Rotary Club Hears Paul Ouellette Bell Telephone Rep.

Underneath the streets and roads of cities and towns in Ontario and Quebec, buried telephone cables are carrying 8,500,000 telephone conversations every day, Paul Ouellette, of Montreal, Bell Telephone customer relations representative, told the Chesterville Rotary Club at a meeting in the Community Hall last Monday, November 22.

More than 3,500,000 miles of Bell Telephone wire, out of a total of 5,000,000 miles, is now contained in underground cable, is now contained in underground cable, Mr. Ouellette told club members in the course of his lecture-demonstration. Under one busy intersection in one of Canada's largest cities there are 85 telephone cables containing 190,000 wires. As two wires are needed for a conversation, this means that nearly 95,000 conversations can pass back and forth under the city traffic at this corner.

To demonstrate the complexities of cable work, Mr. Ouellette showed members a cable about the thickness of a man's wrist, which contains 3,636 wires, each insulated from the others by a thin paper wrapping. To identify these wires when splicing two cable sections together would be a colossal task with the methods of earlier days, when wires were identified by the colors of their wrapping. Today an electronic oscillator is used. The speaker showed this equipment in action, and proved its effectiveness by picking out a specific wire from its 3,635 neighbors in a matter of seconds.

Telephone cables, both aerial and underground, have their enemies, the speakr said. Inspection of damaged cable has often revealed rifle bullets or shotgun pellets embedded in the cable sheath, and even nails, tacks and other metal fragments. Until Bell engineers began coating cables with an unappetizing mixture of asphalt and sand, squirrels were one of the chief enemies of the company's cables. Mr. Ouellette showed members a section of cable that been gnawed by one of the little animals, which apparently found the cables a good place to sharpen its teeth.

Many ingenious methods of finding troubles in cable have been developed, Mr. Ouellette went on. The test centre in each exchange is the key point of detecting cable troubles. The test man, seated at his switchboard, diagnoses these troubles in a way that strikes the unitiated as little short of psychic. He can tell, by plugging in to a subscriber's line, whether that particular telephone is working properly, whether there is a short circuit on the line, and ifs so, the approximate location of the "short".

Many underground cables are now filled with nitrogen gas under pressure to aid in detecting troubles before they can cause interruptions of service. When the cable sheath is punctured, escaping gas prevents moisture seeping into the cable. When the gas pressure drops to a certain point, an alarm rings automatically in the exchange. A cable splicer then searches for the leak, using an exploring coil, sometimes called a "bug." The speaker showed how this bug is moved slowly over the cable until it

Paul Ouellette of Montreal, Bell Telephone customer relations representative, shows members of the Chesterville Rotary Club how breaks are detected in underground telephone cable. Mr. Ouellette spoke at Monday's (November 22) meeting at the Community Hall. The cable is gasfilled, and when a puncture occurs, falling gas pressure rings an alarm at the exchange, giving approximate location of the break. The cable is dug up at this point, covered with a soap solution and the resulting bubbles show where the leak is. Mr. Ouellette is here holding a cable section in a bath of soap solution, illustrating visually this method of catching troubles in the cable before they can cause interruption of service.

Miss Moad Yelled Chimney Blaze Quelled

The Chesterville Fire Brigade was called out at 2.30 this morning, Thursday, to combat a chimney fire that for a time threatened to be serious at the house of Miss Helen Moad on Victoria Street.

Miss Moad who is a light sleeper was awakened early this morning by the smell of smoke in the house and upon entering the kitchen saw a small blaze eating its way through the wall at the chimney near the ceiling. The Fire Department was quickly notified and in a short time the fire was under control by means of hand extinguishers. The mortar of the chimney appeared to have dropped out in the course of time and allowed a wandering spark to lodge in the woodwork.

Boys' Rally, Kemptville, Well Attended

On Saturday, November 20, the annual boys' rally for Dundas and Grenville was held in the United Church, Kemptville. This Boys' Rally was sponsored by the Dundas-Grenville Boys' Work Board, for boys of all denominations.

There were 73 boys registered, and 14 leaders and ministers from 24 different churches in the two counties. All shared in the interesting programme of the day. The boys especially enjoyed the theme talk of Mr. H. K. Pullen of Ottawa, chairman of the Ontario Boys' Work Board. Other items on the programme were a period of study on the theme "How can we serve Christ?", singsongs, group games, and pictures of Rideau Hill Camp in action. These pictures were provided by Mr. Clair VanAllen of Mountain, who presented movies, and Mr. Eldon Fennell of Winchester who had some very beautiful coloured slides. There was time also to hear most of a period of the rugby game, broadcast from Ottawa.

Pringle Thomas of Winchester was elected chairman for the meeting, and Claire Bailey of Inkerman, was elected secretary. Three candidates for Older Boys' Parliament were present. Keith Matthie of Algonquin has been declared a member of the Boys' Parliament for Grenville, by acclamation. Pringle Thomas and Malcolm Fairfield are candidates for Dundas. On Saturday these candidates gave their campaign speeches, and next Saturday, November 27, one will be elected to represent the boys of Dundas county.

Among leaders present were Mr. H. Biccum of Winchester, George Suffell of Inkerman, and L. Dutfield of Roebuck. Ministers present were Rev. C. H. Ferguson of Kemptville, Rev. G. B. Adams of South Mountain, Rev. A. Simmons of Heckston, Rev. G. J. Fee of Williamsburg, W. H. LeGrow of Merrickville, Rev. G. Ficke of Oxford Mills, Rev. Geo. Empey of Brinston and Rev. N. T. Holmes of Hallville.

THREAT OF BLACKOUTS EVER PRESENT

In the last week or more the municipality has suffered additional power shut-offs because of the failure to keep within the prescribed quota set by the Ontario Hydro Commission. Power was off for a total of four and a half hours on Thursday last which puts Chesterville on the map as being one of the largest sufferers in the enforced cut-offs.

This week the Commission has been informed that our quota is raised somewhat in the light of the power commitments of the municipality. But the threat of additional blackouts is just as close if the consumption doesn't stay within the quota.

Turn off those unecessary lights!

MR. AND MRS. J. F. STEINBURG CELEBRATE 40th ANNIVERSARY

THE TRUTH ABOUT PROFITS

Evidence is accumulating that there is widespread misundertanding of what is meant by the term "profits". Somehow or other the feeling has arisen that profits are something shameful, that they indicate that advantage has been taken of labour or of the consumer in order to line the pockets of the favoured few. The vital role of profits in the operation of a free economy is not understood.

The incontrovertible facts that profits are the true measure of the health of a business, the keystone of the economic arch, the greatest single source of investment capital for expansion and the development of new enterprise, are all too frequently unknown, forgotten or ignored. Perhaps if we regarded profits as that portion of the crop which is held back as seed for the coming year, it might help to give us a clearer perception of their function.

We believe that it is not the principle of profit with which the individual disagrees. In matters affecting his everyday life, he believes in making a profit. If he writes a book or repairs a shoe or fattens a pig, he feels that he has a right to some compensation over and above the cost of the materials he has used. If he works in a shop or in an office, he wants to get for his services as great a return as he can. He does not hesitate to accept payment in excess of his actual living needs. He believes in the principle of urofit.

The problem seems to be that the word profit takes on a new meaning when divorced from the individual and applied to a business. It is felt vaguely that hundreds, perhaps thousands, of individuals are producing for the sole benefit of a privileged group of capitalists. The benefits accruing to the employee resulting from profitable employment are somehow overlooked.

According to recent Canadian opinion surveys, the public feels that business should show a profit of about 15% on the sale dollar, but at the same time it believes that business is actually taking about 30% of the sales dollar as profit. The truth is, of course, that business retains as profit an average of less than 6% after taxes.

An example of what is happeing in this connection was reported in a Canadian Press despatch from Ottawa, dated October 5th. This report of the Prices Commission investigation produced the evidence that the Christie Woodworking Co. Ltd. of St. John, N.B., had made a net profit of only $4,066 in 1937, but that this figure had jumped to $17,460 in 1947. Opponents of business and of the profit system, of course, have here a grand opportunity to point out that profits of this small company rose during the period mentioned, more than 300%! However, closer investigation reveals that the profit in 1937 represented 2.3% on sales, whereas profits in 1947 represented only 2.2%! Prices of the lumber and other commodities sold by the company skyrocketed during the period, but the figures show quite clearly that the profits of the Christie Woodworking Company did not derive from higher prices but from the increased volume of business.

In any consideration of profits, it must not be forgotten that the profit dollar is subject to the same inflation as the consumer dollar. Profits must also be related to the volume of business done. Another factor which must be considered when high profits in dollars are being discussed, is that an increasing amount of capital is being invested in business. When all these things are considered, there is cause for serious alarm in the fact that rates of profit instead of increasing are actually declining. Karl Marx pointed out a hundred years ago that there is a tendency for the rate of profit to decline as a country advances to a high degree of capitalistic development, and while we cannot agree with some of the conclusions which Marx draws from this statement, we cannot deny his ultimate conclusion that this would lead ultimately to the collapse of our economic system.

Tips for Travelers

A wise and greatly experienced traveler was asked how he managed to pay the proper amount to taxi-drivers when he was abroad.

"Oh," replied he, "I take a handful of small coins and begin counting them into the driver's hand, keeping my eyes constantly on his face during the transaction. As soon as I detect a smile on his face. I stop doling out the money."

"I suppose," ventured the other, "that determines what you will pay him?"

"Not exactly," rejoined the experienced traveler. "I take back one coin and return it to my pocket, for when he smiles, I know I have paid him too much."

Cattle Rustlers Said To Be Active in County

Farmers in this area have suffered heavy losses over many months. Cattle rustlers were the threat and they have stolen thousands of dollars' worth of prime beef during the past three years.

Police investigation into what has been described as "the worst cattle-rustling game since the days of the Old West" was touched off a few weeks ago when Jimmy Mulligan, Iroquois farmer, found the hide of one of his prize steers lying at the roadside beside his pasture at dawn.

Mulligan lives in the 7th concession of Matilda Township, just north of Iroquois. He found the hide bloody and still warm and realized one of his cattle had been stolen and butchered. He called in provincial constables Earl Wellesly and Don Brennan.

Since then more than 22 instances of cattle theft have been revealed and police believe thefts have stretched over a period of three years.

Police estimate they have been told of only a third of the number of cows stolen. "The farmers aren't cooperating too well", report the police. "They seem to think we can't do anything. If they don't discover a cow missing for a month or so they don't report it. If they'd only play ball and let us know we would be able to do more than we have done."

The beef bandits are operating in three ways:

1. Loading a cow or steer into a mobile slaughter house and "beefing" the animal while they roll to another pasture.

2. Taking the animal away alive and slaughtering it at leisure in a deserted barn-converted slaughter-house.

3. Keeping the beef alive and selling it on the hoof.

The rustlers have a system of slaughtering the beef in a mobile killing pen as soon as they have been "cut out" of a herd at pasture.

The "beef-leggers", who know the country like a well-read book, spot the cows they want, wait until after dusk, and then move in with their trucks. The cow picked for slaughter is herded through cut fence lines to a side road, loaded on a covered van and immediately stunned

Then the fast working "gutters" and "skinners" get to work. By the time the van has reached the second pasture marked for looting the first cow has been beefed and hung near the front of the truck. The inside of the vehicle, oily with blood, is flushed out with hand-pressure pumps and the process is ready to start again.

Only clues the police have so far are hides of the stolen cattle. Thieves have no market for them and have been throwing them from their mobile slaughter house.

Provincial Police have arrested three men and charged them with rustling. They are William Hayes of Iroquois, Kenneth Jackson of Kemptville and George Armstrong of Spencerville. None has come to trial yet. They have been remanded on their first court appearances and are due to appear in Magistrate's Court next Friday. Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan, K.C., will ask that bail be set at least at $2,000.

Novel Method Restoring Pure Bred Herd

Dundas County Holstein Breeders Association made plans last week, at their meeting in Hotel Winchester, to have William J. Fawcett choose cows, from pure bred herds in the herds in the County to replace those lost by electrocution.

The plan which was adopted by a meeting of the directors called for the circularization of all breeders in the County, asking them to list their herds with Herb Graham, the Agricultural Representative of Morrisburg, who is also secretary of the association. From these herds Mr. Fawcett will be asked to choose a cow which he will retain for a period of two years. He will be asked to take eighteen cows from the herds listed, and these breeders who do not loan cows will be asked to donate cash to what will be known as the "Fawcett Foundation Herd Fund". Donations of cash will be received by Harold McMenomy, of Inkerman, treasurer of the Association.

J. Frank Casselman, President of the Association who called the emergency meeting, paid tribute to the leadership given by Mr. Fawcett in the development of the Holstein breed, and for the honours he had brought to the Dundas County Club at exhibitions throughout the Province. He said that it would be to the advanage of every breeder to assist him in rebuilding a herd. Mr. W. Brown, President of the Grenville County Club and Howard Dodge of Cardinal, offered assistance from their club. Mr. Casselman said while it was felt that the Dundas County group should be responsible for assistance to breeders who experienced misfortunes of this magnitude within its own boundaries, additional help from any breeder in Eastern Ontario would be welcomed.

A committee who will tour the county with Mr. Fawcett to select the cows was chosen. They are: William McMenomy, Inkerman; Angus Smith, Allison Graham, George Brooks and Charles F. Marsellis, all of Chesterville district; John Thompson and Pat McGinn of Brinston.

Discussion took place concerning the annual banquet of the club which is to be held on Friday evening, December 3rd, in the Orange Hall, Winchester Springs, with the Ladies' Aid of the United Church, catering.

The guest speaker for this occasion will be J. G. Taggart, Director in Chief, Agricultural Services, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

The annual meeting is also to be held in the same hall on the afternoon of Tuesday, December 7th, at 1.30 p.m.

fails to record a distinct tone sent through the wires. This is the location of the break.

In England, telephone men developed a novel method of detecting leaks in gas-filled cable, Mr. Ouellette told his audience. A dog was given a whiff of the gas used in the cable every time he was fed. He was then trained to search in the locality of a cable break, and would always stop and sniff where there was a leak, because to him that smell meant food.

Mr. Ouellette concluded by citing instances of the human emergencies where good telephone service meant the difference between success and failure. These times, when life and health depend on quick communication illustrate what the work of telephone maintenance men means in terms of human values he said.

The thanks of the club were expressed by Harvey Gillies of the Chesterville club.

The speaker was introduced by H. Bigelow, Chesterville, representative of the Bell system, and guests present included George Thompson and Fred Gardiner, Cornwall; Rev. H. Heustin, Morewood; Don Grant, Winchester, and Bert Lynch and R. Jameison, Chesterville.

Vice President G. Howard Fulton was in the chair in the absence of President F. M. Cass.

Church News

MOREWOOD UNITED CHURCH

The services at the Morewood United Church were conducted on Sunday by the minister, Rev. W. J. Copsey, B.A. The text of the morning sermon was from Exodus 35;21, "They came everyone whose heart was stirred up and everyone whom his spirit made willing, and they brought the Lord's offering to the work of the tabernacle."

The children of Israel because their hearts were stirred within them and their spirits made willing brought the materials for the building of the tabernacle. They gave to the Lord bracelets, earrings, rings, tablets, blue, purple, scarlet and fine linen, goat's hair, ram's skins, badger skins, gold, silver, precious stones to the value of one and a quarter million dollars. They received in return the House of God and the assurance of the Divine Presence.

The lesson is that the believer whose heart is really stirred, gives to the Lord the best he has, himself, and the best comes back to him in the assurance of salvation and the companionship of God.

The evening service featured a song service followed by an illustrated lecture on mission work in Central India, setting forth the church's ministry of preaching, teaching and healing in a territory of seventeen thousand villages. Miss Ellice Smith presided at the organ.

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! When we were making our fruit cakes over a month ago, we made a wedding cake too. The recipe was obtained through a good friend who has for years specialized in making fruit cakes. Since it contains some spice and the fruits used in the traditional Christmas cake, we are quoting this recipe as our favourite for this year's festive season.

The boiled-type fruit cake has advantages—it has sufficient fruit to be really good and the method of cooking the batter ingredients reduces the baking period. (This is very important in the operation of an electric oven at this time.)

So far as plum pudding is concerned, we highly recommend using either the pressure saucepan or canner to steam it thoroughly, yet evenly. In our neighbourhood, the pressure canner is loaned to one and then another to save time and fuel. Usually when we begin Christmas baking, the children think of candy making and so we shall list that favourite which keeps well (if you can hide it from the children).

FESTIVE FRUIT CAKE

Into a saucepan put:

2½ cups light sultanas, 2 cups minced citron peel, ½ cup chopped orange peel, ½ cup chopped lemon peel, add ¾ cup apricot or peach juice.

Heat contents for 3 or 4 minutes, stirring well, remove from electric element, cover and let stand over nigth.

IN THE MORNING, cream:

½ lb. butter with 1 cup granulated sugar till fluffy.

Beat five eggs and blend well with fat and sugar. Add 3 cups sifted flour, ¾ teaspoon salt and ½ teaspoon soda (sifted together), then add to the creamed mixture.

1 tablespoon vanilla, 1 cup sliced candied cherries and 1 cup slivered almonds.

Combine with fruit and juice mixture. Blend thoroughly.

For one large cake 8 x 8, bake in electric oven at 275 degrees for 3½ hours.

If spices are desired—add 1 teaspoon allspice, ½ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg.

INEXPENSIVE FRUIT CAKE

3½ cups seedless raisins, washed and drained, 1½ cups brown sugar, lightly packed, 1½ cups water, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs well-beaten, 2½ cups once-sifted pastry flour, or 2¼ cups once-sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon, ½ teaspoon ground allspice, ¼ teaspoon ground cloves, ¾ cup mixture of slivered mixed peel, ¼ cup drained maraschino cherries, 1|3 cup coarsely chopped nutmeats.

Combine the raisins, brown sugar, water and butter in a saucepan; bring to boil, stirring until the sugar dissolves, then boil gently for 19 minutes. Cool thoroughly. Stir well-beaten eggs into cooled raisin mixture. Measure and sift together three times, the flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, allspice and cloves; add the peel, cherries and nuts; and mix well. Add flour mixture to raisin mixture a third at a time, combining well after each addition. Turn batter into a 6-inch square pan that has been lined with 3 layers of heavy brown paper, the top layer buttered, or with 3 layers of cooking parchment. Bake in a slow oven, 275 degrees, about 2 hours.

CHRISTMAS CARROT PUDDING

2 eggs, 1 cup grated carrot, 1 cup grated potato, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 cup Sultana raisins, ½ cup seeded raisins, ½ cup currants, ¼ cup mixed peel, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, ½ teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup flour.

Beat eggs slightly. Add sugar, grated vegetables, peel and fruit. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Mix all together. Steam 3 hours in a well-greased bowl. Fill bowl only two-thirds full.

Note: Too deep-well cooker only requires 1½ cups of water. Turn the electric element "Low" as soon as steam comes out of the vent of the well-cooker

POPCORN BALLS

5 cups popped corn, 1|3 cup corn syrup, ¼ cup molasses, ½ cup granulated sugar, 2 tablespoons water, ½ teaspoon vinegar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, peppermint flavoring.

Measure popcorn into a large buttered bowl. Combine corn syrup, molasses, sugar, water, vinegar and salt; bring to a boil, stirring until sugar dissolves, then boil, without stirring, until a few drops will form a hard ball when dropped into cold water (or candy thermometer reads 250). Remove from heat and stir in butter, vanilla and just about 3 drops of peppermint. Stir hot syrup over popped corn, shape quickly into balls using buttered wooden spoon. Store in a cool place.

Fancy Skating To Be Taught Minto Club Expert in Charge

Shortly after Christmas Miss Ida Hundevad of the Minto Skating Club of Ottawa, will instruct classes in the fine art of figure skating at the Legion Memorial rink. The Legion has granted free use of the rink to the sponsors every Monday night from 7.30 to 10 starting after the Christmas holidays. No hockey games will be scheduled for that night.

The idea of having skating classes belongs to a group headed by Mr. J. R. Potvin of the High School. A canvass has been made and about forty people have signified their resire to take lessons in one of the most graceful of all pastimes. Miss Hundevad points out that fancy skates are not a necessity although they will be a definite advantage to the beginners. Anyone is welcome to join the classes. There is no age limit.

While students are allowed the freedom of the rink, the Legion will ask a small admission fee to those who wish to sit in as spectators on Monday nights. Any further information will be available from Mr. Potvin.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a white moire taffeta gown with a finger tip veil of illusion tulle and carried a cascade of sweetheart roses and feathered mums. Natalie Reveler was maid of honour and Elizabeth Benson was bridesmaid. Gowned alike they wore lime green moire taffeta and headpieces of bronze feathered halos. They carried cascades of mums in fall shades and talisman roses. The best man was John Gordon and the ushers were George Reveler and John Benson.
