SUMMER HOME AT AULTSVILLE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a summer house at Aultsville late Friday night. Starting shortly after 11.30 in the evening, fire spread rapidly through the frome summer house of George Cramer, situated next to the Customs House at the foot of River street. Withinn two hours the building was levelled. Fast work on the part of a volunteer bucket brigade kept the flames from spreading to the Customs buildings.

During the winter months, the house had not been used, but a day or two previous to the fire, one load of furniture had been placed inside. At the time of the outbreak no one was in the house. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

MRS. JOHN DesROSIERS

There passed suddenly away on Sunday afternoon, at her home in Windsor, Ont., Margaret Kennedy, wife of Mr. John DesRosiers, formerly of Morrisburg. The funeral service was held on Wednesday, May 20th, at Windsor, where interment was made.

Mrs. DesRosiers is survived by her husband, two brothers and three sisters.

W.I. DISTRICT ANNUAL HELD AT CHESTERVILLE

The annual district meeting of the Dundas Women's Institute was held in the Sunday School Hall of Trinity United Church, Chesterville, on Tuesday, with delegates present from Winchester, Williamsburg, Morewood, Morrisburg, Iroquois, Matilda and Chesterville. Mrs. J. Singleton, Winchester, presided over the sessions.

The morning session convened at 10 o'clock, the meeting being opened by singing the Institute Ode and recitation of the creed. A resolution from Dundas District having been sent to the Ottawa convention last year regarding the Women's Institutes of Ontario having a definite objective, a letter was read from Dr. Wherrett stressing the need of a Sanitorium in Eastern Ontario to care for tuberculous patients, and urging the Women's Institute to support this project. The secretary reported 306 members with an attendancefor the year of 2208. $1,982.34 was raised and $1,115.79 expended. All the branches have been active during the year, and assistance has been given to various needs in the different communities. Service is the keynote of the success of the Women's Institute, and this was exemplified in the reports. Relief has been given to many, Christmas stockings and baskets distributed, contributions made to the cancer fund, libraries, cemeteries and many other worthy projects. One branch paid for the removal of tonsils of six school children, and supplied medicine when required; a child was sent to the school for the deaf, and several children were supplied with glasses. Mrs. Tanner, Federation representative, brought greetings from the Board, and gave a resume of the work.

The afternoon session opened at two o'clock, when reports were received from the several branches. Rev. Robt. Tait brought greetings from the church, and paid tribute to the work of the Women's Institute, not only in Ontario, but also in Saskatchewan, where he formerly lived. Mr. W.H. Casselman, Reeve of Chesterville, welcomed the delegates and visitors on behalf of the town. This was replied to very graciously by Miss Jane Smith, Morrisburg. Mrs. Catherine Foster, a former member of this district, brought greetings from Stormont district. Solos were contributed by Mrs. W.N. Fulton, Mrs. Geo. Merkley and Rev. Mr. Tait.

Miss Esther Slichter, of the Department of Agriculture, was present and gave a talk on a new co-operative program which is coming into effect this year.

A new feature was introduced this year, an exhibition of quilts, and 25 lovely quilts were shown. These had to be the work of Institute members. Miss Slichter, Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Tanner were the judges, and they had great difficulty in awarding the prizes, as all the quilts showed much time and work. Mrs. Gilroy of Winchester won first prize, Mrs. Harkness of Matilda, second, and a third prize was awarded a member of the Morewood branch.

The officers for the year 1935-36 are:

President—Mrs. J. Singleton.
1st Vice-Pres.—Miss Jane Smith.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Whittaker.
3rd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. A. McInnis.
Sec.Treas.—Miss E. McGee.
District Rep.—Mrs. A. Peterson.
Alternate—Mrs. Roy Fetterly.
Chairmen of Standing Committees:

Canadianization, Mrs. Glasgow, of Morewood; Education, Miss Jane Smith, Morrisburg; Relief and Community Activities, Miss Davy, Iroquois; Health and Child Welfare, Mrs. Kincaid, Winchester; Home Economics, Mrs. A. Whitteker, Williamsburg; Historical Research, Mrs. Lee Harkness, Matilda; Peace Education and International Relationships, Mrs. L. Doering, Chesterville; Agriculture, Mrs. Johnson, Brinston.

The meeting closed by singing "God Save the King," and the visitors and delegates were entertained tos upper by Chesterville. The next meeting will be held in Winchester.

HORSE RACES AUGMENTED BY BAND CONCERT AND SOFTBALL

Mr. George D. Howith, Honourary President of the Morrisburg Driving Club, announces that having received a consistent deluge in contributions towards the meet to be held on Monday afternoon, June 3rd, the program will now include a Band Concert by the Cornwall City Band, afternoon and evening.

The patrons of Horse Races will be very happy to learn that some of the best horses in Eastern Ontario and New York State are entered. The Races will start at 2.15, Standard Time, weather permitting.

The Baseball Championship Game will be extended into a double-header, with an All Star team from Massena, N.Y., contributing jointly with the Morrisburg-Waddington Ferry entry of the Senior Independent City League of Ottawa.

DECORATION DAY SERVICE

The annual Decoration Day service will be held on Sunday, June 2nd, 1935, 2.30 p.m., at the Monument Lot, Morrisburg, under the auspices of Branch No. 48, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L. All returned men are asked to attend, meeting at the Club Room, Bradfield's Block, at 2.00 p.m. Cornwall pipe band will be in attendance. Dress mufti, medals will be worn.

MRS. A. H. BECKSTED

Death came with startling suddenness to one of our most highly esteemed citizens, when Mrs. A.H. Becksted, with barely time to make a brief statement of her sudden illness, died at her home in Morrisburg, on Saturday evening, May 25.

Esteemed by all with whom she was acquainted, her death has caused widespread sorrow through this community, where her activities in the home, church work and community welfare were recognized and appreciated by a large circle of relatives and friends. While in early life she manifested her affection by devoting the greater portion of her time to her family, in late years she was able to spend the major portion of her time in the advancement of the United Church, of which congregation she was one of the most active members. She was a Life Member of the W.M.S., a member of the Adult Bible Class, and a member of the Ladies' Association. As a last tribute of respect, as well as an outward manifestation of their appreciation of her services, the members of the W.M.S. attended the funeral as a body.

Mrs. Becksted was born in Dundela on May 10th, 1860, daughter of the late David Hamilton and Agnes Cooper. Fifty-one years ago she was united in marriage to Mr. Allan Herman Becksted, who predeceased her on July 10th, 1923. She is survived by one daughter, (Eva) Mrs. M.J. Deeks, of Pembroke; one daughter (Luella) Mrs. F.F. Tracy, of Lacombe, Alta., died October 26th, 1930. She also leaves two sisters and one brother: Mrs. Jos. Louden of Morrisburg, Mrs. Simeon Ault of Spencerville, and Mr. Chas. Hamilton of Iroquois. Two brothers, James and Wesley Hamilton, predeceased her. Three grandchildren, Leda, Lloyd and Harley Deeks of Pembroke, also survive.

The floral offerings included: Pillow, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Deeks and family; wreath, Dr. Louden and Mother; Sprays: Mr. and Mrs. Simon Ault and family, Spencerville, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hamilton, Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hamilton, Iroquois, Mr. and Mrs. R.R. Lynn, Calgary, Mr. F.F. Tracy, Lacombe, Alta., Miss Edith Tracy, Toronto, Mrs. Sara Tracy, Minesing, Fellow Workers of United Church, Morrisburg, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Smiths Falls staff; Baskets: Pembroke Friends, Mrs. Geo. Meikle; Cut Flowers: Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Kerr, Miss VanAllen; Miss Minnie Tuttle and Mr. and Mrs. Jed Tuttle, Iroquois; Mr. and Mrs. Howard, of Pembroke.

The funeral service, which was very largely attended, was conducted in the United Church on Tuesday, May 20th, at 2 p.m., Rev. Dr. MacRae officiating, assisted by Rev. Dr. McIntosh of Pembroke, after which the remains were placed in the family plot in Fairview Cemetery.

The pall bearers were Messrs J.H. Wiggins, F. Stata, F. Broder, F. Stewart, J. Weston and Jas. Zeron.

Among the friends from a distance who attended the funeral were: Rev. G.A. and Mrs. McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Ritchie, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. James Hamilton, Mrs. Sam Bromley, Mrs. Coburn, Mrs. H.J. Church, Mr. Chas. Neill, all of Pembroke; Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Mason, Smiths Falls; Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Hinton, Brockville.

CHAPTER I

OUT OF THE NIGHT

Out of the medley of vague sounds that formed the background of the dark West Indian night, came a noise—undefined and faint, almost too faint to be located; yet it was a disturbance that brought a sense of eeriness.

Maud Barron lisened intently. She could not tell what had aroused her from sleep, nor whether this strange disturbance came from the inside of the big house, or from outside among the dark recesses of the surrounding trees. But it had come, and she lay thrilling from head to foot as one thrills when awakened suddenly and with a swift sense of fear.

She got out of bed, drew her dressing gown about her shoulders, and turned to the mantlepiece where her travelling watch glowed in the dimness. The hands pointed to just past midnight. And as she stood looking at the illuminated face of the watch the sound came again.

She had almost expected it, and yet she was startled again. It was a strange sound. Through the humming silence of the night she heard a muffled thud, thud, thud, thud, like the dulled footfall of a man tramping down the mountain track. She had heard such a tramp in the interior, along the track towards the Blue Mountains on bright mornings when the negro women came down to market with their baskets of produce on their heads. Their bare feet struck the dusty ground like that, giving a similar sound as she had passed them.

Suddenly the girl smiled to herself, but it was not a confident smile. She knew she was wrong, though she pretended to explain the thing.

"It was the dog," she murmured. "Of course it was the dog. He's padding about somewhere—I'll see."

She went to the window and leaned out, searching the lawn with her gaze. But she did not see any dog.

And as she looked fear gripped her again. She drew in her head and a wave of coldness swept over her. She would have screamed, but she could not utter a sound.

Tap! tap! tap! Thrup! thrup! thrup!

Then silence as before.

It came from outside, this sound, there was no doubt about it now. It was a sound of ill-omen, she felt it in her bones. She shivered.

It had come from the pathway that wound round the house. Why did it not come nearer? Why did it not come to this side so that she could see and understand? She told herself not to be silly, not to let her nerves get the better of her, not to imagine things, not to be hysterical; and all the time she tried to master herself she knew that something out of the ordinary was there in the open.

She thought of the secret cult of the Obeah, the worship of the green snake, the mysterious Voodooism with which the West Indies is saturated. She had heard tales of nightly ceremonies, of gruesome terrors, of orgies in the forests which whites approach at their peril. She had been long enough in the Indies to know that no white can pretend to know the islands with final understanding. Any negro might be a papaloy, any coloured woman might be a mameloy, priest and priestess of the cult that survives in spite of every attempt to smother it.

"Perhaps a nigger making for the forest," she reflected; and again she knew she was merely making an excuse and not an explanation. She looked out of her window again; and her hand flew to her throat to stifle the grasp that surged up within her.

Along the wall of the house, on a level with her window, something glimmered. It was opposite her father's study, but it was no light from the room. It seemed to hang in the air about a yard from the study window. Now it moved closer. . . .

It was less than a foot from the window when darkness was split by a blinding flash that blazed from the study window and tore the black night with swift, white brilliance, dazzling and startling.

Maud Barron screamed as she threw her hands to her face to shut out that piercing, painful light; and immediately her cry died there came another, the second one hoarse and terrible; then a groan as from a man in awful pain.

The groan galvanised Maud Barron into action. She dashed towards the door of her room, threw it open, and ran along the corridor, calling aloud in her excitement.

She reached her father's study and burst into the apartment.

"Father! Father!"

The room was in darkness, but she saw his form silhouetted against the pale sky. He was seated in a chair. The window was wide open. He did not reply to her cry.

Her trembling hands searched for matches which generally lay on his table. She found a box and struck a light. As she was lighting the gas bracket above the mantelpiece, two of the servants, aroused by her screams, appeared at the door.

"Is anything wrong, Miss! What is it?"

Their voices were suddenly hushed, for Maud Barron had knelt beside her father's form and was gazing up into his face with an expression of terrible anguish and apprehension.

"Father! Speak to me! Speak to me!" but James Barron did not answer.

He did not hear his daughter's pitiful sobs and appeals. He did not know that several servants were in the room, staring dazedly at him and his daughter's tragic, now silent, form. A hush suddenly fell on them all; a hush that was broken presently by the moan that escaped from Maud Barron's lips as she sank unconscious to the floor.

One of the servants tiptoed forward, fingers on lips, hesitatingly, and perred into the face of the man in the chair. He sat very stiff and erect, his right hand dropping over the arm of his chair. His eyes were wide open, his jaw had dropped, his mouth shaped as if he had tried to call for help and had been unable to utter the word. And on his face was an expression of terror, a frightful contortion as of one who has been stricken dumb at the sight of some awful vision, some dreadful paralysing fear that had struck his faculties to stone.

One look was enough to reveal that he was past all human help. James Barron was dead.

Saved by the Modern Nose

Picture the consequences if the powers of smell which once belonged to the human race were restored. There can be no civilization without smells. To warm ourselves we burn coal and other fuel, producing smells which we do not notice, though if our noses were perfect they would be loathsome. In our houses there must always be tiny escapes of gas, which luckily our modern noses do not detect. Nor are they offended by the smell of the wool or cotton of which clothes are made, or the leather of our footwear and the thousand and one other odours which would become intolerable.

A Word Of Praise

I wonder why we are so prone to censure and to blame?
Can't we forget the faults, and seek for virtue and acclaim?
I wonder why we always see the flaws and faults alone?
Are there no virtues there? And are the faults worse than our own?
O, let us give a word of praise to those who daily plod;
That word may be the ray of hope that lights a soul to God.

GULF STREAM FALLACIES

It Flows On Like A Real River, According To Long Study

The maps give us a poor conception of the Gulf Stream. They were made primarily to help navigators, who are not keenly interested in what goes on below the surface of the water.

As the years have passed, those who make the earth their special study have been more and more impressed by the theory of the Danish geographer, Nielsen, that the Gulf Stream flows like a real river, and this is without either diffusing much into the Gulf of Mexico or receiving much water from the Gulf. To test this view Yale University sent the schooner Mabel Taylor to the Gulf of Mexico in 1932. Instructions to the scientists on board: Determine the saltiness of the Gulf Stream at various points and find how it flows as a body. Give the world a three-dimensional picture of the Gulf Stream. Illuminate the chemistry of the Stream.

STUDYING THE CURRENT

At last week's meeting of the National Geophysical Union in Washington Professor A. E. Parr of Yale gave an account of the Mabel Taylor's findings. The schooner spent all of her time in the Caribbean current, which passes north from the Caribbean Sea through the Yucatan Channel, and in the Florida current which flows through the Florida Straits. Thus was the problem of inflow and outflow studied—the masses and kind of water that enter the Gulf of Mexico from the Yucatan Channel and that leave it through the Florida Straits.

It turns out that Nielsen is right. The Gulf of Mexico is saltier at the surface than the Caribbean current—exactly the opposite of what was supposed. The Caribbean current sweeps straight from the Yucatan Channel to Florida. Below the surface there is some Caribbean water which loses itself in the Gulf, but the so-called Gulf Stream is about as independent of the Gulf of Mexico as the Mississippi River.

Gladiolus Popular In The Dominion

The gladiolus is deservedly one of the most popular flowers in Canada. Also it needs very little care except at planting and digging time. About the middle of May is a good time for planting but, as pointed out by the Horticultural Division, Dominion Experimental Farms, the exact date varies according to locality because the frost must be out of the ground and the soil dried. Sandy loam, well fertilized the previous year, is the ideal soil, but gladioli will do well on heavier soils. In a light, poor soil they would probably fail in a hot dry season. After planting the soil must be cultivated frequently to keep down the weeds and render the surface loose. During very dry weather a thorough soaking with water once a week is very beneficial, and it is well to remember that when the time comes for cutting the blooms at least two sets of leaves should be left on the plants, so that the corm will come to full growth and so be in good condition for growing next year. There are hundred of varieties to choose from, but the Primulinus hybrids which are quite distinct in appearance from the large-growing varieties are becoming more popular every year. The corms, as obtained from the seedsman, should be planted from four to six inches deep and about three inches apart in a sunny position in the garden.

"An angel is a person who has conquered self and risen to high levels of character. No person can be endowed with virtue or holiness."
—Edwin Markham.

Canadians Well Fed

Canada certainly does not starve its people if we may judge by its recorded consumption. In 1933 we ate, per capita, 136.99 pounds of meat, 10.68 pounds of poultry, 30.1 pounds of butter, 3.30 pounds of cheese and 257 eggs. The meat bill was as follows pork, 74,58 lbs. beef, 56.09 pounds; and mutton and lamb, 6.32 pounds.

WHAT DOES Your HANDWRITING REVEAL?

All Rights Reserved

Geoffrey St. Clair
Graphologist

(Editor's Note: Many of our readers have already obtained a character study from their handwriting. Have YOU? The revelations will certainly interest you and they may surprise you. The author renews his invitation to readers following this week's article.)

* * *

I have another letter this week from a young lady—she is 21 years of age—who says she has fallen in love with a married man, and, to use her own phase, "simply cannot give him up".

Well, of course, the decision as to her future course of action must come from herself, but as she has written to me about her problem, I deduce hat she is worrying over it, and I am therefore going to give her my candid opinion.

Her own handwriting shows that she is very affectionate and of a markedly sympathetic nature. She responds very readily to emotional influences, and I have no doubt that it was, in the first place at least, this eager readiness to sympathise with others that led her into her present attachment.

However, she also sent me some of the writing of the man in question, also that of the man's wife. And from my inspection of all three writings I cannot but come to the conclusion that this girl is making a very grave mistake.

Apart altogether from the moral angles to this question, the writings tell me that this is the case. Both the man and his wife are of the self-interested type. They look after their own interests firstly and lastly. I would say that the man and his wife are well-suited.

But I cannot say the same thing about the girl who writes to me and the man. I do not think that the man is seriously in love with her. He may be infatuated with her, but I suggest that, if the girl insists on his getting a divorce in order that they can be married, she will find that what I say is merely the truth.

He is interested in her for the moment, but has no sincere desire to ruin his present conditions of life and marriage.

So I say to the girl who wrote me, in all sincerity, that she is far too good to take the chance of ruining her life for the sake of this man. Give him up. You will find happiness in other directions and in a more permanent manner.

* * *

I have a letter from a lady who signs herself A.K., and the postmark on the letter was Edmonton. I would like this lady to write me again and please enclose her full address so that I may write to her confidentially.

* * *

Not all the problems with which this well-known author has to deal are given in these articles. There are many that are too confidential to be included and in all cases, Mr. St. Clair is able to help sincerely and without bias. Would YOU like his help? Have you any friends whose true characters you would like to know? Or do you merely wish to find out what YOUR handwriting tells about yourself? Send specimens of the writings you wish analysed, stating birthdate in each case. Enclose 10c coin for each specimen, and include with a 3c stamped addressed envelope, to: Geoffrey St. Clair, Room 421, 73 Adelaide Street West, Toronto, Ont. Letters will be answered as quickly as possible, and letters will be confidential.

Why at 40 You Think You're "GROWING OLD"

It's Frequently Just an "Idea." Not "Old Age." And According to Scientists, May be Something No More Alarming Than A Touch Of Acid Stomach

At about 40, many people think they're "growing old." They're tired a lot. Have headaches. Stomach upsets. Dizziness. Nausea.

Well, scientists say the cause, in a great many cases, is merely an acid condition of the stomach. The thing to do is simply to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, all you do is take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed.

Try this. You'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS'", or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Made in Canada.

Also in Tablet Form:

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Woman's World

By Mair M. Morgan

All the world loves a lover, particularly in the merry month of June, and every bride-elect looks forward to the happy parties given for her. Whether luncheon, tea, dinner or evening buffet, the menu should include the daintiest of foods, perfectly prepared and served.

This luncheon menu has a splendid combination of flavours.

Cream of Watercress Soup
Fresh Asparagus Chicken Timbales
Queen Tea Muffins
Fresh Strawberry Ice Cream
Swedish Cookies Coffee

Queen Tea Muffins

1¾ cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
4 tablespoons sugar
¾ cup milk
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg, well beaten

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift again. Cream butter, add sugar, and cream together thoroughly. Add egg, then flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (450 degree F.) 20 minutes. Makes 18 small muffins.

Fresh Strawberry Ice Cream

Made at home with minute tapioca, is unusually smooth and creamy.

½ cup sugar
1 pint fresh strawberries, hulled
3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
¼ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons light corn syrup
2 tablespoons sugar
2 egg whites
1 cup cream, whipped

Add ½ cup sugar to strawberries and crush well. Let stand 30 minutes. Add quick-cooking tapioca to milk in top of double boiler. Place over rapidly boiling water, and bring to scalding point (allow 3 to 5 minutes), and cook 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Strain hot mixture, stirring, (not rubbing) through very fine sieve onto salt and corn syrup, and mix thoroughly. Chill. Add 2 tablespoons sugar to egg whites and beat until stiff; fold into cold tapioca mixture. Fold in cream and strawberries. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze as rapidly as possible—3 to 4 hours usually required. Or turn mixture into container, cover tightly, and pack in equal parts ice and salt 2 to 3 hours. Makes 1 quart ice cream.

Assorted sandwiches, cookies and "cakelets" are splendid for afternoon tea. They can be attractively arranged, too, and add to the dainty appearance of the table.

Coconut Vanities

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 cup sugar
½ can southern style coconut
4 tablespoons butter or other shortening
1 egg, unbeaten
¼ cup milk
½ cup orange juice
1 egg white, stiffly beaten
4 tablespoons sugar

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Add orange rind to butter and cream thoroughly. Add 1 cup sugar gradually and cream together well. Add egg and beat very thoroughly. Add flour, alternately with milk and orange juice, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Turn into greased pan, 15 x 10 inches. Cover with thin layer of meringue made by beating 4 tablespoons sugar into beaten egg white. Sprinkle with coconut. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes. Cool. Cut in diamond-shaped pieces. Makes 2 dozen vanities.

Chocolate Macaroons

2 egg whites
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
1½ cups premium shred coconut

Beat eggs whites until foamy throughout; add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Add salt and vanilla. Fold in chocolate; then coconut. Drop from teaspoon on ungreased, heavy paper. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) 20 minutes, or until done. Cool 5 minutes before removing from paper. Makes 2 dozen 1½ inch macaroons.

UPSIDE DOWN CAKES ARE PERFECT DESSERTS

These clever "upside down" cakes make complete desserts because they include both fine fruit and tender cake in perfect combination. Of course they can't be made from any standard cake recipe because the flour and shortening used would make them too crumbly.

The recipe given here has been carefully tested to give a perfect upside down cake. The flour specified is the very finest winter wheat flour because its delicate gluten will give a fine-textured, light cake.

Peach Upside Down Cake

1¼ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup granulated sugar
4 tablespoons butter
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
4 tablespoons soft butter or other shortening
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sliced peaches (fresh or canned)

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and granulated sugar, and sift together three times. Add butter. Combine egg, milk, and vanilla. Add to flour mixture stirring until all flour is dampened; then beat vigorously 1 minute.

Melt 4 tablespoons butter in 8 x 8 x 2 pan or 8-inch skillet, over low flame. Add brown sugar (¼ teaspoon nutmeg may be mixed with brown sugar, if desired); stir until melted. On this arrange peach slices. Turn batter over contents of pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes, or until done. Loosen cake from sides of pan with spatula or broad blade knife. Serve cake upside down with peaches on top. Garnish with whipped cream.

Canned pineapple, cooked apricots, or sliced apples may be used instead of peaches.

WORK-OUT-OF-DOORS CURE FOR ALL ILLS

Britain's oldest woman gardener, Mrs. Elizabeth Chaney, aged ninety, of Hambledean Nurseries, Botley (Hants), is chief assistant to her grandson, J. C. Anton, who controls the nurseries.

Ninety Mrs. Chaney may be, but she still spends a strenuous six hours a day weeding, potting and watering the greenhouse plants.

A merry little lady she is. When next you feel that the garden is a little too much for you at your time of life, think of Mrs. Chaney's task the other day. Let Mr. Anton tell it:—

"We put in a late crop of potatoes," he said.

"It took us all day, but was grandmother tired? She was not! She sat up late that night — reading a thriller. She is enthralled by a mystery story.

Extremely Methodical

"She's more useful to me than any paid man," said Mr. Anton. "She is so methodical.

"Her husband lived to be ninety-two. He died on the Gunnersbury Park estate of the Rothschilds, just outside London, a few months ago. They were employed on the estate for nearly thirty years.

Here's what Mrs. Chaney has to say about gardening.

"Once I was a terrible sufferer from coughs, colds and chills," she confided.

"Since I took up gardening I have never had a recurrence of those complaints. My advice to those who want to live long and be free from ailments is not to coddle themselves, but get out in the open air, stay in the open and garden."

She has worked hard ever since she can remember—since she was a little girl in Charlton, near Wantage.

NEW CURTAINS ADD FRESH NOTE TO KITCHEN

For the kitchen, a fresh note may be given by introducing curtains of one of the dainty new voiles or muslins which are both washable and fadeless. They are often sold as dress materials, which means they are a yard wide.

They may be had with a single line check in any one of many attractive colors on a white or cream ground, or you may prefer a tartan effect. Then there is a great variety of colored spots, also on a cream or white ground. Any of these would make a pleasant change from the usual kitchen curtains.

HINTS

Mix together three ounces of tin, three ounces bismuth and six ounces mercury, and warm in a small, clean iron vessel or a large iron ladle. Paste the edge of the glass with a strip of paper to prevent the mixture from running off during the process of silvering. Thoroughly clean and warm the glass, then pour a small quantity of the hot (not boiling) mixture on to it, tilting the glass first one way and then the other until the worn spots are well covered. Remove the paper, set the glass aside to dry, and when quite hard apply a protective coat of paint to the back.

* * *

Wrinkled Pattern

Do not try to use a wrinkled pattern, or the new garment may be ruined. A wrinkled paper pattern can be pressed out smoothly with a warm iron.

* * *

Kitchen Walls

When the kitchen walls and ceiling have been patched so many times that they have become unsightly, paste thin muslin over the surface and then paint it.

* * *

Oil up and sharpen the lawn mower.

* * *

Dig Deeply

Don't fail to dig deeply. The deeper the soil is turned the better the plants will grow.

* * *

Fluffy Hair

A vinegar rinse after shampooing real blonde hair will help make it light and fluffy.

* * *

Garden Production

Study early, late and midseason vegetables in your planting plans for succession.

* * *

Have Garden Tools Handy

You need tape lines, stakes, plant labels, etc., for garden operations. Get them in and have them handy.

Don't Quit!

"When things go wrong as they sometimes will
When the road you're treading seems all up hill,
When the funds are low and the debts are high,
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit,
Rest, if you must—but don't you quit"

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

OUR DAY OF WORSHIP.—Genesis 2:2, 3; Exodus 20:8-11; Psalm 100; John 4:20-24; Acts 20:7; Colossians 3:15-17. Golden Text. —God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship in spirit and truth. John 4:24.

THE LESSON IN ITS SETTING

TIME AND PLACE.—The words uttered in Genesis were, of course, spoken in the garden of Eden, at the time of man's creation. The first giving of the law occurred on Mount Sinai in 1490 B.C. The date of Psalm 100 cannot be determined. The discourse with the woman of Samaria occurred in A.D. 27, at Sychar, in Samaria. Paul visited Troas, a city on the coast of Mysia, in Asia Minor, about A.D. 59. The Epistle to the Colossians was written while Paul was a prisoner in Rome, approximately A.D. 64.

"Make a joyful noise unto Jehovah, all ye lands." Never will the world be in its proper condition till with one unanimous shout it adores the only God.

"Serve Jehovah with gladness." Only those who know and worship God can ever experience such abounding joy as is expressed in this Psalm. "Come before his presence with singing." The first song in the Bible is that of Moses and the Israelites (Exodus 15:1-21), celebrating their deliverance from Egypt.

"Know ye that Jehovah, he is God." That is, the nations were to "learn from the works that he has wrought for Israel that Jehovah is the only true God. "It is that he that hath made us, and we are his." This is the second of seven things the Psalmist reminds us we ought to know. "We are his people, and the sheep of his pasture." When we realize the relationship into which God has brought us, that his Son is the Great Shepherd of all who trust him, joy and thanksgiving spontaneously burst from our hearts.

"Enter into his gates with thanksgiving." If every Sunday morning each believer would begin to think of those things for which he is most thankful, how glorious a spirit would prevail over our services of worship! "And into his courts with praise." Into whatever court of the Lord you may enter, let your admission be the subject of praise. "Give thanks unto him and bless his name." We should give thanks always, because of what God is, because we know him and are known by him, and because he has made us, and we are his.

"For Jehovah is good." The moral quality of God is the essential characteristic of Christianity. "His loving-kindness endureth for ever." A phrase first used by David, 1 Chron. 16:34, 41; and often in the Psalms, especially Psalm 136. "And his faithfulness unto all generations." God is faithful to his promises.

"Our fathers." By this she probably referred only to the ancestors of the Samaritan people. "Worshipped in this mountain." This would be the one rising up from the very place where the well was located, Mount Gerizim. "And ye say, that in Jerusalem in the the place where men ought to worship." By making this statement, she merely meant that those people, of whom he was one, namely, the Jews, held such a belief.

"Jesus said unto her, Woman, believe me, the hour cometh." There is a divine order, in accordance with which each part of the whole scheme of salvation is duly fulfilled (cf. 2:4; 5:25, 28; 16:2, 4, 25, 32.) "When neither in this mountain." Here a temple had been built in the time of Nehemiah, but destroyed by John Hyrcanus, 120 B.C., and never rebuilt, although the Samaritans have never ceased to worship and offer sacrifices on this mountain, from that time even down to the present day. "Nor in Jerusalem, shall ye worship the Father." The conception of God as Father is the last and greatest revelation. Beyond such conception it is not possible to go if fatherhood means love.

"Ye worship that which ye know not." The Samaritans accepted only the first five books of the Bible, namely, the Pentateuch. Their conception of God was incomplete. "We worship that which we know." The Jews had developed themselves in constant contact with the divine manifestation; they remained in the school of the God of revelation, and, in this living revelation, they preserved the principle of a true knowledge. "For salvation is from the Jews." This wonderful people, whose fit symbol is the burning bush, was chosen by sovereign grace to stand amidst the surrounding idolatry as the bearer of the knowledge of the only true God.

"But the hour cometh, and now is." The hour had arrived because Christ had arrived. "When the true worshippers." That is, the ideal worshippers. "Shall worship the Father." Worship is that attitude which recognizes the throne, which recognizes superiority. "In spirit and truth." The spirit is that part of man's nature which holds, or is capable of holding, intercourse with the eternal order. "For such doth the Father seek to be his worshippers."

"God has a spirit: and they that worship him must worship in spirit and truth." The spirituality of God and his fatherhood are here brought together side by side by our Lord.

"And let the peace of Christ." It is that peace which Christ bestows (John 14:27), which he has himself secured by his blood, as our Redeemer, and he dispenses it as the result of that atoning work (Eph. 2:14-17). "Rule in your hearts." Wherever there is a conflict of motives or impulses or reasons, the peace of Christ must step in and decide which is to prevail. "To the which also ye were called in one body." Being so called, all who share in it of course find themselves knit to each other by possession of a common gift. "And be ye thankful." Thankful for Christ, for his work that provided peace.

"Let the word of Christ." The word of Christ comprises not only the words which he himself uttered, but the word or message about him, or, in other words, the gospel of Christ. "Dwell in you richly." Christian truth is not to be received mechanically, but to become actually a part of us. "In all wisdom." Where the gospel in its power, it will effloresce into principles of thought and action. "Teaching and admonishing one another with psalms and hymns and spiritual songs." Singing with grace in your hearts unto God." Whatever we can or cannot do with the lips, it is still possible to sing in the heart, for if only the inner life is in tune with God, our whole being will in one way or another manifest itself to God's praise and glory.

'And whatsoever ye do, in word or in deed." Our being in Christ interpenetrates every part of our daily life; he is Lord of all we are and do. "Do all in the name of the Lord Jesus." In obedience to his authority, in dependence on his help, in the light of his will, and to the praise of his glory.

Today is the only day we have,
Of tomorrow we cannot be sure;
To seize the chance as it comes along
Is the way to make it secure.
For every year is a shorter year,
And this is the truth sublime:
A moment misspent is a jewel lost
From the treasury of time.

"Young people today have found everything out before they have had time to look at it."—J. B. Priestley.

HOW TO GIVE

We are told that one day a wealthy man, facing an enemy, was shot at and escaped only because an employee jumped in front of him and took the bullet which was intended for his employer. The injured man lay for weeks in the hospital, and the rich man did not even pay the bills. The wife said in defence of his well-nigh incredible action, "You don't know my husband. He is generous enough, but he does not know how to give. He never learned. He was too busy making money to learn." It is possible that the startling miserliness of some men and the almost unbelievable parismony of others may be due to this fact—they never learned to give. They did not know that it had to be learned. They intended to be generous some day when they had amassed a fortune, but while making one they could not afford to be generous.

If this be true, then the poor man who tells himself that he cannot afford to give is deceiving himself, and if fortune ever comes his way he will discover that wealth does not bring with it the ability to give, then he will of necessity fail to acquire wealth, but if this be true, and there seem to be proofs that it is not necessarily true, then it is better to get the habit of giving and stay poor than to forget that habit and become a rich man who does not know how to give.

"Poverty is a soft pedal upon all branches of human activity, not excepting the spiritual, and even the Puritans, for all their fire, felt its throttling caress."—H. L. Mencken.

Spectator Sports!

Here's a dashing little sun-back dress with a bolero jacket. It is just as much at home in town as in the country or at the beach. Shirting cotton, pastel linen, tub silks, etc., are nice mediums.

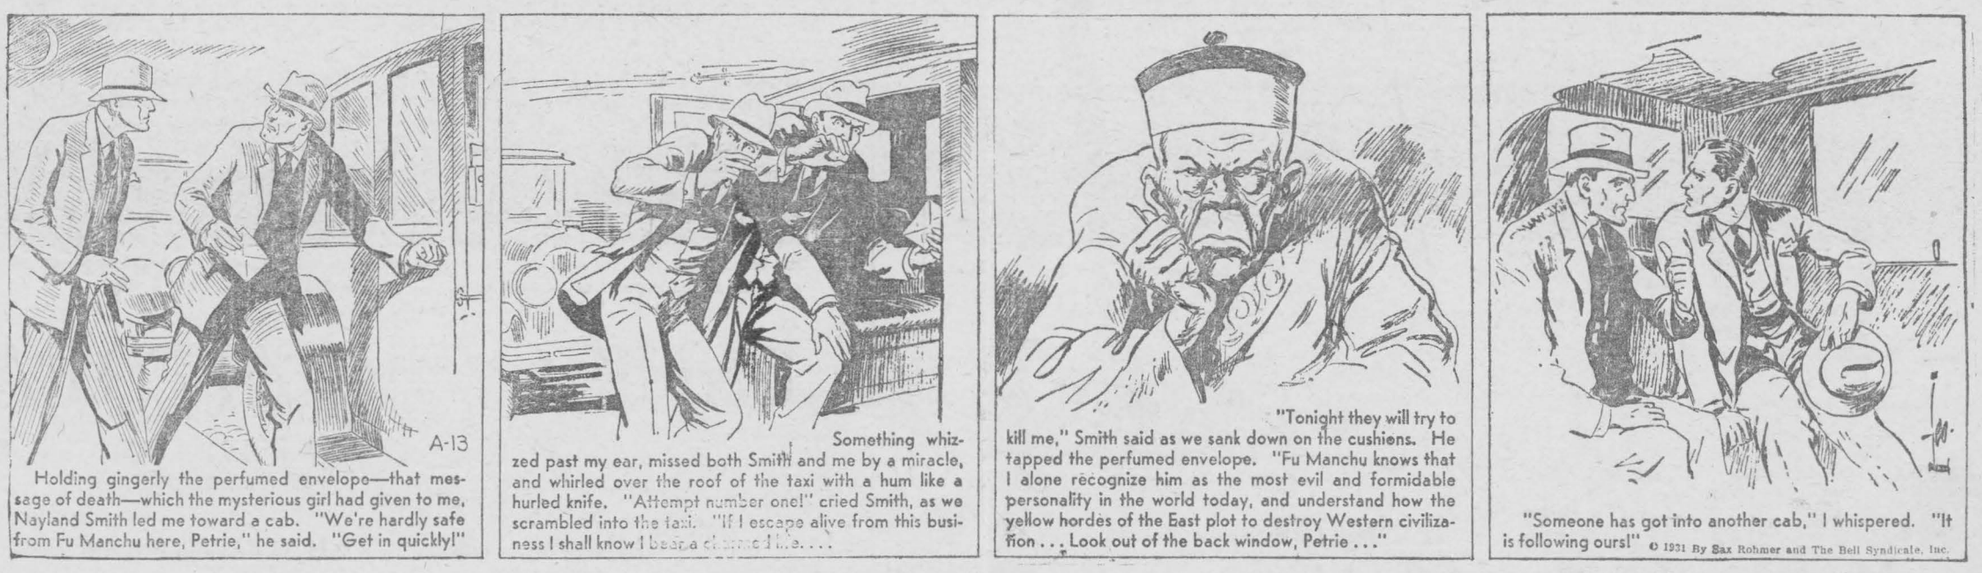

Style No. 3108 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40-inches bust. Size 16 requires 2¾ yards of 39-inch material for dress with ⅞ yard of 35-inch material for bolero.

HOW TO ORDER PATTERNS

Write your name and address plainly, giving number and size of such patterns as you want. Enclose 15c in stamps or coin (coin preferred; wrap it carefully) for each number, and address your order to Wilson Pattern Service, 73 West Adelaide St., Toronto.

FU MANCHU By Sax Rohmer

THE ZYAT KISS—Night of Peril

A-13

Holding gingerly the perfumed envelope—that message of death—which the mysterious girl had given to me, Nayland Smith led me toward a cab. "We're hardly safe from Fu Manchu here, Petrie," he said. "Get in quickly!"

Something whizzed past my ear, missed both Smith and me by a miracle, and whirled over the roof of the taxi with a hum like a hurled knife. "Attempt number one!" cried Smith, as we scrambled into the taxi. "If I escape alive from this business I shall know I bear a charmed life. . . .

"Tonight they will try to kill me," Smith said as we sank down on the cushions. He tapped the perfumed envelope. "Fu Manchu knows that I alone recognize him as the most evil and formidable personality in the world today, and understand how the yellow hordes of the East plot to destroy Western civilization . . . Look out of the back window, Petrie . . ."

"Someone has got into another cab," I whispered. "It is following ours!" © 1931 By Sax Rohmer and The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

WILL GIVE 10,000 MEN WORK ON ROADS

An agreement that will put 10,000 men to work on the trans-Canada highway in Northern Ontario was announced late yesterday in a joint statement by Hon. R.J. Manion, minister of railways, and Hon. Peter Heenan, Ontario minister of northern development.

The anouncement was made at the end of a conference between Mr. Heenan and Hon. Wesley Gordon, Dominion minister of labor, that lasted several days. Dr. Manion joined Mr. Heenan in issuing the statement in the absence of Mr. Gordon.

The agreement provides for completing "to a standard" the partially constructed section of the highway between Schreiber and Manitoba boundary and construction of 125 miles of road between Schreiber and White River.

The statement said 4,000 men would be employed on the first project and 6,000 on the second. The agreement provided also that data be collected to determine the route for the trans-Canada highway east of White River.

MR. ELGAR CASSELMAN

On Friday, May 24th, 1935, there passed away at his residence in Williamsburg, a highly respected and lifelong resident, in the person of Elgar Casselman. Although Mr. Casselman had been in failing health for some time, nothing serious was expected until a few hours before his death, when his condition became worse, and in spite of medical care and tender nursing, his death occurred on the above date.

Mr. Casselman was the son of the late Levi Casselman and his wife, Urana Empey, of Williamsburg, where he was born on July 30th, 1862. He was a successful farmer and spent his entire life on the farm on which he died. He was possessed of a kind and unassuming disposition, a good neighbour, and was highly esteemed by everyone with whom he came in contact. He was a member of the United Church and attended regularly until illness prevented him doing so.

In 1887 he married Miss Lily Barkley, who survives, as do two sons and two daughters: Ward, of Williamsburg, and Grant, on the home farm; Mrs. Roy Merkley of Elma and Mrs. Joe Soules of Ogdensburg, N.Y., and seven grandchildren. He is also survived by one brother, Thomas Casselman of Williamsburg, and two sisters, Mrs. Uracy Ulman of Crysler, and Mrs. Osborne Jackson (Alice) of New Liskeard. Two brothers, Charles and William, and one sister, Mrs. Gordon Empey (Naomi) predeceased him.

The regard in which Mr. Casselman and the members of his family are held was indicated by the large concourse of relatives and friends who assembled for the funeral on Sunday morning, which took place from his late residence to the United Church. The services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. C.A. Adey. During the service, the choir rendered a special selection, "That Beautiful Land," and by request, Miss Rose Hill and Mrs. Edgar McIntosh rendered "Will Say Good-Night Here but Good Morning Up There."

The pall bearers were Messrs Frank Casselman, O.P. Becker, Charles Phifer, Lorne McPherson, Myron Merkley and George Wingard.

Interment took place in Williamsburg cemetery.

MR. ALFRED MORRIS

Chesterville this week mourns a respected citizen in the death of Alfred Morris, who passed away in Ottawa Civic Hospital, early Sunday morning, at the age of almost 61 years. He had been ill about ten days. The late Mr. Morris was a well known blacksmith of Chesterville. While shoeing a horse on Wednesday, May 15th, he was stricken with a severe headache, and his condition became so serious that he was removed to Ottawa Civic Hospital on Monday, where for a time he seemed quite well. On Friday, however, he became worse, and in spite of two operations, passed away shortly after midnight Saturday.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon in Holy Trinity Church, Chesterville, Rev. G.O. Davies conducting the service.

The deceased was born September 16, 1874, at Bidlington, East York, shire, England, and at the age of 14 was apprenticed to the blacksmithing, where he served seven years studying and later passed his examinations as a Registered Shoeingsmith. On Christmas Day, 1898, he took as his wife, Abigail Ann Broadley, who survives her husband with their four sons, William of Cardinal, Sydney, Jack and Harry of Chesterville, as well as his sister, Helen, in England.

On coming to this country, he first followed his trade with the late S. Hutt in Berwick, afterwards working in Grantley for eight years, then moving to Chesterville. He worked at Dunbar for two years, Williamsburg two years, and for the past 11 years had conducted his own business in Chesterville, where he took an active interest in public affairs.

In early life he was interested in athletics, especially weight lifting and wrestling, being identified with Geo. Jowett, open champion middleweight wrestler, and was in charge of several bouts. In recent years, he was actively interested in hockey and other sports.

MR. HARVEY E. CASSELMAN

There passed away in Los Angeles, Calif., on May 16th, 1935, a native of Dundas County, in the person of Mr. Harvey E. Casselman. He was 67 years old, born in Winchester, Ont., a son of the late Mr. C.D. Casselman. He spent his younger days east of Morrisburg, where he was married to Addie E. Wells, daughter of the late Mr. Wm. Wells.

About 1896, Mr. and Mrs. Casselman went to California, and for the past 32 years had resided in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Casselman predeceased her husband about one year ago. Surviving are one brother, A.W. Casselman of Sacramento, Cal.; two sisters, Mary Smith, of Winchester, and Edith Whittaker, of New Jersey, and several nieces and nephews in Ontario and California.

The funeral service was held in Los Angeles, and the remains were interred in Sacramento, Calif.

MR. MYRON WEEGAR

Impressive tribute was paid the memory of Myron Weegar, a lifelong resident of Elma, who died on Thursday last, at the funeral held on Saturday afternoon from the family residence to Elma United Church. Attended by members of many district lodges, final Masonic rites were exemplified at the graveside, under auspices of Morrisburg A.F. & A.M. No. 142, of which Mr. Weegar had long been a member.

Mr. Weegar was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Weegar, and was born 78 years ago on the farm where he died. His wife, the former Miss Alvina Nuddell, died five years ago. For many years a leader in the affairs of his community, he was a progressive farmer, owning numerous farm properties in the vicinity.

The funeral service was conducted by the minister, Rev. Kenneth Woodwark, assisted by Rev. J.W. Morrison of Aultsville, a former pastor. The choir led in the singing, under the direction of Mr. Fred Beckstead.

Chief mourners and survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Andrew McMillan, Elma; four brothers, Charles Weegar, Massena, N.Y; Simon Weegar of Potsdam, N.Y.; Asa Weegar of the State of Wisconsin, and Elmer Weegar of Saskatoon, Sask.

Included in the numerous floral offerings was a wreath from Morrisburg Lodge A.F. and A.M. Members of the Masonic Order who acted as pall bearers were: Messrs Orvil Becker, Fred McMillan, George McKenzie, Mervin Duvall, Arthur Casselman and Charles Crobar.

Interment was made in the family plot at Elma cemetery, where Rev. K. Woodwark conducted the graveside service.

All the others took their turn in the repair shop . . .
BUT WE NEVER LOST A MINUTE"
Says F. R. Parker, Chevrolet Truck Owner of Englehart

The above illustration was drawn from an actual photograph of Mr. Parker's truck on the job.

"She (Heavy Duty Chevrolet Truck) has been in constant use since purchased and has done everything from hauling gravel and heavy freight to fast mail and express work; and believe me that machine can show them all. At different times, it has been working beside _____, _____, _____, etc. where the work is very heavy and while they all took their turn in the repair shop we never lost a minute.

"Have had considerable fun with one dealer here. He started comparing his 1½ ton truck with mine, said that the springs, drive shaft, axles and frame were just as heavy and strong as the Chev. However, after a summer's work side by side he had put in four new springs and several other repairs and each time they lost about three days waiting for parts."

F. R. PARKER,
Englehart, Ont.

Yes, Mr. Parker, Chevrolet Trucks Have a Habit of Staying "On the Job"

We decided to let a typical Chevrolet Truck owner write this advertisement for us. Because what sways truck men more than anything else is THE EXPERIENCE OF OTHER OPERATORS. Read this letter from a man who KNOWS Chevrolet and Maple Leaf Trucks. Compare Mr. Parker's experience with your own. Ask yourself, are YOU getting the satisfaction that Chevrolet and Maple Leaf Trucks offer IN THE VERY LOWEST PRICE RANGE? And see your Chevrolet dealer before you spend a copper for new truck equipment.

A complete line of trucks from ½ to 2 tons capacity . . . General Motors Trailer equipment makes it possible to haul 5 tons at the world's lowest operating costs. Liberal new Owner Service Policy . . . Low delivered prices and easy GMAC terms.

HELPING TO BUILD THE BRITISH 'ROUND-THE-WORLD HIGHWAY

In 1880, the Canadian Pacific Railway was organized for the purpose of completing a line to span the continent.

The Bank's directors, confident of the future of the Dominion, placed a generous share of the Bank's resources behind the project, which was completed in 1886 and formed the transcontinental link in the "British 'Round-the-World Highway." Subsequent events have shown that this undertaking contributed more than any other to the settlement and development of Western Canada.

The Bank promptly opened branches at Vancouver and Victoria, subsequently at points along the railway which since have become thriving cities.

This is one of many experiences showing how the Bank of Montreal, looking forward with Canada from the beginning, has been a useful factor in the development of the country. In the future, the Bank expects to continue that usefulness—to continue to look forward with Canada, toward the nation's future destiny

PAYING BY CHEQUE.

Judging by the amount of cheques charged against individual bank accounts Canadians are great cheque writers, and have explicit faith in soundness of Canadian banking institutions. The confidence which Canadian banks enjoy has been augmented by the fact that no bank failures occurred in the Dominion during the recent world-wide depression, and as a result the pay-by-cheque method of remitting payments is used almost universally. Over 90 per cent. of the total payments of accounts in Canada during 1934 were made by cheque — Canada Week by Week.

A HOPE FOR THE FUTURE

Glands and gland secretions have in recent years come to attract more attention from research workers and specialists than they used to. It is being realized they have a vital influence on mental capacity, on whether we are tall or short, stout or thin, and in various ways they almost govern our existence. What doctors know today is as nothing compared with what they may know ten or twenty years hence, and it may be that by controlling the glands, extracting the bad juices and by injecting new ones, a pretty near perfect race will be developed, physically, mentally and morally.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

PRISONER ROBBED

A lone prisoner in the city hall at Crane, Mo., alarmed the citizens in the middle of the night by dashing into the street and shouting, "A cop! a cop!" It developed that the marshal had not locked the jail door and a thief entered and robbed the inmate of $17. Jail are made to keep offenders in, but the jailers should also see to it that no rogue be permitted to enter unless duly tried and sentenced by court. That is only fair to the legitimate residents.—Montreal Gazette.

UNIVERSITY FEES.

While there will naturally be some regret that the Ontario Government has found it necessary to cut the grants to the universities of the province, there can be little criticism of the decision of the university authorities to meet the situation by raising the fees.

This is a step which might well have been taken earlier. The cost of university education in Ontario is low as compared with costs in many other countries. It is not reasonable that the taxpayers in general should pay as much as they have been paying of the cost of such education for the relatively limited proportion of the population which takes advantage of our facilities for university education.

It is only fair that the people who get the direct benefit should foot a larger part of its cost than they have been asked to do in the past.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

BACK TO THE FARM.

Tramps in town appear to be more numerous than ever, 25 to 30 sleeping in the Town Hall some nights. We have long held the belief that the majority of them would work if given the opportunity, but that belief has been shaken considerably during the past weeks, since more than one farmer has told us that when approached these men absolutely refuse to go on a farm, some of them boasting of their ability to "get by" without working.

According to Government statistics, farm workers are in more demand than has been the case for many seasons, and wages offered are higher. This, one would think, would induce some of the drifters to become self-supporting and regain their self-respect, but this does not appear to be the case.

In every centre there must be men in good health with some knowledge of farm work who are being maintained out of public funds, while the farmers are seeking helpers.

Some way should be found of bringing the two together.—Lindsay Post.

LOOKS LIKE SHOWDOWN.

Membens of a cult seem to have a fondness for going to the extreme in support of their beliefs. A news despatch indicates that this is true of nudists, about one million of whom are expected to defy proposed restrictive legislation in at least 18 of the United States this year.

The strength of the nudists cannot be underestimated. There are 3,000,000 American who support the fad, but all of them do not practice it, according to their leader, Rev. Ilsley Boone, a Baptist minister. The International Nudist Conference has 51 organizations, almost double last year's number. Which suggests that trouble will come with the summer if governments decide on enforcing certain regulations.

Mr. Boone intends to test the New York Legislature's bill which prohibits gatherings of three or more nude persons. A campaign is under way against a like measure in the State of Michigan.

The rays of the sun are a much sought after tonic betimes, but many persons unassociated with the cult will not agree that "one million nudists can't be wrong."—Border Cities Star.

EARLY FRENCH EXPLORERS

A curious fact given in the April issue of the Canadian Geographical Journal is that no authentic portraits have survived of any of the early French explorers of Canada.

Of the several pictures that are supposed to represent the features of Champlain, not one is accepted today by scholars as undoubtedly a true likeness. There are several pictures and statues of La Verendrye, but they are all imaginary portraits. In his case there is nothing in his own narrative or in the records of his contemporaries to even suggest what manner of a man he was physically, though one can gather a quite definite impression of his character.

It is still a question if there is a genuine portrait of La Salle ;and it is certain that there is none of Marquette, Joliet, Radison, Nicolet, Dulhut, Allouez, or any of the other early discoverers of Canada. In the March issue of the Journal Major Lanctot showed that not one of six representations of Jacques Cartier can be accepted as genuine.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

THE BOOK SURVIVES

Another thing that militates against the book is, strange to say, its permanence. The candles, the luxurious meals, are eaten and forgotten. The trip comes to an end, and the expense is forgotten. The cigars and cigarettes are smoked and the cost passes into oblivion in the same way. The costly dress wears out. But the book remains on the shelf year after year, a mute witness to supposed extravagance. — London Advertiser.

THE EMPIRE

HOUSES 12c A WEEK

Houses of the three-bedroom type, with good fittings, bathroom, electric light and cooking and large gardens, are being built in Welwyn Garden City, and, without any Government subsidy, they will be let at 12s per week. The municipality will put up 80 of these houses, while another 50 of a slightly superior quality, though of the same general type, are being built to let at a few shillings more a week by private enterprise with the aid of loans from the Council.—Industrial Britain.

SOUND AND DISTANCE

It was found during the war that the firing on the Western Front could be heard in this country only in summer, and at like distances in Germany, only in winter. This alternation, which was very consistent, was due to the change of the prevailing wind in the upper atmosphere. At a height of 12 miles the wind was generally from the east in summer, and from the west in winter. This reversal was connected with the great range of the changes of temperature in the course of the year in the upper atmosphere in Arctic regions, but no satisfactory explanation had yet been given to the high temperature which prevailed in the upper atmosphere, apparently from pole to pole, and at all seasons.—Engineering, London.

IN EGYPT, TOO

The production of two films before the Council included a story calculated to tempt Egyptians to stay in and go back to country villages, and to keep apiaries. We fear that it will take more than locally produced cinema films to lure local Whittingtons from the lights of big towns to the muddy squalor and smoky discomfort of Egypt's village life.—The Sphinx, Cairo.

RAISE THE MASSES' STANDARDS

"Get the rural masses out of their present rut of low standards." That, in effect, was one of the practical issues raised by Sir George Schuster, late Finance Minister of the Government of India, in his Birdwood Memorial lecture delivered recently before the Royal Society of Arts. It is an injunction that may be applied with equal force to Ceylon, where the poor vitality of the people, the direct result of a low standard of living, has rendered them peculiarly susceptible to the ravages of maleria. Comparing great things with small, there is much in Sir George Schuster's lecture which Ceylon may take for her own guidance.—Times of Ceylon, Colombo.

A PEACE AGENCY

In the opinion of "Ralph Connor," as expressed to an Auckland audience the other evening, the world must either make the League of Nations a success or prepare for a more terrible war than ever. It is well that the alternative should be put so emphatically, and the plain word about the need to make the League a success is as important as the truth that between its efficiency and a drift into a war of the first magnitude the present generation stands. Both ideas should be given full weight: the League is the chief and indispensable bulwark of peace, yet it needs the support of all folk of goodwill to ensure its standing against the influences that assail it. On the first of these ideas it is worth while to dwell. Unless this be realized as convincingly true, there can be no enthusiasm for the second.—Auckland, N.Z., Weekly News.

Fairs Forced To Drop Bands

Agricultural Society Aide Says $10 Copyright Fee Too High

Toronto—Small town fairs cannot stand the imposition of a $10 fee by the Canadian Performing Rights Society because the village band plays for three or four hours, J. A. Carroll, provincial superintendent of agricultural and horticultural societies, told Judge Parker recently, during the probe of the society's activities.

"We sent out a questionnaire to all societies regarding this society when the inquiry was announced," he explained. "We find that since the Copyright Act was amended in 1931 quite a number of them have been asked to take out licenses, mostly in Central and Southwestern Ontario."

"Because of the $10 fee asked of one-day fairs, the Thorold society had to dispense with their band. The Marmora society had eliminated its entertainment, because they had been "pressed" to take out a license for its hall.

"Even a $10 fee is a serious matter to most of these agricultural fairs," said Mr. Carroll. "All of them exist only by the aid of public assistance; so if any license is imposed on them, the money for it will have to come from the public purse."

Harnessing The Thames River

LONDON,—For upwards of sixtey miles the tide from the North Sea sweeps up the Thames as far as Teddington Lock twice in twenty-four hours. With it go hundreds of laden barges to various riverside wharves. It is now seriously proposed to construct a barrage or weir near London Brdge, which would effectually check the tide at that point, and above it keep the river at a constant, or very slightly varying level. A huge lock, or several locks would be required to raise barges, tugs, and other craft to the barrage level.

The watermen, whose hours of labour are now conditioned by the tide-table, would find their hours standardized, as they would be made independent of the river's ebb and flow. The appearance of the river would be improved by the disappearance of mud-banks. Furthermore, barges would be able to lie alongside the wharves for loading and unloading at any time.

The Oxford and Cambridge Boat Race would no longer be on the tideway, but thousands of rowing men would find an advantage in the river's constant level.

The barrage, too, would obviate the present risk of another disastrous and fatal flood ithin the London area, since that danger arises only when a very high tide meets a strong stream.

Colors Without Dyes

Lessons for the Chemist Seen in Surface Iridescence

Birds, butterflies, pearls, the lining of seashells—they owe their iridescence not to dyes but to their peculiarities of surface. Waves of white light fall upon them—waves of many different lengths. The surface reflects them this way and that. They clash. Sometimes there is total extinction indicated by black patterns; sometimes a few colors are blotted out while others remain in fringes.

In all this Dr. R. E. Rose, an industrial chemist of Wilmington, Del., sees a lesson for the chemist of the future. He suggests a new art of coloring based on interference. "We may render some of our dyestuffs obsolete by producing color as nature does. It is to be hoped that this may be so, because the purity of interference of colors is so exquisite that we would be able to enter a new era. Perhaps we can achieve this by a combination of great development in mechanical control and the synthesis of special plastics."

Antidotes Are Widely Used

Indianapolis Discoveries Do Much To Help In Poisonings

Antidotes for strychnine, cyanide and bichloride poisonings have been developed in the last two years by the research department of the Indianapolis City Hospital and put into general use in emergency ambulances throughout the United States.

The antidotes were developed as a part of the planned program of the hospital's research department, Charles W. Myers, superintendent said.

The antidotes have proved successful in recent emergencies. Four persons have been saved after taking cyanide poison. Two others who took strychnine were successfully treated. No cases of persons taking bichloride poison have been reported.

All the antidotes are given intravenously, Mr. Myers said, and the effect on the patient is instant and marked.

PUNCTUALITY, AND SOME PROFESSORS

(Winnipeg Tribune)

A classic story in local university circles concerns a certain energetic professor (he is still teaching) who dislikes a lecture under any circumstances. One late Winter morning he was out taking his usual short cut across the ice-covered Red river when he fell through, close to the bank.

Thoroughly soaked, he dragged himelf out. Anyone with a care to his health would have gone home and changed his clothes. The dauntless professor, however, continued to the university. He had time only before the bell rang to don his gown. Standing behind the desk as he faced his clas, he lectured for the entire period while the water dipped from his clothes and formed pools on the floor.

The story is recalled by a letter in the London Times from a former Eton College student. It tells of how floods in November, 1894, made Hugh Macnaghten late, to the great joy of Eton scholars who considered such an event impossible.

Macnaghten was one of the famous masters at the great English school. "It was soon common knowledge," writes the former Etonian, "that, finding some six inches of water outside the house in Weston's Yard, where he then lived, he had been forced to climb along the leads and beat a passage through Miss Lloyd's bedroom in Savile House. It took some time for her to evacuate the room and allow him to come through the windoww.

"Hugh Macnaghten disliked unpunctuality; and it may be of interest to add that at five o'clock school on the previous evening, when a well-known member of Donaldson's House arrived some 10 minutes late, he asked rather testily, '——, why are you so late?' Even Hugh Macnaghten's anger was turned aside by the soft answer, 'I'm sorry, sr. I missed the last punt.'"

Joyous, rollicking stories these, in retrospect. But such is the desire of some persons for punctuality and unblemished record. Being on time is a habit that many others besides traditionally absent-minded professor might well cultivate.

Checking Babies For Varied Types

New Tests Applied by New York Agency to Provide Better Selection

New York. — One of the first adoption agencies to use psychological tests on babies was the Child Placing Adoption Committee of the State Charities Aid Association, which began, three years ago, to test each baby to find out the probable development so that the children might have a chance to get the type of home to which their mentality suited them.

This agency, one of the first to use mental tests, has given 335 psychological examinations to babies, testing them with blocks and bells and moving things. Many of these babies have been given two or three tests to find out the rate of progress they made under good conditions of care. In some cases it has been found that the retardation in children, as shown by the tests, was the result of inadequate care, and when the difficulties under which the child was growing were corrected, the mental rating was increased.

Although the psychologist at ail times is in general control of the situation, the mental tests consist largely in letting the child under examination do what he wants to do.

How Much Do We Eat?

Observes the St. Thomas Times Journal — These scientific chaps gets us all tangled up sometimes with their statistical calculations and deductions, but we believe we have caught one of them red-handed. Dr. Ralph P. Baker, of the Pennsylvania Board of Osteopathic Examiners, is credited with the statement that in a life span of 50 years the average person eats more than 50 tons of food. That is one ton of food per annum.

Just contemplate that all at once. Picture to yourself your lifetime's supply of food loaded on trucks. Taking 70 as the allotted span, that means 14 trucks arriving at your door with five tons of foodstuffs aboard each year for you to stuff yourself with from birth to death. The picture is appalling.

But Dr. Baker must be talking through his hat. Assuming he means "short" tons, 2,000 pounds, not tons of 2,240, that means that for every day of his life a man consumes more than six pounds of food. That is two ponds weight at each meal with a bit over before going to bed. We defy any human being to do that consistently. We defy a man to do it once a day, even if he went to a chicken supper where he could have all he could eat for a quarter. We are not authorities on the subject, but we believe that Pennsylvania man is at least 50 percent. too high in his calculations.

But we agree with him when he says the average human being eats more than is necessary and more than is good for him. Any doctor will say that half the cases that come under his notice are due, in the final analysis, to overeating, mild or serious, and he prescribes a "diet" for the sufferer.

As a matter of fact, a live stock breeder takes far more care of the feeding and the exercising of his animals than the average man does of himself.

"The constitution of the United States is one of those documents for which everybody is always ready to die, but very few take the trouble to read while they are still counted among the living.'—Hendrik William Van Loon.

Il Duce's Fist Punctuates A Fiery Speech

This unusual picture shows Premier Mussolini delivering a fiery address to mass of Fascists in square below at ceremonies marking the anniversary of the founding of Rome.

Activity was Good for Her Figure

Helped by "That Kruschen Feeling"

Her husband assured her that it was her age and that she could not expect to wear stock size now. He was evidently a believer in the ancient "fat and forty" legend. To-day she dismisses the idea with a laugh. But let her tell the story herself:—

"I must tell you I had developed beyond the 'stock size.' My husband assured me that it was my age. One day I saw an advertisement and decided to try Kruschen Salts. That was last July. Now once more I wear a size 38. Besides which, I feel so much better, more energetic, and can do my work without that tired feeling."—(Mrs.) J. M.

Your figure will not develop a "middle-aged spread" if you keep yourself healthy and active with a daily dose of Kruschen. When you have taken Kruschen Salts for a few days that old indolent armchair feeling begins to desert you—it doesn't matter if you are in the forties—the urge for activity has got you—and you're "stepping lively."

And, best of all, you like this activity—you walk a couple of miles and enjoy it—you thought you'd never dance again, but you find you're getting as spry as ever—and you can wear the modern dresses with as much comfort as the young folks.

Get a 75c bottle of Kruschen (it lasts four weeks) and start right away to take a half-a-teaspoonful in a tumbler of hot water every morning.

The Splendid Spirit Of The West

It is a great spirit that obtains in the drouth-ridden, grasshopper devastated areas of the West. At Bergfield, south-west of Weyburn, the farmers unable to get further help from the Department of Education or from the municipal council were not daunted in their effort to educate their children. An "emergency meeting" was called and one farmer offered to donate his granary for a teacherage, others volunteered to plaster it, whitewash it, put windows in and equip it from the meagre supplies of their homes. A teacher was engaged and sustained out of their restricted food supplies and school is going on. There are many like instances in these days of difficulty. Their churches are kept up in the same way. Ministers are cheerfully living on less than half their salary in manses and parsonages segregated in one or two rooms to save fuel expenses and are ministering to their flocks without thought of further comfort or remuneration, bring sweetness and light into homes where were it not for these ministrations might come gloom, discouragement and despair. It is hard to discourage a people used to vicissitudes. Such determination is bound to bring its own reward.

"Before a man can become serene he must cease to live for his sense or himself."—H. G. Wells.

TOURIST TRADE SHOWS CLIMB

$129,794,000 Is Estimated As Amouunt Spent For 1934 In Canada

Ottawa. — A substantial increase was shown in the total expenditure of tourists in Canada during 1934 when they were estimated at $129,794,000 compared with $117,124,000 in the previous year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported recently. Overseas tourists were estimated to have spent $9,455,000 against $7,763,000 in 1933. Tourists from the United States by automobile spent about $86,259,000 compare with $72,196,000 in the preceding year, while those by rail and steamer were estimated to have spent $34,260,000 against $29,460,000 in the previous 12-month period.

Canadian tourist expenditures in foreign countries were estimated at $60,905,000 compared with $50,860,000 the previous year.

Canadian tourists to overseas countries was estimated at $14,272,000 against $13,982,000 in 1933. Canadian tourists by automobile to the United States spent approximately $32,645,000 against $24,611,000, while those by rail and steamers to the United States were estimated to have spent $13,988,000 compared with $12,267,000 in the previous year.

Vicious Trees

One of Nature's oddest growths is the electricity tree of Central India. Its leaves are so full of electricity that if you touch one you receive an electric shock. They will influence a magnetic needle seventy feet away. The electrical strength is strongest at midday, and weakest at midnight. In wet weather its powers disappear. Birds and insects keep away.

The "Saymal," or "Cotton-tree" of Nepal, will eat other trees. Its seeds are dropped by birds in the forks of is victims, where they germinate and drop a sort of root which starts a cotton-tree branch. This spreads and drops other roots until a large stem of the victim tree is seized. Then the cannibal spreads round the main trunk. After its meal, a fine coton tree appears on the scene of the repast.

ALCOHOL FORESEEN AS MOTOR FUEL

Seen As Chief Product Of Agriculture In America—Boon To Farmers.

Dearborn, Mich.,—Alcohol, to be used as a motor fuel, soon will be the chief product of American agriculture, it was predicted at the concluding sessions of the agriculture, industry and science conference here.

BOON TO FARMERS

Dr. William J. Hale, research consultant, and Dr. L. M. Christensen, of the New York Chemical Foundation, told the 150 industrial, agricultural and science leaders meeting here that this concentration of alcohol manufacture would be the best way of accomplishing their announced program to restore American prosperity diverting the chief activities of farmers to supplying raw materials for industry.

"Our domestic gasoline requirements were 17 billion gallons in 1929," Dr. Christensen said. "If the entire output of agricultural products had been used for manufacture of motor fuel, the yield would not have been satisfied the demand."

Dr. Halle pointed out that different crops in parts of the country could be used for alcohol production.

DIFFERENT SECTIONS

"In the south, it will probably be the sweet potato, in the north the potato and sugar beet, in the middle portion corn, fruits and the Jerusalem artichoke."

"By intensive use of new fertilizers, Dr. Hale predicted, the farmer could produce 350 gallons of alcohol per acre at a cost price of ten cents per gallon."

Obliging 'Phone Girls

From midnight to dawn telephone girls in the great New York hotels are pleasant buffers for loneliness. Strangers far from home turn to them for conversation in those often bleak hours of wakefulness while the rest of the city sleeps. One in the hotel zone on Central Park south, known as Mickey, has become widely known for her soothing voice. She has a list of 'regulars" in the hotel and former patrons who call her in moments of dolor, "just to hear her voice."

Says Droughts Have Cycles

Veteran Astronomer Sees History As Bearing Him Out

Droughts occur only once in every 11 years, according to Cap. Tom See, veteran American astronomer, who recites history over a period of 1,000 years to prove the assertion.

"This regular cycle of droughts is caused by sunspots," the weather observer says.

The basis of theory is a book outlining the history of China. His findings—of weather data—were placed at the disposal of the U.S. government in a letter to Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

Capt. See believes his discovery will be more important to agriculturists than any data government weather forecasts can produce under their "haphazard system." He has found that the 11-year cycle of cold winters and plentiful rainfall in this country against cycles of drought in China coincide with available records of European weather compared with the drought this country suffered last year.

DOMINION OFFERS GARDENING DATA

As a result of more than half a century of actual experience and experiment by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, a storehouse of information on every phase of gardening is at the disposal of every member of the Canadian public who wishes to take advantage of this knowledge. How to grow shrubs, trees, flowers, and vegetables, how to protect them from disease and insect enemies, how to attend to the soil, and the thousand-and-one things connected therewith are dealt with in plain language. Year by year hundreds of bulletins, pamphlets, and circulars are distributed free to persons who write and ask for them from the Publicity and Extension Branch of the Department in Ottawa. In this way Canadian gardeners, professional and amateur, are helped to maintain a high degree of horticulture.

There are circulars or bulletins on spring and fall work in the rose garden, flowers for the prairie home, the growing of peonies, gladioli, dahlias, ferns, carnations, growing caragana for field shelters and hedges, tree planting for ornamental purposes, how to make hot-beds and cold frames, grapes for home use, mushroom culture, how to grow tomatoes, asparagus, cucumbers, potatoes, any known vegetable in short, and how to make a sketch for a proposed shelter belt, just to mention a few

The cultivation of the apple in Canada, hedges and their uses, the prairie farmer's vegetable garden, vegetable growing in the coast area of British Columbia vegetable insects and their control, cabbage flea beetle, crown gall in fruit trees and small fruits, the undesirable pest and earwig, onion maggot control, gladiolus thrips, diseases of the raspberry, potato and tomato, the strawberry root weevil, and many other subjects relating to the garden, and pest control are fully dealt with and may be obtained free by writing to the Publicity and Extension Branch, Dominion Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.

A serious fire occurred near Osgoode on Friday morning last, when the entire home and contents of Rev. W.F. Tierney, parish priest of St. John's Catholic Church, was destroyed. The fire was first noticed in the garage about 5.30 a.m., and rapidly spread to the brick dwelling. The loss was estimated at about $5000, including an automobile, which was badly damaged. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

Considerable interest centered around the marriage ceremony at Iroquois last Tuesday, with Rev. Thos. Knowles officiating, of Miss Vera Maude Brouse, R.N., youngest daughter of Donald and the late Mrs Brouse, and John Frederick Markey, Kemptville, foreman of the construction and repair company of the Bell Telephone Co. of that district.

Because he could not get a ride and thought that cars were driving too close to him, Charles Finch, no address, chose to retaliate by strewing the highway near Lansdowne with broken bottles and fine glass on Friday last. He had succeeded in "fixing" eleven miles of the highway when Traffic Officer A.W. Ferguson took a hand in the game. Finch is now reposing in jail for 15 days following his appearance in court on Saturday.

DISTRICT CONVENTION, LUTHER LEAGUE

The Eastern District Convention of the Canada Synod, Luther League was held in St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Williamsburg, Rev. C.R. Cronmiller pastor, on May 24th. The weather was ideal, and delegates from every organized League in the district were present. The total enrolment was 140, which far exceeded the enrolment of 85 recorded in 1934. The following Leagues were represented: Ottawa, Arnprior, Pembroke, Montreal, Morrisburg, Dunbar and Williamsburg. Representatives from Maynooth, Christ Church Montreal, and Dr. Klaehns Congregation Montreal, were also present as observers, although Leagues do not as yet exist in these latter congregations.

The morning session started promptly at 10 a.m. with devotions conducted by the pastor loci. An address of welcome was delivered by Keith Schell, president of the entertaining league. This was responded to by the president of the district, Mr. Lynden Shennette. Following the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report, reports were given by representatives of each League, which reports showed progress during the past year. A beautiful solo, "The Ninety and Nine," was sung by Mrs. Lindblad, of Ottawa. An inspirational address "The Value of a Christian Life," was delivered by the Rev. Albert Lotz, of Ottawa. Pastor Lotz pointed out that the christian life is experienced only by those who have been truly born again, and that the christian life expresses itself in christian living. Before the noon recess, the president appointed a nominating committee, with Rev. Mehlenbacher as chairman, to report at the afternoon session.

The P.M. session commenced at 1.30, with devotions conducted by Rev. George Innes. Then followed a vocal duet, "In the Garden," by Mrs. Lendblad and Miss Pfeil. An oratorical contest, in which five delegates participated, proved very interesting. The speakers and their subjects were as follows:

Howard Whitteker (Williamsburg), "The Search the Scripture Movement";
Miss D. Schultz (Pembroke) "Workers and Shirkers".
Miss Edna Freiday (Ottawa), "Martin Luther".
Mr. Lyle Benson, Montreal, 'Dreams'
Miss Norma Harvey (Ottawa), "Canada".

The judges were Mr. Alfred Casselman, principal of Williamsburg Public School, and Mr. James Macdonald, editor of "The Williamsburg Times". These judges reported Miss Freiday as the winner. The convention decided to presented the winner with a gold Luther League signet ring.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Mr. Edwin Feischer, of Montreal.
Vice-Pres.—D.E. Wolff, Pembroke.
Secretary — Vivien Barclay, Williamsburg.

Some time was given to a discussion of the relationship between the Eastern District and the Canada Luther League. It was felt that the officers of the Canada Luther League, due to distance, were not well enough acquainted with the work and enthusiasm of the East. A closer contact was urged, and it was decided to invite some of the officers of the Mother Body to visit the East to meet with representatives of the various Leagues, and discuss problems.

The business session was closed at 4 p.m. to be followed by a baseball game between Ottawa and Williamsburg, the result of which was a victory for Ottawa.

After supper, the Williamsburg Choir presented a very entertaining operetta entitled "The Governor's Daughter".

The delegates returned to their homes feeling that the Convention was a decided success, and that Luther League work in the East was expanding.

WHEN the weather or household duties keep you indoors, and there are so many things you need and you simply haven't the time to go shopping . . . how handy it is to telephone. The grocer or butcher or dry goods store is always glad to deliver your order just when you want it. So, the telephone smooths your daily path and stands guard in emergency.

"THE Value OF YOUR TELEPHONE IS JUST WHAT YOU MAKE IT"
