VILLAGE FINANCIAL POSITION ENVIABLE WITH FINE SURPLUS

Financial Statement Discloses Excellent Standing Despite Strenuous Year.

SURPLUS AMOUNTS TO $1155.08

Arrears of Taxes Reach New Low Percentage.—Much Relief Distribution.

With the financial statement of the village in the hands of the ratepayers it should be with considerable pride they would note the particularly fine standing of this municipality, after a strenuous year, showing a surplus of more than eleven hundred dollars over expenditures. This is the result of very careful handling of the many difficult problems which have come before the council during the year.

The general tax rate for the year was 7.8 mills. Of this rate, 7.02 mills was required to finance fixed charges over which the council has no control. This leaves a trifle over ¾ of one mill levy to provide for controllable expenditures for the year. The proceeds of this .78 mill levy, supplemented by poll tax, dog tax, rental from the Town Hall, fines and licenses enabled the council to finance the village for the year with a substantial surplus amounting to $1155.08. We need be proud of this showing and it is doubtful if it can be duplicated anywhere in the province.

County Financing.

The county levy upon the village of Chesterville was increased by $434.78 over 1932. This increased our village rate for county purposes by 1.07 mills. But, on the other hand, the county grant to the High School was $252.13 greater than in 1932 and there is due the village on the county road rebate approximately $393.19, so that the position of the village with reference to county financing is $210.54 better than in 1932.

The increased levy of $434.78 was occasioned almost entirely by the increase in the King's Highway levy, which was $359.15, the balance being mainly due to increased county levy.

Unemployment Relief.

a. Relief was administered to approximately 85 persons during the year in addition to transients.

b. The relief given covered fuel, clothing, shelter, light bills, medical attention and dental services.

c. Insofar as it was possible, the heads of all families on relief were required to do some work that was useful to the municipality in return for the relief given.

d. The total cash disbursements in the relief account for the 12 months preceding Dec. 1st, 1933, was $2508.93. In addition to this fuel to the value of $257.50 was supplied from the village woodlot, making the total value of relief given $2766.43.

The Chesterville Record.
Dear Sir,-

We received The Record last week and were more than glad to get it. It is real nice to get all the home news every week, especially in a place like this where we do not have much communication with the outside world.

This is a great country up here. All bush and rocks, and small lakes. You would think to look at the clearing they are making for the highway that it would be impossible to make it passable for cars and trucks.

The camp is in a small rocky valley beside a nice little lake, and the highway runs along just behind our bunk house. There are three large double bunk houses divided by a large washroom which is used by both sides. There are 20 men in each side.

The bunks are all-steel with good springs, mattresses and blankets. We have a good stove, but have to do our reading and writing by lamp light which is not so good after being used to electric lights.

We have a nice big cook house that accommodates about 100 men. The meals are splendid and we have plenty of vegetables and pie. I think our best pancake eater is Ted Carr, who thinks nothing about eating ten or twelve for his breakfast.

The work has not been very hard as yet. We are clearing the land, some cutting trees and burning brush and others digging out stumps which is not so murh fun especially on the rocky ground. The other day Bill Riddell was standing by a nice big fire taking things kind of easy and some of the boys went over and asked him if he had told the boss he had quit, and Bill said that the boss didn't know that he had started yet.

Every night we have a floor show, which consists of boxing, wrestling, music, songs and the main and closing event of the night is put on by Swede Olsen who has turned out to be a wonderful step-dancer. The worst part of this number is that it is not very hard to get him started and almost impossible to get him stopped.

The only rare treat so far was at Percy Plantz's expense. While out walking last Sunday afternoon he found some deer tracks along the road and after following them for a half a mile or so through the bush knee-deep in snow, was very much surprised to see a nice big red cow with a bell around her neck standing near a nice big rock. The cow had strayed from a nearby farm, and the owner, happening along just then, thanked Percy very heartily for helping him round up the cow. Can you imagine Percy's embarrassment?

Some of the boys are wondering how many people are sending letters to Jack McAvoy all in the same envelope, as some of them are nearly an inch thick.

There were a few Christmas presents received tonight, and a certain young man, after uncovering a very nice gift, made a statement that he would give his right arm to be in Chesterville to-night. Needless to say, the young man was a certain Bus Hutt. We all wonder what the big attraction is in Chesterville.

I think that the news supply has run out, so taking this opportunity of thanking you for your thoughtfulness in sending us The Record, we remain, respectfully yours.

Jack McAvoy.

Signed on behalf of "Our Gang."

HOTEL DE BOZO GOES UP IN FLAMES

Last night shortly after eleven fire destroyed Chesterville's well-known Hotel de Bozo, which for the past three years has been a hang-out for transients passing along this way. Last night two guests were asleep in the building when awakened by the heat of the flames and escaped carrying their footwear in their hands. An overheated stove or pipes is supposed to have been the cause.

"Valley Farm" Presented Cleverly By Local Talent

With the temperature outdoors ranging near the zero mark and very little above it in the Music Hall, a fair-sized audience almost disregarded the uncomfortable atmosphere and became quite enthused when the four-act comedy "Valley Farm" was presented by a talented local cast under the auspices of the Women's Institute on Friday evening.

The play was unusually well done and unfolded a love story of a country girl (Eva Gillissie) with whom a young city man (Arnold Lynch) had fallen in love and eventually married. The choice of the young man did not at all suit his mother (Mrs. D. McElheran) to whose home he brought his bride, and his mother, with the assistance of a young friend (Gertie Weegar) whom she had picked out for her son's wife, set out to wreck the marriage which would be followed by a divorce and the ultimate marriage to the young lady chosen by the scheming mother.

Harold Rutledge (Arnold Lynch) of New York and Perry Dean (James Foley) were rivals for the hand of the village beauty (Eva Gillissie) who, glamoured by the thought of going to the city to live refused the hand of the village boy, and left the home of her father, Silas Holcomb (Harry Hummel) which was presided over by her aunt, Alvira Holcomb (Mrs. Lyle Marcellus) on whom Azariah Keep (O. L. King), keen of eye but hard of hearing, had his eye for many years but failed to come to the point until the last act when he made his proposal in writing. David Hildreth (Ray Dillabough) a New York laywer, and his niece, Isabel Camey (Gertrude Weegar), friends of the Rutledges as well as of the Halcombs, while spending their vacation in Millville became aware of the infatuation of Harold for Hetty, having been informed by Lizy Ann Tucker (Mrs. Dan McKercher), who never said anything about anybody.

After the marriage of Harold and Hetty and their return to New York, David Hildreth did not approve of the machinations of his niece and Mrs. Rutledge and told his niece in no uncertain tones what he thought about their attempt to separate Harold and Hetty, which for a time appeared successful. As Hetty was on the point of leaving Harold, her old lover, Perry Dean, appeared at the Rutledge mansion having been stranded in New York, and sought financial assistance to get out of the city and away from a scrape he had gotten into. Hetty however, proposed that he should accompany her back to her old home and forget all about what had gone before. This was attempted, but Harold, having a change of heart before divorce proceedings had been taken, appeared on the scene and after many explanations was received by Hetty and they lived happily ever after. Marjorie Lynch, as Verbena, hired girl at the farm, and Bob Hanna, as Jennings, butler in the Rutledge mansion, fitted into the piece perfectly.

Joe Dixon's Orchestra with Marion Casselman, Frances McAvoy, Marjorie Hanna, Rae Dixon, Bill McDonald, Eric MacMillan and Bert McLean played before and between acts.

"My luck's been dead out lately. First I lost a lot of money in a deal; then I had my car stolen; now my boy's broken his leg. How's that for a run of bad luck?"

"Not as bad as mine. Listen. I bought a suit with two pairs of trousers, and the first time I had it on I burned a hole in the jacket."

Fulford Hardy Returns Home After European Troubles

Fulford Hardy, son of a Canadian senator who was freed recently after being charged with wounding his mother in Paris, reached Halifax Sunday night on the way to his Brockville home. He arrived on the liner Alaunia from Southampton, accompanied by his father, Senator A. C. Hardy.

Father and son were silent about the occurrence which brought the younger Hardy into the custody of the French police a few weeks ago. The boy had been charged with striking his mother over the head with an automobile crank. Although her condition was regarded at first as critical, she recovered fully and the charge against her son was not prosecuted.

"It has been a very, very painful matter," Senator Hardy told reporters before he disembarked from the liner, and he said he did not care to discuss the subject. His son said nothing as they hastened ashore.

Little Jones (admiringly) "By jove, yes! He's the sort of chap I'd like to have with me in a tight corner."

The Maiden (dreamily): "That would be okay with me, too!"

A man approached a stranger upon the street, stopped him, and said:

The Man: "If a train left Chicago for New York and averaged 59 miles an hour, and another train left New York for Chicago and averaged 64 miles an hour, and they passed, how old am I?"

Stranger: "Why, you're 38."

"That's right; but how in the world did you figure it out?"

"Well, you see, I have a cousin that is half crazy, and he's 19."

THRILLING!

Metropolitan newspaper editors think it's funny to find items in rural newspapers about Bill Jones erecting a new chicken house or painting his barn. But if they want to have a real laugh they should turn to their own society pages.

Recently a lengthy item appeared in one of the Toronto evening papers to the effect that Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So were back to town after a trip to Europe. After a few paragraphs of the usual bright chatter about how the lady enjoyed herself, ("she loved Rome") it concluded with reference to the enthusiastic welcome home she received from her "pet chow who knew her immediately." Thrilling, eh?

"For the Children's Sake"

An open letter to every motorist in Ontario

We have learned to think of Christmas as the children's festival—the time when child-hopes and happiness are lifted high in every home in city, town, and village.

But Christmas-tide is very often a season of icy roads and slippery streets, when driving becomes difficult and dangerous, and cars slide and slip over the treacherous surface. It is the time when accidents and fatalities can happen without warning—unless drivers realize the imperative need for added care and extra caution.

Throughout the province to-day, thousands of children are eagerly anticipating the coming of Christmas, and the joy of the days to follow when the presents and pleasures of that day will bring renewed happiness and enjoyment.

If, by any fault of driving or from any neglect of some simple rule of safety, you were to deprive one of these children of health and strength, even of life itself—what a responsibility would be yours! For the children's sake, this appeal is made to you, and to every motorist in Ontario: that throughout this winter, you undertake to drive carefully, cautiously, sanely, and safely, lest one child's life be lost, or one little form crippled or torn? Don't let any home in Ontario be darkened by sorrow and sadness this Christmas-tide because YOU did not drive carefully enough.

This is an objective worth the effort—and its cost is only a little more care as you drive.

More and more the considerate motorists of Ontario are realizing how much depends upon them, in the campaign for safety driving on our roads. It is a matter of deep gratification to know that fatalities in which automobiles are concerned are decreasing in this province. From January 1st to October 31st, 1933, there were 71 less fatalities of that character than in the same period last year.

For this marked improvement in safety-driving the Government of Ontario offers its thanks and congratulations to the motorists of the province. It is a definite indication that the majority of drivers of automobiles in Ontario are co-operating in a real endeavour to reduce the death-toll of the open road.

To ensure that this gratifying improvement is maintained during the dangerous days of winter, as well as throughout the coming year, will YOU not make this resolution, if for no other reason than "for the children's sake": to protect life and health by driving with care and caution, by observing the simple rules of the road, and by making safety your motto as you drive along the highways and the by-ways of the Province?

Maxville Woman Is Killed; Walks In Front Fast Freight

Mrs. Archibald Ross, resident of Maxville, was instantly killed about 7.30 Sunday evening, when struck by a fast westbound freight train at the Main street C.N.R. crossing at Maxville. Mrs. Ross and her son, Archie, were on their way to attend the evening church service. As her son stopped to deposit some mail at the post office box, Mrs. Ross continued walking and it is supposed she failed to notice the approaching train as she carried an umbrella to ward off the sleet storm blowing from the east at the time.

Several bystanders noticed the woman approaching the tracks, but escaping steam from the locomotive obscured their view of the scene for a short time. The train crew were unaware of the accident until advised at Moose Creek, the first station west of Maxville.

Life Memberships Presented At Morewood W.M.S. Meeting

Presentation of Life Membership Certificates to two members was a pleasing feature of the annual meeting of the Morewood Presbyterian W. M. S., held at the home of Miss Laura Hunter, on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Fred Farmiloe and Mrs. E. Steinberg were presented with certificates by Mrs. W. S. Feeley on behalf of the society. Miss Belle Moffatt was also honoured when an address expressing appreciation for her perfect attendance as organist for a number of years was read and presented by Mrs. Robert Rainey.

The slate of officers elected at this meeting is as follows: Honourary president, Mrs. Robert Rainey; president, Mrs. Thomas E. Coulthart; first vice-pres., Mrs. A. Nimmo; second vice-pres., Mrs. Allan Smirle; secretary, Mrs. W. S. Feeley; treasurer, Mrs. Hazel Countryman; Home Helpers' Secretary, Miss Ina McKenzie; Willing Workers' Secretary, Mrs. J. W. Marcellus; organist and Glad Tidings Secretary, Miss Belle Moffatt.

Luncheon was served by Miss Hunter, who was assisted in serving by Mrs. W. S. Feeley, Mrs. A. Nimmo, Mrs. T. W. Moffatt, Mrs. T. E. Coulthart and Mrs. Hazel Countryman.

The old commercial traveller was relating his experiences to a young man.

Old Salmesman: "And don't forget, never try to sell an encyclopedia to a bride."

Young Man: "Why not?"

Old Salesman (smiling cynically): "She always thinks her husband knows everything."

Cornwall Prisoner Admits Guilt in Toronto Hold-Up

Brought back from Cornwall to Toronto on Saturday, Johnny Stefanyk, 19 years old, of Hamilton, whose aliases are Brown, Russell and Stevenson was held in custody on two charges of armed robbery.

Stefanyk is reported to have admitted to Detectives Harry Clarke and Robert McMaster, who were his escort from Cornwall, that he was one of the three men involved in the hold-up of the McColl-Frontenac service station, Fleet Street and Spadina avenue, in Toronto, on the night of November 15th, when $280 were taken and an attendant kicked in the face. Two other service stations on the waterfront, one immediately before the other immediately after the McColl-Frontenac robbery, were the object of hold-up attempts. Stefanyk denies that he had any part in the others.

Fingerprints secured at the McColl-Frontenac station following the hold-up there led to identification of Stefanyk. It was learned that he had a record at Hamilton. Detectives Clarke and McMaster went to Hamilton, learned the address of some relatives of Stefanyk and ,following investigation, discovered that he had started out for Montreal.

Stefanyk's account of his whereabouts on the night Johnny Copp was shot is still being checked by the police, although it is not believed that he had any connection with the case.

A man who had taken pity on a lad and given him work as junior clerk kept him at the office rather later than usual one Saturday. The lad became sulky, and performed his duties in a very dilatory manner. At last the employer said to him. "You ungrateful rascal, where would you be now but for me?"

"At the football match," was the answer.

Cod Liver Oils For Stock And Poultry Feeding

The use of fish oils, especially cod liver oil, for stock and poultry feeding, to add to the supply of vitamins, has become common practice. Unfortunately there are on the market not only oils which are low in vitamins but also many which are highly rancid and dangerous. Oils of doubtful quality should be chemically tested before use.

Poultry Winter Green Feed.

Green feeds for poultry in winter are available in the dried form of leaves and plants, Grains alone, are unable for various reasons to support normal growth in poultry, regardless of the variety and combination of seeds used. This has been shown to be due mainly to two causes, namely, the fact that cereals are relatively deficient in minerals and vitamins. Green feeds by which is meant chiefly the leafy parts of plants, supplement the deficiencies of cereals in that they are high in vitamins and mineral content. Thin leaved plants are relatively greater in food value than thick leaved ones, particularly in so far as their ability to supplement grains is concerned.

Stock Boar in Winter.

The importance of exercise for the stock boar particularly in winter, cannot be over-estimated. He should have a roomy paddock out of doors, close to the barnyard. If convenient, it is a good plan to let him have the run of the yard for a few hours each day. A useful shelter, the year round, is a cheap, portable, single-boarded cabin about 6 feet by 8 and supplied with plenty of bedding. For winter feeding, alfalfa or clover hay in racks; pulped roots, such as mangels or sugar beets; cooked potatoes and turnips, 5 to 10 pounds daily; make suitable rations. In the absence of roots, clover or alfalfa hay may be given cut and soaked or steeped.

High Quality Cheese.

The quality of the cheese produced in Canada this year is the best it has ever been since compulsory grading for export was initiated in 1923 and the Dominion has established a new record up to the end of October of 94.63 per cent first grade cheese. This represents an increase of 1.13 per cent over the same period in 1932, and it is also about one per cent higher than any previous record during the past eleven years. The actual increase in the percentage of first grade cheese during this time is 16.63, but this does not tell the whole story, as the quality of Canadian first grade cheese is of a much higher standard now than in the early years of grading. The flavour and texture of the cheese and the appearance of the shipments have much improved.

Keep a Record of Your Farming Business

Present economic conditions emphasize the importance of keeping a record of the farm business. No improvement in management can be made unless the essential facts are known. The farm account book, properly kept and studied, will bring out the facts and indicate the necessary changes in management. The New Year is a good time to start keeping records, so, do it now.

Cooling Milk on the Farm.

When a substance is said to cool it gives up its heat to the surrounding medium. Where this medium is a poor conductor of heat, such as air, the rate of cooling will be extremely slow. A can of warm milk placed in a refrigerator where the air is below the freezing temperature requires approximately twelve hours to cool to 50 degrees F. Consequently, attempts to cool milk in snow banks, or by exposure to outdoor temperatures in winter, are never satisfactory. Water, on the other hand, is a good conductor and will cool down the milk over twenty times as fast as cold air at the same temperature.

Wintering Turkeys.

Turkeys should be wintered where they are expected to lay in the spring. Housed during the winter months in such a place as a straw-barn, they have a very fine place to make their nests in concealed places, due to their wild instinct, and if some provision is not made to offset this habit, many of the eggs may be lost or destroyed by predatory animals. About the time when the wet mash is being commenced for the noon feed, suitable nests can be constructed with boards of one inch material ,eight to twelve inches wide and three feet long, making a square frame.

Preparing Sheep Pelts.

The following directions for preparing lamb or sheep pelts should be useful to farmers in dressing and cutting lamb carcasses:—spread the pelt out flat and evenly, with the wool side down. Take a pound to a pound and a half of coarse salt and sprinkle it evenly over the pelt, exercising special care with the head and legs. Allow the pelt to remain in this position for at least twenty-four hours. The pelt may then be rolled, turning in the legs and sides lengthwise. Bring the head to about the point of the shoulder and the tail and rump to the centre of the back, and roll both ends, making a tight compact pelt. Tie securely with strong cord and store in a dry, cool place.

Farm Sheep Flock.

A flock of fifteen ewes should be the minimum on a farm of 100 acres which is devoted to mixed farming. Such a flock can be increased with experience, but not beyond 20 to 25, unless it is desired to make a special business of sheep raising. With good management and care, an increase through lambs can be expected of from 150 to 175 per cent. A flock of this size will, if given opportunity, clean up a very great number of weeds on a farm, yet the mistake must not be made of expecting them to get all their living off weeds and waste places on the farm. Supplementary foods, such as rape, are desirable to develop the flock profitably, and rape makes a good foundation for the winter feeding.

O. A. C. Team Won Meat Judging Title at Chicago

In a competition including ten teams from ten American and Canadian Colleges, a team of three students from O.A.C. won first place in meat judging at the International Show held in Chicago. The O. A. C. team made a score of 2353, the Iowa team standing second with a score of 2347 and the Nebraska team third with 2315. The Ontario team stood first in the judging of beef and lamb and sixth in the judging of pork.

The team consisted of Alfred D. Hales of Guelph, who made the highest score of any individual in the competition; C. M. Brodie of Gormley, who stood third as an individual, and C. N. Heath of Campbellford, who stood ninth

The team was coached by Mr. E. C. Stillwell, Meat Specialist in the Department of Animal Husbandry at the College.

This is the second notable championship won by student judging teams from the College this year, the other having been the championship in judging grain at the World's Grain Show at Regina, last July.

Cattle Export Encouraging Decrease in Replacements

During the first forty-three weeks of this year, Canada exported approximately 166 per cent more cattle than the entire export of 1932, according to the Ontario Marketing Board.

Cattle exports for last year amounted to 16,455. Latest figures for 1933 show that Canada exported 43,792 head of cattle. It is interesting to note that of this total Ontario's share was 26,280 or some 60 per cent.

Another encouraging angle in the livestock business is the decrease in cattle returned to the feed lot. Replacements during the first nine months of 1932 were 41,031 head of Ontario cattle and 13,804 western cattle or a total of 54,835. Figures for the same period of this year show that 34,314 head of cattle were returned to the farm, or a decrease of approximately 40 per cent.

Bankers Still Undefeated In Town League Schedule

Week's Results.

Friday—Clerks 4, T. B. Tested 1; Nation Valley 5, Dunbar 0.

Tuesday—Nation Valley 2, Bankers 3; Dunbar 2, Bessins 4.

This Week's Schedule.

Nation Valley vs. Clerks
T. B. T. vs. Beavers

Thursday, Dec. 28th.

Bankers vs. Dunbar
Nation Valley vs. T. B. T.

Last Friday night the Clerks beat the fast skating T. B. Tested 4 to 1. T. B. Tested had a wide margin on the play but found a stumbling block in "Baldy" Durant who played a sensational game in the Clerk's nets. "Sab" Hamilton returned to the game and played in goal for the T. B. Tested and the four that beat him were all in close. Bill McLeod was the big noise for the Clerks, getting three goals and an assist, "Ba" Lynch getting the other. Harry Morris saved his team from a shut-out when in the last two minutes of play he skated the length of the rink, shot high, and the puck, hitting the wire netting, caromed off Durant's shoulders for a lucky goal.

Dunbar was minus the Williamsburg assistance and was no match for the heavy Nation Valley team who appeared with a strengthened line, having picked up Marcellus and Gordon from Morewood. At the end of the first period the score was 5-0, the night was below zero and Dunbar had had enough, so the game was called by Referee Helmer.

Tuesday night the Bankers renewed their old hockey war with Nation Vally and won 3-2 in a fast, close game. Art McElroy scored the deciding goal with but two minutes to go. He made an end-to-end rush and put the puck behind Bolton who was extremely hard to beat. The Bankers first line showed up well against their numerous opponents but had to play too long to be continually effective. Zip Barkley opened the scoring, followed by two Nation Valley goals scored by Ed Shay and Marcellus. Pro Alford and Bick Fulton then put on one of their colourful rushes and beat Bolton, Bick taking the pass. Then "Old Horse" McElroy put on the finishing touches with his goal. An unfortunate incident between Campderros and Gordon marred the game; both were banished for five minutes. Alford subbed in the nets for the Bankers and no goals were scored on him.

The East End Bessins, strengthened by Gemery of Winchester, outscored Dunbar in a heavy-checking game. "Moses" Hummel in the Bessin nets made some lucky saves. Sutton opened the scoring for Dunbar, followed by a goal by Len Foley. Big Kirk Marcellus ambled through for a counter and then the East Enders scored three in a row from Ouderkirk, Gemeroy and Droppo.

By the way, Jim Foley has changed his politics and will be seen in a Bankers' sweater from now on. Talking about sweaters, didn't Nation Valley look superb in their new green and white uniforms? The Beavers with red and white sweaters decorated with "Bessin" also looked snappy. The Bankers expect their new sweaters for the next game.

Funeral Held on Monday Aged Dunbar Fire Victim

Miss Clarabelle Barkley, aged 75, sister of Alfred Barkley, proprietor of general store at Dunbar and a teacher in the Dunbar Lutheran Church Sunday School for the past 40 years, was burned to death at her farm home, one mile west of Dunbar, Saturday morning.

Miss Barkley had been gathering the dead leaves off the numerous plants in her home and carried them in her apron to the stove, where a wood fire was burning. In turning them into the stove, the flames set fire to her clothing. Her cries were heard by her niece, Mrs. Russell Froats, who was busy in another part of the house. She ran to the assistance of her aunt and smothered the fire, but not before Miss Barkley was fatally burned.

Dr. H. H. Casselman, of Chesterville, was called, and although Miss Barkley regained consciousness for a while, death ensued within five hours of the accident.

Miss Barkley was one of the most widely known and beloved figures in the district, and her tragic and painful death has shocked her friends throughout the countryside. For many years she was one of the most active members of the Lutheran church at Dunbar.

In addition to her brother, Alfred, she is survived by two other brothers, Ezra Barkley, of Dunbar, and Melancthon Barkley, who resides at the farm home where the accident occurred.

VILLAGE FINANCIAL

to be raised by taxation it would have necessitated a tax levy of 6.83 mills. Two-thirds were paid by the Governments and the remaining one-third was financed from the profits of a commercial wood lot operated by the council, and by private donations and receipts from entertainments. There was, at the close of the 12 months, in the relief account a credit balance of $3.95.

f. The full cost of relief to the local needy and the care of transients was financeed without one cent of cost to the ratepayers and the community had the benefit of the circulation of $2766.43 extra money in the village.

g. That this achievement was made possible was due in a very large measure to the cheerfully given and capable assistance of the women of the Welfare Board and the Council acknowledges its deep sense of obligation to those women.

Arrears of Taxes.

Arrears of taxes is a matter that is giving grave concern to municipal councils in many municipalities in this Province. A study of tax arrears in Chesterville as of December 15th in each year since 1908 discloses that in each year there has been varying but generally large arrears on Dec. 15th. The following table shows the position of Chesterville with respect to tax arrears now as compared with the years 1908, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1922 and 1933.

From the above table it will be seen that the percentage of unpaid taxes as of December 15th in each year is substantially lower in 1933 than in any of the other years shown above. An examination of the properties in respect of which taxes are in arrears indicates that nearly all those properties have a market value many times greater than the amount of unpaid taxes standing against them. In these distressful times, a very gratifying condition indeed.

The problem that faces municipal councils now is to know whether collections should be forcibly made at this time or whether to give owners further time in the hope that conditions may improve. Certainly taxpayers should be given to understand that an honest effort must be made to discharge their tax obligations to their municipality.

EASY

TO GET OUT A NEWSPAPER

BLAINMORE ENTERPRISE:-
Every once in a while some cheerful individual remarks to us:—"Well, now that the paper is out, I suppose you can take it easy for three or four days."

Yes, how delightful it is that an editor has nothing to do between press days. When bills come due, money drops off the trees with which to pay them. Subscribers vie with each other to see who can pay the farthest in advance. Advertisers just beg for additional space and the way news hunts up the editor is also pleasant to contemplate.

There is nothing strange about the news items act. When the paper is out, the editor simply goes to his desk and leans back in his easy chair, looking wise and waiting for the next press day, people line up before the office door, and then file in past the desk and tell him all the news of the week. He writes it up in 15 or 20 minutes, takes it back and hangs it on the hook. The compositor takes the copy and shakes it over the type case, says a few mystic words, and the type flies into place, and after a few passes by the foreman, the forms are ready for the press again. And the editor goes down and deposits some more money in the bank.

It is the grestest snap in the catalogue.

IN CASE OF BURNING.

There are some old remedies which stand the test of time, simple though they may be and one of them is a mixture of equal parts of olive oil (or linseed) oil and lime water. This mixture, if put at once upon a burn, soothes immediately. It also, through the lime water, supplies the alkali that is so essential in relieving the pain. With this remedy close at hand, a package of sterilized gauze and one of absorbent cotton by its side, and presence of mind, there would be fewer deaths from shock after severe burns, and fewer deaths also, from the flames. An instance of this happy combination of presence of mind and of prompt remedy occurred not long ago, when clothing caught fire from an electric stove, the flames shooting up immediately, licking at flannelette and muslin. Instead of opening the door and rushing from the room screaming, the victim sat down upon a low chair, thus stopping the flames from reaching beyond her thighs, and crushed her woollen skirt round the burning mass. She never for a second lost her head, though she happens to be of an age when she might have been forgiven for doing so, and when help attracted by the burning cloth arrived she was ready to do her part by staying quiet, in spite of her agony, while the oil and lime mixture was applied lavishly to the burned surfaces and the whole bound up with absorbent cotton to exclude air.

British Preference Brings Grain Down Canada's Canals

Buffalo.—Grain shipments to Buffalo for the 1933 season totalled approximately 130,000,000 bushels, a sharp drop from the 1932 total of 137,521,417 bushels, and less than half of the 1928 shipments of 273,990,000 bushels.

Persons familiar with lakes shipping blame the steady decline in the handling of grain here on three things. Part is laid to "The Depression." The British preference trade agreement of last year, which levies six cents on every bushel of Empire grain shipped through foreign ports, is credited iwth diverting large amounts of Canadian grain which used to be winter-stored at Buffalo and shipped as buyers were found.

The third reason given for the drop is the diversion of lake boats from Buffalo through the Welland Canal. The opening of the enlarged canal took away from Buffalo much lakes traffic which used to come to it at the great "foot of the lakes" port. Many cargoes which used to be unloaded here now pass through the Welland Canal without touching Buffalo. This is especially true of Canadian grain ships, some of which go direct to Montreal.

"Do you listen in, Mrs. Timms?"

"No, ma'am, I should hope not. I've worked for lots of ladys in my time, and am proud to say none of 'em ever caught me with my ear at the keyhole."

Laura: "I'm going to do my bit, dad. I'm asking a dressmaker to teach me how to cut out frocks."

Dad: "I don't want you to go that far, my dear. But I think you might cut out cigarettes and $20 hats."

Junior: "Where are you going, Mother dear?"

Mother: "Your Daddy and I are going to a surprise party."

"Can't I go too—and can't we take Bobbie and Susie along too?"

"No, you were not invited."

"Well, don't you think they would be lots more surprised if you took us all?"

GOOD THINGS TO EAT

BUNS AND MUFFINS GIVE CLASS TO ANY MEAL.

BUNS AND MUFFINS that strike a new note, will do much to lift any meal out of a rut. Most muffins require to be served hot if they are to be interesting—and these Bread Muffins are no exception to this general rule. However, cold muffins may always be given new interest by splitting and toasting them—when they become quite a different thing from what they were in their original form.

Buns and muffins made with yeast offer a great change from all of those which belong to the tribe of "quick-breads," and so we offer a recipe for each of them which we hope will serve well those devotees of ours who enjoy doing their own baking.

Bread Muffins.

3 cups bread crumbs
2½ cups milk
1 cup flour
3 eggs ....
1 tablespoon melted butter
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt

Cover the crumbs with milk and let soak 15 minutes. Beat to a paste and add the beaten egg yolks, flour, salt, baking powder and melted butter. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in buttered muffin pans in a quick oven for 20 minutes.

Cornmeal Muffins.

1 cake compressed yeast
2 cups milk ,scalded and cooled
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
2 well-beaten eggs
3 tablespoons melted shortening
2½ cups cornmeal
1 cup sifted white flour
1 teaspoon salt

Dissolve yeast and sugar in lukewarm milk. Add shortening, cornmeal, flour, eggs and salt. Beat well. Fill well-greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Set to rise in warm place, free from draught, until light—about one hour. Bake in hot oven twenty minutes. This recipe makes a dozen muffins.

For overnight, use one-fourth cake of yeast and an extra half-teaspoonful of salt. Cover and keep in cool place.

Hot Cinnamon Buns.

2 cakes compressed yeast
1 cup milk, scalded and cooled
1 cup lukewarm water
1 tablespoonful sugar
7 cups sifted flour
6 tablespoonfuls shortening
½ cup sugar
3 eggs
½ teaspoonful salt

Dissolve yeast and one tablespoonful sugar in lukewarm liquid. Add three cups of flour and beat until smooth. Add shortening and sugar thoroughly creamed, and eggs beaten until light, the remainder of the flour gradually, or enough to make a moderately soft dough, and the salt.

Turn on board, knead lightly, Place in greased bowl. Cover and set aside in a warm place to rise for about two hours.

Roll out in oblong piece one-fourth inch thick. Brush with melted butter. Sprinkle with brown sugar, currants and cinnamon. Roll up lengthwise and place in a circle on a large, shallow greased pan or baking sheet. With scissors cut entirely through and lay side by side in pan.

Cover and let rise one hour, or until light, and bake 25 minutes. Before putting in oven, glaze with egg diluted with milk. Ice while hot with plain icing.

Flying Coming Into Its Own

COLONEL and Mrs. Lindbergh had covered about 25,000 miles when they reached Miami last Saturday, on the leisurely flight which started from New York on July 9th. Their trip is understood to have been of a business character, but it is evident that the aeroplane is also admirably adapted for sight-seeing in many lands. The Spartan "cruiser" monoplane hired by Captain W. P. Crawford W. P. Crawford Greene, a member of the British Parliament, for a journey of 32,000 miles from England to Australia and back, is scheduled to leave Wyndham, in the north of Western Australia, shortly for the homeward voyage.

With Captain Crawford Green is a fellow M.P. and air enthusiast in Lord Apsley . The crew consists in Mr. P. W. Lynch Blosse, an airline pilot of much experience, and Mr. E. W. Biship, ground engineer, whose chief task during the flight is the care of the three 130 h.p. "Gipsy Major" air-cooled motors. Along the route home they plan to visit many places in Iraq, Palestine and India. They have just completed an extensive tour of Australia.

The aeroplane left Worcester—the city represented in the House of Commons by Captain Crawford Greene—Sixteen flying days, occupied in leisurely stages ranging up to 850 miles in length, took the travellers as far as Wyndham. They had stopped off for a day at Bagdad and Calcutta, making their elapsed time between England and Australia eighteen days in the afternoon of October 9th. Early next morning it ascended from Lympne Aerodrome, Kent, for the flight of 11,090 miles to Australia.

Less than six years ago the rush record for the trip stood at a few hours under sixteen days. Equivalent time is now easily accomplished by the aerial tourist who has no desire to seek fatigue by rushing across the world as quickly as possible. Three days' more flying carried the party on another 2,400 miles to Sydney, whence they began their tour of the Commonwealth. Flying is rapidly coming into its own.

Forty dollars or a hundred dollars?
