Chesterville Fair Most Successful In Years Fine Displays Of Dairy Breeds Featured

Favourable weather yesterday aided one of the finest fairs that the Chesterville and District Agricultural Society has staged on the local fair grounds for many years. The crowds were large, exhibits well planned and the mid way full of fun and excitement.

The Fair Committees are to be congratulated on the way the events of the day were handled. Arrangements on the grounds for displaying exhibits were different from other years and made it much easier for people to get around. Cattle showings were fine and the Special Show days for Jerseys, Ayrshires and Guernseys brought an increased numbers of exhibitors. There were entries in all classes and competition was very keen. Local herds showed up with the best, Venture Croft Farms doing particularly well in the Jersey showings. Placing of the classes in detail will follow.

In the Red and White Ayrshire Show H. J. Kittle and Sons of the Boyne were among the top money winners and Colin McGregor of Crysler with his "Golden Guernsey" herd made a nice showing.

For the first time in Dundas County there was a class for Grain Corn and the competition was keen. Doug. and Wm. Feeley took top honours with C. A. Graham coming a close third.

Swine classes improve each year in quality and number. Again Venture Croft Farms made a fine showing.

Six horses were in action on a good track and saw Bob Grattan take the Free-for-All in an easy 2.10 4-5. The 2.20 class had Neptune out ahead with a top speed of 2.12 1-5.

EDIBLE OIL FIELDS

Such varied items as a bottle of medicine, a can of paint, or a pound of shortening that housewives are likely to bring home from shopping tours may seem to have little relation to a field of bright yellow sunflowers. But there's a definate relationship, particularly to the fields in the Red River Valley of Manitoba, where more and more farmers are making sun-flowers their chief crop.

For Canadian-grown sunflowers are coming to play a more and more important role in the goods we use and the food we eat. From sunflower seeds comes rich, edible vegetable oil used in the production of soap, paint, varnish and certain medicines as well as bread, pastries, lard substitutes, salad dressing and other foods.

The leading centre in sunflower growing is the town of Altona, Manitoba, 90 miles southwest of Winnipeg. This will be the third big year of production for Altona. Residents of this little town of 1200 people and surrounding communities have built their own processing plant which turns out 80,000 lbs. of oil a week When the Dominion Government encouraged farmers to grow sunflowers, residents of Altona and district raised $189,000 in share capital and government-secured bonds among themselves for the project.

Importance of sunflowers to food supplies has been increased by the drop of lard production in Canada during recent years. In 1944, 120 million pounds were manufactured while in 1946 production had dropped to a mere 45 million.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture is behind this scheme to supply the country with more vegetable oil. Previously, Canada had imported most of her oil from Argentina where more than 1,000,000 acres of the plants are grown yearly. Before the war, not a single acre of sunflowers for oil was planted in Canada. Now, rich, edible oil flows from the Altona plant 24 hours a day into waiting railway tank cars.

Sunflowers are seeded in the first or second week of May and harvested toward the end of September. Harvesting is done by ordinary grain combine.

The elevator at the Altona plant has a capacity of 1,000,000 pounds of seeds and dries them at a rate of 6,000 pounds an hour. After leaving the trucks, the seeds are carried to the top of the elevator by an endless belt of small cups. At the top the cups dump the seeds onto a conveyor belt which distributes them to the various storage bins.

During processing the seeds are subjected to 240 degrees F. in the cooker. Oil is extracted from them here and is forced by steam pressure through filter presses. These consist of 32 separate plates of specially woven canvas which remove all seed particles. Then the oil flows into cone-shaped outdoor tanks to await shipment.

Great care is taken to maintain the purity of the oil. A chemist checks its progress at all stages until the finished product flows clear and smooth into the storage tanks.

It is estimated that Canadians could use up to 50,000,000 pounds of vegetable oil a year. Production in Canada is only a fraction of that figure as yet, but the Altona venture is a step in the right direction.

THEY HAD A CHURCH BUT THEY TRADED IT FOR A SALOON

By W. H. Colclough in the Stratford Beacon-Herald.

"We ain't got no church in this town," said the heavily built, roughly-dressed American, gazing at his half-consumed mug of beer. "We used to have a church, but we traded her for a saloon." He smiled in amusement at his intimate reference to church and beer. It was Sunday, and we had left the American prairies behind and were now in the wooded sections of Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The only way we could tell it was Sunday was by the calendar. If anything, there was more activity than either Saturday or Monday produced. Farmers were busy on the land without that excuse that a catchy harvest made Sunday work necessary. One man drove his three-horse team, hitched to a manure spreader, rapidly across a level field. A small shingle mill whined off shingles. Two youths were practising with a high-power rifle, blazing away into a sand hill 200 yards distant.

A couple of carpenters were hammering up a new house with some old lumber, and some distance down the highway a large number of cars had congregated under the trees around a white building. From a distance it looked like a church service, but when we swung up to it we read a new sign stretched across the gable: "Beer Perhaps we are old-fashioned but at low rates all day".

we were unable to feel happy that the Americans had locked up their church doors and put double hinges on their saloons which enabled the doors to swing both ways. It was a delightful day, with the new leaves forming on poplar, birch and maple and early Summer was in the air, but we detected a decided drift in the moral tone of American life when contrasted with what we experienced five years ago when we travelled the same road.

As an institution, Sunday seems to have disappeared, with a corresponding loss in spiritual and moral values. And this spiritual paralysis is spreading over into Canada. There is a concerted attack from certain interests to destroy our Sunday laws. "Why not have it the way it is in the States " they argue. "The Americans are good people. and a commercialized Sunday is not doing them any harm."

Perhaps any disintegration of the moral life is not apparent to the man in the midst of propaganda for its destruction, but a disregard of Sunday's ideals brought to the States by the Pilgrim Fathers is doing the people harm—a lot of harm—and if history is to be accepted as a guide, it will eventually destroy the nation.

Just Lazy

A Scotch barrister felt that he had received a "call" to the church and subsequently entered the ministry.

In due course he was appointed to a church, and meeting one of his parishoners one day, was questioned about his past experiences.

When the minister told him that he was once a barrister-at-law, with an income of £3,000 a year, the man asked, "An' what do you get here?"

"Three hundred pounds," was the reply.

"Ay,I thoct so," concluded the other. "Onything rather than work."

WINTER WHEAT IN EASTERN ONTARIO

(Experimental Farms News)

Excellent crops of wheat have been harvested in Eastern Ontario and especially in the Ottawa Valley. Plot yields at the Cereal Division of the Central Experimental Farm have been exceptionally high and the Rideau winter wheat variety developed by the Cereal Division for use in Eastern Ontario, under field conditions, yielded 56 bushels per acre. This crop was excellent for combining two weeks after it was ripe enough to harvest by binder.

Rideau wheat was developed from a cross between Kharkov and Dawson's Golden Chaff. It has brought together much of the winter hardiness of Kharkov with the high yielding qualities of Dawson's Golden Chaff. This variety is very popular in Eastern Ontario and very good yields are being obtained throughout the area. In comparative yield tests at four different locations in the Ottawa Valley over a period of three years Rideau gave 39.9 bushels, Dawson's Golden Chaff 38.1 bushels and Kharkov 31.8 bushels per acre. At Ottawa in years when winter injury was a factor Rideau has outyielded Dawson's Golden Chaff by a substantial margin.

The demand for Rideau is likely to be heavy but plenty of good seed is available in the Ottawa Valley for seeding this fall.

WATCH YOURSELF GO BY

By Strickland Gilian

JUST stand aside and watch yourself go by.
Think of yourself as "he" instead of "I".
Note closely, as another man you note
The bag-kneed trousers and the seedy coat;
Pick flaws; find fault; forget the man is you,
And strive to make your estimate ring true;
Confront yourself and look you in the eye—
Just stand aside and watch yourself go by.

And then with eyes unveiled to what you loathe—
To sins that with sweet charity you'd clothe—
Back to your self-walled tenement you'll go
With tolerance for all who dwell below.
The faults of others then will dwarf and shrink,
Love's chain grow stronger by one mighty link—
When you with "he" as substitute for "I"
Have stood aside and watched yourself go by.

Now Be Good

The proud father was talking about the intelligence of his son.

"You know, dear," he told his wife. "I think he must have got his brains from me."

"He certainly must," retorted his wife. "I've still got mine."

A WONDERFUL NEW ARTIFICIAL HAND

A remarkable new artificial hand has been invented by Mr. J. H. Simpson, a young Irish architect, and developed by Mr. A. W. Shaw, managing director or an artificial limb firm in London, England. Quite apart from looking exceedingly lifelike the hand functions with all the dexterity of its human counter-part. Made of wood and metal, it has small rubber pads set on the inside of fingers and thumb, that the hand may grip firmly, and a larger pad of rubber-sponge placed on the palm. The controls are connected to a shoulder brace which enables the wearer, by an almost imperceptible shrug of his shoulders or back to grasp any object he wants, be it a spade or a magazine, a glass tumbler or a tennis ball.

PREPARING POULTRY HOUSES FOR PULLETS
(Experimental Farms News)

From the standpoint of disease control, it is important that the laying house be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected before moving pullets into it in the fall, says W. J. Cuthbert, Dominion Experimental Station, Prince George, B.C. Droppings, litter, and other material should be removed with shovel and scraper and the ceilings, walls and floors swept with a stiff broom. It is then desirable to soak the floor thoroughly so that the remaining dirt may be scrubbed off. This procedure should be followed by scrubbing walls, floors and fixtures with a hot lye solution made by dissolving one pound of lye in 30 gallons of water. When this is dry, it is advisable to apply a reliable disinfectant, such as lye in two or three per cent solution, chlorinated lime in the proportion of six ounces to each gallon of water, or one of the many commercial preparations available on the market.

The cleaning and disinfecting of the poultry house must be done thoroughly, with great care taken not to overlook the cracks and corners. If neglected, these may provide excellent hiding places for disease germs and parasites.

Round poles are not altogether desirable as roosts because they have a tendency to check on drying and this makes them difficult to clean. Lengths of 2 x 4 inch scantling, rounded on the upper edges, are therefore preferable. These should be placed about 14 inches apart. About eight or nine inches of roosting space should be allowed for each bird.

One nest should be provided for every five or six hens, and these also should be cleaned and disinfected. Plenty of good litter, such as short cut straw, will help to keep nests and floors clean.

It doesn't cost to advertise in The Record — It Pays.

Dundas Orangemen In Monster Parade At Winchester

More than 800 members of the Orange Order attended the church parade of the Dundas County Lodge which was held in Winchester Sunday afternoon under the direction of County Master Wilson Hoy of Mountain.

In addition to the county lodges, the parade was augmented by lodges from Ottawa and Westboro, among whom were nearly 100 members of the LOBA and as many from Ottawa Orange Young Briton lodges who came to Winchester in three chartered buses.

The mile long parade which formed up at the 100 Club park, was under the direction of County Marshall Clifford Wylie. The parade was led by the bugle band of the OYB Lodge No. 350 Westboro, under the leadership of bandmaster G. A. Quail. Also in the parade was the Bell flute band of Bell Lodge No. 1312, Ottawa, led by Gordon Comba.

Orangemen representing district lodges from Cumberland, Manotick, Stittsville, Osgoode, Kemptville, Burritts Rapids, Metcalfe, Campbell's Bay, Billings' Bridge, Smiths Falls, Merrickville and Roebuck, and many Grand Lodge officers also were present.

The United Church where the service was held was filled and the overflow crowd was accommodated in the Sunday School hall, where loud speakers had been set up.

The service was conducted by Rev. Norman J. Thomas, the minister of the church, and the choir was under the direction of Mrs. Howard Fetterly. Special numbers were sung by a male chorus of Hugh Wilson, Fred Gibbons, Howard Biccum, Chester B. Timmins, Sargent Thomas, Oscar W. Wallace and Ronald Freeland.

Speaking to the members of the Order on their return to the park J. A. Corrigan, of Ottawa, the Deputy Grand Master of Ontario East, said that the best foundation for church union was to be found in the ranks of the Orange Order and urged the members to work toward a closer union of all Protestants.

Miss M. Chapman, Grand Mistress of the LOBA of Ontario East, complimented the County officials on the largest attendance in the history of the County Lodge at such a parade.

Earl Draper of Prescott, Grand Master of the Royal Black Preceptory of Ontario East, Homer Patterson, Past County Master, W. J. L. Boyd. Douglas Johnston, Master of the Winchester LOL, and Mrs. W. J. McVey, Mistress of the Winchester LOBA and Rev. N. J. Thomas, also gave short addresses. County Master Wilson Hoy introduced the speakers.

Church News

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

The Sunday services at Morewood United Church were conducted by the minister. At the morning service the sermon was on the Religion of Song based on Matt 26;30, "And when they had sung a hymn they went out into the Mount of Olives." An outstanding feature of Christian experience in private life and public worship is the ministry of sacred song. The Christian sings the song of Salvation, the songs of pilgrimage, the songs of service, the songs in the night, the songs in the valley of the shadow and finally the glad new song of triumph. The duet was rendered by Mrs. Jean Ballantyne, contralto, and Mrs. H. Poppelwell, soprano, and was entitled "My Saviour's Voice."

The theme of the evening service was the Parable of the hidden treasure, Matt 13;44, "The Kingdom of Heaven is like unto treasure hid in a field; the which when a man hath found, he hideth, and for joy thereof goeth and selleth all that he hath, and buyeth that field." The parable sets forth the joy of the man finding wealth, his tremulous fear lest his secret cannot be kept, his eagerness to purchase that field reckless of cost, each item quickens the sense of the value of the treasure and stresses that if one gets a true sense of the value of the salvation of the soul, the possession of that treasure becomes the chief concern. Miss Ellice Smith was at the organ for both services.

Shocked!

Two burglars had broken into a tailor's shop and were sorting out some suits when one of them saw one marked $85.

"Bert, look at the price of that one. Why its downright robbery."

A Jewel Story For the Kiddies

Once upon a time there were three little gnomes and their names were Screwworm and Scramblepipe and Burrowjack. They lived deep in the black forest and all day long they dug for gold and jewels, but at night they delighted in playing pranks on their neighbours.

Then one day the King of that country made an announcement. The Queen had lost some of her jewels and everybody in the whole kingdom was to join in the search. The soldiers searched and the sailors searched. The shopkeepers searched and the farmers searched. The housewives searched and the children searched. They looked in the palace, they looked in the fields, they fished in the rivers. They looked in the forest where the Queen went riding but the jewels couldn't be found. Not anywhere.

Finally the King decided that if they weren't above the ground, they must be under the ground, and every gnome in the forest would have to turn out his pockets. This caused consternation underground for as every gnome knows there is enough red pepper in his pockets to blow the crust off the earth.

That night the gnomes gathered in conference. What was to be done? Somebody must find the Queen's jewels! So Screwworm, Scramblepipe and Burrowjack went out into the forest to search.

The first person they saw was Jack Squirrel. "There's your thief!" cried Scramblepipe. "He's always hiding things," said Screwworm. "See, he's got something in his hands right now! After him!" shouted Burrowjack. And the gnomes ran around in circles finding ladders, ropes and climbing irons. Jack Squirrel just sat on the branch of a tree and looked at them with his bright black eyes.

Presently the gnomes had the ladder up to the tree, and up they came, all three of them to catch Jack Squirrel. But just as they got nearly up to his branch, Jack Squirrel hopped over to another tree. Down came the gnomes again, screaming with laughter, and started up the other tree.

But just then they heard a chuckle behind them. Turning around they saw Grandfather Toad, sitting in a hollow under a tree, chuckling fit to split his sides. "Who's laughing at us?" cried Screwworm. Let's give him something to laugh about," said Burrowjack. "Let's board him up!" shouted Scramblepipe. So the gnomes forgot all about Jack Squirrel, they were so busy boarding up Grandfather Toad.

A hundred years later some woodcutters in the forest cut down an old tree, and out jumped the oldest grandfather toad they had ever seen, chuckling so hard he seemed to have been chuckling for a hundred years. Then the woodcutters looked where Grandfather Toad had been sitting, and there were the Queen's jewels! He had been sitting on them all the time.

Ontario Peach Crop Survives Heat Wave

While T. L. Kennedy, Ontario Agriculture Minister, estimated that possibly 40 percent of the Ontario tomato crop had been ruined by the recent heat wave, a peak crop of good quality peaches survived the heat and drought and will begin moving to market at once.

The Ontario Agriculture Department's weekly crop report said the heat wave had burned pastures in many sections, scalded root crops—particularly tomatoes—and brought a sharp reduction in milk and egg products.

Estimates conflicted on the damage inflicted by the heat wave which ended Sunday. Some reports said that the loss in tomatoes alone would approach $3,000,000, but Mr. Kennedy himself said he did not think it was near that figure. Tomato prices increased from a week-end low of 39 cents a basket to between 59 and 79 cents.

A great part of the tomato crop goes to the canneries.

Potatoes dipped to a record low this season of 10 pounds for 23 cents, while most other vegetables continued at bargain prices.

The crop report said some dairymen now are feeding hay and grain to cows in order to keep up the milk supply, thus cutting into Winter feed supplies.

Over the whole province rain is badly needed.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN
Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! "Seeing is believing!" is the motto of the exhibitors at the Canadian National Exhibition this year. These manufacturers tell their story with movies - twelve to twenty-five minutes running time. It is worthwhile to do the Exhibition in easy stages so that you have time to see the various pictures and its one way of resting your feet.

The women will want to spend some time in the Coliseum section where there are practical interior decorating schemes and demonstrations pertaining to home and community projects.

Of special interest will be the day when your hobby or craft is in competition. Consult the catalogue for place and events.

NEW EQUIPMENT

1. More glassware is now being made in Canada. There will be ample supply of table glassware as well as cooking and baking utensils of this type.
2. The aluminum jelly moulds or different shapes and sizes are being displayed for the first time in years.
3. Notice the food chopper attachment designed to hold the chopper firm and at the same time protect your table top or working surface. It can be fastened so that it is out of your way when not in use.
4. Again a new grater and easy to to clean because the grooves are more curved.
5. There are many new apartment washing machines this year.These are time-savers and require only small storage space.
6. An electric dryer for clothes is another machine which women are considering.
7. The thermometers are also interesting. These are the most inexpensive ones ever offered. There are special purpose ones for deep frying. for syrups, or for meats, as well as dual purpose recording gadgets.
8. Electric ranges are again the envy of the bride-to-be. Special features are the pressure cooker as one element; a broiling pan that fits right on the shelf grooves; time signals that ring like an alarm clock; light fixtures for the oven; easy-to-clean drip trays and streamlined handles.
9. New ironers and hand- irons- are displayed in the manufacturers' building where many pieces of laundry are being done for your benefit if you wish to review your technique.

Community planning is the concern of the family, yet women have a keen interest in the pattern of life surrounding them. The model homes are in detail and an attendant will be glad to tell you all about them.

½tsp vanilla
nutmeg

Put peanut butter, salt and honey in a bowl. Add ¼ cup milk and beat until smooth. Add the remaining milk and continue to beat. Pour into a jar cover and store in refrigerator until needed.

Top each glassful with a dash of nutmeg.

Blueberry Pie

Line a pie plate with a rich pie pastry ¼ inch thick. Mix 2¼ to 3 cups of blueberries with 1 tablespoon of flour, 2-3 cupful of brown sugar and ⅛ teaspoon of ground cloves. Fill the pie plate. Add the top crust, crimp edges and bake in a hot oven 425 degrees F. for 10 mins.; reduce moderate 350 degrees and bake another 2 minutes or until done.

Cloves and brown sugar give a new and different flavour, but if you prefer a dash of lemon juice, its good, too.

Iced Tea

Allow 2 teaspoons of tea for every standard measuring cup (8 ounce) of briskly boiling water. Brew in warmed teapot 4 to 5 minutes.

Fill tall glasses with cracked or cubed ice, then pour in the hot tea. Serve with sugar and lemon slices.

Old-time Tarts

2 cups diced rhubarb
½ cup water
1½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
3 tbsps. quick-cooking tapioca
2 cups crushed berries
8 baked tart shells
¼ cup cream whipped

Combine water, sugar and salt in saucepan. Bring to a boil and simmer five minutes. Add quick-cooking tapioca and berries and bring to a full boil, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, Cool, stirring occasionally. Turn into tart shells. Chill. Just before serving, garnish with the whipped cream. Makes 8 servings.
