Arza Clair Casselman Dies On Eve of Parliament's Open'g Longtime M.P. for This Riding

A. Clair Casselman, 67-year-old Conservative Member of Parliament for Grenville-Dundas, died Sunday night in Toronto General Hospital.

His death on the eve of the opening of the 24th Parliament, came of a sudden heart attack while he was in hospital for examination for a blood condition, his father-in-law Hon. Earl Rowe, said. Mr. Rowe is member of Parliament for Ontario's Dufferin-Simcoe.

His wife, the former Jean Rowe, whom he married in 1946, was with him at his death. They have a son, William Clair, and a daughter, Nancy Jean. Two sons from a previous marriage survive in Clifford Mundle Casselman and Richard Clair Casselman.

Equalled Record

Mr. Casselman, a Prescott, Ont., lawyer, at the last election equalled the record number of general election victories of 11.

He first was elected to the Commons for Grenville-Dundas in 1921 at the age of 30.

His victory also was his fifth against a Liberal of the same surname, two brothers being his previous election foes. This year he defeated Arthur Clark Casselman, Cardinal, Ont., public school principal whom he defeated also last June. Liberal Frank Casselman, brother of Arthur, went down to defeat in 1945 and 1949.

The 11 victories equal the general election record of J. G. Haggart, Conservative MP for the former constituency of Lanark South, Mr. Haggart was elected to the Commons at 11 general elections between 1872 and 1911 but also won a byelection in 1888 to give him an edge in total elections won.

Born on Farm

Col. Casselman was born on a farm, one mile west of Morrisburg, 67 years ago, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Micheal J. Casselman. He represented the fifth generation of United Empire Loyalists on both sides of the family. His ancestors came to Canada in 1792.

Col. Casselman was educated at the Morrisburg Collegiate where he played on the same hockey and baseball teams as Mr. Justice Charles Cameron of the Exchequer Court of Canada. He went on to Osgoode Hall and studied law.

He was a noted long distance runner and gave exhibitions against the late Tom Longboat at the Fall Fairs in the St. Lawrence Valley. Col. Casselman played hockey with the Internationals at Cornwall with Cy and Corbette Denenny who jumped the team to join the Ottawa Senators.

At Osgoode Hall he was pressed into service on the senior hockey team and starred in the Senior OHA in the days of Jerry Laflamme and others.

Active in Militia

From the time he was 17 he took an active interest in the old 59th—the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

When World War 1 broke out he was a sergeant with the old 59th and was called out during his summer vacation to guard canals along the St. Lawrence.

He finished his law course the next year and early in 1917 enlisted with a draft to the McGill Battery which was changed in England to the 10th Siege Battery. He served throughout World War 1 with this battery as a gunner.

Supported Seaway

Col. Casselman had a large law practice at Prescott and was one of the strongest supporters of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Development.

$35,000 Farm Fire Destroys Livestock

A flash fire of unknown origin swept through the barn, pig pen, and chicken house on Dudley Smail's farm, one mile east of Brinston on Saturday, causing loss estimated at $35,000.

The fire broke out at 4 p.m. and spread with such swiftness that almost all the farm's livestock was trapped.

Losses included 17 cows—12 of them pure bred Holstein — 17 pigs and 50 hens. Vast quantities of hay inside the barn also went up in flames.

Within two hours, the structures were levelled.

Neighbours who rushed to assist the Smails in fighting the blaze, succeeded in preventing it from spreading to the Smail home. No one was injured.

The cause of the fire is still unknown.

The final fiure came to $23,150, which amount was finally approved.

Mrs. B. W. Campbell Passes in 60th Year

A resident of Chesterville for the past 16 years, Mrs Byron W. Campbell passed away Sunday in Cornwall General Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Born in Derbyshire, England, in June 1898, she was a daughter of the late Wilfred and Elizabeth Horlick, her maiden name being Stella Horlick. Educated in Gloucestershire schools, she came to Canada in the early 1920's and married Byron W. Campbell at Kingston in 1924.

Following nine year's residence at Kingston, they lived a number of years at Newington and since 1942 have lived in Chesterville.

Active in community affairs, Mrs Campbell was a member of village council for two years, member of Trinity United Church W.A., past president of the local W.I., secretary-treasurer of the Library Board, member of Dundas County Advisory Board, C.N.I.B., six years secretary of Dundas County Music Festival, and secretary of the local Red Cross Society for several years.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, is one son, Byron A., of Chesterville; a granddaughter; two sisters, Mrs Wilfred Haesler and Mrs Wm. Miller, of Detroit; three brothers, Wilfred, Conrad and Robert Horlick, all of England.

The funeral was held from the W. B. Rowe Funeral Home, Chesterville, to Trinity United Church where service was conducted at 2 p.m., Tuesday, by the Rev E. B. Bugden. Interment followed in Cassburn Cemetery.

Pall bearers were J. H. Cross, J. F. Moriarty, Floyd Edgerton, Lyle Marcellus, John Sutherland and Dr D. R. Docksteader.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTEST HELD AT PUBLIC SCHOOL

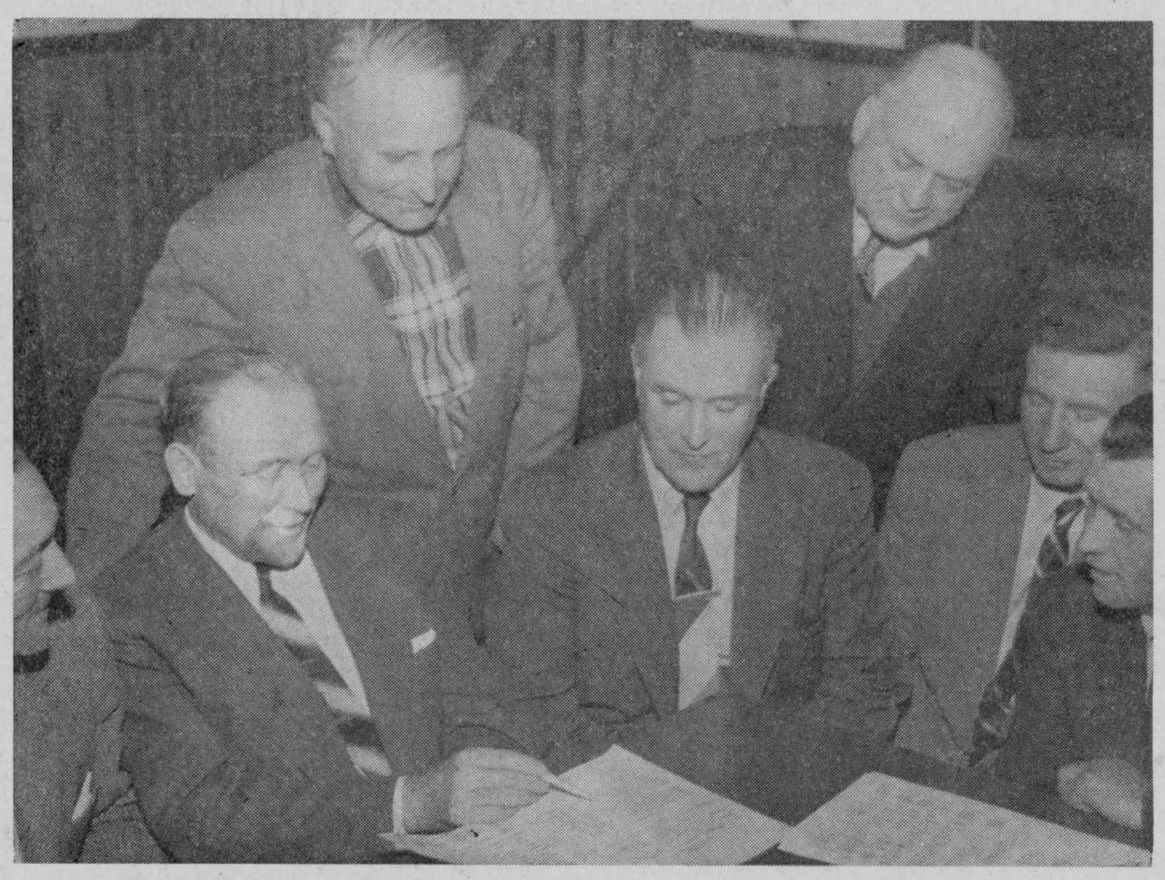

Chesterville Public School pupils recently engaged in annual speaking contests under the direction of the grade teachers and principal Hosea Droppo.

Almost the whole school population of over 100 pupils took part in the preliminary contests. Finalists were chosen from this group and 12 pupils met in Room "A" for the final judging. Mrs T. D. Ross and Mrs Bert Gillard made the decisions that saw four prizewinners.

The winner of the Rotary Shield, presented by Leon Marcellus, was Lorna Casselman on the topic: "Books." Second prize was won by Brian Docksteader with the subject: "Parliament Buildings." Janice Bawden spoke on "Crippled Children" and Beverley Butcher on "My Pet" and their efforts were of equal merit to win a combined thir prize.

Other finalists included Ronnie Doering, "Lord Baden-Powell;" Lynn Johnston, "Hair Styles of the Past;" Jennifer Cole, "My Atlantic Trip;" Stephen Gilbert, "My Florida Trip;" Dick Testerink, "Sir Wilfred Laurier;" Richard Fulton, "Prehistoric Animals;" Sandra Loughridge, "My Trip to the North Pole;" Carol Kilby, "Summer Holidays."

Prizes of silver dollars were contributed by Chesterville Public School board to all the prize winners.

THE HARD WAY HOME

Two Finch men narrowly escaped death Friday night here when their car became stranded on the CPR tracks at the village crossing.

Patrick Foley Senior and Patrick Junior headed for home shortly after eleven; they live below the Finch boundary on a farm there. They evidently became confused and turned off the highway onto the double track of the CPR at the crossing and proceeded bumpty-bump east on the ties. The car came to rest east of the station.

Leonard Shane, police chief of the village, touring about, noticed the object on the tracks and went to investigate, at the same time as a crew of men came from the factory to get the car going down the tracks.

The two Foleys were acquainted with their peril, the car was reversed to the station platform and pushed off to the north out of harm's way.

Shortly after the car was removed frof the tracks the westbound piggy-back freight whipped through, at full throttle, the fastest freight on the line.

A LITTLE LATE

We would ask our subscribers' pardon this week for being a little late and for having to hold several news budgets. An important member of our staff has this week suffered the loss of his mother; that tragedy has curtailed our working hours to some degree. We will include as many stories as possible in this issue, but any that are left out will appear in next week's issue. We ask your indulgence.

OPINIONS . . .
OURS AND OTHERS

Mrs Byron W. Campbell

The community was saddened to hear of the passing of Mrs. B. W. Campbell on Sunday night. While not unexpected, the actual event caused a wave of regret through the whole village and district.

Mrs. Campbell was a vigorous figure in all her public life. She was articulate and active and found her greatest satisfactions in helping expand and improve those interests which were dear to her. The Public Library was probably her greatest joy and her knowledge and help were always a source of great strength to the library board. The many columns ended with "S.C." that appeared in this newspaper over the busy years, the countless words written for the daily newspapers of the area, all pointed up her constant devotion to the printed word.

Chesterville Women's Institute long appreciated the help offered by Mrs. Campbell. She served in many capacities there, including secretary and for the past three years as president. Her efforts as secretary of the Dundas Music Festival were widely recognized; indeed nearly every civic project she was connected with gained from the association.

The Record joins the community in extending its sincere sympathy to the sorrowing family of the late Mrs. B. W. Campbell. Her passing is keenly felt.

A. Clair Casselman

Fate seemed to determine that A. Clair Casselman would not make the grade for the 11th term in the House of Commons. It was with regret that the public learned of his passing on the opening of the new parliament.

Colonel Casselman seemed to be indestructible in his seat as representative of Grenville-Dundas in the House of Commons. He had been there for over three and a half decades, and the measure of the confidence of the riding was expressed last June 10.—He went back into office with the greatest majority ever. The Grim Reaper proved the stronger in the end, and after a seige of sickness that became progressively more serious, Arza Clair Casselman passed on Sunday night in a Toronto Hospital.

We join the many thousands of this riding in paying our respects to the late Mr. Casselman; the measure of his stature is in the almost unmatched record of continous public service in the House of Commons.

Where Mr Kelly is Wrong

Says a Canadian Press Dispatch:

"Former Mines Minister Philip Kelly of Ontario said last week he first concealed his stock holdings in Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company because they were nobody's business and no one has any right to pry into my affairs'."

Mr. Kelly is wrong.

No one would have had a right to pry into Mr. Kelly's affairs had Mr. Kelly been a private citizen. But when Mr. Kelly concealed his holdings in Northern Ontario Natural Gas he was not a private citizen; he was a member of the Legislature and Minister in Ontario's Government.

That made a world of difference.

The public has a right to know, and legislatures and parliaments have a right to know whether members of the cabinets, provincial or federal, are directors of, or have transaction with, companies or other organizations which may have dealings with the governments of which they are members, governments which conceivably could influence the fortunes of such organizations or companies.

That is why members of our federal cabinet are not permitted to hold directorships in corporations. That is why Mr. Charles Wilson had to sell his shares in General Motors before he entered Mr. Eisenhowers,s cabinet.

There is no evidence that Mr. Philip Kelly is anything but an honest man. The trouble was that to be concealing his holding in Northern Ontario Natural Gas Mr. Kelly was placing himself in a position where some might come to suspect that was not an honest man.

Public men, if public life and government are to hold vital public trust, cannot be in that position; cannot afford to invite suspicion. They certainly cannot argue — as Mr. Kelly argues — that no one has a right to "pry" into their "private affairs."

Premier Frost and Attorney General Roberts are doing precisely that now. Mr Frost says that his "personal investigation" of possible investments of public officials in stock of Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company will be vigorously thorough, and Attorney General Roberts adds that he will "use all my powers under the Securities Act to get at the truth".

All power to both of them. For we think the public will be satisfied only with inquiry without fear or favour, letting chips fall where they may. — Ottawa Journal

CRIME WAVE

The hushed tones of a terrified woman ominously greeted Redwood City dispatcher Phyllis Wagner when she answered the county sheriff's telephone recently.

"Something terrible is going on out here," the shaky voice whispered. "There are two men talking, right outside my house, out here on Edgewood Road."

The unidentified voice described the conversation:

"I have a cord around his neck now . . . Here's a rope, that would be better. I don't know how we're going to get him down to the street. We'll just have to drag him."

The dispatcher suddenly interrupted the recital.

"Oh, don't worry," she said cheerfully. She told the caller that two deputies had been called out there to round up a stray jackass.

Letter to the Editor

Chesterville, Ontario,
May 12, 1958.

The Editor,
The Chesterville Record.
Dear Sir:

I hope that you can make space available in your "Record" so that our committee can publicly thank those who so generously support our yearly Easter Seal campaign.

The territory allotted to our club extends from Hallville and Mountain on the West, South Mountain, Elma and Gallingertown on the South, Newington and Moose Creek on the East, Crysler and Morewood on the North. In the district outlined above there is a surprisingly large number of children who, through no fault of their own, need the attention of our Society's nursing and welfare facilities. We are very pleased to state that doctors, dentists, opticians and supply stores treat us very generously with their accounts. We have never, as yet, run out of friends to supply the needs of our district. If we should, we are at liberty to get assistance from the Ontario Society. No crippled child brought to the attention of the Society has ever been refused assistance.

We do apologize for the inaccuracy of our mailing lists. We have these lists corrected each year (16 post offices). Even then there are many names omitted and some duplication, for which we are truly sorry.

This past campaign has been especially successful. Our receipts are up over $250 from our previous high and the number of our contributors is up over 100. We mailed some 3,750 appeal letters and to date have received over 800 replies. Contributions usually continue coming in until the middle of June.

We would like to thank the management of the Bank of Nova Scotia who made it possible to have all the out-of-town cheques paid at par.

Thanks, in advance, for printing this letter and also for your assistance in advertising our campaign.

Yours very truly,
Eric Casselman,
Chairman, Crippled Children's Committee,
Rotary Club of Chesterville.

FRENDLEE FARM CHATS

By Lillian Allison

"I had a chance to go to Moose Creek this afternoon," I told Harry. "I wish I could have gone. There's a lady down there I'd like to visit."

"Why didn't you go, then?" he asked.

"I had too many things to do at home," I replied.

"You couldn't leave the horses, eh!" he quoted right from the article we'd read.

Probably you read that story too. It is in a current magazine and well worth the time it takes to read it.

The author tells of an incident that was well known in the town where she grew up. It seems a farmer had a high-spirited, young team he was trying to teach to draw the mowing machine. His young son was with him. At last the team quieted sufficiently that the father let the lad drive them but only after several warnings to hold the reins tight at all times and keep the team well under control. The farmer accompanied him on the first round.

As the team swung around the bank of the creek at a good clip the old man was thrown off the water. He was coming up the second time just as the lad rounded the creek bank again. "Help! help!" called the drowning man.

"I can't leave the horses," was the youngster's reply.

The author of the story tells how that incident became a sort of legend in the town. When anyone pleaded too busy to help someone or to enjoy an outing the answer he usually received was, "So you can't leave the horses."

Now I usually am one who can leave the horses. Dorothy Dix is partly responsible for this. I remember reading her sound advice to a young bride a long time ago. If your husband wants you to drive into town with him or accompany him on a business trip, Miss Dix advised, go, no matter how busy you are. If you don't he'll probably find someone who will. So if there's an auction sale or a trip to the city for repairs I usually find that I can manage to leave the horses.

I've tried too to leave the horses if there is a meeting or something taking place that I ought to attend. And they always wait for me to come back.

Work or busy-ness is like that. It always waits for us to come back. And if we didn't go away from home until we were satisfied that all the work was done we wouldn't be able to leave the horses at all.

However, if we leave the horses too often we don't get muhh mowing done. We find that the season for mowing passes and we're left far behind. We must make a decision when we can and when we can't afford to take time away from the job.

The day I didn't go to Moose Creek it seemed I just couldn't leave the horses. The grass on the lawn had grown so long it was very difficult to cut. And every hour it was getting longer. I had tomato plants in the house waiting to be transplanted that were ten inches high and so slim and scrawny they could hardly hold up their heads. I had petunias that needed enlarged quarters too. The early cabbage seeds and cauliflowers weren't sowed and the strawberry and asparagus beds were sharing their space generously with huge, healthy dandelions.

Those were only a few of the outside jobs that needed doing that afternoon when I stayed home from Moose Creek. I managed to check off quite a num- of them too.

It is difficult to know when it is wise toleaveor not to leave the horses. Naturally if we walk out on the jobs we have to do and put them off until tomorrow too often we soon develop a defeatist attitude. We get so far behind we could never catch up. On the other hand we must get our noses off the grindstone sometimes or the world will get to be a pretty small, dull, monotonous place.

It isn't easy to decide when to and when not to leave the horses.

WATER REVENUE DOWN THE DRAIN

Some people heap kindness on each other. But, authorities in Walden, N.Y., said town clerk R. E. Baird has been pouring it out through the village water mains.

The 65-year-old official, it was said, has for years been cutting the homefolks' water bills — without their even knowing it. Auditors totted up the lost revenue at $ 151.

"I don't know why I did it," Baird was quoted as saying.

Village trustees said that not a cent went into Baird's pockets. Mayor Theron Coddington said the reductions in water fees ranged from a low of $10 to a high of $4.000 for the Walden public school system.

The water system is owned by the village, which each month bills customers on the basis of meter readings. In sending out bills, it was said, Baird just set his own figures—lower.

Baird has been village clerk and superintendent of public works since 1928. He resigned recently to take an accounting job with the Walden Telephone Company. A subsequent audit of city water books disclosed the shortage in receipts.

Village trustees said they file a claim with the bonding company which insures payment of all haven't decided whether to bring any charge against Baird.

BACON TO THE RESCUE

A four-pound piece of bacon saved the 100-ton Dutch ship Zuiderzee from sinking in the Eindhoven, Netherlands, harbour, the vessel's owners disclosed the other day.

The ship sprang a leak after a collision. A crew member rushed to the nearest butcher shop.

"Sell me a side of bacon. My ship is sinking."

The bacon was rushed back to the ship and the captain plugged the hole with it. The ship stayed afloat and next morning was taken to a repair yard.

The shipping company's representative said bacon is the ideal plug for a hole in the hull because it clamps tight through suction.

Mill Rate Cut For Ratepayers Finch Township Schools

The regular meeting of the of Trustees of the Finch Township School Area was held in Berwick, with all members present. S. A. Begg, of Crysler presided as chairman. The budget for 1958 was presented and adopted. The mill rate will be 9.0 mills, a drop of 1.9 mills from last year. This was due chiefly to increased government grants. In addition, the ratepayers of the area will be levied the first year's payment of a 15-year debenture caused by the erection of a new three-room school in the village of Finch. The new school will be ready for occupancy for the fall term.

The board decided to allow a school supply company to make a survey of the schools for the supplies required for the 1958 - 59 term.

Accounts totalling $628.44 were passed and paid.

The next meeting will be held on May 19th.

"Want a better way to pay bills? The BNS can help you."

THE EASY WAY to pay bills is by cheque. And the best way to pay personal bills by cheque is with a Bank of Nova Scotia Personal Chequing Account.

Shirley Markham likes this account because it saves her money—the only service charge is ten cents per cheque—because she receives a quarterly statement, and because her cancelled cheques are available as receipts any time she needs them.

To open your convenient BNS Personal Chequing Account, just write, phone or visit your nearest BNS branch. And for friendly, experienced advice on any money matters, see your BNS manager.

Are you really ready for the trip?

You're all set for the first big outing of the summer. Gas in the tank. Water in the radiator. Air in the tires. But are you really ready? Remember a defect in your car or its equipment can cause a lot of trouble. It can spoil your trip—or even lead to a major disaster on the road. Make sure. Check your brakes and steering system. Check your tires for wear and damage. Check your lights, front and back. Check the exhaust system for dangerous leaks. And do it now. Because your whole summer of motoring pleasure depends on safety. You can't be really sure of your safety if you aren't really sure of your car. Your Ontario Department of Transport urges you to check your car—check your driving—and check accidents.

Thomas T. Shaw Dies in Hospital In 95th Year

One of the town's oldest residents, Thomas T. Shaw, aged 94, died at the Brockville General Hospital about four o'clock Thursday morning, May 8, having been a patient there since April 20. His home was at 50 Hubbell street, the family having moved there from their Kingston road residence, at the western outskirts of town, where Mr. Shaw had operated a combination restaurant and confectionary store for many years.

Born at Port Perry, Ont., September 29, 1864, he was a son of the late Joseph and Jane Shaw. A former newspaperman, he leaned the printer's trade as a young man on the Standard, published in Port Perry, where he remained for five years. There after he was with the Oshawa Reformer, the Smiths Falls News and seven years with the old Toronto World before he purchased the Chesterville Record. From that publication he went to ownership of the Athen's Reporter, leaving it to take over the Renfrew Mercury, where his newspaper career ended.

Mr. Shaw came to Brockville to become a partner in the operation of the Coleman Baking Powder Company which had its factory on Perth street. For an extended period thereafter he was proprietor of a mercantile establishment on No. 2 highway at "Bay View", which commanded a large business, especially during the summer months. He retired from this business in 1945.

He was married on Januuary 18, 1898, to the former Luella Mae Graham, of Chesterville, who predeceased him along with a son, J. Arthur G. Shaw, who died suddenly on September 23, 1957, at the age of 54. He leaves to mourn his passing two daughters, Mrs. Margaret (Peggy) Mowre and Miss Dorothy Shaw, of Brockville, and a brother, A. M. Shaw, of Calgary, Alta.

A popular figure, Mr. Shaw had taken a keen interest in the many young people who had visited his establishment over the years. He was extremely proud of his garden. He had many interesting stories to relate on his connection with various Ontario newspapers as well as of his devotion to harness racing which culminated in his sponsorship, with the late Tommy Ellis, of a memorable meet at Chesterville that brought thousands of spectators from all quarters of the compass. At one time he owned a pair of Dalmation "coach" dogs, which were almost landmark with him in front of his west end home. Up until recent years he had been a familiar figure in his beaver coat, walking between town and his place of residence.

He was a member of Wall Street United and of the Masonic Lodge at Chesterville.

The remains rested at the C. W. Paul Funeral Home, 33 James street, on Friday until Saturday afternoon when the funeral service was held a 2 o'clock, with the burial following in the family plot in Maple Ridge cemetary, Chesterville.

PINEAPPLE

PINEAPPLE, either fresh or canned, has many uses. Now that we can get the fresh ones, perhaps it is best to concentrate on ways to use them and leave the canned pineapples until winter time when fresh fruit is scarce.

The simplest way to serve fresh pineapple is to slice or dice it, let it stand a few hours with sugar on it before serving. If you are, perchance, trying to cut down on calories, most pineapples are sweet enough to serve without sugar. On the other hand, if you do not have to think of calories, the plain diced pineapple is dressed up by the addition of a little whipped cream.

Fresh pineapple mixed with strawberries or raspberries is very delicious. It is a good method for making the first expensive strawberries go farther.

Pineapple Pie

2 cups fresh shredded pineapple
2 tbsps. cornstarch
½ tsp. salt
½ cup sugar
Juice of ½ lemon
2 eggs

Scald pineapple. Mix cornstarch, salt and sugar together and stir into the pineapple. Stir and cook ten minutes. Add lemon juice and beaten yolks slowly. Cover and let cook five minutes. When cool, turn into a baked pie shell and top with meringue made from egg whites. Brown in slow oven.

Pineapple Upside-Down Cake

¼ cup butter
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
¾ cup milk
2 cups flour
3½ tsps. baking powder
1 tsp. vanilla
¼ tsp. salt

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually and blend well; add egg, then flour, sifted with baking powder and salt, and milk. Combine well and lastly, add the vanilla.

Grease a cake tin and cover the bottom with quarter slices of pineapple in rows. Over the pineapple sprinkle a thin layer of brown sugar and butter mixed and on this pour the cake batter. Bake in a moderate oven.

This cake may be served with whipped cream and used as a dessert.

How to Choose a Good Pineapple

There are two points to remember in choosing a pineapple. First you want a pineapple that is ripe and secondly you want one that is juicy. If the centre leaves of the pineapple pull out easily, the fruit is ripe. To choose a juicy fruit look for a square-shouldered one that has a number of little sprouts around the top.

Preserved Pineapple

¾ lb. sugar to each pound of prepared fruit

Pare the pineapple, and with a sharp knife remove the eyes. Tear the fruit from the core in shreds, using a silver fork. Weigh the pulp placed in a preserving kettle and partly cover with water. Cover tightly. Cook until pineapple is tender. Drain the pineapple from the water and add the sugar to the water. Cook together until the syrup is thick enough to coat a spoon. Return fruit to syrup and cook quickly until clear. Pour in hot sterilized jars and seal.

A very useful thing to know about fresh pineapple is that you must never use it with gelatine. Fresh pineapple contains an enzyme which acts on the gelatine to prevent it from setting. If you do use fresh pineapple in a jelly you will be deceived, because it will set perfectly at first but as soon as it gets nice and hard it then begins to get watery and by the time you are ready to serve your jelly it will be a very dejected jelly—in fact it may not be jelly at all, but a liquid.

* * * *

Pineapples are rich in the blood-building minerals such as iron, copper and manganese.

* * * *

Pineapples are a good source of vitamins and when included in the regular diet may help to build up the body's resistance to infections, promote growth, maintain normal teeth and bones and also act as a preventive of various diseases due to vitamin deficiency.

* * * *

Pineapples are low in calories and if served without sugar provide an excellent fruit to use in the low calorie diet of the individual who wishes to lose weight.

ABUNDANT LIFE

by ORAL ROBERTS

REPORTER SAVES WOULD-BE SUICIDE ON CHRISTMAS EVE

It was Christmas Eve. A police reporter on the Seattle Post Intelligence of Seattle, Washington, was sitting at his typewriter when suddenly an overwhelming impulse came to him. Not knowing why, he hurried to Pioneer Square, three blocks away, just in time to knock a loaded pistol away from the head of a man about to shoot himself.

A cold rain was falling, and the gun slid across the glistening grass. Everything seemed so unreal that the reporter felt that he was enacting a strange drama. Across the street at a glance he noticed the time shown by a clock in the window of a restaurant. It was five minutes past 7:00.

Just a few minutes before, he had been sitting at his typewriter. Now here he was in Seattle's "Skid Row" with a man he had just saved from death.

Where did the impulse come from that sent him out into the dreary night? What had sent him directly to the spot where a human being was about to hurl himself into eternity?

The man dropped on his knees and began fumbling in the wet grass for the gun. The reporter pushed him with his foot and he sprawled on his face. Then the reporter picked up the gun. "Let's go home," he said. "Where do you live? What's your name? Is it Jack?"

"How did you know my name?" asked the man who was sobbing..

"I don't know," said the reporter, "but let's go somewhere where we can talk."

The poor fellow shook his head. "I don't want to talk," he said. But then words came pouring out of him. "I can't go on. I can't face them. My children will have no Christmas presents, no food, no money. I am sick and I'm tired. I want to get away from it."

Somehow the reporter was able to persuade Jack B. to let him take him home. When they walked into the house, two little girls about three and five years old rushed to their father. His wife ran to him and put her arms around him. She looked at the reporter and said, "I've been worried sick. Tonight when he didn't come home by 7:00 o'clock, I prayed and asked God to please take care of him and bring him safely home. And here he is."

Suddenly the reporter realized why the impulse had come to him at exactly 7:00 o'clock. Prayer had spanned the distance and God had used him as an answer to her prayer. (This story was related by Alexander Lake in "Your Prayers Are Always Answered.")

It is my firm conviction that prayer is the greatest privilege God ever gave a human being. I love to pray. It is through prayer that I can make direct contact with God. By calling upon a Power higher than myself, I am relieved of excess burdens. Sometimes my most effectual prayer is not expressed in words but in the deep longings of my heart. I believe that God is bigger than the need and wiser than the problem. He is too good to do wrong, too wise to make a mistake.

When I pray I believe that God is, that He is good, that He is near. There is no distance in prayer.

Mrs D. J. Dillabough was appointed card secretary and will be assisted by Mrs D. A. Dillabough. A resolution was read dealing with the relocation of the Department of Agriculture office.

The remainder of the meeting was turned over to the committee in charge, Mrs Burrill Beckstead, Mrs Melvin Dillabough and Mrs Harold McIntosh, with Mrs Beckstead acting as chairman.

A duet, "Grandmother and Me," was sung by Mrs Bernice Barkley and Mrs Wm. Dillabough, with Mrs Wilfred Carruthers acting as pianist. Mrs Hugh McMillan rendered a violin solo, assisted at the piano by Mrs Bernice Barkley; a solo, "God's Green Acres," was presented by Mrs Lorne Hogaboam, of Williamsburg, accompanied by Mrs Maefred Merkley.

Mrs Melvin Dillabough read "A Definition of a Grandmother" and pinned a rose on Mrs M. E. McPherson for being the oldest grandmother present. Mrs McPherson received another gift for having the oldest grandchild. Mrs Hugh McMillan received a gift for having the youngest grandchild.

Jack Daye, Brinston, showed very interesting coloured pictures he had taken of Western Canada, including Jasper, Edmonton, Lake Louise, Banff, Grand Coulee Dam, Yellowstone Park and many other places.

Mrs Harold McIntosh moved a vote of thanks to Mr Daye and all the others who helped in any way for the evening's program.
