Ready For Christmas?

Taking a look around the countryside, it appears that very few people are conscious of how close Christmas really is. In other years it was not uncommon to see strings of lights shining at night around the first week in December. This year, perhaps because of the absence of snow, there has yet been little interest shown in yule preparations.

And time is flying by. Have you stopped to realize just how few shopping days there are left before stores close Christmas eve at 6?

A quick look into village and district store windows shows a little that the happy holiday is coming, but even here it is hard to find too much enthusiasm displayed.

Some people may be thinking that money is tight and that spending will be a little more reserved. Thinking back a few years, the same thought prevailed but at the last moment, Christmas spending thrashed about wildly and more money than ever was spent.

This may be one of those years when Christmas spending comes late; if that becomes the case, then more than likely a lot of the buying will be on credit.

There appears to be an excellent selection of gifts in all the stores and we might all, be well advised to start this weekend with some of our purchasing, while selection is at its best.

Naturally, this editorial is boosting the merchants of the area, but we all stand to benefit.

Let's have a little snow and a gradual building up of that spirit which brings out the best in us every Christmas.

A Sign of Confidence

Matilda Township nomination meetings have always been noted for spirited, active interest from its ratepayers and this year's quiet session, while somewhat anticipated, came almost as a surprise. Many had expected to find, at the last moment, that things were as they have always been.

Commenting on the small attendance, Reeve Mahlon Zeron pointed out that such a small number either meant disinterest by the ratepayers of a municipality or that they were, on the whole, satisfied with what was being done by the elected representatives.

Having had a closer contact in the past two years with members of the school board and council, The Post feels that it was not disinterest that prompted residents to stay away from the nomination meeting.

When we take into consideration the strides ahead that have been made in the township in the past few years, it is quite evident that the ratepayers realize that council and school board members are doing the best job possible. This is all that can be asked from anyone. Public office is not an easy position to fill and it is extremely difficult to please and appease everyone.

The school system in the township has been greatly enhanced by the erection of new schools and the additions that are now underway in the township. Higher salaries are being paid, true, but from these higher salaries, the school board can expect excellent results from its teachers. A settlement was reached last year with the teachers' federation and a "scale" formulated which will be the basis of settlements in future negotiations. It was a step forward.

Council has purchased a great deal of new equipment in the past couple of years, without any appreciable increase in the mill rate. This equipment will assist in doing a better job on roads in the township, which is one of the major expenditures faced by ratepayers on their tax bill.

None of the members of Council, including reeve, deputy and councillors, appears to be shirking his duty. The same applies to the school board.

This, more than anything else, brought about the quiet nomination meeting last Friday afternoon.

It is our hope, and that of all area residents, that Matilda Township's elected representatives continue their forward-thinking approach to basic problems and we wish them every success in their forthcoming two-year term of office.

MARRIAGE: A TOUGH TASK
What is the most difficult thing in the world to do? Climb a mountain? Swim Lake Ontario? Get through to a teenager? Face death with poise? Be a real Christian?

Nope. All of these can be done, if you have trained long enough and hard enough to prepare your self for them; or if you have certain qualities of character.

Hilary climbed Everest. Marilyn Bell swam the lake. They began by climbing small mountains, swimming little lakes.

There are a few recorded cases of adults with great patience and insight getting through to teenagers. But they probably practised on little teenagers, the 13-year-olds, not yet battle-hardened.

One can face death with poise, if one has learned to face with poise all the little deaths that make up life.

One can even become a good Christian by starting on the little things like generosity and forgiveness and working up to the big hurdles, like humility and love.

The most difficult thing in the world today? To make and maintain a good marriage.

There's no place to train, for one thing. How do you get in shape? You can't start having little marriages in preparation for the big one. At least not around these parts you can't. All though some people try. I know one bird who says he has been happily married three times. All his wives are alive, not to mention kicking.

And it doesn't matter how many fine qualities you have. A veritable saint, of either sex, can have a rotten marriage; and a veritable bum, of either sex, can have a good marriage.

You might be better to read a good book about it, but after 20 years of advancing and retreating in that blood-soaked no-man's-land between husband and wife, I think I have a right to be heard.

There's nothing wrong with marriage itself. It's a venerable institution. And some way will interject here, of course, "So is Kingston Penitentiary." But let's not be cynical.

No it's our modern conception of marriage that's all wrong. We laugh at the Victorians. Prudish stuffed shirts. But they were on the right track. For them, marriage was a serious business, evolved to meet specific needs in their society. For them, romantic love was usually tragic. There are no illusions about marriage in Hardy, Thackeray, Galsworthy.

We are the ones with the illusions. And delusions. For us, marriage is like that cotton candy you buy on the midway. It's whipped together out of hot air and sugar. It's pink and fluffy and you can hardly wait to get your teeth into it. And the first mouthful is sweet, delicious.

But pretty soon it's gone, and you're a little sick, and it's all over your face and in your hair, and you're left with a little roll of gooey paper. That's when marriage really begins.

Well, Mr. Diefenbaker has a favorite saying: "When the going gets tough, the tough get going". And that's what marriage is like. Those who just think they're tough get going and keep right on going. But we really tough ones dig in our heels and stay with it.

And stay and stay and stay. According to all the propaganda from movies, television, and the Ladies Home Journal, marriage is one big, wonderful, masochistic game of giving and taking, of sharing, of total togetherness.

Oh, those things are there. You give and your wife takes. She's willing to share everything you have, from your bank account to your booze. Not necessarily equal shares, but shares. And togetherness? You'll get total togetherness until you look in the mirror some day, when you're 65, and realize with a shock that you look more like your wife than she does.

But according to us old sweat marriage is mostly a matter of staying power. Stay out of jail, stay on the job, stay away from other women, stay on the wagon, stay healthy until your pension begins, and stay out of her way when the old lady gets steamed up.

Which I plan to do when mine reads this column.

BIBLE

Today

Tongan is the name of the language spoken in Tonga Island a part of the Friendly group in the Pacific Ocean. The Bible in Tongan was originally prepared for the Wesleyan Church in Tonga by the Rev. Dr. James E. Muolton. The New Testament was published in 1880 and the complete Bible in 1907.

It was translated from the Greek and Hebrew Texts underlying the English Revised Version. It has remained the Bible beloved by most Tongan readers. Queen Salote used to read from it every morning.

In view of its continued popularity amongst the churches in Tonga it has recently been republished with some spelling corrections and other small adjustments to bring it up-to-date. It will be sold under cost price by arrangement with the publishers, The British and Foreign Bible Society, to allow all who desire to have it within their means.

Entitled "Ko e tohitapu Katoa" it cost the Society the equivalent of $2.15 but is being sold for only $1.50.

The work of preparing this edition has been done by the Rev. Stone Amanaki Havea, one of the leading ministers of the Free Wesleyan Church, of which the Tongan royal family are members.

Two books of interest that were included in recent shipments received at the library are "Two Under The Sun" and "The Soviet World".

"Two Under The Sun" by Jon and Rumer Godden tells of their 5 year stay in India from 1914 until 1919. They were 7 and 6 years respectively and were returning to India after a year's visit in London. Their father worked as a steamship agent in a small town on the banks of a river feeding into the great Brahmaputra River but the story is essentially a record of their memory of the sights and places seen and the various peoples they came in contact with during this 5 year period. Area readers will be familiar with Rumer Godden especially, several of her novels are on hand at the library.

"The Soviet World" by Luca Pietromarchi concerns itself with the economic and political power of the Soviet Union. The book is divided into two parts; the first describes the elements of Mrs. J. Guy, Edwards, N.Y., is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor is spending a few days in Montreal this week.

Some from here attended the 21 Club of Canada Starch Co., Banquet in Cardinal on Thursday evening, also the 100th Anniversary Banquet of Dufferin LOL 1227, Shanly, held in the North Edwardsburg Public School Auditorium, Saturday evening.

The Community extends their sympathy to Mrs. Herbert Leizert in the loss of her mother, Mrs. James Fawcett, Hanesville. Mrs. Morris Hendriks has returned home from Holland after spending three weeks with her father and other relatives.

strength in the system; the second the elements of weakness. The author is the former Italian Ambassador to Moscow and has had the opportunity of travelling extensively in the Soviet Union and has talked to Soviet citizens from the Baltic States to Eastern Siberia. He speaks and reads Russian and his judgements on the Soviet scene are shrewd, penetrating and sound.

A book which has been in the library several months that is worth mentioning is "My Shadow Ran Fast" by Bill Sands. It tells of his arrival at San Quentin as a young man, convicted on an armed robbery charge. His experiences in prison, the assistance of Warden Clinton Duffy in his rehabilitation and his experiences after his release are all told here. His craving for excitement and adventure after his release from jail led him into many different jobs, but he was never to break the law again. His many activities since have included managing five airports and a hotel for Pan American-Grace Airways in Bolivia, professional prize-fighting and leading an expedition into unexplored jungle in Venezuela. His success in these endeavours however did not give him any satisfaction and only when he started to help other ex-convicts and juvenile delinquents — did he find any sense of accomplishment.

Residents of Matilda Township and the Village of Iroquois are reminded they are entitled to the free use of the library facilities. Open hours are Tuesdays and Fridays from 2:00 to 4:30 p.m. and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. when Mrs. J. Brouse is in charge and from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. on Saturdays when Miss C. McGahey is on hand to assist you. Remember, if there are any titles you would like to see in the library, leave your suggestion with the librarian in charge, mentioning title, author and publisher. All suggestions are given careful consideration by the board and are acted upon in the majority of cases.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO CUSTOMERS OF THE B OF M

How we at Canada's First Bank put your savings dollars to work in 1966

Neil McColl, Manager
Iroquois Branch
Bank of Montreal

This is a personal report to the customers of my branch describing the way the Bank of Montreal employed the money you entrusted to us in 1966.

At the Bank's year-end on October 31st, 1966, the personal savings of people like yourself amounted to almost half of the total deposits of $4,995,368,152. This figure is another record high for Canada's First Bank in its 149 years of operation. Of that total, $3,279,997,060 was on loan to people in all walks of life.

What's more, $906,160,879 was invested in high-grade Government bonds and public securities which have a ready market, and $139,545,596 in other securities - mainly short-term credits to industry.

Yes, they were busy dollars those Savings dollars of yours... They were put right to work to help people improve their standard of living - by financing the purchase of cars, household goods of all kinds and home improvements - and to assist businesses large and small to expand, thus employing more people.

Your money went into new industries that created new jobs... helped farmers improve both their farms and their way of living... constructed new schools and helped students get a better education... aided fishermen to increase their catches and their incomes... built new roads and highways... supported community projects, large and small, of many kinds.

Your savings dollars worked hard in 1966 - hardest of all for you. And because they are steadily accumulating at interest they are building a sound investment for you and your family towards a better future.

Speaking for Canada's First Bank, may I say "Thank you" for your confidence in the B of M and for the support you're giving us as we work together to build a more prosperous Canada.

Rabies Shots For Dogs, Cats

The rabies clinic held in Iroquois on Monday by the Department of Agriculture brought to light the fact that the cat and dog population in this area is considerable.

At closing time there had been 106 dogs and 35 cats, ranging from scrawny looking to fat and sleek animals of almost every variety. Most popular styles were hard to name by species.

The only comment heard was by the dog tax collector who thought he might have been able to sell quite a few dog tags had he had them with him.

Matilda 4-H Club

The seventh meeting of the Matilda 4-H Milk Shakers was held at Brinston on November 12th, with nineteen members present. Darlene Montgomery was in the president's chair. Meeting opened with 4-H pledge, followed by roll call, which was to name a milk soup and milk dessert made during the past week. Collection was $1.85.

Donna Coleman read the minutes of the last meeting. Lana Adams reported she had reserved the South Mountain bowling alley for the use of our members next Saturday. We will meet for a special meeting at eleven-thirty to bring in our club books to the leaders, and then proceed to South Mountain for lunch and bowling.

Several of the girls had a first rehearsal of the skit we expect to present at Achievement Day and they are to work on it further this coming week.

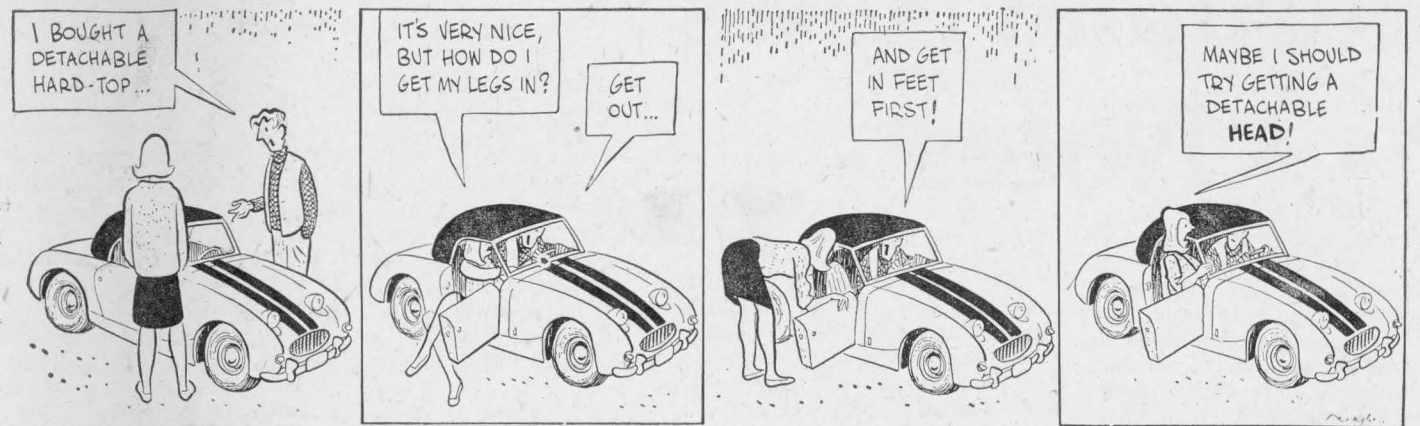

Mary McInnis, Susanna Ewing and Jean Ewing made pancakes and we enjoyed them with the syrup. Christina Mellan had brought.

Two quizzes similar to those we can expect at Achievement Day were given us by the leaders.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

trucking distance and of the money spent on the hall at Brinston, which he said, was a credit to the ratepayers of the township. Total cost had been $16,243. Mr. Irvine gave a resume of the ARDA program, reminding ratepayers of the third increase in grants for municipal drainage. He noted the good share of the township with ditching and went on to explain that efforts were being made to institute a water control program on the South Branch of the Nation. "It has got to be a 100 per cent government project" he said.

Deputy Reeve John Thompson spoke of the facilities at Winchester District Hospital and of the $75,000 from the Counties to the hospital. The new system of assessing, under a County Commissioner, is not expected to have much impact on Matilda for several years, Mr. Thompson said in explaining the new set-up.

Reeve Mahlon Zeron started his remarks by thanking ratepayers for more than 30 years' support, thanking the school board for its excellent cooperation and as well, the township employees Dorothy Locke, Caryl

Everyone welcome.

Cooper, John McCaslin and the road crew. Mr. Zeron gave a resume of the road work program of the past couple of years and future plans for improving the road system in the township. He pointed out that old No. 2 Highway, now in the hands of the township, would revert to the Counties but that the Counties would be turning back to Matilda the No. 5 road and the Dixon's road. Mr. Zeron explained the ultimate advantage of the switching of roads including the Hainsville to South Mountain road which it is hoped to be able to call tenders by next fall and in a few years the boundary road between the Springs and County Road No. 2.

Speaking on relief in the township, of the over $5,000 spent, it has cost the township ratepayer little, with 80 per cent coming back in grants.

SUGGESTIONS FROM CROWD

Several ratepayers had constructive suggestions to make, with Bruce Barkley suggesting a short summary of school board activities to appear in the press. Rev. James Stewart asked for consideration of a religious program in the schools with different denominations taking part. One query asked that a report from the high school representatives should be made at nomination meeting and the board elected to office.

I.H.S. NEWS

Once again it is time to treat you, our readers, with another sampling of the "WORD" from I.H.S.

The news for this column is rather short owing to the fact that nothing of any great importance happened last week. So, instead we will take this opportunity to advertize future events of our school.

One of the more important of these events is the upcoming Cheerleading Tournament to be held on Dec. 3rd at Cornwall. We know our girls will be there giving it their best and we wish them all the luck in the world.

Next on the agenda is a Victory Dance sponsored by the Athletic Society. This is to honour the girls volleyball team who, as you know, won their tournament at Osgoode. This dance will be in the form of a record hop and will be held this Friday at the school. Good attendance is expected.

On this note, we conclude another column.

O.P.P. Report

An officer from Morrisburg Detachment last week visited Iroquois High School where a film was shown to members of the Driver Education Group. This film named "Mechanized Death" shows actual fatal accident scenes in colour along with sound. The film is very impressive and leaves a person with a lot to think about. Some may think it cruel or morbid to display a film of this nature, but it has been said that publicizing the total of motoring accidents and injuries never gets to first base in jarring the motorist into a realization of the appalling risks of motoring. He does not translate dry statistics into a reality of blood and agony. Figures exclude the pain and horror of savage mutilation which means they leave out the point that needs to be brought closer to home. This film does not leave out the point. This film or others pertaining to traffic may be shown to any organized group by request through Morrisburg Detachment office.

On the highways during the past week officers patrolled 8536 miles in a total of 662 duty hours. This resulted in 40 traffic charges being laid and 16 warnings issued. Eight property damage and three personal injury accidents were reported and investigated. In these four persons were injured, one requiring treatment in hospital.

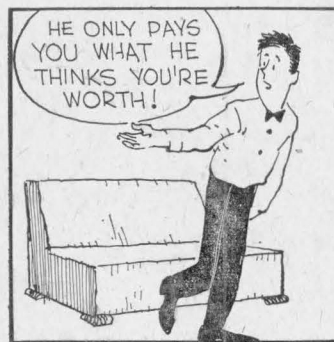

A passenger in a truck driving on 401 highway was injured when a stray bullet from careless hunter's rifle passed through the windshield. This person had fragments of the bullet removed from his face.

Officers answered one call to a disturbance which was the result of a prank. Fifteen other occurrences were also investigated. Assistance was given to a local

MRS. JEAN WADDS, M.P. REPORT

An Interesting Comparison

Parliament saw a very interesting comparison this week between young Richard Cashin from Newfoundland and silver-haired Colin Cameron from British Columbia.

First of all they come from the extreme East and the extreme West of our vast country.

Mr. Cashin is Parliamentary Secretary to the Minister of Fisheries. He has been in the House of Commons since 1963.

He did not win any extra friends by announcing in his maiden speech that he is the grandson of Sir Richard Cashin.

This, accompanied by a rather superior manner of speaking tagged him with many as a rather pompous young man.

He was speaking Tuesday of this week on the "record of accomplishments of this Government during the last three and a half years. He naturally spoke much of his own province:

"Newfoundland still has many problems in this area, perhaps more than any other part of Canada. But let me point to the record of achievement of the past 17 years, and to the fact that a Liberal Government has remained in office in that province for 17 years. This Government has not lost its enthusiasm or its idealism. It has been able, with the co-operation of the Federal Government, to introduce programs and policies which are aimed at the very problem which the Leader of the New Democratic Party said has been completely ignored."

He was followed immediately by Mr. Colin Cameron from Nanaimo-Cowichan and the Islands. Mr. Cameron has a big twinkle in his eye and can ridicule with good humour as well as anyone in the House of Commons.

He said, referring to Mr. Cashin:

"I have considerable affection for this young man. I have always had a soft spot for ebullient and boisterous children, having raised four children myself who now, with the march of time, have become middle aged parents rearing another generation of ebullient and boisterous children. They never miss the opportunity to teach their grandfather to such eggs. I have learned to combat them effectively. I have thought to myself that, after all, even the most ebullient and boisterous children grow up. But since last night and this afternoon, I have entertained some doubts whether this is always so".

Well said, Mr. Cameron.

CROSSBREEDING. This may be the answer sought by Canadian agricultural researchers in combating the problem of low egg production by geese. A female is on the left and two males are on the right. They are the result of breeding Pilgrim geese to a Chinese-Pilgrim cross. A jump of 27 per cent. in egg output was achieved in this crossbreeding experiment. — TNS Photo on the amount of moisture available in the soil, however the increased survival far outweighs this disadvantage. This treatment requires about 80 lbs. of aldrin per 1000 trees. The cost of planting is not increased very greatly.

SAWFLY MENACE
European sawfly larvae can damage Christmas tree plantations in Ontario if not controlled. Lands and Forests entomologists warn.

FARMERS

Why not reforest idle acres? You can order forest trees from the Department of Lands and Forests, Parliament Buildings, Toronto. Write for details.

Record Deposits

Record deposits of almost $5 billion and loans of more than $3 billion are reported by the Bank of Montreal in its 149th annual statement, released here.

Commenting on the bank's annual figures for the year ended October 31, he said new highs had been established right across the board — in assets, loans, deposits and earnings.

Deposits of $4,995 million included personal savings of $2,307 million. Total loans climbed to $3,280 million, with an increase of $172 million in the key category "commercial and other loans".

Assets reached $5,423 million, an increase of almost $500 million from 1965.

EARNINGS PEAK

Record high earnings are recorded for operations of the bank's more than 1,000 offices at home and abroad, the manager continued.

The net earnings figure of $19,905,599 is an increase of $1,175,246 from 1965. Total provision for income taxes is $20,988,731.

The bank's almost 26,000 share holders are receiving dividends of $2.37½ per share, or a total of $14,428,125. This is 10 cents a share more than in 1965.

He said that the B of M's strong liquid position is reflected in the "quick" assets figure of $2,091 million.

Lands and Forests

LIMERICK LANDSCAPE
Although deer hunting weather was poor, indications are that the harvest was almost equal to last year. Grouse populations were spotty, but in general the hunting was good. As well, rabbit hunting and even wolf hunting have made this aspect of recreation an active part of the use of the forest.

Forest vandalism has been slight this year. We would like to assume from this that people really appreciate having this public forest to use.

The counties council purchasing committee has been busy buying additional abandoned land to increase the size of the forest. This means there will be another large tree planting project next spring of about a half a million trees.

While mentioning tree planting, it was determined last spring that one positive way to treat for white grubs, is to place aldrin in the planting hole with the tree roots. Other types of broadcast and surface treatments have not proven satisfactory here. Treatment was simply to place about 1 ounce of 5 per cent granular aldrin in the planting hole before the tree is planted.

Safety cannot be overstressed in this operation. Always comply with the aldrin manufacturers safety recommendations. There may be slight physical damage to trees by the aldrin, depending
