Board changes mind

Three schools to remain open

CORNWALL (Staff) - More than 60 sign-toting parents and an emotional appeal by a township reeve resulted in the SD&G County Board of Education reversing an earlier decision last Tuesday to allow Roxborough Township, Maxville Senior and John Sandfield Macdonald Public Schools to open as usual this fall.

Earlier this month the county board voted to close the three schools, as well as a fourth, Stampville PS, north of Iroquois, due to declining elementary school enrolment. The Dundas County School did not benefit from last Tuesday's reversal.

Opposition to the closures sprung up immediately after the board's decision and at the first elementary panel meeting since the closings were announced, Roxborough Township Reeve George Crites and Cornwall Township Reeve John Cleary, backed by a large delegation of parents, appealed for the board to change its mind.

The decision to allow the three schools to keep their doors open in September came on a 6-5 vote following a three-hour debate.

Reeve Crites read a brief prepared by Roxborough Township Public School Committee which opposed what the parents called the board's "bigger is better syndrome".

"A decade ago, it was fashionable to argue in favor of building larger regional schools. But now parents and educators have found out that bigger is not necessarily better," the brief stated.

The committee said Roxborough Township is a growing municipality and although the enrolment at the Moose Creek school is small "our area has enough taxpayers to more than support our school".

The brief said taxpayers are "prepared to accept the additional cost to maintain the school" and are "ready to accept the responsibility" of their decision to opt for a smaller, community-based school.

The brief also points out that studies have shown the decline in the birthrate has bottomed out and is now expected to rise. Since the majority of the population now is of child-bearing age "it therefore follows that there will be a need for a public school in our immediate area".

Small rural schools fill more than just an educational role, the brief stated. They are used for social and community functions and are "therefore a focal point of the community identity."

By closing the school, residential development would suffer since, "Most buyers purchase or locate in a particular area depending on the proximity to a school. Parents prefer to have children walk to a nearby school rather than have them spend an hour commuting to school.

"Studies have shown that busing students to a school in another community has a negative effect on the educational process and the child's behavior.

"No one has ever thought of asking a child how he or she feels about going to schools in another community," the brief also stated.

Two killed at Chesterville

Accidents claim three lives

(Staff) - Two persons died over the weekend as a result of injuries suffered in a two-car collision at Chesterville Friday afternoon and a Morewood man was pronounced dead at the scene following a one-vehicle crash in Russell Sunday night.

Carl Crump, 48, Morewood, was pronounced dead at the scene by coroner Dr. Guy Genier after his truck slammed into a bridge in Russell at 9:55 Sunday night.

Casselman OPP report Mr. Crump was northbound on Prescott-Russell county road 6 and had pulled out to pass another vehicle when his camper-truck hit the side of the bridge, rolling over and throwing him from the vehicle.

An Eganville area couple were killed and a third occupant of their car remains in very serious condition in Ottawa Civic Hospital following a two-car collision at the intersection of highway 43 and county road 7 south of Chesterville at 3:45 Friday.

Edward Jahn, 67, Quadeville, and his wife, Annie Jahn, 65, died in Ottawa Civic as a result of massive internal injuries. The third occupant of the vehicle, Angaila Kauffeldt, also of Quadeville, is in Ottawa Civic with serious internal injuries.

The Jahn vehicle was eastbound on highway 43 during Friday afternoon's heavy rainstorm when it was struck by a car driven by Douglas Barkley, 21, RR1 Chesterville, which was southbound on the county road.

The Jahn vehicle was driven into the southeast ditch at the edge of Short Farm Equipment's property.

Mr. Barkley and his passenger, Patricia Stearns, 17, RR2 Prescott, were treated for minor injuries.

The Winchester detachment reports that the search for William Baker, King St., Chesterville, missing since April 19 and presumed drowned in the South Nation River, is continuing.

OPP divers from Lancaster and Hawkesbury searched the river until last Wednesday evening and an OPP helicopter was brought in from Toronto to continue the search Saturday afternoon. The helicopter flew just above water level from the Eric Casselman dam at Chesterville to the dam at Crysler but Const. Ken Hawkins of the Winchester detachment reported that the muddy water, resulting from Friday's heavy rain, reduced visibility.

SS kindergartens down to half-days

CORNWALL (Staff) - Full-day kindergarten classes in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board system will end with the close of the 1979-80 school year this June.

The school board voted unanimously last week to stop the seven-year-old program after treasurer F.N. Roussy explained an annual tax increase of 9.4 mills would be needed to keep the program afloat.

The program cut is a direct result of a decision by the Ministry of Education to curtail financial support of the full-day classes. It would have cost the board about $718,000 per year to make up the loss in provincial funding.

Reluctantly trustees agreed the system could not support such an expenditure and a return to half-day classes was necessary.

The principal of St. Mary's Separate School in Chesterville expressed regret at the ministry decision.

"I feel very badly that the ministry is taking away the full-day kindergarten classes," said Sheila O'Connor. "It's a very enriching program".

The full-day class at St. Mary's teaches social skills in the morning session and follows with an integrated program in the afternoon. Kindergarten students are integrated with students in grades one and two in a "family grouping situation" said Mrs. O'Connor.

The program has been working "fantastically", said the principal. The children are quite capable of handling it she added. "It's amazing how they'll learn from each other."

Mrs. O'Connor said a grandfather clause, allowing school boards who have the program now to continue it, could

Roxborough taxes up 14.65 mills

MOOSE CREEK (Staff) - Public school residential ratepayers in Roxborough Township face a 14.65-mill hike in their property taxes following council's adoption of its 1980 budget here last Tuesday night.

Taxes for farm and residential properties will increase from 116.4 to 131.05 mills this year following a six-mill jump in the SD&G County Board of Education's levy, a 3.84-mill increase in the amount levied by the United Counties and an increase of 5.6 mills for township purposes.

A total of $695,413 will be raised to cover township spending. The breakdown of expenditure is as follows: general government, $96,000; protection to persons and property (fire department), $44,598; transportation (roads)-$386,848; environment services (garbage), $6,440; health services (medical centre), $2,160; recreation and culture, $56,206; planning and development $103,161. This represents an increase of $66,591 or approximately 10.5 per cent over 1979.

The 5.6 mill increase to residential and farm ratepayers represents a jump of $28 on a $5,000 assessment. The county levy, up 3.84, mills represent an increase of $19 to residential ratepayers on the same assessment.

In addition, public school supporters face a six-mill jump (about $30 on a $5,000 assessment) and separate school supporters a minimum of three mills for secondary schools.

Figures have not yet been received from the SD&G separate school board and as a result, Roman Catholic education taxes cannot be finalized.

The total increase on business and commercial property for public school supporters rose even higher than that for residential. The total commercial increase will be 21.38 mills with education the major villain.

The grant from the provincial government this year was reduced from $25,159 to $20,323 and this, coupled with an increased demand by the United Counties (up by $17,103, to $58,956) caused the 3.84-mill hike, in the county levy.

The apparent rise in the general municipality rate was explained by W.E. Wright, clerk-treasurer, as due in part to a restructuring of expenditure classification.

Mr. Wright clarified that previous to the 1980 budget, the police villages of Avonmore, Monkland, and Moose Creek, and the recreation and culture category had been retained as separate units from the township.

In order to conform with the method used by the township's auditors, these have now been included with the general municipal rate.

Avonmore, Monkland and Moose Creek will for the third year running, will also have special police village levies of seven and 15-mills, respectively.

Moose Creek, also faces a special levy of 15 mills to cover garbage collection and lighting services.

In all, this year's expenditures rose $196,040 above last year's.

Teen dance Friday

(Staff) - CHEZ-FM radio personality and recording artist Delmer MacGregor will be the special guest at a teen dance to be held in the Chesterville Community Hall this Friday evening. The dance will run from 8pm to midnight and music will be supplied by Doug Rance's Disco. Admission will be $2.50 per person.

(Staff) - Village Cubs, Scouts and Beavers want to help give Chesterville and area mothers a break from the kitchen on Mother's Day by holding a pancake breakfast at the Legion Hall from 8am-1pm Sun., May 11. Cost of the breakfast is $1.75 for adults and $1 for children ages six to 12.

Canada Week plans

(Staff) - Plans are already underway for Chesterville's Canada Week celebration, to be held from Fri., June 27 until Tues., July 1. The village committee has already received confirmation of a grant from the federal government which will amount to 70 per cent of last year's grant. The events will be much the same as last year's with the addition of a street dance Sat., June 28, following the sidewalk sale. Activities will be concentrated on July 1, the culmination of Canada Week. There will again be a fireworks display on the evening of July 1. The Chamber of Commerce will co-ordinate the childrens' games and the fairboard has been asked to organize the chicken barbecue. The date for the barbecue is not definite yet, with either Sunday or Tuesday the most likely day. Other organizations taking part are the Rotary Club, Rebekah Lodge, WI, CWL, and Legion.

SNRCA refutes charges

BERWICK (Staff) - The South Nation River Conservation Authority is "disappointed" that the St. Lawrence Chapter of the Ontario Institute of Agrologists (OIA) made its criticisms of the authority public before contacting the authority, according to SNRCA chairman Ernie Brisson.

A letter received from OIA representative Peter Leyenaar criticized the authority for a lack of attention to agriculture in its basin studies and the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources for "imposing its goals and objectives" on the SNRCA.

The letter also outlines the agrologists' recommendations to enhance agriculture in the 1500-sq.-mi. watershed, stating "Agriculture must be allowed to reach its full potential over the next 20 years in the South Nation River basin. It must not be hindered by unrealistic schemes and projects. The agricultural land and the farm people are this basin's greatest natural resources."

The OIA points out it was due to "considerable agricultural lobbying" that increased government funding was made available for the basin studies, interim flood reduction works and overall renovation of the South Nation, but advice from the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food "is only sought at infrequent committee meetings. This has left agriculture in a de-emphasized position."

The agrologists are also critical of what they say is the "negative attitude of some Ministry of Natural Resources officials" towards agricultural drainage, which is the key to agricultural production and development".

For its part, the authority denies both that MNR is imposing its will and that OMAF is being left out in the cold.

Authority chairman Ernie Brisson has told the OIA that the goals and objectives of the basin study were drawn up by an inter-ministerial committee comprising representatives from natural resources, Agriculture and Food and Ministry of the

New editor appointed

Mary MacDonald, standing, has been appointed editor of The Chesterville Record and assumes her new position this week. Miss MacDonald, 23, a native of Cornwall and graduate of the Bachelor of Journalism program at Carleton University, replaces Robin Morris, editor for the past four years, who will take over the managing editorship of The Prescott Journal. Chris Brown, seated, RR2 Winchester, joined The Record staff this week as a general news reporter. Miss MacDonald has been a reporter with The Record since last November.

Environment.

The basin study's aims were accepted by all three ministries, as well as by the authority, before the study began, the chairman said.

Since the goals support the continuing development of agriculture throughout the basin, Mr. Brisson says he can't see how the authority can be accused of allowing MNR to push it around.

MNR regional director John Oatway said from his Kemptville office last Friday afternoon that the OIA's criticisms are based on "poor information" and once the agrologists sit down and discuss the problem with authority representatives, "a lot of things will be cleared up".

Mr. Oatway said he was disturbed by the criticism of his ministry. He reiterated Mr. Brisson's remarks that the basin study had been set up by representatives of the three ministries and added that authority members "are not the kind of people who can be led around with a ring through their noses".

Most of the authority representatives are farmers, or come from a rural area, and they "realize that agriculture is the staple of the basin. They're not out to kill agriculture."

The OIA is most critical of the way it sees the authority and MNR viewing the issue of agriculture drainage. In particular, the organization states that authority input on the Drainage Petition Review Committee could delay drainage work until 1982 or '83 and threaten the chances of farmers in the South Nation basin from getting their share of the $11-million set out for farm drainage in the recently-signed Eastern Ontario Subsidiary Development Agreement.

Both Mr. Oatway and the SNRCA chairman dismiss these charges, explaining that the Drainage Petition Review Committee was set up by the ministry of agriculture and is chaired by a ministry representative.

The authority is carrying out a review of drainage across the watershed, but this does not imply a "negative attitude" towards the subject, Mr. Oatway said.

It is being carried out to determine if there are any problems associated with current practices rather than being an attempt to block further drainage schemes.

Mr. Oatway said the authority has to look at the overall effects of farm drainage and its ramifications for watertables and domestic water supplies for farms and villages throughout the river basin.

The OIA lists several recommendations for the authority to implement in its overall basin study.

These include the authority sticking to its basic objective of providing an overall drainage scheme to optimize conditions for agriculture; that the three agricultural studies to be carried out in the overall study - for tile and outlet drainage, crops and livestock - be carried out by practising agrologists; that any modification of the existing environment such as the introduction of wildlife sanctuaries and staging areas, parks and special forestry projects, be assessed for their impact on farming in the area, and that "environmental concerns such as water quality and quality must be kept realistic and in the proper perspective".

Mr. Oatway says he does not see any problem in implementing these recommendations since all "were under consideration before the OIA came on the scene".

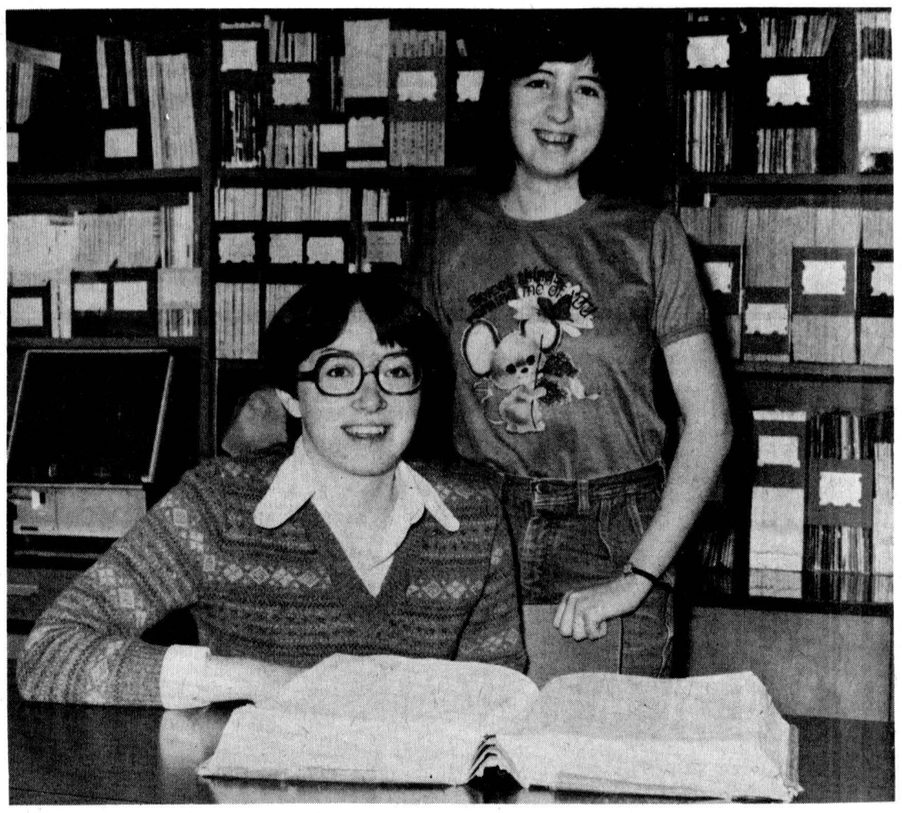
WCTU April meeting at Eatonholm

(Special) - The April meeting of Winchester WCTU was held last Thursday afternoon at Eatonholm in Chesterville.

Mrs. T.H. Robinson presided, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Nina Woods.

Secretary's report was given by Mrs. Robinson, treasurer's report by Miss Kathleen Kennedy.

Mrs. Duart MacLean of Finch was speaker. Her subject was "Drug Addiction and Abuse". Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Jerry Summers. Discussion centered about delegates for the coming provincial convention.



English award winners

English seems to run in their blood. Margaret and Janet Hunter, daughters of Doug and Beryl Hunter in Morewood, separately entered the McMaster University English contest in February. The contest requires each contestant to write one essay topic on English literature, and to answer a research question. The results are in, and both girls wound up in the top 20 among contestants from all over the province. Margaret (seated), attending grade 13 at NDDHS wrote on the subject, "Searches in Literature", while Janet, currently in grade 12, tackled the question of whether or not "Children's Fantasy Novels are Too Advanced for Adults". Both girls will attend a supper at McMaster in Hamilton May 16 where they will receive their awards. - staff photo -

Boundary Bluegrass to feature nine bands

MOREWOOD (Staff) - Bands from across Canada and the United States will be playing at the first annual "Boundary Bluegrass Festival" northeast of here this July.

Festival organizers have confirmed nine bands for the three-day festival, to be held on the farm of Ken Carruthers, July 18-20.

The event is being organized by the Carruthers family and long-time bluegrass fans Marlene and Don Weegar. Brothers Ken and Stewart, and sister Mrs. J. Walker are laying the groundwork with the Weegars coordinating the musical line-up.

Cindy Thompson, from Deep River, whose family have been prominent in step dancing, will appear as an additional feature.

Security arrangements to handle the estimated crowd of 2,500 are not finalized, although Stewart Carruthers indicated that in addition to the proposed OPP co-operation, there will be a number of students on hand.

Admission will be by tickets sold only at the gate. Mr. Carruthers has been told that advance sales lead only to the headaches of recovering tickets and proceeds.

There will be meals available at the festival, provided by a Metcalfe-area caterer. The dining tent will be well protected from the weather, according to Mr. Carruthers.

The family have had only positive feedback to this stage.

"This type of thing is new to the territory and people don't really know what to expect" said Mr. Carruthers. He feels the lack of complaints may be due to the newness of the concept.

The festival will run from Fri., July 18 to Sun., July 20. Music begins at 7:30pm Friday night. Saturday the program will run from 11am til midnight, Sunday 10:30 til 7pm and a gospel hour is scheduled for 11am til noon on Sunday. Admission for the weekend is $13 per person or $4 Friday and $6 each for Saturday and Sunday. Bands scheduled to appear at the festival are Diamond Back Rattlers, White Birch, Lorne Buck and Bluegrass Jam, Yankee Strings, Cross Country Grass, Bytown Bluegrass, and Rideau River Grass. The Proverbs, a Westport gospel group, will appear as well.

be set up by the ministry but its prospects are doubtful.

The ministry introduced the optional full-day kindergarten classes in the early 1979s and only about eight boards in Eastern Ontario adopted them. Extra grants were awarded to boards wanting the full-day classes to make it economically feasible.

The return to half-day classes will probably result in the elimination of a number of teaching positions. It is estimated 21 teachers will be unemployed as a result.

Fear has been expressed by parents that half-day junior kindergarten will also be eliminated but Mrs. O'Connor said the calsses will be retained at St. Mary's.

The board has not decided yet how the kindergarten classes will be implemented, but director of education Charlemagne Lamarche said the administration will support a half-day every day program.

There has also been no decision made about the kindergarten program in English separate schools that have been offering the 50-50 bilingual program. The board agreed to let the administration decide if half-day kindergarten will offer a 40-minute core French program or a continuation of the 50-50 program.

Attempts to change the ministry's decision have been continuing. Last Friday education minister Bette Stephenson was in Ottawa to meet with officials from a number of Eastern Ontario school boards to discuss the future of kindergarten. However, the minister's position remained unchanged.

Cross-sectional transfers

CORNWALL (Staff) - Redundant teachers in the English and French sections of the SD&G separate school board will retain their seniority when hired by another section of the board.

Previously, if a teacher in either section was declared redundant and applied for a position in another section of the board, that teacher lost all seniority despite the fact that he or she had been employed by the same board.

J.G. Gauthier, superintendent of the French section, explained the policy, as it stood, was an oversight.

After the matter was discussed in negotiations the amendment was accepted by both sections. Mr. Gauthier asked that it become part of board policy.

The amendment makes a provision, however, that no teacher already within a section shall be laid off as a result of the posting of a redundant teacher.

With interest rates at all-time highs, real estate has become a buyer's market for those who can obtain the financing and come up with the substantial downpayments required by current mortgage rates, according to area real estate sales representatives. The best buy is the "buyer take-back mortgage", in which the vendor holds the mortgage, usually at a lower rate than is available from conventional lenders. - staff photo -

Real estate a 'buyer's market'

(Staff) - According to a number of area real estate firms, rising interest rates have had a severe impact on the local real estate scene.

All the firms surveyed last week by The Record have noticed a decrease in traffic although not everyone feels this is necessarily due directly to high interest rates. The general economic climate has been overplayed by the media, according to Jack McIntosh of Century 21, McIntosh-Proulx of Winchester.

Buyers have been "brainwashed" to look for assumable mortgages, he says.

These mortgages are in existence, usually at lower rates than new financing, and are able to be taken over by the buyer. Although there are indications that interest rates will go down, this may be the time to buy with whatever financing is available to get into the "buyer's market".

The Ottawa Real Estate Board has shown an increase of six per cent this year, but Mr. McIntosh had no estimate of the growth of McIntosh-Proulx. More-Wood Homes of Morewood three weeks ago began financing their home sales themselves in an effort to generate sales, which are down an estimated 30 per cent, according to Archie Heuff.

Paul Hill, Hill Homes, Morrisburg, and contractor Peter VanKessel of Chesterville agree that homes are sitting there with "no lookers". Mr. Hill reports a 100 per cent decrease since last year and Mr. VanKessel says while he had two or three orders ahead last year, this year he has a house vacant.

Neither Suzanne Coule of L.O. Bell, Winchester, nor Leon Marcellus of Allison Real Estate, Morrisburg, were able to give an estimate of the decline in sales, although they agreed traffic was down considerably, as were sales.

The most saleable home is one with a "vendor take-back mortgage" agreed both Paul Hill and Suzanne Coyle. In this type of sale the seller is willing to finance the house himself.

Mr. McIntosh feels good existing financing provides excellent leverage for the seller.

Although Mr. McIntosh says that an assumable mortgage is not necessarily the best way, he admits the buyer is in a much better position to dictate purchase price if he must obtain new financing. By the same token, a "vendor take-back" sale leaves the seller in an ideal position with respect to the selling price.

Mr. Marcellus says, "Financing is no problem if you're willing to pay for it". He also noted, however, fewer buyers than previously are in a position to be financed or make the sizeable down payment now required.

Everyone agreed that the days when "everyone deserved a home" are gone.

We are returning to a time of "economic sensibility" and most purchasers will give home buying the serious consideration it deserves. This is due in part to the decreasing number of buyers able to obtain adequate financing and the availability of reasonable priced rental accommodation.

This is borne out by the ease with which Mr. VanKessel rented his apartments on Church St. There seems to be an increasing demand for this type of housing, he says.

Although all those surveyed seemed to feel interest rates would come down they were greatly differing estimates in how low they would go.

Paul Hill felt within a year to 18 months we could look forward to 12 per cent again, while Mr. McIntosh and Archie Heuff see 14 to 15 per cent as the stable point.

A change in marketing strategy to meet the needs of changing demands has allowed the industry to remain "healthy and optimistic".

Pride of ownership in a house is still a dominant factor and the investment value of property will prevail to maintain home ownership as an attractive option.

Though no one spoke of a return to less than 12 per cent everyone surveyed spoke hopefully, of a decline in interest rates in order to boost declining sales.

Toy library, Canada Day donations

(Special) - The annual meeting of the Chesterville WI took place in the Community Hall on the evening of April 21.

A potluck dinner preceded the meeting which was opened with the Ode and Mary Stewart Collect. These were followed by the singing of the Institute Rally Song and the Women's Institute Carol, with Mrs. A. Graham at the piano.

The roll call was answered by the payment of membership fees.

The minutes and correspondence were read by Mrs. C. Graham.

She announced that a course on nutrition for senior citizens would be held in the Morrisburg Civic Centre May 13.

The financial report, which showed a substantial balance, was given by Mrs. G. Smith.

Mrs. D. Wells, who had attended the preliminary meeting where arrangements were made for the July I program, stated that each participant in the decorated bike rally would receive a crest.

The members agreed to give $75 to cover the cost of these.

Mrs. Wells who is in charge of the local toy lending library, made a request for an annual contribution by the WI. This money is to be used to augment the number of toys and keep them up to date.

It was decided that an annual donation of $100 be given to help this project.

Mrs. Harold Merkley, District Director, presented a splendid report on the 75th. anniversary of the Dundas District Women's Institute held in Matilda Community Hall on April 16.

Miss I. Forward then read the minutes of the annual report stating the various accomplishments achieved during 1979-80, and also congratulated the members on their efforts during the past year. She said, she was very proud to be a member of the WI.

Mrs. A. Gain of the nominating committee read the names of those holding office for 1980-81.

The president then called upon the various conveners to present their reports. The meeting ended by the singing of the Queen with Mrs. A. Graham at the piano.

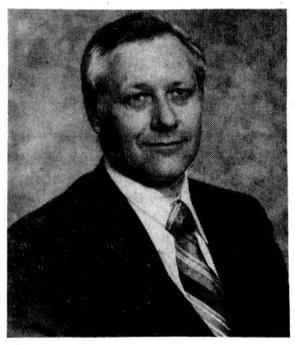
$25,000 targeted locally to fight MS

CORNWALL (Staff) - Saturday, May 10 has been named Carnation Day by the Cornwall and area chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society of Canada, according to campaign chairman Jim Kirkey of Cornwall.

Organizers of the nationwide campaign hope to raise $1-million on their fifth annual Carnation Day and local organizers have targeted $25,000 as their goal. Last year Carnation Day raised $750,000 for research to combat multiple sclerosis, a crippling disease which strikes the central nervous system. Men and women between the ages of 20 and 40 are most susceptible to the disease.

The campaign is held annualy just before Mother's Day to emphasize the fact that the disease often strikes persons with young families.

Carnations will be sold on May 8, 9 and 10 in all Cornwall shopping centres and in all towns and villages throughout SD&G and Prescott-Russell.



Jim Kirkey

Volunteers are needed in all areas and Mr. Kirkey has issued a personal plea to organizations like Junior Farmers, which have helped in the past.

Mr. Kirkey can be contacted at his office, Century 21, Alguire and Brown Real Estate, 933-5154, or at his home, 932-6812.

Reta Byvelds to teach safety

WILLIAMSBURG (Special) - The second meeting of the Williamsburg Calf Club was held at Lyle VanAllen's Thurs., April 10. There were 18 members present.

The meeting was opened with the 4-H pledge. Secretary Heather Hart then took attendance and read the minutes of the last meeting. Reta Byvelds reported on the executive council and told about future events like the bike and walk-a-thon, the bus trip to Toronto in November, the judging clinic and competition planned for July 22 at Kemptville College, the skits and demonstration night July 31 at North Dundas High School and the exchange trip to Alberta this summer.

This year the club's youth leader is Reta Byvelds. She plans to instruct the members in regard to safety on the farm, centering around machinery.

The meeting was then turned over to the leaders. Booklets entitled "Energy Efficiency on the Farm" were handed out to the members along with pamphlets concerning the Ontario Farm Management Advisory Service and the Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology.

After going over the parts of a cow, members were asked to judge a class of four mature Holsteins. Several methods of calf housing were discussed. After the hosts were thanked for the use of their barn, ice cream and cookies were served.

The next meeting of the Williamsburg Calf Club is May 8 at John Byvelds. The topic is judging.

Chamber donates $2,000 for courts

Chesterville Chamber of Commerce secretary Joyce McMahon presents a cheque for $2,000 to Chesterville Tennis Club secretary Brad Mayhew last Friday afternoon. The cheque is the first instalment of the $4.000 the Chamber has pledged for the construction of tennis courts in Chesterville. Cost of the courts, depending on what type of surface is to be applied, is estimated at between $20,000 and $25,000. - staff photo -

Right to Life president to address K of C

IROQUOIS (Staff) - Laura McArthur, president of Right to Life, will be the guest speaker at the annual dinner and dance of the Chesterville, Morrisburg and Iroquois Knights of Columbus to be held at the Legion Hall here Saturday, evening.

Born in New Brunswick the eighth of nine children, Mrs. McArthur graduated from high school with the highest academic standing in the province and taught grades one to nine in a rural school during WWII before moving to Moncton where she worked in the public service.

She moved on to Toronto to work in the public relations department of Canadian National Telecommunications and for a brokerage firm before giving up her career to stay at home and raise her four children.

Mrs. McArthur joined Right to Life in 1972 as membership chairman and became its president in 1974.

Now in her sixth term as president, Mrs. McArthur points with pride to the establishment of a direct, round-the-clock referral system for calls from distressed pregnant women as one of her major achievements with Right to Life.

Morrisburg OPP report

Criminal Investigations

On April 22 at 4pm $300 damage was reported to a van owned by the band "The Crayons" parked at the Pioneer Hotel. Investigating officer is Const. T. Mason, Morrisburg OPP.

On April 25, at 9:42pm a local resident reported damage to a bicycle parked at Morrisburg Public School. Remember, it is now bicycle season. Make sure you keep your bikes locked and try to keep them parked in a safe place.

On April 27 at 7am the glass in one of the doors at the Bank of Montreal was reported broken. Estimated damage was $200. Investigating officer is Const. G. Manktelow, Morrisburg, OPP.

There were four impaired drivers arrested and charged in the Morrisburg area during the past week.

Traffic Investigations

On April 24 at 9:49pm a vehicle driven by George Locke was southbound on highway 31, lost control and left the pavement entering the west ditch. The vehicle struck a culvert. Estimated damage is $700. Investigating officer is Const. J. Watson, Morrisburg OPP.

Council accused of stonewalling

BERWICK (Staff) - Finch residents who approached the township council last week with a petition opposing the location of a rock quarry in the municipality left the meeting satisfied they'd been dealt with fairly. But they don't feel that way now.

Carrying a petition with 54 names, the delegation of four told council they objected to the intentions of Cornwall Gravel Company to set up a quarry on a recently purchased 100-acre farm in Con. 2 Lot 3.

When the petition was presented at the council meeting April 21 chaired by deputy-reeve Henry Zwirek in the absence of reeve Charlie Johnstone delegation was assured plans for the rock quarry were still in the preliminary stages. Councillors said an amendment of the official plan from the Lower St. Lawrence Planning Board had been requested but not yet approved.

Councillors told the delegation they had no desire to harm their homes or property with the establishment of the quarry and agreed to set up a meeting between the concerned residents, Cornwall Gravel and the township council to discuss the project.

Council also agreed to halt further work on rezoning by the planning board until the project was given further consideration.

However, David Whetter, a member of the petitioning delegation was informed last Monday night, the amendment to the official plan was approved by the planning board April 15, some six days before the petition was presented before council.

As a member of the Lower St. Lawrence Planning Board, said Mr. Whetter, deputy-reeve Henry Zwirek was present at the planning board meeting April 15, when the amendment was approved, and he was present at the Finch township council meeting April 21, when the petition was presented to council.

The deputy-reeve did't tell the petitioners the amendment had already passed said a disgusted Mr. Whetter. "We were under the impression at the council meeting that it hadn't already passed."

Mr. Zwirek could not be reached for comment. A call to the Lower St. Lawrence Planning Board, however, did confirm his presence at the April 15th meeting of the board.

When asked if he knew about the amendment approval given by the St. Lawrence Planning Board reeve Charlie Johnstone said he's been sick for the past 10 days and has no information on the situation.

Township clerk-treasurer Arnott Empey said he just learned of the board's approval last Friday when Larry Cotton, Planning Consultant for Cornwall Gravel Company, telephoned the township office.

The secretary for the planning board phoned last Monday to arrange a public meeting for the hearing of appeals against the amendment May 22 said Mr. Empey.

After an amendment has been approved by the board information is circulated to anyone within 400 ft. of the subject project. If there is even one objection a public hearing must be held by the ministry of housing. The ministry then decides whether or not to allow the amendment.

The area where Cornwall Gravel wants to locate is now zoned rural and would have to be changed to special rural for the operation to crush and stockpile rock.

The delegation which petitioned council said the quarry would create dust problems, noise, and pose an ugly sight on one of the major roadways in the township, highway 43.

Make safety a family affair. If an accident or near-miss occurs, find out why and take preventive steps.

OUR MARKET ANALYSIS. YOUR HOME'S VALUE BASED ON WISDOM, NOT WHIM.

Knowledge and experience. The two most important factors in pricing your home to sell, at a price that makes it worthwhile.

At CENTURY 21, we compare the location, size, condition, and improvements of your property to the price of homes recently sold, those currently for sale, and those homes that did not sell, perhaps because of inflated price-tags. What emerges is a competitive price range and a selling price that may pleasantly surprise you.

Mary Michels presented Brenda Henophy with her Provincial Honor certificate at the 4-H Achievement Night held at Maple Ridge Public School last Thursday. Brenda of Riverside Heights Club had to complete 12 homemaking projects to earn the award.

County honor recipients at the 4-H Achievement Night at Maple Ridge last Thursday night included front from left, Lori Dubois of Chesterville, Martha Milne of Maxville-Mountain (also accepting the award for Paula Rhyndress), Linda Toonen of Ormond and Arlene Armstrong of Matilda No. 3; rear, Pattie Carruthers of Morewood, Hope and Lisa Guy both of Winchester No. 1, Jane Porteous of Winchester No. 2 and Jennifer Sluiskes of Winchester Springs. The girls had to finish six homemaking projects to earn their certificates.

MAPLE RIDGE (Special) - Another very successful 4-H Homemaking project drew to a close last Thursday evening at Maple Ridge Senior Public School.

The project was entitled "Your Corner of the World" and dealt with the topics of macrame and interior decoration. The members also looked at how they could improve their personal space - namely their bedrooms.

Each member was required to keep a project manual, do two macrame articles and set up a design collection. These were all on display for the audience to see on Thursday evening. The macrame articles included wall hangings, plant hangers, and a few lampshades. It is hoped that all of the guests present were able to get some good ideas for their own macrame projects.

The evening program was chaired by Ellen Blaine, from the Hallville-Mountain club. She welcomed everyone to the program and introduced the various skits and exhibits as each club presented them. There were four kits presented on a variety of topics.

Winchester No. 1 club gave the audience an interesting look at the topic called "All Tied Up in Knots"; "Color My Corner" was the theme of the Ormond club skit; Winchester Springs presented the topic "Getting the Hang of It", and the final kit was entitled "It's in Here, Somewhere" and was presented by Williamsburg.

All members of the various clubs participated in their various club presentations.

Six clubs presented exhibits on a number of different topics. Riverside Heights with Sherry Campbell as commentator presented "Revive the Rainbow"; Julie Lamb as spokesman for the Hallville-Mountain club used "Super Storage Suggestions" as her theme; "Wonderful World of Wallpaper" was the topic Brenda VanDellen of Morewood spoke on; Jill Murphy from the Matilda No. 3 club presented "The Art of Arrangements"; Chesterville's Angela Geertsma commented on "Picture Perfect" and "Moving Along with Macrame" was Rhonda McKee's theme and she represented the Winchester No. 2 club.

The evening also included the presentation of some County and Provincial Honor Certificates and Pins.

A Provincial Honor pin and certificate were presented to Brenda Henophy from the Riverside Heights club for having successfully completed 12 projects.

There was a large number of County Honor pins and certificates awarded. Ten Dundas County members received their pins and certificates for having completed six projects. These members were Lori Dubois from Chesterville, Marthe Milne and Paula Rhyndress both from Hallville-Mountain, Linda Toonen from Ormond, Arlene Armstrong from Matilda No. 3, Pattie Carruthers from the Morewood Club, Hope Guy and Lisa Guy both from Winchester No. 1, Jane Porteous from the Winchester No. 2 club, and Jennifer Sluiskes from the Winchester Springs club.

Each leader and member was presented with a silver spoon for all their hard work and time spent on this project.

Mary Michels, County Home Economist, commented on the work handed in by the members and on the skit and exhibit presentations of that evening. She stated she was pleased with what the members had accomplished in the past few months.

The project for the fall is entitled "Food For Friends" and should prove to be very interesting. The preparation of party food is used as a means of discussing energy conservation and the wise use of small appliances. Members will be exposed to many modern party foods such as crepes, and tacos, and a wide variety of small appliances. All young people who are 12 by Sept. 1, 1980 are invited and encouraged to attend this fun filled cooking project. Watch for further information as the month of September approaches.

Miss Blaine closed the meeting by telling the audience what 4-H means to her. She led the guest and 4-H members and leaders in the repitition of the 4-H pledge, thus closing a very interesting evening.

New use for Iona

(Staff) - The lack of alcohol treatment facilities in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry has prompted a local organization to action. The vacant Iona Academy building, at St. Raphael's will soon be transformed into an in-patient treatment centre for alcoholics.

Mount Carmel House Association, a newly-formed organization, will implement the changes required. The group received permission from Eugene LaRocque, Bishop of the Diocese of Alexandria-Cornwall, to use the old stone academy for this purpose.

The building will require extensive renovation. The historical significance of the building coupled with its proposed use will enable the Ontario Heritage Foundation to assist in its restoration.

The centre's objective will be to assist any person who submits themself for treatment, according to association president, Ray Billard. In addition to counselling, Mount Carmel will provide room and board, and other services which might be required for treatment. This would extend to counselling and aid to patients' families.

Follow-up treatment of alcoholics, to date, has been hampered by the fact there are no centres of this type in the area and patients must travel long distances to seek treatment.

The centre will serve all Eastern Ontario with emphasis on the United Counties.

When Mount Carmel opens in December, it will be capable of treating 30 patients per month. The cost of treatment will be in the range of $800 per month. Comparable treatment in Harrison, NY costs $3000.

Volunteers are welcomed for the month of May, and association memberships are available. All enquiries should be directed to Mount Carmel House, P.O. Box 1481, Cornwall, K6H 5V5.

Avonmore Fair dates set

AVONMORE(Special) - A meeting of the directors of the Roxborough Agricultural Society was held recently.

The Avonmore Fair is scheduled for August 15, 16 and 17 with many new events taking place throughout the three days.

On Friday as usual the judging in the fairhall takes place, that evening starts a men's intermediate class ball tournament; Saturday will be the day for cattle judging, dairy princess competition, hand milking competition, baby contest and more.

Saturday evening a dance is scheduled for the Community Centre.

Sunday there is a highland dancing competition, horse judging and the final games of the men's ball tournament.

President Ralph MacKenzie and the directors are working hard to make the Avonmore Fair "bigger and better" for 1980.

Dairy Princess visits Chesterville

Ontario Dairy Princess Charlene O'Neil (right) and Dundas Dairy Princess Connie Vanderlaan visited Chesterville Public School Monday afternoon as part of their tour of Dundas County, meeting with students, including Linda Helter and Trevor McMillan. Miss O'Neil will be back in the United Counties next week to visit Stormont and Glengarry and will be taking part in a dairy promotion next Tuesday at Cornwall Square.

Junior Farmers to landscape pool

AVONMORE (Special) - The April meeting of the Avonmore Community Centre and Athletic Association welcomed representatives from the Stormont Junior Farmers who submitted a proposl for landscaping the Avonmore Community Pool.

The 130-member non-profit organization can provide surveyors, landscape architects and soil experts, as well as their own labor and machinery to complete the task quickly and professionally.

The pool committee and Junior Farmers are to meet again to discuss the final details. Following completion of the project the Junior Farmers will submit their project in a community betterment competition.

Charles Rielly reported plans are progressing smoothly for the annual ACAA intermediate fastball tournament to be held July 18, 19 and 20.

Terry MacElroy, Larry Poirier and Mavis Robertson have formed a committee to organize ball teams for the children this summer. Registration will held May 3 and 10 in the Avonmore library from 10am to noon. Anyone interested in coaching a team this summer is asked to meet at the library also.

Over $600 in bills have been submitted for the repair of outside lights at the community centre. Vandal-proof covers have been installed over the lights in the hope of preventing such expensive breakage. Several locks have been changed within the centre and new keys distributed where required. A new two-speed floor scrubber has been purchased for the centre.

The kitchen committee is purchasing several commercial quality cooking pots as well as some needed serving dishes and cutlery.

Special information sheets have been printed for clients wishing to book a wedding or anniversary at the centre. These information sheets give the two menus available and answer some of the more frequently asked questions about the centre. They are available from Perry Tinkess, Yvette Delaney or at Country Casuals.

Ray Cardinal offered to cut the grass behind the community centre and at the small baseball diamond providing all large stones were removed before the cutting season.

Avonmore Boy Scouts have already given a Saturday morning towards this job and the task was quickly completed. If any group or organization would like to help with the front lawn at the community centre the ACAA will would be happy to hear from them.

Next meeting of the ACAA will be held at 8pm Tues., May 13 in the community centre.

Ormond club meets

ORMOND (Special) - The April meeting of the Ormond Calf Club was held in the form of a tour of Ault Foods in Winchester.

Steve Ault led the tour through the plant explaining the different pieces of equipment and the process which followed in making cheese and butter.

The cheese making proved very interesting as Mr. Ault explained the various stages.

Members had a short business meeting following and the next meeting will be held at the home of Bruce Porteous.

Dear Ann Landers:

Dear Ann Landers: I am going with a wonderful young man. We plan to be married soon. The only thing I am uneasy about is his tendency to show off what he knows. The fellow is brilliant, but he is hell-bent on being the centre of attention and impressing everyone with his knowledge of current affairs, facts and figures.

Any suggestions on how to get him to cool it? I love him a lot but he embarrasses me.

—Blushing In Bloomington

Dear Blushing: Mr. Hell-Bent needs to read these marvelous lines from Lord Chesterfield's Letters to His Son: "Never seem more learned than the people you are with. Wear you learning like a pocket watch and keep it hidden. Do not take it out to count the hours, but give the time when you are asked."

Hand him this column and say, "The first letter is mine honey."

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in response to the plea from the teenage girl who complained that her little brother was constantly picking fights so she would hit him. Then he'd go running to Mommy and Sis would get the dickens.

Please tell parents there is an effective way to deal with battles between siblings. We had to learn it from family counseling. Others can learn from reading your column. (You have said it before). Children don't really care who goes to the bathroom first. The object of the game is to get the parent on your side to prove you are the best loved. Once we discovered this, we resolved to stay out of our children's fights.

We told them whatever happened between them was THEIR business. We made one rule only: no hurting allowed. If one hit the other, they both had to sit quietly for 10 to 15 minutes. (Usually the one who was hurt had done some provoking.) Now that our children are no longer competing for our love, they go out of their way to be good to each other, and our home is a peaceful, pleasant place to be.

—Waco, Texas

Dear Tex: Thanks for the testimony. Here's another letter on the same subject.

Dear Ann Landers: I have never written to you before, but that letter about the bratty little brother was so much like my early life it was like seeing a rerun of an old movie.

There were five children in our family. We were not allowed to "back sass" our parents. My little brother would pick on me until I smacked him on the shoulder or the behind or the mouth. Then he'd run to Mother crying, and I would be punished.

One day I told her, "If you'd punish us both you would be sure to get the right one." From then on she began to observe us more closely and did just that. Needless to say, the brat quit picking on me. By the way, he has grown up to be a jewel of a person, and we are the very best of friends.

—Faithful Reader in the Midwest

Dear Faithful: Thank you for letting us know what worked in your house. The basic theory is the same as Tex's. No reward for the snitcher and a firm resolve by the parents not to take sides.

Dear Ann Landers: Please print this for a dear friend whose marriage went sour after 25 years. She keeps asking herself, "Where did I fail?"

You didn't fail, He did. Nobody can make a marriage work when there is no cooperation, no appreciation and no maturity.

—Been There in Battle Creek, Mich.

Dear B.C.: Thank you for the capsule of wisdom. Well said.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious - lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Berwick 4-H club organized

BERWICK (Special) - Registration for the Berwick 4-H Calf Club was held April 24. There were 30 members who registered with leaders Harold Dingwall and John Luykx and Associate Agricultural Representative Bill Van Loo.

Leaders handed out record books and gave the members basic information for this year. The members then elected officers. There are eight youth leaders, Normand Ouellette, Brenda Luykx, Willy Huybregts Heather Paul, David Armstrong, Donna Kearns, Mike Kearns, and Debbie McDermid. Secretary is Heather Paul, float chairman is Susan Armstrong, exhibit chairman is Tony Luykx and there will be a floating president. Press reporter is Brenda Luykx.

The meeting ended with the 4-H pledge. The next meeting will be held at the farm of Gerald Beehler at 8pm on May 14.

Firefighters raise $833 for burns unit

Fire Chief Mike Fyke and firefighter Joe Cass collect a donation from Ab Patenaude on the Main St. bridge during Saturday afternoon's fund raising venture in the village. Voluntary toll booths were set up on the bridge and on Queen St. and firefighters collected a total of $833 to be donated to the Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario for the purchase and installation of a hydrotherapy tank to treat burn victims. Cost of the tank and installation is $73,000.

Rotarians set $16,000 goal for bike-a-thon

INGLESIDE (Staff) - Rotary Club members from Chesterville to Ingleside to Iroquois will be demonstrating the power of the bicycle Sat. May 10 as they attempt to raise $16,000 for a new ultra-sound scanner for Winchester District Memorial Hospital.

The Ingleside-Osnabruck Rotary Club has organized its third annual bike-a-thon and at Long Sault Parkway joined by members of the other area Rotary clubs, Lions Clubs, Royal Canadian Legion Branch 569, and other service clubs, all aiming to raise enough money to pruchase the new device used in medical diagnosis.

The scanner functions like an x-ray machine but instead of sending out electromagnetic waves to bounce off objects, it sends out a very high frequency sound wave which can penetrate tissue and fluid.

The sound wave is then bounced back to a receiver which transmits it onto a television screen in the same proportion it is received. An image is created and can be used to make interpretations of the part of the body being assessed.

There are two major advantages to the scanner: it allows moving objects to be visualized, whereas older machines were only capable of viewing relatively immobile objects; and unlike x-rays, no harmful effects result and so it can be used frequently, even on sensitive tissues.

Because of these advantages the major application of the scanner is in obstetrics. Here it is used to determine the number of fetuses, the position of the fetus and the afterbirth, whether the fetus is alive, size and age of the fetus and certain fetal abnormalities.

It can also be used to locate hidden tumors and cysts in the thyroid gland, pancreas, kidney and liver in addition to following their size to see whether they are growing, remaining static, or getting smaller.

It is sometimes useful in distinguishing between benign and malignant breast lumps and also in determining whether heart valves and major blood vessels of the body are normal.

Participating members of the area Rotary Clubs, as well as the public, have been asked to collect pledges for the number of miles they cycle in the 40 kilometre course.

Organizers are hoping to include a novelty "bed ride" event with celebrities participating but plans are yet to be finalized.

The goal for the 1980 bike-a-thon is the largest yet attempted by the club.

Dr. Charles Adamson will be representing the Chesterville Rotary Club and all pledges from the club will be riding in the 40-km. event with Dr. Adamson.

The first year of the bike-a-thon the Ingleside-Osnabruck Rotary Club raised enough money to purchase a car for the Victorian Order of Nurses, and the second year for the event the club raised funds to furnish the new kitchen at the Newington Fair Grounds.

Funeral Tues., April 29 for Ronald H. Thompson

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. L.M. Ferguson from the Vice and Craig Funeral Home, Queen St., Chesterville at 2pm Tues., April 29 for Ronald Howard Thompson, RR3 Chesterville, who died suddenly at his home Sat., April 26. Mr. Thompson was 28.

STORMONT, DUNDAS AND GLENGARRY COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION CLARIFIES ITS POSITION IN REGARD TO PROGRAMS AND ORGANIZATION AT GLENGARRY DISTRICT HIGH SCHOOL

The Board of Education has scheduled a Special Meeting at Glengarry District High School on May 21, 1980. This meeting is in response to a signed petition or request. It is hoped that clarification will be provided in response to briefs to be received at that time regarding both program and organization at Glengarry District High School.

However, some concerns are being raised within the community over statements attributed to Vincent Caron of the Ministry of Education in the April 16th edition of the Glengarry News. Mr. Caron saw fit to comment on possible or probable organizational changes at Glengarry District High School.

The Board of Education takes strong exception to the comments made by Mr. Caron and in fact wishes to state its position.
The facts of the matter are as follows:

1) It must be emphasized that the Board of Education's position in regard to instruction at Glengarry District High School remains unchanged. Despite Mr. Caron's statements, the Board of Education will continue with the current programs at Glengarry District High School whether it receives special funding or not.

2) The Board of Education has applied for funds for renovations at Glengarry District High School. These funds are made available by the Government of Ontario to schools where programs are offered in French and in English and where such schools are more than 20miles from any other French language school. In this regard Glengarry District High School qualifies to make application. This has been done.

3) The application for these funds and the receipt of these funds if such are granted will in no way mean that the Board of Education will change its organization or its programs for Glengarry District High School.

It is emphasized for the benefit of the community and for the benefit of students that any student at Glengarry District High School may follow either all his courses in English, or all his courses in French, or some courses in English and some courses in French, as he choses.

Your attention is particularly drawn to the following letter issued by the Assistant Deputy Minister of Education, Province of Ontario, which letter clarifies Ministry policy and endorses the position of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education in regard to programming at Glengarry District High School.

Dear Mr. Leger:

Subsequent to our April 18, 1980 meeting I have had an opportunity to discuss with Mr. Caron, Mr. Doyle and Mr. Comtois, not only the present organizational structure of Glengarry District High School, but also the question of whether or not that organizational structure falls within the intent of the Minister's policy statement of October 5, 1979 with respect to French Language Education in Ontario.

Given that the French language school situations vary considerably across the province, a fundamental concern of the Ministry in the development of this policy has been to avoid imposing in each and every case a rigid and uniform pattern. Flexibility, therefore, is an essential element in the application of our policy.

It is the belief of this Ministry that the establishment of French language homogeneous entities is an effective way of providing an environment conducive to preserving linguistic and cultural identity. However, local conditions and concerns may indicate alternative arrangements.

Mr. T. R. Leger
April 22, 1980

The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Board has done a great deal to meet the expectations of its French-speaking community. The decision to appoint principals with specific responsibilities regarding English and French programs and institute appropriate staffing mechanisms predates the Minister's October 5 statement and is obviously in support of its principal objective. The 1980/81 organizational structure for Glengarry District High School appears to be such that the Board is now eligible to make application for additional funding.

I understand that an effective liaison relationship with the Eastern Ontario Regional Office has been established. If you feel that it would be helpful to have further clarification with respect to the Ministry policy, Mr. Doyle and Mr. Comtois are prepared to participate in whatever follow-up activities may be required.

Yours sincerely,

Management skills needed for farm profits in '80s

GUELPH (Special) - There will be good opportunities for farmers to increase their profits in the 1980's, but only if they use new and better management skills according to speakers at the annual meeting of Canfarm Co-operative Services held in Guelph recently.

Higher output with reduced margins per unit are in store for all farm operations according to Bruce Hackett, Director, Economics Branch in the British Columbia Department of Agriculture. "Farmers will still want to keep up with the rest of society in increasing their living standards, but these increased profits will only come from superior management and the careful use of large amounts of debt capital," he said.

Hackett sees a continuation of farm expansion to meet the demand for economy of scale and this will lead to multiple family member farm units organized as family farm corporations or partnerships rather than the family farm proprietorships that are most common today. It will also mean that farm managers will be less involved in day to day activities, but will spend more time in management functions.

This speaker noted that governments have been deeply involved in the farm management services in the past, but that this role will change to one where the emphasis will be on teaching the farmer to become a more effective financial manager himself. This will be done through educational programs both from universities and farm groups on subjects including financial management, credit use, financial control, tax planning, business strategy and similar activities. He believes the public sector will spend less of its time providing one-to-one assistance to farmers on farm accounting programs and this will be left to the increasing number of private service groups such as Canfarm, accountants and other farm management and accounting companies.

A possible explosion in the demand for food is seen by Pat Graham who is a farm journalist and home economist as well as keeping the books for the home farm at Newdale, Manitoba. Mrs. Graham sees an unprecedented challenge for Canadian farmers.

"Uncertainty seems to be the byword for the 80's", she said "and farmers will face a number of obstacles in meeting an increased demand. Will there be enough fuel? Will the climate be as favourable for production in the next ten years as it has been in the last twenty years? Does our soil have the capacity to stand such an increase in production? Can we stop our farmland from being paved? Can grain transportation be speeded up? Will farmers be able to borrow enough capital to meet the demands of increasing farm size and more important will they be able to handle the debt load that follows?"

Mrs. Graham said that farmers have only recently become acquainted with the complexities of using operating loans." "Although they are thoroughly conversant with long term loans and can manage them well, the need for short term, fluctuating loans has only recently become part of their business," she said. "With soaring interest rates the judicious management of this credit is critical for the survival of the farm."

Mrs. Graham noted that western farmers have faced tremendous burdens in the credit area because of the slow movement of grain to market and the necessity of holding their crops in storage for long periods.

On a positive note, she pointed out that farmers had demonstrated their flexibility and initiative by the way they had turned the almost unheard of rapeseed crop in 1950 to the second largest dollar earner on western grain farms last year. "By increasing yields and acreage, farmers have turned Canola (rapeseed) into an almost two billion dollar industry," she said.

Like Bruce Hackett, she believes the key to success for farmers will lie in their ability to react quickly to both production and market situations. "Farmers will need a lot more than record system that simply gives them a profit and loss statement at the end of the year," she said. "They will need up-to-date statements that are immediately available for helping with management decisions so that they can react to changing conditions before it's too late. They will need a system that is simple to enter and quick to retrieve and that gives them an ongoing picture of the farm business. I see accountants using their expertise as tax advisors rather than record keepers. The record keeping can be done faster and more direct by a machine. Farmers wives will play an increasingly important role in management and record keeping."

Mrs. Graham said that computers will play a major part in providing the record keeping service. This will be achieved through a combination of on-farm computers and larger systems to which farmers will have access.

"Farmers will leave old traditions and farming as a way of life behind them as they become bottom line watchers," she said.

The 80's will see the disappearance of many of the medium sized family farms. This view was brought to the meeting by farm management consultant, Don Hoover from Alberta. "There will be an increase in the number of small farms and very large commercial operations," he said.

Farm club organizes

(Special) - The Stormont 4-H Farm Management Club held its organizational meeting April 21 at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture Office in Cornwall.

The results of the elections are as follows: president, Henry TePlate, vice-president, Tony Buiting, secretary, Peter Beaudette and press reporter, Barbara Ann van Loon.

Float chairman is Uwe Loos and exhibit chairman is William van Loon. These two items will be demonstrated at the Newington Fair. Club leader is Scott Prosser. Youth leader is Uwe Loos. Youth council members are Barbara Ann van Loon and Uwe Loos.

The club projects are a farm analysis and a partial budget. Next meeting's topic will be partial budgeting and farm record systems.

The club has decided to offer a special service to area farmers. This service is soil probe testing. The club members will walk a farmers' fields at a rate of 10 cents per acre.

This testing should be the most concise one that the farmer can have done. Anyone interested in the service is asked to give the OMAF office a call at Zenith 72800 and leave their name.

The next meeting will be held at the farm of William van Loon, Finch, May 27.

$100 donated for 'Jaws'

(Staff) - Members of Winchester Township council voted in favor of giving the Williamsburg Fire Department a donation to help purchase life saving equipment at a township meeting Monday night.

The fire department is purchasing a machine called "The Jaws of Life" at a cost of $10,000. The machine is instrumental in releasing victims of car accidents from the wreckage.

Because the area to be served by the "Jaws of Life" includes Dundas and northwestern Stormont Counties the council moved to donate $100 to the organization.

In other council business tender for maintenance work on the Hamilton drain, originally awarded to Larry Dietrich, was re-awarded to Kerr Brothers of Mountain Township. Mr. Dietrich met with council Monday night, and explained the amount of hardpan needing to be removed was more than he'd allowed for in his tender, and a price increase on the tendered amount $4900 was necessary.

Council decided to accept a bid of Kerr Brothers instead figuring it would work out cheaper in the long run.

Tenders for the township road and drain culverts for 1980 were opened and awarded to Westeel-Rosco. The bid by the company was the lowest submitted and included a 20 per cent discount off the regular price list.

Council is also investigating prices for plaques to place on the new addition to the township building. The plaque will identify the councillors responsible for the building.

Jersey brings $2,680

HOWICK, PQ (Staff) - A cow consigned by John McIntyre of Avonmore brought one of the highest prices at the Norval Acres Spring Sale here Sat., April 19.

The 45-head sale set a Quebec provincial record, grossing $109,620 for a $2,436 average. The 25 lots in the Norval Acres consignment brought $67,000 for an average of $2,680.

Mr. McIntyre's consignment, Dairyland E Violet, was sold for $2,900 to Philip L. Webster of Ayer's Cliff, PQ.

Buyers and sellers from eight U.S. states and eight provinces were represented.

Highest price of the day was $6,500 paid by Lavone Smith of Bama Jersey Farm, Alabama, for a fresh two-year-old direct female descendant of Brampton Royal Caramba from the Brampton Jersey herd of B.H. Bull and Son.

A pair of two- and three-year-old maternal sisters sold to a BC syndicate of breeders, Savage, Hendrickson, and Spetifore, for a total of $11,700.

A GOOD PLACE TO LIVE

Congratulations to Byers Pro Hardware on your new Expansion

A GOOD PLACE TO SHOP

Pro

(Staff) - Byers Pro Hardware Store celebrated the opening of its new addition last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The opening marked the culmination of over three months' work.

The enlarged store now covers 4600 square feet, an increase of over 300 per cent.

The additional area will allow an increased variety of stock, says Bill Giles, partner. The plumbing and electrical departments have been expanded to serve the complete requirements of the home handyman.

Gift and houseware departments have also been added to the store's inventory. This was not possible previously, due to space limitations.

Mr. Giles adds that the new layout will allow the customer to serve himself.

For shopping convenience the store will be open six days per week, 7:30am until 6pm and Friday nights til 9.

the farmer's wife

by wyn thompson

Last week we were enjoying barbecue steak on a sail boat in the Marina del Ray Harbor. There were sail boats by the hundreds. As the sun set, we watched the boats return for the night from a day's sailing.

What a sight! And as the final gem in the crown...just as the sun was setting a large craft with three red sails glided into sight. Truly red sails in the sunset...this sight I will never forget.

Our host, a horticulturist and landscape advisor for the sets at Burbank Studios, produced as we were leaving two plants of a size we could transport back to Canada as a memento of our stay in Los Angeles. What a pleasing gift! As well, we ladies wore orchids back to the apartment...my first, I may say. We expressed our gratitude, said reluctant good-byes, and slept in preparation for another big day on the morrow.

Ralph gave us a sample of a new tea he had served at dinner. Cinnamon orange and I am enjoying it still. Little did they know that two of my abiding interests are plants and teas.

Next morning we climbed aboard the Greyhound for San Francisco via the scenic ocean route. It was a bit slower and detours were still necessitated because of the recent landslides, but it was worth it. The beloved ocean was on my left. Will Rogers State Beach and Malibu Beach retained forever for public use.

San Francisco was much as we remembered it. But for two days and nights we toured it by bus and on foot. It is a hilly city and the charm of an old metropolis lingers like an old cloak. We did all the things tourists do...we travelled down the crookedest street in the world, walked Fisherman's Wharf, lunched on sea food at Alioto's, and toured Chinatown on foot by night. Our Chinese guides were fun, the food superb, the weather fine. What more could one ask?

All too soon it was time to turn our thoughts to east and home. From San Francisco we began our eastward journey in full sunshine, through the Donner Pass to Nevada. We admired the skiers on the slopes in this famous recreation area. The scenery was breath-taking.

The next day we learned that we were the last bus through without benefit of chains. Weather conditions change rapidly in the upper reaches, it seems. And being a lowland person, I was grateful to have been spared such an experience.

Utah hadn't changed. O, those stretches of salt flats, Great Salt Lake varies from 60-30 per cent salt content. The 22-mile long Speedway was well advertised.

We arrived in Salt Lake city tired, and checked into a Travel Lodge Motel. They and Holiday Inns served us admirably on the trip. Not as good as the relatives, mind you, but...

A visit to Temple Square was a must for herein was depicted the history of one of the epics of America: the story of the Mormon pioneers. The most imposing structure on Temple Square, is of course, the great temple. Their leader, Brigham Young, chose the spot upon their arrival in the Salt Lake Valley on July 24, 1847. They had come here to seek refuge from the persecutions that had troubled them.

Then there is the world famous Tabernacle. Although the dome-shaped Tabernacle has enjoyed world-wide interest since its completion in 1867, its fame has increased in recent years by reason of the nationwide radio broadcasts that feature the Mormon Tabernacle Choir. On our last trip to Salt Lke City, we were privileged to enter this building. This time we were only allowed a peak through the windowed visitor's gallery as their Christmas program was being taped for December 1980.

The building seats about 6,500 people and houses one of the world's finest organs. Originally constructed in the 1860's, the organ now has a total of 10,814 individual pipes.

Another world famous building is the Church Office building which houses a library that can be justly called a "genealogical treasure house of the world." Any one interested in establishing family trees travel there from all over the world. Authors inhabit for months at a time. The author of 'Roots' spent a great deal of time in this building researching material for his book.

We will long remember a Salt Lake City Square Dance Club for being one of the friendliest clubs we have ever been privileged to dance with. We were entertained royally and returned to the doorstep of our motel.

I remember the Wyoming desert land, the freight trains by the hundreds, the oil, the antelope that grazed by the roadsides in dozens. Kansas was the land of the big sky, big fields big grain elevators, big corn and grain machines...evidence of good crops in '79. Each house had a windbreak and it looked if each house was secured in a cozy nest.

In Missouri, fields of 100-acres were being worked and the dust was flying, flying, flying...We spent the night in Kansas and square danced again. Again, we were treated royally.

We hurried on through Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, through Pennsylvania, to Syracuse, New York. Time was running out. It was raining. We got off the bus about 9pm and rested a night and part of a day before readying ourselves to head for the border and home.

As I have said before, the $99 Thank You Canada pass offorded us an opportunity to step off the stage of our life for a time and to be refreshed by new sights, new sounds and new experiences.

In my mind, the United States and Canada are still the two greatest, richest, and most fortunate countries in the world. We were privileged to experience a birds eye view of several of the states in this great nation. And meet some of its people. Thank you Greyhound, for affording us this opportunity!

A striking example of the efficiency of the new Counties' health board and the benefit that will be derived from its organization was demonstrated yesterday. Word was received by the local health officer of a suspected case of tuberculosis in the police village of Williamsburg. Notifying the Public Health Nurse, a visit to the home proved the case one where Sanatorium treatment was needed. Within two hours the machinery was set in motion whereby the mother was admitted to the St. Lawrence Sanatorium, the family of fatherless children taken care of by the Mothers' Allowance Board as well as given the tuberculin test, and a woman was brought in to clean up the house. In a few days the nurse will visit the children again and check up on the tuberculin test to see if any of them have contracted the disease. Although this health unit has been organized for only a few weeks, it is evident that the people of the United Counties will derive benefits far outstripping the slight extra cost it will mean to the taxpayer.

The diphtheria toxoid clinic held in Chesterville on Friday by the United Counties' Board of Health was pronounced a success by Dr. A.B. Clayton, medical officer of health, who conducted the clinic with Miss O. Lefler, Public Health Nurse for Winchester township. Pupils of the Public and Separate schools numbering 101 and 51 children of pre-school age received the first treatment of toxoid which will make them immune to the ravages of diphtheria for life. Dr. Clayton and Miss Lefler were very grateful for the fine assistance given by the teachers of the schools and others who assisted in the clinic. Some high school pupils took advantage of the clinic and some others were treated at Dr. Clayton's office.

A comparatively small attendance marked the Red Cross euchre, bridge and dance held in the Community Hall on Monday evening under auspices of the entertainment committee. Proceeds amounted to a little over $43 including the "coffee bar". It was the hope of the committee that the crowd would have been much larger as this was the first of these parties since the side roads became passable. The bridge prizes were won by Mrs. S.H. Hutt and Albert Cross, and the winners of the euchre were Miss Cassie Droppo and Floyd Edgerton. A concert is being arranged for Monday, May 20, and while all the details are not yet completed, it is hoped there will be an increased attendance to help the Red Cross Society finance its urgent war work.

A Hydro pole was broken at its top in a peculiar accident, Tuesday, when a large truck owned by the Gamble Robertson Co., backed into a long guy wire bracing a pole in front of the home of Garland Sharkey, Queen Street. The top of the pole was snapped, but fortunately it stayed in place during the high wind until Wednesday morning when workmen replaced the pole. The power was off for two brief periods at about 8:00 and 11:00am when the change-over was made.

The Nation Valley Red Cross Society held its regular meeting on Friday evening. The secretary reported that during the past six months the following articles had been completed: 255 pairs socks, 63 scarves, 66 sweaters, 119 bandages, 62 pairs wristlets, 7 pairs knee caps, 28 pairs pyjamas, 49 hospital gowns, 6 ice-bag covers, 12 property bags, 102 hotwater bottle covers, and 1 quilt. The collections have amounted to $59.63.

Monday evening at ten the fire siren started to wail and the Chesterville Volunteer Fire Brigade answered the call in jig time. An overheated stove in the apartment of Leo Gallagher caused the excitement but it was quickly under control. Through a misunderstanding in the excited phone call the name Gallagher was understood as Gillard and the Brigade went to the wrong address, but only a matter of fifteen minutes elasped from the first toot until everything was under control. Tuesday morning things warmed up again when the stove in Ed's Lunch on Queen Street West took a notion to flare. Again the Brigade hit the street with a whoop, and arrived to find the flames subsiding. This catchy weather is making it difficult to regulate oil burning space heaters. In both alarms, the stoves have had a little too much oil and not enough flame. The pan fills and whoosh, she flares.

Special maintenance grants made to some 140 Ontario hospitals by the Ontario Government amounting to $2,604,542. were announced recently, by Premier Leslie Frost. These grants, a bonus or special allowance, based on 25 per cent of the grants paid in 1949 to the hospitals for maintenance costs, are in addition to the ordinary maintenance grants which for 1949 amounted to about $10,000,000. "These grants are special allowances or bonuses to the hospitals to aid toward their maintenance costs," the Premier said. In his recent budget address the Premier stated the government's intention to give the bonus. The cheques in payment of the special grant are already in the hands of officials of all the hospitals, Mr. Frost said. Winchester and District Memorial Hospital has received an additional $950 as a result of this special grant.

Garf. Kincaid and Doug. Jesson, Prescott Rotarians, the latter District Chairman and the former District Organizer, addressed Rotary Monday night May 1st. The program was sponsored by Don Hutton, chairman of Youth Services Committee. Boys' and Girls' Week is being observed by Rotary Clubs throughout the North American continent, April 29 to May 6th. The Rotary Club of Chesterville will sponsor a troop of Boy Scouts, ranging in age from 12 to 18 and a pack of Wolf Cubs for boys 8 to 12. The two officers of the St. Lawrence Valley Boy Scout Association left much valuable information that would assist Rotary Club to get organization of the troop under way.

There was good attendance at the monthly meeting of the Evening Auxiliary in the Dining Hall of Trinity United Church on Tuesday evening. The vice-president, Mrs. H. Belsher, and the secretary, Mrs. W. Gould, presided for the business meeting. The chief business was arranging for a rummage and home cooking sale to be held in a few weeks in the vacant store next to Gallagher's. All donations for the sale are to be left at the home of Mrs. D. Docksteader. The program was in charge of Mrs. D. Docksteader, Mrs. B. Lapp and Mrs. C. Merkley.

the editor's notebook

Just who is Ontario Liberal leader Stuart Smith trying to kid, anyway? An information package sent out from his office last week to weekly newspapers across the province is the first of what his communication officer purports will be a series of columns on "what's happening in the provincial arena".

Luckily for Dr. Smith's communications officer, Michael Gravelle, he does not have to face newspaper editors when he writes in the introduction that "...this column is not intended to be a political platform. As you can see from the enclosed sample, the object is to be informative and explanatory - not overly critical or controversial." (This part was even underlined in Mr. Gravelle's letter.) If he were to have to say this face to face, medical teams would be weeks removing either the blush of outright embarrassment or the smile of pure political cynicism from Mr. Gravelle's countenance.

Granted the column is worded in an uncontroversial manner. Dr. Smith neither grandstands nor polemicizes, but his choice of subject matter, of course, reflects very well on his party at the expense of the government and the NDP.

Perhaps it is skepticism on this writer's part, but one must question Dr. Smith's motives in this sudden desire to rush into print what Mr. Gravelle, again presumably with a straight face, describes as "new insights and new perspectives on provincial issues and legislative activities."

Could it be that the new insights are those of a party leader whose mind is more on an election than in a genuine desire to communicate with Ontario's voters? Could it be that the new perspectives are those colored by the recent electoral successes in Ontario by the federal Liberals?

Dr. Smith has not been treated kindly by the Queen's Park press gallery since taking over as party leader and it now seems that with the Conservative minority under attack and the New Democrats divided amongst themselves, he is trying to circumvent the normal newsgathering process to introduce himself as favorably as possible to an electorate in the past that has shown him indifference at best and hostility at worst.

Of this hamfisted attempt to insinuate his way into the province's weeklies is any indication of the way in which the provincial Liberals plan to conduct their campaign when it finally comes, the next provincial election promises to be an entertaining one. - robin morris -

The Chesterville Rotary Club will be holding its annual walkathon Sat., June 21 and for the second consecutive year, the event will be staged to raise money for the addition of tennis courts to the village's recreational facilities. Last year, walkers raised about $1,000 and half of this was put aside for the courts, the other half being used for the club's community work and for its special projects with crippled children.

Every year, the success of the walkathon has depended on school chidren and a smattering of adults, and this year the club is making a special appeal to all those potential tennis players who will benefit from the courts.

Walkathons are always popular with youngsters, who will walk almost any distance for almost any cause. It's usually the adults who pay the freight by sponsoring the young walkers, but this year the Rotary Club would like to see a solid commitment from the older (mid-teens and up) members of the community so it can be positive that the courts estimated to cost between $20,000 and $25,000 are needed and will be used.

In short, Rotarians want a little more feedback this year. Club members usually devote a full day on the day of the walkathon, providing the logistical support necessary for the operation of the event. In addition, many hours are spent after the event, sorting pledges and mailing them out to the sponsors. The Rotary Club help supports several charitable organizations and never has any problem finding worthy causes with which to spend money raised through such events as the walkathon.

Club members want to give their support to the tennis court project but their feeling is that anything worth having is worth working for. They're willing to put in their share, but they want this year's project to be a partnership of community spirit and community need. - robin morris -

This is the last edition of The Editor's Notebook to bear this writer's signature. Beginning next week, the editorial reins will be in the hands of Mary MacDonald, whose opinions will fill this space in subsequent editions.

During the past 49 months (that amounts to 210 Editor's Notebooks), this column has been highly critical of the carryings-on of Pierre Trudeau and his successive Liberal governments. At the same time, municipal councils, school boards and the provincial government have come in for their share of obloquy. And all, with the possible exception of Mr. Trudeau, have also come in for their share of praise.

On the balance, it probably all evens out, again with the possbile exception of Mr. Trudeau. So, as a parting gesture, this week The Editor's Notebook will congratulate the Prime Minister and his government for their stand in aligning Canada with her great ally, the United States, in boycotting the Moscow Olympic Games, and for the renewed pledge of support to the U.S. in its continuing struggle against the madness that has gripped the unfortunate country of Iran.

It took a long time for the federal government finally to agree to the boycott and a lot of financial arm twisting had to be carried out to get some of the country's athletes to go along with the boycott, but now that it is a fact, Canada can once again hold its head high in the council of nations.

Our government, after Mr. Trudeau's lukewarm condemnation of the Soviet Union for its invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968 and his flirtation with Cuban dictator Fidel Castro, has reacted firmly to oppose further Soviet aggression in Afghanistan and it realizes, along with most of those who have promoted the boycott, that by not sending our athletes to the Moscow Games, not one Russian soldier will be forced to leave Afghanistan.

However, to have attended the Games would have been to bestow the cloak of legitimacy around the bloody maw of the Russian bear. By not going we can express our extreme displeasure at the Soviets' expansionist moves and withhold our approval of a regime that has world domination as its only goal.

Mr. Trudeau and his Minister of External Affairs, Mark MacGuigan, have accurately reflected the wishes of the majority of Canadians in not allowing this country to participate in the Olympic sham in Moscow. However, a heavy price for our national rectitude is being exacted from the country's amateur athletes and one way in which they can at least be partially repaid would be to refuse the Soviets entry to Canada for this fall's scheduled Canada Cup hockey tournament. To permit professional sport to profit while amateur sport is being denied would make a mockery of the sacrifice we are forcing our Olympic athletes to make. - robin morris -

Margaret and Stuart Markell, owners of Markell's Market in the Ingleside shopping centre, have sold their business and are retiring. The couple will be handing the store over to its new owners, Kathi and Marvin Antoine, May 5. Mr. Markell moved the business from its original location in Wales village at the time of the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway. An ancestor to Mary Queen of Scotts, Mr. Markell says Wales was built on a Stuart grant of land.

Markell's Market sold

INGLESIDE (Staff) - The old familiar type of the yellowing newspaper clipping from a 1951 issue of the Cornwall Standard Freeholder speaks of how Stuart Markell opened his first store in Wales village.

The article describes the establishment, "under the management of Stuart Markell, well known Wales poultry man" which offers the first frozen food locker service for Cornwall and district consumers.

"Mr. Markell first evolved the idea for the fast freezing system two years ago as a means of storing his processed poultry and then expanded his original plans to extend the service to district farmers and residents."

Things are different now. The locker room is no longer used in Markell's Market as modern facilities have taken over, the village of Wales is under the waters of the St. Lawrence Seaway, and the new village of Ingleside is thriving.

Another change takes place next week. It is more subtle than the others but equally as important.

Stuart Markell and his wife, Margaret, are retiring.

Although the original owners are leaving, the business will remain. The store has been sold to a young Ingleside couple, Kathi and Marvin Antoine on the condition it stays "somewhat the same".

At the time of the Seaway when the Markell's moved their establishment to the new shopping centre in Ingleside it expanded to become a general store. There was no drug store and no hardware store in the village in 1957 so Markell's market specialized in a little bit of everything.

"We just had everything to serve our customers," explains Mr. Markell.

Personal service has always been a trademark of the family establishment.

It wasn't unusual for a customer to drive into the shopping centre parking lot just as Mr. Markell had closed shop and was climbing into his own vehicle to head for home. And it wasn't unusual for Mr. Markell to hop out and reopen the store even if it was only to sell a quart of milk.

"We've always been known as a friendly store," says Mr. Markell.

The reputation for friendliness is not solely known locally. Campers visiting the St. Lawrence Parks near the village also came to know it as a place they could buy almost anything they needed and to learn a little about the history of the area.

Mr. Markell always appreciated the opportunity to talk to travellers and often friendly conversations led to lasting acquaintanceships. A book of visitors signatures with locations across Canada and the United States attests to the number of people who found the store and the store owners. A few of those special visitors were remembered long after the tourist season ended with a Christmas card complete with a photograph of the Ingleside shopping centre.

And letters serve as evidence to the involvement of Stuart Markell in his community. He was among those who fought to keep the train station in Wales open as long as possible before the coming of the Seaway.

He was a member of the Osnabruck Township Planning Board which was formed to approve Hydro's choice for a new village site. He was also a founding member of the Ingleside Chamber of Commerce, originially formed to fight for waterfront and park improvements and he was a founding member of the Seaway Valley Regional Tourist Council. He was also active in working to acquire new industry in the village and recalls the attempts to attract the Borden Company to Ingleside.

Being something of a saver Mr. Markell has kept documents that are signs of the times.

A flyer, distributed house to house prices Nescafe coffee sold in the market for $1.09, 6 oz. jar, and four light bulbs could be had for $1.

An old delivery order form prices lard at 20 cents per lb., weiners at 38 cents per lb. and beef at 31 cents per lb.

The Markells' decision to retire from business was made simply because they felt they had given enough time to work and now it was the need for some time for themselves.

Mrs. Markell is leaving at the end of this week when the new owners take over, but he is going to ease out of the store gradually. He'll be around helping Mr. and Mrs. Antoine for a little while.

Jean Beckstead, a 12-year employee of the Markell's will be staying on permanently.

The retirement of Margaret and Stuart Markell brings an early portion of the history of the area one step nearer to closing. They were one of the few remaining merchants of the lost village of Wales.

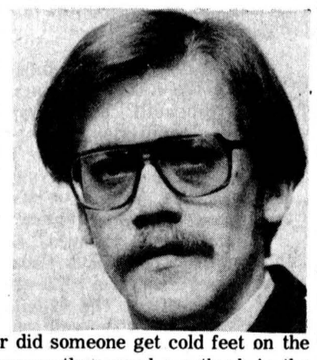
Osnabruck this week — by Richard Waldroff



The hostage situation in Iran continues even after the fruitless attempt to rescue them. The rescue attempt comes as a total surprise to me and to most of the world. I have to believe that it was far too late for it should have happened about two weeks after they were taken hostage.

If you sit back and listen to the news and various talk shows, one would get the opinion that this was a very poor military planning. It leaves one with the question what was or where was "plan B" or if it even existed, or did someone get cold feet on the eleventh hour. Mr. Carter has apparently caused a setback in the negotiations for the hostages release. The Iranians are claiming victory. I believe it has strengthened their will to continue with the hostage ordeal. As far as victory, well victory does not exist for either side. Just good or bad luck, that's all.

Our country has joined in on the boycott with our southern neighbour. What will it accomplish? Who really knows for sure, the Iranians say we need them more than they need us. Yet other officials speak in the contrary. Who has the answer?

As Canadians and lovers of peace, and a country with many of its own unique problems, we had better attempt to maintain our internal peace and just maybe the other countries could follow our example.

First annual meeting held

INGLESIDE (Staff) - The South Stormont Minor Hockey Association recently held its first annual meeting last Thursday electing a new executive and making several recommendations for better operation in the 1980-81 season.

The fledgling organization, which encompasses Cornwall and Osnabruck Townships, began operation in the fall of 1979. The South Stormont travelling teams competed in the Lower St. Lawrence Hockey League for the season and will continue to do so next fall.

Executives for the 1989-81 season will include past-president Jim Craig, incoming president Earl Jeacle, vice-president Bryan McEwan, secretary Daltan Adams and treasurer Ann Germain, the first woman to be elected as an officer to the young league.

Mr. McEwan fills only one-third of the vice-presidencies the league would like to fill.

At their annual meeting, conveners, coaches and the referee-in-chief submitted a report, from which a list of priorities for the coming season was drawn, to be discussed at a later date. They include:

Attempts to appoint coaches for travelling teams by May 31, 1980. Anyone interested in filling such a position should contact either Earl Jeacle at 537-2501, or Dalton Adams at 534-2065 no later than May 21, 1980.

Developing a "code of discipline" for distribution to players, coaches and parents by Nov. 1, 1980. Mr. Jeacle explained the league ran into some difficulty last year with questions over certain rulings, and this guide would help everyone to a better understanding of ODHA and CAHA policies.

Establishment of a committee to improve publicity for the league, not only through the media, but also through arena displays, etc.

Reviewing no body contact rule, which the league imposed on house league players at the bantam and midget age levels throughout the 1979-80 season. Mr. Jeacle said the rule was instituted in the fall of 1979, reviewed in December, and retained for the balance of the year. "Both the referee-in-chief and the discipline convener recommended the no body contact rule be continued for house league bantam and midget teams next season," Mr. Jeacle said.

Reviewing the possibility of paying referees. All referees for the South Stormont Association worked voluntarily through the opening season.

"Finally", Mr. Jeacle said, "we would like to thank all the volunteers, referees, coaches and parents for their support. Minor hockey is a voluntary thing which can't exist without their support."

Town League's finest

After running third for the better part of the Chesterville Town Hockey League season, Red came up big in the playoffs, toppling regular season champion Blue in their semi-final set, and sweeping their final best of five series against Green. Members of the championship club are, front from left, Garry Gallinger, Blair Hillis, Pete Monast, Larry Gallinger and Rick Cormier; standing, Randy Elliott, David Richards, Pat Lynch, Greg Casselman, Andy Windsor, Harold Armstrong, Steve Larin and Doug Shay. - staff photo -

Cherton's best run

KINGSTON (Staff) - NDDHS middle distance runner Roger Cherton ran his best race ever to take second place in the senior boys' 800m race in the sixth annual , Queen's University alumni track and field meet here Saturday.

"At 2:00.5 seconds, Roger was only a second or two behind the winner. It's his personal best," coach Hugh Conlin commented.

Cherton led a 14-student contingent to George Richardson Stadium at Queen's to compete against 52 other high schools across the province. Entering 18 events, the NDDHS crew managed to place in two events.

Andrea Beeching was the other point scorer, coming fifth in the junior girls' 800 m.

The Queen's alumni meet, originated in 1975, has grown steadily to the point where this year, co-organizer Curt Bolton reports 1,500 athletes were signed to compete.

Twenty-three meet records were smashed.

Michael Power school of Toronto won the meet in a breeze, amassing 298 points, well ahead of second-place Brockville CI with 100. Renfrew CI came third with 96, followed by Frontenac HS of Kingston with 88 and Brookfield of Toronto with 85.

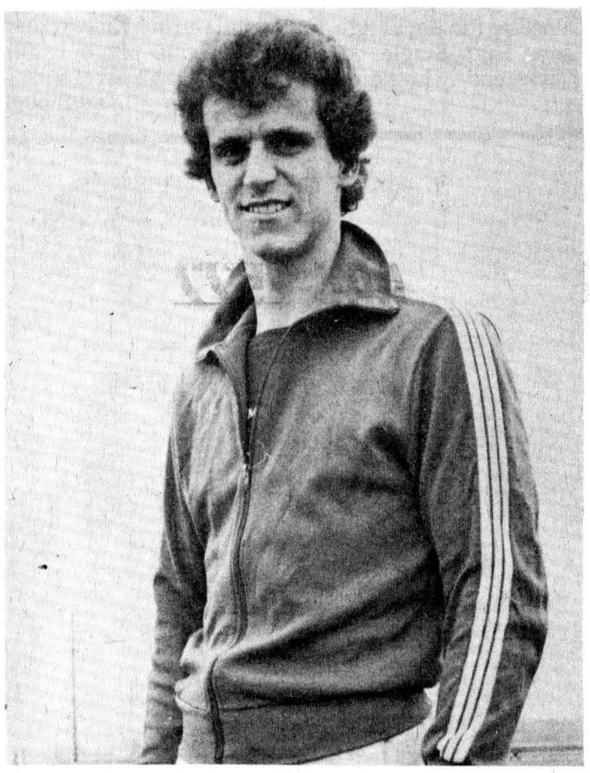
Michael Power took the total female standings with 154. Renfrew was a distant second at 69, followed by South Grenville at 54, Clarke HS of Newcastle with 52, and Barrie NC with 48. Michael Power took the male aggregate standing with 145 points, followed by Frontenac at 70, Brockville at 67, Birchmount at 63 and Brookfield at 61.

In 1977, Julie Holmes, formerly of North Dundas set a record in the senior girls' 400m with a time of 59.0. That record finally fell Saturday, as Alexis Paul-MacDonald of G.W. Jeffries school in Toronto clipped .5 seconds off the record pace on her way to taking a share in the honor of being named top female athlete.

Sylvia Ruegger (Clarke HS) won the 800m, 1,500m, and 3,000m, setting records in all three, earning her place beside MacDonald. Kevin Tait (Michael Power), Steve Boyd (Frontenac) and Mike Zunder (Brookfield) shared the honor of best male athlete.

The full North Dundas track team has a date tomorrow Thursday in Iroquois against other SD&G schools including Tagwi and Osnabruck, at the Seaway Invitational relay meet.

A footnote: The only senior track record to remain intact after Saturday's meet was in the girls 100m hurdle, set by North Dundas' Kate Workman three years ago.



At track practice last Thursday NDDHS runner Roger Cherton prepared for his 800m race at the Queen's University alumni track and field meet held in Kingston on Saturday. Cherton came up with his best personal time of 2:00.5 and took second place. NDDHS was competing against a field of 53 schools and some 1,500 athletes from all over the province. Of 14 NDDHS athletes who made the trip only Cherton and Andrea Beeching, with a fifth-place finish in the junior girls' 800m, managed to place. After their own intramural meet today (April 30), the high school team travels to Iroquois for the annual Seaway Invitational relay meet to be held at Seaway District High School Thursday. - staff photo -

Talented couple knows the mark of a champion

CRYSLER (Staff) - A marriage of talents and a love for horses brought a city couple to a farm near Crysler six years ago. Since then, Carl and Patricia Grichen have established a business which operates out of their 130-year-old house and raised a horse which is now considered among the top five of all Arabian stallions in Eastern Canada.

The purchase of their farm was the culmination of a three-year search for Carl and Patricia, as they "travelled every highway and by-way. As soon as we got here we knew it was the place."

Carl built all the stables, including 21 cowstalls by himself. "The first winter was rough." Then, the couple found themselves a young Arabian stallion named Adanar, and have raised him as a champion.

Five thousand years of history lie behind Adanar's ancestry. According to Carl, the warlike Arabs of ancient times loved thin horses and originally bred what we today call an Arabian as a battle horse for desert warfare, "Genetic defects are rare because of the Arab's long history," Carl says. "Because of their ancestry, Arabs are now the best endurance horses in the world. They specialize in the 100-mile-per-day race."

Once Carl explains the significance of the Arab's genetics, one look at Adanar confirms it. He has huge nostrils, and a large wind pipe, allowing a large oxygen intake on the run. And even as he nudges master Carl's barn sweater, one can sense Adanar's strength. Carl tells of a time when Adanar was four months old, "I was holding his halter and he literally picked me up and moved me several feet. I weigh 195 pounds."

Today, Carl and Patricia charge a fee for Adanar's stud services. "We didn't breed him until he had won some prizes," Patricia explains. "'Nar has never placed less than second at a show. So far, we have bred him to a purebred mare and a grade (no-Arabian) mare."

"If you're serious about raising Arabs," Carl says, "about one in a hundred will be worth carrying on the line. There are two critical periods in determining the future of a foal. After one week, certain features, such as the back, will give you a hint as to whether or not the horse is a champion. But the most critical time is at four months, when the foal becomes almost an exact miniature of his adult counterpart. Everything is there. It's incredible. In 'Nar's case, we knew as soon as we saw him. You simply have to know a winner when you see one."

Both Patricia and Carl agree that Adanar is a superb showhorse. And when it comes down to the all-important shows, they hire a professional trainer to prepare and ride Adanar. Both times they have shown Adanar under saddle, he has won; once in Toronto, and more recently as Junior Champion English Pleasure Stallion at the Finger Lakes All-Arab Class A show in New York.

"A good show horse needs an absolutely calm disposition," Patricia explains. "Our two-year-old baby rides Adanar and brushes him. We've never partitioned him in the stables from the mares."

Adanar is in a stable with his own foal, So 'Nar, something Carl says is usually not done, because there is always danger the father may attack his colt.

"Judges at an Arab show are looking for a small head, a wide gap between the eyes, tiny ears, wide jowls, big nostrils, a big wind pipe, a short back, large eyes, a cresty neck and a high tail." Carl illustrates each point in Adanar. He has them all. "But the number one priority at a show is the flatness of the knees.

Whether or not a horse looks like a winner, in order to be a winner, he needs training. And for shows, the Grichens will usually hire a professional trainer. Bob Klassen of Ottawa rode Adanar to his latest championship under saddle at Finger Lakes.

The parallel Toronto backgrounds of the Grichens, so alike in many ways, did not converge until Patricia received an invitation to teach at the Nova Scotia College of Art where she met a student named Carl. They had missed their first chance to meet by a hair. Carl, a design student at the Ontario College of Art, graduated the same year Patricia entered the school to study photography.

Patricia went on to win OCA's graduating photography award. She has been a professional photographer for 10 years.

Her first stomping ground was Toronto high fashion where she made photographic contributions to innumerable magazines including Miss Chatelaine. Her pictures have found their way into the pages of National Geographic magazine, including scenes from the arctic, where she participated in their first under-ice night dive. But Patricia feels her hard-knocks education came from the five years she spent as a photographer with the National Research Council.

"At NRC, I photographed anything, from inside a turbine to the insides of a rat's stomach. After five years of that I considered myself a photographer."

As the NRC's first woman photographer, Patricia says she had her moments: "When I first worked at NRC, I was determined to wear long dresses. Assignments would often find me suspended from high cranes and scaffolding. I'm terrified of heights, but with a camera in my hand, I'll do anything.

"On one job I had to go up in a crane, complete with my long dress. Well, one man was so impressed with the view, I got asked out to lunch. They told me it was the first time an NRC photographer ever received a free lunch."

Ever since his high school days, when Carl wrote a version of Hamlet as Zorro and contemplated a career in the theatre, he has devoted the lion's share of his working hours to graphic design. His credentials speak for themselves. Alan Fleming, an internationally renowned Canadian designer, hired Carl to work in his firm.

Fleming is perhaps best known for creating the logos for Canadian National and Ontario Hydro.

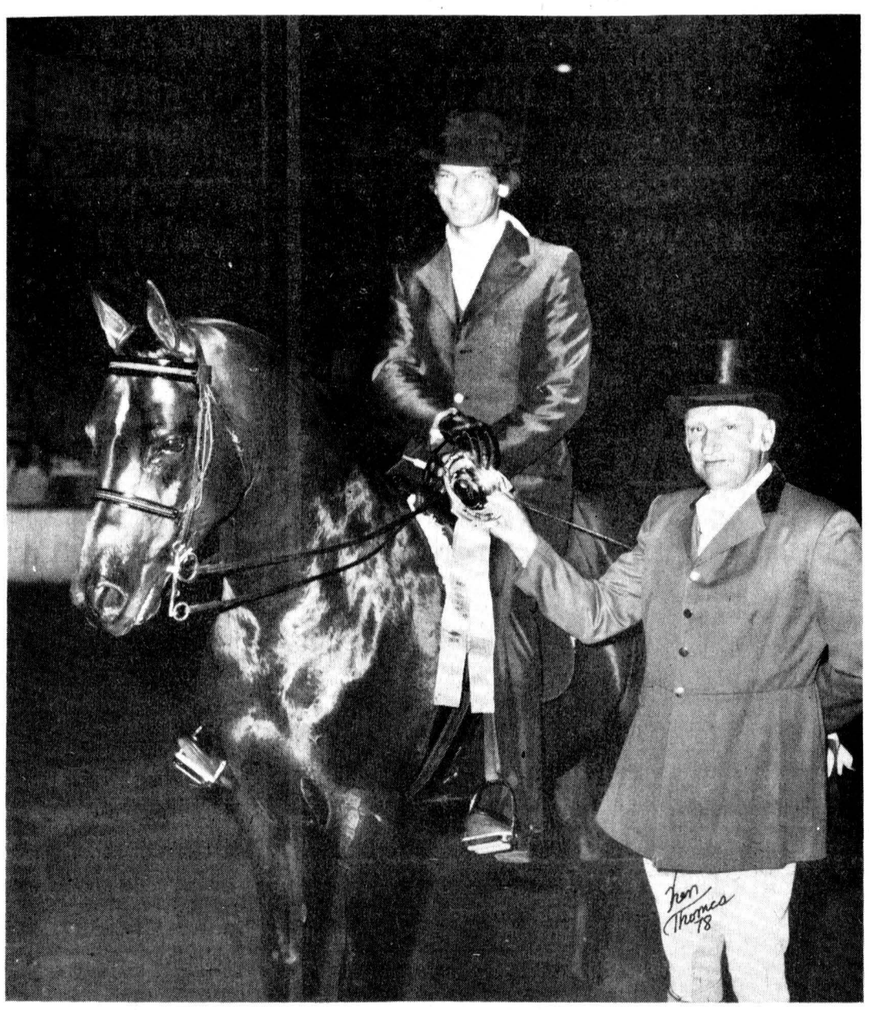
The Grichen talents have since been combined. And out of their Crysler farm, Carl and Patricia run an advertising agency. Carl designs books, logos, and advertising, while Patricia does most of the photographic work required for Carl's projects. And of course, when they are not handling a client, they are handling one of the four horses on the farm, and raising their two-year-old child.

In an effort to promote the rearing of Arabians in this part of the country, Carl founded the Ottawa Valley Arabian Horse Association, and sat as its founding president for two years. The association has been in existence for five years now.

"As far as we know, Adanar is the only Arab stallion in the three United Counties," Patricia says.

Despite a rather mercuric bank account, Patricia says they are very happy where they are. After a three-year search for the right place, they are not about to move.

Carl says Arabians tend to outlive other horses. Insurance agents will rarely take on a horse of any other breed over the age of 17. But it is quite common for Arabians to have foals at age 20. So 'Nar's grandfather lived to the ripe old age of 28. It would appear then that Adanar, at his tender age of five, will keep Carl and Patricia Grichen in the horse business for at least a little while longer.



Second win for Adanar

Adanar wins again. Professional trainer Bob Klassen rode Adanar to the English Pleasure Stallion championship at the Finger Lake All-Arab Class A show in New York recently. Carl and Patricia Grichen own and raise Adanar at their farm near Cyrsler. Adanar, after only two shows under saddle, is a top five regional champion, among the finest Arab stallions in all of Eastern Canada.

Ball hockey

(Staff) - Ball Hockey registration will be held at the Chesterville arena May 5, 6 and 7 (Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday) between 7 and 9pm.

Recreation director David Arnold is looking to form a six-team league this year, and to increase registration from last year's figure of 58, to 80 players for the summer of 1980.

League games will be played Wednesday nights at the arena.

The registration fee has remained $10, and only those 16 years and older are eligible to participate.

New leaders

(Staff) - Peter Brown will assume the post of program director for the 1980-81 Youth Bowling Council season at the Chesterville Lanes.

Audrey Larabie will take Peter Brown's place as supervisor of the YBC Bantam league. Bob Youmelle is the outgoing president.

New league hangs in balance

CARLETON PLACE (Staff) - There is a chance that next season, the winner of the Eastern Ontario Junior C hockey league will play in a final series to decide the ODHA champion depending on the results of an ODHA junior council meeting to be held Mon., May 5.

Bill Shepheard, a minor hockey convener for Carleton Place has filed an application for a Junior B franchise in Almonte for the second straight year. The ODHA junior council rejected his application last spring. His alternative? To set up a new Junior C hockey league, which he proposes could play in an east-west championship against the winner of the EOJCHL.

"I've been in contact with Perth, Smiths Falls, West Carleton, Pakenham, Almonte and Arnprior," Mr. Shepheard said in a telephone interview with The Record last Friday. "So far, reaction has been favorable, but we're in a bind, because we have to wait for the results from the (junior council) meeting in May."

"I'm proposing a package deal for smaller towns, to get out of juvenile hockey and into minor hockey. The price escalates as soon as you're out of minor hockey. Our rink rates will be $26 per hour next year," Mr. Shepheard said.

But there are problems. The ODHA itself is investigating junior hockey, recently releasing the Alfred Taylor Report on junior hockey in Eastern Ontario, which examines the present system and offers recommendations for improvement.

In the report, the contributors suggest there are too many Junior B franchises and recommend a reduction in the number of Junior B clubs in the region from its present level of 24 to 16. The likelihood of such a move is slim.

"In Almonte we're surrounded by Junior B franchises," Mr. Shepheard commented. "If owners realize the quality of the product is down, they should pull their classification down. But there has to be a sell. Junior is plagued with a bad reputation. And it's hard to sell a franchise to an officer, to offer him Junior C classification instead of Junior B."

Mr. Shepheard has already been in contact with Larry Stevens, secretary and past-president of the EOJCHL: "Being on the executive of the ODMHA, I met Larry Stevens at the annual meeting last year. I already have a copy of the league's (EOJCHL) constitution, and it seems quite workable."

The Taylor report would favor such a league.

Among its recommendations is an increase in the number of Junior C teams in the region, to act as feeders for a centralized junior system, with a Junior B franchise to act as its hub. But the report is in no way a promise of action. It is up to the ODHA to examine the report and act, if it chooses, on the recommendations enclosed.

Mr. Shepheard feels the present criticism levelled at junior hockey in eastern Ontario is an inevitable product of the way in which high level teams have been acquiring players over the past several years: "It's a hard thing. The continuous injection of midget age players into the Tier II A league has resulted in a crumbling of the system. If we formed a new Junior C league no imports would be allowed. They would have to come from within the system. A big problem is that the way things are now, by the time a kid reaches 16, his parents are out of minor hockey, because he's not so dependent on them anymore. So, the only voices heard are bantams and peewees. The only way to improve the situation is for the ODHA and its junior council to take action. I don't care if you call it D.B.C. or A, it's only a letter. And if the junior council and the ODHA says to a junior B team, you are now Junior C, they will have to accept the decision."

Mr. Shepheard, who is not counting on a reversal by the ODHA junior council on its 1979 decision to reject his Junior B franchise proposal, says one way or another, his aim is clear. "My heart is with providing hockey to kids in the Almonte area. My heart lies with the fact that they need a good well-organized system in which to play. At the moment, we are talking amalgamation between Almonte and Pakenham. There is a market in Pakenham."

Barry Lee, vice-president of the ODHA junior council, said the league will consider Mr. Shepheard's Junior B franchise proposal on Monday. According to Mr. Lee, the only way the ODHA could reduce the number of its Junior B franchises "would be by attrition." He noted along with a reclassification from Junior B to Junior C, would come a drop in a team's operating budget of thousands of dollars.

In the 1979-80 season, Mr. Shepheard was one of the elected officers of the Carleton Place minors, was convener for the midgets and bantams of the Coulbourne non-carded league, convener for the juveniles, assistant chairman of ODHA district number four, sitting on the ODHA council, and sitting on the discipline and appeals committee for the ODMHA.

Softball for kids only

(Staff) - Registration for a proposed house softball league for boys and girls begins at the Chesterville arena Tuesday, May 14, and Wednesday May 15 from 7-9pm.

A blanket registration fee of $5 will be charged for each child, plus $2 for each additional child from the same family. Fees will cover the child in a group insurance plan, pay for some of their equipment, and diamond time.

Recreation director David Arnold is looking for coaches, umpires and managers for the new league, as well as umpires for all of Chesterville's minor ball. He said people need not be experienced to get involved.

The league is designed for girls and boys between the ages of six and eight in one category, and 9-11 in the other.

Bowling

Community League

Earl Johnston emerged as this year's playoff winner as he amassed a total pinfall of 10,785. The battle couldn't have been closer for the second spot, as Gord McLaughlin, with his total of 10,636, beat Ralph Dillabough by one pin. Lorne Byers finished fourth with his total of 10,619, followed by Russ Sirvage at 10,505 and Stan David at 10,356.

Grace Munro topped everybody for the LHS this week, rolling a 316. Theresa Masterson stole triple honors with her three-game count of 649. Russ Sirvage rolled a 287 to earn the mens high single, while Ralph Dillabough with his total of 729 points, earned the high triple.

Busy Matrons

Betty Wheeler became this year's league champion after her team ran up a total playoff pinfall of 9,117. Mary Derue ended second with a total of 8,911 followed by Lois Dillabough at 8,666 Audrey Larabie at 8,676, Ann Dignard at 8,422 and Velma Hummell at 8,380.

Audrey Larabie's 852 triple stood up as the highest through the playoffs. Lois Dillabough had the season high single at 360, and Pat Monast carried a season high average of 217.

Pat Monast also reaped the crop of individual honors this week, rolling high single and triple counts of 301 and 717 respectively.

NDDHS news

Marg Hunter and Pam McPhail

Training is now for track and field
Success this year our team will yield.

The North Dundas track team competed at the Queen's Alumni meet at Kingston Saturday. Roger Cherton placed second in the 800 metre race and Andrea Beeching placed fifth in the Junior Girls' 800 metre race.

Our relay teams will be competing at Seaway District High School this Thursday.

NDDHS will hold its annual track and field meet this Wednesday. PhysEd classes have been preparing by having relay races in activity periods. Red House will be out to defend last year's title.

Our Junior and Senior Bands participated in the Ottawa Music Festival Saturday. The Junior Band placed second with a mark of 82. The Senior Band placed fourth in a field of eight with a mark of 87.

The grade 13 french class is involved in raising money for their Quebec City tour on the fourth weekend in May.

The North Dundas Spring Prom will be May 17 at Caravan Camp in Morrisburg. The theme is 'Between Friends' with Blaine's Disco providing the music.

Our bands have their success well sealed
For to the judges their music appealed.

Bowling results

Defenders

Paul Beauchamp leads the playoff standings with a total pinfall of 7,059, followed by Bertha Barkley with 6,720, Ralph Dillabough with 6,714, Rita Lapierre with 6,580, Audrey Larabie with 6,555 and Betty Dillabough with 6,430.

Howie Kuno rolled a mens high single of 288, while Ralph Dillabough combined for a three-game count of 769. For the ladies it was Edith Wood clinching both honors as she rolled high single and triple counts of 294 and 787 respectively.

Matilda

Marilyn Payne leads the way down the playoff stretch with a total pinfall of 12,509 followed by Andy Etherington with 11,915, Larry Casselman with 11,833, Wayne Byers with 11,820, Percy Robertson with 11,764 and Bob Roberts with 11,510.

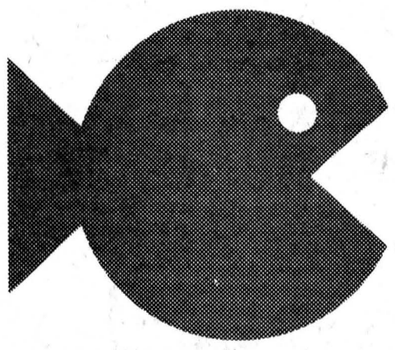
Hans Hutton nailed down the MHS with a 306, and Percy Robertson took the MHT with a total of 745. Lois Keyes stole both ladies honors, rolling a high triple 687, and a high single 276.

Monday Mens

VanKessel won the playoff championship for 1980 with a total pinfall of 9,006. The Legion came second with 8,975, followed by the Blue Max at 8,954, the Bombers at 8,869 and the Farmers at 8,840. The Mailmen, though they earned a total pinfall of 9,183, were ineligible under league rules to win the playoffs, because they had already won the regular season.

Ron Juno fired a marvellous 333 single, and Peter VanKessel combined on the night for a three-game tally of 845.

ONTARIO'S
FISH TESTING PROGRAM



Ontario is famous for its fishing. The Ontario government constantly checks this valuable resource through its continuing research and testing program of fish. Testing has now been done in 882 lakes and rivers.
