118 putt around Winchester's mini course

Liz Edwards
Press Staff

WINCHESTER — A few of the adults had trouble negotiating the plastic turkey and the dishes.

But strangely enough several small children were able to sink their putts at the Fawcett's Feast hole during Winchester's second annual Mini Golf Tournament Saturday. The hole, which was decorated as a dinner table, was one of 16 put together by local businesses for children and adults.

The holes were all rated par three, but luck rather than skill seemed to be the contributing factor especially when participants had to putt up exhaust pipes, around flower pots, and through bathroom sinks, to name a few obstacles.

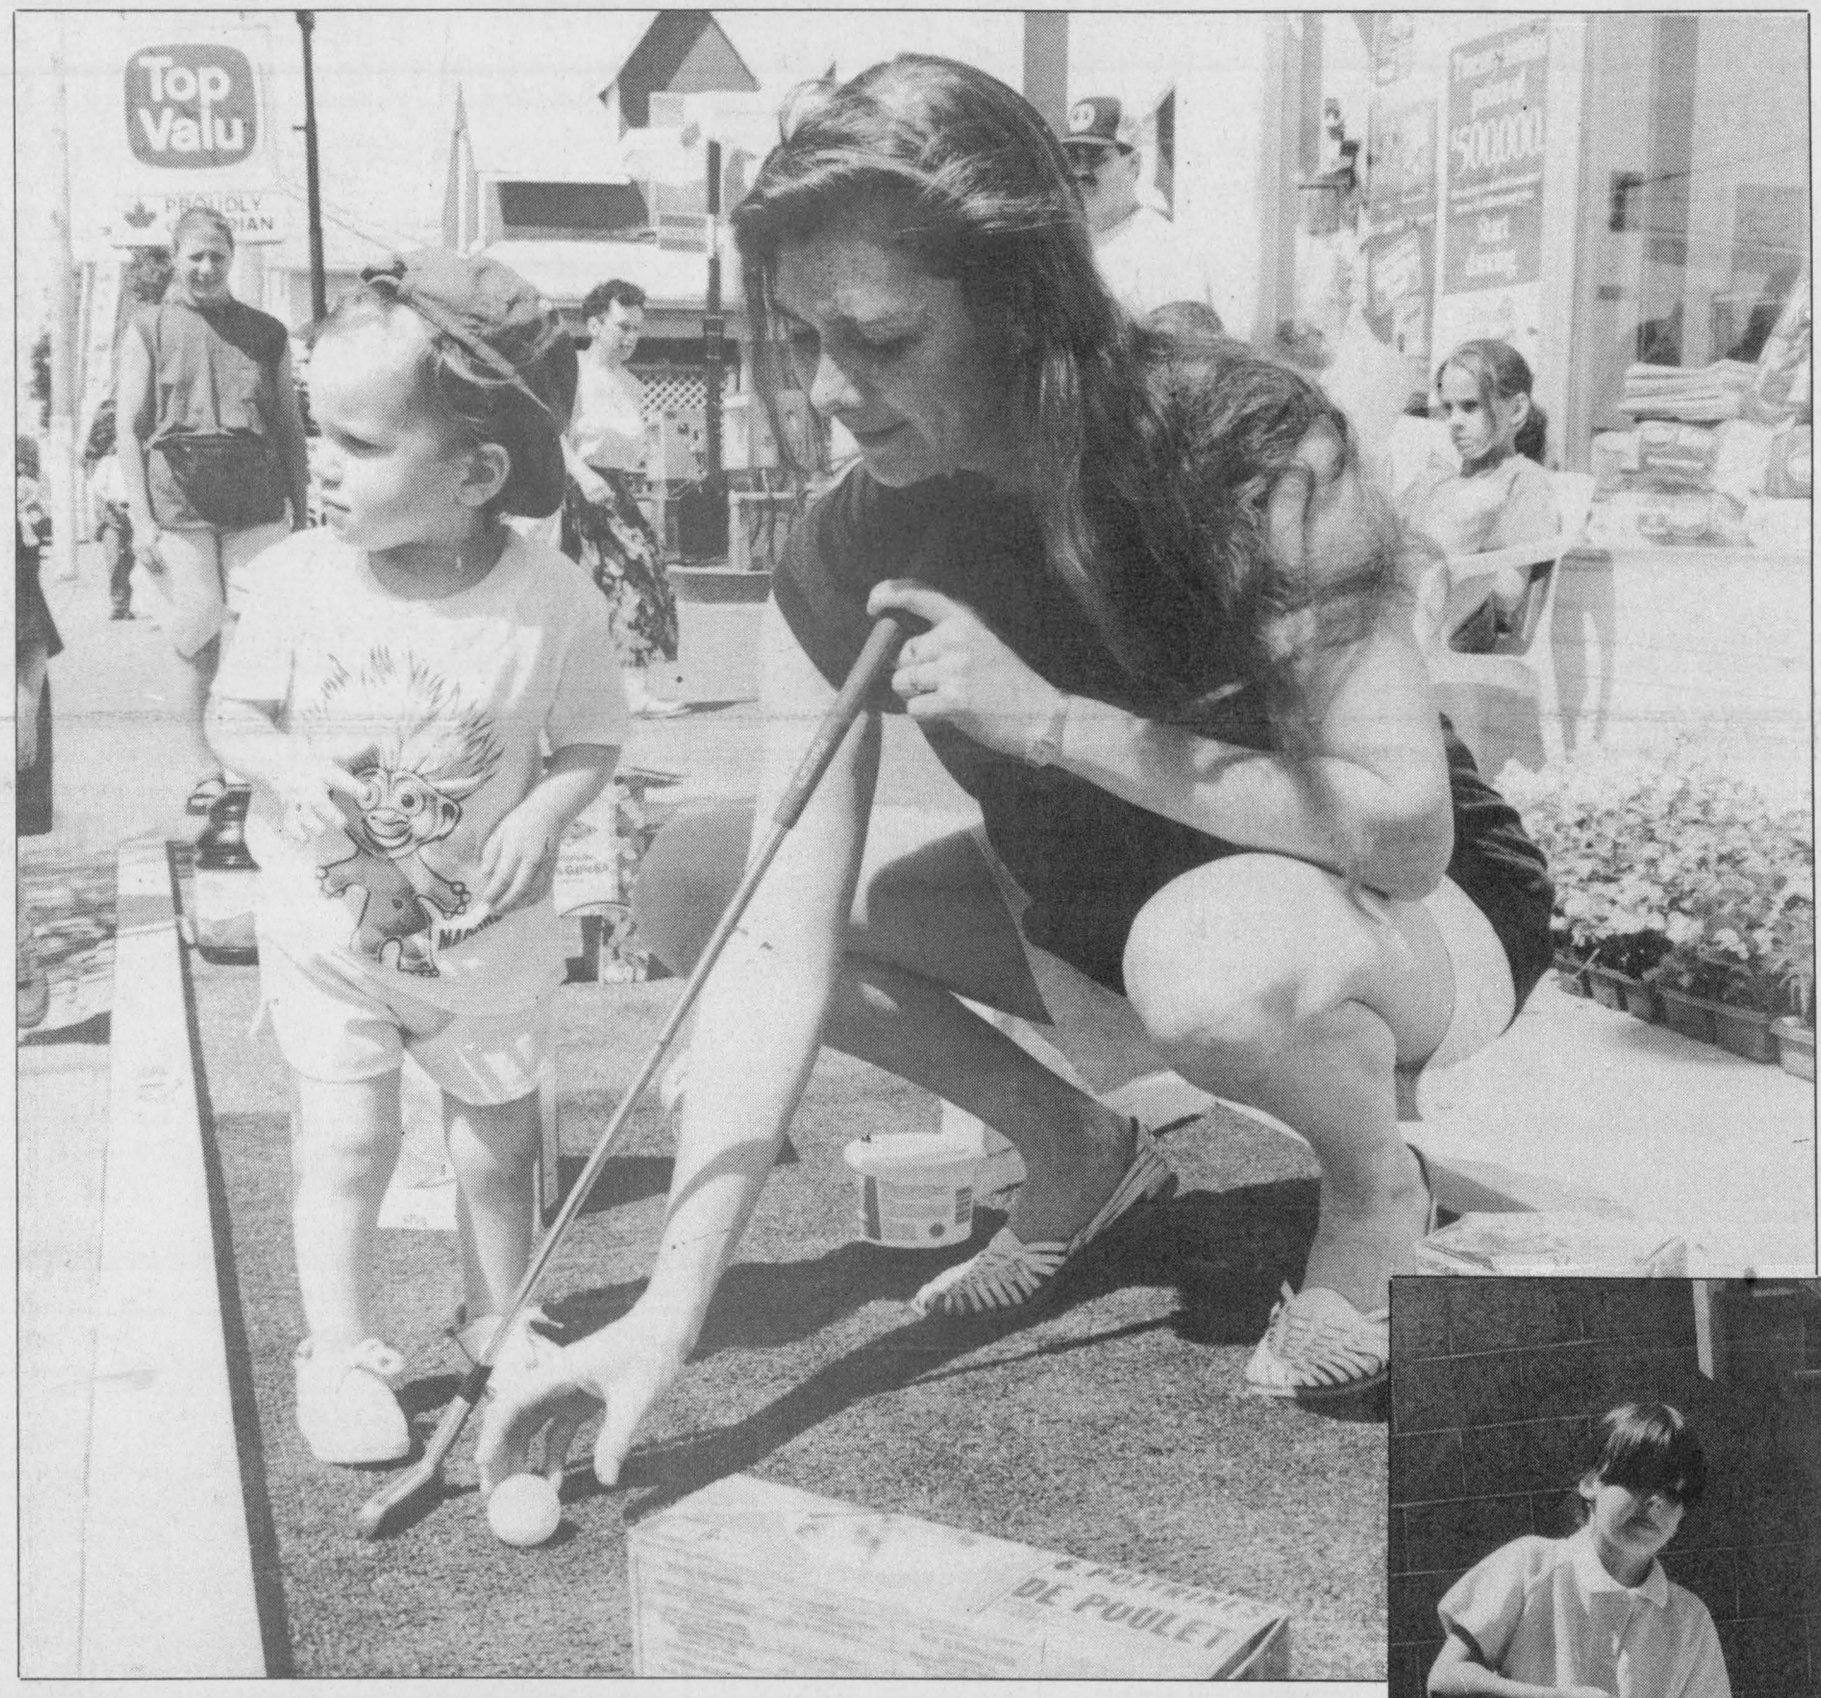

"The best golfers are the small kids. They don't even have to be looking in the right directon - they just let her go in," said John Fawcett of Fawcett's Heritage House of Gifts.

Participation was a bit higher this year with about 118 golfers making the rounds. It's a good family event, says Larry DeClaire, who says he is not usually a golfer.

"It's a lot of laughs. A lot of fun," he said.

Brian and Chris Wyatt of Winchester were the winners of the tournament with a combined score of 89. Glen Muldoon who came in second with his son Shaughnessy earned the low score of the day with a 40.

In third were Pat Hamel and Matt McBean with 93, followed by Andy Laneville and Melanie Laneville (97), Sarah Pollock and Justin Lummiss, Leslie Geurts and Gabriel Geurts, and Greg McConnell and Dave Dauphnee.

Farm update

Jr. Farmers host U.K. counterparts

Dianne Fetterly
Agricultural editor

WINCHESTER — For two visiting Young Farmer delegates, spending the past week in the area has given them a crash course on Eastern Ontario's agricultural industry.

Julie Alvey from Derbyshire, England and Sharon Millar of Northern Ireland are two of 11 delegates currently touring Ontario. The pair arrived at the beginning of June and were the guests of Dundas Junior Farmers Jason and Cindy Shoenfeld and Raymond Sherrer.

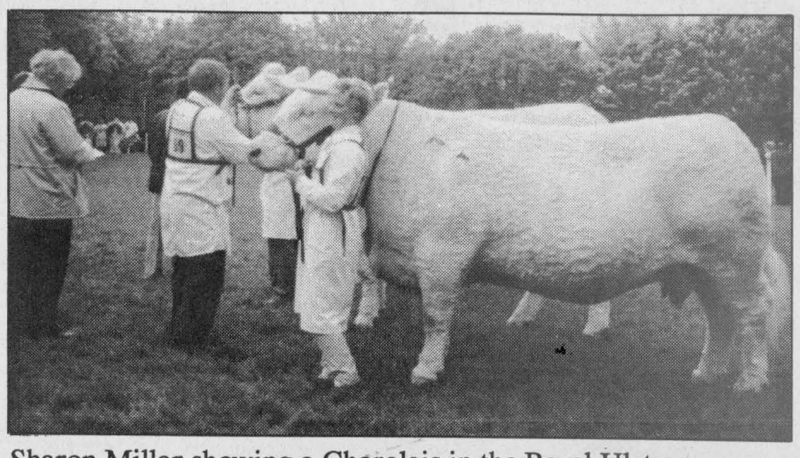

The visiting delegates were kept very busy during their stay, visiting local dairy and beef operations as well as Upper Canada Village, the locks in Iroquois, the Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa, and museums in Montreal.

Area dairy operations visited included those of Denzel Duke in Morewood and Bert Velthuis near Dalmeny. Egor Pancirov's Simmental and Dan O'Brien's Dalmeny Farms beef operations were also toured.

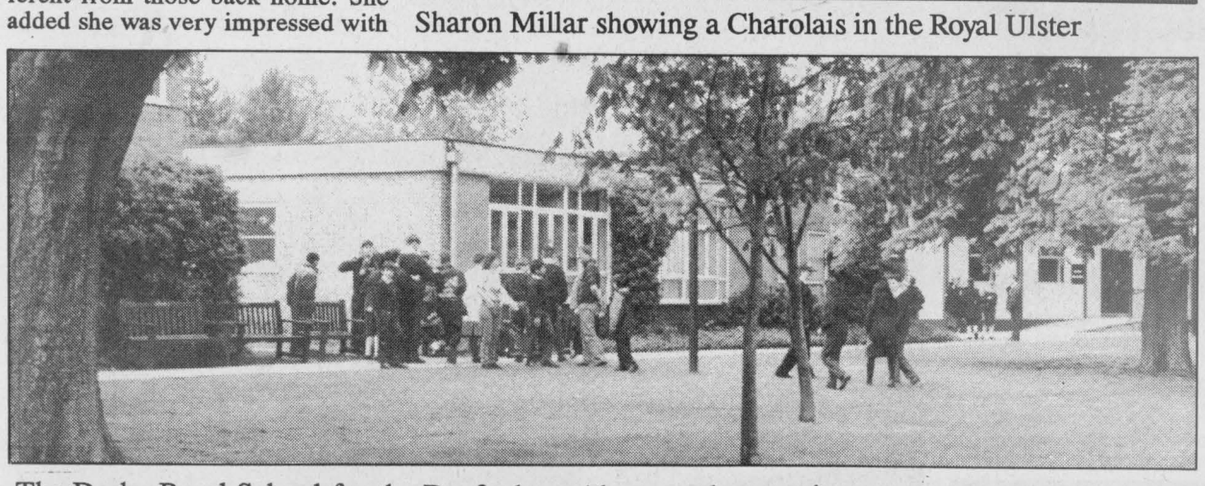

Millar, who works on her family's 350-acre beef operation back home, explained the beef operations here are not a lot different from those back home. She added she was very impressed with the modern barns and facilities at Dalmeny Farms.

Alvey, a college lecturer, who works part-time on her family's 65-acre beef/crops operation noted a few differences between our dairy operations and those in her homeland. The dairy farms here tend to be larger, however there are more computerized milking parlors in the United Kingdom, she explained.

Both women agreed there are more open spaces in Eastern Ontario than at home and the land is much flatter. They also added area residents have been very hospitable during their stay.

AT HOME

Besides lecturing and working on the farm back home, Alvey also works at a school for the hearing impaired. On their farm, the family has Hereford- cross cattle and grows barley, silage grass and hay.

Millar's farm includes 150 commercial Simmental/Charolais cattle as well as 50 pedigreed Charolais cattle, which they show.

The family also has 800 sows as well as an AI centre with 25-30 boars located on the farm. Swine semen is sold throughout the U.K. and Ireland. She adds their farm is considered large, with the average operation in Northern Ireland being about 50 acres in size.

After leaving Dundas County, Alvey moved on to Greely, while Millar headed to the Perth area. From there they will move on to other parts of Ontario.

The pair will remain in the province for approximately three months giving presentations on their homelands to hosting Junior Farmers groups.

And while some people may think the delegates are simply on an extended trip, the pair said they will be kept busy on their return home as well, with speaking engagements and educating people in their homelands about Ontario's agricultural industry.

The Junior Farmers of Ontario are hosting international delegates from Australia, New Zealand, Germany, Scotland, England, Wales and Ireland.

Dairy educator toasts 90th WI annual

by E. Ruth Algire

DIXONS CORNERS — The Community Christian Reformed Church at Dixons Corners was the scene of the 90th annual meeting of the Dundas District Women's Institute. Evelyn Coleman, president, presided and was assisted by Doreen Empey as acting secretary.

Mary Inglis of Russell, provincial director for the sub-division, spoke on the theme Communications. First impressions are very important, so when speaking one should start with a smile and be aware of the importance of eye contact, body language and tone of voice. In this modern age laptop computers, fax copiers and internet are tools that are very important in communicating.

The area president, Erma Bennett, brought greetings and reminded us that the area convention will be held in Embrun in October. She also spoke of the WI rally to be held in June at KCAT.

Irene Woolford conducted an entertaining stretch- break and had everyone up performing to the tune of "The Squid-jigging Ground".

It was reported that $350,004 had been raised for WI House and branches are asked to hold fundraisers in June for this fund. Contributions to ACWW from across Canada are being used to purchase a red pepper dryer for the women of South Korea .

Matilda Branch has entered a quilt in the quilt competition in Milton and those attending the show will see it on display June 13 and 14.

The ladies of the church served a bountiful lunch in the bright and spacious dining room of the church. Bev Sabourin joined the group for lunch and brought a welcome from Matilda Council.

Anja Berends, dairy educator, was the speaker at the luncheon, and reminded us that women, as well as children, need milk in their diet. She is starting her third year in this office and enjoys promoting the milk industry. Her work involves presenting a positive image about milk products and she speaks to many classrooms in the county as well as at fairs and other gatherings.

The election of officers brought no changes this year and the officers were installed by the board director Mary Inglis.

Entertainment was provided by the pupils of Dixons Corners Public School, accompanied by Margaret Swerdfager. They presented a number of songs by different age groups recently performed at the Kinsmen Music Festival. The ladies enjoyed the pleasant young faces as well as the delightful music.

Doris Erratt invited the Dundas District WI to meet at Riverside Heights next May for the annual meeting.

Door prizes, donated by members of the Matilda branch and the Brooks Caldwell plant were distributed at the close of the meeting.

Feeding foals

by Andrew Droppo, Manager
Rooney Feeds Ltd.

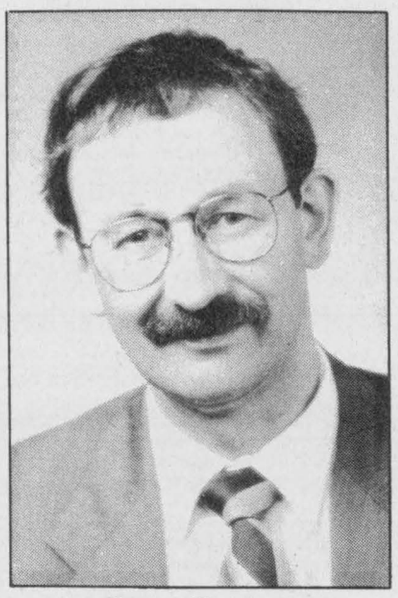

Foals often never reach their full performance potential or mature at their genetic potential for height and weight because of improper feeding and management during their first year of life.

A foal should weigh approximately 10 per cent of its mature weight at birth, 45 per cent at six months and 66 per cent at one year of age. They should gain over two pounds daily from birth to weaning and over one pound daily from six months to one year of age. Growth in terms of height is more dynamic. A foal should be approximately 85 per cent of its mature height at six months of age and 90 per cent at one year.

For optimum growth, foals should receive a high quality creep ration from about two weeks of age fed twice a day. Free choice water is essential for normal growth of foals. By the time a foal is three months old, 50 per cent of its nutrients must come from something other than milk. Foals weaned past mid-August without being creep fed have had their growth restricted. If the restriction has been lengthy it can be permanent. Creep fed foals are usually weaned with few problems or setbacks. Wean when they have adapted to their post-weaning diet and are familiar with their surroundings. This will minimize the stresses of no milk, new feed, new surroundings or transportation imposed on the foal at this time.

Each year numerous foals are mismanaged to the extent they never reach their full potential in terms of size and performance. Major foal problems include contracted tendons, epiphysitis and nutrient deficiencies. Common causes include late weaning, overfeeding grain following weaning, underfeeding, feeding unbalanced diets, misuse of minerals, and lack of proper supplementation to hay-grain diets.

Many foals never reach their full potential for size and performance because of nutrient deficiencies in their first year of life. Many of the common deficiencies are not readily observable, so even experienced horse handlers sometimes do not realize they have occurred or are occurring. Although horse people as a rule conscientiously try to feed well, a lack of basic understanding often results in an improper diet for the horse.

Early meeting planned

Dianne Fetterly
Agricultural editor

TORONTO — Ontario Federation of Agriculture President Roger George says he's looking forward to working with Ontario's newly elected Progressive Conservative government.

"We'll work with (Premier elect) Mike Harris as we would any other party," said George in a telephone conversation following last Thursday's provincial election.

George says he's looking foward to an early meeting with the Conservative's minister of agriculture to discuss rural concerns, but adds he wants to give the new Premier and his cabinet time to settle in.

"Harris has 82 people to choose from (for agriculture minister) and I expect he will wait a few weeks before making any announcements," explained George.

As for who might get the agriculture post, George says he wouldn't want to speculate. However, he does say that SD&G and East Grenville MPP Noble Villeneuve would make a worthy candidate.

"Noble is a good man and he's worked well with farmers... But while we believe he might be in (Harris') cabinet, we're not sure where he will end up," said George.

Berried Alive

The hot and hazy days of summer are once again upon us. It is now time for lounging in the shade, swimming at the beach, and sampling locally grown produce. There is no need to buy produce stamped "Grown in California". Eastern Ontario is home to many fruit and vegetable growers, including a much-changed Mountain Orchard and Berry Farm for the summer of 1995.

With almost perfect growing conditions this spring, Mountain Orchard and Berry Farm is preparing for the largest crop of strawberries and raspberries they have ever seen. Coincidentally they have just completed a new produce sales area. Here you can take a break from the hot sun and enjoy a cold drink of water, try an ice cream treat, or sit back and enjoy the "fruits" of your labor.

Why not come out and pick some berries for yourself; earlier in the morning is the best time to pick. Mountain Orchard and Berry Farm is conveniently located only minutes from both Kemptville and Winchester. If you don't have time to pick, their experienced pickers will be happy to pick them for you. If you require a large amount of berries, you are advised to call ahead to ensure an adequate supply. Imagine... strawberry pies, strawberry jam, strawberry shortcake and everyone's favorite - berries fresh from the field. Picking is expected to start during the third week of June. Call the Berry Hotline at 989-5601 to find out hours of operation and picking conditions.
