We've been damning our water supply for decades. Finally the town fathers have got around to damming it, too.

Tenders Being Called For Control Dam And Spillway In Loch Garry Area

Town Council this week is calling for tenders for construction of the earth fill dam and concrete spillway at Loch Garry, part of the project to assure a more controlled flow of water for the town. The earth fill dam will be 600 feet long with spillway structure and the contract calls for excavation of 6,000 linear feet of drainage ditch.

Tenders are to be in by September 30th and it is hoped to have work on the dam underway by mid-October. Cleaning out of the channel will be done in winter, after freeze-up.

Tenders are also being called for the construction of storm sewers on Bishop, Glencoe, Elgin and St. Paul Streets. These are to be in by October 6th.

Laurent Poirier, a veteran member of the fire brigade, resigned due to ill health and the matter will be dealt with by the Fire and Light committee. The City of Cornwall notified Council it expects to deliver the Lafrance fire pumper about October 17th. A 1958 model, purchased for $4,500, the second pumper is designed to ensure adequate protection here while fire calls to the surrounding townships are being responded to.

The Richelieu Club notified Council it will cease to be responsible for the island in the lake which it has tended. Council will advertise, offering the island to another servic group or non-profit organization willing to take over care of the island.

The subscription price of The News will be increased 50 cents as of October 1st. The new rates will be $4.00 per year in Canada; $5.00 for U.S. and foreign readers. Rates for lesser periods than a year will be raised accordingly.

New and renewal subscriptions will be accepted at the present rates until October 1st. Single copy price will remain at 10 cents.

Regular advertisers are being notified this week of a slight upward revision in local advertising rates, also effective October 1st.

Army Staff College Publication Pays Tribute To Brigadier D. C. Cameron

Brigadier D. C. Cameron retired from the Canadian Army this summer after a distinguished career which included the award of two Distinguished Service Orders during World War II.

A native of Lochiel, Brigadier Cameron has built a home on the outskirts of Kingston where he plans to reside.

His last posting was as Commandant of the Canadian Army Staff College at Kingston and the following tribute was paid him in the "Snowy Owl", published by the staff and students of the Staff College:

Brigadier Donald Cameron will be surprised to read this. He will wonder quite genuinely why anyone would take the trouble to write a piece about him. But it is important that something should be said about this self-effacing infantryman on his retirement from the Canadian Army.

There have never been enough soldiers like D. C. Cameron in any army—men with that instinct for battle which enables them to handle brigades as lesser men would platoons. When we have had such a man in our midst for all these years it is sad to see him leave. The army will be the poorer without him.

Did it ever occur to you how few really first-class fighting soldiers there are? We are not speaking of the good and faithful men in their thousands who have done their duty well in battle, but of the durable, aggressive leaders who carry the fight to the enemy, day in and day out, for months on end. The Canadian Army has probably had its share, but it could well have done with more. Donald Cameron is one of these.

There is no room here to tell the details of his war in Italy but typical of it was an incident when he first joined the veteran Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment as a reinforcement company commander. He had not been in battle and felt that he should learn the business from the ground up. He began the process by leading a section in a successful raid on an enemy machine gun position. From that beginning it was a brief time until he was in command of the Battalion.

To guage the measure of his fighting qualities one has only to read the 116 pages of Farley Mowat's book "The Regiment" which deal with the period of command of the "Hasty P's". There was that superb operation in the Hitler line which has been held up as a model of battalion tactics. Then there was the period, months later, when the battalion, worn down by constant battle, its strength depleted by casualties for whom no replacements were available, and its remaining soldiers numb and hollow-eyed, was held together as a fighting force by the leadership of their commander. When at last a rest came, he restored their pride and their morale and remoulded the battalion.

But that war is now twenty years behind us and he has never been one to live in the past. Since 1945, he has commanded the first of the Regular Army's parachute battalions, was a pioneer of arctic training and, as Director of Infantry, pressed the campaign to provide modern weapons and equipment for that primary arm. He commanded 4th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group in Canada and in Germany and gained the reputation for being not only a fine tactician but an able administrator as well.

But it is as the trainer of officers that he will chiefly be remembered at the Staff College and by those who passed through that establishment during his tenure as Commandant. The quiet force of his leadership was felt almost from the moment of his arrival. Under him the emphasis was on teaching the practical. Tactical innovations were encouraged but they were scrutinized by a practised eye to see if they would stand the test of battle. Students liked to have the Commandant join them on a tactical exercise for they were always sure to learn something from his shrewd comments.

All this might tend to suggest that Brigadier Donald C. Cameron, DSO, ED, CD, is a paragon of all the military virtues. This, of course is not so and he would laugh at such a suggestion. But this you can say about him—that he is a man that Canadian soldiers would be happy to follow in battle.

Coroner's Jury Recommends That Boarding Houses Be Inspected

A recommendation that householders retaining one or more boarders should come under the Fire Marshal's jurisdiction was made here last week by a coroner's jury.

The jury found that John MacMillan, 69, met death by fire of unknown origin, after deliberating only 10 minutes.

Mr. MacMillan was one of two elderly men who lost their lives when the home of Rudolf Rudzki, in the 5th Kenyon, was destroyed by fire. Martin Sabourin, 80, was the second victim.

Dr. L. M. Emard, coroner, of Cornwall, presided at the inquest and the witnesses included Mr. and Mrs. Rudzki, Fedor Terstujack, 73, a third boarder who escaped the flames, Yvon Lacombe, a youth who lived with the Rudzkis, James Graham, captain of the local fire brigade and Dr. W. J. Shannon, pathologist, of Cornwall.

Crown Attorney Duncan MacDonald questioned the witnesses and members of the jury were: Daniel Gill, foreman, Beverly MacQueen, Wilfred McDonald, Wilfred Vallance and Alfred Trottier.

Monkland Area Home Destroyed

The home of Wilfred Leroux, in the Monkland area, was heavily damaged by fire Friday. The three Roxborough Township brigades from Avonmore, Moose Creek and Monkland fought the blaze but were hampered by lack of water in getting it under control.

On the scene shortly after the fire was discovered at 3 p.m., the firemen were on duty through the night.

Fire Chief John Miller of Avonmore, suffered from smoke inhalation and was treated at hospital.

Loss was estimated at $12,000, only partly covered by insurance.

Fire Chief At Lancaster Retires

Oscar Menard who has served as fire chief at Lancaster for almost 14 years, has retired due to ill health. Mr. Menard made the announcement at a meeting of the brigade Monday night, when John McLaren was named acting chief.

Mr. Menard agreed to act as honorary chief for the present.

Village Council will make a permanent appointment, probably at its next meeting.

Mr. Menard joined the brigade some 20 years ago when it was organized and during his years as chief brought fine qualities of leadership and organizing ability to the post. His services were lauded at Monday's meeting and there were recollections of many fires in the village and countryside to which he and the brigade responded.

Leo Vincent Died At 58

A widely known resident of North Lancaster through most of his life, Leo Vincent died Tuesday in Glengarry Memorial Hospital following a lingering illness. He was 58.

Mr. Vincent was a son of the late Pierre Vincent and his wife, Evelina Emond and was born at North Lancaster. After attending the local schools he was in business there until 1957 when he purchased the hotel at Russell. In 1964 he returned to North Lancaster where he had since resided.

Earlier this year Mr. Vincent had been appointed building inspector in Lancaster Township but his subsequent illness prevented him taking up these duties. Long active in the Glengarry Liberal Association, he had been a member of Glengarry Council, Knights of Columbus and an active member of the North Lancaster community.

To mourn he leaves his wife, the former Cecile Desautels of Crysler; one son, Jean-Claude of Ottawa, and two daughters, Pierrette, in Montreal, and Carole at home.

The body is resting at the Marcoux & Morris Funeral Home from where the funeral will be held Friday for requiem mass at St. Margaret's Church, Glen Nevis, at 3.30 p.m.

D. A. Gray Had Served As Reeve Of Kenyon

A member of Kenyon Township Council where he had served over a lengthy period as councillor, deputy-reeve and reeve, Donald Angus Gray of Dunvegan, died September 15th in Cornwall General Hospital Annex. His death followed several years of failing health.

Mr. Gray was born at Dunvegan, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gray. A prominent resident of that community throughout his lifetime, he had served overseas in World War I and later had farmed and operated a farm machinery sales and service business.

First elected as councillor, Mr. Gray served as deputy-reeve for several years from 1955 and was elected reeve in 1959, serving in that capacity for three years. He had been active in all phases of community life and was an Elder of Kenyon Presbyterian Church at the time of his death.

He is survived by two sisters: Mrs. Ellen Pechie of Cornwall, and Mrs. James Swan of Montreal.

At the funeral, held Saturday, at 2 p.m. to Kenyon Church and cemetery, the minister Rev. H. Russell Ferguson, delivered a warm eulogy which we reprint in part:

Exchange Youths Much Enjoyed Trip To Calgary

(by Ann McDonald)

Have you ever travelled 2,000 miles across Canada, seen the hundreds of lakes in Northern Ontario, watched the sun rise and set on the Prairies? All of this and more was viewed by 24 Eastern Ontario students this summer when, as participants in the Centennial Youth Travel Program, they travelled by CNR to Calgary, Alberta. There they spent seven days.

These students, including Pauline Sicard, Billy Morris and Ann McDonald, all of Alexandria, left Cornwall August 23 for Ottawa on the first lap of their trip, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford MacRae of Avonmore. Arriving in Calgary after two days of travelling with only brief stops at Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Edmonton, some of the students spent the weekend with their host families visiting such places as Radium, the Columbia Ice Fields, Lake Louise and the Drumheller Badlands. The visit to Banff on Monday was one of the highlights of the trip. Other experiences included trips to the Calgary Aquarium, Gardens, and the zoo. A farewell barbeque and numerous other parties were held for the visitors.

Due to the railroad strike the students were fortunate enough to be flown to Montreal by a chartered plane with a stop at Regina and an 11-hour stop at Winnipeg during which they toured the city.

They arrived in Cornwall at nine a.m. Saturday, a day and a half earlier than scheduled.

This trip certainly taught these students a great deal about this wonderful country of Canada. Especially impressed was everyone by the Western hospitality.

Yes it's something to sing about, "This Land of Ours".

Plan Series Of Meetings For Canvassers As Organizing Proceeds For Hospital Drive

Plans for the fund-raising campaign of Glengarry Memorial Hospital are proceeding smoothly, the general committee reports.

The Special Names committee is already at work and organizing for the house-to-house canvass across the county is also well underway. Co-chairmen C. Campbell Fraser and Denis Ethier report co-chairmen are already at work in most electoral divisions and some have already come up with a complete set of canvassers.

Beginning on Tuesday, September 27, a series of meetings will be held in four centres at which co-chairmen and canvassers from those areas will be asked to attend. At these meetings a film relating to hospitals such as Glengarry Memorial will be screened and instruction given to canvassers. This will cover the need for the fund raising campaign and there will be hints on canvassing techniques and procedures.

Kits of material will be distributed to individual canvassers in readiness for the kick-off on October 11th.

The schedule of meetings is as follows:

Tuesday, September 27, 8 p.m.—At the Township Hall, North Lancaster, for canvassers and co-captains in Lancaster Township and Lancaster Village.

Wednesday, September 28, 8 p.m.—In the cafeteria of Glengarry District High School for the Township of Lochiel and the Town of Alexandria. Canvassers in the town are asked to meet at 7 p.m. for an organization meeting. They will then join the canvassers from Lochiel at 8 p.m. for a joint meeting.

Big Spud

Among the large potatoes dug up by Dorion Titley, Glen Robertson, is one weighing in at 2½ pounds. It measures 7x5 inches reports Mr. Titley who has an acre under potatoes and boasts a good harvest.

He used more fertilizer this year and credits that to what he learned while taking the Plan 5 course last winter.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

We Neglected To Cultivate Our Garden

The prospect of a winter recreation program minus the facilities of the arena is a dismaying one to many parents and sports enthusiasts in town and district. The loss of Glengarry Gardens has been a threat each autumn over more than a decade and we have come to accept the annual fall hassle under the comforting delusion that somehow [illegible] arena would have ice.

This [illegible]er it won't, and while members of town council may bear the brunt of public resentment probably all of us are at least partly to blame for the loss of the arena. Many shared the belief expressed by at least one member of council that the Gardens directors were "only bluffing, that they were looking for a larger grant". Only a very few have given the arena any support at the box office through the years or have been active in the minor sports' programs.

In that sense at least, we are all to blame for loss of the arena facilities.

The Gardens owners should not be faulted for finally losing patience and for accepting an attractive offer to rent. We were in on the fund raising more than a decade ago in the aftermath of the fire that destroyed the original Gardens. Quite a number contributed to the rebuilding program, but not nearly enough. There probably would have been no replacement of the arena had not those original seven sports enthusiasts agreed to take over and finish what had been started.

Certainly we would not have been able to enjoy the longer season artificial ice provides had not those new owners invested further of their funds to install the ice plant.

That was a courageous attempt, some 12 years ago, to replace the original arena. But the roof might never have gone on had not those seven sports-minded people taken over to meet the unpaid bills and complete the rebuilding. The community as a whole failed to meet the challenge then. Those who took over must be given credit for chancing their own money in order that Alexandria would have a covered rink.

If we have no arena this winter it is not because at least some of the present owners do not retain that sense of civic service; this in the face of a decade of indifference by their fellow citizens.

In rejecting this final offer to take over the Gardens as a community centre, town council probably is but reflecting that indifferent attitude most of us hold. Perhaps a winter without the arena facilities is just what the psychologist would have ordered to clear our muddled minds.

The Carnation Company, we are informed, has no long-range hold on Glengarry Gardens. When we reported in last issue that the deal included a five-year option to rent we were misinformed. The lease is on a monthly basis, we have since learned, and it can be terminated by either party, say a year from now.

That leaves the hope that a winter without the Gardens will result in a new public assessment of its worth. If enough kids freeze their ears while skating or playing hockey on open-air rinks this winter, perhaps the ears of elected will be kept warm by parents with a new appreciation of the facilities the Gardens provided for both Alexandrians and the adjacent townships.

Which also brings the reminder that our elected will probably be seeking another two-year term in December. Loss of the Gardens, so soon after the Armouries, may induce the conviction that a more business-like council might have saved us both; and probably more.

He Argued For Fluoridation

Dr. Dan MacDonald, a Glengarry-born member of the dental profession throughout his long life, met death by misadventure recently. He became just another among the many whose lives are snuffed out in traffic and who add to the terrible toll we have become accustomed to accept as inevitable.

Pedestrians old and young and middle-aged are fair game for today's murderous traffic, as are those who drive. We read about them every day; each weekend brings its toll of fifty to one hundred killed across Canada, and we shrug it off. This is part of the penalty of living today and we seem to accept it in the false assumption that it won't happen to us.

It did happen to Dr. Dan and his accidental death might prompt an editorial on safe driving. We think he would prefer that we write on fluoridation of municipal water supplies, the need for which he urged so often in his last years. In letters to the editor of this and other newspapers and in conversation this veteran dentist decried the growing tooth decay among the young and argued for wider adoption of fluoridation of municipal water supplies.

There are those who argue against this treatment of our water which has been proven effective in cutting tooth decay but Dr. Dan had no sympathy for what he termed such "crackpot" views. He instanced many North American cities and towns which have been enjoying the benefits of fluoridation for twenty years and more, without ill effects. Medical associations have endorsed fluoridation of water supplies and the dental profession is almost unanimous in arguing the benefits and the urgent need for action.

The citizens of Smiths Falls are to vote on fluoridation of their water supply with the December elections. It might not be too late for Alexandria to consider a similar referendum.

Then The Government Pokes In Its Nose

An area farmer sends us a clipping from a farm magazine together with the complaint that a farmer no longer can make a family agreement without the government poking in its nasty nose.

The clipping is in the form of an answer to a query by a farmer who has made an agreement with his son to pay him $200 per month. He wants to know if he will have to start making Canada Pension Plan deductions and the dismal answer is yes, plus income tax deductions.

Now the tentacles of the tax bureau reach right into the farm home.

First the son must have a Social Insurance Number when he reaches 18; then he must complete Form TD1 (Employee's Tax Deduction Declaration) which friend farmer must keep in that new file of tax papers he is to need.

The value of the son's free room and board, etc., must be added to that $200 he is to be paid monthly, then comes the task of figuring how much to deduct each month. (The tax department is nice enough to furnish a book of Contribution Tables on request).

Estimate the son's room and board at $60 a month and on the total of $260 the tables will tell you to deduct $3.78 from his pay. All Mr. Farmer has to do then is match that $3.78 from his own pocket, get a certified cheque for $7.56 made payable to the Receiver-General of Canada and send it to the District Taxation Office. This he will repeat monthly by the 15th of the subsequent month or he may face a $10 fine.

And that's only for the Pension Plan. There will be income tax deductions to be sent simultaneously with that levy for pensions. The son would presumably have an exemption of $1000 so the income tax tables ordain payment of $25.25 each month on that $260 income. Lump that and his part of the pension payment, $3.78 and junior will be getting $170.97 cash pay each month. Dad will be forking out another $3.78 as his share of pension payment, five cents for the postage stamp and he will have the onus of keeping a clear set of records for when the tax inspectors make their rounds.

Pity the poor farm father, as we should. He will be sticking his neck into the strangling red tape of government bureaucracy which the small businessman has choked on for years. He will be learning at first hand the impact of government give-away, and he may get still more involved.

We read recently that Unemployment Insurance is to be extended to the farm worker. When that day comes Mr. Farmer will learn the joys of forking out again, matching the monthly payment he must deduct again from his son's $200 wages.

As compensation he will have the fun of purchasing and licking those lovely unemployment stamps his Post Office will provide.

Our correspondent who provided the clipping decries the fact it is no longer the privilege to make a family agreement without the government poking its nose in. "It means more bookkeeping for the poor, weary farmer at the end of a 16-hour day", she moans; and we might add it's going to cost him extra money too.

We sympathize with the farmer just entering a future of frustration the small businessman has long known.

Matheson of Dalhousie Mills, and who had previously been reported missing. — P. Poirier, a courteous and efficient member of R. H. Cowan's staff, was in Ottawa on Monday and, while there enlisted with the 74th Battery, Canadian Field Artillery. — A quiet but very pretty wedding took place on August 30 at Glenelg, Bainsville, the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. MacCuaig, when their eldest daughter, Miss Gertrude MacCuaig, BA, was united in marriage to A. Dawson Matheson of Dalhousie Mills.

SIXTY YEARS AGO—

Friday, September 21, 1906

There are busy times in and about the GTR station here. Eighty men are engaged in laying extra sidings and excavating earth, etc., preparatory to the putting in of further sidings. — Dr. Orton McLaren has opened up a new and very fine office in the McArthur Block on Main Street, Lancaster, having removed from his former stand on South Terrace Street. — Miss Jessie K. McLeod, Dunvegan, left on Monday for Fall River, Mass., where she enters a training school for nurses.

SEVENTY YEARS AGO—

Friday, September 18, 1896

At a fire meeting held in the council chambers on Saturday evening the practise of having pails of whiskey passed around after each fire was condemned and it was suggested that hot coffee would be more suitable. — George Hearnden, J. R. Proctor, F. T. Costello and R. Gorman of the Alexandria Bicycle Club, wheeled to Montreal on Saturday, where they spent a most enjoyable weekend. — Lieut. G. I. Nichols of this place, left on Tuesday morning for Laprairie, Que., being attached to No. 7 Company of the 11th Regiment, Argenteuil Rangers, under the command of Capt. A. E. Hodgson, also of this place. He was accompanied by a number of recruits, Donald Alex McDonald, Henry C. Macdonell and Edgerton McMillan, who join the regiment as bandsmen. — We learn that it is the intention of the Sisters of St. Margaret's Convent here, to add to their curriculum the studies necessary in preparing for the High School Primary and Junior leaving examinations.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

RECALLS ANOTHER METEOR

Alexandria

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

Over many hundreds of miles people saw the meteor streak across the sky, Friday. Nearly 80 years ago there was the same and part of that ball of fire that lit up the sky fell in the field close to the west side of Donald Angus Breachk's house.

If you can pronounce Och like Harry Lauder you can pronounce the last name. I've only guessed the letters for sound but I would like to see it spelled right.

When they found next day where the meteor fell all there was to see was a heap or pile of stones and gravel. I suppose it had depth too.

Of course Donald Angus was a McDonald. He has a niece in Montreal and a nephew in Cornwall and "Little Alex" at Greenfield is a grand-nephew.

The house is the same one Albert Marcoux now occupies in the 2nd of Kenyon.

I got this information from my dad.

John A. MacDonell.

A THOUGHT ON FARM SAFETY

COURTING CAR ACCIDENTS

Quebec has the worst traffic toll of Canada's 10 provinces and safety-conscious officials in Montreal are frantically looking for methods to improve driving practises before Expo jams the city streets and highways next year.

Mind you, the picture in the other provinces is far from pretty.

If your Rambling Reporter was asked for his pedestrian view he would have to fault the leniency of traffic courts as a major part of the problem. Three decades ago the fine was invariably $10 and costs for almost any infraction. If the driver was represented by a lawyer the case probably would be won and the 10 bucks went to the mouthpiece.

The dollar is worth a lot less now and probably the fine has gone up accordingly. But money is so easily come by today it is not much of a deterrent and it's our opinion the traffic courts will have to devise a better punishment to fit the crime if we are to know more responsible driving habits.

Out of Quebec, where they're trying to reform bad drivers in a hurry, comes a case in point. A dental surgeon from St. Laurent faced a dangerous driving charge. It was alleged that he was driving his car at 102 miles an hour on May 31st.

The presiding judge, according to news reports, ruled that speed is not the only factor to be considered in convicting for dangerous driving under the Criminal Code.

He said it was established that (the driver) was sober, the visibility was good, his 1963 automobile was in perfect condition and the road was in good shape.

"It is often less dangerous to drive at 100 miles an hour on a straight highway than to drive at 10 miles an hour in a school zone."

He suggested that police officers base their charges on the highway code rather than the Criminal Code, "which provides a severe penalty for excessive speed but does not make a criminal out of an honest citizen."

We don't see much substance in the judicial reasoning as to speed but we do smell the same kind of legal hair-splitting and trial delays that are common in traffic courts in Ontario and probably the other provinces too.

The errant motorist gets a superabundance of sympathy from jurists who may see themselves as careless drivers, sometime, too.

JUST IN CASE

A Christmas without Christmas cards might be a welcome change for a lot of people but it would be a kick in the stomach for those companies which produce the cards and probably are even now readying to stock the store counters of the nation.

If there are no yuletide greeting cards this Christmas it will be thanks to the Letter Carriers Union of Canada and the Canadian Union of Postal Workers. Their memberships are holding strike votes this week and the leaders threaten to close every Post Office across Canada at Christmas.

Mind you their demands are not inordinate. They're asking an increase of only one dollar per hour in wages — that's per hour. Starting salaries of letter carriers would be raised $2,000 a year; from the present $4,200 to $6,200.

It may be merely coincidental that the increase they want is something like 33 per cent; just about what the government OK'ed for the Longshoremen. That's in addition to the increases they got as a result of last year's 11-day strike.

And so a benevolent government drifts into another minor crisis involving the public services. And who wants to bet Mr. Pearson won't be oblivious until the strike is actually called and the letter carriers have closed down the entire postal service.

We won't miss the Christmas cards too much. What worries us is that the paper won't be bringing our greetings to friends near and far on the eve of Christmas.

Just in case the letter carriers vote this week for a strike we're going to be a bit premature and wish you all a Merry Christmas and a centennial year happily free of the strike threat.

Is that too much to expect?

Bud Mutchler New Golf Club Champion After Keen Competition

C. W. (Bud) Mutchler is the new men's champion of Glengarry Golf and Country Club. He won the honor Sunday with a sparkling 79 which gave him a total of 162 strokes for the 36-hole play.

Just one point behind with 163 was Emile Hurtubise who had scored a 79 on Saturday to lead the pack. It was the second straight year Hurtubise finished runner-up. Last year he lost in a play-off to Gerry Derry.

In third spot, Sunday, was Andy McNulty with two rounds of 83 for a 166 score.

Sunday's final round was close and exciting with at least eight members in contention through the afternoon. The Mutchler victory was in doubt until the last hole when Hurtubise could have tied it up had he holed a long putt.

D. A. Gray . . .

"It is with great sorrow, but also with gratitude in our hearts to God, that a Congregation and especially as fellow Elders we record the passing to Higher Service of Donald Angus Gray, on September 15th, 1966, after a long and lingering illness.

"A veteran of World War 1, Donald Angus Gray, after a period as Usher in this Congregation, was raised to the status of the Eldership and was ordained on May 15th, 1927, thus serving his Church up to the exact day of his death, for 39 years, and four months. In 1928, he was appointed Secretary of the Church, and during the period, 1934-1951 presided at the annual meetings of the congregation on many occasions as chairman.

"In the year 1925, he took a prominent part in the conferences which resulted in Kenyon Church remaining within the fold of the Presbyterian Church. From 1938 until 1940 he was active in preparing for the centennial celebrations which took place in the latter year, and was still active in the life of the congregation, until as recently as 1961. when impaired health intervened, and put an end to a very active life of service. His work and worth as an Elder, who had been endowed with considerable mental gifts and articulate speech, resulted in his preferment to higher office, and on at least two occasions he was chosen to represent Kenyon Church as Representative Elder in the Presbytery of Glengarry. Among many other services to his church, he was responsible for the electrification of the church and manse; the quality of his work testifying to this day to his integrity as a good and efficient craftsman.

Above all, he truly loved his Lord and the church of his Lord and was outstanding in his Christian giving and liberality, which must often have been sacrificial".

The Alexandria and District Minor Lacrosse season will officially end on Saturday night in the Glengarry Gardens. Father Arsenault's Indian team from St. Regis will meet Cameron MacDonald's Glens at 8.30 p.m. The refereeing chores will be handled by Frank Periard and Donald Cameron.

As this will probably be the final action in Glengarry Gardens this year, and there are, reportedly, so many sports-minded people in the district, it would be nice if some of them turned out to support their local team.

Life Membership For Mrs MacIntosh

The September meeting of Unit No. 2 of St. Andrew's United Church, Martintown held at the home of Mrs. Leslie West, was a significant one as at that time Mrs. D. Stuart MacIntosh was presented with a certificate and a life membership pin of the UCW. Mrs. John McLennan, in making the presentation, spoke of Mrs. MacIntosh's long years of faithful service within her church and her never failing generosity with her time and talents. Also present at the meeting was Rev. D. MacKay who added his congratulations to those of the members.

Following the presentation, Rev. Mr. MacKay gave a most interesting talk on the changes in the mission life of our church and how we, as individuals, could aid in a practical way to further this phase of God's work.

Mrs. Salem Thomson thanked Mr. MacKay for visiting with Unit 2, and the meeting closed with prayer. Luncheon was then served by the hostess.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

When the News carried a lead heading in last issue confirming that Glengarry Gardens was lost to Recreation, an important chapter of sport history in the Glens closed exactly 19 years and 50 weeks after the opening paragraph was written, October 1st, 1946.

Through the Golden Twenties, the Hungry Thirties and World War Two; Alex DaPrato had built a successful grocery business in Ottawa. Alex DaPrato was not only a shrewd businessman but he had the know how of sensing market trends and thinking that the day of the "corner" grocer competing with chain and shopping centers would provide nothing but a tough future, he sold his mercantile interests on October 1st, 1946.

We lived just "around the corner" from Alex in those days and we vividly recall spending a conversational evening with him the theme being the possibility of building a covered rink in Alexandria.

This was the beginning of the trend towards community centres calling for government and municipal grants because there was an unaccountable slacking of support but this did not deter Alex's enthusiasm to proceed with his plan. Why, in spite of the developing conditions?

Hometown sentiment has prompted many a businessman to invest especially in sport promotion and the ventures have gone both ways. If memory serves us correctly the Montreal Forum and Maroon NHL hockey club were founded by the Montreal bakery brothers named Strachan. The Maroon club folded and later the Forum was taken over by the present Arena Co.

Con Smythe had similar faith in Toronto and knocked on door bells to raise enough money to build the Gardens. His success was just the opposite.

Alex DaPrato had sport roots in Alexandria planted by his father Felix and Uncle Paul. Check any of the old time hockey and lacrosse pictures and you are sure to find either Paul or Felix among the executive members. So Alex's yen to become part of sport in the footsteps of his forebears was only natural. He would gamble on the financial reward.

Events then moved rapidly with the purchase of the Bishop Street lot and the RCAF hangar in St. Eugene. Alexandria became a part of ODHA hockey in the new covered rink. A disastrous fire and a rebuilt arena with artificial ice were added to the history records.

Also added was the fact that the financial load became too great for one sportsman and this was spread out among first quite a number then finally a few who hoped their financial assistance would be a temporary one and in the interim they would sacrifice a guaranteed return elsewhere so that the community would have the advantages of an arena until taken over by the logical owners, the Town of Alexandria.

Briefly this is part of the Garden's history and although there were times when some fans disagreed with operational policy, never was there any doubt as to incentive and sincerity.

Thus a sad ending to one of the great chapters of Glengarry's illustrious sport history. Alex DaPrato will always be remembered as the one who returned to his birthplace, took up the pen, dipped it in the ink of faith and courage and wrote the memorable initial pages.

GREY CUP PREVIEW?

Next Monday night at Lansdowne Park by the Rideau Canal the Regina Roughriders meet the Ottawa Rough Riders. Both Ruffies lead their groups. They are now just past the halfway schedule mark and more than one football fan has asked this week if this big game of the year in the East is a Grey Cup preview?

A one-time sport scribe will say yes and he is Regina's Hub Bishop. In fact this well-known Ottawa and Glengarry veteran fan called Regina and Ottawa to lead the way last August when the prophets were predicting their choices. It may be said that Hub might have been swayed by hometown sentiment but sport analysis of this or any type must be supported by reasoning and thus far Hub's early survey is like an expert skip on a draw shot to the button.

This writer still respects the Tiger Cats. Perhaps Barrow, Mosca, Patterson and a few more of the Tabbies are a half-step slower and for this reason, Ottawa's youth is finally barging to the fore. However, we won't discount the possibility that Regina's visit to Hamilton this Saturday must be considered a Grey Cup preview as well.

OUR SAM SNEAD

We dropped down to the golf club late Sunday just as Bud Mutchler had won the club championship. After congratulating Bud, we learned that for the second year in a row popular Emile Hurtubise had lost again by one stroke.

Herein is an oddity of sport that includes individuals as well as teams. Emile is rated among our top golfers or he wouldn't have matched Bud Mutchler and Andy McNulty all the way to the 19th green.

Well Emile has the consolation of knowing that Sam Snead and several others down through the years have recorded the same experience. In team play Canadiens couldn't win in Detroit for quite a while. Ottawa hasn't won a scheduled football game in Hamilton since 1961. Bobby Hull in his first 50-goal season had a wide open side of the net to sink number 51 only the puck hit an ice chip and he had to wait for another season. There are scores of similarities. So Emile, like the good sportsman he is, will be back next year to worry the leaders until all the cards are tallied.

SCHOOL FOOTBALL TOMORROW

Don't forget the High School football opening games tomorrow.

Maxville will be here to meet GDHS while Hawkesbury travels to Williamstown. Next Tuesday GDHS opens the VCI season on the Hill.

8—In Memoriam

GOLDEN—In loving memory of our dear and only son Charles, who passed away September 25th, 1964 and his beloved wife, Gretta, September 20th, 1964.
There's always a lonely heartache
And often a silent tear
And always a precious memory
Of the days when you were here.
Days of sadness will come o'er us,
No one will ever know the sorrow
That lies within the heart concealed.
—Always remembered and sadly missed by Mom, Dad and son and daughter, Jimmy and Brenda.
Greenfield, Ont. 38-1c

GOLDEN—In sad and lovely memory of a dear brother, Charlie who passed away September 25th, 1964.
No farewell words of comfort,
No time to say goodbye;
God took him in a moment
To a land of rest on high.
We tell our lonely aching hearts
God took him for the best.
When ties of love are broken
And loved ones have to part,
Death leaves a wound that never heals
And a sad and aching heart,
And we wish a thousand times a day
For our dear Charlie that we treasured.
—Sadly missed by sister Shirley and Francis Willard.
Alexandria, Ont. 38-1p

GOLDEN—In memory of a dear daughter and son-in-law, Gretta and Charlie Golden who died September, 1964.
In a little country graveyard
Where the green grass softly flows,
Lie the ones we loved so dearly,
Loved so dearly but could not save.
You are not forgotten Gretta and Charlie,
Or ever will you be,
For as long as life and memory
We will remember thee.
—Sadly missed by Mom, Daddy, brothers and sisters. The Major family.
Alexandria, Ont. 38-1c

MacCRIMMON—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, Donald C. who departed this life on August 28th, 1960.

No friend on earth like him we'll find.

And God gave him eternal rest.
In our hearts his memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true.
