$263,000 for senior housing

By Deborah Irvine
Press Staff Reporter

METCALFE — The provincial government has approved more than a quarter of a million dollars in grant money for senior citizen housing in Osgoode Township.

The money — $159,295 for Metcalfe and $107,090 for Osgoode Village — is 10 per cent of the total cost of the two non-profit apartments based on preliminary cost estimates.

The grant, from the government's community services contribution program, may be revised when loan amounts are determined using tendered prices. The rest of the money for the $2.6 million project will come later from various provincial and federal government programs.

Plans call for the Metcalfe apartment to have 51 units, while the Osgoode building will have 34 units. Just under half the units will be subsidized and the rest will have rents geared to the low end of the market.

Funding for the project was approved in principle last June when Housing Minister Claude Bennett gave the okay to the township's Municipal Housing Statement. The statement outlined the need for non-profit senior citizen housing in Osgoode Township.

CAMPEAU QUARRY

A zoning bylaw, which will allow a quarry to operate north of Metcalfe, has been sent to the Ontario Municipal Board for approval by Osgoode Township.

The bylaw outlines a zoning change from mineral extraction holding to mineral extraction on 50 acres of land owned by Campeau Corporation.

Although the proposed quarry prompted strong local opposition and packed public meetings two years ago, area residents were silent when a chance to appeal the zoning change was offered.

Between the time the bylaw was circulated to property owners last month and the following 21-day appeal period, only one man opposed the zoning change. His name is J.R. Baroux and although he owns land next to the quarry site, he lives in Vancouver. His letter sent to the township explaining his opposition was written entirely in French.

Part of the reason for the residents' silence could be because of the comprehensive site plan agreement signed between the township and Campeau last May.

The agreement outlines concessions Campeau will have to make in return for the zoning change. It was a stipulation imposed by the township's planning board when it approved the change in principle two years ago. The agreement was circulated with the bylaw to residents living near the quarry site.

Under the terms, Campeau has agreed to upgrade the quarry road and pave it, while the access road and weigh scales will be as concealed as possible to control noise and dust. Plans also call for a comprehensive drainage system.

In an earlier commitment made by Campeau, the company had told residents their water table would not be affected by quarry operations and any homeowner who's well goes dry will have a new one drilled by the company.

The effects of the quarry on the water table, excessive noise, increased traffic and the overloading of existing drainage systems had all, at one time, concerned the residents.

The ministry of natural resources is now awaiting any appeals to their plans to grant Campeau a pit licence to operate the quarry. The appeal period expires at the end of the month.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business last week, Osgoode council learned it has $20,000 of provincial funds to administer to residents wanting to upgrade their homes under the Ontario Home Renewal Program.

All bundled up

Winchester Scouts bundled up in Saturday's sub-zero temperatures to collect bundled newspapers as part of a fund raising drive.

Actually, as pictured above, some of the papers weren't tied and got away from the boys. The scouts sell the newsprint to insulation companies that use the paper for cellulose insulation. The money raised will defray the costs of the scouts' trip to the jamboree this summer in western Canada.

Canadiens to play in Morrisburg

MORRISBURG — Never been to a National Hockey League game? Sorry you missed a chance at seeing Montreal Canadien greats like Maurice "Rocket" Richard and Yvon "Roadrunner" Cournyer play in the forum?

Well, here's your second chance. The Montreal Canadien Oldtimers are coming here to the arena this Saturday to play another great team, the Williamsburg Oldtimers, in a benefit confrontation.

The game starts at 7:30 p.m. and tickets at $5 each are on sale at Charlie's Sports Shop in Morrisburg, Sports Unlimited in Winchester, The Williamsburg Garage and Miller-Hughes Ford in Cornwall.

Dressed for the "blue, white and red" will be stars like Henry "Pocket Rocket" Richard, Bobby Rousseau, Phil Goyette and Jean Guy Talbot.

Playing for the Williamsburg squad will be Dundas County stars "Big" Doug Casselman, Paul Beckstead and Robert "Rowdy" Gillard.

With 1,600 tickets on sale, profits will be going to the Williamsburg Township Volunteer Fire Department equipment fund.

Everyone, young and old, is urged to come out and see the game of the season and help support a worthy cause.

Petric awarded truck tender

WINCHESTER — Volunteer firefighters may be getting delivery of their new emergency van sometime this week.

Council recently okayed a recommendation from the fire department to award the tender for the vehicle to Petric Ford of Vernon. The 1981 truck will be used to carry emergency extraction equipment, as well as other firefighting equipment and firemen.

Once delivered the firemen will be installing extra lights and a siren on the truck.

Council was very busy at their first meeting of the year last Monday, as they went over wages and set up committees for the new term. New council members certainly got a taste of the hard work involved in municipal politics, as the meeting did not adjourn until 12:45 Tuesday morning.

Along with the fire truck tender being officially awarded, council also opened tenders for the hydro substation. The tenders were referred to Ontario Hydro for the utility's comment on the technical merits of the various tenders.

Regarding committees, council also set up the groups that will run the town. Reeve Larry Gray is an unofficial member of all committees:

Finance: Deputy-Reeve Keith Marquette, Councillor Dave Sloane.

Works: Councillor Bill Stewart, Marquette.

Hospital: Sloane and Stewart.

Recreation: Marquette and Hanes.

Industrial: Dave Sloane, chairman; full council.

Planning: Stewart.

South Nation River Conservation Authority: Reeve Gray.

Landfill: Reeve Gray.

Parks for Greely, Osgoode Gardens

GREELY — It's going to be a whole new ball game this summer for residents in the Greely community.

Osgoode Township council has just completed negotiations for 23 acres for a park and future community centre for the area. Reeve Al Bouwers predicted that work on a new baseball diamond and possibly a soccer field will go ahead this spring.

Ten of the 23 acres in the south part of Greely have been donated by local resident Andy Shields. Bouwers said he is really excited about this land because it will make a beautiful park.

"This is one of the most picturesque parcels of land in the whole area," he said. "There is a brook with trout in it and a beautiful ravine as well."

Establishing a community park in Greely was the number one priority of the township's recreation master plan. Completed last year, the report recommended that the park be centrally located to provide direct access for residents of Greely and the three satellite growth areas.

Bouwers told The Press that the Greely recreation board is "ecstatic" about the idea of the park and will be handling the long-range planning for the land. He said the members want to make sure that whatever use is decided upon, the need will be there for a long time. A community centre is planned for sometime in the future.

Bouwers added that Ken Gordon of Ken Gordon Excavating Limited has offered to donate a day of his company's equipment and labor free for the project.

As well as establishing a community park in Greely, council is also following through with the number two priority of the master plan.

Three acres of land has been purchased for a neighborhood park in Osgoode Gardens. Bouwers said the land was purchased for a very nominal sum from resident Leith Gillen and will be used for an outdoor skating rink and baseball diamond.

Renovation work is also being planned for the Metcalfe Community Centre.

Proposals include work to improve the ice facilities and the insulation in the centre's floor as well as construction of an elevator for use by the handicapped and the elderly.

Cars collide at intersection

VERNON — Five people escaped serious injuries over the weekend when two cars collided at the intersection of Regional Road 4 and Highway 31 early Saturday morning.

A 1977 Ford pickup driven by Ricky James, 23 of Hallville, was westbound on Regional Road 4, when it entered the intersection with Highway 31 and collided with a northbound vehicle.

Driver of the northbound car was Ingrod Rhyndress, 21, of Mountain Township. Passengers in the car were Laurie Schryer of Winchester and Gerry Achtereekte and Edward Shahan, both of Russell.

Gloucester and Osgoode Township Fire Departments responded to the scene and assisted Manotick OPP in extracting two passengers from the Rhyndress vehicle.

Osgoode Township Fire Department's emergency vehicle was used to transport James to the Riverside Hospital. The four people travelling in the Rhyndress vehicle were taken to the Ottawa Civic.

Manotick OPP report that charges will be laid, pending the completion of an investigation. No cause for the incident has been determined.

Ministry funds Phase 1

CORNWALL — In a capital projects report to the SD&G School Board from the Ministry of Education, final approval has been granted for Phase 1 of the Morewood Public School building project.

Although Phase 1, the installation of a new septic bed and washroom, was completed this summer, the board was reassured of provincial funding at a regular meeting here, Tuesday night.

Trustee Lorne Thompson questioned whether funds had actually been received. He was told some funds had come through by Ken MacLennan, superintendent of education.

MacLennan went on to say that Phase 2 of the project has been tentatively approved and an informal discussion between the board and ministry officials would take place soon.

Even without an official response, MacLennan still hopes that tenders for the work will be sent out by next fall.

In other business, Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School has made a special request to allow wine to be served at the school.

The school will be celebrating its 175th anniversary on June 25 and the planning committee wants to celebrate with a wine and cheese party.

Rosaire Leger, director of education, was in favor of granting permission.

"While it is sometimes argued that an exemption for one event begs requests for like events, it can be equally argued that a 175th school anniversary is unique in itself," he said.

Leger also pointed out that the date set for the reunion falls after normal school activities have stopped for the summer break.

Several trustees were skeptical about the idea saying it was going against board policy and that one request would more than likely lead to others.

However, a majority of the trustees were in favor of the wine and cheese celebration because of the nature of the occasion.

An earlier request made by the Reform Team to have a wording change in a board statement concerning Glengarry District High School has been turned down.

In the statement, the Reform delegation wanted "a school" to be changed to read "a single school", saying this would stress the idea of one school. The school provides for both an English language program and a French language program. And, the delegation would like to ensure that these two programs will not split the school.

In his recommendation, Leger told the board that the addition of the word "single" would simply add emphasis without any significant modification. Plus, he said, the board had already issued a public statement that was, "for all intents and purposes accepted."

Trustee Denis Vaillancourt in agreeing with Leger's comment said, "it's simply toying with semantics." The board voted in favor of keeping the statement as first drafted in December, 1980.

Chamber seeks executive

WINCHESTER — Chamber of Commerce members have appointed a nomination committee to compile a list of candidates for the 1981 executive.

At their regular meeting on Monday, Chairman Joel Steele appointed Gary Shaver, Royal Bank manager, to chair a committee made up of members Jack McIntosh, Basil Dawley and Frank Morgan. Although Morgan is not a merchant in the village, he will sit on the committee to gain experience in election procedure.

The date for installation of the new executive is set for the next regular meeting on Feb. 9. At that time a decision will be made on what type of social event should be held to introduce the 1981 executive to the public.

"We all need to do some promotion and convince more people to come out and participate in the chamber," said Steele. "One of our goals this year should be to increase the membership."

A short discussion was also held on the question of continuing their advertising contract with CKBY radio. Member Norm Dignard pointed out that if the chamber wanted to continue to extend its campaign, it should do so quickly. If they should sign a new contract after the existing one expires, there would be a significant increase in cost, he added.

The Eastern Counties Lung Association reports its 1980 Christmas Seals campaign has fallen short of its target of $30,000. So far, $22,000 has been collected. The lung association asks for your support and requests any donations be received by Jan. 31.

Hockey meeting

Hockey parents, coaches and managers are asked to attend a meeting of the Winchester and District Minor Hockey Association next Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the arena hall.

Abandoned cars

The Ontario Provincial Police remind area motorists of the danger of leaving abandoned vehicles on the shoulders of roads. While many vehicles are stalling in this unseasonably cold weather, it is the responsibility of the driver to remove the stalled vehicle as soon as possible. Failure to do so could lead to a charge for interfering with snow removal.

100 Club

Winchester Centurians will be installing their 1981 executive tonight (Thursday) at the regular monthly meeting of the service group. All members are urged to attend this inaugural meeting of the new year.

Voltage test

Ontario Hydro will be conducting a voltage reduction test across the province next Tuesday. Voltage will be reduced five per cent from 1:30 p.m. to 2:30 and 6:30 p.m. to 7:30. According to a spokesman for the utility, the change should be imperceptible to most customers. The five per cent reduction will save about 400 megawatts of power, enough to supply a city the size of London, Ont.

Service awards

Marjorie McMillan and Donella McIntosh were honored last month for their years of service at the hospital. McMillan received a 20 year pin while McIntosh was presented with a 10 year pin.

Yacht docks on 401 median

MORRISBURG — A 26 foot yacht went sailing down the median of Highway 401 near Flagg Road last Wednesday.

The yacht was not damaged in the accident, but it took the dual operation of a tow truck from Brown's Towing and a MacGregor Crane rig to lift the boat back onto its trailer.

Morrisburg OPP report John Elliott of Toronto was pulling the yacht behind a half-ton truck when the accident occurred. He was overtaken by an unknown tractor trailer and attempted to pull over towards the north shoulder.

Elliott lost control, went across both lanes of traffic and drove into the median. Total damage was $600, police said.

Constable J.P. Watson investigated the accident that occurred about halfway between Iroquois and Morrisburg.

The day before James Murphy of R.R. 2, Brinston was driving north on County Road 1 in Matilda Township. He went to turn into Pap's Garage at Glen Stewart when a car following him was unable to stop on the slippery road.

The two vehicles collided, resulting in $1,700 in damages. The second vehicle was driven by Garry Canning of Edwardsburg Township.

Constable P.W.E. Meilleur investigated.

Last weekend, on Jan. 3, Kim Storto of Iroquois almost collided with a chair on Highway 31 near Elma. She was trailing a car driven by Kathleen Nelson, of Winchester.

Police said a chair from Nelson's car fell onto the highway, and in attempting to avoid it, Storto skidded into the ditch.

There was no damage to either vehicle, although Storto received minor facial injuries and was treated at the hospital in Winchester.

Constable W.G. Manktelow investigated.

$1,700 total damages in Chesterville collision

CHESTERVILLE — An early morning collision at the intersection of South St. and Highway 43 Monday, has resulted in $1,700 worth of damages.

Gerald McBain of Clarence St. in Winchester was heading east on Highway 43 when he attempted to make a lefthand turn onto South St. and struck another vehicle, police said.

Gerald Scott of R R. 1 Chesterville, driver of the other vehicle, also eastbound on 43, was attempting to pass the McBain vehicle when the collision occurred.

Winchester OPP charged McBain is relation to the incident.

Damages to the McBain car totalled $500, and to the Scott truck, $1,200. The accident took place at approximately 9:05 a.m.

Matilda carnival this weekend

DIXONS CORNERS — Matilda Township residents are kicking off the festive spirit of the winter season this weekend as they hold the first carnival in the area.

The township community hall here and the memorial park in Brinston will be the two centres for the carnival, as a variety of outdoor events are planned for the entire family.

The carnival, however, starts indoors on Friday night in the community hall. Beginning at 8 p.m., hundreds of township residents are expected to pack the hall for the colorful Carnival Queen contest. Last year 500 people attended the show, and organizers are expecting an equally large turnout this year.

The new queen will be judged by Garry and Glenn Cook, the twins who play for the Ottawa Rough Riders. Miss Ottawa Rough Rider may also be present, although plans for her to attend are still tentative.

Picking a queen will be a tough task as 10 lovely young ladies between 14 and 18 are entered in the contest. As of the weekend, the contestants are Roseanne Baird, Pam Lapierre, Sherry Gillard, Sharon Albers, Wanda Zanbergen, Shelly Major, Patti Primrose, Mary Ann Karelse, Shirley Geurkink and Betty DeWitt.

All of the contestants receive several gifts for entering, with the winner and her princesses winning dozens of prizes from local businesses.

The evening is being hosted by Jeff Forget, a reporter with CJOH. Along with introducing the contestants he will also introduce a variety of musical talent from the area. The singers and musicians will be performing throughout the evening for the delight of the audience.

To make the night even more exciting the results of the snow sculpture contest will be announced. The snow sculptures are being made by students from local schools.

Crests will also be presented to the children who took part in the township's swimming, minor ball and water-skiing programs last summer.

On Saturday, a full day begins with a broomball tournament at Matilda Memorial Park in Brinston starting at 11 a.m. Grade 5 and 6 students will be featured in the games. Once they get off the ice the children will enjoy a lunch in the Brinston IOOF Hall starting at noon.

At the same time in Dixons Corners, the annual snowmobile rally will get underway. It starts at the community hall and runs over a 30-mile course. A dinner follows, in the hall, starting at 4 that night. The dance features George Barkley and the Country Cousins.

Tickets for the rally, dinner and dance are $12 per couple, with dinner and dance tickets going for $10 per couple.

Sunday's events begin at 1 p.m. in Brinston at the park. A woodsman's contest will be held with a variety of chain saw, crosscut saw and axe contests planned. Later on Sunday, at 8 p.m., the carnival ends where it began, at the community hall. That's where an interdenominational church service will be held.

Sullivan meets Doyle

Metcalfe Jets and Winchester Hawks went head to head in a Junior B hockey showdown over the weekend, splitting a pair of games. Friday night, the visiting Jets bombarded the Hawks 8-3 in front of 753 fans, but had their 17 game winning string snapped in Metcalfe Sunday afternoon when the Hawks took a 7-6 decision.

Hawks end Jets' streak on 7-6 win

By Al Van Bridger
Sports Editor

METCALFE — Metcalfe Jets incredible 17 game winning streak was brought to a grinding halt here Sunday afternoon when the second-place Winchester Hawks defeated the South-East Junior B Division leaders 7-6 on Al McLean's third-period goal.

That winning goal was a classic shot from the left faceoff circle set up by two other stars in the visiting blue uniforms, Marc Beaupre and Dan Lee.

Beaupre paced the winners with three goals and an assist while big Lee fired in a pair of beauties and helped out on the winner. Darrell Shelp with his 40th goal of the year had the other Hawks marker.

The 7-6 victory avenged a humiliating 8-3 defeat the Hawks had suffered Friday night in front of a home crowd of 753 and kept Winchester within five points of the pace setting Jets.

Jets had run their Eastern Ontario Junior B win string to 20 in 23 games, drubbing the Hawks 8-3 in their nest on Friday, getting two goals from Mike Fleming, Jim Kerfoot and Tim Oshier. Rick Nesseth and Ron Droeske scored singles on the listless Hawks. Rudy Grisel, Shelp and Grant Simpson beat Jets' Dan Petschnig.

After his team had surrendered eight goals to the lightning fast Jets Friday night, Hawks coach Doug Casselman was expecting more of the same Sunday afternoon in the Jets' hangar.

"They break fast, can hit the net and never relax their checking - it's hard to bottle such an explosive team up, so when they (Jets) went ahead 4-1 in the first period, I was expecting the worst," he said.

"But the boys kept coming and were aggressive for the whole game in both ends of the rink and it paid off with a big win," he said.

Casselman's co-coach Bernie Harper was extremely pleased with the effort from his club noting the play of the two newest Hawks - defencemen Jeff Summers and Brent Norton, who signed last Wednesday.

The two are solid at their positions and heady veterans after playing with the Southern Champion Bruins last year. They both appeared briefly in the black and gold uniforms this fall before opting out of the Junior hockey scene in Spencerville.

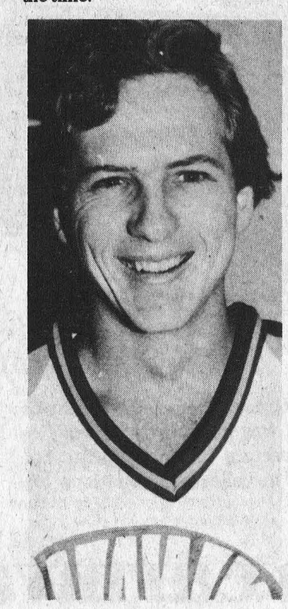
Because they hadn't played much hockey this season they were spotted in Friday's loss but Sunday were paired as one of three Hawks defencive units and showed their potential, which will undoubtly grow as their physical conditioning improves.

Summers wearing number 17 and Norton with number 28 on his back joined the pairings of Ken Sullivan, Kevin Cochrane and Rick Grisel and Ron Richards on the blueline and looked good to Hawks' fans and their mates.

JETS AHEAD 4-1

There were a lot of long faces along the Hawks bench when Thom Racine batted home Metcalfe's fourth goal at 8:04 of the first period. The marker pushed his team into a 4-1 lead producing a carbon copy image of the situation Friday night when they blasted the Winchester crew 4-1 and 4-0 in the first two periods before cruising to the 8-3 victory.

Marc Beaupre put the visiting Hawks on the scoreboard at 19:06 of the first period when he beat Rob Burns with some nifty stick handling. The goal inspired the Hawks because Darrell Shelp was serving a tripping penalty at the time.



Marc Beaupre - three goals

But Jet defenceman Greg McLaren - who saw limited ice in the game due to a groin injury - broke the Hawks' bubble of happiness 49 seconds later when he beat Dave Spence on a Mike Fleming setup.

That goal turned things around as the hometown squad victimized Spence and his defence for three consecutive goals. Jim Kerfoot scored from Tim Oshier at 12:04, Mike Doyle scored unassisted at 11:53 and Racine tipped in a Trevor Mertz shot at 8:04 and the Jets had another shockingly quick 4-1 edge.

Instead of skating like robots, just going through the motions, the Hawks battled back with a goal at 6:56 when Grant Simpson carried the puck around behind Rob Burns' cage and passed out to Darrell Shelp, who scored his 40th of the season.

Dangerous Dan Lee, skating on an ankle plagued with torn ligaments and held together with tape, dazzled two Jets' defenders and Burns with deft stick moves cutting the Jets' lead to 4-3 with just 46 seconds remaining in stanza one.

TIED AT FOUR

Realizing they could make a game of it, the Hawks took to the ice for period two and tied the contest at four goals on another beautiful piece of stick handling by Lee. The big winger made his moves after Pete Marriner - who skated miles in the game - and rookie Ken Shay made the passes in the Metcalfe zone.

Back on even terms the teams picked up the tempo flying up and down the ice, setting up dazzling scoring attempts only to be thwarted by Hawks Bruce Jones and Jets Rob Burns.

Jones replaced starter Dave Spence after the first period and was sensational, holding Metcalfe to just two goals. Coach Casselman pulled Spence making a very rare move. He usually lets the starter go the distance, but made a big move which paid off on Sunday. Spence was still feeling the effects of his back injury suffered in Cardinal last Saturday and hadn't seen any action since, so after allowing four goals he was taken out.

Now fired up against the Division leaders, Winchester scrambled into a 5-4 lead at 11:26 when Mark Beaupre deflected an Al McLean shot through Burns' feet. Curtis McMillan also drew an assist feeding the puck to McLean.

Jets kept skating and tied it at five at 8:02 when Bruce Kerfoot walked around a stationary Hawks' defence, pulled Jones out of position and scored into the yawning cage. Tim Oshier drew the assist.

Hawks kept tabs on the Jets and applied pressure in the Metcalfe zone until they came up with a 6-5 lead. Beaupre did the damage streaking in on Burns and ripping a shot over the goaltender's glove stopping the clock at 7:15.

Jets aren't stifled for long and they charged back up the ice on a three on two break. Bruce Kerfoot had the original shot on Jones, Nesseth had the second but Jim Kerfoot was the third man in and pumped the puck into the open net.

PERIOD THREE

As they had done in the 8-3 loss, the Hawks managed - somehow - to keep the highest scoring Junior B team in both Southern Divisions off the scoreboard in the final 20 minutes.

Good luck and some exceptional saves by Jones blanked Metcalfe in that final frame.

The playoff pace and bone jarring checks handed out by both sides had started to take their tolls as the final five minutes ticked down. By that time Al McLean (playing one of his better games) had blasted a rising shot under the cross bar, giving Winchester a dramatic 7-6 lead. Dan Lee and Marc Beaupre were on the ice helping Hawks relieve some pressure when the trio got up ice and into the left faceoff circle from whence McLean unloaded on Burns and beat him over the shoulder on the glove side.

Jets came within an ace of tying it on several ocassions and pulled their goalie in favor of an extra attacker, but their comeback wasn't to be and the Hawks had their 7-6 win.

Winchester now leads the season series with Metcalfe with two wins and a tie. Jets earned a 4-4 tie and beat the Hawks 8-3. Hawks have that tie to go with their 7-6 decision and a 10-3 victory. To date Hawks have 24 goals - Jets 21.

Jets lost scoring star Mike Fleming when he crashed into the boards and injured himself in the second period.

Thom Racine was tossed out of the game for drawing two five minute majors and Greg McLaren was assessed a misconduct, a game misconduct and a minor penalty after the final buzzer had sounded.

Winchester out shot the Jets 45-33. Hawks play Morrisburg in the Lions den on Friday, Jan. 16 and host Cardinal Broncos Sunday afternoon, Jan. 18 at 2:30.

Jets humble Hawks

WINCHESTER — The high flying Metcalfe Jets brought their 16 game unbeaten string to town Friday night and demonstrated, painfully well, just how they had managed to pound every team in the ODJBHL's two Southern Divisions into submission hammering on the bewildered Hawks to the tune of 8-3.

After they had chalked up five consecutive wins, running their season total to 16 wins, three losses and two ties, the Hawks added veterans Spencerville Bruins' defencemen Jeff Summers and Brent Norton to their lineup and practised diligently for the impending Friday showdown and for the first seven minutes of the game and for several brief flashes in the third period the Hawks looked like a contender, but for remainder of the contest they were out-hustled, out-skated, out-scored and outworked.

They led 1-0 up until the 12:15 mark of the first period, but surrendered eight consecutive goals to the hard-charging Jets before they managed to beat Dan Petsching twice in the final period, but by that time most of the 753 fans had vacated the chilly stands for the warmth of the arena hall.

After such an inept performance, who would've thought the Hawks could and would comeback with an exciting 7-6 victory right in the enemies rink Sunday afternoon.

The weekend split indicates fans from both Dundas and Carleton Counties should be in for some more exciting Junior B hockey when the clubs meet again late in February.

Winchester was the aggressor as Friday's match unfolded and took a 1-0 lead when Grant Simpson put the puck behind Dan Petschnig at 13:55. Darrell Shelp and Ken Sullivan drew assists on the powerplay effort.

Hawks looks intent on playing hockey until Metcalfe started to take over at 12:15 when Jim Kerfoot flipped in a Greg McLaren rebound after Bruce Jones had made a big stop on the first shot.

Jets were flying high, cashing in on powerplay goals at 7:35 and 5:55 by "Tiny" Tim Oshier, who scored from Kevin McManus with Hawks' Dennis Sullivan off for hooking and by Greg McLaren with Rudy Grisel serving a high sticking infraction.

Rick Nesseth upped the visitors lead to 4-1 when he demoralized Winchester even further scoring a short handed goal at 4:22. McLaren sent Nesseth away lobbing the puck down towards the Hawks' net. Nesseth simply out-hustled the opposing defencemen, grabbed the puck, uncorked a booming slapshot from the left circle which over powered Jones, hitting the top left-hand corner of the net.

Period two was a horror show for Hawks' fans who watched as their club chased the speedy Metcalfe attackers all around the ice in an unorganized manner.

Even with all that chasing Hawks couldn't stop the opposition on four occasions.

Mike Fleming picked a loose puck out of Jones' skates and made it 5-1 at 15:44 of the second after he had taken the draw to Jones' left and blasted away. Jones made the save trapping the puck between his skates where it lay waiting to be covered. The goalie didn't see it, Fleming did and quickly dug it out and fired it in the net.

Jim Kerfoot's back-hander made it 6-1 at 14:23, Fleming scored his second from McLaren at 13:07 and Ron Droeske upped it to 8-1 before the second period has ground to a halt.

Rudy Grisel scored on a breakaway midway through the third and Darrell Shelp scored from Grisel on a powerplay at 8:10 of period three, saving face to a small degree for the losers. Rick Grisel drew an assist on brother Rudy's goal.

Jets unloaded 50 shots on Jones, Hawks returned 37.

RCMP eliminates NDDHS boys' rink

OTTAWA — Bryan Gallant's rink from RCMP eliminated Winchester's Stuart Anderson and his North Dundas rink in straight games in the Eastern Ontario Pepsi Cola junior men's playdown here Sunday.

Gallant and his junior RCMP rink curled almost perfectly in both games of the best of three showdown defeating North Dundas 9-3 and 8-3. North Dundas reached the Ottawa stage of the Pepsi Cola event going undefeated in their double knockout Division C1 event in late December.

North Dundas coach John Wilson said Gallant and his foursome will be heard from in the future and are magnificent curlers.

"They missed only two shots in their first game and missed just four in game two for 98 and 96 per centages, which is incredible," Wilson said.

They (RCMP) can of course pick up junior curlers (under 19 years of age) from all other clubs in the city so they have great resources for building very strong teams," he concluded.

Anderson, third Mike Nelson, second Dave Nelson and lead Jamie Hicks will be back in action this weekend in school boy competition in a two day, double knockout event in Brockville.

RCMP, after eliminating North Dundas, will go against three other teams for the right to advance to the All Ontario Bonspiel in Windsor.

Vankleek Hill advances in school girl curling

VANKLEEK HILL — The host rink advanced to the second round of Eastern Ontario Ladies' School Girl curling playdowns here, eliminating North Dundas 12-2 on Sunday.

North Dundas won their opening game dumping Alexandria 10-7 but dropping their second encounter 11-3 to Vankleek Hill Saturday afternoon.

The locals returned to action on Sunday and were eliminated from the competition when they were defeated 12-2 by Vankleek Hill.

Curling for Dundas in the double knockout affair were Jill Vasey, Liz and Vicki Workman (all of Winchester), Deanne and Janice Saunders of Russell.

North Dundas will host further school girl curling on Feb. 20 at the Winchester Curling Club.

North Dundas hosts volleyball opener

MAPLE RIDGE — La Citadelle swept to convincing victories in both junior and senior division of the opening SD&G High School Girls' Volleyball season here last Tuesday.

North Dundas District High School hosted C.C.V.S., Seaway and La Citadelle but managed just three victories in two divisions. The girls travelled to Tagwi on Tuesday (Jan. 13) to battle the host school as well as contingents from C.C.V.S. and St. Lawrence High.

La Citadelle was unstoppable in both senior and junior play, winning all six matches. The seniors stopped North Dundas 17-15 and 15-11 in a couple of close games before hammering Seaway 15-4 and 15-6. C.C.V.S. won one set 17-15 but dropped two straight 15-5 and 15-5 folding under the winner's serve.

Host North Dundas Trojans bowed 15-9 and 15-13 to C.C.V.S. but managed to take Seaway two games to one winning the first set 15-10, losing the second 15-10 and winning the third 15-6.

C.C.V.S. finished the afternoon with wins over the Trojans and Seaway Spartans, while the Spartans didn't take a match.

In junior competition La Citadelle was once again the force to be dealt with winning all three matches, losing just once along the way. Seaway pulled off that upset winning 15-7 before losing 15-11 and 15-5. Dundas dropped 15-9 and 15-5 counts to the winners while C.C.V.S. was beaten 15-4 and 15-6.

Trojans closed their competition with two victories defeating C.C.V.S. 15-4 and 15-2 after they had dropped the opening set 15-13. The hosts then pulled off 15-3 and 15-5 decisions over Seaway after losing the first game of the match 15-12.

LaCitadelle finished on top in the junior section winning three matches, North Dundas was second with two wins, C.C.V.S. third with one and Seaway last without a point.

The juniors squad is made up of the following players who are coached by Norma Sharkey - Kim Beazer, Alice Koekoek, Laurie Marguette, Roxanne McLean, Kerri Middlemiss, Pat Rance, Paula Rhyndress, Janet Royal, Dede Saunders, Charlene Skuce, Vicki Workman, Bernadette Wouters, Lori Dowser.

Nancy Wilson coaches the seniors who have Tessie Boretos, Peggy Carkner, Trish Henry, Lorraine Hutt, M.E. Klein-Swormink, Lyne Malbouef, Cathie MacGregor, Tracey McIntosh, Debbie McVey, Jo-Anne Scott, Peggy Theos, Kathy VanVlaanderen and Wendy Vanderlaan on their roster.

Metcalfe takes gold medals at Pakenham tournament

METCALFE — Metcalfe Tweens ringette club is undefeated this season with a total of 22 points in league standings, four ahead of Alta Vista.

In keeping with their no loss trend, the girls defeated three teams in the Pakenham Ringette Association Tournament on Jan. 2 to take home individual gold medals.

To win, Metcalfe trounced Blackburn 12-2, beat Almonte 12-3 and got by a high calibre team from Alta Vista, 10-5.

Karen Gallinger was high scoring player at the tournament, leading the standings with 15 goals in three games. Christy McDougall, Angie Robb, Tina Flicket, Lynda Vidal and Sherrie Wardlaw also scored goals in the three game tournament.

Raiders topple Vice 3-2
Crowder gives the edge

Gerry Crowder's goal with 5:14 left in the game gave B&D - Don's Raiders an upset, 3-2 victory over first-place Vice Furniture here last week. In game two of the Town Hockey League doubleheader, Butch Oldford scored three times, leading Jo-Anne Shoppe's "Orange Crush" to a 6-1 decision over Angus Pontiacs.

Jo-Anne scrambled back to within two points of the league-leading Vice Squad and could move into a tie for top spot with a win this week. The top two clubs squared off for the fifth time Tuesday night (Jan. 13) with all of the cards stacked in Vice's favor. They have defeated Jo-Anne Shoppe four times, winning once by a 4-3 margin and three times by 3-1 counts. Jo-Anne Shoppe captain, Bill Hogaboam, was hoping his team could break their losing habits against Vice with the playoffs just five weeks away.

After last week's action Vice had 17 points on eight wins, three losses and a tie. That's just two up on Jo-Anne Shoppe who sport seven wins, four losses and a tie.

B&D Raiders haven't lost in three starts and are slowly gaining ground with 11 points on four wins, five losses and a tie. They now have a six-point edge on Angus Pontiacs who saw their record drop off to two, nine and one.

Gerry Crowder popped a Brian Halpenny rebound over Vice's Roger Hornsby with 5:14 left in the game, handing Raiders an exciting 3-2 win over Vice Furniture in game one last week.

After Raiders had battled the first-place squad for that slim one goal margin, they were assessed two consecutive minors by the officials (Mike Armstrong and Jim Fawcett) and were forced to play the final 2:05 of the game a man short. Vice took a coincidence penalty.

Key saves by goalie Steve Bear Johnston and aggressive checking by the out-numbered defenders managed to hold Dick Christie and his squad at bay long enough for the very important win.

Richard Gilmer back-handed in his own rebound at the 5:18 mark of period two, putting Vice back on even terms until the 17:00 mark of period three when Brian Halpenny beat Roger Hornsby after Owen Shortt had rushed the puck up the ice and into scoring position.

Vice battled back once again, this time gaining a two-all sawoff on Dale Hutt's goal at 12:01. Don Argue and Mike Cousineau drew assists on the goal that came on a powerplay with Raider captain, Denis Ouellette, serving a minor.

Crowder gunned home the Halpenny pass winning the game and counting his first goal of the season at 5:14.

THREE FOR OLDFORD ...

Winger Butch Oldford was in the right places at the right times in Jo-Anne Shoppe's 6-1 decision over the Pontiacs, popping in rebounds and deflecting shots behind Dan Hogaboam on three occasions.

The loss marked former defenceman Glen Taylor's debut behind the bench as Pontiac coach. Taylor was forced to hang up the blades after a knee injury.

Taylor wasn't able to help his mates on the ice and they just couldn't buy a goal against Kevin Baldwin. They managed to split the difference at 2-1 at 5:37 of the period when a goal was credited to Sheldon MacLeod, actually it went in off defenceman Al Van Bridger's skate.

Jo-Anne Shoppe opened the game quickly at 18:37 of the first period when Al Van Bridger scored from the point on a pass from Ken Quaile.

A minute and 14 seconds later they were up 2-0 when Butch Oldford cashed in from Phil Lyle on the first of his three goals.

Angus got their marker before the first was over and applied steady pressure throughout the second in an attempt to tie it up but couldn't overcome Baldwin and his goal-posts.

Gary Lapier slapped in a 20-foot shot at 8:13 of the second giving Jo-Anne a 3-1 lead. Bill Hogaboam and Gerry Belanger drew assists on the play.

Period three produced three more Shoppe goals and the 6-1 final. Oldford poked in a Ken Quaile rebound at 11:32, Dave Van Bridger snapped in Gary Lapier's feed from six feet at 9:13 and Oldford finished his new hat, taking a pass from Al Van Bridger at his own blueline before skating the distance to paydirt.

RIVALRY MOUNTS AS HAWKS AND JETS SPLIT WEEKEND

Brother, it was cold in the arena on Friday night and for the Winchester fans, among the 753 who attended, it only got worse, but for the Metcalfe Jets and their large following, they were hot from the first five minutes on. Jets came to win and it was evident as they dug in the corners and outclassed the Hawks at every turn. For the fans from Metcalfe who stayed for the dance after the game, it was their night to laugh and rub the 8-3 win into Hawk supporters. Then came Sunday's return match at Metcalfe and it was a new ball game. Sunday's game was like playoff hockey and neither team outclassed the other in this tightly fought contest which saw end-to-end play at top speed from both well-matched teams. Metcalfe have a good squad this season and any team that beats them will have to skate for 60 minutes. Fleming leads the league in scoring by a big margin with several others quite capable of bending the twine at any given time and then Greg McLaren is in third position and when he is able to hold his head, has a great shot from the point as well as being able to lay on the body and is a big help as to how the team goes. I guess that I could be a bit prejudice, but it sure takes me back 25 years when I see little Oshier streaking around the ice. He's a great little competitor like his father before him. Now before Joe accuses me of changing colors let me make it clear that it's my opinion that if Hawks decide to play they can take the Jets. In the four games to date Hawks lead the stats with two wins and a tie to Jets' one and a tie, with Hawks having a three-goal edge in the scoring, but only time will tell and we are in for some great hockey before the end of the season. This week Hawks play Morrisburg in Morrisburg this Friday and are back home to the Cardinal Broncos this Sunday and until Feb. 20 when Jets come to town I will be eating chicken fresh from the freezer courtesy of Pete Nooyen while Ted and Bill and Moe and Joe eat crow.

WINCHESTER TOWNSHIP SNOWMOBILE RALLY THIS SATURDAY

This year there will be snow and there should be no excuse for a good turnout when Winchester Township sponsor one of the first local rallies of the year this Saturday. Registrations will start at noon at the arena and supper will start at four when awards will be given out and then everyone is invited to take in the big dance which follows. Registrations are $15 but supper and dance tickets are available at a much-reduced rate for those unable to make the rally.

BIG GAME AND DANCE NEXT FRIDAY

Each year about this time the Local Town Leaguers reserve a Friday night for a big game and dance and this year the stage is set for next Friday, Jan. 23 when the opposition will be the Williamsburg Oldtimers taking on the best of the Town Leaguers. It's always a good game and with Shad's Disco playing for the festivities following better pick up a ticket and plan to attend. Tickets available from any adult hockey player at reasonable rates.

WI, Firemen take floor hockey upsets

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Ron Brennan scored three times leading last-place Mountain Township Firemen to an exciting 8-7 victory over S.M. Electric and Kevin Parnell netted three goals in W.I.'s important 10-7 decision over league-leading Lions in floor hockey action here Monday night.

The 8-7 victory by the MTFD Smokies was a big one, moving them into a third-place tie with S.M. Electric at eight points. They are even with four wins and six losses and are four points back of the co-leaders.

That share of first place was brought about by W.I. who knocked off Lions 10-7. Those teams are now deadlocked atop the standings with 12 points on six wins and four losses.

Ron Brennan's third goal of the game proved to be the winner as the Smokies battled S.M. Electric to the 8-7 decision. He connected at 17:06 of the third frame after he had dented the twine at 17:56. The electricians fired a pair of goals in the last stanza but couldn't break the ice for the all-important tying marker. Gerry Hamilton scored unassisted and Craig Freeman clicked for his second of the contest on a setup from Scott Fields in S.M.'s third-period attack.

Besides Brennan's three markers, Smokies got two goals and an assist from Robbie Barkley, a goal from Sean Coligan, a goal and an assist from Derrick Workman (his first points of the season) and a goal from Scott Gregory.

Hamilton and Freeman netted two each for S.M. with Al Dumoulin leading the way with three. Scott Fields had the lone assist.

Kevin Parnell was top man for W.I. in their 10-7 decision over Lions scoring three times, bringing his goal output to 13 while team-mates Derek Hyndman and Ron Martin scored two goals each. Kevin Barkley upped his league-leading total to 27 goals and six assists with two goals and one helper. Hugh Hamilton ripped in the other W.I. marker.

Shane Freeman was Lions' big gun, shooting in four goals. Andy Hewlett, Paul Roach (with his 21st) and Don Hill with his 16th, completed their attack.

Juvenile Red Wings stretch string to three

KEMPTVILLE — Doug Last and Dave Appleby fired goals helping the visiting Winchester Juvenile Red Wings to an exciting two all draw with the fast improving home team.

Kemptville Juveniles gave the visitors all they could handle after dropping a 5-1 decision to the Wings on Jan. 8 in Winchester. They upped their win total to seven last week beating the CDMHL leading Metcalfe and District Mustangs for a third time this season. It seems that Kemptville can handle the Mustangs and Morrisburg but can't get by Winchester who in turn can't beat the Mustangs but have defeated everyone else.

Rob Carkner was between the pipes for the 2-2 sawoff after going the distance at home in the 5-1 Wings' win. On Jan. 9 the Wings clipped Morrisburg Lions 5-2 with Kevin Loverin in the cage.

To date Winchester has 10 wins, four losses and a tie for 21 points - one back of first-place Metcalfe.

Daryl Last paced Winchester to that 5-1 decision over Kemptville scoring three times. Mike Holmes and Dave Appleby added singles and Ken Allen was the man spoiling Carkner's shutout. Last, Doug Coleman and Wally Vandekemp all drew two assists with singles going to Mike Guy, Pete Guy, Kevin Guy and Paul Helmer.

Five shooters shared the glory in Morrisburg where the Wings came up with their 5-2 verdict.

Bantams win championship

MORRISBURG — Trevor McClatchie - named the game's most valuable player - scored the winning goal against Metcalfe and District Mustangs, handing Winchester Bantam Hawks the "A" championship here on Saturday.

Winchester defeated Mustangs 4-3 in the championship final of the Bantam tournament here on Saturday after they had defeated Morrisburg 6-0 in their opening game and blasted Chesterville 5-1 in the "A" semi-final.

Hawks' goalie Rob Baldwin allowed just four goals in three games and every Winchester forward scored at least one goal in an impressive team display.

Kevin Henry notched two goals in the 6-0 triumph over Morrisburg with Dwayne Backs, Trevor McClatchie, Brent Carkner and Tommy McLean netting the others. McClatchie (3), Backes, Todd Findlay, Carkner, Cross and Gary Klein-Swormink all had assists.

Cross and McClatchie each scored twice in Winchester's 5-1 win over Chesterville. Kevin Torrie added the single. Tom "Thumb" McLean was the setup artist in the game drawing three assists. Cross, McClatchie and Brad Holmes had one each.

McClatchie with the winner and a first-period marker paced Winchester to the "A" championship 4-3 victory over Metcalfe and District.

Kevin Henry and Todd Findlay added the other goals while Torrie drew both assists handed out.

Chris Reaney, Dave Warren and Leon Dillabough scored for the runner-up Mustangs.

Flyers edge novice Hawks Harper gets hat trick

Dave Harper scored three times and set up a fourth Chesterville goal, leading Chesterville Flyers to an exciting 5-4 exhibition win over Winchester's Novice Hawks here on Sunday.

Hawks got three goals from Doug Armstrong in the first two periods but couldn't manage a goal against Scott Curran in the final frame.

The teams traded goals in an exciting six goal first period which ended in a three all sawoff. The battle continued through the middle session, which ended in another deadlock, this time at four goals. Utilizing their breakaway strategy employed throughout the game Flyers scored their winning goal on a break by Harper at 11:44 when he rushed up ice after Greg Thompson had cleared the puck to him.

Flyers opened the scoring on Harper's first goal on an assist from Craig Smith. Hawks defenceman Wayne Langland pumped in a Mark Carkner rebound tying it at a goal at 12:15.

Todd Marcellus beat Bryan Helmer at 10:56 only to have Doug Armstrong put the Hawks on even terms on a beautiful rush at 8:05 setup by Chris Holmes.

Craig Smith scored Flyers third marker scoring on Helmer after he had stopped Harper from point blank range.

Hawks rallied for a 3-3 tie when Armstrong completed a two-way give and go play from defencive partner Chris Van Bridger only to have Harper notch his second of the game at 12:03 of the second period on a break setup by Darraugh Slowey.

Harper's third of the afternoon salted Chesterville's 5-4 win away.

Midget A Hawks two points from first

Thanks to a 3-1 victory over Russell Warriors here in Winchester Monday night, Winchester Midget "A" Hawks have moved to within two points of first place in the CDMHL.

Winchester ran its record to nine wins and three losses with the triumph and have 18 points heading into this week's action. First-place Metcalfe and District Mustangs are currently enjoying a nine, one and two mark for 20 points while third-place Russell has 13 points.

Captain Bourk Boyd scored in the first period, Mark Guy made it 2-0 in the middle session and Carl Bartholomew made it 3-0 before Derek McLaren ruined Kirk Edwardson's shutout with 1:55 left in the game.

Keith Moore and Larry Faulkner assisted on the Boyd goal, Dale Simms and Kris Kerr set up Guy while Boyd and Dale Williams helped out on the Bartholomew marker.

Bantam "A" goalie Rob Baldwin and defenceman Brad Hanes had their work cut out for them in Monday night's 5-4 win over Russell Warriors. Press Photo—Van Bridger

Russell Warriors give Bantam A's rough ride

Third-place Russell Warriors wouldn't say die against the top-ranked Bantam A Hawks here in Winchester Monday night skating stride for stride with the home-town crew before losing a slim 5-4 decision.

Winchester had opened up a 3-0 lead before the spirited tribe of Warriors hit the warpath for three straight goals and a three-all deadlock, forcing the Hawks to score with 2:34 to play and add another with nine seconds remaining and the net empty.

Even with just nine seconds left in the game and down 5-3, the visitors stormed back and scored, closing the gap to 5-4 with one second showing on the clock.

Trevor McClatchie scored Hawks' first goal at 13:12 of the first period tipping in Brent Carkner's drive. Kevin Torrie hit from John Guy seven seconds into the second stanza and McClatchie beat Wayne Paquette on a Todd Findlay setup at 12:22 putting Winchester into a comfortable 3-0 lead.

The host club looked to be off to their 13th win in 15 games until Jeff Thompson fired Pete Latimer's pass behind Rob Baldwin with 8:37 left in period two.

Fifty-two seconds into period three Carscadden tied it up at three, using Latimer's pass for ammunition.

Russell continued to skate and had Winchester off balance until McClatchie shook free for his third goal of the night. Findlay drew the assist with just 2:43 left to play.

McClatchie fed Brent Carkner a pass with nine seconds to go and Carkner managed to slide it into the open net for a 5-4 lead.

Back on Jan. 9, Winchester visited Chesterville and skated to a 3-1 decision over the Flyers.

Kevin Torrie was top shooter for the winners, firing two goals and setting up the other by Brent Carkner. Trevor McClatchie set up both Torrie goals while other assists went to Mark Cross and Gary Klein-Swormink.

Cayer gets winner in Atom victory

Right winger Al Cayer scored the winning goal in Winchester's 3-1 CDMHL Atom A victory over Russell Warriors Monday night.

Cayer's goal came with 1:28 left in the second period and put his team ahead 2-0. Rodney Casselman and Derek Whittaker drew assists on the play that helped their team to their eighth win in 14 games and into sole possession of second place. Winchester now has 17 points - six back of the pace-setting Chesterville Flyers and one up on Metcalfe and District Mustangs.

Casselman put Winchester on the board at 8:40 of the first frame on a setup from linemates Cayer and Whittaker.

Two losses for Pee Wees

Chesterville Flyers and Russell Warriors handed Winchester Ault Foods Pee Wee A's back-to-back losses in recent CDMHL action.

Three second-period markers by the Flyers ran them to a 5-3 decision on Jan. 9 and a pair of third-period markers — one into an open net — lifted Russell to a 4-2 decision Monday night here in Winchester.

Winchester's double losses left them in the fourth and final playoff spot with 11 points on five wins, nine losses and a tie. Russell Warriors lead with 19 points, Metcalfe and District is next with 17 — a total matched by Chesterville.

Russell had taken a 2-0 lead in the first period of Monday's game on goals by Darcy Provost and Trevor Storring and assists by Storring, Provost and Brian Carscadden (2). They maintained that edge until Craig Robinson scored for Winchester from Dean Armstrong.

The 2-1 difference held up until Captain Dalton Henry skated the length of the ice, beat Mike Rothenberger and tied it at two. Warrior Captain Provost took a Pat Paquette rebound and jammed it under Ben Henry for the winning goal at 1:17, setting the stage for Paquette's empty-net marker with 23 seconds to play in the game.

Rudy Witteveen and Dan Dubois scored two goals each pacing Chesterville Flyers to their 5-3 triumph over Aults on Jan. 9. (Jamie Cheney notched the other Flyer goal and Dubois added an assist.

Craig Robinson, Dalton Henry and Rodney Casselman replied for Winchester with assists going to Henry and Mark Armstrong.

Bantam B Hawks split one-goal decisions

Winchester Bantam B Hawks split a pair of one-goal decisions in their first action of the new year, defeating Morrisburg 2-1 and losing by the same count to league-leading Crysler.

Although they dropped the 2-1 verdict to undefeated Crysler the Hawks and their coach, Owen Shortt, were very happy with the effort they came up with. D. LaFlamme scored the winning marker at 14:14 of the contest breaking up a one-goal draw.

Landry put first-place Crysler on the board at the five-minute mark of period one but Winchester rallied with the tying goal at 2:24 of period two, setting the stage for a fast-skating third stanza.

Tim Arnott fired Winchester's marker after he had taken a relay from Paul Henry and Tyler Alton.

Hawk goalie Paul Warren kicked aside 17 of 19 Crysler shots in an excellent display of goaltending. His mates returned 17 shots at the enemy but couldn't squeeze one of them in for the tying goal.

Hawks got back on the winning track on Jan. 7 defeating Morrisburg 2-1 on unassisted goals by Rob Martin and Barry McShane. Morrisburg notched their goal in the second period when Scott Robinson beat Rob Baldwin.

Winchester stands fifth of six teams in the CDMHL, trailing fourth-place Morrisburg 11 points to 14. Russell also has 14, Metcalfe 16 and Crysler 22.

Win and draw for Atom B squad

Winchester Atom B's strengthened their hold on first place in the CDMHL with a win and a tie last week. The locals had to settle for a 2-2 draw against Metcalfe and District Mustangs on Saturday after running up a 4-2 decision over Chesterville Flyers on Jan. 6.

Winchester has now gone 12 games without a loss piling up a league-leading 23 points.

Doug Armstrong popped in his 14th and 15th goals on the campaign in the two-all shootout with the Mustangs getting one assist from Clarence Holmes. Al Russell tied the game for Metcalfe at 12:54 converting a pass from Ghislain Trudel and Pete Corkett. Trudel had tied it at one, beating Winchester's Dave VanNoppen from Colby Harper at 4:21 of period two.

Winchester led Chesterville 1-0 after a period and 2-0 after two frames before Andy Cotman and Dave vanBruinessen put pucks behind VanNoppen in period three.

Doug Armstrong scored twice for the winners while Derek Hyndman and Jason Broad added singles. Jeremy Lyall picked up two assists with singles going to Broad and Dave Hobson.

Baldwin leads Midgets

KEMPTVILLE — Marty Baldwin scored a pair of goals here Saturday leading Winchester Midget B Hawks to a three goal sawoff with the home town B squad.

Mark Smith drew a pair of assists on the goals which tied the contest after Todd Kirkwood had put the visitors on the board on a setup from Tim Alton.

The Hawks chalked up their sixth win on Jan. 7 edging Morrisburg 2-1 on another Baldwin goal. Smith and Richard Faulkner set up the winner after Bob Goodman had tied it on a Greg Barkley pass.

College to offer series on effective parenting

CORNWALL — A series of seminars aimed at helping people become better parents gets underway at St. Lawrence College today. The seminars are part of the college's winter continuing education program.

The seminar series, entitled Child Development and Parenting, is intended not only for parents, but also for anyone who works with children, according to seminar leader Ron Grossman.

Grossman is a social worker with the Cornwall Children's Regional Team of the Royal Ottawa Hospital. He conducted a seminar on how to build self-esteem in children, last fall, at the college.

The Child Development and Parenting series will consist of four seminars: The Infant and Toddler, Jan. 15; The Pre-Schooler, Feb. 12; The School Age Child, March 2; and The Teenager, April 9.

Grossman said the seminars will be presented in ways that whether participants are laymen or professionals, "the material will be understandable by everyone." Topics will be covered by film presentations and discussion.

Grossman said that the seminars on The Infant and Toddler and The Pre-Schooler will focus on the fact that in their first four or five years children learn more than during the rest of their lives.

"I'll try to tune parents into the fact that the earlier their children are exposed to a variety of learning experiences and prepared for eventual separation from their parents, the better they will be able to handle going to school and relationships with their peers and elders," he said.

The seminar on The School Age Child will focus on how to understand and deal with the different personality characteristics that develop in children between the ages of five and 12.

"This is a time when the child starts to realize his or her role in the family and society, and a time for parents to impart a little more independence," Grossman said.

The teen years are the most tumultuous time in a person's life, Grossman said, and added that the seminar on The Teenager will concentrate on the special need for parents to communicate with their children at this time.

"Parents should listen to their children at all ages, but in different ways at different stages," he said. "During adolescence parents should ask for and respect their teenagers' opinions. By communicating and working out agreement on issues parents will help their teenagers turn into responsible adults."

Government insensitivity

The Federal Government has terminated the Community Services Contribution Program. This unilateral decision on the part of the Federal Government means that they will no longer share in the costs of water and sewer installations, or support the building of non-profit senior citizen housing.

This action will not only affect the quality of life of many Ontario citizens, but it will also have far-reaching economic consequences, in curtailing construction activity and the direct and indirect loss of employment.

This area will not escape the consequences of this decision. In Grenville, many of the municipalities will not be able to proceed with needed senior citizen housing. In Carleton, the construction of sanitary sewers, so vital to public health, will be reduced.

I do not wish to criticise the Federal Government unfairly, or in a partisan fashion. However, in this case, the Government in Ottawa, faced with an uncontrollably huge deficit, has been forced to slash its expenditures. That deficit is a direct result of poor financial management. But to terminate a program which provides such basic services to our people is unreasonable — especially when there are so many other areas of extravagant spending which the Federal Government should eliminate.

The Federal Government must get control of its finances. However, Ottawa cannot unthinkingly slash its programs in the same way that it unthinkingly spent its way to a massive deficit.

That grief can call its own.

Maureen, Wayne, Shawn, Erin and Craig. 39c

COOKE — In loving memory of a dear husband, David, who passed away Jan. 20, 1980.

The world can never fill.

PALMER — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Walter Palmer, who passed away Jan. 12, 1976.

Which never can be filled.
— Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Wife Evelyn and Family. 39c

Interdenominational service

Salvation Army speaker on agenda

VERNON — Each year in January the Osgoode Township Ministerial Association arranges an area-wide service in a local church. This service is planned by the ministers representing all denominations in the township and moves each year to a different church.

This year the service is planned in the Baptist Church in Vernon.

Captain Lorne Dixon of the Salvation Army, Ottawa Citadel, has been invited as guest speaker. Seven other ministers will take part in the service including Rev. James Paul, president of the ministerial. Special music is to be provided by The Osgoode Township Male Choir which is directed by Archie Smith.

This service has proved to be a very meaningful one to the folk of the area and capacity congregations usually assemble. The service in recent years has been conducted in the Pentecostal Church in Greely, and in the Presbyterian Church in Vernon. Frequently it is held in Metcalfe as a central point to the area.

Class of 1933-34

Who can you identify?
You will have to go back a long way in your memory, since this is a picture of the 1933-34 student population of Winchester High School.

A close look in the window at the right will show two trophies the school was obviously proud of winning. The photo is being carried in The Press courtesy of Lloyd Dixon.

WI to take over Red Cross clinic

RUSSELL — The first meeting of The Year of Disabled Persons was held on January 6 in the Anglican Church Hall with Miss Isabel Bell and Mrs. Marianne Lottes as hostesses.

The roll call, "name a disability," was answered by 19 members and eight visitors. Plans were finalized for the Carnival Bake Sale on Feb. 7 at 10 a.m. in the Arena Lobby. It was decided to enter the Seed Fair in Embrun and take over the Red Cross Blood Donor's Clinic in the fall.

Mrs. Judi Hubbard, convenor of Family and Consumer Affairs, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Bruce Crosby and Arlene Devarennes from the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

Lunch was served by Ina Kinkaid, Marjory Bryson, Betty Hay and Eileen Hamelin.

Next meeting to be held on Feb. 3 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Leila Twiname. Everyone welcome.

Winchester Springs social notes

Mr. and Mrs. John Myers of Cornwall and Mrs. Tim Pruner and daughter Amanda of Atikokan, Ontario, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Link and family.

Miss Laura Holmes has returned to Hamilton and Miss Linda Holmes has accepted a position in Edmonton.

Larry Steele has returned to Edmonton after spending some holidays at his home here.

Miss Gail Beaton of Cumberland and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kirkwood of Ottawa were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kirkwood.

New residents win VCA raffle

VERNON — The Community association was active during the festive season, when a successful raffle was run by John Simmond.

Two new residents of Vernon were the winners. Roger Lemay won the beautiful ceramic Christmas tree, which had been donated by Effie Morris and Mrs. Joan Simmond was the winner of the wine and cheese parcel.

Congratulations to both winners and many thanks to all who participated.

The V.C.A. Building Committee held a meeting recently at the home of Dick and Nancy Sorensen to discuss the progress of the plans for the building.

The committee at present is visiting various community centres in the area to get ideas and advice for the proposed building.

the way we see it

Carnival time is here

Get out your broomballs and your toboggans and your skates. Get ready for pancake breakfasts, beans for lunch and buffet dinners. Be prepared to watch bed races, log sawing contests and Moms versus Wee Wees hockey games.

Carnival time is here again, with the start of the area's first carnival this weekend in Matilda Township. That means for the next six weeks none of us will be able to complain there is nothing to do during this deep freeze that charades as winter.

If you look at the programs in this week's Press and until the first of March, you will see there is lots to do. And all of it is aimed at having fun, which is what carnivals are all about; people getting together to forget the blue days of January and February and realize that winter can be enjoyable after all.

Even if the cross-country skiing and snowmobile rallies and sleigh rides don't convince you that winter can be bearable, carnival season offers one other optimistic note: we are in the middle of the winter and spring is only two months away.

Building for the future

With the predictable progression of a demographic curve, society's focus is slowly shifting away from the young towards the middle and old aged. The reason for this is quite simple: we are getting older. The baby boom has come of age and every year the average age of Canadians goes up. In a few years we will be a middle-aged country and in a few decades there could be more senior citizens around than teenagers.

All of this is being predicted now by statisticians who have charted a sudden drop in the birth rate. It is also reflected in the school system where classroom numbers are going down. In order to avoid the problems that may develop in a few years from having more old people than young, various levels of government are now preparing the social services for greater senior citizen needs.

This has not been easy in these times of government restraint and inflation, but in this area it has seen the opening of several senior citizen apartments and one nursing home. Golden year societies, under a dozen different names, have also sprung up to provide a better life for our seniors.

One positive point of this progress has been the role local municipalities have taken in expanding services for retired people. In Osgoode Township, the municipality, along with several interested groups, is planning two apartment buildings and a nursing home. All of the leadership for these projects has come from the local level.

Winchester council, along with Mountain Township, hopes to build a second unit of apartments in town. The first building is full and a housing study has shown the need for a second unit.

Such planning is good for the area. It provides stability to the population base by providing needed services for older people and it shows that the community is interested in the welfare of our seniors.

The groups working towards these projects, along with the councils involved, should be commended for their foresight. By realizing the inevitability of old age and its effects on our society now, our transition to an older-aged society over the next few decades will be made much easier.

Up in smoke

If you have ever played a game called Smoker's Wild, then you know what it is like to have a nicotine fit. The board game is hilarious, as players try to keep from smoking but inevitably end up with a two or three pack-a-day habit. Watching smoker's play Smoker's Wild is half the fun, since when they light up all the crazy antics on the board seem to come to life.

The game, though, is not real, although the millions of people who inhale tobacco every day are. In hopes of educating these nicotine addicts, next week is National Non-Smoking Week. It centres around Weedless Wednesday, the day when people concerned about quitting smoking are given a hard and fast date to begin.

Join the majority, all you smokers. Butt it out and enjoy a happier lifestyle.

Peering ahead

By Bill Smiley

It's difficult to peer ahead into 1981 with wild enthusiasm. Unless you live in Alberta, where the taxes are low and the living is high.

Inflation is almost guaranteed to increase from 10 to 15 per cent. Our Prime Minister, in his infinite wisdom, had some advice for poor people and pensioners who dread such a forecast.

In effect, he said if they can't afford bread, let them eat cake. The last person who uttered those sentiments wound up with her head in a basket. Yes, Mr. Trudeau has much in common with Marie Antoinette, and is just about as close to the people.

Peace and goodwill seem like a hopeless cause for the coming year. The Russians are still in Afghanistan, keeping the peace. The situation in Poland, as I write, is very dicy. The Middle East is on the verge of catching fire, literally and figuratively. There are wars and rumors of wars around the globe.

And our country is not exactly in glowing health, politically, although that's nothing new. Barely has Rene Levesque had his ears pinned back when out of the West gallops, not young Lochinvar, but fairly serious threats of separation from Canada, airily dismissed by our P.M. as "hysteria."

It's anything but. If everybody west of Ontario went along with it, The West would have one of the biggest countries in the world, with a small population, great resources. And it's about time Ottawa, and Ontario, the fat cat of Canada since confederation, did more than pooh-pooh the idea.

Meanwhile, let's go back to the trivia that is so much more important to the individual. It's still a gloomy outlook.

Young people, unless they have a double income or inherited wealth, might as well forget about buying a house, with mortgage rates so high that even the Lord can smell something rotten in the state of our economy.

Donald McEachen, a wealthy bachelor who happens to be Minister of Finance, is so eager to de-index our income tax that he's dancing about like a kid who has to go to the bathroom. If he were allowed to get away with it, no matter how hard you worked, or how bright you were, your income would melt like a snowball in you-know-where.

Pollution and acid rain are attacking this beautiful country like the bubonic plague, while government talks tough and does nothing, and industrialists, in sincere surprise, ask, "What pollution?" while our lakes are killed of fish, our soil is poisioned and our health is threatened.

These may seem pretty gloomy thoughts, but there are even more horrible prospects for 1981. Every one of us is going to be one year older, and not one whit better.

That may be all very well for a kid of 18 who wants to become 19 so he can drink legally. But for many of us, all it means is more aches and pains, new glasses, new teeth, and one step closer to the grave.

Many of us will lose friends and relatives to that old Grim Reaper, and may will desert the sports page or the comics for the obituary columns.

We'll probably have a dreadful winter, a late spring, a short wet, cool summer, and another lousy fall, like that of 1980. I can feel it in my bones, especially the middle toe-bone of my left foot, upon which I dropped the mickey.

Unless the feds go on priming the pump with our taxes, gas and oil prices will soar, creating dreadful hardships, such as having to wear a sweater in the house, or walk to work.

Now, everything I've said is true, and you know it. But I can just hear you saying: "What's wrong with Smiley? Who does he think he is? Cassandra? He's getting into his dotage, and should be put away in an old people's home."

And you'd be quite right. Nobody believed Cassandra either, and it was a good thing. If they'd believed her, the fall of Troy would never have taken place, the great Greek tragedians would have had no material, and instead of working like trojans, we'd probably be working for Trojans.

But inside, I don't feel any of that gloom and doom I've been spouting. I feel like a boy. Rather an old boy, but a boy, nonetheless.

Despite our economic situation, high taxes, inflation on both port and starboard bows, war and violence our everyday diet, we'll survive, and probably have as good a year as we ever had.

We still have one of the highest living standards in the world. We are still a rich country, comparatively. We still have a sturdily independent nation of individuals. Our inflation rate is no worse than most countries, better than many.

So, if you can't buy a house, as Trudeau would say, buy a condominium. If you can't afford the supermarket prices, get out and cultivate your own garden. If you can't afford gas, walk. If you can't afford fuel, drop dead. It'll be warm enough where you go.

When I think of what Canadian pioneers faced, every new year, I just laugh at the whining of modern Canadians, one of the spoiledest nations in the world.

Personally, I'm going to have a great 1981, even if I can't afford teeth and have to gum my grub, have to get around on crutches. And the same to you.

An ordinary man

By Dr. Gordon C. Smyth

The seeming automatic response of Peter and Andrew, James and John to "become fishers of men" (Mark 1:16-20) is psychologically inexplicable apart from the hope that previously took multitudes to the River Jordan (John 1:19-42).

Andrew was one of many dissatisfied and wistful Galileans. He became a disciple of "John the Baptizer" who preached repentance and the coming of the Lord.

The great moment arrived. John announced, "Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world! This is he of whom I said, 'After me comes a man who ranks before me, for he was before me'."

People were electrified and left mystified. But the next day two of the prophet's disciples realized whom he meant. Crowds had yet to gather again. Jesus of Nazareth came in sight.

Once more John said, "Behold, the Lamb of God!" Andrew was one of those within earshot. He and his companion followed Jesus. They spent most of the day privately with him. That was the turning point in Andrew's life.

He represents ordinary folk. Many find it hard to be constantly referred to as "Simon Peter's brother." They often become jealous or cynical or frustrated. However, without Andrew there would have been no Peter.

The Peters of the world need to remember this, too. No matter how important or influential a person may be, he is dependent on the Andrews of the community who work for him, vote for him, prove loyal and pray for him.

Andrew was always in the background, doing his bit, finding a boy with loaves and fish (John 6:1-14), and introducing inquiring Greeks to the Master (John 12:20-22). He typifies men and women of good sense and devotion, who are the backbone of Church and State.

He appears briefly in Mark 13:3. He is included in the list of apostles in Acts 1:13. Then he drops out of New Testament sight.

Legend has it that Andrew served as a missionary in Scythia (the region north of the Black Sea), that he was martyred in Greece, and that his arm was transported as a relic by St. Regulus to Scotland, where he is the patron saint.

I can picture St. Andrew on the Day of Pentecost. He was listening to Peter make a speech that won 3,000 lives. I can hear Andrew, with a lump in his throat, saying to himself, "I could never do that. But I brought him to Jesus."

7th column

By Joe Rowan

Guess if you're fortunate enough to live in this Ottawa Valley area you'd have to agree the temperature this last few weeks has been a 'bit nippy'. Met Ed Lewis at Vernon last Saturday and he remarked that this weather is typical of the winters we like to refer to as 'those good old days'. Later in the day some of the 'now generation' wondered how we ever survived such frigid temperatures. "How," ventured one curious lass, "did you ever keep the pipes from freezing, or get the car started, or keep school buses running on schedule or ..." Those, my fair young lady, are problems that didn't exist more than a half-century ago. A quick trip back, if you like, to our old home town as it was on an equally cold January in 1924. Electrical energy had not yet reached that far into the valley, so lights were of the coal-oil variety. The only water pipe was the one extending from the pump down into the well (and it seldom, if ever, froze). Some homes had a reserve of 'soft' water in the 'cistern" but most didn't, and consequently the 45-gallon drum in the corner of the kitchen was kept heaping full of clean snow (one of the after-school chores). The drinking water was in a pail that sat on a board fitted neatly on top of the soft-water barrel. Hot water? Sure, the reservoir (an integral part of the huge cook stove) was always full, while the kettle sang merrily on one of the massive 'lids'. Regarding the car — those who had one didn't 'start' it in the winter. Usually it sat 'on blocks' until springtime. What school bus my dear girl? Why everyone walked to school — some a few blocks, others a few miles — and weather conditions never closed a school.

Yes, 'Virginia', we not only survived, but we loved every moment of it — tobogganing down moon-drenched hills; trekking through the bush to 'Harvey's Pond' for a skating party; cozily buried in a mountain of buffalo robes on a lonely road with only the jingle of sleigh bells breaking the frosty silence; and oh, those wonderful home-baked bean suppers that were always so much a part of all fun programs. Perhaps, Virginia, we haven't really advanced all that far. In those days, now only faintly visible through the mists of time, it never occurred to us not to enjoy the wonders of winter and be ever thankful that the house was banked high with snow; wood shed was filled; the cellar heaped with garden produce and shelves and shelves of 'preserves'. No doubt we enjoyed those wonderful days [and nights] all the more because we hadn't yet heard of 'Celsius" — "wind chill factor" — and all those 'lows' and 'highs' that weather forecasters so obviously enjoy drawing on their charts. Now mind you lass, we're not suggesting there were absolutely no hardships — for example one didn't tarry too long when it became absolutely necessary to pay a visit to the little house nestled under the cherry trees a hundred feet behind the house.

Honestly we had promised ourselves not to dig up that rocky, bumpy, old bridge topic again, but now, because of concerned good neighbors, we apparently have no choice. Russell area readers, you see, who pass through our fair town (Metcalfe) at regular intervals, are beginning to lose their usual 'cool' and directing fiery salvos in the direction of that Regional (Ottawa-Carleton) Ivory Tower. George Young, for example, says he's not really all that worried about the cost of broken springs, broken shocks and other repairable (but extremely costly) damage. George is concerned that repairing those nasty bumps on his 'noggin' might tend to make him less attractive to the fairer sex. But George — didn't you see that sign? My gosh friend, how could you possibly miss it? Think again! Don't you remember coming out of that first major 'dip' and glancing off the knoll before diving into the second (or was it the third) pitch-hole? At that precise moment, when your skull careened off the cross member of your auto roof, you should have glanced to the right (south) since there (in full view right in the centre of the disaster area) is the big 'BUMP' sign. So you see George those regional boys are genuinely concerned about our welfare after all.

If you haven't yet programmed anything for next Sunday evening, please allow us to suggest Vernon Baptist Church where the regular January ecumenical service will begin at 7:30. Osgoode Ministerial Association has made giant strides in its efforts to create better understanding among Christians whose beliefs so often vary but whose fundamental principles and ultimate goals are so closely related. Guest speaker for the occasion will be a Salvation Army Captain with the always-popular men's choir providing the musical theme. Think we can promise the evening will not only be enlightening and spiritually valuable, but also much more interesting than the usual garbage beamed via television into the living rooms of the nation.

And thanks "HAWKS" and "JETS" for a weekend of top-notch hockey entertainment. Fast, rugged, but relatively clean hockey is what fans demand, and you chaps gave us full value every second of the way. Who to bet on in the home-stretch? Sorry, no tips. Except maybe the fact that Garry Armstrong is putting his bundle on the Hawks ... and remember what happened to his Tiger Cats last fall.

SCHEDULE 1

This is a copy of Bylaw 93-80 of the Township of Osgoode passed by the Council of the Township of Osgoode on the 16th day of December, 1980.

BYLAW NO. 93-1980

A restricted area Bylaw, being a Bylaw to amend Bylaw 16-1971, for prohibiting the use of land for or except for such purposes as may be set out in this Bylaw and for prohibiting the erection or use of buildings or structures for or except for such purposes as may be set out in the Bylaw within the said lands; and for regulating the character and use of the said lands.

The Council of the Corporation of the Township of Osgoode enacts as follows:

Section 1: Section 9.4 of Bylaw 16-1971 is hereby deleted in its entirety and replaced with a new section which shall read as follows:

"9.4 No person shall use land or erect or use a building or structure for a Nuisance Use or an Offensive Trade as defined by the Public Health Act of Ontario. Fur farms, mushroom farms, bird farms, broiler plants, feed lots for cattle or pigs, riding stables or dog kennels shall have a minimum distance separation of 300 metres from any Village, Village Community or Hamlet boundary."

Section 2: Section 3 of Bylaw 16-1971 is amended by adding a new Section 3.3 as follows:

"3.3 Where the zone symbol designating certain lands as shown on Schedule "A" is followed by a dash and an "X" (for example, "R-X) then special provisions, in addition to the normal zone restrictions, apply to such lands and such special provisions will be found by reference to that part of the Bylaw which deals with "Exceptions". Lands designated in this manner shall be subject to all the restrictions of the zone except as otherwise provided by the special provisions."

Section 3: Section 2, DEFINITIONS, of Bylaw 16-1971 is amended by adding new Sections 2.35b and 2.62 as follows:

"2.62a Senior Citizen Home: shall mean a dwelling, house or other building in which board and lodging is provided for hire or pay in which minimum care is provided or made available, including personal care and/or supervision in the routines of daily living.

SCHEDULE 2

(i) Bylaw 93-80 has the following purpose and effect:

Section 9.4 of Bylaw 16-1971 requires residences in the Rural area be set back certain distances from high intensity rural uses such as feed lots, and vice versa. As a result, farmers are objecting to residential severances as they could potentially stop any expansion of a farming operation in the future. Since the adoption of this setback requirement in 1971, other legislation has been used to control the location of rural uses, including the new Agricultural Code of Practice, the Public Health Act and the Environmental Protection Act. As a result, the existing Township bylaw duplicates the intent of this provincial legislation. It also has less flexibility than the Agricultural Code of Practice since the Code of Practice is applied on an individual basis. As a result, the Township feels the control of rural uses is better handled through the newer provincial legislation, and therefore wishes to amend Bylaw 16-1971 accordingly. The proposed amendment contained herein still retains reference to the Public Health Act of Ontario, so this will still be implemented both by the Township and by the Ministry of Health and it still requires a minimum distance separation of 1,000 feet for intensive farming operations adjacent to Villages or Hamlets. Setbacks between residences and farms in the Rural area will now be controlled by the Agricultural Code of Practice.

The full list of affected rural uses, and any further information
The full list of affected rural uses, and any further information is available from Mr. Wayne Robinson, Secretary of Planning Board, at 821-1107.

Calves thrive in outdoor pens

Even on the coldest of days, calf hutches like this one on Marten Verburg's farm near Iroquois provide good protection from the elements.

Of simple construction, the hutches are inexpensive to build, require no barn space and are an effective way to isolate calves from disease. Press Photo—Harvey

Hutches cool way to fight disease

By Marg Harvey
Press Staff Reporter

New-born calves and infectious diseases are as attracted to one another as bees are to nectar. But isolating one from the other is crucial for future herd health.

However crucial though, it can be a difficult and sometimes expensive task. Separating calves from the rest of the stock usually means additional housing on the precious little land a farmer has to spare.

There is a simple way, so simple in fact, it seems almost too easy. Build a calf hutch that faces south, and it appears your worries are over.

Calf hutches are not a new idea, they've been around for at least a decade and even longer in European countries. They are everything a farmer would want them to be: inexpensive, effective, compact and easy to care for. And they only cost between $70 to $100 to build.

A calf hutch is a simple structure that has as its most important requirement, southern sunlight. Looking somewhat like overgrown dog houses, they are four feet high, four feet wide and eight feet long with one open side and no floor. Surrounding the open side is a small yard no more than five feet in diameter enclosed in crib or page wire.

Professor Lumir Drevjany, resident calf specialist with Kemptville College of Argicultural Technology, stresses sunlight as being the most important element. The one open side must be facing south so that the calf will be exposed to a maximum amount of sunlight. The low winter sun will reach right to the back of the hutch which gives the animal warmth while being protected from the wind.

"There are some other things to consider when putting up calf hutches," says Drevjany. "You should put them on a sloped or well drained piece of land that is relatively free from wind. With no bottom, all waste will seep away and the calf's bed will be kept dry."

Locating hutches near feed and bedding supplies will cut chore time, especially since the calves are fed individually with milk replacer.

Drevjany says too that at least one bale of straw should be spread in the hutch at the beginning.

Apparently it's never too soon to put the calves into the hutches. In fact, Drevjany recommends the calves be no more than six to eight hours old.

"Don't let them get acquainted with the warm environment, the younger they are, the quicker they will adapt to the elements," he says.

"You must make sure however, that they get a couple of feedings of colostrum (the cow's first milk) because it has the nutrients and antibodies needed for a healthy start."

After that, the only criteria are that they be mobile, dry and clean.

"I've seen new-born calves put into these hutches in sub-zero weather and be jumping around the next morning looking for their feed," says Drevjany. "Thirty-below and the calf is healthy and full of life."

At the college, he says the calves are fed milk replacer equaling eight to ten per cent of their body weight. So a 100 lb. calf would get about eight pounds of milk, divided into two feedings. Water isn't a necessity, "if they drink all that you give them, they don't need water," Drevjany says.

Calf starter with 20 per cent protein in small quantities is a good idea as well. And in his experience, plastic buckets are the best way to feed them. Plastic holds the heat longer in the winter and the calf's tongue won't stick to the sides in frosty temperatures.

Iroquois dairyman Marten Verburg is a firm believer in calf hutches. His father began experimenting with them several years ago and now they've become a permanent fixture to the farm.

And over the years, Marten has learned a few things about the system.

"The number one thing to remember about putting calves in hutches is to start them off in a clean maternity pen," says Verburg.

"What's the use of going to all the bother of isolating them from diseases after birth if they've already been exposed during labor?"

In constructing his hutches, Verburg watches carefully that the plywood he uses has no knots or small cracks. These allow for drafts and you want the hutch to be as draft-free as possible.

"I think cutting small doors in the side for feeding isn't a good idea either. And we never hang a tarp in the centre," he says. (Some feel tarps give added warmth).

"You want dead air so to speak. With a tarp you get circulation and a draft."

The only maintenance work done to the hutches since he's built them, says Verburg, is to replace a rotted roof top. Snow collects on the top and after a couple of years, the wood needs to be replaced. But painting the tops isn't the solution he says, "because the paint just peels."

Verburg leaves his calves in the hutches for about three months, then he transfers them to a pole barn. It faces the south as well, with a crib-type feeder and a constant water supply.

Drevjany cautions against bringing the calves back into a "tired" environment.

"You've put the calf in a disease-free environment so he's not going to have the necessary anti-bodies needed to fight off infections. The transfer process must be gradual," he says.

To clean the hutches before a new calf arrives, rotate and turn them over to be exposed to ultra-violet rays of the sun. Drevjany says the sunlight will kill any microbes on their surfaces.

Although separate calf pens with slotted floors are a popular alternative, Drevjany says they require barn space. Large pens with metal slotted floors over a lagoon (liquid manure) is another type of housing, but the flooring often causes leg abrasions.

"The only drawback to the outside hutches," says Drevjany, "is the added labor."

"It means additional chore time because you have to carry buckets. There's no way to feed them automatically."

If you have a disease-free herd, the professor says isolating calves is not a necessity. But if there are respiratory problems, hutches are the best way to ensure your calves won't contact any diseases.

"The result, if you do it properly, is a calf with lungs as clean as a whistle."

Verburg has no problems with diseases, but he uses the hutches because he likes what they do for the calf.

"They're healthy, sturdy and happy. And I find it a pretty simple way of housing my calves," he adds.

Farm bookkeeping seminar sets the record straight

KEMPTVILLE — Keeping the records straight probably adds up to a massive headache for a lot of farmers.

Paid bills, unpaid bills, cancelled cheques, bank statements, receipts — they're all too easy to lose especially when you're avoiding that chore of balancing the accounts.

But the biggest loser when it comes to messy record keeping can be the farmer himself. And the most profitable winner is often the government — gaining tax dollars which just maybe could of stayed in the farmer's pocket.

More than 100 farm women heard straight talk on keeping straight records last week. It was all part of the two-day Farm Business for Farm Women conference held at Kemptville College. Since studies have found that a large majority of farm women are responsible for keeping the books, it wasn't surprising that the seminar on record systems was crowded.

Conducted by Finch farm woman Ruby Mekker, the seminar outlined step-by-step how to establish a good record system — from the type of equipment needed to how to do a bank reconciliation.

Mekker advised the women to keep every bill, even household ones because she said if you're audited you might be held accountable for them. Paying by cheque is the best way, she added, because your cancelled cheques can be your own proof of payment.

Mekker also advised the women to keep track of bank charges because she said so many people don't realize these charges are tax deductible. She said if you ask, the bank will break down the interest and principal every month with your statement so you can see exactly what you're paying on your loan.

"You have to make your husband realize the value of a good record system," said Mekker. "It's not only for you, but also in case you're audited or for your accountant.

Doing your reconciliation as soon as you get your cancelled cheques is very important, Mekker emphasized. She said it was all too easy to lose track of cheques and expenses if monthly balancing of the accounts is postponed.

Mekker told the women to be wary of fly-by-night accountant firms.

"Don't fall for the fly-by-nighters' sales pitch that if you hire us we can show you how to be tax exempt. If your goal in life is not to pay any tax, you can figure out how to do it yourself by keeping track of your expenses."

However, Mekker said she did advise seeing a good registered accountant before income taxes are due.

"It's well worth paying for a good chartered accountant in this day and age with such drastic changes taking place," she said. "There's no way we can keep up with them all.

"But ask the price of his services first. A good accountant will tell you. The last thing he wants to do is wrestle with a farmer over the price of the bill."

Mekker also had one more word of advice.

"Get to know when to draw the line in expenses," she said. "If you can't even pay last month's bills, forget it."

Finch farm woman Ruby Meeker makes a point during her seminar on record keeping. Paying by cheque is the best way to keep track of expenses, according to Meeker.

Attendance down at KCAT conference

KEMPTVILLE — Attendance was down slightly at this year's Farm Business for Farm Women conference.

Conference planner Gary Pickard said about 165 women attended the two days of seminars, tours and lectures at Kemptville College, less than the number who showed up in previous years. The conference has been held since 1977 and in total, including this year, about 1,000 women have attended.

Pickard blamed the decline in registration on not enough publicity. He said the conference organizers had thought they wouldn't have to publicize the conference as much as in previous years because it is a well-known event in the area.

However, he said they overlooked the fact that there are many new, younger and parttime farmers in the district who didn't know about the conference.

Pickard also said many women had been coming to the conference since it began and they might have decided to now attend every second year instead.

This year's conference included a wide variety of topics. Seminars held by experts in their fields ranged from dealing with internal and external risk in agriculture to calf rearing. Judith Owen Q.C., was the guest speaker Wednesday night talking on widowhood and the family farm.

Despite the decline in attendance, Pickard said the organizers anticipate that the conference will continue next year.

Ready . . . get set . . . sew!

By Joanne Thauvette
Home Economist
Carleton & Grenville Counties

NEPEAN — Want some snazzy up-to-date additions to your wardrobe without spending a lot of money? ... then, Get ready ... Get set ... Sew ...!

This is the new 4-H Homemaking project in basic sewing that members and leaders all over Ontario have been asking for. There is something to interest everyone in this project — whether you have never sewn before or have some sewing experience.

Communities in Carleton and Grenville Counties are invited to participate in this project by forming a 4-H Homemaking Club. A club must have two mature leaders and at least four members between the ages of 12 to 26 years.

Club leaders will attend a two-day leadership workshop held in Jan. There, they will have the opportunity to sew a vest or skirt using the latest fashion fabrics. Some of the sewing techniques they will learn and use include seam finishes, applying interfacings and facings and finishing an edge with bias tape.

Following the two-day workshop, leaders will organize a club and invite all young people between the ages of 12 to 26 to join. The club will meet once a week for a duration of seven weeks. During the time, 4-H members depending on their previous sewing experience will make a wrap-around skirt or vest as well as samples of various other sewing techniques. 4-H members will also keep a record book of their work done during this period of time. Achievement nights will be held in April and May where all 4-H members will exhibit their work.

Why not become a part of this next 4-H homemaking project and 'Get Ready ... Get Set ... Sew ...!' Contact your local home economist, Joanne Thauvette, at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food, 26 Thorncliff Place, Nepean, Ontario, K2H 6L2 or telephone (613) 828-9167 for more information and for workshop dates.

Farm safety in classroom

Local school children may soon have a chance to learn about the dangers of tractors, combines and other farm equipment right in the classroom.

As its main project for 1981, the Dundas chapter of the Farm Safety Association will be approaching area schools and lobbying for farm safety to be taught. The decision was made at the annual meeting of directors and executives on Monday in Winchester.

Farm safety in the classroom is part of a province-wide move by the Ontario association. Farm Safety Consultant Harold Morphy of Arnprior explained to the Dundas chapter that he has been working on a similar project in Renfrew County.

Morphy predicted farm safety would be taught in Renfrew classrooms as of Sept. 1. He said the area school board had decided it should be taught in town as well as rural schools, since town children often have the greatest potential to be hurt when visiting farms.

The Ontario association has developed comprehensive farm safety kits which can be used in the schools by teachers. Research has showed that the highest amount of fatalities on the farm occur to young children.

The Dundas executive appointed a committee made up of Alida Scheepers of Winchester and Henny Veerman of Winchester Springs to work with Morphy on the project.

Two other projects the Dundas association will be looking into include a portable display which could be taken to country fairs and agricultural meetings and fund-raising for self-contained breathing apparatus. The apparatus would be used when there is a danger of silo gas.

Morphy explained Russell County has the apparatus which is available to every farmer in the county. He suggested that Dundas association could meet with local fire departments and see if a similar program could be established here.

Morphy cautioned that the equipment was expensive — about $2,000 — but said perhaps the association could work with community groups to raise the money. Farmer Richard Gilmer said area agri-businesses might also be interested in donating money since their employees could directly benefit from the equipment.

Both projects will be discussed again at the next meeting of the Dundas association.

At Monday's meeting, a new executive was elected. At first it appeared it might be difficult to elect a president since many of the members declined the office because of prior commitments.

But then Chesterville farmer Hans Schuler agreed to accept the position to replace retiring president Bruce Garlough.

The new vice-president of the association is Ted Van Moorsel of Williamsburg, the secretary-treasurer is Alida Scheepers and Lyle Van Allen was elected press reporter. Van Allen was absent from the meeting and Garlough agreed to take over press duties if the Williamsburg farmer could not accept.

One of the first moves of the new executive was an attempt to strengthen the local association's financial position.

A grant from the Workmen's Compensation Board is paid to county farm safety associations based on 35 cents for every farmer who contributes to the WCB assessment. In Dundas, that turns out to be 274 farmers although the executive feels probably many more farmers hire labor.

However, many counties don't have their own farm safety associations. The Dundas association decided to pass a resolution that the grant money which would go to these areas be distributed to active associations. The Dundas executive hopes the resolution will gain support from existing county associations. It will be sent to the provincial board.

Lucille Conway, district farm safety director, also spoke to the meeting about her work of the past year.

Dundas hosts Jr. Farmer winter games

Dundas Junior Farmers were generous hosts for this year's Zone 1 Winter Games, as they only took first place in one category, ladies' badminton.

Lanark ended in first with 63, while Prescott was a close second with 60. Stormont finished third while Grenville and Dundas rounded out the top five.

Winners were: mixed volleyball - Prescott (first), Grenville (second); ladies' basketball - Renfrew, Stormont; men's - Prescott, Glengarry.

3.1 per cent increase

MSQ target returns raised to $34.61

OTTAWA — The target returns for industrial milk have been increased from $34.61 per hectolitre to $35.70 per hectolitre for milk shipments for Canadian requirements.

This represents a 3.1 per cent increase since the last increase on Aug. 1, 1980. Over the 1980 calendar year, it represents a 9.4 per cent increase.

The target returns level is calculated according to the Returns Adjustment Formula established in 1975. The formula is monitored quarterly throughout the dairy year. It measures the change in farmers' average cash costs and the Consumer Price Index (which is used to reflect changes in the value of farmers' labor) plus other factors.

The Returns Adjustment Formula triggers a price adjustment whenever a change of at least two per cent is indicated. There are no more than three adjustments (at least three months apart) in the course of the dairy year including an adjustment on Aug. 1, the start of the dairy year. No price change is made during the relatively heavy sales season for dairy products in November and December.

The federal price is used as a target by provincial milk marketing agencies when setting prices for industrial milk and cream in their province.

The target industrial milk price is achieved through the establishment of federal support prices on butter and skim milk powder, together with a direct federal subsidy paid to producers.

The Canadian Dairy Commission has been authorized to increase the support prices for butter to $3.63 per kilogram (about $1.65 per pound), an increase of 12 cents per kilo, and skim milk powder to $2.20 per kilogram (about $1.00 per pound), an increase of seven cents per kilo.

Retail prices for all other dairy products such as cheese, yogurt and ice cream will likely reflect increased milk prices to producers.

The industrial milk price increase will have no direct impact on the price of table milk and cream because the provinces are responsible for fluid milk pricing.

"I want to take this opportunity to note the continuing strong demand for dairy products, including butter. This is due to consumer awareness of the nutrition and natural aspects of dairy products," Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said.

The total Market Share Quota available to producers in order to provide milk for Canadian requirements and the special export program is currently 48.691 million hectolitres.

"I am very pleased with the performance of the dairy industry at this time. While there is still room for a higher utilization of milk quota, I am confident producers will deliver all the milk required for the year," Whelan said.

Seed corn free from smut

OTTAWA — Seed corn examined in the field last summer was entirely free of head smut, according to a report new by Agriculture Canada.

The survey was launched because of an outbreak of the disease in southern Ontario in 1979. The disease had not been previously reported in Canada.

"The most significant determination was that no evidence of the disease was found during field inspection of all seed corn grown in the 1980 season," Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said. "This means that seed available for planting in 1981 is free of disease."

Whelan explained that this means the disease should only be of concern to farmers on whose property the disease already has occurred, and remains in the soil.

During the survey, no evidence of head smut disease was found in the Maritime or Prairie provinces, but it was detected in sweet corn fields in British Columbia and in field and sweet corn fields in Quebec and Ontario. Greatest incidence of the disease was in Ontario.

The field corn varieties in which infection was detected in 1980 were identified by farmers as follows: DeKalb XL6, Funk G4065, Hyland HL2219, Pioneer 3901, 3906, 3950, 3965, 3975A, 3978, 3990, 3992, 3993, 3994, 3995, Stewart 2501, Stewart 2660, and Trojan T737.

Sweet corn varieties in which infection was detected were identified by farmers as: Burgundy Delight, Golden Beauty, Golden Jubilee, Jubilee, Seneca Explorer, Seneca Gem, Seneca Sunbeam, Silver Queen, Stylepak, Sunset and Super Sweet.

"There is no chemical yet available to protect corn varieties against the disease, although we are considering one seed-treatment product for possible registration," Whelan said.

Agriculture Canada, in an attempt to prevent disease-carrying seed from entering Canada, recently imposed import restrictions.

Field corn seed will only be allowed into Canada if it has been found free from disease by either field inspection or by tests of the seed itself.

Whelan said he considers the long-term solution to the problem to be the breeding of corn varieties that are resistant to the disease. Testing of existing varieties to determine their susceptibility was started in 1980.

CANFARM gets $5.8 million grant

OTTAWA — The federal government has allocated $5.8 million to complete its transition funding for CANFARM Co-operative Services.

CANFARM, a computerized farm accounting system, was transferred from the federal government to a consortium of farm organizations and co-operatives in April 1979.

Under the transfer agreement, CANFARM was sold for a nominal $1. The federal government agreed to provide $1.2 million a year for three years, providing the co-operative showed both financial need and progress in building membership.

In addition, the government guaranteed a loan of up to $4 million to CANFARM, through the Canadian Co-operative Credit Society.

Of the $5.8 million funding announced today, about $3.5 million will go to retire the loan.

"We are exceeding our original commitment to CANFARM," Agriculture Minister Eugene Whelan said. "In addition to the loan guarantee, we are giving $2.3 million in federal funds to CANFARM to ensure that farmers who now subscribe to CANFARM will get the services they have contracted for. The $2.3 million grant will ensure that all 1980 accounts are completed.

"I believe the federal government has completely honored its part of the bargain," he added. "There will be no more federal funding for CANFARM in the future.

"The onus is now on the farming community. If CANFARM is to be a viable operation, farmers and farm organizations must support it now."

Community mourns Delia Robinson

Mrs. Chester Robinson, the former Delia Robinson, a lifelong and highly respected Winchester area resident, died at Winchester District Memorial Hospital on Jan. 8 following a lengthy illness. Born in Mountain Township, a daughter of the late Joseph S. Robinson and his wife, the former Ellen Hoy, she married Mr. Robinson at Winchester, and the popular village couple would have celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary this coming summer.

Always extremely active in both church and community endeavours, she will long be remembered by the many valuable groups she served so diligently, many of them organizations she herself had founded. Her first loyalty apart from family, was always her church, St. Paul's Presbyterian, where she was an Honorary Life Member of the Missionary Society and a valued 30 year member of the Ladies Aid Society.

But Delia (as she will be fondly remembered by a host of friends) quietly and efficiently combined her dedication to church with an almost equally-dedicated effort to promote and serve her community in a multitude of ways.

When the new District Memorial Hospital became a reality here in town, it was Mrs. Robinson who immediately saw the need for a ladies' auxiliary and who served as the unit's first president. The highly successful organization in recent years made her an honorary member in recognition of her years of unselfish devotion to the cause.

Those with vivid memories of World War 2 will also remember Mrs. Robinson's valuable contributions, since it was she who organized and directed Red Cross work in the district and who also set up the very first local Blood Donor clinic.

Despite her almost limitless voluntary work with her church and the hospital she always found time to shoulder just a bit more than her share in various other community endeavors including the ladies division of Winchester Curling Club where she was a past president and Honorary Life Member, and also Winchester Chapter No. 310 Order of the Eastern Star where she was a Charter Member; Past Matron, and Honorary Life Member.

In addition to her husband she is survived by two nephews, five nieces, and by two very dear friends, Phyllis M. Henderson and Margaret Tullis. She was predeceased by brothers Creighton and T. William Robinson.

The funeral service at Vice and Craig Funeral Homes Inc., Winchester, was conducted by Rev. Dr. Wallace MacKinnon at 1:30 p.m. on Jan. 10.

Pall bearers were Don Wilson, Al Bond, Ray Munro, Ran Wylie, Ed Boyd and Art Folkard.

Interment was at Maple Ridge Cemetery.

Staff shuts out NDDHS students

After a two week holiday, the student and staff here returned to find January exams just around the corner; however, clubs and teams were as active as ever, including the ever-popular staff-student challenge series.

The latest of these escapades saw the students and staff head-to-head at the Chesterville arena for a broomball game. Staff heavyweights outscored the students 3-0, despite several memorable staff blunders.

In boys' curling, the school team went undefeated to win their division in Junior Men's Curling, beating out teams from Ganonoque, Brockville, Morrisburg and Hawkesbury. They went on to the Division finals in Ottawa on the weekend, where they were eliminated from further play by the RCMP rink. Team members were Dave and Mike Nelson, James Hicks, and Stuart Anderson. The girls' team played Vankleek Hill on Saturday, beating Alexandria and losing to Vankleek Hill. Sunday, they went to Alexandria but lost again to Vankleek Hill. Game members were Jill Vasey, Vicki and Liz Workman, Janice and Deanne Saunders.

The Junior Girl' Volleyball team won two out of three matches last Tuesday, beating Seaway and C.C.V.S., but losing to La Citadelle at a tournament hosted by North Dundas. On the same day the Seniors beat Seaway but lost to La Citadelle, and C.C.V.S.

School jackets and cardigans were on sale last week, with jackets costing about $40 and cardigans, $15.50. The money raised from these sales will go to the student council funds.

The guidance department has obtained T.V. cassettes of over 30 careers descriptions, including such occupations as tea tasting. These informative cassettes are available for viewing in activity period.

Preparations for the Winter Carnival are running at full steam, with the various planning committees scheduling events and promotional activities. The date has been set - Feb. 20 - and such activities as Safari Hunts and Indy 500 racing are co-ordinated with Olympic events in the gym in the spirit of this year's theme - North Dundas Goes International. Certainly, students have something to look forward to — besides exams.

Set up exam timetable

Don Stephen, Head of Guidance
North Dundas District
High School

EXAMS, EXAMS. It's that time of year again.

For many students it's their first set of formal exams and for others it's the time to refresh plans for studying. Here are some good ideas to use in preparation for the examination and some points to follow in writing exams.

Set up a definite timetable, on paper, which shows what subjects are going to be studied each night.

School guidance corner

The study timetable should show two or three subjects per night, with more sessions for the subject you find difficult. Weekends are a good time to put in extra work on weak areas.

Plan to cover each subject at least three times before the exam.

- The first coverage should be slow — starting right at the beginning of the course and checking each point to see that you understand it. (Just reading notes or a text is a waste of time.)
- During the first coverage, keep a separate list of things that you don't know or find difficult to understand. See the teacher concerned as soon as possible and try to clear up these difficulties.
- It may be necessary to consult several teachers several times during the review period — and teachers welcome this as it shows the student is doing a good review.
- As you go through your work the first time, underline important points, make summaries or keep lists of important ideas.
- The second coverage should be faster since now you should understand all the topics in the course. Now you should be working on the idea of memorizing details and keeping the information in your mind.
- Now you should be using ideas such as saying things out loud with the book closed, writing out information, practising diagrams, having some one ask you questions, using flash cards for factual information, etc.
- The third coverage should be similar to the second. It has been proven over and over again that the more often you go over material the more likely you are to remember it clearly.
- A fourth coverage is advisable — and should be in the form of a complete review of the important topics, of your summaries and lists — the night before the exam, that is, a quick "refreshing your mind" about the important topics.

If you review as suggested above, you will not have to stay up late "cramming" — but should get to bed early and be in good physical and mental condition to go into the exam room confidently. You will be able to recall the information you have studied, plan your answers well and, thus, write a good exam.

WRITING AN EXAMINATION

When you receive the exam paper, read it over thoroughly and note the questions you know you can do well.

Start on the questions you know best — this usually gets you off to a good start and helps your confidence.

Have some idea of how much time you can afford to spend on each question. Consider how many questions there are and how long the exam is — and work out a rough budget of time. If necessary, leave a question and return to it later if you have more to write on it.

Try to write something on questions that you apparently don't know well — this attempt might help recall some ideas.

Leave spaces after every answer so when you are checking your paper before handing in, you will have room to add ideas you might have missed before.

Try to budget your time so you have a chance to read over your paper and catch some of those "silly little mistakes" that so often cost 10 or 15 per cent in marks.

When you finish that exam forget about it and start preparing for the next one.

Good luck! Next week there will be an article for the Grade 8 students who will be coming to the high school next year.

Canada Goose Shop lays golden egg for taxidermist

By Deborah Irvine
Press Staff Reporter

MANOTICK — For all those angry Oak Valley farmers livid over geese gobbling up their spring crops — go stuff it.

Or if you don't want to do it yourself, Barry Cowan of Manotick will be pleased to take on the job — if you don't mind waiting. As owner of the Canada Goose Shop in that village, he's got more geese, grouse, gophers — you name it — to stuff than he can handle at any one time.

Cowan is a taxidermist. For hunters and fishermen who want their prize to achieve a sort of immortality, Cowan's the man to go to. With a smile he explains that the traditional trophy rooms of the "Great-White-Hunter" era are still as popular today as they were during Queen Victoria's time, "only now they call them recreation rooms."

At 49 years of age, Cowan has been practising taxidermy for the last 35 years. His first project was an owl he had found shot dead in a farmer's field. He took it home and through trial and error, he learned to stuff it.

After a short correspondence course at the Northwest School of Taxidermists ("it's the one everybody takes"), Cowan continued to keep up his hobby progressing to more varied birds, animals and fish.

Twelve years ago, he opened the Canada Goose Shop and within two years, business was so good that Cowan gave up his job as a brick layer and devoted himself to taxidermy full-time. Oh, he admits there's more money in brick laying, but then adds he's closer to nature in the job he has now and that's how he likes it.

To many people, stuffing dead creatures with styrofoam may seem a weird way to get close to nature. Cowan though is not shy about answering criticism. He agrees that his job may appear to be contradiction to his love for nature, but points out that many other nature lovers act contradictory also.

"These people will come in here and argue with me that what I'm doing is wrong," he says. "They'll say, 'How can you shoot birds?' But at the same time, these same people don't do anything to help nature. They won't feed the birds in the winter. All they do is follow them with binoculars. I don't have anything against bird lovers as long as they leave me alone."

Cowan says he considers wild animals much like farm animals — when the time comes, you harvest them, much the same as you would chickens, cows or pigs.

He explains that on his 100-acre property in North Gower, wood ducks nest and he feeds the grouse all winter. But when hunting season arrives, he will shoot the number of birds allotted to him. One thing Cowan is emphatically opposed to though is the needless squandering of some hunters.

"It's a different story if you're talking about going out and shooting 100 birds," he says. "But I don't do that. Just like I don't go out and shoot 20 deer."

Cowan says it was his interest in nature and anything to do with sportsmanship that first got him involved with taxidermy.

"It's pretty hard to do anything with birds and animals if you don't enjoy being with them," he says.

Although the taxidermist jokes that he is about a year behind in his stuffing, he seems to work remarkably fast — whether it's fluffing out feathers or switching one bird's head for another. Cowan estimates that he can complete about three grouses a day, but, of course, larger projects take more time. When prodded, he says no, he has never felt squeamish about his work.

A lot of others must feel the same way because since Cowan started a taxidermy school out of the shop two years ago, more than 100 students have taken the course. Spanning three Saturdays in a row, those interested have the option of learning how to stuff birds or small animals. The shop also sells supplies to hunters and fishermen who like to mount their own catches.

Cowan himself has done a wide range of work. Everything from bearskin rugs complete with heads to African crocodiles. He admits snakes are not his favorite, but he does them as well.

With some things, though, Cowan does draw the line — like most household pets outside of budgies. For one thing, he says the whole idea of stuffing and mounting a pet is morbid because most people regard their pets as members of the family. For another, he explains he used to get stuck with the dead animal if the owner changed his mind.

"Once I had a lady who wanted me to stuff her pet monkey," recalls Cowan. "Well after I had done the job, the lady refused to pick it up because she thought seeing the monkey again would upset her too much. She paid for it and everything, but here I was left with a stuffed monkey. So I said that's the end of doing pets unless you're going to be a mortician."

As for taxidermists, what sort of prizes do they collect for their own trophy room?

For Cowan, it's animals that have never been alive. In the past few years, he has begun to collect decoy ducks and he now says he has about 120 of them, some dating back to the 1800's. Whether they're worth anything or not does not concern Cowan, he says he just gets pleasure out of them.

"And besides, I get to meet some interesting characters this way," he adds with a smile.

Taxidermist Barry Cowan applies the finishing touches to a piece of his work. An avid sportsman, Cowan has been practising taxidermy since he was 14 and found a dead owl in a farmer's field. Samples of his work can be found throughout the showroom of the Canada Goose Shop in Manotick. As well as stuffing birds, fish and small animals, Cowan sells taxidermist supplies and runs a course for those interested in the hobby.
