Ontario's Premier And An Aviator At Winchester.

At the Dominion Day Celebration at Winchester next Tuesday, Premier Sir William Hearst will present medals to over 50 returned soldiers and an aviator, just returned from France will give two exhibition ascents in his flying machine.

Decoration Day.

One of the largest crowds ever seen at Maple Ridge Cemetery gathered there on Sunday afternoon last in connection with the Annual Ceremony of Oath-taking in decorating the graves of their departed brethren. The beautiful and impressive ceremony of the order, conducted by Bro. John McCormick, was said over each grave, seven in all, and flowers were laid on each. They were present from all quarters of the County, some coming from as far as Iroquois, Morrisburg and Russell. The day was pleasantly cool.

A Word of Warning.

At the Mountain Twp. S.S. Convention held at Reid's Mills June 10th, 1919, it was resolved that we call attention to vendors of tobacco, to parents and those interested in boys the fact that the Legislature of Ontario has made it illegal to sell cigarettes to boys under a specified age, or any one older to procure cigarettes for boys under age; or to send boys under this age to procure tobacco for others.

Resolved, that we request tobacconists to observe this law, and that we pledge ourselves to stand by its enforcement. Carried by a standing vote.

It was further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to the Winchester Press, the Mountain Herald and the Kemptville Advance.

J. I. Beggs, Secretary.

Rooters A Nuisance.

It is a great pity that so many young men and boys so far forget their good manners, and what is due to visitors, as to stand behind the players at a game, like they did last Saturday night, and yell and hoot the visiting team at every opportunity. The home players do not like it, the majority of citizens and spectators heartily disapprove of it, and it only tends to embitter the feelings of the visitors against the place. A more assinine practice we do not know of and those who indulge themselves in shouting and hooting the visitors when at play should be kicked off the field. Then the crowding around the catchers and along to third base should be stopped. It is not fair to the players, and spectators should know better than to do it.

A Bad Mix Up.

Four Winchester young men were going down to Chesterville last Friday night in a Ford car, to attend a social there, and when on the Ridge road this side of the Cemetery they came in contact with a rig being driven by Mr. Hobart Howes who was on his way home. For some reason the car was without front light, and it was the horse before anyone saw it. The horse reared and jumped right into the glass wind-shield, and for a time there was a general mix-up. The horse was badly cut by the broken glass, and when it got free of the car it ran into a barbed wire fence and got tangled up in it so that it had to be shot. Neither the driver of the rig or the young men in our rig received any injury, but the car was badly damaged. Altogether it will cost the young men about $250 to settle the bill, the owner of the horse being most reasonable in his demand.

Special Attractions At Winchester For Dominion Day.

The attractions secured for the Dominion Day, or Peace Celebration to be held at the Agricultural Fair grounds on Tuesday afternoon next, are sure to draw an immense crowd, and if the programme is carried out as at present provided, it will prove one of the best celebrations ever held in Eastern Ontario. The presence here of Sir William Hearst to present our returned Veterans with medals on behalf of the citizens of this community is an honor to the County. It will be the first visit of Ontario's Premier to any public gathering in this County, and he will undoubtedly receive a warm welcome.

The securing of an aviator, recently returned from France, to give two exhibition flights in his aeroplane is an event that is sure to attract a very large crowd. The flight will be made from the fair grounds, particulars of which may be seen in the advt. in this issue. The other events such as baseball match, horse races, etc., are always an attraction, but the teams to play and the horses to race are in this case the best to be secured. With fine weather next Tuesday will see an immense crowd in Winchester.

Clean Up.

While Winchester is undoubtedly one of the cleanest and best looked after towns in Ontario, there is yet much room for improvement. Next Tuesday our town will be visited by many strangers, and some distinguished guests, who will be here for the first time. First impressions are lasting, and we want our visitors to go away with the impression that Winchester is not only a very attractive place, but that it is a specially attractive place. The dust covered grass and weeds on the road sides, the loose stones on the streets, the tin can, broken limb of a tree or any other objectionable matter that may be on the streets should be cleaned away, and the town made to appear at its best. It is up to our citizens to decorate their homes for Tuesday.

Mr. Scott has a brother and two sisters living at Colorado Springs, the brother he has not seen in over thirty two years. There are eight children of the Scott family living, and the youngest has just turned 45 years, which is a somewhat remarkable record. Mr. Scott's many friends will wish him a pleasant trip and safe return.

Rolo Mercena DelKol, the world's champion butter cow for seven and thirty days, consigned to the American National Sale at Philadelphia by her owner, Mr. J. B. Hammer, Norwich, Ont., brought the splendid price of $26,000. Her heifer calf sold for $7,100, both animals going to Coldstream Farms, Lexington, Kentucky, a new venture in the Holstein Friesian business. Canadian consignors made an excellent showing at this sale, most of their mature females selling at from $2,000 to $4,100.

The Boy Scouts gave one of their members, Ernest Miller, a farewell supper in the school room of St. Paul's church on Saturday night. The boys had invited the Girl Guides to be present to gether with the local committee. Refreshments were served and a very happy hour spent by the young girls and boys. At the close they all joined hands and sang with their guest in the centre. Ernest has been one of the active Boy Scouts here, and his removal to Morrisburg is regretted by his companions.

New School Book

Parents of school children will regard at least one school book with deep interest as soon as the department of Education can have it issued and that is "The Great War in Verse and Prose," a small volume of patriotic design, the contents of which are edited and selected by L. E. Wetherell, B. A., and introduced by Hon. H. J. Cody, D. D., L.L.D., Minister of Education. The little book is a prize. It contains seventy of the very best poems of the war and over a score of prose utterances, and messages from the lips of great statesmen and soldiers. It contains Col. John McCrae's "In Flanders Fields," and Sir Arthur Currie's famous order to the Canadians on March 27th, 1918. The little volume is to be introduced to the Public schools to be used in reading classes, as often as is expedient, instead of the authorised reader.

Saying Good-Bye.

It was a hard task for Rev. Mr. Miller to express himself last Sunday Evening in his few remarks with reference to his going away from Winchester Circuit. It was a union meeting of the Presbyterian and Methodist congregations and the church was filled to its capacity. Rev. Mr. Glassford being away the Presbyterian congregation was represented by Rev. Mr. Eollingbrook of South Mountain, who took Mr. Glassford's services here on Sunday. He expressed his high personal esteem for Mr. Miller, (having labored with him at South Mountain for three years) on behalf of the Presbyterians of Winchester he expressed regret at the removal of Mr. Miller, and wished both he and his family success in his new field, and God's Blessing. Rev. Mr. Miller spoke of his happy relation with the people of Winchester, the splendid unity that existed between the different congregations and the splendid support he had received in his work. He made particular mention of the good work of the church choir under the able direction of the organist and leader. Rev. Mr. Miller and family carry away with them, the kindest wishes of the citizens of Winchester.

On Tuesday there was a farewell social to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Miller at the home of Mr. Lem Ellis, and on Tuesday afternoon the ladies of Winchester, connected with the Methodist church, met in the S. S. room and presented Mrs. Miller with an address and a beautiful Silver Tea service. The presentation came as a great surprise to Mrs. Miller, who made a feeling reply to generously expressed kind words and sentiment of the ladies of Winchester. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left yesterday for their new home in Morrisburg carrying with them the kindest feelings of a host of friends in Winchester and vicinity.

Keeping Ants From the Home.

Nearly every one is familiar with ants and knows something of their habits, structure, mode of living, etc. They vary in size from the tiny red ant that is so frequently found in the kitchen and pantry, about one-sixteenth of an inch in length, to the large, black carpenter-ant that lives in decayed stumps or old timbers. They occur in all parts of the world from the dry and arid deserts to the damp tropical forests, and from the torrid zone to the arctic circle.

The housewife goes to the pantry, some summer's day, to get some cake and finds that the frosting is covered with tiny red ants. Further investigation reveals them in the butter, sugar and running all over everything apparently. Sometimes it is the larger black species which carried its love for sweet things to the sugar bowl. How am I to get rid of them? It is, of course, useless to try and kill them one at a time, like "swatting the fly."

The first step is to take everything out of the infested place, clean everything, burning papers, and throw away or clean out any infested foods. Any foods that are likely to attract this insect like cake, bread, sugar, meat, and similar substances, should be placed in ant-proof metal containers or set over a dish of water in which the ants will drown in trying to get at the food. The source of the colony should be located. If it be under the floor or in the wall the liberal use of carbon bisulphide will soon kill the queen and attendant ants. An old wood-box may be the seat of the trouble or its nest may be in the ground near the back porch. In using the carbon bisulphide care must be taken that no light or fire is near, as it is very inflammable.

If ants like the sweet things in the cupboards one of the best remedies is to mix one part of tartar emetic with twenty parts of extracted honey. Syrup may be used in the absence of the honey. Put this in small saucers and place where the ants will have access to it, but where it is inaccessible to the children or household pets. If the ants are grease eaters use grease instead of the honey in the same proportions as above.

If ants are troublesome in lawns or in the garden, where they are building their nests, they can be killed even more rapidly than in the house. Drench the nests with boiling water or pour into them a small quantity of kerosene or coal oil. Another method is to inject bisulphide of carbon into the nests, the quantity of the chemical depending upon the size of the nests. After this fluid has been poured in, the entrance to the nest should be closed by a blanket or inverted pan placed over it in order to retain the chemical. The fumes of the bisulphide will penetrate slowly through the underground channels and kill the ants.

Child Laborers.

Does the compulsory school attendance law protect children from heavy work and long hours in the fields? There are interested and vigorous school officers who do their best to enforce the law; but even at best the period of attendance required is meagre. There is always a loophole through which children may be piped to work.

If Canada is to be a country of healthy and intelligent people, both parents and children must realize that school is better than work for children until they are sixteen. It is quite true that "the more you learn the more you'll earn."

Most of us think of the farm as an ideal place, and no one can question the wholesomeness of much in farm life. But we have learned that

CENTURY-OLD JEWS.

"Chosen People" Enjoy an Average
Longer Life Than Any Other Race.

A marked distinction between the Jew and his neighbor is his longevity. This is attributed to the strict dietary laws of the "chosen race," and to the frequent ablutions which their religious ceremonial demands.

It is a truly significant fact that those Jews who abstain from eating pork are practically free from cancer. Apparently, if the Jews know how to accumulate money, they also know it is not wise to take it for granted that all country life in Canada makes a child happy and healthy. It must be admitted that too much farm labor interferes shockingly with the child's schooling, overtaxes his strength, and impairs his future usefulness.

Again—The Fly.

With Germany disposed of, our thoughts can again turn to the at-home problem of disposing of that ever-present menace—the fly.

The swatter—to be sure, no house is home without a fly swatter and a baby and where there's a baby there ought to be two swatters, one for father and the other for mother to use.

Poison—any and all kinds, but it should be kept high enough to be well out of the reach of children and domestic animals. If insect powder is used be careful not to scatter it about the room and then close the doors, forgetting Dickie the canary. Birds are very susceptible to anything that shuts off their supply of pure air.

Tanglefoot—plenty of it. Hang the kind that comes in rolls from the gas jet and if sister runs against it and carries the ball off attached to her backhair, never mind. You are waging a great war, and who can stop to think of trifles. The kitten may wrap herself in it, to her terror, and father may sit on the sheet you have laid, for just a moment, in his favorite chair, but it catches flies as well, and that is the real issue.

Formaldehyde—that is perhaps best of all. In an old saucer put a mixture composed of ten parts of formaldehyde, eighty-eight parts of water and two parts of sugar in the centre of the dish put a small sponge and set where it will not be disturbed. The flies drink the mixture and die almost immediately. With this as well as all other poisons be very careful to keep well out of the reach of domestic animals, children and careless people. It's the fly you are after.

Love's Labor.

What have I done to-day, now let me think,
I haven't read the book I should have read;
I didn't make that call on Mrs. Brink,
Nor spend the youth-restoring hour in bed.
Nor massage out the wrinkle in my cheek,
I didn't bake the fruit-cake, but may-be
I wrought as well—I sang my son to sleep,
Close cuddled and content upon my knee.

What have I done to-day?—I missed the Guild
And quite forgot my shopping trip to town;
My music rack with treasure amply filled,
I left the cover of my organ down.
I didn't sew the new flower on my hat,
But son and I played marbles on the floor,
And there was virtue quite as much in that
Perchance than though I had accomplished more.

What have I done to-day?—now let me see,
I've put the paltry things from out my soul,
I've mothered Laddie and he's played with me
And we've been happy; making that my goal.
I've learned why God, creating human kind
Made Mothers to be guarded safe from harms,
To train a baby's active, eager mind,
To hold a little lad in loving arms.

how to preserve good health, for they enjoy remarkable immunity from consumption, cholera, and typhus. In 1348, when the Black Death was raging throughout England, the Jews were exempt from the plague.

Jews are, of course, subject to the ordinary ailments of life, but they can boast of an average longer life than any other race.
Among the Jewish community it is not uncommon to hear of a co-religionist who has "topped the century."

Youth Writes a Letter to Love

By EVELYN GILL.

PART I.

If you've had any one in France, you know about Mary Hopkins; for even the men she had never nursed talk about her. They say there has never been anyone like her for just keeping you up. For, when woman's tenderness would have broken you down so that you couldn't have gone on enduring, it was the cool, firm grip of her hand that brought you through the pain-stricken night.

Mary Hopkins—as homely and commonplace as the rubbers you wear on a stormy day! Even as a girl she was like that: square-shouldered, square-chinned, with heavy eyebrows and heavy straight hair. She led her high-school class in mathematics, and had fewer partners at the class dance than any other girl. It was then that she made up her mind that she wasn't ever likely to have an especially good time in life, and she might as well devote herself to a noble career. She chose nursing.

And it's a curious fact that the first kiss she ever had—excepting, of course, those from relatives and others that don't count—was the one young Godfrey Hammond gave her the spring she was nursing his little brother and sister through bronchitis; the spring that she almost gave up nursing to take a rooming house with her sister Bessie.

The way he happened to kiss her was this: he stole a custard from the tray she was carrying upstairs to the little invalids, stole it like a bad child, and then kissed her like an impertinent one. It did queer things to her. It made her hands tremble over the dishes so that they clattered and spilled their contents. Then she told herself sternly that she wasn't getting out of doors enough nowadays, which was bad for her nerves, quite as if she had not just been kissed on the stairs.

And this was the way, too, that she dealt with herself during the subsequent days when she and Godfrey were of necessity thrown much together, since Mr. Hammond was home only for week-ends, and Mrs. Hammond had breakfast in bed and usually had her lunches at the country club.

Even with two sick children in the house, Mrs. Hammond treated her maternity as if it were really one of life's ornaments. She usually stopped in passing the sickroom, it is true, for kisses and to say pretty things to the children. But the night the little girl grew worse, there were only Godfrey and frightened servants to help the nurse. That is the night he said to her, "Muggins" (which was the children's name for her), "Muggins, you are a darling."

That was the first night, too, she dreamed of him—a dream of strange tenderness.

"Potato salad," she said to herself next morning; "that potato salad at supper. I ought to have had more sense."

She found it necessary, too, to keep reminding herself that, even if he was twenty-one and only two years younger than herself, he was merely one of the Hammond youngsters, two of whom she was nursing through bronchitis.

But he was lonelier than the other children. He had a way of wandering restlessly about the verandah in the evenings when his father and mother were not there, and then starting out alone in his little car. She often thought of him driving, driving alone through the summer evenings, and said to herself, "Poor kid!"

It was queer how everything brought their lives together those days. It was really she who gave him his excuse for going into the stationery shop that day. They were at the luncheon table. Mrs. Hammond, Godfrey, and herself—who was a marvelously efficient person in the sick-room, but here at the silver-lavished table of the Hammonds a little awkward and out of place. The very ease and charm of the Hammonds, mother and son, seemed to accentuate her awkwardness, making her appear by comparison someone who distinctly belonged among turpentine stoups and salt rubs and thermometers and poultices.

That day at luncheon she had spoken of a magazine article on infantile paralysis that she wanted to read, and Godfrey had risen to very unusual gallantry. "I'll get the magazine for you, Muggins, this afternoon," he told her.

"I can get it myself," she told him brusquely.

"Muggins," protested Godfrey, "I'll bet a cooky you have a turnip where you ought to have a heart."

Then interposed Mrs. Hammond, patronizing as always.

"Do let him get the magazine if he wants to be useful, Muggins. It may never happen again."

So it was really Muggins, unconsciously aided and abetted by Godfrey's mother, who was responsible for his errand to the stationery shop that afternoon. He would have gone, it is true, anyhow; but in case other customers might be there he was glad of the excuse of the magazine.

And so, almost suffocating with joy of expectancy, he went into the little shop where the shopkeeper's slim, blond daughter Mary sometimes waited on customers.

He was right in thinking he would find her there, for this was the time of day when she usually deigned to exchange magazines and newspapers for small coins across her father's counter, crooking the little finger of her over-white, over-ringed, over-manicured hand as she did it.

She was chatting, as Godfrey entered, with a stout, middle-aged man wearing a very bad necktie pierced through by a horseshoe scarfin. She did not look at Godfrey as he entered, but he knew instinctively that she was aware of his presence, and one ringed hand went up to give a satisfied pat to the blond hair in a flat scallop against her cheek.

There was an ingratiating sound in the fat man's voice that Godfrey did not like. He wanted to kick him out; he longed for the day when he would have the right to say that his Mary should never again stand behind her father's counter.

Then he heard something that paralyzed him.

"All right, dear," the hard, little voice of the girl was saying. "I'll wait for you this evening."

"Dear," she had said. "Dear!"

And she was saying it to that revolting beast of a fat man! A certain sickening numbness came over him. Even when the customer had gone he could do nothing but stand there and gaze at her.

(To be continued.)

Don't Look For Flaws.

Don't look for flaws as you go through life,
And even when you find them
It is wise and kind to be somewhat blind
And look for the virtue behind them,
For the cloudiest night has a hint of light

Somewhere in its shadow hiding,
It is better far to hunt for a star
Than the spots on the sun abiding.

The current of life runs every way
To the bosom of God's great ocean,
Don't set your face 'gainst the river's course,

And think to altar its motion;
Don't waste a curse on the universe,
Remember it lived before you,
Don't butt at the storm with your puny form,

But bend and let it fly o'er you.
The world will never adjust itself
To suit your whim to the letter,
Some things must go wrong your whole life long.

And the sooner you know it the better;

It is folly to fight with the infinite,
And go under at last in the wrestle.
The wisest man shapes into God's plan,
As the water shapes into the vessel.

PRAYING BY PROXY

Government of India Safeguards
Native Religious Customs.

Praying by electricity is practiced by the Buddhists in India. The prayers, written on long paper bands, are wrapped round a wheel, and each turn of the wheel is equivalent to one repetition of the prayer. The pious native believes that the greater number of revolutions of his prayer-wheel the better will his prayers be answered, and he either turns it by hand, or lets the wind or water turn it.

A COLORED SOLDIER'S FEAT.

Won Renown by Stopping a German
Raid Single-handed.

Standing off a German raiding party did not demand the hardest fighting of the war, but it called for quick action and, in the experience of one colored soldier, a struggle against tremendous odds. When Sergt. Johnston of the 369th U.S. Infantry, who wears the French war cross, landed in New York he told the following story to a reporter of the Evening World:

"You see, it was this way," he began. "I was on post with Needham Roberts. Along 'bout two o'clock I said to myself, 'I hear some snippin' of them wires out there,' and I called Roberts, but while he was a-comin' I reached down and slid the lid off a box of hand grenades. He didn't come; so I put 'em in a row up in front of me."

"They kept on snippin' my wires, and I let go with a grenade. Then I grabbed my rifle and let go with thirty-one clips of bullets. Some German bullets come flyin' back, and I yells down to Roberts, 'Better come on up here! Every Dutchman in the woods is out here, and I'm goin' out and take dat hill!'"

"Roberts rushed up, but he went right down, shot in the hip and through his arm. I was suah tossin' out dem hand grenades, boss, but Roberts, a-fumblin' with his arm, got in my way."

"Get on down in youah hole!" I yells to him. "Pass me them grenades and git away from mah feet. And pass 'em quick!" Then I grabbed mah gun and was a-pumpin' it to 'em when the thing stuck. So Ah jes' jumped up and started after 'em with mah gun, a-swingin' it hard and heavy. Soon as Ah cracked a few it busted up, too.

"Ah didn't stop to ask no introductions er excuse myself, but jes' sailed in, a-grabbin' out mah French bolt, when mah gun went bad. One yelled in English, 'Oh, that black brute has got me! Rush him—Rush him!'"

"Yes, you-all rush me and Ah'll sure try and git you!" I sez to myself. I saw one guy that looked like a loot-n'at and I made for him, Boss. Ah was a-goin' strong and suah made 'em step some. But then some German got me down on mah knees, when he done whanged me with the butt of his gun. Whew! It suah hurt, but Ah jes' kept on a-grabbin' one and tossin' him right over my shoulder.

"Ah guess that row musta lasted a half a hour before they got relief out to me. Ah was pretty well mused up, and so was Roberts. But the kumel took good care of us and kept me with the regiment, and Ah knowed Ah had tried hard to be a good soldier, so Ah was happy."

"AU REVOIR" TO FAIR FRANCE

WHEN TOMMY SETS OUT ON THE FINAL HOME TRIP.

A Happy Little Sketch of a Daily Incident "Over There During Demobilization."

"En route"
Mam'selle, the tram-conductress, gave her shrill, familiar call, blew her whistle, waved off small boys who hung on to the open-air trailer, and swung along the footboard for fares.
"Partez?" she inquired, noticing the kit of a couple of khaki men, as she flicked off a thin paper ticket from her file for them.

"Oui, Anglettere; and no return this time!" replied one, passing over his coppers.

"Compre?" asked his companion.
"Oui, oui," said Mam'selle, putting the money in her satchel. "C'est good-bye, n'est ce pas?"

They nodded, and Mam'selle, who has learnt to adapt herself to all things and all peoples, smiled at them understandingly, as she went on to other fares.

Down the straight familiar Route de Caen they rode, quietly taking their last look at the drab little suburb, pondering on the times they had walked that long road to camp after missing the last tram.

Bareheaded girls and women were busy at their morning purchases, buying from the stalls and shops, walking along with their laden string bags, through which peeped the long, flat French loaves, the inevitable lettuce and bottle of wine.

Along the Old Road.

Here and there beneath the budding branches, a returned poilu walked arm-in-arm with a girl, while a few cyclists wandered in erratic fashion anywhere they listed on the broad pavement.

Familiar little cafes were passed, partially screened from passing gaze and dust by trim, little privet hedges growing in long, shallow boxes on the pavement.

"La Barriere! La Barriere!" cried Mam'selle, on reaching the iron gates that span the road where sits the gendarme who scrutinizes passing vehicles, occasionally demanding to view the owner's papers.

"You off?" cried a voice from a passing lorry to the two soldiers in the momentarily stationary tram.

"Yes. Thought you went last week!"

"So I ought. But you know what it is—"

The starting of the tram drowned the "So long!" that was shouted, but failed to drown an argument in which everyone shrilly declared their views on the Russian situation.

One stout lady passenger pointed the morning headlines of "Le Journal" to the Tommy sitting next her, shrugged her shoulders, dropped her hands hopelessly, rattled off her opinion, and then raised her brows at him interrogatively.

A Parting Gift.

"Oui, oui, madame!" he agreed quickly, seizing his kit as the tram crossed the bridge of the Seine, with its waters dancing in the sunlight, its multitude of ships and barges.

Mam'selle had her eye upon the two home-going ones as they prepared to alight.

"You no come back, good-luck!" she said, all in one breath, smilingly proud of her English.

"Good-bye!" they said together.

"Souvenez!" added one of them, quietly slipping some chocolate into her hand.

"Merci, merci!" said Mam'selle. "Good-bye!"

She stood on the footboard, one of the most typical figures in France, clasping her scarlet packet of chocolate, with something wistful in her sharp-featured little face as she watched the departing couple.

The driver called impatiently.

"En route! En route!" shrilled la petite Reveuse, promptly blowing her whistle.

WOMEN "BARGEES."

One of the Many Wartime Tasks of Englishwomen.

Among the jobs women are relinquishing with sighs of regret is that of bargee, says an English newspaper. Last summer many a girl bargee was to be seen on our quiet canals, skipping black barges over the 300-mile course between Hayes and Liverpool. Only the very lucky ones will be doing the same this year.

An average day's run is about 30 miles. The full 300-mile trip is thus accomplished in ten days, during the whole of which time the girls live on board, steering and managing the boat's cooking, seeing to the cabins, and looking after themselves generally.

As a rule the barges work in pairs, one towing the other, and four girls to a team. Men are strictly taboo. Sometimes the front boat is fitted with a motor-engine. Sometimes all the hard work is done by a horse.

The birthday over for June is the honeysuckle.

The Greeks are reaching out more and more into the merchant trade of the rich Levant, and their own trade development in Greece will be huge. Canada has a glorious opportunity here for exporting, the Canadian Trade Commission believes.

The Maple Leaf

The maple leaf of Canada—
It is renowned afar:
Where'er her flag is free to wave,
Where'er her peoples are,
It is the emblem we entwine
With shamrock, thistle, rose;
'Tis famed in Flanders and in France,
But on our soil it grows.

The maple leaf of Canada—
It springs from virgin soil;
Its winged seeds are swift to bear
Strong trees of leafy spoil,
The leaves wave briskly with the breeze;
Their shade to patriots dear
Shelter affords from summer's heat
Through each succeeding year.

The maple leaf of Canada—
In spring 'tis freshly green;
In autumn, see, 'tis crimson gold
As sunset skies in sheen,
And now in soldiers' homes a flag
With maple leaf is seen;
For him who dies the leaf is red,
For him who lives, 'tis green.

Early on the First.

Queer how the First of July breaks
Just like a common day!
The bright sun on the hilltop wakes
And goes his shining way;
The clouds slide softly over us,
And not a single bird
Appears to make one bit more fuss
Than if 'twere July third.
While right along, since crack of dawn
I've tingled top to toe;
And how the world can keep so cool
I really do not know!

The old clock talks in whisperings
Without one added tick;
A slow wind at the window sings—
It almost makes me sick!
The yard is full of quiet airs
As ever 'twas before;
The house is still as mice; upstairs
I hear somebody snore.
While I—my head's like fireworks,
With such impatience in it,
That, if I gave a few more jerks,
I'd blow up any minute!

An elephant can pick up a needle
with its trunk.

Patriotism and Profit

It is patriotic to buy War Savings Stamps because Canada must have money for reconstruction.

But it is also profitable to buy War Savings Stamps because you are investing in Government Bonds yielding over 4½%.

You don't need to be a capitalist. You can start with 25 cents.
Buy a Thrift Stamp for a quarter. When you have sixteen of them, exchange them for a War Savings Stamp, and you will have laid the foundation of a solid investment with your odd savings.

You can add to this investment as often as you save $4.00, and in 1924 the Government will pay $5.00 for every War Savings
Stamp you buy now for $4.00 odd.

This is the biggest opportunity ever afforded to wage earners to become investors.

Kind words never die; if they did probably they would be more appreciated.

If you would know what your friends say of you when absent listen to what is said of others in your presence.

Cornwall put up a magnificent reception on the occasion of the Governor-Generals visit to that town last Wednesday. Cornwall is always well to the fore when Loyalty and Patriotism is in question.

No Canadian girls need feel discouraged over the fact that so many of the soldier boys found wives "over there." According to the Canadian Year Book for 1918 the male population of Canada is over 400,000 more than the female or for every 1000 females there are over 1125 males. The disparity is especially strongly marked in the Western Provinces. The last census showed that the number of females per 1,000 males for each province was: British Columbia, 560; Manitoba, 622; Alberta, 673; Saskatchewan, 688; Ontario, 942; New Brunswick, 956; Nova Scotia, 961; Quebec, 980; and Prince Edward Island, 991. Girls, go West.

The Versatile Hair Pin.

Dullards will tell you that women aren't so inventive as men; that they don't take out so many patents as men. They don't have to. With a hairpin all that is done can be done. With a hairpin a woman can pick a lock, pull a cork, peel an apple, draw out a nail, beat an egg, see if a joint of meat is done, do up a baby, sharpen a pencil, dig out a silver, fasten a door, hang up a plate or picture, open a can, take up a carpet, repair a baby carriage, clean a lamp chimney, put up a curtain, rake a grate fire, cut a pie, make a fork, a fish hook, an awl, a gimlet or chisel, a paper cutter, a clothes pin, regulate a range, tinker a sewing machine, stop a leak in a roof, turn a flapjack, caulk a hole in a pair of pants, stir batter, whip cream, reduce pressure in a gas meter, keep bills and receipts on file, spread butter, cut patterns, tighten windows, clean watches, unite a knot, varnish floors, do practical plumbing, reduce the asthma of tobacco pipes, pry shirt studs into button holes too small for them, fix a horse's harness, restore damaged mechanical toys, wrestle with retractory bottle stoppers, improvise suspenders, level bonbons, inspect gas-burners, saw cake, job tramps, produce artificial buttons, hooks and eyes, sew, knit and darn, button gloves and shoes, put an awning, and doctor an automobile. In short, she can do what she wants to; she needs no other instrument.

FARMERS

We have contracted with the Perfection Mfg. Co. to handle their Milking Machine in the Townships of Winchester and Mountain.

We have the only machine with the downward squeeze, it does not pull the milk away by suction, but by nature's way. Milking a cow is not like pumping water. A milking machine is designed to work on a living animal, and must therefore have qualifications different from other kinds of machinery. The first and most important requirement is to reproduce the action of nature. The sucking calf was the original milker. He sucks on the teat, then squeezes it to stop sucking momentarily while swallowing. These three actions are faithfully reproduced in the actions of the Perfection teat cups.—Suction, downward squeeze, release. That is why so many careful dairymen have selected the Perfection. Even on your test cows you take no chances with the Perfection, because its action follows Nature's way.

The Perfection teat cup fits all sizes of teats, thus doing away with the bother of changing the teat cups every time you move from one cow to the other. The soft rubber lining of the perfection teat cup feels easy on the cow's teat and the downward massage creates a soothing feeling which makes the cow respond by giving her milk down more freely.

We ask you before you buy any milker to come and see this machine, or phone or write us to call on you, and explain this milker to you. If we cannot convince you that we have the best milker, we will then leave it to you to buy another make.

A very happy company met at Mr. and Mrs. John Merkleys last Wednesday p. m., it was the occasion of the marriage of their daughter Miss Ina May to Dr. D. C. Seymour. The ceremony was conducted by Dr. Philp of Morewood, assisted by the pastor of the Methodist church, after the ceremony the company were most hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Merkleys. The bride and groom have the good wishes of the entire community.

Mr. Dan and Miss McDougall have purchased the home of Mr. Thos Haggerty and will be among the villagers in the fall.

Mr. A. T. Allison is doing a new business in tractors. The hot weather is putting horses out of business. The tractor does not get a sun-stroke and many acres are being put in by tractors otherwise this hot season it would lie idle.

Mr. J. D. Jennings son of Mr. and Mrs. Robt Jennings has returned from the front. A party welcomed him at his home on Friday evening last. The gathering was called to order by Mr. A. H. Guy who spoke a few words of welcome. Mr. Fred Hutt read an address and a cheque for $20. was presented. Refreshments were served and the company had a happy time together with the household.

Misses Safford, Barkley and Higginson all teachers of our locality are intending to teach in Lachine the next school season, we are very sorry to lose these workers from our province. Mr. J. H. Johnston, a former teacher here is to take our senior school next year.

Miss Grace England is home from teaching at Morewood.

On Friday evening June 13th, some ten returned soldiers were given a most cordial welcome home. The service was held on Mr. Dillabough's lawn in west of village and was largely attended. The "Pipers" were in attendance as usual and interesting addresses were given by local talent while Mr. D. L. Collison occupied the chair in his usual happy manner.

In the absence of Rev. Mr. Golan in Hamilton attending the general assembly, union services were held, Rev. Mr. Philp preaching in the Methodist church in the morning and in the Presbyterian Hall in the evening.

During the past week Forward Movement services were conducted in the Presbyterian church and were well attended.

Our well-known cobbler, Felix Lascelle, is quite ill and fears are entertained as to his recovery—Dr. Ellis is in attendance.

Rev. Dr. Philp was in Morrisburg last Sunday taking the services in the Methodist church for Rev. Mr. Reynolds who is poor in health. Mrs. Philp also went along and the motor trip was most enjoyable as the day was ideal.

Next Sunday the anniversary of the Presbyterian church will be conducted by Rev. Mr. Glassford of Winchester.

STRIKERS AND MOUNTED POLICE BATTLE IN WINNIPEG STREETS

Action Followed Reading of Riot Act, When Strikers Persisted in Parading in Defiance of Proclamation—City Now as if Beleaguered—Armored Cars and Machine Guns in Evidence

Winnipeg, June 22.—One man was killed and approximately fifty injured in yesterday's riots. Thirteen of the injured were shot.

The tragic events of yesterday afternoon covered not more than half an hour. At half-past two, perhaps, 20,000 persons were massed on Main Street with their focus at the City Hall. For the most part they appeared to be strikers, with among them several thousand returned soldiers, and they were congregated to witness or take part in the "massed silent parade," which, it was announced last night at the meeting in Market Square of returned soldiers, would be put on by returned soldiers alone this afternoon as a last and final effort to break down the barriers the men claim have been erected against the propaganda of the general strike in Winnipeg.

On the whole this great mass was orderly. It contained many women, evidently of the strikers' families, but no children. Just before half-past two, a small riot developed on Market Street, just east of the City Hall Park, around a man who was drunk.

Trolley Pulled Off.

At five and twenty past two a street car passing on Main Street only made its way through the crowd amidst continual booing and with great difficulty, the trolley several times being pulled off the line. Evidently regarding the whole thing as a circus, a great stream of citizens in their automobiles passed at this critical moment up and down Main Street, by no means adding to the good feeling of what was fast developing into an angry mob. Sharp at half-past two the word passed along the crowd gathered in the wide thoroughfare of Main Street on each side of the car tracks "fall in." At that very moment Portage Avenue car No. 596 approached from the north, about half-full of passengers, mostly women and children. As it reached Market Street it was greeted by a rolling roar of booing. Its trolley was pulled off the line, and some stones were thrown. Women and children got out of the car and dispersed among the crowd, so far as it is known, unhurt. The conductor and motorman remained in their car; the trolley cord having been cut, it remained a fixture at what immediately was to become a scene of battle.

Mounted Police Charge.

Almost simultaneously with this, the cry went out from the crowd: "Here comes the bloody soldiers," and around the corner of Main Street from the south, opposite the Union Bank, swept a single line of red-coated Royal North-West Mounted Police. They covered the whole street from gutter to gutter, dividing as they passed the derelict car. Immediately an angry cry was heard from the mob and an occasional missile was thrown at the passing soldiers. A hundred yards behind this first rank came a second rank of khaki-clad horsemen, said by the crowd to be members of the Strathcona Horse, and the Fort Garry Horse, but afterwards stated by Alderman Gray to be Royal North-West Mounted policemen returned from the front, to whom had not been issued the well-known scarlet tunic. The mob surged in on the flanks of the horsemen and a free throwing of bricks, bottles and any other available missiles began. Many of the horses and men being struck. They rode on, however, north several blocks and then after a short interval returned again with drawn truncheons, and, dividing up into columns of four on each side of the street, sought to drive the mob back onto the sidewalks.

From alleyways nearby bricks had been torn up and hurled at the backs of the horsemen. As they divided to pass the street car the inevitable happened. One of the horses came down, and the soldier, on getting his feet, headed for the east side, where he dived into J. Thompson's undertaking parlors, 559 Main Street, with the crowd yelling at his heels. The doors were slammed to, but in a few minutes the plate glass front was smashed to atoms and a part of the crowd surged east on Market Street to cut him off if he tried to get through the back way. For a minute the front of the store was comparatively empty and the soldier dashed out again and crossed the three hundred feet width of Main Street to seek shelter at the corner of William Avenue.

He was intercepted and carried back a little way out of sight, up William Ave. Then followed the shooting. Almost immediately a party of Royal North West Mounted Police dashed to the rescue, the men with their revolvers drawn, and in columns of four. As seen from the other side of Main Street they debouched into City Hall Park, immediately in front of its steps. Shots were heard. "They are firing into the air," said one of the crowd. "They have only blank cartridges," said another. The effect was electrical. The dense throng in front of the City Hall ran frantically across Main Street, and buried themselves in lanes and alley-ways, forcing their way into the small hotels that abound thereabouts.

Men who no doubt had war experience threw themselves flat into the gutter. The shooting took place exactly fifteen minutes after the first appearance of the mounted men, at a quarter to three by the City Hall clock. And two or three minutes later City Hall square, and the wide expanse of Main Street was deserted. Across this waste of asphalt were brought the bodies of the casualties, by men who had been with them when they fell. These were placed in Thomson's Undertaking Parlor. By three o'clock in the afternoon several hundred policemen with drawn truncheons were marching over the now empty scene of the battle where yet the street car burned.

At half past three commissioned officers attached to Military District No. 10 addressed the crowd at the corner of Portage Avenue and Main Street, advising that the Riot Act had been read and that the city is now under martial law, and therefore every one should go home.

Nevertheless Main Street was still badly congested and the fire brigade was turning on their hose to clear the crowds from the tops of the surrounding buildings.

Armored cars with machine guns and troops at the "stand-to" were being held in reserve at the principal strategic points of the city.

Thirty-six hours ago the returned soldiers favoring the strikers' cause held a mass meeting just back of the City Hall. Some four or five thousand persons were present, of whom a good proportion had the right to wear the returned soldiers' button. Then it was that the idea of the "Massed, silent parade," was suggested. It was stated by Comrade Martin, that such a demonstration had been very successful in North Britain. The proposal was favorably received.

Winnipeg, Man., June 23.—Although there were not lacking indications of nervous tension to-day, the city remained calm. Special trained soldier constables patrolled the city streets and the R.N.W.M.P. and military forces were "standing-to," prepared to meet any emergency. The armored airplane, "City of Winnipeg," made several reconnaissances over the city. The only man to die as a result of the rioting Saturday, M. Sokolowski, was a registered alien and is stated to have broken parole. Witnesses asserted that he took a prominent part in the attack on the police which started the trouble. The seriously injured are making satisfactory progress.

John Grant, a returned soldier, one of those who advocated the holding of the massed silent parade, in defiance of the edict of Mayor Gray, was placed under arrest to-day, and it was stated at police headquarters that a number of warrants had been issued against organizers of the demonstration.

Forty-four of the more than 100 arrests during the rioting were released this afternoon on $1,000 bail each, in a special session of the Riot Court. They were arraigned on charges of riotous assembly. The remainder were remanded until next week.

THE "TOWN KNOCKER."

The only thing to do with the "Town Knocker" is to kick him out. Tolerate him for a minute, and he spreads like an epidemic all over the community. He is the original "Calamity Howler" and "Bird-of-Ill-Omen." He is never so happy as when he can persuade other people to think the same way as he does. It allowed to "get the floor," he will knock the pins from under the best proposition on earth. He is against every form of improvement and if he converts enough people to HIS way of thinking, the town will come to a dead stop. After having KILLED everything, he glories in the fact that nothing can be done for the town. It is doomed. The only thing to do with the "Town Knocker" is to head him for the cemetery. His habit of knocking is so infectious that it has been known to spread among some of the BEST PEOPLE. KICK THE KNOCKER OUT.

GERMANS SINK THEIR FLEET SURRENDERED AT SCAPA FLOW

Opened Seacocks and All Big Ships, the Battleships and Battle-Cruisers, Excepting the Baden, Went to Bottom Flying German Flag at Masthead.

London, June 22.—The German officers and sailors forming the complements of the German ships interned at Scapa Flow sank most of their fleet to-day. All the big ships, the battleships and battle cruisers, excepting the Baden, and numerous smaller craft were sunk, while others went ashore in a half-sunken condition.

Eighteen destroyers were beached by tugs, four still are afloat, while the remainder went under.

The wholesale sinking of the German ships, which came to Scapa Flow to surrender under the terms of the armistice, was carefully arranged by the officers and crews. All explosives had been removed, and therefore the only means of destroying the fleet was by opening the seacocks. The ships went slowly down, with the German flag, which the crews had hoisted, showing at the mastheads.

The crews, composed entirely of Germans, under the terms of the armistice, which did not permit of British guards aboard, took to the boats when the vessels began to settle. While making for the shore the boats were challenged and called upon to surrender. Some of them ignored the summons and were fired upon, a few casualties resulting.

This stroke apparently was an entire surprise, and the first news reached London through a correspondent who was informed by farmers in the neighborhood that they had seen the German ships sinking, with their flags aloft.

Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge, retired, former director of the Intelligence Department, interviewed by the Weekly Dispatch with regard to the sinking, said:

"It is a breach of the armistice, and therefore, almost tantamount to a new act of war, but at this juncture it appears to mean that the Germans intend to sign the peace treaty. It looks like a plan concerted in Berlin."

Commander Kenworthy, M.P., told the Dispatch he did not think the sinkings were carried out by order of the German Government, but were engineered by a few hot-heads sick of existence at Scapa Flow.

"The Admiralty or the Admiral in charge," he said, "cannot be blamed. Rather, the Armistice Commission is to be censured for not putting British crews aboard. But we are well rid of the ships, which were obsolete."

GET 96 BUSHELS FROM NEW VARIETY OF WHEAT

A despatch from London says:—It is announced that the plant breeding section of the University of Cambridge, which is closely associated with the Board of Agriculture, has succeeded in producing two new varieties of wheat, styled Fenman and Yeoman.

These were distributed to farmers and it is reported that the result has been to treble the average yield. One crop produced 96 bushels per acre.

Milling and baking trials have shown that while the Yeoman variety is not equal to the famous Red Fife from the viewpoint of milling qualities, yet it is sufficiently strong to produce a good quality loaf without the addition of imported wheat.

FRANCE WILL NOT CEDE ISLANDS TO GREAT BRITAIN

A despatch from St. Pierre says:—Recent Government expenditures in this colony of France are regarded here as virtually disposing of the suggestion that the islands be ceded to Great Britain and added to the Newfoundland Dominion. It is announced that several million francs will be spent in the development of St. Pierre, the centre of France's fishing industry in the Western Atlantic. A contract had been placed with a New York company for the construction of a large refrigerating plant here, and work has already begun. A powerful wireless station is also being installed by the Government.

NEW GERMAN GOVERNMENT VOTES TO SIGN PEACE TREATY

Weimar Assembly Decides by Vote of 237 to 138 to Sign Treaty With Certain Reservations Which Include a Declaration to Give Up Ex-Kaiser for Trial.

Berlin, June 22.—The German National Assembly, by a vote of 237 to 138, has decided to sign the Peace Treaty.

The Assembly to-day gave a vote of confidence in the new Government of Herr Bauer, 236 to 89.

This means that the treaty will be signed.

Sixty-eight members of the Assembly refrained from voting.

Paris, June 22.—Communications from the Germans to the Council of Four, relating to the vote of the Assembly at Weimar, reached here at 7.45 o'clock this evening, and are now being considered by the Council.

One of the communications is understood to announce that the Assembly voted in favor of signing the treaty with certain reservations.

It is not known that the reservations are beyond a declaration to admit the guilt of Germany in starting the war and to give up the former Emperor for trial.

Weimar, June 23.—The National Assembly this afternoon voted to sign the peace terms unconditionally, the Government having succeeded in overcoming the opposition of those who insisted on two conditions.

BRINGING UP FATHER

PERSONS TO BE SURRENDERED

Will Be Handed to Germany After Signing of Peace. Six Points Are Explained.

Paris, June 22.—A protocol to be added to the peace treaty, explanatory of the six points raised by the Germans, reads:

"Firstly—A commission will be named by the allied and associated Government to supervise the demolition of the fortifications of Heligoland in conformity with the treaty. This commission will be empowered to decide what part of the constructions protecting the coast from erosion should be preserved, and what part demolished.

"Secondly—The sums which Germany will have to refund to its citizens to indemnify them for interests they may be found to have in the railroads and mines, referred to in paragraph two, article 156, shall be placed to the credit of Germany on account of the sums due for reparation."

The protocol refers to German private interests in railroads and mines in Shantung as distinct from German state interests.

"Thirdly—A list of the persons whom Germany must surrender to the powers will be sent to the German Government during the month following the putting into force of the treaty.

"Fourthly—The commission on reparations, provided for by Article 240 and paragraphs two, three and four of annex four, cannot exact divulgence of secrets of manufacture or confidential information.

"Fifthly—From the signature of peace, and in the four months following, Germany will have an opportunity of presenting for the examination of powers documents and propositions with a view to hastening the work relating to reparations, thus shortening the investigation and hastening decisions.

"Sixthly—Prosecutions will be exercised against those committing criminal acts in connection with the liquidation of German property, and the powers will receive any information and proofs that the German Government shall be in a position to supply on this subject.

MANY VETERANS TO BE FARMERS

12,594 Get Qualification Certificates For Land Settlement.

A despatch from Ottawa says:—Mr. W. J. Black, chairman of the Soldier Settlement Board, has returned from a visit of inspection to the Western Provinces. Speaking to the press, he stated that he found intense interest being taken in land settlement by returned soldiers.

Already throughout the Dominion there have been 17,109 applications for qualification certificates, and of these 12,594 have been passed as qualified to participate in the benefits of the Act.

"The heaviest rush of applicants is in the Western Provinces," said Mr. Black. "In one day alone, 1,035 returned men visited the Edmonton office and at present there is from 700 to 800 men a day. The organization of the Board is being heavily taxed to provide the required service to meet this situation."

The majority of those settled to date, according to Mr. Black, are farmers' sons, or men from the Old Land, who have worked on farms in this country.

"I had the opportunity," said Mr. Black, "of meeting a few of those, who have already been settled. They expressed the greatest satisfaction with the treatment received."

PRINCE OF WALES VISITS CANADA IN AUGUST

A despatch from Ottawa says:—His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales is expected to arrive in Canada during the month of August, and will be present at the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, and at the official opening of the new Canadian Parliament buildings. The following staff will accompany him on his Canadian tour: Chief of staff, the Marquis of Salisbury; chief private secretary, Lieut.-Col. E. M. Grigg; assistant secretary, Sir Godfrey Thomas, Bart.; equeries, Capt. Lord Claud Hamilton, and Capt. the Hon. T. W. Legh.

STRIKES AND RIOTS PREVAIL THROUGHOUT ITALY

A despatch from Rome says:—Italy is at the parting of the ways. Never since the war, even before the Caponetto disaster, has the country been in so serious a state—so near upheaval and sabotage as to-day, despite her victory in the field.

Strikes, riots, loss of life and the pillaging of food shops from one end of the country to the other seriously threaten the industrial life of the nation begun thirty-nine years ago and made to prosper almost by a miracle in spite of the utter lack of coal and raw materials, all of which must be imported.

THE GARDEN OF EDEN TO-DAY

THE FIRST IRRIGATED AREA IN THE WORLD.

British Government is Establishing a Wonderful Irrigation Plant Similar to the Egyptian Enterprise.

"And the Lord God planted a garden to the eastward of Eden. And a river went out of Eden to water the garden; and it was parted into four heads."—Genesis.

Sir William Willcocks, who, in behalf of the British Government, had had charge of the wonderful irrigation works in Egypt, was assigned not long ago to the duty of planning a similar large-scale enterprise for the restoration of ancient Babylonia to its former agricultural productiveness.

Thus it happened that he located, to the reasonable satisfaction of archaeologists, the veritable site of the Garden of Eden. For reasons wholly practical, he thought that the best way to begin.

Starting from the spot where Jewish tradition placed the Gates of Paradise—the word paradise meaning "garden"—he followed the traces of the four streams mentioned in Genesis, which as herein named, were the Pison, the Bihon, the Hiddekel and the Euphrates.

The Euphrates (known by that name to-day) flowed through the great city of Babylon. The Gihon is now called the Hindia. The Hiddekel is the modern Saklawia, which flows into the Tigris at Bagdad. The Pison has gone dry, but is represented by many-armed channels "encompassing the whole land of Havilah" (see Genesis), which lay between Egypt and Assyria.

Restores Former Paradise.

The Euphrates enters its delta a few miles below Hit, there leaving the desert and debouching into a vast alluvial plain. In this department it has a considerable fall, with a number of cataracts, and along a narrow valley giant water-wheels lift water to irrigate the land on both sides of the stream.

The entrance to this valley (according to Jewish tradition) was the gate of the Paradise in which Adam and Eve dwelt, and from which they were expelled for disobeying a divine command. There the traveler first meets the date palm, which is a "tree of life" (see Genesis) to the whole Arab world.

Along the valley garden succeeds garden. It is to-day a veritable paradise, orchards and date groves, checker-boarded with fields of cotton. The climate is everlasting summer, so that three, or four crops a year may be grown.

Anciently the cataracts were much higher, and water-wheels were unnecessary, the water being led off by ditches.

The Garden of Eden, indeed, gains interest from the fact that it seems to have been the first irrigated area in the world.

BRITISH AND U.S. WAY.

Eating Habits of Races Compared by a Boston Newspaper.

One of the most famous of London eating-places is the "Cheshire Cheese." It is as quaint as its name. There, as in the day when London was a town, the guests sit down together at long tables, says the Boston Globe.

The meal is a ceremony; the food is served with ritualistic attention to detail, and it is eaten devoutly. The men who lunch there appreciate the flavor of good food, and of a fine old tradition.

Yet however seriously they may take the roast and the pudding, they are serious in nothing else. Office, courtroom and clinic are forgotten. During the midday hour the old Elizabethan humor and wisdom echo from the ceiling beams of that oak-paneled room.

The most famous of Boston eating places is the quick lunch. Any noon-time you will see newspapermen, bankers, professors and lawyers seated on little stools at long counters or in one-armed chairs. They do not look as though they were particularly enjoying themselves. Each, detached and lonely, gobbles his food in silent haste.

One is preoccupied with his troubles, another is visibly uncomfortable on his backless stool; and yet another is splashing his soup in a frenzy of impatience to get back to the office, where he earns the food which he is now eating with so little appreciation.

The food is often of famous excellence, quite as good, in the way, as the food at the "Cheshire Cheese." But we Yankees who eat it come not so much to eat as to get through eating. We are so busy earning food and leisure that we can spare no time for enjoying them. We scarcely know what it is to live in the present moment. We are always getting ready for the next.

"What was the result of the flood?" asked the Sunday school teacher. "Mud," replied the bright youngster.

Compliment to Canadians.

A Belgian Salvation army worker whose letter appeared in the New York Herald Magazine for May 4th, in describing the withdrawal of the German army from Belgium, refers to the Canadians as well-equipped, well mounted soldiers, who were kind, quiet and gentlemanly men."

A Motto.

Over the choir loft of an old church in Nova Scotia hangs a yellowed motto to which reads: "See that what thou singest with thy lips thou dost believe in thine heart, and that what thou believest in thine heart thou dost show forth in thy works"—Tenth Decree of the Fourth Council of Carthage, A.D. 398.

The Higher Learning.

The schoolmaster was calling on an indignant mother.

"For my part," babbled the good woman, "I can't deceive what on earth edification is comin' to! When I was young, if a gal only understood the elements of distraction, provision, replenishing, an' the common dominator, an' knew all about the rivers an' their tributaries, the currents, an' the dormitories, the provinces an' umpires, they had edification enough!"

"There's a Reason"

ROSY CHEEKS AND GOOD HEALTH

Come Through Keeping the Blood in a Rich, Red and Pure Condition.

When a girl—or a woman—finds her color fading, when her cheeks and lips grow pale, and she gets short of breath easily and her heart palpitates after the slightest exertion, or under the least excitement, it means that she is suffering from anaemia—thin, watery blood. Headache and backache frequently accompany this condition, and nervousness is often present.

The remedy for this condition is to build up the blood, and for this purpose there is no medicine that can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They build up and renew the blood, bring brightness to the eyes, color to the cheeks, and a general feeling of renewed health and energy. The only other treatment needed is plenty of sunlight, moderate exercise and good, plain food. The girl or woman who gives this treatment a fair trial will soon find herself enjoying perfect health. Mrs. Hiram Shook, R.R. No. 1, Lyndhurst, says:—"I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for I believed they saved my daughter's life. She was in a terribly run-down condition, pale, wan, and despondent, and people who saw her considered her in a decline. The doctor who treated her did not help her any, and then I decided to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This decision proved a wise one, for before six boxes were used she was much better. I got six more boxes, and before they were gone she was in the best of health. When she began the use of the pills she weighed only 90 pounds, and under their use her weight increased to 127 pounds. I strongly urge all mothers of weak girls to give them Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail post paid at 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

FINE OLD PLATE IN BRITAIN.

Antiquaries Dig Up Fourth Century Collection at Whittingham.

A search which Society of Antiquaries of Scotland have been conducting for some time on Traprain Aie, an isolated hill, which forms a part of Arthur J. Balfour's Whittingham estate, resulted in one of the most remarkable archaeological discoveries ever made in Britain.

The excavators came upon a pit two feet deep and two feet wide filled to the brim with fragments of metal vessels. An examination has shown that these relics, although in a broken condition, form a rich collection of fourth century silverplate. Two tiny coins give the date. One was struck by Valens, who was Emperor of the East from 364 to 378, and the other by one of his successors, probably Gratian or Honorius.

The vessels found have decorations of striking beauty. On the surface of one embossed cup is a representation of the Fall of Man, and figures of Adam and Eve being shown standing by a fruit-laden tree with a huge serpent twined around the trunk. The same cup bears a representation of the Magi, and on another is depicted the miraculous draught of fishes.

More than one example of the Chi Rho monogram are among the inscriptions.

The Indian Calendar.

Among the Indians time is calculated by moons instead of months. January is called "the hard moon"; February, "the raccoon moon"; March, "the sore eye moon"; April, "the moon in which geese lay eggs"; May, "the planting moon"; June, "the moon when strawberries are red"; July, "the moon when choke cherries are ripe"; August, "the harvest moon"; September, "the moon when rice is laid up to dry"; October, "the rice-drying moon"; November, "the deer-killing moon"; and December, "the deer moon."

"What About the Hosses?"

We had sought the sweet seclusion of an old estaminet. And the wine-cup circulated in the old familiar way.

We had fed our hearts on memories, and talked as soldiers will. Of the comrades "pushing daistes" on a barren, shell-marked hill. But one Western boy was silent—never lifted up his head.

Till resentment seemed to stir him, and he raised his eyes and said:

"But what about the hosses? In the roll-call of the dead? Are they mentioned in the losses—Has a single word been said? Is there any simple token of their agony unspoken—Have they any wooden crosses In the valleys where they bled?"

Our thoughts flew back like lightning, and across the brimming cup We saw the beasts of burden bringing ammunition up—The endless line of transport winding all across the hill, And the starving and the dying on the fields of Aubreville—The misery, the fortitude of those that had been gassed, And eyes of silent sorrow, pleading patience as they passed.

Aye. "What about the hosses?"

On the blazoned scroll of Fame—The pulling, hauling hosses, And the broken, blind, and lame. Giving every ounce of power, to the gasping, dying hour—Where's the martyr in the forces Played a better, braver game?

RECORD OF FRENCH FAMILY.

Thirteen Sons killed in War and Others Suffered Injuries.

Thirteen sons killed on the field of battle, three discharged with grave injuries, one wounded four different times, the father and one daughter summarily shot by the Germans for going to Lille to celebrate the centennial anniversary of a relative, and another daughter killed by a German shell at Dunkirk, is the record of the family of M. Vanhee, a French farmer of Reminghe, near Ypres.

M. Vanhee had thirty-six children, twenty-two sons and fourteen daughters, all of whom were living when the war broke out. One of his sons was valet to Pope Pius X.; he returned to France to fight and was wounded in each of four different engagements. One of the sons lost both legs, another returned from the front blind and deaf, and another underwent the trepanning operation.

KEEP CHILDREN HEALTHY

To keep children healthy the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. Nine-tenths of the ailments which afflict little ones are caused by derangements of the bowels and stomach. No other medicine can equal Baby's Own Tablets in guarding either the baby or growing child from the ills that follow a disordered condition of the bowels or stomach. They are a mild but thorough laxative and never fail to give results. Concerning Mrs. W. B. Coolidge, Sarnia, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for over three years and have found them the best medicine I have ever used for my children. I never have any trouble giving them to my little ones and they have saved me many a doctor's bill. My advice to all mothers of little ones is to keep a box of the Tablets in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Joy in the Morning.

O'er Flanders fields the sunset glow Smiles on the graves of those below Who fought their gallant fight To save for children yet unborn Sweet liberty; and those who mourn Through many a sleepless night, Consoled should be with this sweet thought,

That Victory, though dearly bought Against foul German might, God gave to us as recompense For calling our dear loved ones hence, And he knows what is right.

So let us pray through dreary days, That God, in his mysterious ways, Will grant us second sight To look beyond the clouded sky And see our meeting, by and by, With those we mourn to-night.

The Fatal Day.

A merchant in a certain town has about decided to go out of business since he wrote an "ad" for the local paper in which he expounded upon the vast crowds of customers that visited his store. The printer made the mistake, but as the merchant read his own proof, he has no alibi. Anyhow, here is his statement as it appeared to the townspeople:

"If you could have seen the crows that flocked to our store yesterday you would realize that the picking is good on our bargain counters."

How on earth can he ever expect to square himself with the ladies who visited his counters upon that fatal day?

GIRLS! WHITEN YOUR SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Make a beauty lotion for a few cents to remove tan, freckles, sallowness.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply you with three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Squeeze the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle, then put in the orchard white and shake well. This makes a quarter pint of the very best lemon skin whitener and complexion beautifier known. Massage this fragrant creamy lotion daily into the face, neck, arms and hands and just see how freckles, tan, sallowness, redness and roughness disappear and how smooth, soft and clear the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless, and the beautiful results will surprise you.

Bits About Bees.

The price of honey has made many of us think more of bees. And, as hardly anything is more interesting than the "busy bee," here is a little news about him—and her.

In a hive there are three kinds of bees—drones, workers, and the queen bee. Drones, alas! are the male bees. They are stingless—thanks for that!—and unlike other bees, have no pollen baskets—the fringe of stiff bristles on which pollen is conveyed to the hive.

The queen bee is the only fully-developed female bee in the hive. Only she, with her series of productive organs, can perpetuate the bee race. Kill all the queens, and there will be no bees and no honey.

The queen bee will lay from two to three thousand eggs daily in the season. She is the mother of all the other inmates in the hive, and can lay eggs to produce either drones or workers—as the fancy takes her.

The queen bee heads the bees when they issue to swarm. This takes place when the queen cell is capped; but should the weather be unsuitable the bees tear down the queen cells, and wait.

There's more in bees than their stinging!

Why Blacksmith Shops Are Dark.

You may have wondered sometimes why the village smithy is such a dark building, its allowance of window light being fearfully small.

The reason for this is not economy of glass, but for the special purpose of the smith's work. Too much light upon the pieces of white-hot iron or steel is not desirable for two reasons; one is that the "heat" cannot be seen properly in a strong light.

The other is that in the course of "tempering" tools, such as picks, chisels, drills, etc., the smith has to judge by the colors, as the tool cools down from the white heat, exactly when to dip them in the water-bath, and these colors can only be seen accurately in a shaded place.

Steel passes through a beautiful range of colors, from the most dazzling, seething yellow to dark yellow, reddish brown, purple, and finally to dark blue, all these temperatures having their particular uses when a tool is "quenched."

Disappearing Lake.

In Georgia, near Vladosta, there is a lake which disappears every three or four years and then comes back again, no matter what the weather is like.

The lake is three miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide, with an average depth of 12 feet of water. There are natural subterranean passages beneath it, through which the water passes off.

It takes two or three weeks to disappear, when a mammoth basin is left in its place, which furnishes a beautiful sandy beach. After a month or so the water begins to return, and then in a couple of weeks it is the same magnificent stretch of water as it was before.

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound, and while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heeled footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

THE POLICE FORCE OF THE BODY

DAY and night—without ceasing—a struggle is going on in your body between the germs of disease and the white blood corpuscles—the police force of the human body.

If this police force weakens, disease germs gain a foothold—sickness follows.

Constipation is the most common and dangerous way of corrupting the human police force. Food waste remains too long in the intestines—decays—poisons the blood—and opens the way for attack by the germs that cause tuberculosis, diphtheria, pneumonia and a multitude of other ills.

The culpable habit of using salts, pills, mineral waters, castor oil, etc., to force the bowels to move, makes this condition even worse, as constipation returns almost immediately.

Nujol is entirely different from drugs as it does not force or irritate the bowels.

Nujol prevents stagnation by softening the food waste and encouraging the intestinal muscles to act naturally, thus removing the cause of constipation and self-poisoning. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant. Nujol helps Nature establish easy, thorough bowel

The System is Poisoned

By Failure of the Liver and Kidneys to Purify the Blood Relief Obtained by Use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Too much eating of heavy, highly-seasoned foods and too little outdoor exercise are the most frequent causes. The liver is upset, becomes torpid and inactive, the bowels are constipated, the kidneys are over-worked in an effort to get rid of the accumulating poisons and breakdown. Headache, backache, aching limbs sound a warning note, and when this is not heeded the natural development is rheumatism, lumbago, and painful and fatal forms of kidney disease.

To best overcome this condition Dr. Chase worked out in his private practice a prescription which has come to be known as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, because of their combined action on these filtering organs. No treatment has ever proven so successful in awakening the action of the kidneys, liver and bowels, and thereby cleansing the system of all impurities. For this reason Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a world-wide reputation as the most thorough cure for rheumatism, lumbago, chronic indigestion and constipation.

Mrs. Alex. Gordon, Walkerton, Ont., writes: "A few years ago I suffered from kidney and liver trouble, with pains in my back. I had heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills being good for this, so I commenced taking them. I had only taken a couple of boxes when the trouble was all removed."

Mrs. M. Nickels, 192 Milton street, Sarnia, writes: "I have found Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills an excellent remedy. I suffered considerably with kidney trouble and backache, but after I had taken five boxes of the Kidney-Liver Pills they gave me relief. Since then, which was about five years ago, I keep them on hand, and use them whenever I feel the need of them."

Baseball Popular

The popular game of baseball has been revived in Winchester, and the enthusiastic fans may be found among the boys in their teens, the High and Public School girls, and the young men of the town. Last Thursday the High School girls of Chesterville came up to play the H. S. girls of Winchester a return match. The game was witnessed by a good number. It was a girls game and while it was evident that the visiting team lacked practice, and were not a match for the home girls, they put up a plucky fight, and took their defeat in real sporting spirit. Arrangements had been made to give the visitors a little treat before their departure, but because of threatening weather they left for home immediately at the close of the game.

KENMORE vs. WINCHESTER.

A team of strapping fellows came out here on Saturday afternoon to play the Winchester Seniors, and they put up a very plucky fight, and with practice will make the home team scramble some! they held them down. They wore bright red suits, and were particularly conspicuous on the field. The game started about 7 o'clock in the evening and was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators. Seven innings were played. The home team led from the start, but the Kenmore boys put up a very plucky fight, and had their inning been better there would not have been such a big score on the part of the home team. With the exception of one incident the game passed off without unpleasantness. The score was 8 to 5 and one inning in favour of Winchester. The teams were as follows:—

Winchester	Kenmore
Christie K.	Craig
Gemeroy D.	McRuer
Annable H.	Henderson
Christie H.	McLaughlin
Fader P.	Watson
Cartwright J.	Sinclair
Barkley J. R.	Donaldson

The demands for advt. space came too late to make provision for them in time for this issue. Next week we hope to be better prepared. However the advertisements make most interesting and profitable reading.

Visited Experimental Farm.

The annual excursion of the Horticultural Societies of Dundas to the Ottawa Experimental farm yesterday was favoured by exceptionally fine weather, and there were over 300 in attendance. Lunch was served at noon, and the visitors given a most cordial reception by the Farm Authorities. A very pleasant and profitable afternoon was spent under the guidance of the farm officials who took particular pains to entertain their visitors.

Mr. Albert Baxter of Melvin had his shoulder dislocated by a sudden jolt when he was on a mowing machine.
