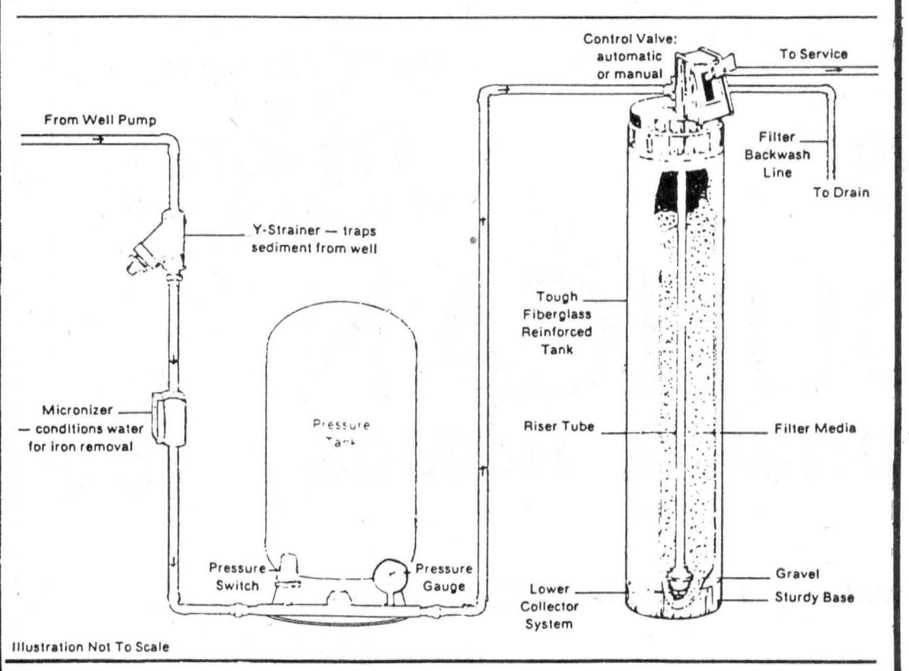
WHATEVER YOUR WATER TREATMENT REQUIREMENTS ARE
WE HAVE WHAT YOU NEED
The revolutionary Paterson Iron Remover for Water Systems!



HOW IT WORKS
The patented Paterson Iron Removal System consists of two components. A micronizer and a bed type filter containing a special filter media. The micronizer is a small device which is installed between the pump and the pressure tank. Everytime the pump runs, the micronizer blends a small amout of air into the water causing the iron to change into a colloidal form (very small insoluble particles). After passing through the pressure tank, the colloidal iron is collected by the media in the filter tank. Approximately once a month the filter media is backwashed for 5 minutes to rid it of the accumulated iron. Then, after a short 2 minute rapid rinse, the system is put back in service for another month of iron free water.

Under normal conditions no replacement of the filter media is ever required nor is there any need for the use of messy or dangerous salt of chemicals.

At last! A truly simple, safe, effective, method of removing iron from water "The Paterson" — a one time purchase that lasts a lifetime.

Frankly speaking

LAST COLUMN UNTIL MID MAY

The ice has gone from the arena and until the diamonds dry up and the grass needs cutting things quiet down a bit, so this is a good time to take a holiday. On Sunday Tom Douglas your old bartender and I leave for a British holiday returning May 5, so there will be a three-week period without Frankly Speaking. We realize that this will be a great burden on the three people who read the column, so we will fill you in on the events scheduled for the next few weeks until we return. This Saturday night the friends of Doug Coleman and Sandra Corneau are hosting a mixed party in honor of the young couple. Music by JVK Disco, admission $3 with age of majority. Next Sat., April 25 is the night when the Hawks give out their awards at their annual dinner and dance. On Fri., May 1 we host the big party for Dan McMartin and Debbie Smith in the upstairs hall. On Saturday the invited guests of Carolyn Ball and Keith Tanner will gather for the wedding party. On Fri., May 8 it's the Laurie Porteous, Gerry Wichers-Schreur party, while on Sat., May 9 the children and family of Charlie and Mabel Walker will hold a 45th wedding anniversary for their mom and dad. May 9 will be a busy one as the Winchester Men's Fastball League will hold an all-day tournament and dance on the ice surface that night. The Scouts will also be holding their bike-a-thon that day. Combined with all of the weekend happenings, many of the weeknights will be filled with registration and summer activity planning meetings, an auction on April 25, a fuel show by Graham Fuels on April 23, Junior Farmers meeting and ball hockey April 25, and an agriculture meeting April 30. The boys will be busy as there is much cleanup and preparing for summer activities to be done before the diamonds go full swing. Then it's on with the summer. See you in a few weeks, until then it's cheeryo, pip pip, and all that.

MEN'S BALL HOCKEY IN TROUBLE

Men's ball hockey always a popular summer sport has developed a major problem with a small turnout for registrations and if they are to carry on for the 1987 season they need 20 more players to make it worthwhile. In the chance that some people who were interested in playing but did not make the registration meeting, the boys will hold a registration at the arena again this Mon., April 20, from 7-9pm. If registrations do not come forth then ball hockey will be cancelled for this year.

Jean Poirier, MPP Prescott-Russell, presented Russell Ladies' Curling Club president Marilyn Sullivan with a special certificate of congratulations from Ontario premier David Peterson on the occasion of the ladies' curling club's 50th anniversary.

Mountain musings

by Shirley Mills

Suzanne Rose of Mountain Township (Dundas Dairy Princess in 1984), was guest speaker recently at the Inkerman United Church Women's regular meeting. Suzanne shared some of her experiences as a kindergarten teacher at the Indian Reservation in Cornwall. She graduated from Western University in London, Ontario and has held her present position on the reservation since last September.

Did you know there is a Nationview (Public School) Bursary fund? According to Larry Berry, principal at Nationview, there are some funds available for students who graduated from the school and are now attending a college or university. The money — in the region of $300 — is divided equally between any applicants. Proof is required that you are actually registered for post-secondary courses, but if you are interested, give Larry Berry a call at the school, 989-2600.

Most of us enjoy a church supper and one of the best is coming up on April 29. It's the annual Smorgasbord supper at Inkerman United Church. This begins at 5pm but as they usually serve approximately 300, you might have to wait to be seated. It's well worth the wait, however, and gives you a chance to visit with your neighbors.

A few months ago I complained that we had a temperamental phone and that no one could find the fault. Well, I am delighted to report that Bell Canada repairmen finally located the problem and it has been fixed. So, if you have any interesting items to report, call me at 989-5610 — the phone works!

Holy Week Services planned

WINCHESTER — The Bethany Bible College Chorale from Sussex, New Brunswick, will be performing a concert of Sacred Music at the Winchester Wesleyan Church in Winchester at 7:30pm on Wed., April 15. The 30-voice ensemble directed by Professor David Mitchell, consists of members from the Maritime provinces, Quebec, Ontario and New York.

Its repertoire will include such selections as: Hallelujah and The Heaven's Resounding by Beethoven, We Are His Hands, We Live for the Lord, Holy is the Lord, and more. Arrangements are for mixed, women's and men's choirs. The upcoming concert in this area is part of a week-long tour of Ontario culminating in an appearance on 100 Huntley Street on Easter Monday.

The director, also head of Bethany's music department, is currently directing four choirs (College Chorale, Sussex Choral Society and two church choirs). He is a graduate of Houghton College and has pursued graduate studies at Westminster Choir College and Saratoga-Potsdam Choral Institute. Mitchell appears frequently as a featured soloist in performances of oratorios and cantatas.

Bethany Bible College currently recognizes three levels of achievement in Church Music, including a three-year diploma in that subject. Courses include sight singing, theory, music history, hymnology, conducting, voice and piano.

NDDHS to mark 25th

WINCHESTER — An eventful year is in store for the area in 1988 as Winchester and Chesterville both celebrate their 100th birthdays. The centennial festivities also coincide with the 25th anniversary of the opening of North Dundas District High School.

The first meeting to begin plans for a high school reunion in 1988 will be held at the school Mon., May 8 at 8pm. According to vice-principal Harry Craig, there are no concrete plans as yet, but planning committees will be formed at the meeting. "It will be a co-ordinated effort with democratic input," he said.

Craig noted the reunion will come at the same time as the Winchester and Chesterville centennial celebrations, and said reunion organizers will try to co-ordinate their efforts with the centennial committees. The reunion may benefit from the centennials because people returning to their home towns for the celebrations may also plan to drop in at the school.

"We're hoping to have someone from Winchester and Chesterville (at the meeting) so we can find out what they're doing," said teacher Karen Graham.

Graham said there have been no definite plans so far because the teachers wanted to gather input from graduates first. "It would be a real shame to let the year go by and not do anything after 25 years," she said. "We hope to get a great turnout of people."

Craig said a date for the reunion hasn't been chosen, but added most reunions at other schools generally take place in the last week of June.

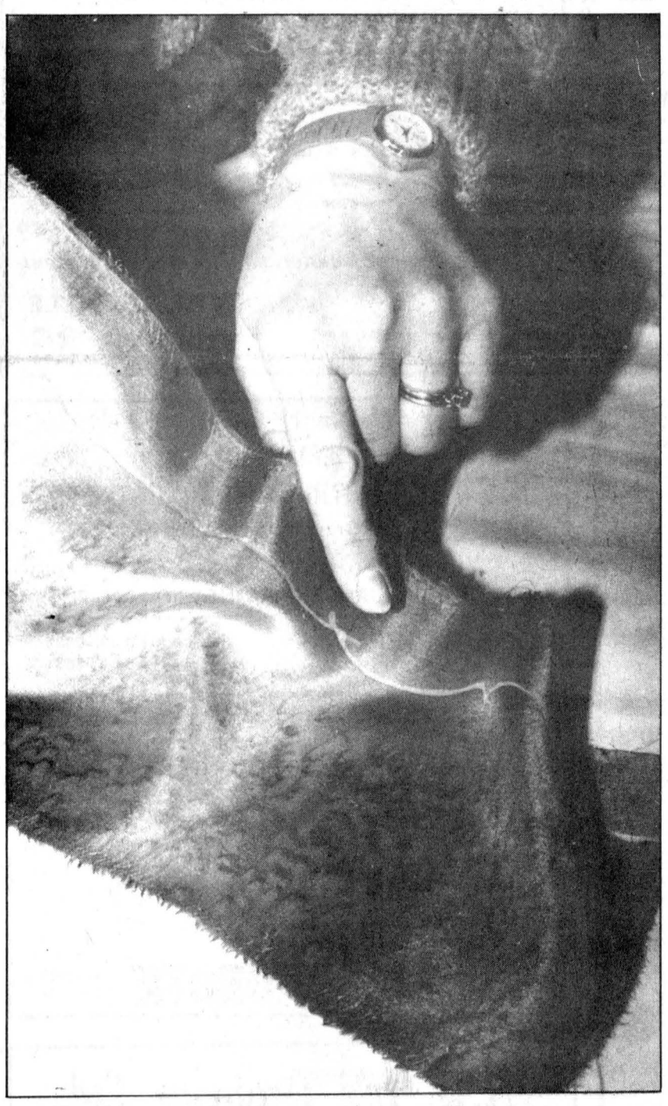
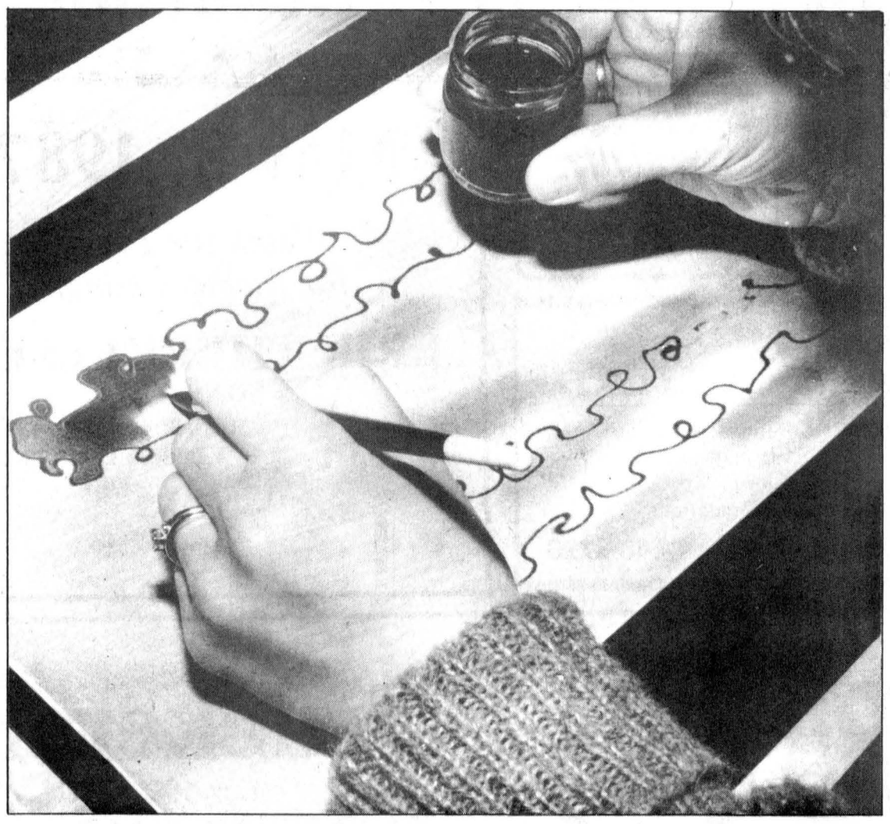
Sisters all wrapped up in craft

Color and silk mix to match trend setters' tastes for the unique





Paying attention to detail, Dell looks on as Daoust hand paints a silk scarf at her home near Kemptville, top right. By using a resist called gutta, the dye is contained in desired areas, middle left. Hand painting silk requires a steady hand, but the dye does most of the work as it crawls automatically through the fibres, middle. Pickling salt sprinkled on damp dye creates a starburst effect as the sodium chloride absorbs the color, leaving a lighter shade, bottom.

KEMPTVILLE — Three years ago when Virginia Daoust and her sister Lenore Dell took their first class in hand-painting silk, they were both trying to find an interest outside their professional and family lives.

What they didn't realize then, was that the enjoyment they discovered painting silk, would turn into a money-making proposition for both women.

Today Daoust and Dell work independently creating custom silk scarves for clients and selling them at art and craft shows in the area.

They knew they had a hot product shortly after that first course, when friends and relatives began asking for scarves as gifts and for themselves.

Last December's Kemptville Christmas Craft Show and Sale was the first real exposure they received as business owners.

"We sold almost all of the 150 pieces we made for the show and received many calls after to do custom scarves," says Dell.

Daoust's one-person company Serico (meaning silken in Italian), and Dell's business, Old Harmony Crafts are independent of each other, but the sisters say they enjoy getting together to work and inspire one another.

Dell lives in Ottawa and Daoust near here, so "it's really more practical for both of us to have separate businesses," says Daoust.

As well, they both admit to a slight difference in their styles that makes their businesses unique. The hand-painting is all done with a soft paint brush, but depending on the color mixing techniques used, the patterns and colors can be very different.

Dell, who's an operating technician at an Ottawa hospital, says her craft business, which includes silk flower arranging, has a therapeutic effect after the hospital environment. "My silk painting really brings out another side of me and helps me to relax," she explains.

She likes to create sharper color lines in her painting and use stronger colors.

Daoust knew she needed to outlet her other energies, which had not yet been spent on raising her two young children. "The rewards of raising kids aren't always immediate and the silk hand-painting provided me with immediate satisfaction for my efforts," she says.

Daoust knew too that she didn't want to go back to her professional job as a biochemical technologist and so started looking for something she could do at home while raising her children.

Between renovating their kitchen and looking after one son during the day, Daoust manages to find time to complete her custom silk scarf orders.

Daoust likes to use softer shades and does more color blending. The effect is rainbow-like, compared to Dell's more definite and easily seen color selections.

While at work the two sisters constantly give each other suggestions for colors and ways to create an effect with the shading.

Although they admit some of the most interesting results they've achieved on silk have come by accident, they can usually still sell them because they'll suit someone's taste.

But there are some favorite designs that have become real winners with customers. A painted pattern that might look "boring" laid out on the table will be beautiful when folded properly.

"It really depends on how you feel on that day, as to what sort of design you'll create," says Dell. "When a pattern becomes monotonous or I find myself repeating a pattern, then I just leave it for a few days and fresh ideas will spring up."

This pair's visible excitement about their craft is inspiring even to someone who knows nothing about the art. They still call themselves green, but one would hardly suspect it from the quality of work they turn out. At first overwhelmed by the number of colors available from dye wholesalers in Toronto and Montreal, Daoust and Dell can now manipulate colors as well as the experts.

They buy most of their raw materials together. The unpainted, hand-made silk scarves are bought in bulk the same as the dyes. They've constructed their own color charts and can produce any possible color by mixing the three primary colors, yellow, blue and red.

Using a resist called gutta, which stops the dye from running into undesired areas, pickling salt to help create star-like patterns in the dye and an ordinary steamer, the sisters say they can produce about five scarves a day working at it continually.

The only tricky part in the process is the steaming, says Daoust. The scarves must be steamed for two hours after painting at a specific temperature to help the dye set. According to Daoust, waterspots can form on the silk if the temperature isn't perfect and can ruin the pattern on the scarf.

Daoust and Dell's custom orders these days come mostly from professional women who want to accessorize their wardrobes perfectly with the right colored scarf.

However, as the Christmas season draws near, their products will be destined for Christmas gifts.

Even though expansion for both businesses seems almost inevitable as their client lists continue to grow, both women are happy working at home for the time being.

Dell has a craft room where she says she locks herself in to concentrate on her work. And Daoust is in the process of setting up a studio in a renovated section of her home on the River Road near Kemptville, for her hand-painting.

"I really can't see myself moving out or expanding until the children are in school," she says. Plus, she says, living in the country is conducive to the type of patterns she creates in this artform.

Says Dell: "I also do my best work at home. It really is the best place for me right now."

But these business women are hardly satisfied with the level they're at. This summer they plan to take more advanced courses in color painting. "You really must stay on top of the changing fashion trends and colors when you're in a business like this," says Daoust.

Plus, we have so much fun at it, it hardly seems like work, adds Dell.

In the future, the two plan to get more exposure attending larger art and craft shows in Eastern Ontario. They've been invited to some this summer, but they wouldn't have enough scarves made to sell for the entire show.

But they plan to be ready next year. Says Daoust: "We've already started building up our stock for the Christmas season, so we'll be prepared for the rush."

Farm update

Udder health technicians in Dundas

WINCHESTER — Reducing the amount of mastitis among dairy cattle can be an important factor in ensuring a more profitable operation. This is the goal of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board's Udder Health Management Program, which has conducted over 3,000 farm visits since its inception in 1982.

The program's two specialists, Peter Hobkirk and Mark McDougall, cover all counties in the province at least once a year, and are planning to begin farm visits in Dundas County this week.

Reducing mastitis, a disease of cows' udders, not only improves the efficiency of the dairy operation, but also results in better milk quality, which is reflected in higher cheese yields and a longer shelf life of fluid milk.

Mastitis infections can block some of the tiny milk ducts inside a cow's udder. This results in lower milk production by making it more difficult to milk the cow.

Mastitis, according to information from the OMMB, can also lead to a change in milk composition. A lower casein level means that the quality of milk protein decreases. This lowers the amount and quality of cheese that can be produced from the milk. Mastitis can also increase the levels of enzymes which may change the flavor of processed milk and shorten shelf life.

Some mastitis infections in cows can easily be detected because udders become hard and milk may have a clotted or watery appearance. This type of infection is referred to as clinical mastitis. Infections which cannot be found through a change in milk quality or in the udder are referred to as sub-clinical, the more common of the two types of infection.

Sub-clinical mastitis may be detected by checking the somatic cell counts (SCCs) of a dairy farm's milk. SCCs indicate the number of white blood cells and therefore the level of infection in a cow's udder. The higher the SCC, the more mastitis there is. Herds having SCCs of less than 200,000 cells per ml. of milk are considered to have minimal mastitis infections. Each time an SCC rises by 100,000, lactational milk production decreases by two per cent.

The udder health specialists agree that environment is probably the most important factor in controlling mastitis infections. Keeping the environment - stables, stalls and exercise yards - clean as well as providing well-drained pastures means cows are exposed to fewer mastitis causing organisms. Stray voltage, extreme humidity and poor ventilation can increase the stress level of the herd and make the cows more susceptible to infections like mastitis.

"We often find that the environment is very important in helping keep mastitis at a low level," said specialist Peter Hobkirk. "Faults in milking habits or in milking equipment will sometimes not cause mastitis problems if the cows are exposed to a very good environment."

According to the specialists, the cow's dry period is an especially important time to be aware of cleanliness, because the non-lactating mammary gland is prone to new infections. Infection rates are highest in the very early dry period and immediately after calving. Dry cow areas that contain a manure pack, stagnant water, mud or waste feed will attract the growth of pathogenic bacteria. During the winter it is preferable to keep dry cows in a large stall with a skid-resistant surface and bedded with straw.

Making some changes to milking procedures such as washing and drying udders for 20 to 30 seconds and applying milking units approximately one minute after the onset of stimulation will result in shorter milking times.

Milking equipment is one of the most used pieces of machinery on dairy farms, and since it is used on the udder tissue of cows, it is important to keep it in good working order, say the specialists. It is often impossible for a producer to know vacuum levels in the claw, pulsation ratios, and losses of air flow in the system. A large part of the specialists' time is spent testing milking equipment and making recommendations to the producer. Some milking equipment components may not be functioning properly and if not corrected could cause an increase in mastitis flare-ups.

Many of the mastitis organisms cannot be economically controlled with antibiotics during lactation. Because of this, it is often recommended to treat cows as they go dry. However, dry cow treatment is a controversial area in mastitis control with some veterinarians recommending treating all quarters of all cows at drying off, while others prefer treating only cows that had a high SCC or that experienced mastitis during lactation.

According to the specialists, it usually takes problems in these three main areas - environment, milking procedures, milking equipment and dry cow treatment - to cause a mastitis infection.

Metcalfe Service Centre was buzzing with activity last week as representatives from several industrial firms met with area farmers at the annual service clinic. The educational program included film presentations, valuable maintenance advice, as well as many tips on ways to prevent problems that often prove costly this time of year.

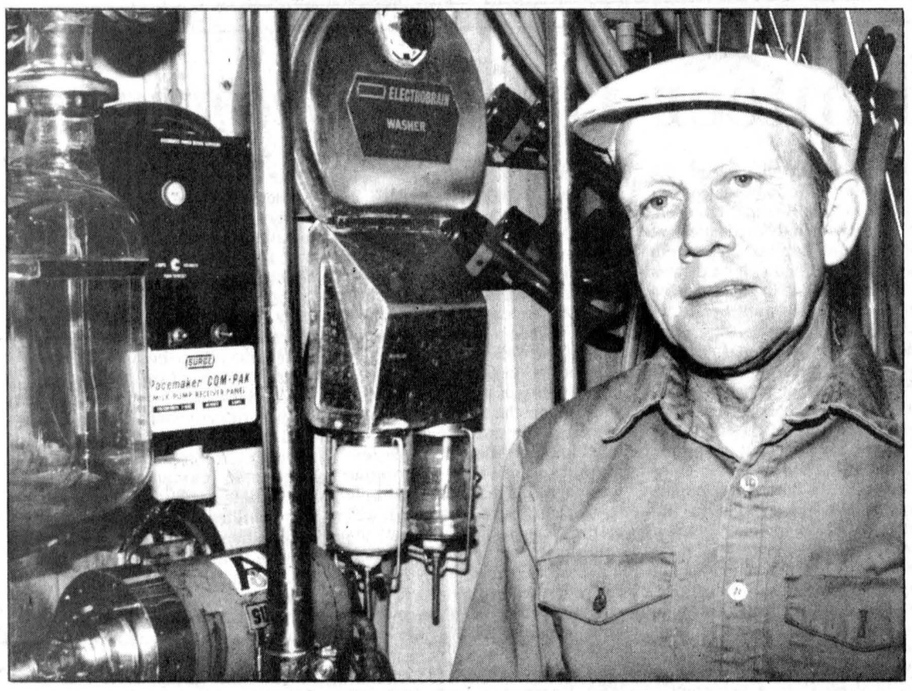
Read by more farmers weekly!



Leendert Noort, a dairy farmer west of Winchester, was recently named the newest director to Dundas County's Christian Farmers' Federation. Maintaining the family farm and being a good steward of the land are two things Noort strongly supports.

Press Photo—den Boer

Noort named CCF director

WINCHESTER — Forty-nine year old Leendert Noort doesn't support government handouts for farmers. But he would like to see more young farmers given the chance to succeed in the business.

Noort, a dairy farmer near here, began his three-year term as the newest director to Dundas County's Christian Farmers Federation last week. But the job of director doesn't come with much anticipation on Noort's part.

Ten years ago the Dutch native also sat as director on the Federation's executive here.

In 1954 he immigrated to Canada at 16, and in 1960 bought the farm he now operates with his brother.

With the help of his wife Alberta and son Derek, Noort milks about 60 head of Holstein cattle and works 238 acres.

Even though he doesn't believe dealing with governments is the real purpose of a farm organization that supports a strong belief in God and a stewardship of the land, he says it's an unavoidable task for the federation.

"I don't think we should get government handouts, but there should be more programs available to help young people get started."

With a strong view to supporting the survival of the family farm, Noort says that agriculture will never be the same again if economic conditions continue the way they are, and if the family farm cannot survive.

"Government should look more seriously at what's happening in agriculture in this country, because it's very important to all of us in Canada."

53 calves auctioned for average of $1,594

WINCHESTER — The Eastern Ontario Holstein Calf Sale, an annual event, was held at Fawcett's Sale Arena here Sat., April 4.

This series of sales has been held every year since 1960 and provides a market for Holstein calves with superior pedigrees and type, and these are selected by the representatives of the Holstein clubs in Eastern Ontario. Many of them are purchased for 4-H work.

At the April 4 sale, 53 calves sold for a total of $84,500, an average of $1,594. The price was up almost $200 from the 1986 average of $1,365.

The highest price of the sale was $3,300, which was reached three times: by calves consigned by Dwight Gilmer and Sons, South Mountain, Eldon Davidson of Winchester and Springlorme Farm, Wendover.

The calf from Dwight Gilmer and Sons was an October 1986 daughter of "Maries Thunder" from an Excellent dam with 25,251 lbs. of 3.82 per cent milk for a BCA of 221 per cent for milk and 229 per cent for butterfat. Her second dam was Very Good with 194 per cent: 222 per cent, 4.3 per cent. She was purchased by Dutchmeadow Farm, Balmoral, Man., buyers of a total of eight calves for $14,300.

Eldon Davidson consigned an April 1986 daughter of "Marlin" from a Good Plus dam with 150 per cent: 156 per cent BCA, 3.81 per cent. She was purchased by Lindsay Seaman of Breadalbane, P.E.I., who is the owner of a full sister of this animal which sold in the calf sale two years ago.

The third calf to reach the $3,300 price, from Springlorme Farm, Wendover, was a March 1986 daughter of "Starbuck" from a Good Plus dam with 177 per cent: 186 per cent BCA, 3.9 per cent test.

A total of 10 calves went to Manitoba, one to Prince Edward Island, three to New Brunswick and six to Quebec.

Longtime 4-H leaders honored at achievement

MAPLE RIDGE — Long time 4-H leaders from Dundas were honored April 6 at the county clubs' achievement night.

Joanne Toonen of Ormond was recognized for ten years of service. Betty Jean Mark, also of Ormond, and Rita Velthuis of Hallville-Mountain number two club, were each recognized for five years of service.

Sisters Karla and Karen Johnston of Winchester and Johanna Sluiskes of Winchester Springs each marked the successful completion of 18 4-H projects.

A 12-project award went to Nancy Hoople of Chesterville.

Six girls completed six projects: Joanne Garlough of Williamsburg; Stephanie Watson, also of Williamsburg; Darlene Van Wylick of Chesterville; Cindy Moffatt of Morewood; Lilli Dietrich of Ormond, and Gail Scott of Elma.

Kathy Simpson, rural organization specialist, said two new clubs have been planned this spring and each is looking for new members.

Erin Cahill to represent East Carleton in exchange

OTTAWA — On March 13-15 the Junior Farmers Association of Ontario held its annual conference at the Ottawa Skyline Hotel.

It was a fun-filled weekend, with a number of guest speakers giving informative lectures on some very interesting topics. A total of $16,000 was raised for the Children's Wish Fund at the Jr. Farmer auction.

At the banquet and dance, it was announced that Erin Cahill from East Carleton will represent Ontario in an exchange to Prince Edward Island this summer. After the main dance, the International parade was held, and some very interesting costumes came out of the closets.

Everyone who made it down for the Sunday morning session at 9am was well entertained, and the 1987-88 charity was announced - "Plant a Seed for Need".

Anyone wishing more information can contact the local Junior Farmer Club, or Food Bank.

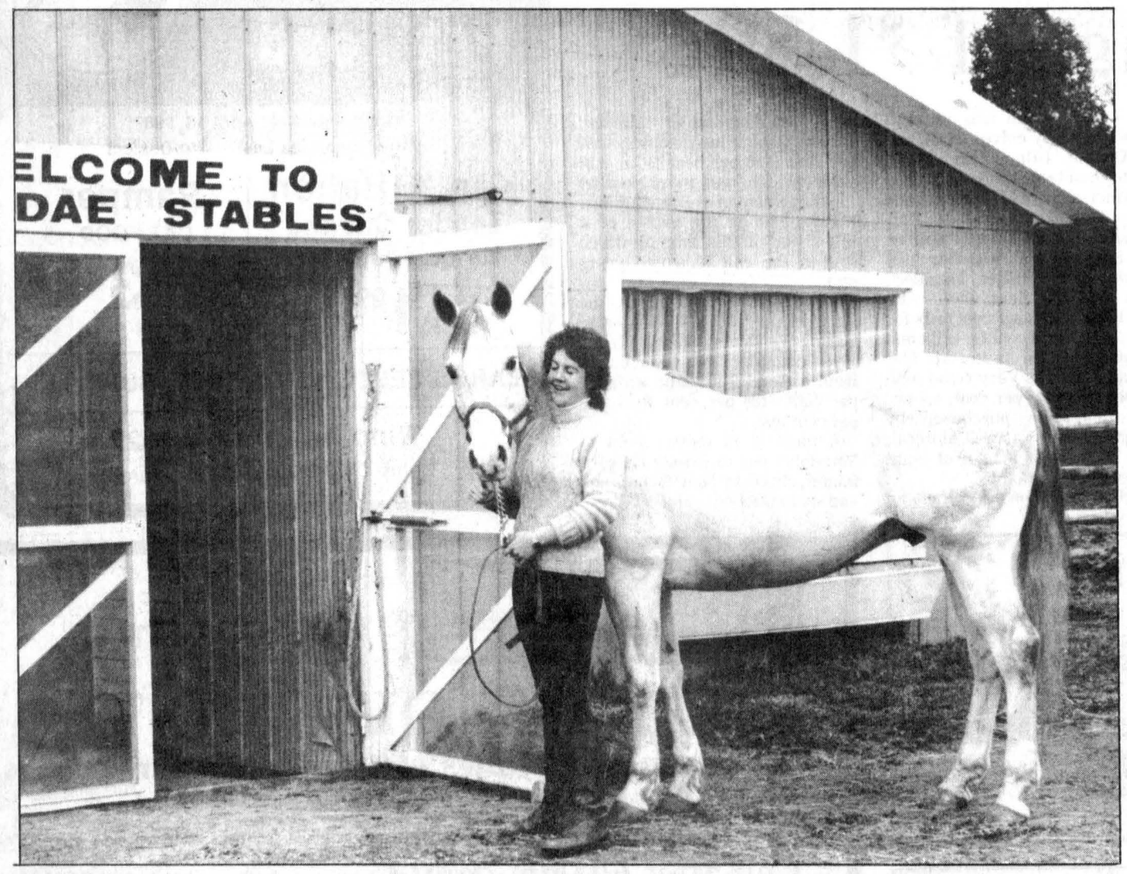
Disabled increase self-esteem with volunteer riding program



Karen Nicholson, instructor for the Wednesday afternoon GRAD riding classes leads Percy back to the barn after a session of lessons he has helped to provide for one of the young mentally handicapped students. Percy was a gift from the Kiwanis Club to Greenbank Riding Association for the Disabled, which is affiliated with the Canadian Therapeutic Riding Association.

by Christine Brown
Press Correspondent

GREELY — My motives were less than pure, I must admit. When the Central Volunteer Bureau ran an advertisement looking for volunteers to help disabled children while they learned to ride horseback, the first thing that sprang to mind was the chance to be with horses, not the opportunity to help children.

Since I had to leave a loved and trusted quarterhorse when I moved into the city several years ago, I have pined for the companionship of a horse and I thought this could be the ideal opportunity to visit a stable, weekly.

I didn't bargain with the effect that watching six mentally handicapped kids learn to ride would have on me. The rewards have been much more significant than I expected.

While the children that I walk beside as they ride are all mentally handicapped, Greenbank Riding Association for the Disabled (GRAD) runs classes for the physically handicapped as well, helping those afflicted with everything from spina bifida to Downs Syndrome and even several pupils who are victims of accidents.

Begun about 12 years ago, GRAD initially served from three to four riders per week while now approximately 35 riders take lessons from one of GRAD's instructors, all certified coaches with the Canadian Therapeutic Riding Association.

The coach in charge of the Wednesday afternoon sessions at which I help is Karen Nicholson, who teaches able-bodied riders at the National Capital Equestrian Park west of Ottawa and who says she is willing to go anywhere a horse and rider want her to, in order to teach them.

Karen is patient but firm and it's amazing to see how much the kids progress under her guidance. Some of these children aren't even sure of the names of all their body parts but under her guidance learn how to sit comfortably atop a horse, feel secure enough to move around in the saddle, and even play a few games on horseback.

She stands in the centre of the ring and the kids, horses and volunteers parade around her on the outside of the arena, watching and listening carefully for her next command. The interesting part of it all from a volunteer's point of view is that the kids' progress becomes somehow a reflection of our own devotion. If one of our charges doesn't catch Karen's command to put both hands on the top of the head, there is a flurry as the two volunteer sidewalkers try to convince the child to perform the new manoeuvre.

When the session is over, and the kids are loaded back onto their bus to head for Clifford Bowey School, what we are left with is much more than horses to groom. It is a feeling of having helped. Having made it possible for children who can't always have something like this to have the time of their lives.

The kids get more than just a good time out of their days at Equidae, though. Karen tells us that the riders get a physical workout, one that might not otherwise be possible. Co-ordination is developed, patterns of movement are established in the brain, balance is increased and of course, there is a host of mental benefits as well.

A horse seems to have an innate sense of approval and this rubs off on the rider. The horse responds to a movement and the child knows without anyone telling him or her that the routine was correctly performed simply by the horse's reactions. As well as the increased self-esteem, the children learn to develop their frustration levels. They cannot rush a horse, or themselves; only patience will achieve the rewards that become such a desirable goal.

Last but not by any means least, Karen says, is the fact that the horse, as an extension of them, makes the children able-bodied. All of a sudden, there is power and co-ordination underneath them and they can go places and speeds they never could before. There are demands on them in return for this last reward, too. The horse forced the kids to work, not the instructor. If a rider is slipping sideways, there is no need to mention it; a quick shift of the body rights the rider more effectively than any lecture on moving ever could.

Knowing all this makes the volunteer's job a labor of love and not a task. GRAD has come a long way since its inception, now owning two of its own horses, Cindy and Percy. But, as the joke about horses goes, they are hay burners. It's true that Karen says the program couldn't run without its volunteers but it's equally true that fundraising is becoming an equally important concern for the group.

Its counterpart in Toronto operates out of its own riding stable but it has the backing of a Variety Club grant which the GRAD does not.

Operating on only the individual donations it receives, GRAD members are hoping to launch a large-scale campaign soon to help their organization serve more children and young adults. Ride-a-thon, Gymkhana, and the sale of t-shirts, pins and other GRAD items augment the donations but they can't come close to the equivalent of a corporate sponsor or a co-ordinated professional fundraising drive.

While the group once hoped only to teach a few children how to ride, as they have grown they have begun to channel their efforts to particular disabilities and solutions. Without these extra funds, that might not be possible.

It's hard to keep these harsh realities in mind when you finish helping the last child off the last mount. Bubbly, cheerful and quite obviously self-satisfied, the kids climb into the school bus that will take them back to Ottawa, only to return the following week for another lesson.

GRAD is always looking for volunteers whether it be to help with the riding sessions, bake for sales, drive or help with one of the many tasks that arise from the program.

Optimists plan two-day auction

EMBRUN — The Embrun Optimist club may have a solution for anyone who has done some spring cleaning and found items that may have outlived their usefulness but are still too good to throw away.

The club is planning a fundraising auction for Sat., April 25 from 12:30pm to 5pm both inside and outside the Embrun arena. Participants are invited to bring any item from antiques, appliances, furniture and TV sets to used cars.

Residents of the communities surrounding Embrun are welcome to participate. Costs are $3 to register one or more articles plus a percentage of the selling price. The percentage will be 15 per cent for a selling price under $200 and 10 per cent over $200.

A lower percentage will be applied to higher-priced items such as cars.

Items for auction may be brought to the Embrun arena Fri. April 24 from 9am to 9pm and Sat., April 25 from 9am to 11am.

For those interested in selling their own articles, booths will be available at $30 each.

The funds from this event will be used to help the youth activities or the Optimist Club. More information may be obtained by calling Jean Murphy at 443-5455 or Jean-Paul Bruyere at 443-5789.

Making time for God, theme of Winchester WCTU meeting

WINCHESTER — "Making time for God" was the theme of the Winchester Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU) meeting held March 26 at the Beechcroft. All active members and one visitor were present.

With Cora Mack at the piano the meeting opened with the hymn "Trust and Obey". President Nina Woods led in prayer and a call to worship was given by May Walter.

A scripture reading from Luke was given by Stella Miller. Prayer was again given by Mrs. Walter. Lily McGuff read from "A Guide Post" magazine.

"Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung.

Marjorie Vardy read an article on evangelism. May Walter gave the treasurer's report.

Donna Wilson acted as secretary. The speech and talent contest will be held Fri., May 22. Members were also reminded of the provincial competition May 5-7 at Jackson's Point.

The April meeting will be convened by Mrs. Woods and Mabel Crowder at the home of Mary Prosser April 30. The group regretted the loss of two members, Mary Keyes and Ida McKercher.

In Memoriam

CINNAMON — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Gladys, who passed away April 19, 1986.
Often we think of you, dear mother,
And our hearts are filled with pain.
Oh, this earth would be a heaven,
Could we hear your voice again.
One year has swiftly passed away,
But still we don't forget;
For in the hearts that loved you best,
Your memory lingers yet.
—Sadly missed: Dwayne and Kathy, Tina, Tommy and Joey. 1

CINNAMON — In fond and loving memory of a very special and dearest mother, mother-in-law and nanny, Gladys M. Cinnamon, who left us all so suddenly on April 19, 1986.
One year has passed away
God took Mother home to stay,
She had a heart of gold,
Never to complain with all her pain.
To love, to cherish and never forget
All these memories we tenderly hold
O what we would give if we could hear,
Hello again in that same old chair.
To hear her voice and see her smile
To sit with her and chat awhile
It was God's will to let her rest
For the depths of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of mother whom we loved so well.
But in our hearts she liveth still
For we loved mother too dearly to ever forget.
—Always loved and missed so very much and forever remembered by daughter Barbara, son-in-law Adriaan and grandsons Michael and Jamie. 1

CINNAMON — In fond and loving memory of a very dear brother, brother-in-law and uncle, Gordon K. Cinnamon, who left us all so unexpectedly April 2, 1966.
God knows how much we miss you
Your memory will never grow old
It's locked in our hearts with letters of gold
These are the memories we tenderly hold.
—Loved and sadly missed by sister Barbara, brother-in-law Adriaan, nephews Michael and Jamie. 1

CINNAMON — In loving memory of a dear grandmother and great-grandmother, Gladys Cinnamon, who passed away April 19, 1986.
Partings come and hearts are broken,
Loved ones go with words unspoken,
Life goes on, we know it's true,
But not the same since we lost you.
In our hearts your memory is kept,
To love, cherish and never forget.
—Always remembered and sadly missed by Bev, Perry, Pat, Kim, Donnie, Greg and Tanya 1

THOMPSON — In loving memory of a dear daughter and sister, Debbie Ann, who was accidently killed on April 19, 1986.
We miss thee from our home dear.
We miss thee from thy place.
A shadow o'er our life is cast.
We miss the sunshine of thy face.
We miss thy kind and willing hand.
Thy fond and earnest care.
Our home is dark without thee.
We miss thee everywhere.
—Lovingly remembered by Mother, Brothers and Sister 1

In Memoriam

CINNAMON — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Gladys Cinnamon, who passed away April 19, 1986.
Her life is a beautiful memory.
Her absence a silent grief.
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden.
In the sunshine of perfect peace.
—Sadly missed and remembered by son Allan, Maureen, Sean, and Kevin 1

CINNAMON — In loving remembrance of a beloved wife Gladys Cinnamon, who departed this life April 19, 1986.
Upright and just in all her ways,
Loyal and true through all her days,
Silently suffered, patiently bore,
God took her home to suffer no more.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death, we do the same.
—Lovingly remembered by husband Kenneth 1

CINNAMON — In loving memory of a dear mother, Gladys Cinnamon, who suddenly passed away April 19, 1986.
The golden gates were opened,
One year ago today,
You gently passed away.
You couldn't say good-bye to us,
Perhaps it was just as well,
We never could have said good-bye,
To one we loved so well.
Our hearts still ache with sadness,
And secret tears still flow,
What it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.
When days are long and lonely,
And everything goes wrong,
We seem to hear you whisper,
"Cheer up and carry on".
When we see your portrait,
You seem to smile and say,
"Don't cry, I'm only sleeping,
We'll meet again some day."
—Sadly missed and remembered by daughter, Doris and Rae 1

LINK — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Harold, who passed away April 15, 1986.
God took him home, it was His will,
But in our hearts we love him still;
His memory is as dear today
As in the hour he passed away.
We often sit and think of him
When we are all alone,
For memory is the only friend
That grief can call its own.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife Dorothy and family. 1

THOMPSON — In loving memory of our dear sister, sister-in-law and aunt, Debbie Ann Thompson, who passed away April 19, 1986.
Little did we know when we awoke that morning
The sorrow the day would bring,
The call was sudden, the shock severe,
To part with one we loved so dear,
You didn't have time to say farewell,
Or for us to say goodbye,
You were gone before we knew it,
And only God knows why,
Our hearts still ache with sadness
Our silent tears still flow,
For what it meant to lose you, Debbie,
No one will ever know.
Tell her, dear God, how much we miss her,
And give her all our love.
—Sadly missed by Richard, Linda, Perry, Jeffrey and Darwin. 1

DILLABOUGH — In loving memory of a loving son, R. Wilson Dillabough, who passed away April 27, 1969.
The dearest son, this world could hold,
With a wonderful smile, and a heart of gold
Those who knew him, they will know,
How much we lost eighteen years ago.
—Sadly missed by a mother who loved him, also by stepfather, sisters, brothers and father. 1

SHIELDS — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Kaye Shields, who passed away April 19, 1975.
Time passes on, months have passed,
Since death, its gloomy shadow cast;
Upon our home, when all was bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light and ever will,
Her vacant place there's none to fill;
Down here, we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven, we'll meet again.
—Always remembered, Andy Shields and Family. 1

JEACLE — In loving memory of a dear mother, mother-in-law and grandmother, May Jeacle, who passed away April 19, 1983.
