VOL. 87 NO. 29 — WINCHESTER, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14th, 1974 — 16 PAGES PRICE 15 CENTS

News In Brief

National 4-H Week

This is National 4-H Week and the Press is pleased to include with this issue special coverage of the valuable contributions being made to the community by the many area clubs.

Agricultural Representatives and their assistants from surrounding Counties have very kindly offered co-operation with the result that two full pages were not sufficient to contain the interesting material. Consequently some reports appear on another page.

Although many Counties have already staged their Achievement Days, the Dundas unit is busily preparing for the big event scheduled for November 26th at North Dundas District High School.

Public Skating At Winchester

Winchester arena management announces that time has been allotted both Saturday and Sunday for public skating.

Those interested should note that there will be public skating every Saturday evening from 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. and every Sunday afternoon between the hours of 2:00 and 4:00 p.m.

Sentence Area Youth

Wayne Nevins, 17, of Morewood was sentenced to two years less a day at a reformatory when he appeared in court last week facing several charges of break, entry and possession of stolen property.

Nevins had been apprehended following a rash of break-ins during the month of September and early October.

UNICEF Efforts Successful

Winchester Public School pupils from classes '1' to '6' made Halloween an occasion to solicit funds for UNICEF.

The youngsters worked diligently and principal Grant Edwards said that through their efforts a total of $210.00 was raised and directed to the very worthy cause.

Organizers report that again this year the Williamsburg UNICEF campaign was highly successful with a total of $92.10 collected.

The children, and others who took an active part in the drive were entertained by the United Church ladies who served a delicious supper and provided a very enjoyable evening.

Canadian Club Next Week

Rev. Robert Rumble, a former Ottawa Rough Rider football player and now United Church minister to the deaf and dumb in Toronto, will be the guest speaker at the regular Canadian Club meeting on Wednesday November 20th.

The Reverend gentleman will have an interesting message concerning not only his career as an athlete but, more important, in his chosen field of church service.

All members are urged to attend this meeting since the main topic of discussion will be the planning of special celebrations to mark the club's 50th anniversary in 1975.

30th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Bell were honoured last Saturday evening on the occasion of their 30th wedding anniversary.

Friends, neighbours and relatives gathered bringing good wishes and the couple received many cards, gifts and a 'house of money'.

An address was read by Mrs. Bill Bolton and following a dainty lunch all enjoyed an evening of dancing.

Meet The Candidates

Voters in Winchester will have an opportunity to meet the candidates on Thursday evening November 21st at 8:00 p.m.

Arrangements have been completed for an 'all candidates' meeting at Winchester Public School and it is expected most ratepayers will be present to discuss current issues, review the records of those seeking re-election and assess the platforms of those seeking office for the first time.

The council chosen for the coming term of office faces a very critical time in the town's history. The present rapid expansion in residential areas, anticipated commercial development and over-all planning will be among the major problems encountered by the newly-elected council.

All candidates are pleased to have this opportunity to meet the electorate and it is hoped a large, enthusiastic audience will be present armed with questions pertinent to future welfare and growth of the village.

It's Smooth Sailing

Winchester streets have created havoc for motorists this past few weeks, but that's all in the past now.

Late last week paving equipment moved into town and began laying the first of three layers of asphalt. Work is continuing this week and by Saturday it is expected motorists will have nothing but 'smooth sailing' all the way through the village.

Storm sewers and curbing have both been completed and it is understood only two layers of asphalt will be laid this fall with the final surface left till spring.

Winchester And District Remember Fallen Heroes

Last Monday was Remembrance Day, but at Winchester, as in other years, the solemn occasion was fittingly observed at Noon on Sunday when a large crowd assembled at the cenotaph to honour the memory of those who fell on the battle fields of two World Wars.

Organized by the local Royal Canadian Legion branch under the very capable direction of Archie Rice a parade formed up at the Legion Hall and marched through town to the hospital grounds.

The colourful parade was led by members of the Cameron Highlanders band and accompanying the Legionnaires were Cub and Scout packs in full dress. Mr. Rice, in conversation with the Press on Monday morning, said he was delighted to note that his fallen comrades had not been forgotten.

"Never before", he noted, "had so many gathered in silent tribute to those who made the supreme sacrifice many years ago."

Church services were so timed that congregations, along with their Ministers, were able to gather around the cenotaph for the impressive wreath-laying ceremony.

Mr. Rice said he was delighted by the co-operation offered by all segments of the community. He particularly thanked Winchester Lions Club for again supplying and manning the PA system; to North Dundas District High School band members and the Cameron Highlanders.

WREATHS

Beautiful wreaths surrounding the Cenotaph were presented by the following: Mrs. Ella Utman and family in memory of Lieut. George Utman; sisters and brothers in memory of Lieut. Edward Annable; Mrs. Ruby Bilow in memory of Pte. Robert Bilow and Gunner F.F. Woods; Mrs. Mabel Baxter and family in memory of Flight Sgt. Lyle Thompson; Mrs. Ella MacIntosh in memory of Warren Rae and Russell Rae D.C.M.

Other wreaths, already in place, were from: Winchester 100 Club; Winchester Lions Club; Winchester Womens Institute; Winchester Loyal Orange Lodge 862; Winchester L.O.B.A.; Winchester United Church Women; Winchester Golden Years Society and D.L. Berry and Sons Ltd.

During the solemn ceremony the following wreaths were placed gently at the foot of the granite monument: The Provincial Wreath by Nursing Sister Ella McIntosh and Leroy Strader, both World War 1 veterans; Village of Winchester, by Reeve Walter Shadbolt; Township of Winchester by Deputy Reeve Delbert Link; North Dundas District High School by Head Girl and Head Boy, Liz Wouters and Paul Morgan; Winchester Public School by Mary Ann VanBruggen and Gordon Johnston; Royal Canadian Legion by District G Commander Howard Sayeau; Cameron Highlanders by CWO Ron O'Connell and the Royal Canadian Legion (local branch) by president Dwight Hutt.

POPPY SALE HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

Legion members in charge of the Poppy Sale campaign reported a record in sales for the area.

"We are very thankful", said one spokesman, "for the co-operation of all who assisted in the campaign and for the generous response by those who purchased the tiny flowers."

Start Working On Christmas Parade Entry

"Start working on your float to-day". This is the message being received by all Winchester and area business firms, as well as service clubs, church groups and other community organizations this week.

The message comes from Chamber of Commerce president Norm Dignard who hopes this year's Santa Claus Parade will top all its predecessors. The date has been set - - SATURDAY DECEMBER 7th - - - ; Santa's arrival time has been established; Radio Station CKOY's sound truck will be on hand; bands have been approached; and many other details discussed. "We've set the wheels in motion", says Mr. Dignard, "but only the whole-hearted co-operation of everyone in the community will assure success."

Mr. Dignard told the Press last week that, although no definite Christmas store hours have been established, most business firms appear to favour remaining open till 9:00 p.m. each evening from December 16th to 23rd. "Christmas time is only a month away", says the Chamber of Commerce president, "so let's all get involved."

Day Care Centre Under Study

Questionnaire Requires Citizen Enthusiasm

The provincial government is prepared to pay 100 per cent of the capital cost of a Day Care Centre for Winchester if an application can be presented and accepted by December 1 of this year. Otherwise the capital project breaks down into an 80-20 split with the province still picking up the lion's share of costs.

Details of a Day Care Centre were thoroughly explained to members of Council and a few interested citizens at a public meeting held in Winchester Public School Auditorium last Thursday night. At the meeting Mrs. Evelyn Gripton of the provincial department in charge of Day Care Centre said that the goverment, although prepared to finance all or most of such a project, was more interested in renovating or renting an existing building suitable for such a Centre. At the same time it was pointed out that the old post office on St. Lawrence Street would not be suitable, even with renovations, because of lack of adequate land for outside activities. Council had proposed that the building might be used for such a Centre.

Mrs. Gripton said that in Winchester there was still a need for a more detailed survey before definite action could be taken. To this end council has in the mail this week information to all citizens. An advertisement also appears in this issue of The Press. The future of such a Day Care Centre will probably be determined, it was explained, by the kind of enthusiasm shown by the citizens of the village. If there is enough interest Council will proceed with the project with the help of the province.

A Day Care centre in Winchester, when completed, would be operated by the municipality with 80 per cent of the deficit picked up by the province. The Centre would be staffed by municipal employees receiving all benefits and it would be open as both a full and part time Centre. Fees in the operation would be set on a per diem cost and a sliding scale would be used to benefit all users.

Deadline for application is December 15th, and Council is hopeful that by that time it will have enough information and interest from the village to pursue a needed facility for the town and district.

With Students' Help . . .

This year's issue of the Winchester Press Christmas tabloid will be published on December 21st, and as in the past few years, the work of public and separate school children in the district will be featured.

Although many feel Christmas has become over-commercialized and the real meaning too often played down, for the children it is still the most glorious season of the year. It is for this reason the Press, calls on the girls and boys to help make the Christmas issue a truly Christmas publication.

Through the years it has been the custom to call on a limited number of schools (possibly three of four) and always the co-operation of both pupils and teachers has been very gratifying.

This year, in an effort to involve a more wide-spread area, children from a total of 16 public and separate schools are participating. Teachers from the following schools have willingly offered to have the work of a limited number of pupils published: Winchester, Maple Ridge, Elma, Morewood, Inkerman, Nationview, Morrisburg, Williamsburg, Timothy Christian, Riverside Heights, St. Catherine's, Greely, Metcalfe, St. Mary's, Russell and Osgoode.

The colourful tabloid affords an ideal opportunity for business firms in the area to extend sincere good wishes to their customers and many are now being contacted by the advertising department. The pre-Christmas work-load, combined with the very limited time, makes it impossible to get in touch with all business houses and those not contacted are invited to call the office (774-2524) before November 30th.

The 32-page tabloid will include, along with the children's contributions, interesting features concerning the holiday season and pictures of special interest to the reading area served by the Press.

Winchester District Arena Auxiliary Calls Meeting For Wednesday

The first official meeting of the newly-formed Winchester District Arena Auxiliary will be called to order at the arena hall at 8:00 p.m. on the evening of Wednesday November 20th.

Purpose of this important meeting is to form an executive, draw up a constitution and draft plans for future activities.

Organizers urge all interested ladies residing in Winchester and the surrounding district to make a special effort to be present since the arena is now the centre of all recreational activities and affects the lives of all age groups.

"Ladies from Winchester Village, Winchester Township and Mountain Township working together", says one organizer, "can make a great contribution, and through such a united effort improvements can be made to our fine complex and financial assistance offered."

The meeting date again - - - WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20TH.

Canadian Club

Historian Compares UCV With Louisbourg Restoration

"We believe that a nation which remembers its heritage and is conscious of its past is a nation that will endure", said Dr. John Lunn at a recent meeting of the Morrisburg and District Canadian Club. Dr. Lunn, park superintendant, Fortress of Louisbourg National Historic Park, gave an interesting and enlightening address which he accompanied with a slide presentation on the history and restoration associated with the fortress. This is Canada's largest national historic park and covers 20 square miles in Cape Breton.

Commenting on the thought that the basic philosophy of any historic site development must be to make the public aware of the significance that the past holds and to add a new dimension to the study of history, Dr. Lunn said "Louisbourg needs to be talked about as the marvelous sites are here."

"This project in Cape Breton which is the most ambitious reconstruction project going on in the world to-day was begun in 1961," stated Dr. Lunn, noted historian, who is also a graduate in engineering and archaeology. Comparing the reconstruction to the development at Upper Canada Village he said that Louisbourg was a mixture of civilian and military and the project is five times as difficult as the artifacts of 250 years ago have gone and are not even available in museums.

"Louisbourg was unique in being not once, but twice, the scene of epic struggles between two of the great founding nations of the Americas. This great fortress had a life span of only forty years", he commented. Dr. Lunn pointed out that the fort was built by the French to stop the British from sailing down the St. Lawrence, to protect French fishing interests on the Grand Banks and to act as a port of transshipment for goods on their way to France from Quebec and the West Indies. "The fort which was first settled in 1713 had a brief history but it was illuminating".

Dr. Lunn described the result of the restoration project as "trying to bring back a moment in time prior to 1745, the date of the first seige". He said that the project was started as an "economic exercise" to combat the unemployment of displaced coal miners in Cape Breton. Visitors to the site have brought many thousands of tourist dollars to the area comparable to the situation in the area of Upper Canada Village.

Approximately a quarter of the original town and its nearby defenses are being re-created in their entirety in order that visitors might experience an eighteenth-century environment in depth. Completely restored to date is the Citadel which includes the King's Bastion and the Chateau St. Louis. During the past month there have been both fire and hurricane loses to this area amounting to over one hundred thousand dollars. Over 200 artifacts have been ruined as well as buildings extensively damaged.

Among the interesting slides shown were pictures of artifacts found in the excavation. Included in these artifacts, which in many cases show the trade routes of the time were building hardware, glassware, dinnerware, a porringer, toy boat, baby shoe with tied lace, wooden chair slat, pieces of cloth, etc.

In conclusion Dr. Lunn stressed that he has a dedicated staff of specialists in many fields who are being successful in depicting the period realistically, and not in the "antiseptic version". Many skills are being utilized and the results are for all mankind. "This makes one feel truly a Canadian and that is what it's all about".

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Graham Houze, president and thanked by Bill MacDonald. It was announced that the next meeting on November 20 would hear Rev. Robert Rumball, Toronto.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

Glenn is 14 and his dearest wish is to have a family. He knows that chances for adoption diminish as a boy gets older but he fervently hopes possible parents will be seeing him now.

Glenn is a slight, handsome lad of French and German ancestry. He has had a number of moves and disappointments in his life, none of them his fault, but they have resulted in his being a bit behind in school. He is an average student in Grade Seven.

Glenn is likable, affectionate and eager to learn to please others and to be accepted. He loves camping, the outdoors, and is interested in sports — including swimming and bike riding. Glen reads a great deal. He is keen on travelling and loves to talk politics.

This lad needs a family which likes to share activities and where the father will take a special interest in him. He can be either an only child or the youngest. For the right family, Glenn will be a splendid son.

To inquire about adopting Glenn, please write to Today's Child, Ministry of Community and Social Services, Box 888, Station K, Toronto M4P 2H2. For general adoption information, consult your local Children's Aid Society.

HE WANTS A FAMILY

Nursery School Officially Opened

Mrs. R.D. Wells, chairman of the Executive Committee for parents, was in charge of the brief program which officially opened Chesterville and District Nursery School last week.

Mrs. Wells introduced school supervisor Mrs. Suzanne Coyle and teacher Miss Janice Wylie, both of Winchester.

Acting Chesterville Reeve Fred Coons cut the ceremonial ribbon declaring the school officially open.

Present enrolment at the school is 28 at the government-sponsored complex designed to cater to pre-school children. The little ones attend only half days and parents decide on either a 3-day weekly program or a 5-day weekly program. Enrollment fees are $8.00 and $12.00 respectively.

Three and four-year-old children are enrolled and the morning hours are from 9:00 till 11:30 while in the afternoon classes are from 1:00 to 3:30.

The training includes free play time, outside play and circle time when the little ones ask a wide variety of questions.

Officials point out that applications for afternoon sessions are still being accepted and those interested are requested to call Mrs. John at 448-2216.

La Leche Invites Participation

The newly organized Le Leche League of Winchester held its first meeting on Wednesday, November 6th at the home of Mrs. James Lemon. The group will meet on the first Wednesday of each month to discuss, informally, different phases of breastfeeding. The topic of this first meeting was "The Advantages of Breastfeeding for Mother and baby".

The name, La Leche, is Spanish and means "the milk". A non-sectarian, non-profit organization, the League's purpose is to help encourage "good mothering through breastfeeding".

All women who are interested in nursing their babies are invited, as are their babies. You need not be pregnant or even have a family to attend. If you are a wife and hope some day to have children, if you are a grandmother, if you have breastfed, if you are interested -- you are welcome. Women who are pregnant will find it most helpful to start the series of four meetings before the baby arrives.

La Leche League began in a Chicago suburb 18 years ago, when one mother who had successfully nursed her baby, helped another who wanted to breastfeed. This is still the basic approach, (mother to mother), although the League is now international in scope with Leaders helping thousands of women in Canada, the United States and 15 other countries.

The next meeting of the Winchester Group will be held on Wednesday, December 4th at 8:15 p.m. to discuss the topic "Getting Started at Breastfeeding and Overcoming Difficulties". For further information or help with breastfeeding, or to request a copy of the League Manual - THE WOMANLY ART OF BREASTFEEDING Phone 774-3830.

Local Women's Institute Members Visit New Zealand And Australia

Women's Institute members and other organized women's groups from every country in the entire hemisphere met together in Perth, Australia, for a October triennial conference of the Associated Country Women of the World on October 8th. The conference is an inspiration which has been built up since 1930 to foster good international relationships between nations of the world. Culture barriers are better understood, methods of livelihood and economic hazards are exchanged, handicraft displays are an indication of woman's ability where facilities sometimes come easy but all too often with much labour and poverty. Women are steadily gaining pace, and certainly the knowledge gained from meeting with homemakers of foreign tongues will do as much to reduce jealousy and greed, violence and war, famine and misunderstanding as any prearranged meetings of government and financial bigwigs.

All those elected delegates from across our vast Dominion in particular will return full of eagerness to relate to other Canadians the findings of the togetherness of this promising group of dedicated enthusiasts. Perhaps a morsel of this worthwhile endeavour will permeate the thoughts of outsiders to join the Women's Institute Branch in their community -- be it in a farming locality, a town, or a city environ.

Australia is closer by thought than distance with "pen pal" communication. Several ladies from Osgoode alone have been corresponding regularly for many years (and exchange birthday and Christmas gifts) with New Zealand W.I. members. Two of these members are delegates to the Perth effort and arranged their trip by way of New Zealand. They have made personal contact with their own pen pals and arranged to take greetings to others from Osgoode acquaintances. They have attended a Branch Institute meeting (there are 28 Branches in N.A.) and were welcomed with earnest friendliness. Direct personal messages have elicited the information that they were presented with floral bouquets (of which N.Z. is so famous) and other tokens of that country's spontaneous hospitality. Newspaper comments are vivid, with maximum indication of utmost pleasure that so many Canadian delegates made New Zealand a stop-over point. Excerpts from personal correspondence indicate a lively atmosphere in Auckland:

"Thank you for the cookbook and W.I. serviettes -- something we can't get here now and which brought Osgoode a little closer."

"Our motel room has a coffee maker and electric kettle, teabags and instant coffee, a half pint of whole milk, and even an newspaper delivered to our door."

"We face the Princess Wharf and are able to see the activity along the waterfront. Strange to see the cars scurrying by on the wrong side of the road."

So -- are we right, or are we wrong in Canada? Who must decide? We must live and let live. And who has experienced such admirable hospitality at a hotel or motel in Canada? Everyone has much to learn and be thankful for.

One is left to wonder and ponder over the realities of personal relationship. To acquire an "in" through common membership in such a world-wide organization is indeed a tribute to those early rural pioneers who saw a need for training in health, hygiene, education, food and nutrition, handicrafts, and historical memories, with freedom and liberty for the taking.

The Carleton East District Women's Institutes look forward with keen anticipation to hearing firsthand reports about this 1974 conference of the Associated Women of the World; each delegate can truly be regarded as a goodwill ambassador for every Canadian woman at home.

Small Businesses To Be Recognized

Walter Baker Reports

The introduction of the Federal Business Development Bank Act by the federal government may mean that this government is following the lead taken by the former Progressive Conservative government of John Diefenbaker in recognizing the needs of small business and perhaps realizing the importance of small business to the Canadian economy.

I certainly hope that such is the case, for small businesses are a unique form of enterprise. They provide a productive outlet for the energies of Canadians. Most Canadians are enterprising people who want to be independent in terms of their economic way of life. I believe they exhibit a greater efficiency when stacked, pound for pound, against large business. They have a capacity to become the specialist suppliers of large business. They add variety and service, a specialist skill, to the economic life of our country.

Small business provide competition. It cannot be over emphasized that they do constitute a bulwark against monopoly in business, and they provide the means for the entry into productive business of many young people. Small business employs half the labour force in Canada. They are a large and developing source of employment. They provide for new directions and new methods of doing business, and they offer an opportunity for personal initiative which, in a society such as ours, is growing less and less.

Small business is indeed in trouble in certain areas of Canada. I understand the minister and the government is looking at the regional aspect of the problems of financing Canadian small business. I am sure that the problems of Newfoundland are different from the problems of British Columbia, which in turn are different from those of the province of Ontario, and, in some aspects, those of the province of Quebec. I think it is a very healthy thing that we are recognizing the differences that exist in our Canadian economic community.

I urge the minister and the government to have the bank show a spirit of adventure when they consider each individual application for assistance. If this bill is to help small business in the way it should be helped, and indeed must be helped if it is to survive, the same risks must be taken as are taken by the thousands of small businessmen who have made this country great.

Such a spirit of adventure on the part of the bank should not mean that loans would be given freely and haphazardly to each and all that apply, for many will apply that would not have a chance to survive in the everyday world of business.

However, unless such a spirit of adventure is present in the consideration of applications, many unusual but potentially successful businesses would not have a chance to become operational.

The foundation of most of the great corporations of Canada and indeed the world, in most cases, was an unusual idea or a unique way of presenting an old idea. Many of these giant companies started out as small businesses and were made possible because someone was adventuresome enough to take a chance on something untried but potentially successful.

Young Artists

Five pupils from St. Catherine's School, Metcalfe, were among the eight prize winners in a recent competition sponsored by the Christmas Seal Committee of the Ottawa-Carleton Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

The competition was divided into two sections, "Eastern" and "Western" and both First and Second prize winners in the Eastern division were from the Metcalfe school.

The $50.00 first prize was shared by Nancy Blais and Mary Henricks, and the second award ($25.00) was won by Mary Ellen Klein Swormink. Two of the four Honourable Mention awards went to Dianne Marion and Robbie Mole.

School Use Program

A six-point program intended to promote the community use of schools was announced last week by Education Minister Thomas Wells.

Speaking to the Ontario Communities and School Conference in London, Ontario, Mr. Wells stated that for the balance of the 1974-75 school year the Ministry will grant boards up to $10,000 per project for new or expanded community school projects. The money can be used for staffing of such programs.

A community schools unit will be created within the Ministry with a small staff in the Toronto office and a community education officer in each of the nine regional offices across the province. Mr. Wells said that the new unit will employ existing Ministry staff, and will not require hiring of additional personnel. The unit personnel, he said, will work in the schools at the grass roots level, improving and expanding existing community school programs and developing new ones. The community schools unit will be backed by an advisory committee comprised of representatives of provincial organizations concerned with recreation, education and community affairs.

The Ministry will also produce a practical handbook that will inform and motivate school principals, staff, and interested citizens regarding the community use of schools. It will contain facts, ideas, and examples.

The current policy of allowing school boards to classify their expenditures related to community school activities outside the limits of the provincial expenditure ceilings will be maintained.

The Ministry, Mr. Wells said, will strongly support the concept of community use of schools after regular school hours as well as the use of vacant school facilities for community purposes during school hours. The Ministry will also urge school boards to examine their procedures and policies relating to liaison and co-operation with community agencies that may wish to use board facilities.

Mr. Wells said that he was not talking about building new schools to accommodate community school programs but rather about making use of existing school buildings in new ways and for new purposes.

The Ministry, Mr. Wells said, strongly supports programs and projects that encourage individuals and groups to use schools for activities that extend the school as a cultural, social and learning centre of the neighborhood for people of all ages.

X-73 Ice Remover To Replace Rock Salt?

A new snow and ice remover 30 times more effective than rock salt (at 0 degrees F.) is announced by The Monroe Company, Inc. Unlike rock salt, which is ineffective at temperatures below 15 degrees F., Monroe's X-73 ICE REMOVER possesses an "exothermic" (heat-generating) action which lasts up to 24 hours. Even at 20 - 30 degrees below zero, the pure white pellets radiate heat to melt ice and snow instantly.

Completely harmless to humans, animals, asphalt, vegetation, and clothing, improved X-73 ICE REMOVER leaves no residue to be tracked onto carpets or floors.

Economical X-73 requires less material to do the job than other chemical ice melters. Packaged in an airtight, moisture-proof container, the compound can be stored from season to season without weakening its effectiveness.

X-73 is recommended for sidewalks, stairways, loading docks, driveways, parking lots, and railway switches. It is also suitalbe for de-icing frozen gutters, pipes, sewers, and drains.

Town League Opens Play

(By Al VanBridger)

On November 5th the first two games in the 74-75 Winchester Adult Hockey League were played. The games are played every Tuesday night with the first game going at 8:30 p.m. and the second at 9:30 p.m.

In this season's first action Bill Hobaboam tied Al VanBridger's team two all, while Wayne Hutt defeated Harry Keyes' team two to one.

In the first game Bill Hogaboam tied the score with just six seconds left to play. VanBridger's team had the lead all the way on goals by Al VanBridger and Larry Berry. Larry Lynch had the other goal for Hogaboam's team.

In game two Dave VanBridger scored the first goal and then he set up the winning goal for Captain Wayne Hutt. The story of this game had to be Hutt's goalie Roy McCooey who was sensational in nets as he stopped every shot but one by Gord Quaile to give Hutt's team a two to one victory over Harry Keyes.

NOVEMBER 12, 1974

The first game between Al VanBridger and Wayne Hutt's teams was a real thriller as it went to the last minute of play to produce a 1-1 tie. It was Don Griffith who scored early for VanBridger's team. Griffith's goal held up until the last minutes of play when Dave VanBridger scored to draw Hutt's team to a one all score.

In game two Bill Hogaboam and Harry Keye's teams battled to a 3-3 draw. Merv Coons was top shooter for Keyes' team as he scored two goals. Dennis Ouelette had the other. Carl Robinson, Peter LaRose and Bill Hogaboam all scored for Hogaboam.

All the town league players invite everyone to their dance this Saturday night at the arena hall here in town. There will be good music and a lunch so we'll see you there!

Hawks Fail To Gain In Standings

(By Al VanBridger)

Two road games over the weekend failed to gain any ground in the standings for the Winchester Hawks as they dropped both decisions. Friday night in Alexandria the Hawks were shut-out 7 to 0 by the fast skating Alexandria Glens. At least the Glens have a better hockey team than they do arena staff. The arena was dimly lit as usual but to add to this inconvenience the rink management neglected to provide any markings on the uneven ice surface. This condition led to a monumental number of offside calls. Nevertheless these facts are incidental when it comes right down to winning hockey games.

Three new players were in the line-up Friday night. Their presence were certainly noticed but their effectiveness were not felt until Sunday night's game. Mike Prubant played both weekend games and with more experience he will be an effective puck stopper. Peter Brackenbury, a big winger, picked up a goal and an assist in Sunday's game as did newcomer Randy Drew. Bruce Eadie also made his return to the Hawks over the weekend.

Sunday, the Hawks came up with a fine team effort in Long Sault but once again they fell just short as the Pats won the game 7 to 5.

As previously mentioned new comers Randy Drew and Peter Brackenbury each scored a goal and as assist and they were very effective in their second outing in the Hawks uniforms.

Len McLean, Larry Moore and Mike Armstrong all had great games and should have collected many more points. Len McLean alone missed three golden opportunities.

The Hawks scored the only goals in the first period. Peter Brackenbury opened the scoring with Karl McRoberts and Randy Drew collecting assists, then, Karl McRoberts, who is playing great hockey, made it 2 to 0 for the Hawks as he scored on passes from Glen Taylor and Tom Kirkwood.

Long Sault roared out in the second period and scored 4 goals before the Hawks finally got on track and Randy Drew scored to make it 4 to 3. Len McLean and Larry Moore collected assists on Drews' goal which ended the scoring for the second period with Long Sault up 1 goal.

Once again, as in the second period, Long Sault roared out of the dressing room and scored two goals to make the score 6 to 3 in their favour. Glen Taylor bulged the twine after he was set up beautifully by the McRoberts brothers Keith and Karl. Long Sault again spoiled the Winchester drive by scoring a goal with just 4 minutes left in the game. But the Hawks were not finished as Larry Moore blinked the light after being set up by Peter Brackenbury and Len McLean. Moore's tally ended the game with a 7 to 5 score in favour of Long Sault.

Friday, November 15th the Hawks' arch-rivals from Metcalfe will be in town to do battle. This should be a great game so come out and cheer the Hawks to their first win of the season.

Jets Capitalize On Weekend

Metcalfe 'Jets' capitalized on two 3-point games last weekend with an 8 to 3 victory over Morrisburg 'Lions' on Friday night at Morrisburg and a 5 to 3 win over Prescott at home on Sunday afternoon. The two wins moved Metcalfe into a second-place tie with Cardinal in the league standing.

AT MORRISBURG

The Morrisburg contest was an exercise in penalties with Metcalfe being assessed a total of 58 minutes and a game misconduct. Morrisburg players served a total of 32 minutes in the sin bin. A total of 42 penalities were handed out by referee-in-chief DeRosiers with 26 going to Metcalfe.

Marksmen for Metcalfe were Tim Redmond, Ron Gravelle and Brad Sullivan with two each and singles by Hugh Doyle and Marty Kelly.

Morrisburg goals were scored by Chuck Lawler with two and one by Paul Doney.

ED ROONEY OUT FOR SEASON

An unfortunate accident in the dying minutes of the game resulted in serious injury to Morrisburg defenceman Ed Rooney. With less than two minutes remaining to play Marty Kelly broke through the Morrisburg defence and Rooney in a desperate effort to aid his net-minder crashed into the goal post.

Reports from Morrisburg on Monday morning indicated the young player had been rushed to hospital where his spleen was removed.

HOST 'SAINTS'

The Jets hosted Prescott 'Saints' on Sunday afternoon and in a rugged, but clean, game racked up another victory.

Each team scored twice in the opening period with Metcalfe netting the first one off the stick of Mike Rail. Prescott's Dale Marshall tied the score two minutes later but Jets moved into the lead again when Tim Redmond fired home a pass from Marty Kelly. Before the period ended however Steve Wyatt teamed up with Pete Lapensee to beat Brisson and knot the score once more.

Both netminders were sensational in the second twenty minutes and the score remained at 2-all when the teams skated out for the final frame. At the 3-minute mark Larry Shields put the Jets one up, but again the lead was short-lived when Greg Fisher found an opening and beat Brisson.

Bill Unsworth put the Jets ahead to stay half way through the final period with a hard drive from the point and Mike Rochon added an insurance marker two minutes later.

Final score: Metcalfe 5 - Prescott 3.

Winner of the 50-50 draw was Phil Yee of Prescott.

Liberty — Or Liberties ?

With the current increase in the number of strikes in transportation, both national and local, and involving planes and trains as well as bus and subway facilities, is it wise to keep emphasizing that "we're not doing too badly," in these near-emergency situations? Rather shouldn't press, TV and radio be emphasizing that the "liberties" which are being taken with the much-boasted principle of liberty, not only by striking employees, but by many minority groups which take the law into their own hands, represent a definite threat to the very freedom which the word liberty procliams? Today in practise our so-called liberty is beginning to border upon license, with little regard to the fact that there can be no liberty unless it is accompanied by a necessary sense of responsibility.

With the increasing complete disregard for the rights and welfare of others, there will come a time when the majority of persons will rebel against such license, and stricter legal prohibitions will be initiated which could lead to actual curtailments of our hard-won freedom.

Unless we learn to accept responsibility for the welfare of others, and place limitations on the exercise of our liberties, more drastic ones may be forced upon us.

So let's not talk of how well we did, or could do again under strike conditions, but concentrate instead upon what more we can do to prevent such emergencies recurring.

Both employers and employees need to realize and accept the responsibility for the inconvenience, discomfort and actual hardship they are causing to others. Not "my rights" but freedom to act within the limits of the rights of the general public should be the accepted criterion.

Used Cars Gain Value — Maybe

Richard Nixon couldn't do it, but it seems just about anyone else these days could sell a used car and fetch a high price for it, writes Richard Starks in The Financial Post.

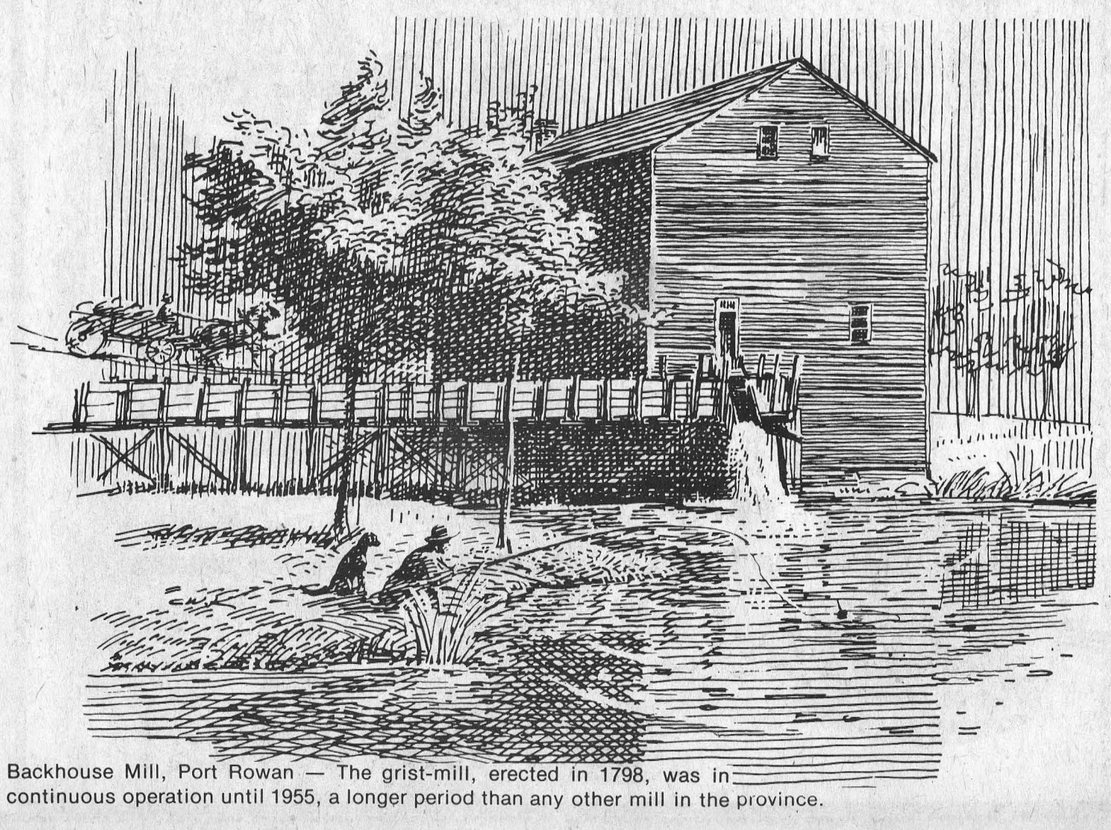
Good-condition used cars, up to four or five years old, are increasingly hard to find in Canada. Prices are rising rapidly, so that whatever the make, model or year of the car you are driving now, it is probably worth more than you think it is. A lot more.

The old idea that a modern car's value can only diminish with age just doesn't apply. In Vancouver, one dealer says he will pay as much as 10 per cent - 20 per cent more for a well-preserved, popular-line car than he would have paid for the same car a year ago. So a car worth $2,000 on the used-car market last year may be worth $2,200. One Toronto dealer is paying as much as $300-$400 more for recent model-year cars than he would have paid a year ago. And, he says, good-condition 1968 model-year cars are worth more now than they were when they were new.

Elsewhere, many dealers say the published list prices of used cars, with which they normally work, are no longer valid. If the list price is offered, it's often not accepted: one Calgary dealer says he has to pay $200-$300 more than the book price before the owner will sell.

Increases in the prices of new cars have helped raise used-car prices, but the main reason good used cars have recently become so valuable is their scarcity. In Montreal, one Ford dealer says he is losing 15-20 potential used-car sales a week, because he is unable to find the type of car his customers are seeking.

Dealers cite a number of reasons for the scarcity. A number of people are postponing the purchase of a new car, partly because of the increased cost of 1975 cars, and partly because of a lack of confidence in the state of the economy. Many used cars are being sold privately. Private deals are easier to arrange now. Whenever there is a sharp increase in the price of new cars demand for previous-year models and of used cars increases, thereby cutting into supply. More cars are going directly to the scrap yard rather than a dealer's lot -- because the cost of repairing poor-condition used cars has risen substantially.



Backhouse Mill, Port Rowan — The grist-mill, erected in 1798, was in continuous operation until 1955, a longer period than any other mill in the province.

Some Bits And Pieces

by Bill Smiley

A bits and pieces column. First item shows a malicious delight in "catching someone out" as the phrase goes. It is one of the less pleasant aspects of the human character, but at the same time has given a great deal of pleasure, over the centuries, to the human race.

There is nothing people enjoy more than somebody else's feet of clay. How we all secretly rejoice, if not openly, when a cabinet minister is caught with a blonde who is not his wife, or a prominent judge is nailed on an impaired driving charge, or a teacher is discovered nurturing marijuana in his-her window boxes.

Disgusting, and definitely not Christian, but it's fun. I've been a victim myself. Sent out a questionnaire to elementary school teachers of English last year. There was one spelling error in it, and I didn't do it, a secretary did. But about 50 per cent of the questionnaires returned had the mistake circled, and some gleeful little remark attached.

Now, it's my turn. I have before me a list of novels and plays sent out by the Educational Communications Authority, a fairly sacred cow with the Ministry of Education.

The Authority wants English department heads to tick off a list of the books most used by students in our high schools, with a view to buying the movie rights to the 20 most popular, so that they can be video-taped and made available on a wide basis. A laudable plan.

It was when I started to scan the list that I thought it must be a put-on. I re-checked the accompanying letter. No, it was real, it was official.

I looked over the list, a fairly comprehensive one of the most of the literature used in our high schools, and started ticking off the obvious ones: Macbeth, Hamlet, Romeo and Juliet, Death of a Salesman, Huck Finn, The Great Gatsby. Everything in order.

Then I turned to Page 2 of the list and nearly fell off my chair. I came to two conclusions. Either the chap who had dictated the list had failed to proof-read it, or the secretary who had done the typing had finished Page 1 and gone out and had a large liquid lunch before tackling Page 2.

Don Quixote came out as Don Quiote. This must be an animal story about a coyote called Don. Emily Bronte must be twirling in her grave on the moors, to see her magnificent Wuthering Heights described as Withering Heights.

Thomas Hardy will be having a celestial seizure when he realizes that his great Tess of the D'Urbervilles has a new title: Tess of the D'Umervilles. D'Umber than what?

A science fiction novel, The Chrysalids. The Luck of Ginger Coffey has been transformed to Lack of Ginger Coffey. Probably some sort of rationing.

A fine western novel, The Ox Bow Incident, has changed shape. It is now the Ox Box Incident, a rather square title, if I may say so.

A Grade 11 standard, To Kill a Mockingbird, has become To Kill a Mocking Bird. Can't you see that bird, just sitting around mocking the old lady who owns it?

But perhaps the greatest blow to Canadian literature, and certainly the one that nearly bust a gut in a number of English teachers, was the updating of that fine, old novel about French Canada, Maria Chapdelaine. It is now called Marve Chapdelaine.

That is an obvious backlash by some male chauvinist pig to the entire Women's Lib movement. But I'd certainly like to read the new version. I can just see Marve up there, in the Quebec backwoods, bringing in the kindling, worrying about wolves, and having babies under primitive conditions. Poor Marve. It was OK for Marie. She had guts. But Marve doesn't sound as though he could hack it, with a name like that. I imagine he'll die in childbirth, or be eaten alive by mosquitoes, or drop a pot of scalding soupe aux pois on his foot, or something like that.

Now I know this entire column is completely unfair to the poor guy who made up the list. But I got so much pleasure from it, purely malicious pleasure, that I couldn't refrain from passing it on.

And the sheer joy of it is that it comes from an Educational Authority. In capitals. It would be no fun at all if it came from an illiterate bookseller.

It's interesting to learn that your neighbour is going to have a baby, after 15 years of sterility, or that your Uncle George had an affair in Singapore when he was in the merchant navy, and before he became a church elder.

But it's sheer glee when you discover that someone away above you in the hierarchy has committed a monstrous boo-boo.

We all have clay feet, but most of us keep our shoes tightly laced, or at least our socks on.

Double Duty

by Dr. G. C. Smyth

On a certain occasion a lawyer asked Jesus, "Teacher, which is the great commandment in the law?" Jesus replied, "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the great and first commandment."

Then he added, "And a second is like it. You shall love your neighbour as yourself. On these two commandments depend all the law and the prophets" (Matthew 22:34-40). Each depends on the other for fulfillment.

How would a youth gather confidence about the interest of God the Father in him, if he had never known any parental care? Or suppose a person never did anything sacrificial for anyone else; how would you explain to him the life of Jesus and the principle of the Cross? We learn what the love of God is through our experience with others.

God is ever living, of course. But he becomes alive in us when we do something Godlike for a neighbor.

There is a distinction here. When Jesus spoke about loving father or mother, he used the word "phileo", which means intimate, personal love-----the kind of love you feel toward your wife, your husband, your child.

But when Jesus spoke about loving your "neighbor", he used another word, "agapao", which means intelligent, consistent good will.

It would be both unnatural and undesirable to have the same feelings toward everyone. But what a change for the better would be initiated, if we did our best to treat all and sundry with as much wise and persistent good will as we could muster! "You shall love your neighbor as yourself."

How do we love ourselves? I hope the answer is the way the late C.S. Lewis of Oxford University viewed himself. He wrote that however much he might dislike his conceit or greed, he went on loving himself. The very reason why he hated such things about himself was that he loved the man. He wanted to be worthy of his own self-respect.

Henry George, a great humanitarian, and Cardinal Manning, a great English prelate, engaged in what is now a classic conversation.

Henry George said, "I loved the people and that love brought me to Christ as their best friend and teacher." "And I loved Christ", replied Manning, "and so loved the people for whom he died."

We can love God and see that we must love our neighbor, or we can set out to love our neighbor and see that we must have God's help. That is love's double duty.

The Seventh Column

By the time this column is read municipal nominations will have closed and candidates may already be making campaign speeches. Election time is vitally important to all taxpayers since everyone is given an opportunity to say either 'thank you' to those seeking re-election, or turn them out in favour of more 'promising' candidates. But remember, the only way to say either 'Thanks' or 'No Thanks' is by casting a ballot on election day. We understand plans are being formulated for an 'ALL-CANDIDATES' meeting and urge all ratepayers to make a special effort to be present. Those offering their time and talent at the municipal level do not have 'campaign funds' at their disposal and consequently are pleased to have an opportunity to speak directly to those they hope to serve. If you have a 'beef' don't air it on a street corner - - bring it to the meeting.

Maybe you hadn't noticed but there are only 34 shopping days left before Christmas - - - and only 20 shopping days left before Winchester's annual Santa Claus Parade. Chamber of Commerce president Norm Dignard reports elaborate plans are taking shape with most local business firms and organizations indicating their intentions to participate. Norm also reports having been in touch with Santa and suggesting some new means of arrival at the thriving Seaway Valley town. We thought a parachute jump would be novel but apparently Santa didn't agree. Norm says he 'threw out' the idea when 'Santa' visited his trailer-office last week. "He shook like a bowl full of jelly", says the car salesman, "but he definitely wasn't laughing".

Maybe you've recently lost something you valued highly and have given up hope of ever finding it. Have courage ..... the following is a true tale. One year ago this month a friend of ours went deer hunting in those 'badlands' somewhere west of Lanark. During the hunt he lost his treasured pipe and in the months ahead mourned the loss of the well-seasoned old brier. Last week he returned to the isolated hunting area hoping to bag another deer. He didn't even see a deer - - - - but found the pipe he had lost on a lonely trail just twelve months before. Funny though, when he got back home he lit up the weather-beaten relic - - - and his wife suggested he lose it again.

The latest edition of the "Carleton Education Bulletin" reports the election of S.J. Berry as 1974-75 chairman of the Ontario Council for Leadership in Educational Administration. OCLEA, according to the 'Bulletin', is "a co-operative professional development body serving educational leaders at the School Board, Community College and University Faculties of Education levels." Weren't too sure we clearly understood the definition so we asked Stan's brother Ray to explain. The well known feed dealer pondered the question for a few seconds and then suggested, "maybe it has something to do with schools." Congratulations Stan!

This is not to suggest that school teachers are a bit absent minded, but the following story is circulating. "This afternoon", said the Zoology professor to his class, "we shall take Mr. Frog apart and see what makes him croak. I have a frog in my pocket to be used as a specimen." He then reached into his pocket and drew out a paper bag which he emptied on the table. Out rolled a badly squashed ham sandwich. The teacher mopped his brow. "My goodness", he almost cried, "I distinctly remember eating my lunch."

The dictionary defines 'epidemic' as "something affecting many at one time". Think maybe we're having one right here at the office. Fortunately though it's not the deadly type of epidemic that creates fear and often leads to panic. Oh, those 'inflicted' suffer a certain amount of fear, and dear ones often panic when the 'malady' reaches its final stages at the local hospital, but unlike most other 'afflictions' the end result is ecstatic happiness. And if you don't believe that ask any nurse working in the maternity ward.

Dundas County 4-H In Review

by John Anderson, Assistant Agricultural Representative

It doesn't seem that long since I was sitting down writing a special edition for 4-H week last year. Yet the months have flown by, and the faces have changed, The program this year was filled with ups and downs, yet the basic county program was very successful.

This year we added a new club to the roster, and the Animal Husbandry club became our 12th. The membership was up, with some one hundred and thirty members and 192 projects starting the year. Of note, I believe is the fact that the age of the members was younger as the younger brothers and sisters took up the families 4-H colors.

Highlights of this years program were: Debbie Baker attends Provincial 4-H Conference, Guelph; Dundas County 4-Hers Attend Regional Conference, Ottawa; Helen Fawcett Tops Judging Night; 4-Hers Enjoy Bus trip to Montreal and Expo Ball game; Dundas County 4-Hers enjoy Inter-County Exchange with Huron County; 4-H Members enjoy two day camp at C.C.E.A.; Chesterville Fair, hosts 4-H Achievement Day; Henderson, Janse, Erratt, and Cross take top honors; Dundas County has excellent showing at Ottawa Winter Fair — Kevin Henderson - Grand Champion Junior Holstein; Mary Jansen - Grand Champion Junior Ayrshire; Cathy Cross - Grand Champion Charolais Steer; Dundas County 4-H Awards Night, November 26th, North Dundas District High School.

Yes, another successful 4-H year draws to a close, as we prepare to celebrate National 4-H Week. Unfortunately we haven't the space nor the opportunity to mention everyones name. I would like to say that all of the members who participated and completed their project, should consider themselves as winners. I would also like to call upon all 4-Hers in the county to take the opportunity to tell someone who has no experience with 4-H, about the program, what it has for young people, and why you are in it. This would make an excellent 4-H Week Project.

We would also like to take this opportunity to thank all the sponsors, and other people who co-operate with the various local programs. An extremely large 'Thank You' must be extended to all the 4-H leaders. Wthout these men and women, who volunteer their time freely, and graciously there would be no 4-H program.

Winchester Lions Encourage Erection Of Road Signs

Driving through rural Ontario it is always very interesting to note the attractive road signs erected by 4-H members.

These signs tell passing motorists that a boy or girl, keenly interested in agriculture, resides there, and in this area members of Winchester Lions Club have displayed a keen interest in these colourful pieces of art.

The service club members are well aware of the valuable role being played by 4-H Club members, and in an effort to encourage more and more of these road-signs the club each year donates valuable prizes to signs judged most attractive by a panel of judges.

Unfortunately the names of this year's winners has not yet been released. Judges, it is understood, have reached their decision but the names of winners will not be made public before Achievement Day.

Dundas Clubs Fare Well In Competition At Ottawa

Each year the Ottawa Winter Fair hosts the Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec 4-H Championship Show. It has almost got to be like the history of the fair, that the 4-H members from Dundas County put on a fine show. This year we had 14 calf club members, 7 steer competitors, and one showman competing at the fair. I might also mention that as an interesting sidelight this years county representatives were on the average, the youngest group ever to be sent to the Ottawa Winter Fair from Dundas County.

The age was no measurement in the show ring, and the youth pulled through with honours. I believe that I can honestly say that all members from the county program can justly be proud of their representatives. Each and every member did an excellent job. Some of the more exciting results were the following: James Fawcett - Division 'I' Junior Holstein Champion; Dianne Baker - Division 'I' Junior Holstein Reserve Champion; Kevin Henderson - Divsion 'II' Junior Holstein Champion; Kevin Henderson - GRAND CHAMPION JUNIOR HOLSTEIN; Mary Jansen - Grand Champion Junior Ayrshire; Cathy Cross - Grand Champion Charolais Steer; Kevin Henderson, James Fawcett, Dianne Baker - Reserve Champion Group of 3 Junior Holsteins.

I realize that the worst part is that there was only one champion, and therefore only one name is mentioned. I wish that we had the space to list everyone's name but that would be impossible. I would like to comment to the members themselves, that we are proud of your accomplishments.

Banquet And Awards Honour Members

The 1974 4-H Agricultural activities ended in Russell County last Friday night at Embrun's new community centre with a banquet and awards' night. Awards were presented for the various clubs as well as for county trophies. Some of the main awards included:

The Ottawa Citizen Award of $125.00 for the best 4-H member in the past year; the W.E. Burton Trophy for the member who showed the best qualities of leadership and sportsmanship; and the Eastern Breeders' Incorporated prize for the senior member with the highest score in livestock clubs. All three of these awards were won by Jean Claude Cayer of the St. Albert Club.

The Canadian National Exhibition shield and prizes for the winners at the judging competition were won by: Gerry Heymans, Russell Club in the senior division and Gilles Marion, also of the Russell Club in the junior division.

Lorraine Eadie was named the County's top showman.

Dundas To Stage Achievement Day On November 26th

Each fall, members of Dundas County 4-H clubs, like all other County groups, stage Achievement Day.

This is a time when top members of each individual club receive awards in recognition of their efforts.

Again this year the big event will be staged at North Dundas District High School and the date announced last week by the Ministry of Agriculture and Food will be November 26th.

4-H members look forward to this major event, not only from a standpoint of winning prizes, but as an occasion when all clubs join to write 'finish' to another successful season.

Largest Youth Program Is Great Organization

By: Jack James, Assistant Agricultural Rep. Carleton County

4-H, the largest rural youth program in Canada is sixty-one years old this year. In 1913 a group of enthusiastic people, young and old, in Roland, Manitoba decided to start a program in agriculture of the rural youth in that area. The first projects were poultry, grain and potatoes. From that point onward 4-H has grown to a rural youth organization of approximately 80,000 members in 6,100 clubs. This organization was known as Boy's and Girl's Clubs until 1952 at which time the name 4-H was adopted.

4-H volunteer leaders, interested parents and extension personnel from various provincial agencies administer the 4-H program to help members "Learn to do by Doing".

In Carleton County 4-H began around 1915. The first organized activity was a potato growing contest. The organization grew in size until in 1954 there were 454 enrolled in Agricultural Clubs. There were 284 in Homemaking Clubs in the same year. It is interesting to note that the change in population distribution has been a major factor causing a decrease in 4-H membership.

During the 1974 4-H year in Carleton County 343 4-H members representing 239 families participated in 4-H agricultural clubs and they were enrolled in 472 projects. The 27 4-H volunteer leaders in the County are the people mainly responsible for carrying out the 4-H program.

Young people interested in joining 4-H must be at least 12 years old. They should contact the local Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food office in their County if they want to become part of the program.

Learn To Do By Doing...

Organization meetings during the school winter break in March bring all 4-H members together where they receive their project material and enrol in different projects. Projects available to 4-H members in Carleton County consist of calf, grain, corn, potato, horse, sheep, swine, forage and youth leadership. At a series of four to six meetings during the summer members participate in discussions, lectures and other educational sessions concerning their projects. Meetings also include social recreation, tours and sports activities. The highlight of the year for a member is displaying his or her project at Achievement Days. The top exhibts here go ahead to a County Championship Show, and, if successful here, on to the Ottawa Winter Fair. The year ends with a 4-H Awards Banquet where members are recognized for their achievements.

4-H members who have done well in club work for two or three years are eligible for further opportunity. They may be chosen to represent Carleton County at Regional Conference at Carleton University, Provincial Leadership Conference in Guelph, Camp Overlook in Malone, New York on Inter-County 4-H Exchange trips or at 4-H Club Camp at the Ottawa Exhibition. There are also other additional opportunities through the 4-H program for members who obtain outstanding achievements.

WE SALUTE YOU 4-H MEMBERS

Program Change Continues

By: Jack James
Assistant Agricultural Rep.
Carleton County

Our society is rapidly changing in the seventies and in order to satisfy the needs and wants of the 4-H membership the program has changed also. An increase in the flexibility of the program allows 4-H members to choose a project in their area of greatest interest. Self determined projects are a new idea, for example, in Carleton County we have soybean, rabbit and youth leadership projects. Snowmobile projects are also available to members if they are interested.

4-H meeting format is changing to provide a more complete program. Important parts of meetings now include social recreation, speakers, tours, and many other things. Program planning has become an important part of 4-H also. At the beginning of the year club executive and leaders met to discuss the year's events.

A question often asked is "How do we form a new club not in existence now"? If a group of rural young people are interested in a particular project they should find adults interested in being leaders, draw up a program and contact the local agricultural office. If there is no other organization providing the opporunity that this group desires and it falls within the guidelines of 4-H, a club may be organized.

A continuous effort will be made in the future to keep 4-H up to date so the needs and wants of rural young people in the Ottawa-Carleton Region.

Hallville 4-H Holds Meeting

The sixth meeting of the Hallville "Nationwide Chefs" was held on October 28. Minutes were ready by Heather Rhyndress and members discussed France since one of the girls had gone to Paris. They discussed their food customs and the differences between prices there and here.

Cabbage rolls were demonstrated by Gisela Kerr. Heather Rhyndress made Rhubarb soup. Everyone liked the cabbage rolls but most of the girls didn't like the rhubarb soup well enough to make again at home.

Junior Farmers Conduct Century Farm Project

The Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario is trying to identify Century Farms in Ontario by the appropriate signs which are sold at $7.00 a piece.

To be eligible, a farm must have been owned by direct descendents of the same family for 100 years or more. Application forms can be obtained from the Junior Farmers' Provincial Director in each county (Charlie Watson, R.R. 1, Sarsfield for Russell County) or the agricultural office.

English Farm Management Course Depends On Application Numbers

Again in 1975 as in 1974, area farmers will have the opportunity to improve their management skills by following a farm business course. The course which might be given in Plantagenet will last for 10 weeks from January 6th to March 14th. The teaching hours will be from 10:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M.

While the 1974 course was entirely in French in Plantagenet, a similar course in English will be scheduled in 1975 if a sufficient number of applicants warrants it. Farmers, their sons or even their wives can apply if they conform to the criteria. The applicants must have been out of school for at least a year and have a commitment to farming. The Ontario Ministries of Education and Agriculture and Food administer the program while the Canada Manpower pays the students to attend the courses. Students may be paid up to $95 per week plus mileage depending on the marital status and the number of dependents.

The subjects covered are livestock, soils and crops and farm business management, as well as engineering, communication and mathematics. Practical visits supplement the classroom teaching.

More information and application forms are available from the Agricultural Representative's office. The deadline date is November 15 for all applications.

Can You Afford To Feed $4 Bushel Corn To Livestock?

This is one of the many questions ninety-four young farmers from across Ontario will be asking during this year's JUNIOR FARMER LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT TOUR This week. Ernest Hamilton, R.R. 2, Russell, Ont.; Brian Findlay, R.R. 1, Cumberland, Ont.; and Jacques Pilon R.R. 1, St-Pascal Baylon, Ont. are the delegates from Russell County.

The "farm visits" portion of the tour program is being concentrated in south-western Ontario in the counties of Kent, Elgin, Middlesex, Lambton and Oxford. Here participants have an opportunity to learn how beef, dairy, swine and sheep operators are managing their enterprises in the seventies. Livestock husbandry, farm business agreements and stock selection are the main topics considered during the week.

On Thursday the delegates will participate in the Inter-County Livestock Evaluation Competition at Shur-Gain Farms, Elmlea Hereford Farms and the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair. Friday morning, the group will visit livestock marketing facilities in the Toronto area, including Canada Packers and the Ontario Public Stock Yards. That evening the group will be guests of the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair at the Horse Show.

Guest speaker for the concluding banquet will be the Hon. Wm. A. Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Food.

Facts & Fallacies

Q. WHEN I MAKE SOUP WITH ALL KINDS OF VEGETABLES AND MEAT AND BOIL IT SEVERAL HOURS DOES IT LOSE NUTRITIVE VALUE?

A. Certain vitamins especially Vitamin C are destroyed by cooking, others simply dissolve in the cooking water, and others are virtually unaffected. Therefore soups retain their nutritive value quite well, although flavour, colour and texture of vegetables are more appealing if you add them toward the end of the cooking period.

Q. IS CANNED OR FROZEN CONCENTRATED ORANGE JUICE AS NUTRITIOUS AS FRESH SQUEEZED ORANGE JUICE?

A. Yes. Canned or frozen concentrated orange juice is comparable in Vitamin C content to fresh squeezed juice but it is important to use care in storage as Vitamin C is destroyed with exposure to air. Store in tightly covered container in refrigerator in quantity that can be used in a few days.

Q. DOES PORK LIVER HAVE MORE NUTRITIVE VALUE THAN CALF LIVER?

A. No. All kinds of liver - calf, pork, beef, lamb - are excellent sources of good quality protein and other nutrients such as iron, riboflavin and niacin. However, pork and beef liver would be more economical than calf or lamb liver.

Manners With Mike And Company

The September-October issue of the 4-H publication "ENTHUSIAST" carried an interesting release by Doug Wagner entitled, "MANNERS WITH MIKE & COMPANY".

Some of the material should prove very valuable to all who at some time or another are called on either to set up a 'mike' or to use one. Following are a couple of interesting paragraphs on "Setting up the Microphone".

A microphone should be set up to 6 to 10" from the speaker's mouth and at a 45 degree angle to the direct line of speech.

This helps prevent "blasting" and distortion of "p's" and "s's" and helps diminish some of the effects of poor room acoustics. Of course the distance from mouth to microphone varies depending on the speaker, the microphone and the PA system. Experiment to achieve optimum position and distance when setting up.

Sometimes when a microphone is incorrectly placed in relation to the loudspeaker, a "howl" known as "feed back" results. This noise that is produced in the sound system occurs when the output of the loudspeaker enter the microphone and is re-amplified. This can be corrected by turning the microphone away from the speakers, increasing the distance between them or placing the microphone so it is behind the loudspeakers.

Mr. Wagner also has an interesting note on speaking into the 'Mike', here it is.

Before approaching the podium, paper clips or staples should be removed from the script and bracelets should be taken off. This avoids extra sounds. Before speaking it may be necessary to test the microphone to see if it is in operation. This is properly done by tapping on it; do not blow into it. Extraneous noises such as foot tapping or table thumping should be avoided. When speaking with a microphone, speak as it was not present, in a natural voice. Sometimes a speaker has a tendency to lean toward the microphone. This practice is uncomfortable for the speaker and distracting to the audience.

When the presentation is completed, pick up the material quietly and leave the microphone area.

On some occasions more than one microphone is necessary i.e. a debate. Interference between microphones sometimes occurs and may be overcome if the microphones are at least three times as far apart as either is from the user.

Home Economist Reports On 4-H Homemaking

By: Judy Malcolmson,
Home Economist,
Carleton & Grenville Counties

Homemaking Clubs are open to girls from 12 to 26 years of age who are interested in participating in projects concerning foods and nutrition, clothing and textiles, home furnishings, hospitality, crafts, fitness and citizenship and gardening.

A Home Economist in each County directs and guides the program. All Clubs in the County participate in the same project at the same time. Two local leaders are selected in each community to attend a two-day Training School and are then responsible for directing the local club. These clubs are usually organized in the fall and in the spring. Achievement Days are held to complete each project and it is at this time that the club members and leaders choose future projects.

Club members are required to attend at least 60 per cent of the 7 or 8 meetings planned for each project, purchase their own supplies and attend Achievement Day to exhibit completed projects and take part in various activities.

Girls who are interested in participating in one of these projects should contact the Home Economist through the County or District Agricultural Office of the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

OFA Applauds Food Pledge

Canada's Aid To Cost $850 Million

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture applauds Canada's three-year pledge to supply 10 per cent of world food aid at an estimated cost of $850,000,000 for three years.

"We are delighted," says Gordon Hill, OFA president.

OFA, through the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, for a number of years has urged the Canadian government to step up food aid programs and, more particularly, technical assistance to develop agriculture abroad.

"We are confident that Canadian farmers are prepared to pay their share to support the program," Hill says. "We hope the Canadian government will make a strong effort to gain support from the general public who must contribute to the food effort through increased taxes.

"It is most important that these world food relief stocks be isolated from market speculation. They must be held in such a way that they do not become a club to beat down farm prices for grain on domestic markets.

"Much as they want to contribute, farmers cannot afford to pay double or triple what other Canadians pay, by having food-aid stocks used as a weapon.

"Make no mistake," says Hill, "if a grain dealer has access to these stocks to meet his requirements, he will use the surplus to drive down the price of all the grain he buys.

"Farmers are proud that Canada took the initiative in setting a goal early in the World Food Congress. Announcing the target in quantity, rather than dollars that could erode through inflation, is important.

"We want to do our share, perhaps even a little bit more, but we want Canadians to understand that an all-out shared assault on hunger is needed.

"We must understand that food alone won't do it. Developing countries must build storage facilities, transportation routes and distribution systems before our food will reach hungry or starving people."

Exercise Caution When Buying Engine Coolants

Consumer and Corporate Affairs Minister Andre Ouellet last week cautioned consumers that some automotive engine coolants being marketed are not considered by vehicle manufacturers to be suitable for many recent designs of cars.

"I am advised", Mr. Ouellet stated, "that the designs of cooling systems in recently-produced cars are generally based on the physical properties of coolants consisting essentially of ethylene glycol and water".

"Due to the world wide shortage of ethylene, products consisting of mixtures of alcohols and glycols as well as petroleum distillates, and solutions of calcium chloride, are being marketed at this time", he said. Depending upon the particular vehicle design, temperature and other operating factors, some of these alcohol products may boil with consequent over-heating and damage to the engine. Petroleum distillate products may in particular have an adverse effect on some radiator hoses and may present a fire hazard in the event of leakage. Water solutions consisting only of calcium chloride may result in very rapid corrosion of aluminum engine blocks and also in similar damage to car radiators in general.

"The Product Safety Branch of my department is presently investigating products which may present fire hazards and I intend to take appropriate action under the Hazardous Products Act to protect consumers from any unnecessary safety risks", the Minister said. "Where misleading or fraudulent claims are made I will not hesitate to use the powers of the Combines Investigation Act".

Finally, Mr. Ouellet urged automobile owners to check their car manuals for information on recommended engine coolants and to carefully read the labels of engine coolant products before purchase.

Voters Blamed!

Errors In Voters' Lists Fault Of Public — Meen

In reply to criticism in the Toronto Press today, implying that the provincial government is unable to make the enumeration system work properly, Arthur Meen, Minister of Revenue, issued the following statement.

"In 1970 the Ministry of Revenue was given responsibility for the province-wide assessment of all residential, commercial and industrial properties. Enumeration and the subsequent creation of voters' lists is an integral part of that function.

"Responsibility for accurate voters' lists ultimately lies with the voters," Mr. Meen said. "There is no system devised that can be completely accurate if the voters choose not to co-operate fully. My ministry turns over to each municipality a preliminary voters' list which must then be corrected by voters and the municipal officials.

"Every effort is made, by both the municipal and provincial governments, to ensure that on December 2nd, these lists are accurate. In enumerating voters at business properties, the enumerator visits the premises and interviews a responsible adult. As is the case of a private residence, a copy of the municipal enumeration notice is presented and, if errors exist, corrections are made. At this time, there is a clear opportunity and responsibility for the voter to correct any inaccurate data. If, after two visits, the enumerator is unable to contact anyone, a notice is left with written instructions for correcting inaccuracies and returning the document to the regional assessment office, if any errors exist. Subsequently, a revised enumeration notice is sent to the premises if a change has been made.

"It is possible for names to appear more than once on the list, particularly if different initials or names appear on lists at home addresses and at business addresses, or where the voter occupies a number of suites having different addresses.

"All enumeration lists are scrutinized by editors to eliminate duplications. To help in this screening process, the occupant is asked to indicate to the enumerator whether he is resident at the business, resident within the same municipality as his place of business, or resident outside the municipality. If the voter fails to do any of these things, the edit features of the manual and computerized programs cannot work and the instruction is to leave the name on if there is any doubt, rather than to take the name off and disenfranchise a voter.

"Finally, the voters' lists are posted publicly, and can be scrutinized. The procedures provide an excellent opportunity to correct any errors.

"If student voters are missed, it is generally because enumerators are engaged for ten days from the first working day after Labour Day. This means many out-of-town students are not at their student residence and enumerators cannot count them. The assessment commissioner arranges with the university and college officials to allow students to register to vote in special locations set up after the visit by enumerators. Some universities make a greater effort than others to assist in enumeration, just as some students are more interested than others in being on the voters' list.

"Voter rights of students, like those of all municipal electors, are further protected by a provision under the municipal elections act which allows them to apply, up to and including election day, to the clerk of the municipality, or the Deputy Returning Officer, at each poll for a certificate which entitles them to vote.

"On balance," Mr. Meen concluded, "I'd say every effort is taken by all government levels to ensure that voters' lists are accurate and those who are entitled, vote."

Baker Critical Of Fullerton Report

Walter Baker, M.P.

Walter Baker, Grenville-Carleton M.P. claimed last week that the Fullerton report tabled in the House of Commons has unfortunately provided all tools necessary to effectively dismantle local government in the Ottawa area. "The transfer of functions, the power to tax, the jurisdiction to borrow, the ability to award grants, conditional or otherwise and others are proposed to be put into the hands of a body that would in effect be dominated by appointed rather than elected officials", he said.

Mr. Baker stated that the Fullerton recommendations are based on two very questionable assumptions. "The report assumes that existing structures have failed to give federal presence adequate recognition. The truth of the matter is that they have never been given a chance. The Federal Government has steadfastly resisted the appointment of regional representatives to the National Capital Commission." "Secondly" - Mr. Baker commented, "only lip service is given in the report to the maintenance of local governments. In actual fact the report indicates that the present local governments are really considered an impediment to efficiency. The impression is that Mr. Fullerton does not trust our local politicians to do the right thing" said Mr. Baker.

"The Fullerton report is an attempt to do indirectly what would be absolutely unacceptable if done directly: that is to suggest a method of government which sites on one more layer of bureaucracy in such a way that local democratic government will wither." "I feel it is highly unlikely that the Province of Ontario would agree to undo the experiment in regional government which has been undertaken and which they are presently studying to make stronger. I would insist on seeing the conclusions and recommendations made by Dr. H. Mayo who is presently studying regional government in Ottawa-Carleton area, before accepting any of the Fullerton Report recommendations," said Mr. Baker.

It is an anachronism that in 1974, when people are most concerned about direct involvement in the affairs of their communities and local councils, that Mr. Fullerton would propose a form of government which represents institutions and geography rather than people," he added.

The people of the National Capital area must be guaranteed a say in any decision made on the future of this area. It is their communities which will be directly affected" concluded Mr. Baker.

Davis Government Plans Expansion Of No-Fault Automobile Insurance

Premier William Davis said last week that his government plans to expand the no-fault concept of automobile insurance in the province and that it will continue to be run by private enterprise.

Speaking at the 54th annual convention of the 2,200-member Ontario Insurance Agents' and Brokers' Association, Davis said that his government sees merit in expanding the no-fault system because "this could best serve the consumer in expediting settlement and the adjustment of claims."

The Davis government has yet to be convinced, however, that automobile insurance in the province should be 100 per cent non-fault. Said Davis: "we have yet to be persuaded that there would be any merit in denying tort (fault) recovery in cases of pain and suffering, loss of amenities of life, and shortened expectation of life."

Davis stated that his government is in favour of a privately-run automobile insurance industry in Ontario. "Where these schemes are government-run," he said, "word seeps back of the wonders and savings to be obtained by the removal of insurance coverage from the private sector. The people who spread this word and perpetuate this myth in Ontario are, not surprisingly, members of the Socialist brotherhood which introduced the very same government-run plans.

"Even a cursory examination of premium costs and benefits, to say nothing of hidden costs, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia reveals these people are either deluding themselves or deliberately misleading the public by engaging in some very canny bookkeeping."

Davis said the partial no-fault system introduced in Ontario in 1972 has been working well. "We expect that the expansion of the present no-fault system will result in better benefits at lower cost to the consumer, and as a government we are determined to see that the consumer continues to get a fair deal."

Maple Ridge Students Hear War Veterans

Pupils at Maple Ridge School heard tales of two World Wars when they conducted a very impressive Remembrance Day celebration at the school last Friday.

Nursing Sister Ella McIntosh, who saw active service in World War 1; Joe Marquette, Archie Rice and Mr. Herriman, all World War 2 veterans, spoke to the young people urging them not to forget the sacrifices made by men and women on lonely battlefields far from home.

Mr. Marquette, in his brief message, told the girls and boys that he was one of six brothers serving in the armed forces during World War 2. The boys, sons of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Marquette of Winchester, were: Willis (deceased); Cecil, who now resides at Tillsonburg; Clifford of Kingston; George, St. Andrews; Keith and Joe, both of Winchester.

A timely film presentation was included on the program and a trumpeter sounded The Last Post which was followed by a minute of silence. Mr. Marquette is shown in accompanying photo.

Russell Salutes Fallen Comrades

Exchange Deer Jaw For Crest

You shouldn't argue with success. That's why the ministry of natural resources in eastern Ontario will once again swap "Successful Deer Hunter" crests for the lower jaw of deer taken by hunters this season.

Fish and Wildlife staff were pleasantly surprised last year when the idea of giving hunters a crest if they turned in the complete lower jaw of their deer triggered a flood of approximately 900 jaws.

The jaws allow ministry staff to get the inside story on the condition of deer herds. Analysis of the jaws reveals the age of each animal and the numbers of each age group in the whole herd.

Information about the township, sex and date when the deer was taken is also gathered when the jaws are turned in.

Crests marked "Successful Deer Hunter 1974" will be given out for jaws brought in to natural resources district offices until Dec. 15, 1974.

The jaw program is not to be confused with another program to reclaim part of the hunter's spoils. Hunters who turn in deer or moose hides at a local natural resources office receive a ticket on a draw. The prizes are soft leather vests, jackets, mukluks, mitts and slippers covered with intricate Indian beadwork. The hides go to Ontario Indian artisans for crafts manufacturing.

Winchester Hunter Bags Moose

Eldon Holmes of Winchester took a few days off last week for his annual hunting expedition in Northern Ontario.

Many hunters this fall are returning empty-handed but Mr. Holmes was not among them. He bagged a big one.

The moose is shown in accompanying photo suspended from a tree in front of the hunter's residence and experts estimate his weight at well over a thousand pounds.

Mr. Holmes says a moose's age can be determined by his teeth and that this big fellow is six years old.

Afternoon Group Meets

Baptist Afternoon Group Mission Circle met in the home of Mrs. Harry Anderson on Tuesday, November 5th.

The meeting opened with a poem and prayer by the President. The singing of "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" followed the prayer.

A very interesting devotional on mountain top experiences was read by Audrey Ferguson. The three disciples Peter, James and John witnessed the transfiguration of Jesus on the mountain top. They wanted to remain on the mountain but they knew they must go down into the valley again and mingle with mankind.

A letter was read from Phyllis Brunton telling some of her activities and experiences.

The topic was a continuation of the McQuades letters from Zaire. Africa. They told of their trip to the macket along with their guides John and Jennie Keith. They were entertained in some of the Christian homes. The food was manioc leaves, fish, rice, peanuts and pineapple as dessert. They travelled many miles from one mission to another and were always greeted kindly by the natives.

Group members are making plans to present Phyllis with a gift of money when she returns home from Bolivia.

The meeting closed with prayer.

Refreshments were served by the committee in charge.
