Stormont Prog.-Cons. Choose J. McDonald

John Lawrence McDonald, farmer of Cornwall township, and former sitting member for the constituency, is the unanimous choice of Progressive Conservatives of Stormont County, to contest the coming provincial election.

He was chosen last night at a party convention held in Finch community hall, which was attended by 200 delegates. Persident Gladstone McLean of the county association presided.

Hon. George H. Doucett, provincial minister of highways, was the chief speaker and predicted the return of the government with a majority over all other parties.

"The premier and his government have fulfilled their promises and in addition have levied no new taxes, and paid 50 percent of the cost of education. Premier Drew has given sound and progressive administration to the province and deserves to be returned with a large majority."

Other speakers were: Mr. McBean; Dr. John A. Phillips, former mayor of Cornwall and federal Progressive Conservative candidate in the riding, who promised their fullest support to Mr. McDonald and Robert Revie of Cornwall, sec.-treas. of the Association, who urged all delegates to give the candidate active support and perfect the party organization in all voting divisions in

The "L's" Head Victory Loan Campaign

Monday night last, Mr. Kenneth A. Cockburn of Toronto, chairman of the Victory Loan Campaign, for the United Counties, addressed the Chesterville Rotary Club and supplemented his talk with three moving picture films emphasizing the vital importance of the VIII Victory Loan to the Canadian people and its absolute need for the successful conclusion in the European theatre of war.

During the course of the meeting, a special committee of three, namely Leon Marcellus, Lewis David and Leo Gallagher was appointed to take charge of the Eastern Half of Dundas County during the selling campaign of the VIII Victory Loan, which begins Monday, April 23.

These three local merchants are looking to the loyal and enthusiastic support of every man, woman and child to help send the Chesterville quota soaring to new heights.

We are at the service of the public at all times—day and night—every day in the year.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS' PROBLEMS

Trustees of Rural Schools were under fire for a time at the Annual Convention of the Ontario Educational Association. Since the need of education has become recognized there has been a vast improvement in the calibre of the men chosen to direct school affairs. In the old days it was considered a wise precaution to elect middle-aged bachelors to the Board of Education with a view to keeping down expenses, but the matter of cost does not figure as a factor these days, results being the sole object. There are still some trustees who favor the robust type of school mam. When the question came up. "What can a teacher do when one of her boy students blacks both her eyes," a trustee suggested she should be "able to wrassle the boy". From this it is gathered that it is not all flowers and red apples for the girls who preside over rural schools, although the majority of the trustees advised the use of the strap when youngsters proved unruly. Another question of rural school discipline arose when a ratepayer's wife, a former teacher declared that much classroom trouble came from the children of the trustees. "Do you think a teacher should send a trustee's child home? If she did, what would happen to her job? If a teacher feels she can't punish a trustee's child then she also feels she can't punish her other pupils if they deserve it." "If some teachers do not favor the trustees' children, they soon have to move," said another trustee.

BRIDE'S RELATIVES MAY FOLLOW

With the belief that the war in Europe has practically reached an end the subject of migration from Britain and Western Europe to Canada has become a live issue. The British Government has issued a booklet entitled "Release and Resettlement" in which mention is made of possible settlement in the Dominions. The requests from Old Country people for facilities to emigrate to this country run into the thousands. Transport is the biggest problem facing the Dominion. Reuters agency says many thousands of Canadians who have served overseas have married British women. A special department is dealing with applications for passages for wives and children at a rate of about 100 a day. So far more than 20,000 have been received and it is expected the final total will be between 25,000 and 30,000. While welcoming British war brides there is a feeling that their "Sisters and their cousins and their Aunts" might desire to follow them. So far as Ontario is concerned there is a feeling that provision must first be made for the gallant Canadians who have served overseas before encouragement is extended to new settlers.

ONTARIO NOT SO BAD

With the controversy over what is termed the "Baby Bonus" question just gathering force it would prove quite an upset in calculations if Ontario were to oust the prolific mothers of Quebec in the matter of registrations. At present Ontario out of a total of 336,000 leads with 136,500 Quebec being second with 77,000. Registrations were first held in Prince Edward Island during February. Of the 10,399 applications made in the Province to date 7,165 already have been set up for payment which will begin in July. These applications cover 17,720 children. Registration in other parts of Canada started March 22. Figures compiled by the Health Department show that one Prince Edward family will receive $54 a month, one $51, and one, $49, while 1,250 of the families at present listed will get the lowest allowance of $5 a month which is paid for one child up to six years of age.

JUST ONE THING AFTER ANOTHER

It seems to be a matter of just one aggravation after another for the hard pressed farmers of Ontario. Apart from the manpower shortage there was the snow blockades to contend with coupled with the inroads of mice and rabbits on fruit trees. Next came the early spring break up and the danger of killing frosts. In this category must be placed the wary foxes who create havoc among the chickens. As if this were not enough the fleet-footed deer have intruded on the picture in the settled parts of the province. It was all well enough when the deer confined themselves to the northern hinterlands and hardy hunters from the cites and towns at great expense could go out in the short open season and shoot them in their lairs. And now officials of the Ontario Game Department declare there probably isn't a big swamp or bush in Lower Ontario without its herd of deer today and in 10 years the deer will probably be a menace to highway travel if they keep increasing as they are now. The Department is getting letters from irate farmers who want to know who is going to pay for their damaged wheat fields because 30 or 40 deer make quite a mess of a field with their sharp hooves. Game and Fisheries Minister G. H. Dunbar says, "Deer are all over Southern Ontario. In Brant County there've been 50 or 60 killed by cars in the last few years. Last year we opened six new townships to cut down the menace and there were 60 deer taken in Elgin county during a four-day season. Three have been killed by automobiles on the Queen Elizabeth Way. The Puslinch swamp near Guelph has a herd of 30 or 40 and you can see more herds on the highways out of Hamilton to Niagara Falls." There has also been an increase in wolf activity in the southern section of the Province.

RATE OF PLANTING CORN
(Experimental Farms News).

During the 1944 season many farmers realized for the first time the importance of the rate of planting corn. This was demonstrated by the exceptionally dry weather during midsummer and fall.

Barren stalks were much in evidence last season in fields of hybrid corn. This was not the fault of the hybrids but rather the result of dry weather and too thick seeding. Under such conditions normal development of the corn plant is hindered by the lack of moisture. As a hybrid produces a larger root system, a sturdier plant and a higher yield than open-pollinated varieties there is more competition between plants and a heavier drain on soil moisture and fertilitly, says C. G. Mortimore, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont. On moist soils, hills spaced at 42 inches will support 3 plants but if the spacing is 40 inches or less it is advisable to plant two kernels per hill. This will give the plants a better chance to develop and produce higher quality corn with no sacrifice in yield. Under adverse weather conditions as in 1944 this rate of seeding may often mean the difference between success and failure. However, on exceptionally fertile soils seeding may be slightly heavier and give excellent results.

The tendency has been even more common towards too thick seeding of ensilage corn than in the case of grain corn. To obtain ensilage of the highest feed value it is necessary to have the ears in the medium dough stage. Too thick planting will result in spindly plants on which the ears will not properly develop. For best results with drilled seeding the plants should be 10 to 12 inches apart in the row and the rows not closer than 36 inches. If planted in hills the same rate as for grain planting is recommended.

Ask Me Another.

Counsel was cross-examining a farmer.

"Now," he said, "don't quibble. Do you understand a simple problem or not?"

"I do," replied the witness.

"Then tell the court this: If 15 men ploughed a field in five hours, how long would 30 men take to plough the same field?"

"They couldn't do it."

"Why not?"

"Because the 15 have already poughed it."

Safe for the Night

The maid knocked at her mistress' bedroom door as she went to bed and said:

"The master's locked up for the night, ma'am."

"Thank you, Mary: he must have been very quiet—I didn't even hear him come in," was the sleepy reply.

"Oh, he hasn't come in, ma'am," Mary answered, "the police have just telephoned."

FLEET AIR ARM ATTACKS JAPANESE OIL REFINERY.

On January 4th, British carrier-borne aircraft of the Fleet Air Arm delivered a very accurate attack against the enemy oil refinery at Pagkalan Brandan in Sumatra. Weather conditions were excellent and the whole weight of bombs and missiles from the Avengers and Fireflies fell within the target area. The powerhouse and other important plants, together with oil tanks and buildings, received direct hits. This picture was taken on board the new British aircraft carrier Indefatigable, which took part in the attack.

THIS GLORIOUS HOUR
By Wm. O. Partridge

O singer of today, this glorious hour
Is all for you and me, what shall it give
To us and ask of fate?
Give us a deeper love for fellowmen,
Give us new insight, courage to explore
With all the tenderness of human kin
The lowliest heart that beats in human kind,
Its glory and its soul to seek and find.

Wolf, Jr.

Tommy had a charming and personable manner, which he exercised with telling effect upon little Mary, who sat next to him in school. Unfortunately, he was an indifferent student.

Observing the attraction between the two youngsters, the teacher devised a subtle appeal to Tommy's ambition.

"Tommy," she warned, "you must study harder or you won't be promoted. How would you like to stay in this class and have little Mary go ahead of you?"

Tommy grinned.

"Oh," he replied, "I guess there'll be other little Marys."

or modernize your house

...then have a talk with your bank manager about his new powers under the Farm Improvement Loans Act.

How often have you said "If I could only raise the money!" Well, if you could, what would you do to improve your farm and increase your production?

Would you build a modern barn?
or buy new machinery?
or modernize your house?
or electrify your farm?

You can raise short term money from your bank; and long term money from other institutions by way of mortgage. But there are some things you would like to do which require loans that are neither long nor short...

That is where the banks, operating under the new Farm Improvement Loans Act, can help you. The gap has been filled. "Intermediate" loans at a specially low rate can now be obtained for periods of two or three years—or even longer, in cases up to ten years.

So, if you have a project in mind to improve your farm, drop in and talk it over with your local bank manager. Ask him what he is now empowered to do to help make your farm living more attractive and your work more profitable.

He will tell you—and show you—that your bank is just as eager to meet the sound credit needs of the farmer as of the merchant or manufacturer.

WORMS IN LAWNS

Earthworms in lawns and golf courses can be eliminated by treating the turf with corrosive sublimate. The poison should be diluted in water at the rate of one ounce to 10 gallons. The solution should be sprinkled liberally over the turf, and the area thus treated should then be thoroughly sprinkled by means of a garden hose to wash the poison down to the roots of the grass. Because corrosive sublimate corrodes metal, thereby losing much of its strength, glass, wooden, or earthenware vessels should be used in mixing and applying the solution.

THE BUSY BEE

A good colony of bees gathers about 65 pounds of pollen every year. To gather one pound of pollen, the bees from one hive have to visit eight million flowers at least. That makes 520 million flowers visited by the bees for a normal beehive every year. Scientists say that the honey bee is responsible for 80 percent of all the pollination requirements of the enormous acreage of fruit and seed crops, more bees are needed, particularly to increase legume seed production.

The Business Of Farming Requires RESERVES

"READY MONEY" is the common term for what businessmen call "Reserve Funds". In any language, "Ready Money" is a handy thing to have.

None realize this need more than a farmer . . . for in the business of farming there are so many times that extra money is needed . . . for bills that must be met . . . to take advantage of opportunities . . . "to turn a dollar" with profit.

There are many times when a farmer needs "extra money". Without a reserve fund he must either sell something "for what he can get for it" or borrow, if he can get a loan.

Victory Bonds provide a safe and convenient form in which to keep savings until needed. Victory Bonds earn double bank interest. When you have Victory Bonds you can get a loan from any bank at any time without any formality, and the interest the bonds earn pays a large part of the interest on the loan.

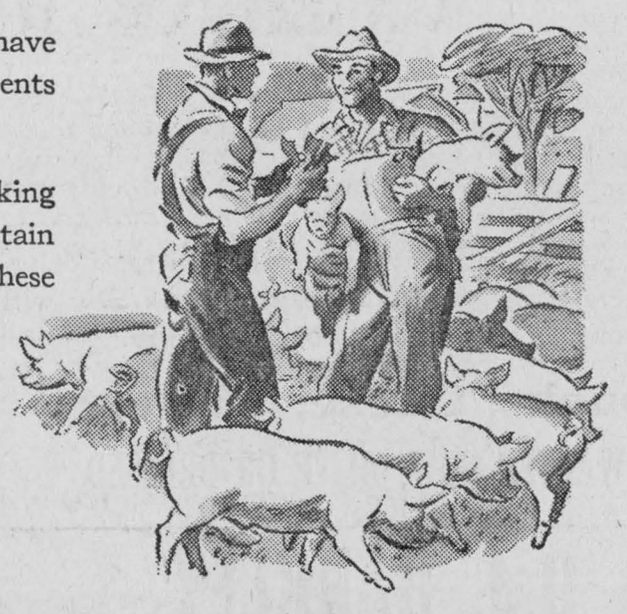

Victory Bonds can be bought for cash which you have saved or bought on convenient deferred payments with money as you get it.

Buy Victory Bonds to provide a reserve of working capital for your farm. Buy them, too, to help maintain your country's war effort. They pay interest these two ways.

Farmers always need "extra money" at seed time . . .

"Extra money" is needed to pay harvest hands . . .

You can often make a profit if you have cash to buy young animals . . .

House Hunting

Amelia MacMillan Lambkin

The March winds had left a crispness in the April air which sent little shivers chasing down one's back, when doors were left open for any length of time.

The garden however, already had its lure, although bare as yet, of leaf or flower. True, the branches of the lilac trees, and even the tall maples, were beginning to show tinges of soft colourings, and from somewhere among the thicker boughs of an evergreen, in a neighboring yard came twitterings of birds.

Despite my knowing that it was much too early to begin gardening, I had the urge to poke among the bedded-down roses and gently lifting the light covering of autumn leaves, to peep at the roots of the peonies and delphiniums to see, if perchance a delicate shoot might be breaking through. I was silently engaged at this pleasurable task, when I heard voices on the neighboring side of the tall thick hedge. The petulance of the young voice, arrested my attention, and with no thought of eavesdropping, I became interested in the conversation.

"Oh Dearest! I'm so sorry to appear indifferent about this place, but I just can't enthuse, as I know you would like me to, because I am disappointed. I had expected too much I'm afraid", and the voice trailed away in a chidish whine.

"But honey!" came a deeper voice, with a tone of reassurance "try to imagine it a little bit later, when the trees are all in full leaf, and the sun filters through those maples and makes a mosiac carpet of the garden borders, we are going to have. I know you'll love it then".

The disappointed one spoke again. "You see, I had imagined it such a dream of a place. You described it with such beauty, and how the house would be so lovely, and now somehow, I just can not catch your enthusiasm. This all looks so bleak and cold and unattractive a spot to build a home."

Being a woman, I felt a sincere pity for the girlish wife's disillusionment. I also felt a bit guilty for 'listening-in', on what was truly a private domestic disagreement. However, I seemed unable to tear myself away until I had learned how the matter was going to turn out. Evidently, the young husband was not to be discouraged. When he spoke again there was a tender note in his voice.

"Listen Honey! When I was here last summer, this place was a veritable paradise. Those lilacs were a cloud of purple bloom, this old apple tree was veiled in soft pink and white blossoms, its fragrance floated all about me like a benediction."

He paused, and the brief moment was filled by the sweet notes of a song-sparrow telling his love to his mate near by. Perhaps it was this song which inspired the young husband to again take up his plea for the home-site, which he visualized as the perfect one.

"Now look dear," he continued, "stand right here—there—that's the view we will have from our living-room. Look out yonder . . . see the little creek with the willows dipping low in its pebbled waters; see the tall row of maples running along the opposite side; see that hill in the distance? And . . . these trees all about here are beautiful cherry trees. Pretty soon now, they will be a billowy mass of white bloom, and later, laden with luscious, red cherries."

The voice of the young wife now broke in, this time it held a different note.

"Forgive me Bob! I have been acting childish and perfectly stupid. You have succeeded in making me see all these beauties. I feel sure dear, that our new home will be wonderful. When do we start to build? See! I am growing impatient already."

Although I could not be sure, it seemed to me, in the brief moment that followed, I heard many sweet little endearments, before he answered her.

"Oh, my sweet! It makes me so happy to think, you can see at last, everything as it is going to be, and now . . . we will start the building at once. We ought to have it all finished by Easter."

From my secluded corner behind the hedge, I felt a certain twinge of guilt at having eavesdropped to such extent and yet I experienced a certain gladness, that in the end, they had come to such a happy agreement about their new home. I decided too, that it would be rather interesting to watch the building. I knew I should enjoy this happy pair, who were to live on the other side of the hedge, even though I realized that, of a certainty, my cherries would form the greater portion of their diet throughout the season, since my new neighbors were . . a pair of beautiful, red-breasted robins.

As I wended my way from the garden, a rich carolling rang out on the April air from the top-most branch of the old apple tree. To me it meant the herald of spring, to his mate who sat on a near-by bough it meant—the song of a cosey nest where one day soon, blue eggs would nestle and later, downy, warm, little bodies would snuggle closely beneath the mother-wings, and yellow mouths would cry for food.

THE FORCES DISCUSS.

The two servicemen who chart the course of "Servicemen's Forum" (seen here) are Lieut. R. G. Allen (left), education officer at Barriefield who prepares the scripts and produces the series, and Lieut. Donald MacDonald, RCNVR, chairman of the sessions. Service personnel will gather in Goose Bay, Labrador, this week to examine "What Chance for World Security?" The broadcast will be presented from Halifax, Thursday April 19th at 8:30 p.m. EDT, over the CBC Dominion network.

Tactful

A film actor and his wife were seated in a secluded corner of their club. The wife had a tongue like a shrew and was berating her husband in no uncertain terms.

Unnoticed by her, a party of acquaintances approached within earshot, just as she delivered herself of this: "You mean skunk! Of all the slimy snakes I think you're the worst. You're just a chean skate!"

Noticing the people who had just arrived, the husband, who deserves a medal for tact, said: "Quite right, dear; and what else did you say to him?"

There is a woman at the beginning of all great things.—Lamartine.

VALUE OF MILK IN POULTRY FEEDING

(Experimental Farms News)

The feeding of either skim milk or buttermilk is not always appreciated for what it is worth in relation to poultry feeding states B.F. Cheney, Head Poultryman, Dominion Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S. The farmer who has surplus milk available should consider its possibilities in cutting down his feed costs and the maintaining of a healthier, more productive flock. Milk used in poultry feeding will improve the quality of the product.

Most hatcherymen consider their birds are not receiving a satisfactory ration unless the mash fed contains milk powder or milk is available for the birds to drink.

In the brooding stage milk, usually sour, can be given in crockery-ware or glass utensils, or as the chicks get older they may be given a moist mash spread over the dry mash once daily, feeding only what the chicks will clean up readily. If it is desirable to market young cockerels, a fattening mash may be mixed with milk and fed in this manner along with the regular feeding program thus assuring a better conditioned bird.

On range, milk may be given to drink but care should be taken that the protein content of the growing mash is reduced so that the birds will not be forced into too early production due to an over supply of protein in the feeding program.

There is no better way of balancing the feeding program of the laying pen than by supplying one or two gallons of milk daily per 100 birds, in addition to their regular laying mash.

In the preparation of birds for market milk is a valuable aid in getting the birds into the best possible condition so that they will dress out in the top grades. The fattening mash should be moistened with milk to a sloppy condition that will pour. Feed this mixture to the birds twice daily, giving them all they will clean up. Feed the birds well, but always have them looking for more.

The Same to You

A mule and a jeep are said to have met on the highway.

"And what might you be?" asked the mule.

"An automobile," answered the jeep. "And you?"

"I'm a horse," replied the mule.

And they both laughed.

Drunk Story.

A drunk was walking down the street with a big pink elephant following him. From time to time they would converse in friendly fashion, but finally the elephant got too chummy and began to rest its trunk heavily on the fellow's shoulder.

"Look here, you," said the drunk. "If you don't cut that out, I'm gonna take a couple of aspirins and get rid of you!"

Passes to Paradise.

Sam Davis was editor of the Carson (Nev.) "Appeal" in the days when Sarah Bernhardt was making one of her numerous conquests of the United States, and was charged with the pleasant duty of meeting the celebrated actress at Reno and conducting her over the mountains to California.

The great Frenchwoman found Davis a delightful companion, and was happy to grant him the exclusive privilege of interviewing her on all occasions during her Western sojourn.

Taking her leave of this appealing Westerner, Madam Bernhardt put her hands upon his shoulders, kissed him upon both cheeks and then squarely upon the mouth, tenderly remarking:

"The right cheek was for the Carson "Appeal," the left for the "Examiner," the lips, my friend, for yourself."

With complete sang froid, Davis rejoined, "Madam, I also represent the "Associated Press" which serves 380 papers west of the Mississippi River."

THE MIXING BOWL

By ANNE ALLAN

Hydro Home Economist

Hello Homemakers! Some of our readers who wish to use left-overs without following a recipe have requested information on standard proportions and substitutions.

We promise to publish this from time to time, so if you are interested clip this week's column.

May we thank those who wrote to us asking for this guide, because we feel it should be useful to many other homemakers.

GUIDE TO PROPORTIONS

Use 4 egg yolks to 1 quart milk for boiled custards.

Use ½ cup cornstarch to 1 quart milk for blanc mange.

Use 3 tsps. baking powder to 2 cups (1 pint) flour.

Use 1 tsp. vinegar to each cup milk to substitute for sour milk.

Use ½ cup uncooked rice to yield 2 cups cooked rice.

Use ½ cup flour to 1 quart liquid for white sauces, etc.

Use 1 tsp. salt to 1 quart water for boiling vegetables.

Use ⅛ tsp. pepper to each tsp. salt.

Substitute ⅞ cup lard plus ¼ tsp. salt for 1 cup butter.

Substitute 2 2|3 tbsps. cocoa plus ½ tbsp. shortening for 1 square chocolate.

Substitute 1 cup milk for 2|3 cup evaporated milk.

Substitute ¼ tsp. soda and 2 tsps. cream tartar for 1 tsp. baking powder.

CHOCOLATE CREAM ROLL CAKE

4 egg whites, 4 egg yolks, 3 tbsps. cold water, ¼ tsp. salt, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 cup cake flour, 1 cup sugar, 1 tsp. lemon juice, 2 tsps. baking powder.

Add the salt to the egg whites and heat until foamy. Add one half of the sugar gradually, beating to a meringue in which peaks will stand up when a spoon is lifted from them.

Beat the yolks slightly, add the remaining sugar and beat until thick and fluffy. Add the flavoring, and cold water and mix well. Fold in flour and baking powder which have been sifted together.

Push the meringue to one side of the bowl and put the fluffy yellow batter beside it, then fold the two mixtures together carefully. Pour into a shallow tray (about 13x16 inches) lined with waxed paper well greased. Bake in preheated electric oven at 350 deg. F. about 10 mins. When done turn onto a cheesecloth. Remove the waxed paper. Trim off the edges of the cake with a sharp knife. Spread with cream filling. Roll and pin the cloth to hold the roll until cold.

FILLING.

1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 tbsp. butter, 7 tbsps. cornstarch, 2 cups milk, 1 tsp. vanilla, ¼ tsp. salt, 2 squares chocolate, melted.

Sift the dry ingredients together, add the wellbeaten eggs, and mix well; add the milk gradually to make a smooth paste, stir and cook until thickened and throughly cooked. Remove from the electric element, add the melted chocolate and the butter, beat thoroughly, let cool slightly and add the vanilla.

SUPPER SPECIAL

1 pound shell macaroni, 2 lbs. fresh broccoli.

Drop the shell macaroni into a large quantity of boiling salted water, and cook about twenty mins. or until tender. Drain, rinse in cold water and reheat. In the meantime prepare the broccli and cook in boiling water until it is just tender. Drain and cut the stalks crosswise in inch lengths, reserving the heads for garnish. In the serving bowl place layers of the macaroni alternately with layers of the cut broccoli on the top. Accompany with cheese sauce.

CHEESE SAUCE

4 tbsps. baking fat, ½ tsp. salt, 2 cups milk, 1 onion, minced, ¼ tsp. pepper, 1½ cups cheese, diced; 4 tbsps. flour, ½ tsp. curry powder.

Melt the fat, and in it cook the onion, stir in the flour mixed with the salt, pepper, and curry powder. Add the milk gradually; when the mixture is smooth add the cheese and place the sauce over the hot water until the cheese is melted.

TAKE A TIP

1. Paint the lower step of your cellar or garage stairs with white enamel. It may prevent a bad fall as it can be seen in the dark.

2. Try varnishing your old copper screens to make them last one more year.

3. Remove rust stains produced by leaky pipes by rubbing with a cloth dipped in vinegar and salt.

EQUATORIAL CEREMONY FOR CREW OF UGANDA

Elaborate initiation ceremonies were held when H.M.C.S. Uganda, Canada's first cruiser, crossed the equator recently.

Most of the 900 men in the ship's company hadn't previously passed across the waist of the world, although Able Seaman A. Davis, of Victoria, B.C., was a veteran of 30 crossings of the equator.

According to legend when a ship passes the equator Neptune emerges from the sea with his court and comes aboard to initiate all seamen. Every member of the Uganda company now is a member of the "South of the Line Club" as a consequence of their crossing at 8:15 p.m. Feb. 26th.

Capt. E. R. Mainguy of Duncan, B.C., was invested with the order of "Sleepless Nights" and Cmdr. Hugh F. Pullen of Oakville, Ont., became a member of the order of "I Didn't Hear the Pipe".

A.B. Francis Moran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Moran is on the Cruiser Uganda, and has experienced crossing the equator and taking part as stated in the above write up. Last letter received from Francis some short time ago was mailed 3 weeks after leaving Egypt.

Morrisburg Flyer Awarded Distinguished Flying Cross

The citation accompanying the award of the Distinguished Flying Cross to FO. J. Carr, of the "Ship's Mate", Morrisburg, states:

"This officer has led his squadron on a number of occasions against heavily defended targets, achieving good results. The majority of his sorties have been against railway targets, bridges, canals and enemy troop concentrations. Many of them have been completed in the face of concentrated anti-aircraft fire, but in spit of all opposition, Flt. Lt. Carr has always pressed on with intelligence and judgment and has set an example to the squadron by his outstanding gallantry and devotion to duty."
