Hundreds jam the Matilda Hall to hear out candidates

BY JOSEPH MORIN
CHIEFTAIN STAFF REPORTER

The All Candidates meeting held at the Matilda community Hall in Dixon's Corners turned out to be a special event for all concerned. Sponsored by the South Dundas Chamber of Commerce the event was well organized and well received by the more than 200 people who came to hear what their potential new mayor and deputy mayor had to say.

This was to be the first time that voters in the 2006 South Dundas election would have a chance to meet with, ask questions of, and listen to their candidates for mayor and Deputy Mayor. There are four candidates for each categories. On Monday, October 30 the second wave of candidates will be on the hot seat as 12 candidates for three councilor positions will be at the hall to explain their positions and to answer questions.

The Monday evening meeting was moderated by Gerry Morrell who kept the mood of the meeting light and was able to help voters at the meeting focused on why they were there.

He explained that the meeting was not to turn into a debate between candidates and voters but rather be an opportunity for both sides to get to know one another. The format was very simple. Each of the mayoralty candidates went first having 3 minutes to describe their platform. The group spoke in alphabetical order. When they were finished the Deputy Mayor candidates took their turn. After all candidates had spoken, Mr. Morrell opened up the meeting for questions to the candidates.

First up was Charles Barkley. Mr. Barkley detailed his years of municipal experience and explained why he decided to run for the mayor's chair. "To me, in the last three years, we seem to be losing control," he said referring to a perceived bid by the province and the United Counties to take more control from lower tier governments. "There is only one taxpayer when you get up in the morning and I do not think that we have been strong enough," he said. Mr. Barkley pointed out that all municipalities have to get together on health issues and that roads have always been a priority to him. Other issues he touched on that he felt were very important to himself and the South Dundas community were, water, the proposed new sewage treatment plant and recreation.

Cam Martel then spoke of his municipal experience and the need for more money for roads and the Township's infrastructure. He said, "We all want our own identity and the federal and provincial governments are not always listening to the different municipalities."

He went on to say that he would bring a positive attitude to the council. "We have to change the laws that need changing and tweek the laws that need tweeking and leave other alone."

Ed Merkley was next up describing his desire to be Mayor. His concerns were the state of the roads in the Township, which he believed were poor and the need for action in the Township when it was required. He pointed out to the crowd, referring to the rural population in South Dundas.

He said that there were other people in rural South Dundas not just those in Iroquois and Morrisburg that had to be looked after.

Incumbent Mayor Lyle Van Allen was the last to speak. Mr. Van Allen described his past experience as the Mayor, highlighting the many challenges his council has had to face over the last three years.

CANDIDATES

CANDIDATES FROM THE FRONT

He mentioned the new water treatment plant in Morrisburg for example and all the attendant issues that went along with it, and how the council had been able to successfully shepherd the water treatment plant to its opening in the summer. Mr. Van Allen pointed out that the battle to get more funding from the federal government to help pay for the water treatment plant was spearheaded by his council and by himself personally. He commented on the Township's roads. "Our roads and streets are as good as most of our neighbours," he said, adding, pavement is expensive and we need more funding." Mr. Van Allen's other concerns for the future included economic development, small business retention, getting more industry interested in coming to South Dundas, more long term care beds in the Township. He mentioned that the province's long awaited report on the Crysler Park business venture had been promised to be made public sometime in November, hopefully before the election.

The candidates for Deputy Mayor were next up to speak. Roger Coligan went first saying, "I am very upset, the same as a lot of people." Mr. Coligan went on to say that he was disappointed in the way the Township had handled the costing and construction of the water treatment plant. He was concerned about the pending construction of the waste water treatment plant.

Bill Ewing was next. "I am not a public speaker I am a worker," he told the crowd. He described his over 20 years of municipal experience adding, "I have always been community minded. You have to be dedicated and committed." Mr. Ewing candidly told the crowd that he was not about to make any promises that he could not keep and that, "I am not afraid to speak out. In a democratic society you are only one voice in 5," he said referring to his role at the council table. He pointed out that the old way of doing things was gone. He ended his comments with, "I have always tried to make your concerns my concerns."

Robert Gillard then told the crowd of his years of experience in municipal politics and looking after his community. "Amalgamation brought with it a lot of opportunities," he said. "But we have not caught up with it yet." Mr. Gillard said that the Township had to attract small industries suggesting that perhaps the Township or others could build buildings to be rented to industry, which seemed to be the way industry wanted to operate. He wanted to push for more senior's homes, and reminded his audience that the farming industry was the largest industry in the area.

Veteran Politician Johnny Whitteker was the final speaker. "I think health care is the most important issue," he said. "Without good health you have nothing. He said that the Township should be considering making agreements with health care professionals in the area to make their job easier and to attract doctors and maintain the health services that residents in South Dundas already were enjoying. His reason for running as the Township's Deputy Mayor was twofold. He felt that his experience would be an asset to the new council and that he wanted to see the waste water treatment plant project finished.

The meeting then switched to questions from the crowd directed to individual candidates. One question directed to Charles Barkley was about the idea of tendering road work instead of the Township bearing the expense. Mr. Barkley replied, "I think that this is a valid point. I think that we have too much equipment and we could be sharing equipment with the United Counties." Lyle Van Allen received the next question which was about the water treatment plant. The question was about how the new council would protect proposed waste water treatment plant from the extra costs and blunders that affected the water treatment plant project. Mr. Van Allen detailed all of the measures his council had taken to ensure that the new project would run smoothly and within the expected budget. Talking about the new project he said, "We decided to hire a project manager." The project manager has been guiding the council through the process of selecting an engineer. He said referring to the water treatment plant, "The previous council had it dictated by the province. I feel that the previous council made a good decision (going) with one plant." Mr. Van Allen admitted that it will be difficult getting the new plant built within budget but that the council was determined to do so. "The council is committed to keeping this on budget."

Robert Gillard answered a question about the future of small hamlets, like Dixon's Corners in South Dundas. He said, "Small hamlets, as far as I am concerned, are unique in their own right." He went on to say that it will take a great deal of work to keep the hamlets unique but different. He reminded the crowd that the council had to have input from the community so that it understood what they were being asked to do. Charles Barkley fielded a question about property taxes and how they are calculated. He said, "As far as I am concerned it's flawed," referring to the way property tax assessment is arrived at. A question about the delay in residents finding out what the final cost of their new water treatment plant was answered by Mr. Van Allen who explained that the Township would not know what the final cost was until they had received word from the federal government about how much funding for the project they were willing to give the Township. Another question centered around the delays that contractors have in getting permits to continue their projects in the Township. Bill Ewing replied that as far as he was concerned the people responsible for issuing these permits had too much work to do as it was and if elected he would work on a solution to the problem.

Mr. Van Allen was asked why voters were losing the paper ballot system and he explained that it has been proven that more people tend to vote if they are given more options to do so. He admitted that he did not necessarily agree with loss of the paper ballot but the Township could not afford to do both. A question to Cam

Martel about the future of the canal and rumors that Ontario Power Generation may decide to do things with the canals. Mr. Martel answered that the answer to that particular question was very complex and that there have been a great deal of land claims made by the First Nations that have not been sorted out. He would like to see the new council take a proactive position on this and not wait for OPG or the First Nations to go ahead without input from South Dundas. When asked about the fate of the Iroquois Golf Course, Mr. Gillard stated that if the current arrangement with the golf course did not work out he would be in favour of selling it.

By 9:10 pm all the candidates had been asked and had answered a number of questions related to the Township. All were answered and the crowd seemed to be satisfied that they had at the very least, had a closer look at who they wanted to vote for and why. The meeting ended with each candidate making closing remarks.

After, the candidates and the crowd had coffee and a the opportunity for an informal chat.

Skateboard Park fundraising underway

BY ANDREA CARTIER
SPECIAL TO THE CHIEFTAIN

In order to realize their goal of building a skateboarding park in Iroquois, several students have volunteered their time and energy to start raising the money that will be necessary to get the project underway.

On the evening of Wednesday, October 18th the Skate Park Crew started their fundraising by engaging in some light yard work in the community.

Paul Benoit and Jamie Dickie spent a couple of hours cleaning up leaves, shovelling earth, and picking up walnuts. The money they earned doing this work has been dedicated to the skateboard park fund which has been established.

Bill Dillabough, a South Dundas resident running for the position of Councillor enthusiastically donated $20 to the cause and challenged other candidates to do the same.

Clayton Barkley, an Iroquois Public School teacher and mentor for the group, is spearheading and co-ordinating the students' efforts. "The students have lots of energy and are determined to realize their dream of a skate park in Iroquois," stated Barkley.

"I see my role as assisting them realize their goal."

A bank account has been opened to hold the funds, and further fundraising activities are being explored.

The group is selling the walnuts they have gathered for the cost of 5 for a dollar, and is willing to undertake light yard work in the community.

Anyone interested in engaging the students, purchasing walnuts, or supporting the cause is encouraged to contact Clayton Barkley at 613-652-1920.

Jamie Dickie, one of the students who has been active in the project since its inception, commented on the fundraising plan. "I actually feel pretty good about what we are doing."

If we can keep raising money like this we may have enough money by next spring." When asked how much money he thought would be needed to realize the dream of creating a skateboard park in Iroquois, Jamie Dickie answered, "I'm not sure how much it will cost, but it doesn't have to be built all at once."

It would be great to have one or two ramps by spring."

The Skate Park Crew circulated a petition in the community and gathered approximately 400

Library week was something to read about

This year's theme is "Libraries: The world at your fingertips"

Local MPP Jim Brownell encouraged the citizens of Stormont, Dundas and Charlottenburgh to visit their local public libraries last week as Ontario celebrates Public Library Week from October 12-22, 2006.

"Our public libraries make many valuable cultural, educational and economic contributions to our lives," said Brownell. "This past week, people all across Ontario acknowledged the role their public libraries play in enriching their quality of life, increasing literacy and assisting children and youth in reaching their full academic potential."

During the week, public libraries across

Ontario held special activities such as readings by authors and book chats. This year's theme - "Libraries: The world at your fingertips" - highlights the role played by our library system in providing opportunities for Ontarians to access and share an impressive range of information.

RUNGE NEWSPAPERS

The war in Afghanistan struck close to home with the news that a Kemptville native was killed in combat on Oct. 14.

Pte. Blake Williamson, 23, a North Grenville District High School graduate, was killed during an ambush in Afghanistan.

Pte. Williamson and fellow Canadian, Sgt. Darcy Tedford, were killed when a rocket-propelled grenade exploded over them while they patrolled a road being built by Canadian troops near Kandahar.

Both soldiers were based at Canadian Forces Base Petawawa and were members of the 1st Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment.

The news comes as a shock to the North Grenville community where Pte. Williamson grew up; many friends and relatives still call the area home.

Louise Mortimer, whose family has been friends with the Williamsons for a long time, said she was devastated when she heard the news.

"Everyone's calling wanting to know what they can do to help," Mortimer said, adding that though she did not know Pte. Williamson well, she had met him many times and her son was a good friend of his. "My son, Adam, is a year younger and was talking to him on MSN (instant messenger) two days before he died."

According to Mortimer, Pte. Williamson was very happy in his chosen career.

"When he joined the military, he had found his calling, he loved it," she said.

"This was actually his second tour of duty (in Afghanistan) and he was back because he wanted to go back."

"He died for his country," Mortimer added.

On Pte. Williamson's profile page on MySpace.com, friends were trying to come to grips with the tragedy.

"I have been trying to make sense of this...but it's hard... But I have so many good memories of you and those are the ones I am concentrating on now... Thanks for always being there Blake when I needed a friend. You will be missed by many and loved by all," said one friend in a message posted on the website.

I will miss you Blake. I have missed you being so far away all my life and I will continue to miss you for the rest of it. I have really great memories of you and I'm happy for that," wrote another.

Doug Brunton, public relations officer for the Kemptville Royal Canadian Legion, said on Monday that the order had been given to lower the flags at the legion to half-mast, as will be the case at the North Grenville Municipal Centre.

Brunton also said that North Grenville District High School, also lowered their flag, which is located behind the cenotaph honouring fallen Canadian soldiers.

Since Canadian troops arrived in Afghanistan in early 2002, 42 soldiers, as well as one diplomat, have been killed. Six of the fatalities have come in the last two weeks.

First SNOW in October!

*Weather from The Valley
By Stephen Balena*

The first measurable snow of the season fell across the area late last week. The wet, windy and in some cases white fall continues across most of Ontario. Kemptville, Ottawa and the Seaway have had over 75mm of precipitation in the last two weeks alone. Temperatures across the Seaway Valley and Eastern Ontario have been below the normal high of 10c for mid-October.

With fall well established winter has begun knocking on our door. Numerous mornings have seen frost away from the water. In addition wet snow fell across the St. Lawrence Valley and north towards Kemptville on Friday, October 20. As much as 5cm of the white stuff fell along the western edge of a slow moving low pressure area. The snow made things interesting, but had melted by Saturday morning. In any event temperatures remain cool and are expected to stay that way through at least the beginning of November.

The cooler than normal fall has resulted in more lake effect snow along the Great Lakes including 5-10cm north of London yesterday.

At this time the rest of the week looks unsettled with Friday being the best day. More cold rain is expected this weekend. The good news is Halloween looks to be dry at this point. You will have to bundle up however.

Last Friday in

The meeting was well attended with over 200 South Dundas residents taking the time to come by the hall. Each of the two groups of candidates had an opportunity to give a brief opening speech. After the individual introductions were made the audience was given an hour to ask candidates questions.

Each of the eight candidates were asked questions and provided answers. The meeting was moderated by Gerry Morrell who kept the question coming and focused the crowd on discussion rather than debate.

Upper Canada Playhouse seeks auction donations

Upper Canada Playhouse is seeking donations for this year's annual Christmas Auction coming up at Matilda Hall Nov. 18.

With tickets at $40 each, the auction and dinner are UCP's main annual fundraiser. Proceeds are earmarked for improvements to the Morrisburg non-profit company's building. Donors of items for auction are not only supporting The Playhouse but also are having the opportunity to display their goods and merchandise at a well-attended event.

"This event gives patrons an opportunity to support UCP while getting their money's worth of entertainment and enjoyment," said Geraldine Fitzsimmons who's in charge of live and silent auction acquisitions. "Not only is there a marvelous meal and great socializing, but there's a chance to bid on a wide selection of interesting and valuable merchandise from local merchants and individuals." Fitzsimmons noted the older building housing the theatre with its constantly growing audiences demands constant upkeep and repairs. Revenue from past auctions have been used for such improvements as renovations to hallways and washrooms and most recently carpeting in the main auditorium area to make that area of the theatre quieter, more comfortable and visually attractive.

This year The Playhouse will apply auction revenues to overhauling the production booth and providing more efficient technical facilities. "Low hanging pipes extending across the ceiling will be removed to make the space safer and afford greater clearance for both patrons and theatre crew." Fitzsimmons pointed out each donor is entitled to a tax receipt upon request as well as recognition at the theatre.

Donors are asked to confirm their gifts by Oct.

27 so they can be listed in the auction catalogue. "It's a great way to start your Christmas shopping," she concluded, adding donation forms can be acquired by calling UCP.

For more information please contact Geraldine Fitzsimmons @ The Playhouse @ 613-543-0665

Movie nights at IPS provide family fun and help school

BY ANDREA CARTIER
SPECIAL TO THE CHIEFTAIN

According to Iroquois Public School Co-chair, Helen Tupper, movie nights in Iroquois are popular with local residents. "We had 125 attendees for our first showing, which was Over the Hedge, and another 80 people came out to enjoy A Tale of Two Kitties. If we have a consistent turn out of between 80 and 130 this will prove to be a very successful fundraiser."

The Iroquois Public School parent council has already met the costs for the one year contract with Criterion Pictures, and any income from movie nights from this time forward will go directly to helping the school and implementing the ambitious grounds improvement project recently approved by the school board.

The third movie in this year's line up will be shown in the auditorium of the public school on the evening of Friday, October 27. Zoom, which is a family action movie starring Tim Allen, will start at 7 pm. Adults can bring lawn chairs to sit on, and children can sit closer to the screen on blankets. Popcorn, drinks and snacks are available from the canteen before the movie.

In November, audiences will be able to enjoy the Ant Bully, and December will feature the movie Open Season. The contract the parent council has with Criterion Pictures allows them to show feature films before the home video release date, but after the theatre run has been completed.

Criterion Pictures specializes in helping organization such as schools, colleges, recreational centres, libraries, and hospitals to raise money by showing great films. Criterion Pictures is the non-theatrical distributor of feature films for many of Hollywood's major motion picture studios. They offer movies to the non-theatrical market in four different formats including 35mm, 16mm, vhs and dvd. The majority of their films are available months before the home video release date.

The plans for the improvement of the school grounds which will be realized as a result of this fundraising endeavour are far reaching. The parent council is hoping to get started on the yard improvements almost immediately, with the first goal being the removal of the backstop on the south-eastern corner of the grounds. The proposal calls for volleyball courts to be placed in this area. Some work needs to be done near the play structure to ensure proper drainage before improvements can be made in that space. The plan spans a timeline of 5 years and includes applying for 'greening' funds, as well as funding for handicap accessibility and sporting equipment.

EARTH TALK

Dear EarthTalk: Could our health be negatively affected by all the radio frequencies being bandied about by cell phones and cell phone towers, wireless pagers and Internet systems, and other uses of radio frequency and microwave radiation? -- Beverly Filip, Santa Cruz, CA

Since the middle of the last century technological advancements in telecommunications and other industries have led to significant increases in the use of radio frequencies. Equipment employing microwave and radio waves is today widely used not just in broadcasting and communications, but also in the health care industry, the food industry, and in a host of other industries in a wide range of applications. Health advocates have worried for decades that exposure to frequencies emanating from these many sources might be harmful.

And the ubiquity of such technology today—especially considering the quantum leap in cell phone usage in recent years—only makes such concerns that much more pressing. Various studies researching the health effects of cell phone use have yielded mixed results. Some earlier studies suggested a link between exposure to radiation from cell phones and an increased risk of acoustic neuroma—a cancerous tumor of the nerve connecting the ear to the brain—but more recent research found no such links. The issue is primarily heat.

According to the Occupational Safety and Health Department of the Communication Workers of America (CWA), “As high frequency radio frequency radiation...penetrates the body, the exposed molecules move about and collide with one another causing friction and, thus, heat...If the radiation is powerful enough, the tissue or skin will be heated or burned.” According to CWA, “there is substantial scientific data that establishes negative health effects associated with microwave radiation.”

CWA cites cataracts as one possible negative health effect from prolonged exposure, as well as well as nervous system damage and even reproductive problems in both males and females.

This issue was in the news in 1992 over the issue of the safety of police radar devices, but subsequent studies were inconclusive. As to cell phones, the results of a study recently published in the academic journal Environmental Health Perspectives do not bode well for habitual chatterers. Researchers documented brain damage in laboratory rats exposed to radio frequencies from cell phones at levels comparable to what people would experience during normal use.

The study's authors expressed concern that “after some decades of (often) daily use, a whole generation of [cell phone] users may suffer negative effects, perhaps as early as middle age.” The environmental effects of radio frequencies are also largely unclear. Migrating birds have been known to fly right into cell phone and other communications towers. Some blame the radiation emanating from such towers for disorienting the birds and undermining their navigational abilities.

Others chalk such incidents up to poor visibility associated with bad weather and nothing more.

The front lands of Iroquois are important in this election and very valuable to the owner, the municipality.

As most of us know the land was once expropriated because the old village of Iroquois would have been flooded by the Seaway project. Council's positive leadership is required for this valuable land.

Council should promote the development of a debate and then a comprehensive plan for the front lands of Iroquois for the benefit of as many people as possible.

The community has able and willing people to guide input and to set limits and goals for professional planners to advise and offer choices under the direction of a patient council recognizing the value of these lands.

Council should cancel dealings with the corporation running the Iroquois Golf Course and have the golf course run by a committee of council (interested community members, and participants etc.), as the arena and other parks and buildings are.

Council should do this because:

- with this land's remarkable value control cannot be left to a single group.

- this land's use should not be vetoed by the self interest of a business.

- the corporation running the golf course has no money and no assets.

- the existence of the corporation is a tax liability to the golf operation.

- this very valuable land needs to be managed with the whole community in mind.

Candidates for office should express an opinion on this plan.

THE CONSERVATION ZONE

DOING THE DISHES EFFICIENTLY

Peter Love
Chief Energy Conservation
Officer of Ontario

Time-shifting For Dishwashers

In winter, Ontario's greatest demand for electricity usually occurs between 7 and 11 a.m. and again from 5 to 9 p.m. By switching non-essential use of major appliances such as your dishwasher to the early afternoon and after 8 p.m., you can help reduce demand on the electricity system. Time-shifting your dishwasher to off-peak times, like bedtime, means you can also take advantage of lower rates if they're offered by your electricity company.

If a new dishwasher is in your future, consider investing in an ENERGY STAR®-qualified model, which will be at least 25% more efficient than an older, energy-gobbling model. Newer models can also be programmed to run at a certain time. Set it...then go to bed and forget it!

Mythbusting for Dishwashers

Myth #1: It's Cheaper To Hand Wash.

If you use the dishwasher once for every three to four times you would wash dishes by hand, a dishwasher can actually be more energy-efficient.

Myth #2: Always Pre-rinse Your Dishes.

Forget what mom said: Pre-rinsing is unnecessary for most modern dishwashers. Simply scrape off food and drain liquids.

Five Easy Ways to Save Dishwashing Energy

1. Always run a full load.
2. Load dishes according to manufacturer's instructions to allow for proper water circulation.
3. Choose the “light” or energy-saving wash setting when you can. This uses less water and runs for a shorter period of time. Use the “heavy” or “pots/pans” cycle only when you really need it.
4. Choose the “no-heat” drying option if available; otherwise, you can just turn the dishwasher off at the end of the rinse cycle. By air-drying your dishes, you can save 10% of the cost of operating your machine.
5. Consider moving your dishwasher away from the refrigerator, so heat from the dishwasher doesn't make the fridge work harder.

South Dundas Economic Matters

Anne Marie Waddell, a local resident for over forty years, is the economic development officer for the Township of South Dundas. edo@southdundas.com

Encouraging Economic Development in your downtown

Economic development shapes the role of a downtown area in a community.

The roles (or functions) of a downtown are a critical factor in its prosperity, vitality and ultimately its health. A downtown must not just look good through image improvements but it must provide uses or roles for its target markets. Most downtowns have non-economic roles - a place to meet, and "walk about", a place to celebrate, a centre for art and culture and a place to live. Although these roles are all important, a healthy downtown must develop some strong economic functions - retail, commercial, restaurant and entertainment and visitor services. Ultimately these are the roles that bring people and shoppers into a downtown area on a sustained basis.

Definition

Economic development is the diversifying, broadening and retaining of appropriate economic roles for a downtown including its commercial mix. By attracting new ventures or by expanding existing ones, a downtown can increase its trade area - locally, regionally, or by attracting visitors. Effective economic development requires that a community must know what are the current economic roles; what were the factors in the past that shaped these roles; what new or adjusted roles should be there in the future; and what are the ways and means to encourage these future opportunities.

An organization interested in guiding appropriate economic development should follow this framework: Choose to play an active role in shaping your downtown's economic roles

- Determine the groups that could be involved, their role and the types of information they can provide

- Get the team together and working on the same page - create a "memorandum of understanding among stakeholders and partners, outlining mandate, goals and objectives for the organization

- Compile and assess any past economic studies

- Gather any important intelligence about your trade area

- Figure out the current availability of products and services

- Undertake a downtown SWOT as a diagnostic assessment

- Determine the opportunities based on the needs of your trade area

- Build a case for your business opportunities

- Identify potential business recruits - start locally first and then move outward to recruit from the surrounding region

- Sell your opportunities and your downtown to these potential business recruits.

How can we respond to retail leakage in our community, and identify opportunities to stem the outflow?

Retail leakage or outflow from a downtown and a community is an important consideration in the development of a downtown revitalization strategy. Leakage occurs when individuals in the community choose to spend some or most of their discretionary income outside the community. The extent to which new retail and service activities can be developed to stem this outflow represents new economic development opportunity areas for the downtown specifically, or the community overall.

Think of this scenario being represented as a 'leaky bucket'. The bucket is your regional economy, and when local businesses sell goods and services to outsiders, the bucket fills up with money. The fuller the bucket, the more prosperous your region is. But each time a local business buys its supplies from outside the region, this is like a hole in the bucket - money leaks away. If there are many holes (corresponding to a lot of businesses buying their supplies from outside the region) then all the region's prosperity will quickly be gone. So, it makes sense for businesses - and consumers, too, of course - to 'buy local'.

In smaller rural downtowns, some element of leakage is inevitable, as the community cannot possibly serve the needs and interests of all its residents. There will always be some specialized goods and services that are only available in the larger cities or suburban areas. Even when a community can provide for most of the day-to-day needs of its citizens, there may still be a considerable amount of leakage, as individuals and families shop in larger communities, simply as something different, or a chance to 'get away'.

Downtowns often face a 'double whammy' in this regard. Not only do they lose out on leakage to other towns and cities, but they also can suffer loss to 'big box' or highway commercial development within their own communities. So strategies to differentiate the downtown and position it as a unique kind of shopping and service environment are important factors in a downtown redevelopment plan.

Offsetting leakage or 'outflow' is 'inflow' - the extent to which shoppers and visitors from outside the community can be lured into the downtown to shop for goods and services. Accordingly, revitalization plans should always consider the tourism potential of their downtowns, and work with the various economic development organizations and agencies that may be preparing tourism development plans for the region.

Source: OMAFRA REDDI website

In the last few columns, including this one, we have looked at downtown revitalization. And yes, it has been looked at before but that was about fifteen to twenty years ago. In an issue of May 1985 it was reported that Morrisburg was looking into funding for a facelift to the plaza. If memory serves me right the canopy was the facelift and that came about five years later. Similarly Iroquois was looking into a revitalization project in the early 90's. We are almost into 2007 and we are taking steps to start the process once again. But this time our plazas are almost fifty years old and we will have to give this process serious consideration to get results... results that will take time and money.

Pat Waddell from Iroquois has prepared 350 pill bottles to be sent to Afghanistan. Each bottle contains an assortment of sewing and mending tools. An average bottle will contain: needles, straight pins, safety pins, thread, elastic bands, buttons and a pencil. Pat took her idea to help the people in Afghanistan to the Iroquois Good Companions who helped her collect the bottle contents.

Cardinal store robbery part of crime spree

The Prescott office of the Grenville County Ontario Provincial Police are presently investigating an Armed Robbery that took place at the Macs Milk Store at 206 Bridge St. Cardinal, Ontario, just before 11:00 am Sunday October 22, 2006.

A lone male person entered the store wearing a black bandana covering his face and approached the store clerk who was stocking shelves.

The suspect directed the store clerk to the cash register where he had her open it and removed five and ten dollar bills, totaling less than $100.00.

The suspect fled the area in a vehicle matching a description of a vehicle that had been reported stolen from the Town of Prescott just a few minutes earlier. Vehicle was described as a green 4 door Lumina that had two hockey flags, one on each of the rear windows.

The suspect vehicle is suspected of being involved in two more armed robberies in the Ottawa - Hull area and being involved in a pursuit with the Quebec Police, which resulted in a motor vehicle collision.

Driver of the vehicle has been arrested and is being held in custody.

Investigation into this incident is continuing at this time.

Winchester Hospital Auxiliary

The Winchester Hospital Auxiliary met on Thursday, October 12th with Vice-Chair Marion Carkner inviting the 19, present members, representing five areas, to join in the Auxiliary prayer.

She welcomed CEO, Trudy Reid whose presence is always appreciated. The minutes were read followed by the presentations of the In Memoriam, Treasurer, Lotteries, and Gift Shop reports.

Ethelwyn Carkner presented the Sunshine Circle report citing how well everything is going. Patients from many different spots in the hospital as well as visitors come and enjoy the programmes. The volunteers worked 40 hours in September. Dorothy Howes, Social & Special Events Co-ordinator assured the members that all was set for the Bazaar on Saturday. Frieda Armstrong is requesting the sandwiches from the Winchester area. Faye Coons from the Summers/Cass Bridge, Maple Ridge area is looking after getting the squares. Marion Carkner is over seeing the Tea Room as well as the puddings. They will be made on Monday, Oct. 16th at 5:00, and wrapped on Wednesday, Oct. 18th at 5:00. Edith Baker, Chair of the Purchasing Committee presented a motion to buy a Sentinel Node Gamma Gun that costs approximately $40,000. This machine will be used in the OR for some breast cancer patients. The In Memoriam Fund will pay for this useful and needed piece of equipment. Approval of this motion was unanimous. Our thanks are extended to Doris Cross and Ethelwyn Carkner for the years they have both served on this important committee. They will be replaced by Judy Rombough and Gene Lasdin both retired nurses. Hilda Vandekempt, volunteer coordinator, in her report mentioned that 21 teens and 35 adults worked 312 hours and 7,860 pennies were collected for Oma this past month. Hilda also met with the Purchasing Committee and considered how to best use the amount that has been collected over the past few years. Her goal of reaching a million pennies has been realized due to energy and stamina of weekly collecting and rolling. She has had help from all corners of the counties. Many schools contributed as well. Congratulations Hilda for conceiving the idea and following it through these past years. A Hysteroscopy & Sheath, a blood fluid warmer will be purchased. Get well cards have been sent to Rita Bray and Frankie Burton. A thank you card was sent to Isabel McInnis for the crafted work she did for the Gift Shop.

IPS hosts junior girls and boys soccer tournament

BY ANDREA CARTIER
SPECIAL TO THE CHIEFTAIN

On Thursday, October 19, Iroquois Public School hosted two soccer tournaments for junior aged players. Students in grades 4, 5, and 6 participated in 8 team play in order to determine a winning school.

Teams from Dixon's Corners, Inkerman, Morrisburg, Winchester, Elma, Iroquois, Nationview, and St. Cecilia/St. Mary's took part in the day's events, and everyone was grateful that the cloudy skies didn't produce the forecasted rain.

The Iroquois girls took to the field against Nationview in the first match of the morning. The 20 minute game was a 1 to 0 victory for Iroquois.

In their second match of the morning, the Iroquois girls tied St. Cecilia/St. Mary's 1 all, and the Iroquois girls defeated Elma 1 to 0 to move on to the finals. The girls played Winchester in the finals and lost in a shoot out.

The junior boys played three matches during the tournament, losing their first game 1 to 0 to Nationview, but defeating St. Cecilia/St. Mary's in their second game by a score of 2 to 1. A loss in their third game to Elma Public School eliminated the boys from further play. Coach Margaret Phifer was happy with the boys' play. "We are in the building process and have a very young team. I was surprised by how well they played and extremely pleased with the effort they put forth."

The grade 7 and 8 boys and girls also saw soccer play during the week. Both teams travelled to Kemptville on Tuesday, October 17 to play in the regional finals.

The day was wet and cold, but the girls managed to defeat Lombardy 1 to 0, and Rideau Vista 1 to 0. In their third game of the day, the Iroquois girls were defeated on a penalty kick in over time, losing to St. Mary's by a score of 1 to 0.

The boys made it to the semi-finals where they were defeated.

In other IPS news, a new student council was elected for the 2006 - 2007 school year. Drake Levere was acclaimed Head Boy, and Lacey McCasslin was elected Head Girl. Lucas Stitt was elected Treasurer, and the council's Secretary will be Taegan Mills. Class reps are Donovan Hogan, Eric Saddlemire, Stephanie Barkley, Kate Gervais, Jay Lynn Thompson and Jessica Thompson. The students are looking forward to a great year.

of defending their country. Canadian Angels is a non-governmental, non-partisan, independent organization.

The project is based on the American Soldiers Angels program in the United States. The Canadian Angels was started by an average Canadian who wanted to help Canadian soldiers.

The Canadian Angels has two databases, one for Canadian Forces members and another one for soldiers who are serving outside of Canada or who are about to be deployed. Immediate family members as well as friends and the public are encouraged to sign up and adopt a soldier.

Sponsoring a soldier means that they will receive letters or small care packages that can be easily transported.

The movement in Canada to show some outward sign of support for Canadian soldiers placed in harms way is growing.

Morrisburg Curling Club

The bonspiel season has begun in our area, and two of the club's Tuesday afternoon women's teams are competing this week at the R.A. Centre in Ottawa and at the six-sheet North Grenville club in Kemptville. We'll have the results next week. Our own club hosts two bonspiels next month, the Women's Invitational and the Men's Founders spiels. No doubt organizers will be looking for volunteers to assist on those days. And Bob Fortin and Keith Brannan report that the daytime mixed curlers are hosting three Russell teams on the morning of Tuesday November 7th.

By the way, a vote of thanks to our hard-working executive for their own volunteering and for the planning that has gone into this new season. We have many new curlers this year, and we know our returning athletes will make them welcome and assist in any way they can.

Speaking of our members, there are twelve teams in the Friday night mixed league, with two teams short a player. There are ten in the Thursday night competitive division, and coordinator Ian Wilson has room for two more teams. The Wednesday night women's league is filling up, but there are still some openings there and in the Tuesday afternoon time slot. We have one full draw in the men's Tuesday night curling, with one team needing another player. The daytime men, with eleven full teams, are into their third and fourth games this week.

Even if the leagues are full, organizers would be delighted to have people on their spare list. Curlers are active individuals, with many interests, and there are generally openings for a given game.

Our thanks to Dave Dolan, who, along with President Joe McCooey, has agreed to coach the Junior/Bantam curlers. Last year we were not able to offer this opportunity at the club, and we thank Dave, an excellent teacher, and a new curler here, for his help. And of course we're happy that Sydney Schnurr, a skillful coach and former club president, is still looking after our Little Rockers.

For those wishing to rent the lounge, a sheet of ice, or the whole club, Walter Reid, at 613-652-1628, is the person to call for arrangements.

Some are already booking the facilities for staff parties, so call soon to avoid disappointment. Monday nights, by the way, are open, if any group would like to rent one or more sheets of ice on a regular or occasional basis.

Finally, our club subscribes to curling magazines and they are available for your perusal as you watch our own fine games or check the television sets for other entertainment of interest in our comfortable lounge. Good curling to all!

"Singles" was the norm for the day as fifteen enthusiastic cribbage players gathered in the Lounge on Saturday past. Finishing in first with a total of 1054 was Hubert Lapierre while Duane Kirker held the second spot with a score of 1051. Taking third spot was Andre Gravel with only one score different of Duane Kirker. Roger Coulter claimed the Bridesmaid's chair with his total of 1049. A total of twelve skunks were found and picking up two each was Joan Ault and Karl Kirkwood while Patricia Casselman managed to pick up a trio of them.

At Euchre there were a total of seven tables. Picking up the first prize was Doug Gow while Willis Douglas nabbed the second prize. Andy Acelvari ended up having low score of the evening. Not one skunk could be found anywhere near the Branch premises.

Duplicate Bridge - no Bridge - no results.

The Pot of Gold winner was Bill Farrell who WAS signed in. Congratulations Bill! Friday's meal for this week is beef pot pie and gravy and the dessert is to be cranapple crisp.

The Poppy Campaign is just around the corner comrades and if you can give a helping hand, it will be much appreciated. On Saturday October 29 at 1:30 pm the youth of the area (Scouts, Cubs, Girl Guides and Brownies) will be canvassing our area in the usual blitz.

Please answer the door when they come to your residence and give a donation. Every little bit will certainly help.

And on Saturday November 5 at 6:30 pm our Remembrance Day Services will be taking place at the Legion then marching to the Cenotaph for the laying of wreaths. The Kemptville Pipe Band will be assisting us that day. Then on November 11 at 11:00 am our Legion will be taking part in the Remembrance Day service at Matilda Hall. Please keep these services in mind and make a special effort to attend.

As you probably have seen elsewhere we have been displaying the red shirts "Supporting our troops" and have sold quite a few of them. They are available at the Branch in various sizes at $15.00 each. If you want one please feel free to drop in and get one. It would be nice to see especially on Friday.

We had our Zone Commander Ken Sorrenti and Deputy Zone Commander making their official visit to our Branch at the regular General Meeting last Thursday evening. In June of 2008 the Dominion Convention will be held in Ottawa. Plans are already in the making.

On Saturday past several members from Brockville Legion were on a "Pub Crawl" and took the time to pop in for some snacks and great friendship. It was a pleasure having them.

Until next week - Take Care.
