Ed's last hurrah

EO office opened

OTTAWA (Staff) - In one of his last government functions Ed Lumley, as Liberal minister of the Department of Regional Industrial Expansion (DRIE) hosted the official opening of the long-awaited eastern Ontairo office of the department.

The new office, which began operating earlier this summer, is located at 280 Albert Street here and serves the whole of eastern Ontario from Hastings County east to the Quebec boundary and includes the upper Ottawa Valley.

The event was attended by scores of municipal, provincial and federal level politicians with ties to eastern Ontario. Headed by manager Ron Catterall, the office is housed in the same building as the Federal Business Development Bank.

Speaking of his experience as a businessman Mr. Lumley said the office will allow the department to make more efficient delivery of its programs to the area.

"I wanted a separate building for the department," Mr. Lumley said.

"This is your building and the staff is sensitive to the goals and aspirations of eastern Ontario alone which is entirely different from Canada as a whole."

"There's a lot of me in the programs here and my frustrations as a businessman are reflected in what we've tried to do."

Mr. Lumley stressed that business people will no longer have to travel to Toronto to the DRIE regional office to talk to the department about their concerns and delivery of services to the eastern region.

The new office aims to deliver "one-step shopping" whereby clients can obtain a wide range of information and advice about industrial development, export opportunities and financing from DRIE officals.

Lumley's staff jobless

(Staff) - While Ed Lumley reaps a pension as a former cabinet minister for the rest of his life, some members of his staff are not so fortunate.

Indeed, some of them are unemployed the minute the new government is sworn in. For those whose status is "exempt" unemployment insurance may come in handy rather soon. Exempt means the employee is not part of the public service as such and is, in fact, a type of political appointee.

Paul Fitzpatrick, for ten years Mr. Lumley's right hand man as his executive assistant, fled the coop two months ago and was replaced by Marc Laframboise. Mr. Laframboise will be looking for a new job.

Also in the job market is Louise Branch, the former minister's press aide. Because she has been employed in the minister's office at 240 Sparks Street, Ottawa, she is entitled to be placed on a priority hiring list for the public service. Staff of ordinary members of parliament, though, who have been in service for more than three years are not entitled to this priority. The employee must have worked for a cabinet minister.

Those members of Mr. Lumley's departmental staff at the C.D. Howe building who are public servants will be shuffled to other departments or may even stay where they are to work with the next minister of regional industrial expansion.

There is one staff member at Mr. Lumley's House of Commons office who is also exempt and on the unemployment rolls. A phone call to the former minister's Cornwall constituency office revealed there are two staffers there who will be jobless. Asked what their plans are and when the office will be dismantled, a spokesperson replied to every question "I have no idea."

By Alvah Hanrahan
Record News Editor

Norm's Biscuit Poll was wrong. The Cornwall shop owner, who predicts election outcomes by the sales of his cookies, said MP Ed Lumley had it in the bag.

Before the election Mr. Lumley told The Record the Goldfarb polls and other professionally produced opinions were not as accurate as Norm's Biscuit Poll, in his experience.

But the giantkiller and "minister of everything," who held three cabinet portfolios in the short prime ministership of John Turner, was felled by a soft-spoken businessman from Cornwall who even looks a little like Mr. Lumley.

Mr. Lumley, a close friend of John Turner, said his real desire had been to exit from public life but in deference to his leader's wishes decided to run once again out of loyalty.

"It's a real shocker and I am having a hard time believing it," said longtime Lumley supporter Morrisburg reeve Bill Dillabough.

"I don't think anyone expected him to lose because he was the best and the hardest working MP we ever had."

This sentiment was echoed in many quarters throughout the constituency. Mr. Lumley said repeatedly he was running on his record, that he didn't believe in going door to door to campaign.

To run their campaign Norm Warner's team based their strategy on maintaining the party's immense national support in the riding's rural districts. At the same time they aimed at making inroads, say 12 votes or so in each of the city polls in Cornwall. Senior aides were not sure they had the numbers needed to win as late as the day before the election but Dick Aubry, Mr. Warner's campaign chairman, was confident of the victory, expecting a margin of 1,000 votes.

Winning by a margin of 2,213 votes, the 40-year-old insurance broker and rookie politician swept the rural polls by almost two to one.

Mr. Lumley's strengths were in the east end of Cornwall although even there his numbers dropped from the 1980 result.

The Tory candidate won 29 polls in Cornwall and came a close second in the rest.

Liberal organizer Claude Poirier said "to win we had to win big in Cornwall and this time it just didn't happen."

Mr. Lumley said after the election results were in he would retire from politics and return to the private business sector. He did not elaborate further on his plans but added he intended to live in Cornwall the rest of his life.

Norm Warner's wife, Elizabeth, said "I just want to go somewhere warm in the sun to make up for the summer we've missed in the campaign."

She said both she and her husband were tired after the arduous campaign which was a first for both of them. She was seen often throughout the two months of the campaign at her husband's side shaking hands and meeting constituents.

Asked if he thought he might win Mr. Warner said, "I thought I had a chance."

"I knew it was going to be close and with the national tide in favor of our party, the pieces just fell into place."

Mr. Warner appeared at his first political function last Thursday, the opening of the Eastern Ontario office of the Department of Regional Industrial Expansion. The opening was hosted by Ed Lumley.

Big trade fair

(Staff) - A total of 54 area merchants have been busy preparing their displays for one of the best Trade Fairs ever, scheduled for this Friday and Saturday at the Chesterville Arena.

Everything from make-up to motorcycles to microwaves will be on exhibit according to Isobel Smith, Chesterville Chamber of Commerce secretary, and one of the organizers of the Fair. "There will be something for everyone," she said.

The fair will feature free movies for the children, and a number of prizes and raffles. A draw will be made for prizes of $100, $50 and $25 worth of Trade Fair money to be spent at participating merchants, Mrs. Smith said.

The Chamber of Commerce has been busy at work since April planning the exhibit and a strong committee -- headed up by Chamber President Audrey Cross, along with Mrs. Smith,

Local plant not affected

(Staff) - The massive corporate merger whereby Nestle SA, the Swiss-based multi-national plans to acquire Carnation Co. will have no effect on the Chesterville plant, manager Cliff Reynolds said last week.

The two companies have reached an agreement and Carnation's assets will be acquired by Nestle pending approval by the Foreign Investment Review Agency (FIRA) in Canada and by anti-trust authorities in the United States.

Based in Los Angeles, the dairy products company will be another asset under the vast Nestle umbrella which includes Beech-Nut Corp., Libby, McNeill and Libby Inc., Stouffer Corp., and others.

Carnation makes dairy products and plant manager Cliff Reynolds said "Nestle's is interested in food."

Already being manufactured by Carnation are evaporated and powdered milk, tomato products, diet and health foods and animal feeds. Its brand names include Carnation and Contadina food products, Coffee-Mate non-dairy creamer, Friskies, Mighty Dog and Albers Come'n Get It pet foods and Spreadable sandwich spreads.

Carnation shareholders have been offered $83 a share and are expected to accept this bid. The takeover will total more than $3 billion.

He added, the population of Canada is no longer growing as in the past and new markets are difficult to open up as a consequence. Besides the decline of instant coffee another soft area

Mr. Reynolds said in the present slow growth period acquiring more companies is a way to expand.

"The market for soluble coffee is on the wane," said Mr. Reynolds, "probably due to the popularity of ground roast coffee."

Non-profit housing for Finch will benefit seniors in 1985

FINCH (Staff) - The long-awaited facility to house Finch senior citizens is extremely close to becoming a reality, The Record has learned. There is a possibility ground may be broken as early as October if the last hurdle to the project -- rezoning -- is overcome.

First planned in 1982 when a needs survey was conducted into the requirements for such housing in the Finch area community, the project will involve a 26-unit complex capable of being expanded to 30 units, should the need arise, during the construction phase.

At a total cost of just over $1 million the non-profit housing project is now on the drawing board.

Architects Tsou-Pollard of Toronto and Ottawa have provided an attractive artist's rendition of the facility which is reproduced here. The site location is Nelson Street in the village of Finch.

Supervising the project are the officers and directors of the non-profit housing board which was appointed at a meeting held August 8 of this year.

President and a director of the project is Lynden Hough; Ralph MacKenzie is vice-president and also a director; treasurer and director is Archie Byers; secretary and a director is Duart MacLean; Donald Vollrath, Robert Casselman and Bernard Moran are directors.

Planners are targeting the completion date for sometime in 1985.

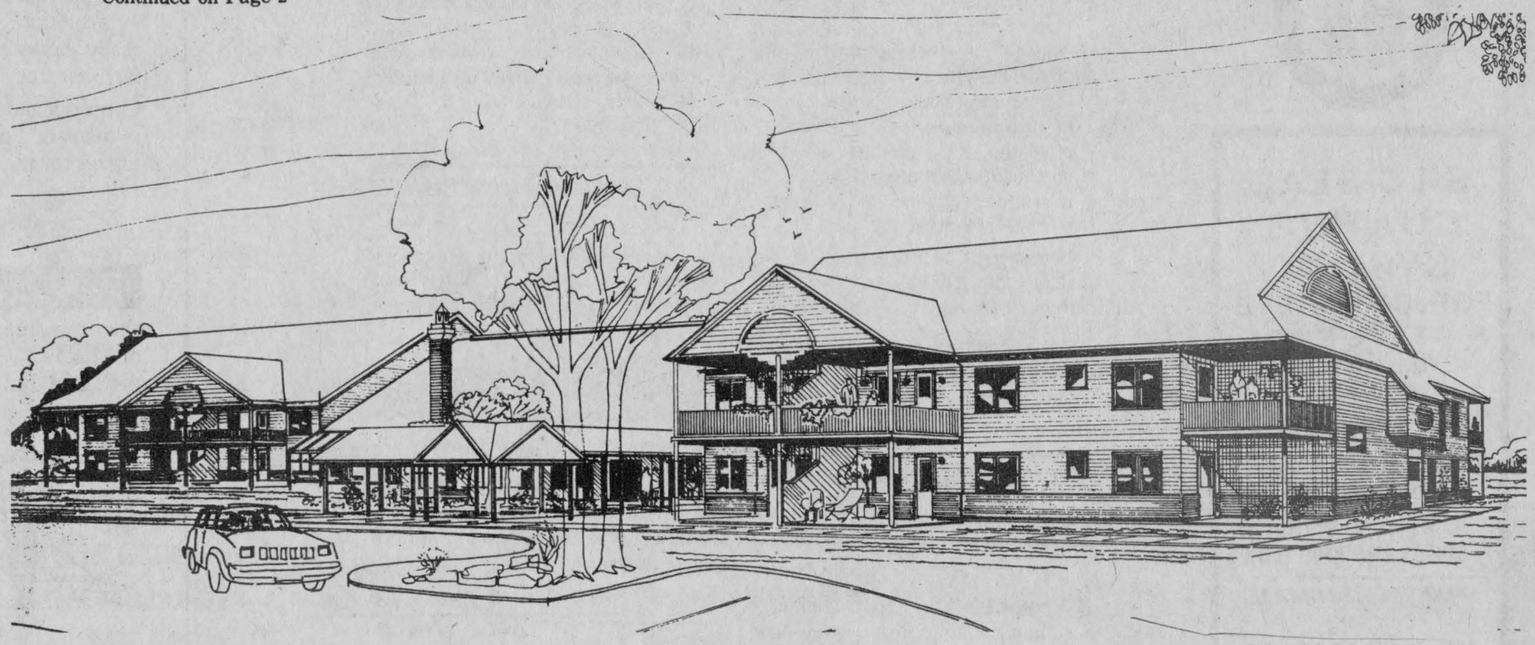
Woman dies in fire

AVONMORE (Staff) - An 83-year-old woman, Mary Stilinovitch, died Sunday in a fire which broke out in her mobile home here.

Mrs. Stilinovitch, who lived alone, was found dead in the kitchen of the trailer after firefighters brought the blaze under control shortly before 11pm.

The victim's son-in-law, Duane Blair, who lives next door to the mobile home, said it was too late to save Mrs. Stilinovitch by the time the fire was spotted by a passing motorist. Flames were seen coming from the bathroom window.

Police said the woman had died of smoke inhalation and carbon monoxide poisoning. The cause of the fire is still unknown.



Finch senior citizens home

This is the architects concept drawing of the proposed senior citizens home to be built on Nelson Street in Finch Village. Total cost is over $1 million and a sod-turning ceremony may begin construction as early as October.

One of a rare breed, Mr. Warner became only the fourth Conservative candidate to win an election in this riding. The last was Grant Campbell, who won in 1958 by 2000 votes but lost in 1962 to Lucien Lamoureux. At that time the riding included only Stormont County.

Another strongman Liberal who once represented the riding was Lionel Chevrier. Mr. Warner, in following "superminister" Ed Lumley, who held four portfolios in John Turner's interregnum government, has inherited a constituency which has been represented by several powerful national figures.

Erik Thompson, Bernice St. Germain and Linda Brannen -- has helped to bring the Fair all together.

"We've had some cancellations," Mrs. Smith said, but added that now there is a waiting list for a booth. She noted that a Trade Fair is good for local merchants, and also proves to be wise for the Chamber of Commerce as a money making venture. Merchants who participate in the Fair rent their space at $4 a foot.

Mrs. Smith said that helping to organize the event was something that she hadn't done before. "We had to find out everything from scratch," she said. "It takes a lot of work." She said that one of the biggest tasks is mapping the Arena with booths for participating merchants.

Many local businesses view the Trade Fair as a "good thing," Mrs. Smith said, "and some out-of-town businesses are also planning to attend."

The show gets underway this Friday at the Arena from 5-10pm. Saturday the fair will be from 10am-9pm. Admission is $1, and free for children under 12 years old. See you there!

WHAT EVERY HOUSEHOLDER SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE QUALITY OF AIR IN YOUR HOME

Carbon monoxide (CO) is an odourless, colourless, tasteless, toxic gas. Exposure to CO can cause symptoms such as headaches, nausea and drowsiness.

Gasoline powered vehicles and lawn mowers, kerosene stoves, charcoal grills, coal stoves or heaters, and wood burned in a fireplace or wood stoves produce some carbon monoxide.

When properly installed and maintained, your natural gas furnace and hot water heater do not pollute your air space within your home. Natural gas is known as a "clean burning" fuel because under correct operating conditions the combustion products are water vapour and carbon dioxide, which are harmless to the environment. The products of combustion are exhausted from furnaces and water heaters to the outside by means of a flue duct or chimney.

But correct operation of natural gas or indeed any fuel burning heating equipment requires two key conditions:
a) there must be an adequate supply of air for proper combustion and
b) venting of the products of combustion from the furnace through the chimney to the outside must be effective.

Improper or faulty burning of any fuel, including natural gas, can produce carbon monoxide.

If this condition is combined with bad venting of the furnace, there could be a serious hazard to your health.

THREE CAUSES OF HAZARDOUS CONDITIONS AND HOW TO PREVENT THEM

1. Dirt and Blockage: For fuel burning equipment to operate safely and efficiently, air openings, vents, exhaust ducts or flues, and chimneys must be kept clean and free of obstructions.
2. Using other equipment which consumes or exhausts household air. An open fireplace with a roaring fire may use up to ten times as much air as your furnace. When your fireplace, coal or wood stove is operating, crack open a window. Run exhaust fans for just a minute or two at a time and don't run power attic vents during the winter when your furnace is on.
3. Confining or enclosing gas-fired equipment. In order to create a separate workshop or family room, some householders enclose or partition off their furnace and hot water heater from the rest of the basement or utility room. Enclosing equipment in a tight alcove or closet is a sure way to starve your furnace or water heater of the air that it needs, for safe combustion. Before you make changes, consult a qualified heating contractor.

ADDITIONAL SAFETY TIPS

Have your fuel-burning equipment inspected periodically for safety and efficiency by a qualified service technician.

Regardless of the fuel your furnace, fireplace or stove uses, your chimney should be inspected annually by a competent chimney contractor.

Following sensible maintenance and safety procedures in your home will give you the fuel savings you want, without any problems.

Chesterville Rotary report

By Bryan Beazer

Monday night was another club assembly. A night to get our business done. Many decisions were made and this will mean a great deal of work must now be done.

One of those decisions was to pledge $1000 to the "Rotel" project in Ottawa. This is a project to build a hotel that will accommodate visitors of handicapped people, at a reasonable price ($5 a night). It is reported that the "Rotel" project is in difficulty and the Chesterville Club said "Let's help them out." Now we have to work to raise that money.

Another decision that will impact greatly on the club was a decision to increase our support of the Rotary Foundation. The Foundation makes it possible for scholars to study; for Group Study Exchange teams to travel and learn; for physicians and dentists to relieve pain and suffering; for countries to help conquer polio, fight red measles and prevent malnutrition; for communities to develop self-help programs; and for people to receive vocational training. All this and more is possible because Rotarians believe in sharing and serving.

The Chesterville Rotary Club has decided to support the Foundation by contributing to honor Paul Harris, the founder of Rotary. If a Rotarian contributes $1000 US to the Foundation, the trustees will grant him a Paul Harris Fellowship award. There is also provisions for a club to donate the $1000 to honor a person - Rotarian and non-Rotarian alike. There are now 107,356 Paul Harris Fellows around the world.

In order to raise the money for the Fellowship award the club decided that the funds would come from the members - not from the community. The first fund-raising attempt will be a weekly auction. Designated Rotarians will be requested to bring items that will be concealed?? before being auctioned (sounds like a fun way to raise money).

Other business included the final organizing of the helpers for the annual Terry Fox Run. The run starts at noon on Sunday, September 23 at North Dundas District High School. All funds raised through pledges are donated to the Canadian Cancer Society. This year, a lovely iron-on decal will be given to all runners along with a certificate that has seals for each year of participation.

Caroline Duncan (Sullivan) daughter of Mrs. Betty Sullivan and the late Arnold Sullivan graduated with distinction from the Diploma Nursing Program of St. Lawrence College, Brockville. Caroline was awarded the Silver Medal for the Highest Proficiency in Theory and beside nursing, leadership and community and college activities.

IF YOU DON'T REMEMBER YOU MAY NEVER FORGET.

There are some very good reasons to stop for stationary school buses. Such as the penalties for not stopping, which could include six demerit points, fines up to $1,000 and even imprisonment.
And this year, there's something new to watch for. Chrome yellow school buses can be used for passengers under 18 to or from any event–day or night. Drivers will activate their flashing red lights and stop arms when their passengers get on or off the bus.
But the most important reason of all is simply this: Your mistake could cost a child's life. And that kind of mistake is never forgotten.
So remember, drivers going in both directions must stop for a school bus with its red lights flashing and stop arm extended. Drivers approaching from behind must stop at least 20 metres (about six car lengths) behind the bus.
So be extra careful at all times. Keep an eye out for flashing lights and stop arms on school buses. Please, don't take a chance with the life of a child!

Up With People group to visit September 26

(Staff) - Up With People, a non-profit organization dedicated to a more peaceful world, will visit Chesterville Sept. 26.

The cast of the show expected to be in Ottawa from Sept. 23 to Oct. 1, and will stage performances at the Capital Congress Centre.

Bret Lewison, one of the organizers of the Ottawa area Up with People tour, said that part of the program's aim is community involvement. A group of about 150 are to be in Ottawa and will split up into three smaller groups on Sept. 26 and visit Winchester, Chesterville, and Smith's Falls.

Mr. Lewison says that he expects the group will make visits to both Chesterville Public and St. Mary's School, and also plan to drop in at The Chesterville Seniors Citizens for some singing and dancing.

The troupe is perhaps best known for a television series, though they have also taken part in Olympic ceremonies, Super Bowl shows, and have performed worldwide striving to make a contribution to mutal understanding among people everywhere.

Mr. Lewison says that over 600 students from 24 countries participate in the program each year. They are being sponsored in the Ottawa Valley by the Ottawa Citizens, and funds raised from their performances in Ottawa will go to the United Way.

Morewood Industries' Heritage Homes rises to new heights

MOREWOOD (Staff) - While several area industries are struggling with layoffs or just holding their own, Morewood Industries keeps topping itself in the house construction business.

Last Friday the Heritage Homes division of the company did just that, with the first local raising of a two-storey modular house on the company site.

"This puts us in a whole new segment of the housing market," said Morewood Industries' president Steve Rosenburgh. The company has been building varied designed one-storey houses since 1972, but last week's raising is the company's first offering to the expanding family market. And many aspects of the Morewood 'system' indicate a growth year.

That means new jobs.

Staff has doubled to 42 full-time and seasonal workers, including five women, the last 12 months. There were several hirings just two weeks ago. "We've hired more people in the area than anybody else," says Rosenburgh. The 36 year old company is now the largest manufacturer of modular houses in Canada.

Once known as 'pre-fab' houses, the earlier versions across Canada met a waning appeal because of their poor durability and for the extra work and expense required to get them liveable. Plumbing and electricity were usually 'extras.'

Heritage Home's system of four complete modular parts bolted together proves that a lot of time can be saved erecting a house without sacrificing quality.

It takes about 18 days to build each house in the four sections. Everything and the kitchen sink is included. Ceiling light fixtures with light bulbs, bathroom towel hangers, complete windows, kitchen cabinets, all the services, even fancy plastered ceilings are crafted into the four separate modules. Gone are the framing crews who lift and support the sides into place by hand. A crane with four steel straps picks each section off a trailer and gently lowers it into place with the relatively simple guidance of a five man erecting crew. It takes only an hour to place each module. One complete house goes up in an afternoon.

A true test of the craftmanship was the complete absence of broken material during the attachment. Not one piece of ceiling plaster fell, nor did one light bulb crack - it's a solid house and ready for occupancy.

General manager James Cooke of the Heritage Homes division hopes eight of the 100 houses built this season will be of the two-storey design. Three of these homes are already in Stittsville, Kingston and Winchester and three more are under construction in the factory.

The house raised on Friday in Morewood was the 'Cape Cod' model which goes in the $67,000 range, with room for customizing and a garage.

Morewood Industries has also kept an edge on the housing market by improving its specialty - windows - by designing an insulated window with less air infiltration (three one-hundredths of one per cent) than the government specifications (one-half of one per cent).

With innovations like that, the company has nowhere to go but up.

Easy does it... Cal Armstrong of Ottawa Crane gently lowers the boom holding almost 8,000 pounds of a completely finished module onto the second storey. This is Heritage Homes', a division of Morewood Industries, first two storey modular house in the area and the company thinks they have a winner. It takes just half a day to connect all four modules, and company employees only have to steer and lock in each piece into place. Record Photo - Tomaszewski

Area shools enrolment steady

(Staff) - Enrolment at area schools for the academic year 1984-1985 remains on an even keel with some schools reporting fewer numbers and others up in the statistics.

On the downward side Chesterville Public School has lost 12 pupils with a total 176 compared with last year's 188. Also down is Elma Public with a loss of 15 children. Elma boasted 160 last year and now counts 145 students.

Maple Ridge Senior Elementary School is up slightly with six more students this September, 230 versus 224 last year. Morewood Public is also up to 110 from last year's 102.

Finch Public is up slightly at 84 versus 80 while Berwick lost 3, 91 this year compared with last year's 94.

On the separate school side St. Mary's in Chesterville has lost two students and is down to 184 verus 186 this time last year. St. Bernard's remains steady enrolling 78 both this year and last.

The elementary side at Rothwell-Osnabruck School is down 6 from 326 to 320 although the high school grades have increased to 248 from 220.

Also at the high school level North Dundas is up over last year with 825 students enrolled versus 811 last year. This figure is up from a projected 805.

Tagwi is down though, with 521 on the list compared with last year's 651.

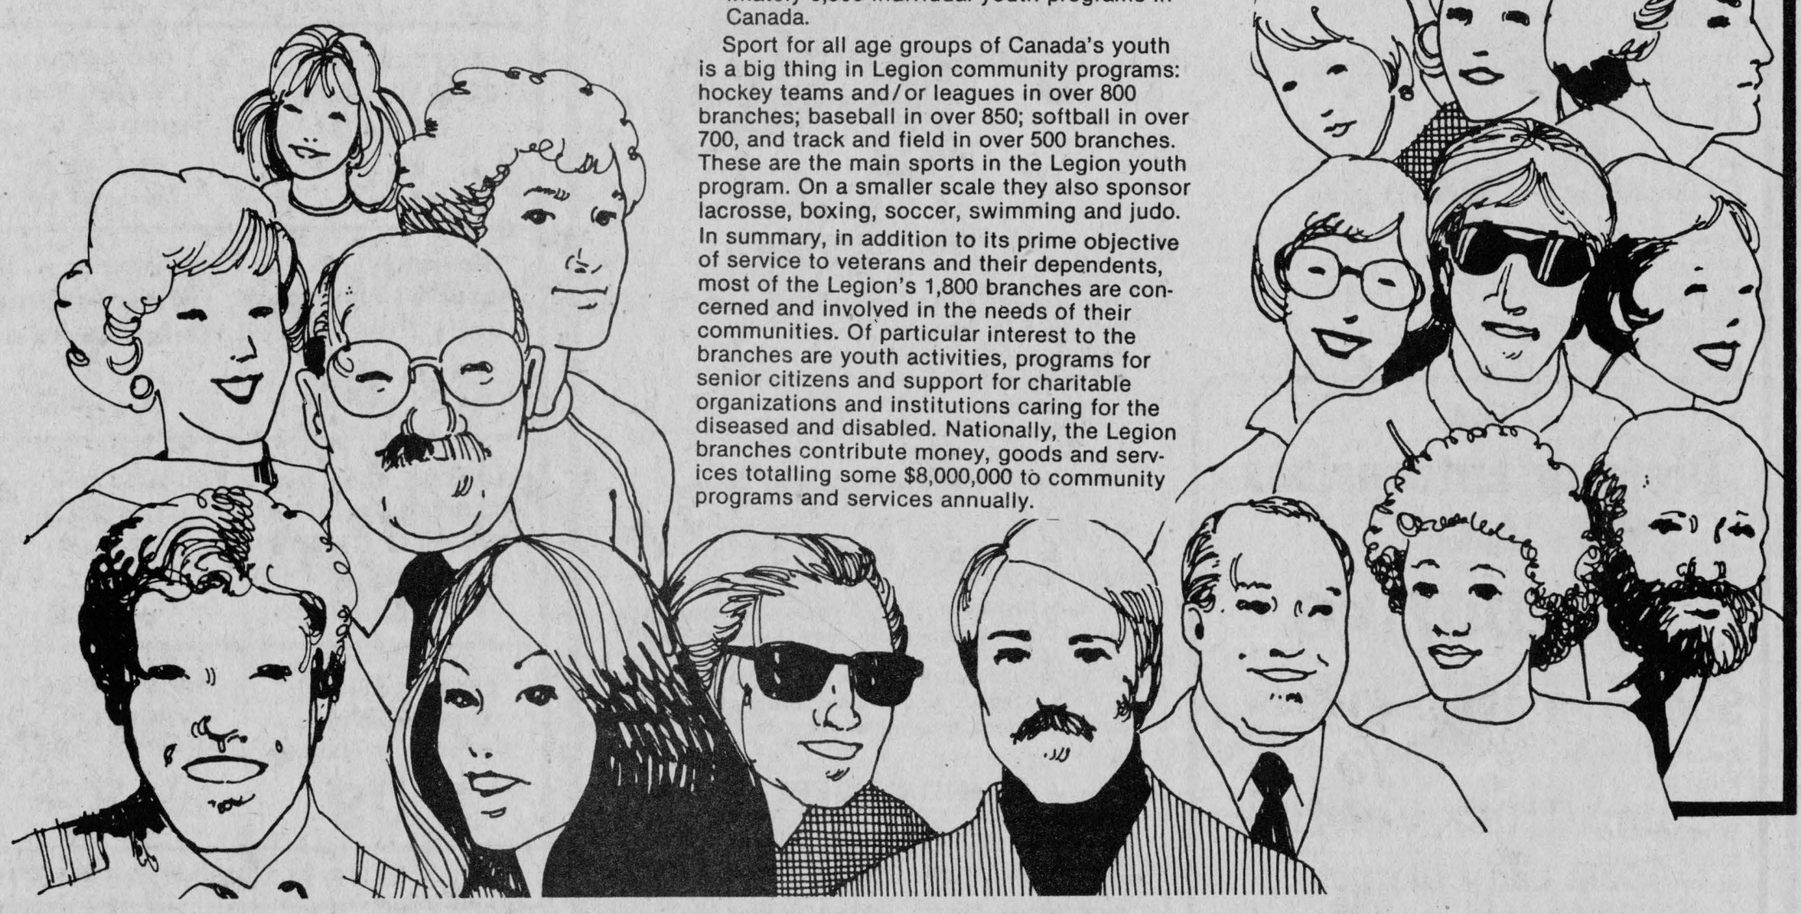
Our Kind of People

The Legion Does The Job

Utilizing its abundant resources, the Legion contributes to the Canadian community in many ways:



— It provides 3,200 low rental housing units for senior citizens in 60 communities.
— Its contributions in geriatric care include fellowships in geriatric medicine, investigative programs into problems of the aging, assistance of the establishment of geriatric units in family practice and a Chair of Family Practice at U.B.C.
— It offers student bursaries and scholarships for continued education.
— Over 700 branches sponsor student literary and poster contests, and over 300 conduct public speaking contests.
— The Legion is the largest single supporter of Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, and related groups in Canada.
— The Legion is also a major supporter of sea, army and air cadet corps, with some 600 branches involved.
— Altogether the Legion sponsors approximately 6,000 individual youth programs in Canada.

Sport for all age groups of Canada's youth is a big thing in Legion community programs: hockey teams and/or leagues in over 800 branches; baseball in over 850; softball in over 700, and track and field in over 500 branches. These are the main sports in the Legion youth program. On a smaller scale they also sponsor lacrosse, boxing, soccer, swimming and judo.

In summary, in addition to its prime objective of service to veterans and their dependents, most of the Legion's 1,800 branches are concerned and involved in the needs of their communities. Of particular interest to the branches are youth activities, programs for senior citizens and support for charitable organizations and institutions caring for the diseased and disabled. Nationally, the Legion branches contribute money, goods and services totalling some $8,000,000 to community programs and services annually.

Turn for the better

With the entire country still reeling under the impact of last week's federal election people are asking 'What happened?'' and then springs to mind reason piled upon more reasons for the almost incredible results of the voting.

Even the polls, reliable to a fault, didn't reveal the extent of the anti-Liberal backlash built up in our minds as a nation.

Canadians were so fed up and disgusted with the morally corrupt, intellectually stale, free-spending, autocratic, secretive gang under the despised Pierre Trudeau that even the French Canadians decided to throw them out.

Decent people were revolted by the likes of Bryce Mackasey, Francis Fox (remember the abortion?), Andre Quellete and assorted other characters forgiven and rehabilitated by Pierre Trudeau. In Britain, and to some extent in the United States, when politicans are found out they resign or are promptly fired. Bryce Mackasey hasn't been found guilty of anything but some of his personal financial dealings sure were peculiar.

Along came John Turner in the form of the white knight. Tainted with the proximity of Trudeau he made one unbelievable blunder after another. Worst of all, of course, was his agreement to buckle under the bullying of Trudeau to sign that unfortunate patronage deal in writing. Sleaze was piled upon sleaze.

Turner's campaign made Joe Clark look eminently competent. We laughed here at the Record when a Liberal press kit arrived here in the mail labelled 'Photographs - Do Not Bend.' The colored eight-by-tens of Turner contained in the package were crumpled and bent beyond being useful. Poor Turner. Even his mail didn't get through in one piece.

What is wonderful and healthy about the present state of our soon-to-be sworn-in new parliament is that so many French Canadians decided to desert the Liberals instead of voting blindly for them as all too often in the past.

But in truth it must be said the scene in the Commons is too one sided. A healthy democracy needs a system of checks and balances and the means to effect these restraints on the absolute power of one particular faction.

But the present situation is what we have brought upon ourselves and we now have to watch it and see what happens.

Remember all those campaign promises? Do the Tories? - Alvah Hanrahan -

Gone but not forgotten

The August editor of the Glengarry News opined to us the other day we may have gone a little overboard in our reportage on the Chesterville Fair.

On the other hand, the fair board said we did them proud and reported everything right down to the last oven mitt and mustard pickle.

We have an opinion too, and we think this is sour grapes on the part of the eminent Mr. Hayes, probably because Alexandria doesn't have a hometown fair to add fun and excitement to a nice weekend at the end of summer every year.

We know he reads this column because until a few months ago he sat at this very typewriter until we came along in an attempt to fill his very large size twelve shoes when he decided to go east. Eat your heart out, Bruce. - Alvah Hanrahan -

Fearless predictions

Editorial writers are sometimes prone to make predictions. And the very same scribes often end up with egg on their faces when the prophecies fall flat.

As the risk of the same fate happening here we're nevertheless sticking our neck out with a few predictions about the upcoming provincial election. Yes, there's one coming. You read it in this space a month ago, remember?

On the NDP side we're betting George Samis loses his seat to the Tory candidate. Who may that be? Again, we're guessing but we'd put our money on Luc Guindon, Fern Guindon's son. Mr. Guindon senior was once the provincial member for Cornwall.

Remember you read it here first.

See you at the fair

Let's see as many folks as possible out at the Trade Fair this weekend. Starting at 5pm on Friday 50 to 60 local merchants from the Chesterville and Winchester districts will be displaying their wares in an eye-catching entertaining way with booths decorated to catch the eye.

We'll be there -- come and see us and meet some of the staff. We're running a few contests having to do with the history of Chesterville and we hope you have as much fun participating as we did putting it all together.

As well, there'll be lots of super prizes throughout the fair with movies and diversions for the kids. Bring the whole family and browse among the displays. A lot of civic-minded people in the village have been working on the project for months and they deserve a good turn-out for their efforts.

See you at the Trade Fair.

Chesterville's past

From The Record, Thurs., Oct. 2, 1924

Friday night last about eleven o'clock the large barns containing practically all the season's crop with the exception of a quantity of unthreshed grain stacked a little distance away, belonging to Harry Hummel, about a mile and a half east of Chesterville on the Finch road, were destroyed by fire. The fire was first noticed by Mrs. Parnham Allison, the next neighbor. The Hummel household had retired and was not aware that the barns were burning. So intense was the heat that nothing could be done to save any of the contents.

When driving his big pure-bred Ayrshire bull to the fair in Mountain last Thursday, Mr. Samuel Thorpe of Hulbert, had a very narrow escape from being killed when he was tackled by the animal, getting him down in the ditch and badly battering him about, and driving a horn through his right arm which required a number of stitches to close the wound. Mrs. Casselman who was coming to town, summoned help and the animal was driven away.

A team of horses belonging to Frank McCloskey made an exciting run-away down Main street on Friday morning coming to grief when one of the animals fell when trying to negotiate the Molson's Bank corner on to King Street.

The weather man possibly feeling that he had been too generous with the whole week of such beautiful days last week, varied things somewhat with a forty-eight hour rain which commenced early Monday morning continuing and now followed by a foretaste of what might be expected towards the end of next month.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE — Miss Lillian Tate of Ottawa Normal school spent the weekend at her home in town. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert R. Jones of Montreal spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F.W. The Farmer's Wife — by Wyn Thompson

What a cold Labor Day! And dreary! Not a bit what we expect from one of our nicest months, September, which was the seventh month of the Roman calendar, but is the ninth month according to our reckoning. The Anglo-Saxons called it 'gerstmonath' - barley month.'

An old motto says 'Fair on September first, fair for the month!' Remember what Saturday the first was like...simply beautiful, so today is simply an inconvenience, and we will soon be caught up again in a 'September which blows soft, - Till the fruit's in the loft.'

Speaking of fruits, my mother and I went along to a bicentennial Old Fashioned Fun Fair held at Leslie Hall, Kemptville on Saturday. Not many would remember the good old fall fair that was common-place across Ontario in the latter half of the 19th century. Not even the history books do this exciting event in the lives of our ancestors justice.

A broad range of exhibits lured the curious to the hall on Saturday. Vegetables, fruits, handwork, baking, pickles and preserves, sported the ribbons which had been awarded to the top three entries in a class. The demonstrations of bread and donut making, quilting, painting and calligraphy drew large crowds of interested observers.

A town crier announced the events which the old fashioned entertainment organized by the Kemptville Players delighted the visitors. The rooster announced that he was 'cock of the roost' at opportune moments, while the oxen plodded along with their precious cargo of youngsters, experiencing the equivalent of that first exciting hayride had by most farm kids of today.

I understand that several of these heritage fairs are being held across Ontario in this our bicentennial year. Don't miss one in your area! The 'place de resistance' was the lunch counter behind which ladies in period costume served the fare of the time, at the prices of the day in 19th century Ontario. Cold green tea - 10 cents per cup; Oatmeal cookies, Johnny Cake, or a generous serving of gingerbread - 10 cents each. Can't beat those prices, no how! By the time we bellied up to the lunch bar, the ladies were all sold out of buttermilk and raspberry vinegar. Business was brisk!

One young lad boasted, "I've had 5 pieces of gingerbread." "That's nothing, I've had 12 oatmeal cookies," hollered another, while another little lass all dressed up in period costume was valiantly trying to remove 'that gritty stuff" from her mouth via a couple of paper towels. I recalled the first time I tasted Johnny cake at my grandparents ...by my actions, they thought I'd been poisoned. I must have developed quite a taste for it through the years as now I could eat half a pan of it myself. In fact, I aim to make a good pan of it this afternoon. With warm maple syrup or honey, it is a dish fit for the gods.

I understand the Horticultural Society got a grant from the province to assist in the staging of this event. My Premier and company, it was money well spent!

This month is also a time of fruition and fulfilment. Misty mornings with fog patches appearing out of the blue, warm days and cool nights are considered normal now. The birds are restless too, anxious to be about their business. There is a sense of urgency creeping into their discussions as they flock from one telephone line to another. Their families have grown strong and fleet of wing and are ready for this exciting journey. "Let's go," they say to their peers, "let's not wait for those old fogeys to map and remap this silly trip...they'll catch up with us. Such silly dallying."

As I made the last batch of dill pickles (much to the Farmer's chagrin, for he dislikes dill with a passion), I remarked. "Why is it that Nature so seldom sends the gardener a year that is undebatably either bad or good?"

"I guess the garden's diversity accounts for it: with plants of so many different kinds, it's not in the stars that one pest or disease, one early frost, one rainy or dry month will do them all in".

"On the other hand, it's just as unlikely that in any one year conditions favouring a whole gardenful of various plants will prevail to produce a great quantity across the board. Which is just as well, I guess, although it might be argued that if you were a better gardener you would take steps to rectify this situation by scientifically assisting whichever vegetables appear to fail each year," he laughed as I gave him a disparging look for at best, I am rather a poor excuse for a gardener.

"It is not in the stars for me to be any better gardener than I am," I defied him, "and besides I enjoy seeing what the payoff will be as the garden finishes each year."

"It's well not to put the eggs all in one basket, as the old adage goes, "he said as he left to return to the field, for silo filling is now the order of the day.

Scarcely any of the foliage on the trees is turned and colour, I tell Lady as we take our nightly walk back a country lane. As summer wanes, I cherish every mild dreamy day. I love the soft blue haze, I know that summer still walks my country lane, but the frost slipper of autumn is just behind.

Annual Fall Fair at UCV this weekend

MORRISBURG (Special) - The highlight of this autumn season at Upper Canada Village, near here, is the eighth annual fall fair scheduled for September 15 and 16.

Organized by the Upper Canada Village Agricultural Society, the fair is designed to promote agricultural and horticultural excellence and improvement.

Today, just as 120 years ago, Village farmers will compete to show the best samples of corn and garden produce and the most improved horses. Needlework, quilts and fine arts, produced by the women of the Village, also will be exhibited.

The fall fair remains loyal to its predecessors. During the 1800s, agricultural fairs - from small township fairs to grand provincial fairs - provided the community with not only a chance to put its best work forward, but also, over time, became one of the major social events of the season...

The fair offers something for everyone - 1860s games for children and adults, musical entertainment, a horse show, and mouth-watering Village produce at 1860s prices.

The highlight of the fair is the ploughing match. Neat, straight and deep furrows are the goal of the men and their horses.

The fall fair is just one of several weekends highlighting autumn at the Village. On Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23, Village staff will demonstrate food preservation, 1860s style. Cider-making, apple-drying and sauerkraut-making are just a few of the activities which will take place. On Saturday and Sunday, September 29 and 30, Village staff will butcher a pig in preparation for sausage-making, meat-curing and smoking and salting pork. Saturday, Sunday and Monday, October 6, 7 and 8, staff will prepare for winter by demonstrating the art of harvesting and threshing, husking corn, and flailing peas. Preparing for winter continues Saturday and Sunday, October 13 and 14, with Village staff demonstrating mattress-stuffing, knitting and a quilting bee.

Upper Canada Village will close for the season on October 15.

WDMH receives $95,000 legacy

WINCHESTER (Staff) - The board of directors of Winchester District Memorial Hospital has learned that Roy Shaver who died August 16, has left his entire estate to the hospital. The board was informed in writing by Morrisburg lawyer Mike McInnis. Mr. McInnis said that after the sale of the house and contents the amount would be approximately $95,000.

After the closing of the estate and legal matters have been attended to Mr. McInnis will advise the hospital board about the legacy.

During the summer months the hospital auxiliary remained active although no regular monthly meetings were held in July and August. The teenage volunteer program was carried out and blood clinic activities were supervised.

At the August 15 blood clinic 225 units of blood were collected. The gift shop also operated during the summer months. A $200 donation was received from the Metcalfe Old Time Music Association and the first fund-raising event of the new season will be the November Christmas bazaar.

Miss Carla Cristante has been hired as a physiotherapist. There were no resignations over the summer.

Service awards were given to Mrs. Anne Baker, laboratory for 10 years; Mrs. Kay Hutt, housekeeping, 10 years; Mr. Duncan Levere, chief engineer, 25 years.

Effective September 17 Mrs. Mary Whyte, the hospital's pharamacist for the past 4 years, will be resigning. She has accepted a position as chief pharmacist at the Grace Hospital in Ottawa. The vacancy will be advertised and it is hoped that it will be filled shortly. The hospital's pharmacist consultant service to Kemptville will be discontinued.

The Deeks family of Williamsburg is paying for an additional Geri-Chaise for One East at a cost of roughly $900. Since June several donations were received by the board: Brinston United Church Women, $100; Mrs. Annie Bicknell, Ingleside, $20; The Holmes Clan $226.

The laboratory project is making good progress with construction almost finished. A further $6000 is needed for fundraising purposes to pay the costs of the lab extension. The roofing project has been completed.

Financially the hospital should not need any bank loans for the time being with only a small operational deficit of $8677.

John R. McIntosh will be the board's replacement for Bill Porteous on the Hospital Advisory Committee of the Seaway Valley District Health Council.

EXPLANATORY NOTE AMENDING ZONING BY-LAW # 84-10

The Zoning By-law amendment zones approximately 2.9 hectares (7.4 acres) of land Residential (R). The lands are located on the east side of Nelson Street and comprise the former New York Central right-of-way between Highway #43 and the Canadian Pacific Railway (as shown below). The Residential zone permits various types of residential usage on the lands subject to the provisions of Zoning By-law 183, 1980. Approximately 1.3 hectares (4.7 acres) of the site is intended to be used for a 26 unit senior citizen's housing project. The remainder is largely intended for single family housing.

Deb's Delights

If you are anything like I am you must be getting tired of the gardening. So I thought this week I'd give you an easy dessert recipe. Not really hard to make and you don't have to turn on the oven!

CHOCOLATE TAPIOCA PUDDING

2 eggs separated
4 cups milk, scalded
1-3 (one-third) cup quick cooling tapioca
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

CHOCOLATE SAUCE

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 square chocolate
1 tablespoon butter

Mix together the sugar, water and grated chocolate. Boil for 5 minutes. Cool slightly and add the butter and vanilla.

Mix eggs yolks with small amount of milk. Add tapioca, sugar, salt and remaining milk. Cook in double boiler 10-12 minutes stirring frequently. Remove from heat. Do not overcook the mixture, as it thickens when it cools. Beat egg whites until stiff, but do not dry. When tapioca mixture is slightly cookedfold in whites and vanilla. Fold in chocolate sauce. Chill. Serves 6.

Next week - Who Knows? Maybe another dessert. Don't forget to send in your favorite recipes.

IMPORTANT NOTE FOR ALL COOKS

Bring your favorite recipe to the Trade Fair and deposit it in the box labelled Deb's Delights Recipe Contest at The Record booth. You may win a prize!

Cooking tips for W.I.

By Betty Neville

The September meeting of the Osnabruck Centre Women's Institute was held at the Osnabruck Centre Hall Sept. 6. Eighteen members were present.

After the opening exercises Betty Neville introduced the guest speaker Cliff Rombough. Mr. Rombough demonstrated how to cut a chicken up. He emphasized the proper handling of chicken so food poisoning would not occur - cooling completely in ice water after dressing. Never leave fowl at room temperature because in an hour the bacteria could start to contaminate the meat. Meats with a high moisture content spoil easier (fowl, pork, ham, etc. Always take the cooked meat off the bones when storing in the refrigerator and store separately from the dressing. Leave deboned chicken in freezer for up to six months only because so much of the meat has been exposed to the air. Mr. Rombough then answered several interesting questioning concerning meats and their handling. He also distributed pamphlets from the Dept. of Agriculture on poultry.

President Mrs. Annie Ferguson conducted the business meeting. The roll call was submit a chicken recipe. These will be typed up and distributed to each member. The secretary read the correspondence: a letter from Newington WI inviting us to attend their bicentennial meeting Sept. 26 in the Newington United Church Hall. Special guest speaker will be Mr. Rick McDermid. A letter from Kathy Simpson on the upcoming 4-H clubs; a letter from Mrs. Johnson president of FWIO; a letter from Mrs. Kilby, eastern secretary of the WI on the fall convention at the Talisman Motor Inn, Ottawa on Oct. 22, 23.

The smile was given by Muriel Hotzel. Lunch was served by Betty Neville and Grace Ault. The meeting was then adjourned.

Finch W.I. quilt bee Sept. 20

By Lois Dillabough

The Finch Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Velma Rombough. Mrs. Adrian Dingemans opened the meeting and welcomed the members. After the summer holiday it is nice to be back to the fall activities. Secretary Mrs. Earl Lang read the minutes and correspondence.

Roll call: men are usually down on what we are not "up to". Motto: is Finch branch up to presenting some good resolutions this year. Mrs. Myrle Dame read a story on bags, boredom and the way of a Pilgrim on job she was bored with.

A certificate of merit was presented to Mrs. Darwin Ouderkirk, before she left for her new home. We wish Megan and Darwin good luck for the future. An invitation was received from Newington branch to a meeting Sept. 26. The convention in Ottawa will be Oct. 22, 23. Plans will be made later.

The 4-H Achievement Night will be in Finch hall, Sept. 26.

The members are planning to place a WI cookbook in the Library in memory of Mrs. Mary Campbell. A card and flowers are to be sent from the members to Mrs. Joe Dingemans. Miss Jean Duff read cards of thanks from members.

A quilting bee will be held at Mrs. D. MacLen's home on Sept. 20. Prizes were won by Mrs. E. Lang and Mrs. F. Carruthers. A social hour was enjoyed. Lunch convenors, Mrs. George MacLean and Mrs. Velma Rombough. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Herman TePlate.

Jack Cross Heritage Pres.

(Staff) - The Chesterville and District Heritage Society has elected Jack Cross president of the organization to replace Bob Bennett who has moved to Vankleek Hill. Mr. Cross has agreed to accept the position until October 1985.

In other business the society learned Ed Forward broke his arm while undertaking work for the heritage centre and consequently the possibility of obtaining new insurance is being examined. Mr. Forward has two new doors for the front of the building and the furnace will also be installed when the doors go up.

During the month of October the society will canvas various local organizations for financial support. Tickets for the 50-50 draw will be sold at the Trade Fair.

New membership cards have been made and Mrs. Harold Sharkey will receive a membership free following a raffle.

Unfortunately the Society will not be entering a float in the Heritage Day parade in Chesterville because of lack of manpower. Virley Edwards donated a bulletin board for the heritage centre. Votes of appreciation were tendered to Harold Edwards and Ed Forward for their efforts in renovating the centre.

The society will sponsor a pancake breakfast Saturday, September 22 from 7:30-10:30am. This is the day of the celebrations in Chesterville for the Ontario bicentennial.

The school year loomed threateningly over the heads of NDDHS scholars as they assembled on Sept. 4 for their first day back. It was a celebrated occasion, firstly because it lasted only half as long as normal and secondly because old friends' and arch-enemies' acquaintances were renewed once again.

Of course, the new were ushered in, in the form of minor-niners looking not unlike a horde of lemmings rushing to their death. The usual entertainments for senior students, that is, watching them following maps stuck studiously to their finder binders, giving them the directions to the boiler room, and initiating those unwary few were still there.

When rumors surfaced about new dress and behavior codes, it was expected that there would be a student cry for raw meat in protest against them. Luckily, there were no terribly new restrictions and the establishment was left unscathed.

As we begin to settle into the humdrum of confined life we find many opportunities to expand our horizons with the extracurricular activities that are offered. The girls' basketball and boys' soccer coaches are currently holding tryouts for berths on their prestigious teams while Mr. St. Louis is priming his junior and senior bands. As usual, Mr. Conlin is on a schoolwide manhunt for bodies to participate in cross-county, that arduous exercise for the noble few.

The new student council was introduced. It is made up of conscientious students, and, of course we have our own "little devil", Tim Grose, the school's ludicrous mascot. This year promises to be an interesting one, as the council presents fresh, innovative ideas and Tim leads us into a hyperactive good time.

U.C.W. Unit meet for "Friendship"

(Special) - Wednesday, Sept. 5 the Evening Unit of the UCW started the fall season with a meeting of 'Friendship" and a busy agenda in view.

Mr. Evelyn Gillard welcomed the seventeen members and opened the meeting in Trinity United dining hall with a poem 'Friends,' followed by the hymn 'Faith of our Fathers'. Elsie Graham was pianist for the evening. Lois Smith read the minutes of the June meeting, Ruby Miltimore gave the treasurers report and Ruth Young reported for the card committee. It was decided to hold the semi-annual rummage sale on Friday Sept. 21.

In her report, Gladys Smith showed the first prize ribbon won by our UCW for our display at the Chesterville fair. She then brought to our attention several area meetings plus our Thankoffering, Oct. 4, and a combined meeting Nov. 1. Our Christmas bazaar is to be opened this year by Jane Gilbert of station CJOH.

The worship service was opened with a reading 'Nothing is too good for a friend' by Evelyn Gillard and the singing of 'Joyful, joyful we adore Thee.' Isabel Conley gave humorous and meaningful readings on friendship.

Virginia Ferguson read the scripture with an explanatory message. The offering was received and the hymn 'What a friend we have in Jesus' was sang concluding the service.

Needing no introduction, Isabel Forward was welcomed to give a presentation of the 359th anniversary of the Oberammergau Passion Play. The slides showed the architecture and picturesque location of the play and the arrival of Jesus in Jersualem up to His crucifiction and ressurection. Isabel was thanked by Isabel Conley and given a token of appreciation.

Following the Mispah benediction a friendly hour was passed while lunch was served by Mrs. Gillard and her committee.

United Co-operatives of Ontario

Despite a strong business, debt pressures force UCO to file for reorganization under Canadian Law

ATTENTION: MEMBERS, DEBENTURE HOLDERS, EMPLOYEES, CUSTOMERS, SUPPLIERS AND CREDITORS

On Monday, August 27, 1984, United Co-operatives of Ontario (UCO) voluntarily filed for protection under the Companies Creditors Arrangement Act in order to obtain the time necessary to complete a reorganization of its financial affairs. In granting protection to UCO, the Supreme Court of Ontario also appointed Price Waterhouse Limited to have general supervision over the affairs of UCO.

In the following interview, Albert C. Plant, Chief Executive Officer of UCO and C. Garth MacGirr, President of Price Waterhouse Limited, answer questions on the background of this development:

Q. Mr. Plant, this announcement that UCO is seeking time to reorganize its business affairs comes as a surprise. What prompted UCO to take this action?

A. Actually, the re-organization has been going on since last January but we were unable to finalize arrangements with our lenders. Simply stated, we needed the supervision of the Court to complete the re-structuring.

Q. Mr. MacGirr, does this mean that UCO is just another business failure?

A. Absolutely not. UCO has a strong viable business and at the date of this filing was not in arrears to any trade creditor. However, it has borrowed a lot of money which it can not immediately repay. That's a problem that a lot of people— and countries— are facing these days.

Q. Mr. Plant, will UCO go out of business?

A. No. I am absolutely delighted with the degree of support that we have received from our members, our customers, and most of our suppliers. Business is being carried on as usual and I expect that to continue.

Q. Mr. MacGirr, what is the role of Price Waterhouse?

A. Our job is to supervise the preparation and implementation of the Plan of Compromise or Arrangement to be filed with the Court. In addition, we are administering the financial affairs of UCO to ensure that employees and suppliers are being paid on a current basis.

Q. UCO does considerable grain business, Mr. MacGirr. What about the grain producers?

A. Price Waterhouse has set up a system whereby grain producers receive a cheque promptly after the delivery of grain to UCO according to the terms of payment. Farmers who sold grain to UCO prior to August 27 will be contacted on an individual basis.

Q. What if UCO is only storing the grain?

A. We have a system whereby the grain producer receives a warehouse receipt for his grain. Such grain remains the property of the producer and will not be disposed of without written instructions from the owner.

Q. UCO is also in livestock. What about this?

A. Same answer. Livestock producers are receiving cheques in accordance with the usual terms of payment.

Q. Mr. Plant, this all sounds like business as usual. Is that correct?

A. Absolutely! We are endeavouring to conduct our affairs as close to normal as possible and so far it's working fine.

Q. Mr. Plant, what is the significance of the August 27 date?

A. That's the date we filed for protection. Generally speaking, all debts of UCO are frozen at that date. The financial restructuring which Mr. MacGirr is supervising will deal with those debts.

A. (Mr. MacGirr) Actually, we were simply trying to freeze the position of the lenders. However, the Act requires that all debts be frozen so trade creditors got caught as well. However, I should emphasize that trade credit obtained after August 27 is secured in priority to existing creditors and is being paid in the ordinary course of business.

Q. Mr. Plant, will the debenture holders be protected?

A. Yes. The re-structuring plan, when implemented, will give them a super-priority over other creditors and in return current maturities will be rolled over for a period of five years at the then current interest rates.

Q. Mr. MacGirr, what happens if the plan is not filed by September 30, 1984, the date suggested when filing?

A. The date of September 30 is simply our undertaking to the Court. In the unlikely event that the re-structuring plan can not be filed by that date, the Court has the power to grant extensions. However, we have no intention of delaying the proceedings.

Q. Mr. Plant, will the governments be involved in the re-structuring plan?

A. We have commitments from the Government of Ontario and the Government of Canada that each of them will provide $7.5 million of recoverable assistance to UCO. I believe that this solid support from the two governments will go a long way towards completing the re-structuring.

Q. Is there anything else to know?

A. Yes. You should know that the Directors and I and the people who work for UCO have made every effort to avoid this problem. Re-structuring is always difficult, but our Board believes that it is the only way to protect our businesses. We expect to emerge stronger than before. We are determined to correct past mistakes and set a new course for our Co-operative.

Chesterville catcher Laurie Buske braces herself for a tumble with Finch runner Jennifer Hunt as she tries to score at home in the second inning of a playoff game on Sunday. Chesterville won the game 10-3 and needs one more win to clinch the title. Empire Doug Workman called Hunt out and both girls went away unscathed.

South Mountain is looking down on our struggling Midget boys

RECORD Sports

(Staff) - Chesterville Midget boys have a long climb before them as South Mountain Midget boys take a 2-0 lead in the best-of-three final series for the ODMSL title.

On Thursday, September 6, South Mountain won the opener at home 7-2, then beat Chesterville 7-5 here last Sunday night (September 9). The story so far has been South Mountain pitcher Rick Boyd, who has 25 strikeouts and the only home run in the series. This fellow could easily play intermediate ball, and South Mountain coach Bill Helmer has luckily saved Boyd for these finals, as work has kept him away from most of the season.

Chesterville will have to rise to his level and they've put a few dents in the South Mountain armor already. However, it's going to take a complete effort for the village boys to win this series. Mountain just took the season's games three wins to two with one tie, so Chesterville can beat this team.

South Mountain 7 Chesterville 2 (September 6)

Boyd scored his team's first run in the second and Bobby Hart made it 2-0 with the help of his brother Gary, who batted him in during the third inning. Chesterville's defence kept South Mountain to only three hits the first five innings, but South Mountain allowed the village only five hits all game.

It took four innings for Chesterville to put something together as singles by Shawn O'Conner and Rene Boulanger and a bunt by Damian Laflamme loaded the bases. It took Mark Smith's loop over second to score Boulanger and the village tied it 2-2 as Gerald Boulanger batted in Laflamme.

But Chesterville's Stu Chambers threw three wild pitches in the SM sixth, and five hits were strung together for a five run inning and a 7-2 SM lead. Trevor McClatchie, Chris Guy, John Guy, Tom McClean and Brent Carkner scored the runs.

South Mountain 7 Chesterville 5

South Mountain's Kevin Henry scored right off the bat, but Chesterville's Smith tied it at 1-1 in the first.

The village boys actually took the lead in the fourth inning as Mike Harper and Ren Boulanger scored. The 3-1 Ches terville lead held only half a inning as SM had a four ru inning, including a long two ru homer by Boyd. The ball cleare the agricultural building roof, good 260 feet.

Jerold Boulanger brought th score to 5-4 for SM and pitche Stu Chambers tied it soon after In the sixth, SM was threathenin at third, but Mark Smith sur prised everybody, especially th runner McClatchie, and got th third out. Helmer and Guy scored in the seventh for South Moun tain's 7-5 win.

Bantam girls only need a win

FINCH (Staff) - Chesterville Bantam girls are just one win away from clinching their division in the ODMSL as they took the Finch Bantam girls 10-3 Sunday afternoon in Finch.

Last Tuesday (September 4), Chesterville opened the best-of-five final series with a resounding 16-5 win.

Chesterville waited a couple of weeks for this series to begin as Finch and Morrisburg were to battle it out. However, scheduling problems and getting the team together forced Morrisburg to forfeit the series to Finch, and the stage was then set.

Chesterville edged Finch four games to three all season, so there's still some hope in the Finch camp yet.

Chesterville 16 Finch 5 (Septem- (September 4)

Chesterville pitcher Angela McLaughlin was shaken up right at the start as Finch batters pounded her for four hits and three runs. Heidi Hollingdrake, Gaby David and Rita Michels scored the runs. However, Finch pitcher Leslie Rombough had control problems of her own in the first, as she gave up four walks. That was enough to score. Sherri Jordan, Pam Geertsma, Laurie Buske, Carole Droppo and Cheryl Van Delst and give the home team a 5-3 lead in the first.

Finch batters were stymied the next three innings as McLaughlin kept them hitless and off base. Finch didn't do anything until the fourth when Ann Van Delst got on with a walk and Karen Reusser hit a single that seemed to the start of a rally. A couple of fly balls ended Finch's chances there and they left players on base, which would total 10 players on base by game's end.

Meanwhile, Chesterville piled up a five run rally in the second, added three runs in the third and three more in the fourth for a 16-3 lead after four innings.

In the fifth, Finch's Rombough scored on a throwing error by Van Delst and Buske erred to advance Donna MacLean, who eventually got home for another run. McLaughlin threw four walks that inning, but the infield came up with a couple of great fielding plays to hold back the tide. Again, Finch left three players on base and the score stood at 16-5. McLaughlin struck out Casselman to finish the game with two strikeouts and only allowing six hits. Finch batters had only one extra base hit, a triple by Michels in the first.

Losing pitcher Leslie Rombough gave up 13 hits and 10 walks, but by the time she settled down in the fifth inning, it was too late. Rombough had four strikeouts though. Top hitters in this game were Pat Geertsma and Angela McLaughlin who were three for five at the plate. Cheryl Van Delst scored four runs to lead all scorers.

Chesterville 10 Finch 3 (September 9)

Finch didn't waste any time in their park as Hollingdrake walked and later scored on Logten's fly. Finch pitcher Rombough avenged her poor showing last game and struck out three Chesterville batters in the first two innings. But Merkley managed to get home in the second to tie the game 1-1. Merkley also tripled in the fourth and scored again on a throwing error, putting Chesterville in front 2-1.

After McLaughlin kept Finch batters at bay, Lise Van Kessel ran home from third and the Chesterville team pulled ahead 3-1. They could have had more runs, with runners on second and third, but Finch pitcher Rombough came through to strike out Van Delst to end the attack.

In the bottom of the fifth, Jennifer Hunt singled and eventually rounded third, but catcher Laurie Buske was waiting for her and the two collided. Hunt bumped Buske with some force, but the runner was out and Finch's spark died down. In the sixth, Monique Monast scored to make it 4-1 Chesterville.

Chesterville put the game away with six runs in the top of the seventh. Geertsma, who was stung by a bee earlier in the game, managed to put aside her hurt and score on a Van Delst single. The bases were loaded now and Droppo came home on a fly, Van Delst on a bases-loaded walk, and Vicky Van Gessel batted in Monast and Kuno for a 9-1 lead. Geertsma singled in Van Gessel to finish the Chesterville scoring.

Finch came back in their half for two runs as Kim Shaver and Ann Van Delst scored, but they fell short and the final score was 10-3.

The losing pitcher, Leslie Rombough, had a tough afternoon but managed to give up only seven hits and struck out five. Rombough needs more control for Tuesday's (September 11) third game if Finch hopes to win one back. Chesterville took 11 walks this game and several of them scored runs.

If pitcher McLaughlin is hot (she threw a three-hitter Sunday), those seven miles back to Finch are going to be long ones for the Finch girls.

Straight shooters talk guns

CONNAUGHT (Staff) - There's a few more safer hunters around this area thanks to Cecil Hatt and the Connaught Rod and Gun Club. Last Monday and Tuesday, Hatt gave 24 beginner and veteran hunters the right and wrong ways to handle weapons. The two evening course is given every September as a primer for those who go through the strict exam for their hunting licence.

Hatt says the image of the conservation officer has mellowed over the years, but they still expect you to handle the gun safely and with good muscle control. That is what Hatt is looking for when each student in his class handles and loads the single shot 12 gauge, pump shot gun or double gauge shotgun.

"The number rule in hunter safety is muscle control and staying calm," says Hatt. Thinking ahead of where the barrel is going to point may save a life one day, including your own. Hatt pointed out the only time one may check down the barrel of a shotgun after specific safety checks have been carried out.

Hatt showed examples of shotguns blown up from lack of cleaning or, in one case, too much cleaning. "One fellow forgot a piece of cleaning wad in the barrel, and it blew up on him," said Hatt. Fortunately, he was not hurt. Even a small spider's web in the barrel can prove disastrous.

The next evening was spent going over hunting regulations, walking properly with the shotguns, and other safety tips.

Jeff Johnson of Finch Mens Town league White team didn't need much of a warm-up as his team coasted to a 13-8 win over the Green team in playoff final action Sunday. The White team needs only one more win to sweep the best-of-seven finals and they could do it this week if the weather holds up.

Terry Fox time on the horizon

(Staff) - Keep Sunday, September 23 open on your calendar because you're invited to walk or run in the Terry Fox Run in Chesterville to raise funds for cancer research. And if you like to canoe, there's a canoe flotilla for Terry's Marathon of Hope in Alexandria the same day. There's time enough to enter both.

Last year's run raised over $2 million across Canada and over $6100 in Chesterville. Race organizer Dr. Charles Adamson naturally hopes to break that figure, and his helpers will add a personal twist to the runner's certificates. Each Terry Fox certificate will carry the walker or racer's name and have a sticker beside it for each year he or she participated in the run. Team and industrial challenges are also welcome and transfers for T-shirts will go on sale at the site.

The course is still the same, starting at NDDHS to travel westward across Maple Ridge down across Hwy. 43, along t nine mile road, and back to the high school on Hwy. 43. "The actual course was about 11. km," Dr. Adamson said, "but we said it was 10 km to make things easier."

Registration forms are avai lable at Beckers and area hospitals. Runners and walkers can do their thing anytime between noon and 4pm.

The Alexandria Canoe Club is repeating their 10 mile canoe flotilla on the same day and they get off at noon as well. This is not a race so you can take all the time you desire. The canoes will leave Charlottenburgh Park and proceed westerly along the shore past Summerstown to a point past Marlen's Apples, turn around, then paddle back five miles with the current to the starting point. For pledge sheets, contact Maurice Sauve at 525-2940 or 931-2953 nights, or pick one up at the Record office.

White team close to crown

FINCH (Staff) - The Finch Men's Town League continued its final series over the weekend as the White team is one win away from the championship. White defeated Green 13-8 Sunday evening to take a 3-0 lead in the series.

White won the first game of the finals 7-6 on September 6. White took the second game as well, 10-3, and the game only lasted five innings, as Green called for a quick finish, hoping they could regroup another night.

The third game saw Green in trouble before the game even started. Both their pitchers didn't show up and Perry Drew had a trial by fire as he started pitching for the Greens. The White players tagged him for seven runs in the first until Green's regular pitcher Blake Henderson showed up. Green scored five runs in the third, but it wasn't enough as White coasted to a 13-8 win. Game four was scheduled for Tuesday night (September 11) in Finch.

Gartree Park motocross is up around the bend

LONG SAULT (Staff) - Gartree Park has come of age.

It's taken six long seasons for co-owners Janet and John Milnes to get their motocross project on the right track, but the image they're striving for seems to be settling in.

Gartree Park Motocross track, just north of Long Sault, is getting known as 'the friendly track with action for competitors and spectators.'

But as early as two months ago, Janet and John were wondering where the action was - the weather turned sour on many event days, bikers were hesitant to show up to earn points, and the spectators and public at large took a 'wait and see' attitude. Many people still looked at motocross racing as a dangerous and rebellious sport, but the Milnes along with many volunteers, plugged away to change that image. The first event in May was a financial disaster and weather cancelled two runs in June. In all, seven dates were scratched, and when your season is only five months long, it hurts the pocketbook.

Although both Milnes run Gartree with a professional flair, it's more a labor of love. "We're not in this to make any money," says John. But the Milnes wondered where all the riders were. With over 200 riders in the region, the Milnes were only drawing 30 to 40 riders for their earlier meets. The problem was geography and politics.

The governing body, the Canadian Motocross Association (CMA), decides in Ontario where sanctioned races are held to avoid conflicting dates among the province's motocross parks. Gartree Park was situated in a 'no man's land' between the big event races in Copetown, near Toronto, and the popular Montreal-area tracks. Ontario riders went to Copetown events and Quebec riders avoided Gartree as their earned points were not valid from an Ontario track.

John Milnes presented a unique proposal to the CMA on July 20 this year and won approval to allow Quebec riders to add Gartree-earned points to their provincial point totals. In effect, the six county band of Ottawa-Carleton, Prescott, Russell and the United Counties were now part of Quebec, motocross-wise. And Ontario riders in the region were still allowed their earned points toward the CMA's Ontario championship. This allowed a rider in Hawkesbury, for example, to now gain sanctioned points in both Quebec and Ontario, where before he raced for no standings in Quebec.

Gartree's gates were now open to the huge Quebec ridership and 97 riders, mostly from Quebec, took part in the first 'annexation' event, which doubled the previous meet in attendance. This unique situation allows Gartree to schedule a CMA sanctioned meet this September 22 and 23, when the park hosts the High Points Champions and the Annual Team Challenge between natural rivalries Ontario and Quebec.

The park's image to riders on both sides has improved greatly with riders coming in as far as Baie Comeau, Quebec, to Windsor, Ontario.

Except for the Junior 125cc class, which is just about locked up by Richard Clarke of North Gower, all the classes should have close finishes in the points championships. Although Quebec riders now dominate most of the classes, a few Ontario hopefuls like Dean Hoelscher of Alexandria and Jim Coleman of Cumberland still have a chance to win.

The motocross track may even see the likes of Mike Harndon, the Gretzky of the motocross world, who would compete in the Expert's Open. But many spectators come to see the young drivers who ride like fury and show no fear.

The step-to-Quebec has changed the financial plight of the track from a $7000 loss before the change to "just getting by," said the Milnes.

The Milnes have brought a professional look to the track as well. The CMA approved track is 1612 metres long (about a mile) and the twists, jumps and turns around the track honor several local people and places who volunteered their time and effort to make the track exciting.

The first turn, 'Coin de Cleary', is for the Cornwall township reeve whose support has brought local approval to the track. The next turn, 'Fenton',' is named after Bill Fenton, a Cornwall township councillor. Then there's the 'Longue Sault Rapids,' where the bikes ride very, very fast reaching 'La Table,' a 25 foot artifically-raised hill. 'Losey's Leap' built by area resident Jim Losey follows, then around 'The Combo' and 'La Diagonale' and into 'The Whups,' a stretch of undulations in the ground. A straight jump, just named 'Pat's' follows.

Pat Zeron from Newington volunteers her time at Gartree and Ken and Anne Zeron have the next turn named after them. The two Zerons have donated their time every race and completely take charge of scoring, "most, efficiently" says John Milnes. After the riders pass the 'Alligator Pit,' they turn into 'Mondoux's' named after Harrison's Corners resident Angus Mondoux, who does translation duties for the Quebec riders. Around the corner is 'Callimacis,' named after Montreal referee Fulvio Callimaci. Past that corner is (Jack) 'Williams' jump, a Cornwall volunteer, then toward a chicane (a curve) and then finally past the 'Chameau' or camel humps to complete the track. Truly a track with local identifications.

Spectators are starting to line around the track, and the Milnes hope to break the four figure barrier soon. The stands offer a complete view of the track, but fans can place their lawnchairs near their favourite jump.

Not everybody sees Gartree Park in a good light. A few area residents complained to Cornwall township after a trophy was donated to sponsor one of the heats.

John Milnes responds to their criticisms of excess noise, dust and injuries as being unfair, saying "there are just as many injuries as in a poor hockey game." There's been six minor (ie. broken toe) accidents in six years, and St. John's Ambulance and CMA marshalls keep an eye for dangerous play. Area businesses have been the core of sponsor support and Gartree has also caught major sponsors like Petro-Canada and Coca-Cola.

When events aren't scheduled, recreational drivers take to the track, including over 20 Chesterville and Winchester area riders who get to use a national track for just $15 a season. There's also a school for new riders.

All this seems to put Janet and John Milnes in the fast lane of things, but their other careers keep everything in perspective. Both teach children with learning disabilities, Janet in Ingleside, John in Cornwall. Janet puts in over 250 hours of racetrack paperwork each season, and carries an equal amount of responsibility with John, an ex-British motocross champion.

Gartree Park's transitional season is becoming a hit with the riders and the fans. The Milnes have left no promotional stones unturned. Even the stones harvested from the track have been put to use: they're being used to wall the Milnes' house right next to their motocross track.

John and Janet Milne take a short pit stop while checking over preparations for their last motocross meet of the Gartree Park season September 22 and 23. The Milnes have built their motocross park into one of the most challenging racetracks across two provinces, and they said nothing couldn't have been done without the help of corporate and local sponsors.

Blue Devils oust Bruisers, Chokers meet Berets again

(Staff) - It's tough being a Choker in the Chesterville Ball Hockey league. Everybody else gangs up on these pennant winners and come playoff time there's the ritual upsets to contend with. But last Wednesday the Chokers came out of their match as victors over the Green Berets 5-3, and tied the best of three semifinals at a game apiece.

The other semifinals saw the Blue Devils put the Bruisers to rest for the year as they beat them 4-1 in a rough game. The Devils now have an extra week to rest up for the finals, and they could probably use the layoff. The Bruisers didn't go out without a fight as 27 minutes in penalties were called between the teams, just about all of them to rough play. Hey guys, do you ever see the Russians fighting and pushing unnecessarily? Do you ever see them losing games? Enough said.

Chokers 5 Green Berets 3

Maybe the Green Berets thought this game was in the bag because they only had an extra player for subs, while the Chokers had six extras.

However, at the 30 second mark of the first period, Green Beret Scott Richards surprised everybody with a quick goal, assisted by Mike Hoogeveen. It was only one of three shots on Choker goalie John Elliot that period while the frustrated Chokers took seven shots on Kevin Green.

In the second, Green Beret Wayne Dillabough hurt his ankle and sat off for a while while his teammates went without a line change for several minutes. But Beret Rob Reynolds, who only scored one goal all season, made it 2-0 with an unassisted goal. Dillabough got back on the floor to play some great defence as he blocked three Choker shots with his legs. The Chokers kept pouring it on and at the 9:14 mark Greg Beckstead scored from Johnny Vanderveen and Stu Chambers to make it 2-1. The ball hit the crossbar but Beckstead lifted it over Green's glove side.

The Green Berets started to tire and players were begging for constant shift changes. Their lack of lung power proved fatal at the 11:17 mark of the second as Choker's Mr. Reliable Pat Imrie scored unassisted on a partial breakaway to tie the game. Chokers outshot the Berets 7-2 that period.

Chokers pulled ahead late in the third as Imrie got his second goal assisted from Beckstead. Jeff Van Morel goal assisted by Beckstead, making it 4-2. Green Beret Dave VanDelst closed the gap to 4-3 with assists to Reynolds and Richards, but there was no more steam left in the Beret camp.

Richards went off with a foot injury and the Chokers replied with a Barry Feeley tally to make it 5-3. Garry Beckstead got his third assist of the night and Pat Imrie added another assist for a three point night. Shots on net for the third: Chokers 6, Berets 3, with the total shots at 20-8 for the Chokers.

Clearly, the Green Berets need more manpower for next week's deciding game. They defeated themselves last Wednesday.

Blue Devils 4 Bruisers 1

Scrappy play by the Bruisers caused the first Devil goal at 7:28 of the first period. Team scoring leader Neil Kittle put one away on a partial breakaway past Bruiser goalie Gary Gallinger. Neil Beckstead hit the goalpost one minute later but Kittle was around to see the ball trickle in for a 2-0 Devil's lead. Barry Elliot got the assist. The Devils completely dominated the period outshooting the Bruisers 6-3.

The Bruisers started coming alive in the second period, outshooting the Devils 4-2. Bruiser Frank Heerkens took a seemingly dumb tripping penalty at the 3:00 mark, but if he hadn't done it, the Blue Devils would have had a certain breakaway.

The scoring drought continued for both sides well into the last half of the third period. Instead, both teams jostled with each other, with the Devil's Kelly off for some overzealous body checking, and Feeley and Arnold off for rough play. Bruiser Ron Richards eventually made it exciting as he scored a goal to make it 2-1. Sullivan and Shay got the assists.

Only three shots apiece were fired in that period, because the pushes were leading to shoves. Four players sat down for rough play. Sullivan, Feeley, Imrie and Arnold got three minutes apiece, while Arnold was awarded another three minutes for high-sticking.

With plenty of room to manoeuvre Blue Devil Neil Kittle scored his hat trick unassisted with about a minute left in the game. Tom Feeley made it 4-1 with twenty seconds left and the Bruisers gave up. Donnie Imrie got the assist.

In the game, the Blue Devils outshot the Bruisers 13-8. The Blue Devils took the series in two straight games, scoring eight goals to the Bruiser's two.

Finch midgets new champs

FINCH (Staff) - Finch Midget girls are the new midget champs in the Osnabruck and District Minor Softball league after trouncing Williamsburg Midget girls 12-4 last Thursday night.

Finch swept the final series in four straight games.

Finch got there by defeating Vernon in the semifinals by scores of 24-1 and 7-5. In that first semifinal game, Finch pitcher Vicky Shaver had 10 strikeouts and her teammates responded with a 15 run sixth inning.

Finch carried their batting power into the first final game with Williamsburg (August 22) and went away with a 24-0 win. Most of the runs were scored in the third (10) and sixth innings (8).

Williamsburg's offence started to jell in the second game (August 27) with a profitable rally in the fourth inning by scoring seven runs. Trouble was, Finch had already scored 12 runs earlier in the fourth and they added six more runs in the seventh inning for an 19-8 lead. Williamsburg scored six more runs in the bottom of the seventh, but it wasn't enough, and Finch won 19-14.

Back at Finch on August 29, Williamsburg struck early for a 3-0 lead in the series.

The fourth game in Williamsburg last Thursday started again with the home team leading 1-0 in the first. But Finch did what they did all series: get their runs in bunches. Finch scored seven runs in the second inning. Vicky Shaver, Sherry Lalonde, Lana Shaver, Tracey Hollingdrake, Kelly Morris, Wendy Shaver and Joanne Sproul all scored runs. Cindy Schwartz added one run in the third and Lisa Rombough had a three for four night at the plate. In all, a complete team effort as Finch won 12-4. Williamsburg's runs were scored by Peggy Moffat, Cindy Warren and Traci Casselman with two. Winning pitcher Vicky Shaver had another solid outing as she only gave up five hits.

The Finch Midget girls will receive their trophy at the league's awards night at a time and place that's still undecided.

CONNAUGHT (Special) - Connaught Rod and Gun Club held their monthly meeting last Thursday at the clubhouse and the problems of poaching in the area were discussed. The subject will be dealt with at length the next meeting.

Also discussed was the upcoming Rifle Shoot which is an annual event. Shooters compete against each other with the highest score winning a chicken or a turkey. There will also be a high-powered rifle event with open sight and scopes. For a bit of variety there will be a bow and crossbow competition and for the hunter who uses shotguns there will be a shotgun with slugs competition. The date for this year's shoot is October 14 at 12pm.

Club president Cecil Hatt said these events enable hunters to sharpen their skills before hunting season. Next Connaught meeting will be held October 4 and films of interest will be shown.

LONG SAULT (Staff) - Stormont District Minor Hockey association will be holding registration for all levels of hockey players at the Long Sault arena this Saturday, September 15, from 9am to 1pm and again on Wednesday September 19, from 7pm to 9pm.

Fees are $22 for tyke and $33 for novice to midget players living in Cornwall township. Osnabruck township players will be paying an extra $5 assessment at each level.

President Rick Eamens hopes to sign up betwen 320-350 hockey players. Eamens is also looking for a volunteer travelling team convenor for the Lower St. Lawrence hockey district.
