That promising future will require people to make it happen, people willing to work together, people working to stamp out the negative attitudes that rot a society, people who can forget the time clock, suggested Mr. Simmons. Alec Finlay and the All Star cast of "A Breath of Scotland" will make their first appearance in Glengarry next March 18th at the High School in Alexandria, and will be sponsored by the Pipe Band and the Glengarry Dancers (The senior MacCulloch dancers who are part of the Band's Con- Palo Alto, Cal., survives. cert Party). Tickets all reserved seats, can be bought from any member of these organizations.

The Pipe Band concert itself was quite a success, and featured a number of unusual "Productions". One was the revival of an old Scottish method of dancing when six junior members of the MacCulloch School danced "Flora MacDonald's Fancy" accompanied by the whole band. Another was "The Barren Rocks of Aden" number, when Pipe Majors Mac-Kenzie and Danskin and singer Robin Upton re-enacted the musical part of the last time a Highland Regiment went into battle with their pipes playing, just three years ago at Aden. Yet another was "Dark Isle" when Nancy Radbourne appeared in a spotlight on the darkened stage, playing the piece on the pipes. Died Under Transport Wheels

Rolland Bolduc, 55 was fatally injured here, at noon, Tuesday, when he fell under the dual rear wheels of a heavy transport on the Armouries Hill. Not in good health for many years, Mr. Bolduc died while being conveyed to Glengarry Memorial Hospital.

The accident occurred about 12.15 p.m., opposite the high school on Main Street North, and in the view of several students out for the noon-time recess. A transport bound south on Main Street had just cleared the hill and had passed a man walking on the side of the road when the driver felt a bump. Mr. Bolduc had apparently fallen under the rear wheels and suffered massive injuries to body and legs.

The Highland Transport Co. Ltd. vehicle from West Hill Ont., was driven by Wyman McRae of Lachute, Que., police report.

The accident was the first fatal one in Alexandria since 1968 when three died in traffic here.

Born in Les Cedres, Que., Mr. Bolduc came to Alexandria some 17 years ago when his parents retired here. His father, Servule Joseph Bolduc died several years ago and his mother, the former Delisca Groulx of Alexandria, predeceased him last year. Mr. Bolduc had been residing with Mr. and Mrs. Shaun McDonald not far from the accident scene.

More Demands On CNIB Funds

Maurice Gauthier of Green Valley was re-elected chairman of the Glengarry County Advisory Committee for the Canadian National Institute for the blind at its annual meeting which was held on November 12th. Other officers elected for the coming year are Mrs. H. M. Johnson, 1st vice-chairman, A. R. MacDonell, 2nd vice-chairman, Brian Black, secretary R. L. Seguin, treasurer and Mrs. Lorne Whelan, welfare

Mr. Seguin estimated that $6500 would be required by the CNIB for service to the blind and prevention of blindness in 1971 and reported an operating deficit of $2800 for 1969. Income for 1969 was $3628.

George Patrick, district administrator for the CNIB, reported that 31 blind persons had been given service during the past year and 41 persons not legally blind had been given prevention care. Four blind persons are receiving library service by mail from the CNIB library and have on loan talking book machines. Two students are attending the Ontario School for the Blind in Brantford which is operating as part of the provincial school system, and one student attended the two-week Young Canada period at the CNIB Lake Joseph Adjustment Training and Holiday Centre.

Of those receiving prevention care 27 persons were given glasses or had their glasses repaired. This assistance was given to people on low incomes who have severe refractive error or pathology present. "There has been an increased demand for cataract glasses", Mr. Patrick said.

Mr. Seguin reported that funds are starting to come in from the current appeal for funds. The CNIB is indebted to the students from Alexandria, Char-Lan and Maxville High Schools, the Women's Institutes at Lancaster and McCrimmon and several members of the Glengarry County Advisory Committee for their help with fund raising activities. Among the latter are Rene Gauthier, Mrs. Herbert Johnson, Mrs. Emile Leroux, Angus R. MacDonell, Mrs. Ken MacLennan, Romeo Rouleau R. L. Seguin and Mrs. William Wood.

Mrs. Johnson, acting chairman, expressed the hope that the public subscription would be generous. Plans are under way to hold a Adele, Lafleche, St. Leonard and Christmas party for the blind in others from Monkland, Alexandria early December.

ed over the Beaudette River near Dalhousie Station one day last week, but detracting from the picture of progress represented by the new bridge was the dead water below, coated by an unsightly green scum. Two bridges were being opened in the township that day to speed the flow of traffic, but gazing down on that polluted stream one was reminded that no progress is being made to restore the flow to our

What has happened to the ARDA program, we found ourself conjecturing? What red tape in government is blocking those plans for reforestation of the Loch Garry watershed; or is it lack of interest at the local government level that is delaying a project intended to restore our streams?

A beaver dam upstream was at least partly responsible for the dead water, we were told, but did that explain these evidences of pollution in Beaudette River that winds through farmland and is free of the effluence of industry or town?

The big battles in the war on pollution will have to be fought on the Great Lakes

Eyes Left!

Whoever first eunciated the thought guard on duty over the weekends? "in union there is strength" could not Perhaps it is inevitable that organized the thought guard on duty over the weekends? have had in mind unionizing the Armed Forces. That would have just the opposite effect, in our opinion, but that is what has now been suggested for the Canadian Armed Forces by the Public Service Alliance.

Perhaps it is true that an army marches on its stomach, but once it gets there, is face to face with the enemy, it will have little stomach for fighting unless it is well disciplined and has been well trained.

Surely Canada's defence force is weak enough now without completely robbing it of morale by setting up a union shop in our few remaining units. There were scarcely enough Regular Army troops to provide security in Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec City during the recent terrorist seare. It is more than possible cooks and men in charge of the Quartermaster's stores were armed and pressed into service to guard public buildings and VIP's.

Where will the Army find cooks in this new unionized defence force when the lowliest private and the rawest recruit know their rights and refuse Kitchen Police duty or the even more odorous latrine detail? Will the General be able to command when the unit union steward has to be consulted and where the machine gun is subservient to the strike weapon? Will the drill sergeant's command to pick up the step be obeyed unless it is part of the union code? O Canada, we stand on guard for thee; but how many will the Armed Forces muster for night patrol when the swing shift demands time and a half? When the 40-hour week is too long will there be a corporal's had the right to strike.

A handsome new bridge was being open- Lawrence and the Ottawa. There must be skirmishes on our home front, too, if pollution is to be ended. All of us must serve in the militia if the mopping up is to include our local streams and until they are restored there can be no hope of a clean-up of the larger bodies of water into which

> What has become of that dream of new life for the Raisin River, of a transfusion of Lake St. Lawrence water that would restore a summer flow? Has ARDA's intrusion, with enlargement of the conservation region, enmeshed planning in so much government red tape as to halt all progress? If that is the case, perhaps we should be working like beavers to get the job done ourselves.

> Pollution is something we all bemoan, but we tend to sit back and count on the higher levels of government to take action. They can be slow to act until pushed by public opinion and that would best be demonstrated if we started the clean-up in our own back waters.

If we can build better bridges surely we should be able to skim the scum from and on our larger rivers such as the St. the water that passes under them.

Perhaps it is inevitable that organizers should be trying to take over the Armed Forces. If a city's police have the power to walk out, leaving its residents defenceless against crime, it is only one step farther for soldiers to threaten a strike that would leave the country without protection against invasion. If one section of the public service is given the right to strike, why should not all sectors have this weapon that is guaranteed to better their lot?

How chaotic are conditions going to become before the federal government finds the intestinal fortitude to outlaw all strikes? If that picture of postal workers tieing up the entire country has already faded from the Trudeau mind surely this move toward collective bargaining for the Armed Forces will bring back into focus the disruption that has so often plagued the country since the public services were given the right to Alliance officers graciously suggest that in giving the Armed Forces the right to strike there could be agreement that this right be abrogated in time of war. How specious this suggestion might be is seen in the U.S. situation today. War has never been declared through the years of involvement in Viet Nam and so, presumably, in such an instance the troops would have the right of collective bargaining on whether they should be committed.

Our military establishment is precariously weak now. We shudder to think, how defenceless Canada would be if the forces

Should Education Be Compulsory?

Education is getting increasingly expensive as witness that more than five and a half million dollars the County Board of Education will be paying out in salaries this year to its 517 secondary school teachers. And that does not take in the sick leave credits and costs of other fringe bene-

We are not suggesting the teachers are overpaid but we do recall the candid comment of one teacher some time ago. Probably 50 per cent of the students in high school should not be there, he thought; and the inference was that they might be better off and more content if they were permitted to get out and learn a trade.

With education taxes at the levels they are, would it not be a dirty joke on hardpressed ratepayers if some years hence the brains in the Ontario Education Department finally reached the conclusion that compulsory education was the wrong approach?

We doubt the bureaucrats will ever admit they were on the wrong track. But are we not sadly lacking competent plumbers, electricians and other services, not to mention the handyman, the jack of all trades who was once in such demand and who is gone?

Perhaps we already have more than enough schools and universities for those who want an education.

Another Inflationary Settlement

Motors have reached agreement on the main strong bargaining point and negotiators for issues and an end to the ten-week strike is in sight. Union locals have been ordered to reach settlements by this weekend and it is hoped production can be resumed by December 1st.

An end to the auto strike is welcome news, of course, both in the U.S. and Canada, for it signals a return to work not only of the 400,000-old General Motors employees. Many thousands of others in allied industries and services were disaffected by the GM shutdown. The economies of both countries will quicken and a happier Christmas is now in prospect for several million people.

the fight to contain inflation is another matter. Wages of auto workers will be increased by 30 per cent over a three-year period, starting with a 13 per cent rise in the first year. The increase for Canadian workers is double the maximum set earlier this year by the Prices and Income Commission as acceptably non-inflationary. It is considerably higher than the average increase in basic rates in third-quarter settlements, 9.5 per cent. Strongly inflationary, ably will take that higher price tag in it also sets a norm other unions will be quick to fix their demands by.

The United Auto Workers and General ment at General Motors will provide a other unions will also be conscious of the UAW settlement in making their demands.

Organized labor has steadfastly refused to limit its demands to the 6 per cent ceiling suggested by Ottawa in its fight against inflation. Instead, settlements have often been above 10 per cent this year and they can be expected to go even higher in wake of this General Motors agreement. As a result inflationary pressures will be renewed and it seems the federal government has recognized the fact that its anti-inflationary program is not working. Interest rates are being lowered in an attempt to ease the level of unemployment and it appears almost in-What effect the settlement will have on evitable the inflationary spiral will resume early next year.

Cost to General Motors of this package of higher wages and fringe benefits is estimated at two and a half billion dolars in a full year. The UAW is now talking to Ford and a sizable increase in the prices of new cars must follow.

The consumer has been conditioned to such increases over the years and he probstride. HOSPITAL COSTS Toronto

November 9

The editor. Glengarry News,

We were very much interested in a clipping of your editorial "Hospital Beds are Too High"

War II, long before the Ontario Hospital Insurance Program was inaugurated. Increasing hospital costs, to put it briefly, result from the fact that more people are receiving more care and better care than ever before and the cost of providing the care has increased alongside the public demand for these services. These conditions exist prac> world. Those of us who have been in the hospital field for many years remember that hospital costs were considered high when they were a fraction of what they are at present. In those days, too, the quality of care available was not to be compared with today's advanced hospital "product" and a patient's chances of returning to normal, healthy living were much slimmer. Furthermore, hospital employees were comparatively un-

tically everywhere in the free

Anti-Pollution Film Scary

(Smiths Falls Record-News)

A new movie, "No Blade of Grass" paints a seemingly fantastic picture of the world five years hence if man does not stop fouling his environment. It is not quite as fantastic as it seems, however, when one hears reports from various parts of the world on the growing effects of pollution. There is no doubt the pollution crisis is getting worse and more rapid action is needed to control it.

"No Blade of Grass" depicts London, England, as a city that can no longer support life. Recent smog episodes in New York and Tokyo are ominous warning that it can happen. New Yorkers choked for days and the smog enveloped about 1,000 miles along the Eastern seaboard this past summer, reaching as far north as this area.

In Tokyo, special police squads have donned gas masks because of the growing air pollution, mainly from automobiles and factories. Thousands have been admitted to hospital because of air contaminated by large amounts of nitrogen oxide and suphuric acid mist.

In other cities, in lakes and streams and canals, along the waterfronts, pollution created by human carelessness is only too evident. A recent government sponsored survey has produced a report that claims that the Rideau waterway is an open sewer because of pollution from septic tanks serving cottages and municipalities on its banks.

So the fantasy of "No Blade of Grass" that predicts the world starving to death is not as far-fetched as it may seem. Certainly a more determined effort must be made by governments and people to combat pollution of the air, the water and the land if we are going to prevent this world from becoming a wasteland. The movie shows the world becoming a wasteland in five years. It will take longer but, then the movie is intended to scare us out of our lethargy and prevent it from happening. Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time ® HEY! THOSE HAMS DON'T EAT THEY WOULDN'T ALWAYS WAS CHANGE THAT HORSE REMEMBER REGULAR, BUT THEY A MEATBALL ... REPORTER

BETTER AS RAIN It was due to put in an appearance some time soon; we'd been expecting it, but that first hint of snow that fell Saturday night was still hard to take. We get used to the white and fluffy once winter really sets in but these first snows of November are much more unwelcome than April showers.

And talking of showers, weren't those five days of drizzle last week more than a little dismal? They served a useful purpose, though, as the water level in some farm wells was said to be uncomfortably low.

And the mud they made seemed to suit the Montreal Alouettes more than it did the aging Ti-cats in Sunday's first play-off game. Etcheverry's Als made a great comeback Sunday and if they show the same spirit in Hamilton on Saturday, no team's going to beat them. We've got a feeling the new-look Als are heading for a Hollywood finish, from last place a year ago to a Grey Cup victory. All that rain we had last week could have been worse - it might have fallen in the form of snow. Down 14 points early in the game, the Als showed you can get that first quarter back if you've got the right quarter-ANOTHER NEW WORD

Words are our tools and we're always interested in coming across one new to us and checking with Mr. Webster on it.

Some we'll never have use for, like one we ran into over the weekend. Bet you never heard of "enallage". Bet ye editor didn't either, and yet he's guilty of 'enallage" every week and your Rambling Reporter often finds himself in the same boat. Enallage is the substitution of one grammatical form for another. Our dictionary suggests it is a substitution of one gender, number, case, person, tense, mode, or voice of the same word for another. Unless you're a word detective or do cross-word puzzles, you probably couldn't care less. We mention it here only to remind the editor that every time he uses the editorial "we", rather than

"I", he is guilty of enallage. Actually we doubt there's any guilt attached. We use the "we" and the "he" because we don't like to read anything written in the first person singular. Sounds too egotistical

What with pollution and all that, the old saying about pouring oil on troubled waters has sure gone by the board.

WE DON'T CARRY CARDS Quebec's Justice Minister has suggested that personal identification cards should be issued to all residents of that province as an aid to the police. The Hon. Mr. Choquette plans to issue a white paper dealing with organization of Quebec police forces and possible restrictions of civil liberties to assist law enforcement. We'd go for wire tapping and bugging under certain conditions if they are to be used to gather evidence against the Mafia and the FLQ. We might not object to universal fingerprinting either. It could prove useful in identifying accident victims and for other non-criminal purposes.

Anyone who leads a law-abiding life need not fear fingerprinting, but this business of the identity card is a different thing. Any number of innocent, law-abiding citizens might be open to police or other bureaucratic entanglement if there was a law insisting that they carry an identification card at all times

If that regulation becomes law in Quebec, your Rambling Reporter will be wise never to take up residence there. He never carries a wallet and he's forever losing membership cards and such that he carries in a pocket. They probably end up at the cleaners and that's where the Quebec police would take him if he was expected to be always in possession of an identity card.

We're wondering if we'd even be able to visit our neighboring province if that became law. If the Quebec police stopped us and we had no identification how'd we be able to satisfy them we came from Ontario?

Such a regulation would be of little use in law enforcement and it would prove a real headache for the vast majority of Quebec citizens who are law-abiding. The crooks and the FLQ would have no trouble latching onto any number of cards, true or fake, to suit their purposes. Picture the poor citizen whose pocketbook had been picked and who had to stay home for weeks while a new one was being extricated from all the government red tape.

Ottawa's bureaucrats have sug-

Today we live in a different world. Most sick people no longer have to live with their ailments for lack of medical accomplishment or do without hospital care because they cannot afford it. Hospital employees are paid wages in line with those paid for other comparable jobs in the community, and their salaries, wages and fringe benefits represent over 75% of the cost of each insured hospital day.

NIXON-MARCELLUS

In St. John's Lutheran Church, Riverside Heights on Saturday, October 10th, at 4.30 p.m. was the setting for the autumn wedding of Linda Sharon Marcellus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Marcellus, Ingleside and Beverley Lloyd Nixon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Nixon, Dunvegan.

Rev. F. L. Howald officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of imported European Antron lace. The dress featured an empire waist, long full sleeves, gathered at the wrist with a frill, high neckline with a mandarin collar, and full skirt. A short train of the same material was attached at the waist. Her large picture hat, fashioned of the same lace, was trimmed with white chiffon, which fell in a short veil at the back. Her only jewelry was a cameo brooch worn at the throat and belonging to her grandmother. She carried a cascade of white gladioli.

The maid of honor was Miss Dianna Marcellus, Cornwall, cousin of the bride. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Dorothy May, Toronto, Miss Donna Nixon, Ottawa and junior bridesmaid, Miss Lois Nixon, Dunvegan, both sisters of the groom. All wore identical flowered, terylene full-length gowns of white with orange and yellow flowers orange lining, creating a peach background, except Miss Lois Nixon, her dress being plain peach. All wore matching peach colored picture hats, trimmed with green velvet ribbon.

The groom was attended by Mr. Earl Hicks, Kemptville, as best man and the ushers were Stephen

Whittaker of Montreal, cousin of the bride and Perry McConnel of

A reception for 100 guests followed at the Villa Nova Motor Hotel at Ingleside.

The master of ceremonies was Mr. Earl Hicks. Seated at the honor table with the parents were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Edgar Whittaker, and the groom's grandmother Mrs. Leslie Allen.

For travelling the bride chose a mauve and purple flowered crepe pant dress with long sleeves and purple sleeveless midi-length vel-

The honeymoon was spent touring Quebec and the Gaspe. Upon their return, they were honored with a reception in the Orange Hall at Dunvegan.

Prior to the wedding the bride was honored by Mrs. Nellie De-Gray, Mrs. Richard DeGray, Mrs. Delbert Flintoff, Mrs. Garnet Ezard and Mrs. John Gallinger with a miscellaneous shower in Osnabruck Centre Township Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Nixon will resile in Chatham, where the groom is employed with the Federal Dept. of Agriculture.

cheitis) was first recognized as a disease problem, primarily in feedlot cattle, a few years ago. quite evident in Glengarry in each ately many dairymen have confused the symptoms of this disease with other livestock health problems and it would appear that a number of outbreaks have not been brought to the attention of the veterinarians or been treated. The disease involves the upper respiratory tract of cattle and is characterized by a high body temperature, fluctuating temperatures, a dry harsh cough, reddened nose and nostrils, clear nasal discharge, inflammation of the eyes, a slight reduction in appetite and in dairy cows a possible reduction in production over a few days.

This disease is most often encountered in the late fall and early winter months. Death loss is negligible and as a result many dairymen confuse the symptoms with other conditions or respiratory infections most likely to occur under the stress of adverse weather as well as changes in feed and housing. At times the symptoms are so slight that the condition may not be noticed except by the most alert herdsman.

The losses in dairy cattle are somewhat indirect. If infection occurs early in a pregnancy abortions will occur. If late in a pregnancy calves are born weak and are most difficult to save or raise. The financial loss due to 2.00-3.45; Osnabruck Centre 4.05abortions has been rather severe for some dairymen attempting to maintain a fluid quota. It has

Fortunately open heifers and cows can be vaccinated against further infections and a control program instituted.

We would suggest that dairymen be alert and keep their herds under close observation in the next few months for symptoms of I.B.R. If suspicious symptoms appear call your veterinarian for a positive diagnosis. If I.B.R. is confirmed institute a vaccination program to prevent further loss from abortions or calf rearing problems. Good advice so often interferes with our other plans.

Farmers Union Still Favors Tax Strike

ers Union Ontario Region, voted to continue the municipal tax strike. The decision was made after Darcy McKeough, minister of municipal affairs, spoke to the regional meeting in Toronto, Nov. 10. Members felt that Mr. Mc-Keough engaged in political gymnastics rather than making a firm offer of tax reform. Many farmers were angry about the 25% rebate on municipal taxes saving they had asked for tax reform not another handout to keep farmers contented until the provincial election is safely over.

The Federal Task Force on Ag-Dr. J. N. McCrorie, a sociologist felt the Task Force would put many farm families on reservation in the city since they are cided to take a firm stand at the annual convention in Winnipeg to tabled forever.

8—In Memoriam

DORE-In loving memory of Mrs. Florida Dore, who died Nov. 4th

I dream of you, dear loved one And see your smiling face And know that you are happy In our Father's chosen place. -Always remembered by Florida, Cecile, Raymond and Rene. Alexandria, Ont.

MacCULLOCH-In Ioving memory of a father and grandfather, John H. McCulloch who passed away suddenly Nov. 26, 1966. You were the greatest father, The greatest in the land, To anyone who needed it, You gave a helping hand, The pearly gates were opened A gentle voice said "Come" And with farewells unspoken, You gently entered Home. Not a day do we forget you In our hearts you're always near We who loved you, sadly miss you, As it dawns another year. -Sadly missed and ever remembered by daughter Helen, son-inlaw Glenn, and grandchildren Jeffrey and Julie. Brockville, Ont.

MacDONALD-In loving memory of a dear and wonderful mother Mrs. B. MacDonald who passed away Nov. 24th, 1964. If steps could be made of heart-aches And by adding teardrops too would build a stairway to heaven

And climb every day to you. For no one knows the grief we share When we all meet and you're not

-Loved and remembered always your children, Mildred, Angus, Mary, Archie, Ann, Peggy.

Vankleek Hill, Ont. MacLEOD-In fond and loving memory of a dear mother, Mrs. W. MacLeod who passed away November 23, 1968, and a dear brother James N. MacLeod, who passed away November 7, Sadly missed along life's way Quietly remembered every day, No longer here, our lives to share But in our hearts always there. -Ever remembered, Mary Catherine, Penelope, Donald N. and Dunvegan, Ont.
