

Historical Society Encouraged By $233. In Early Returns To Help Finance Museum

Generous public support of Glengarry Historical Society plans to found a Glengarry Museum was apparent in early returns received this week by the fund committee. The sum of $233 is acknowledged from 34 donors and officials report this is probably not complete because donations are coming in to various officers of the Historical Society.

They should be forwarded to the Campaign Treasurer, J. T. Smith, Alexandria, officials remind, so that errors in acknowledging will not crop up.

Museum organizers were to hold a bee at Dunvegan this week to move the Old Star Inn back some 25 feet on its lot. But continually rainy weather forced postponement of the move, which is to be made before renovations are started on the old building.

The museum practically abuts the road and moving it back will allow for future possible road widening and a front lawn which will provide show space for articles of historic interest too large to be housed in the building. The Historical Society is also planning to acquire more property adjacent to the old Inn.

Death Closes Nursing Career

Mrs. Katherine H. Scott, wife of Rev. Dr. Stanley Scott, formerly of Martintown, died in Ottawa on April 27th. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Scott, King's Road, Martintown.

The death of Mrs. Katherine H. Scott brings to an end a life of magnificent service. Her chosen field was nursing, and she was a graduate of Toronto General Hospital, and the School for Graduate Nurses, McGill University, Montreal.

Nursing education was her special interest, and she held various teaching and administrative positions during the years prior to the war, first at Children's Memorial Hospital, Montreal, and for eighteen years at Toronto General Hospital.

When Canada was invited to send an Orthopaedic Unit of doctors and nurses to serve under the British government, she immediately joined, and for the duration of World War II was stationed at the Halmayres Hospital near Glasgow, Scotland.

Following the war she was with the Red Cross Headquarters, Hamilton, then Matron of the Department of Veterans' Affairs Hospital at Melton. When this hospital merged with the newly built Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto, Mrs. Scott became Director of Education at Kingston General Hospital. But Toronto claimed her again, as a member of the Research Unit in Clinical Investigation jointly undertaken by Toronto University and Sunnybrook Hospital.

On her marriage to Rev. Dr. Stanley Scott, a visit was made to England and Scotland, revisiting scenes familiar to both, and renewing friendships. After a few years in the Manse at points in Alberta, a move was made to Ottawa, when Dr. Scott became assistant minister at Dominion United Church. Soon after, Mrs. Scott became associated with the Ottawa Civic Hospital. On January 2nd a lingering illness set in, which finally resulted in her death on April 27th.

She leaves in addition to her husband, Rev. Dr. S. Scott, 49 Renfrew avenue, Ottawa, her sister Charlotte, Mrs. Gordon Urquhart, Georgetown, Ont.; two brothers, William, of Sydenham, Ont., and Donald, of Liverpool, Nova Scotia.

Owing to the recent destruction by fire of Dominion United Church, the funeral service was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Ottawa, conducted by Rev. H. E. D. Ashford, D.D., and the interment in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Edmonton, Alberta.

Her cheerful and kindly nature made her greatly loved wherever she went, and she leaves behind a host of friends all across Canada, and overseas.

Some 75 attended the annual meeting when the guest speaker at the noon luncheon was Ronald S. Reiffer, vice-president of the Fantus Company, industrial consultants, of Chicago.

Mr. Reiffer stressed the importance of giving out accurate and detailed information to interested industrialists seeking locations. He said, to attract industry a community needs a group of community-minded citizens with a proper industrial attitude. He pointed out it is the intangibles that often result in the decision of an industry to locate in a given community. He paid tribute to the excellent work and organizational efforts of H. D. Callan for EODA.

He assured the association of the full support of Fantus Company in assisting Eastern Ontario in the further search for industry.

Council Plans Lagoon-Type Installation For Sewage

Alexandria may have a lagoon-type sewage treatment plant in operation within a year.

Representatives of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation were here from Ottawa, Friday afternoon, to meet with Town Council and discuss financial aspects of the project.

They were informed of preliminary plans made by Council in conjunction with the Ontario Water Resources Board and they in turn informed councillors on various aspects of a lagoon-type treatment plant.

Visits were made to two possible sites east of Alexandria that are being considered for the installation. The town sewage line, now reaching only to the east boundary, would be extended all the way to the catch-basin, a large lagoon that will take up 25 acres of land. Fifty acres would have to be acquired by Council to allow for expansion in years to come if the town grows.

Council was assured by the visitors that there is absolutely no smell to this type of installation, unless possibly for a ten-day period in the Spring when an unusually heavy run-off of water might cause flooding of the basin.

The lagoon or pond-type disposal unit is in wide use in smaller communities in both the U.S. and Canada and the CMHC representatives reported the Corporation is being flooded with requests for financing such installations across the province. They had no doubt the Alexandria plan would win approval for financing purposes and they suggested immediate contact be made with the Ontario Water Resources Board which has already promised its help.

Mayor Simon pointed out he hoped to have the work done under the federal government's winter works program. It might be started in October and completed next Spring to qualify for the federal grant on wages. CMHC will loan municipalities two-thirds of the cost of such projects and the Ontario Water Resources Board will help finance the balance. Up to 25 percent of the federal loan may be saved by the town through the winter works program which is designed to encourage off-season use of labor.

EDITORIALS

IT'S OUR OPINION

The Sun Is Shining, Let's Brighten Up

April showers have been unpleasantly frequent and cold, and have curbed in many of us the desire to rid our properties of the ravages of winter. Many of the limbs that fell to that ice storm are still to be taken away; the litter remains on many a lawn.

But May has at last arrived; the month when flowers bloom and grass is again luxuriant and nutritious.

This is the month to Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up; this is the month mere man must try to match nature in restoring the landscape to a clean, bright, fresh appearance.

Nature, of course, has it all over us. The sun and the rain combine with Spring in a re-painting of the land that only the green thumb of God could accomplish. Where we mortals can play our part is in clearing the land of the debris of winter, in raking our lawns, refurbishing our flower beds, re-decorating our buildings, perhaps replacing those barns or sheds that have buckled under the burden of the years.

Glengarry farmsteads are getting that fresh new look, more of them every year under the aegis of the Glengarry Federation of Agriculture which annually sponsors the Farmstead Improvement competition. Chief emphasis is put on clearing and cleaning, on removing eye-sores and assisting nature in its Spring land-cleaning. Those who go on from there to landscaping, building design and home improvement are making more attractive the Glengarry scene. They are deserving of kudos, as is the Federation of Agriculture which sponsors these annual farmstead improvement competitions.

We of the towns and villages should be doing our part, too, in this Spring cleaning that can tone up an entire municipality's morale. Appearance can be deceiving, we know; but a good front carries a lot of weight. First impressions are often lasting and those first impressions of your home or place of business are the exterior view the casual passers-by obtain.

It may not be financially possible for you to throw out all the flotsam of the years in one fell swoop; but a start can be made on your front lawn, the house front.

This is May; the month when a thorough Spring cleaning is in order. Get into it.

Our Moments Of Anger Don't Last

One trouble with Americans is that they don't stay mad long enough, a columnist writes in a U.S. magazine.

"If they only could hang on to their peevish long enough to act upon them, they could force government and labor unions to have greater concern over the public's viewpoint, they could punish businesses which 'treat them as dirt', they could wipe out bribery in police circles, they could eliminate pay-offs of income tax inspectors, they could go a long way toward ending the cheating which goes on in tax deductions and they could gradually build a better moral atmosphere throughout our country.

"But when most people hear about violations of moral responsibility, after a short period of fretting and fuming they turn to other matters and put aside their momentary desire to make something of it.

"Those who were stunned by the exposure of price-fixing and rigged bids by some of our nation's biggest electrical manufacturing companies, and who knew they could wield a big club by boycotting products of those manufacturers, are probably all over it by now and merrily buying the household machines made by those companies.

"Those who hear evidence of bribery of policemen and government inspectors, and who feel a temporary urge to present their evidence, decide, after their first spurt of rage, that it is really too much like work and hope somebody else will take action.

"And so it goes, with each of us knowing of many wrongs which should be righted, but taking the easy way out by hoping 'George will take care of it'."

That is as true of the Canadian scene as it is of U.S. society. We may wax highly indignant on reading of waste in government, political immorality, price-fixing combines, unfair labor practices, the encroachment of communists and gangsters in union leadership. A hundred other evidences that our society is lowering its moral standards may move us as individuals to anger.

But it is usually short-lived as this columnist points out. Few of us stay indignant even long enough to write a letter to the editor. Most of us are quite content to steer clear of trouble even while we may be hoping someone else will have the courage to take the bull by the horns.

Even our moments of anger are becoming fewer as we grow more calloused to the sins of our society, or more "chicken" when it comes to upholding the right as we see it.

A Tax That Breeds Dishonesty

The deadline for filing income tax returns came last weekend. We doubt many of those taxpayers who were scurrying in a last-minute rush to meet that deadline are happy with the amount of tax they are called on to pay. But for most there was a sense of relief in the realization that the deadline had been met.

Most businessmen turn to accountants or lawyers for help in figuring out their taxable income and it would be interesting to know how many millions of dollars are poured into paying for this type of service. The income tax is largely responsible for the burgeoning of this service called accountancy into a mammoth thing.

Each big business must have its accounting aces, tax specialists, whose chief reasons for drawing a salary are the savings they can trim from the tax bill. Small business, too, must show the accountant's touch on a properly made out financial report or it is liable to be held suspect by the income tax collectors; and face investigation.

The income tax laws as presently constituted have spawned a swarm of bookkeepers whose livelihood must be paid for by the same people who pay the tax. And the worth of an accountant is usually judged by the amount by which he can reduce the taxable income.

Certainly if the money we spend on accountants in hope of keeping our tax to a minimum, and the millions spent by the government in policing income tax, could be steered into the treasury there could be a drastic drop in tax rates without loss to the government.

Our income tax laws are archaic. They were a wartime emergency measure for raising revenue in the days of World War I; and like most taxes they have remained on the statutes. The tax rates have steadily been increased and some brilliant bureaucrat came up with the painless procedure of compulsory deductions from salary. But the frustrating inequalities of the income tax burden have remained with us.

Every salaried worker pays income tax, but he or she seldom realizes it until the yearly trial of filing a return. Some even rate a rebate, and that must be a pleasant experience never to be known by some of the self-employed who are destined to enclose a cheque with their annual returns.

They are the real victims of an income tax law which favors certain classes of unsalaried citizens while bearing down with full force on others unhappily in a type of business or profession the income tax inspector can keep tab on.

Honesty was once the best policy and this golden rule might still be followed by more of us if four decades of income tax had not so clearly demonstrated that the person who honestly tries to fill out his tax form is a sucker. He knows scores of relatives, friends and neighbors who are not paying their proper tax; and he has had plenty of proof from Ottawa, that even when he conscientiously fills out his return the income tax people take it for granted he is trying to cheat like everyone else.

If today's moral code does not measure up to that our forefathers maintained, much of the blame can be laid to forty years of income tax. A tax that is not fairly shared by all the people is not a fair tax; and certainly the income tax comes under that category. It taught two generations to cheat the tax collector and find satisfaction in dishonesty. Cheating has become a habit, not only where the income tax department is concerned.

If we must have an income tax, surely government brains could come up with one more fair, less complex, than that we know today. Every Canadian has an income, but the bureaucrats seem unable to devise some simple method of taxing all incomes of all our people so that all are sharing equally the burden of income tax.

Why not abolish it as unworkable? Why not concentrate on an outgoing tax, a sales tax if you will, that would leave every consumer more conscious of his or her contributions to the public treasury?

Income tax has generated a generation of cheats.

The Weeklies Say

PROBLEMS BEFORE SPACE

Russia's Venus space vehicle is the most spectacular attempt to hit distant targets to date. Yet what good is it doing man other than satisfying his curiosity? With all this business in outer space no one has solved the problems of unemployment, inflation, the cold war, or the world's immense unrest and turmoil.—Estevan (Sask.) Mercury.

POLITICAL COVERAGE

Political parties and those associated with them are notoriously well known for their beliefs that they are always low on the totem pole when it comes to newspaper coverage. Every politician seems to feel that his party alone is engaged in a holy crusade. Many followers seem to hold the same line of thought.—Atikokan (Ont.) Progress.

ON INCOME TAX

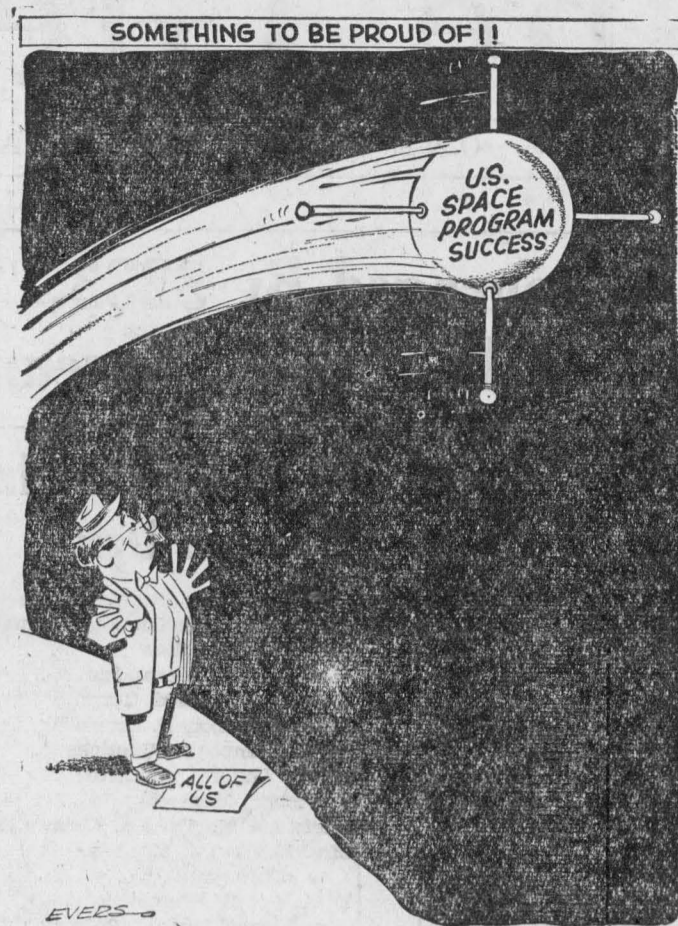

The decision to let the provinces set their income tax rates with the federal government still doing all the collecting... will cause no increased trouble or confusion to the taxpayers as long as no province insists on changing the basis on which taxes are charged. But it will let him know whose hand is in his pocket and for how much... —Agassiz-Harrison (B.C.) Advance.

THE NEW PARTY

Promoting an artificial class struggle in Canada for political gain can do much harm. The so-called "decision-making power" in this country is not in the hands of industrial management nor should it be in the hands of organized labor. The suggestion that the new socialist party will decide our "real values and purposes for which we live" is the negation of democracy.—Canso (N.S.) Breeze.

IMPROVING EDUCATION

Our education system does not need a revolutionary new beginning. It needs improvement... The teaching of a second language should begin in elementary school and follow the teaching of English. What is needed most is closer parent-teacher understanding.—Mel-fort (Sask.) Journal.

Canadians Don't Like Newcomers

(The Printed Word)

A frighteningly high proportion of Canadians are not in favor of immigration and a proportion of those who say they want a larger immigration do not really mean it.

Canadians don't like immigration for a number of different reasons. A number of Canadians don't like the religion of a number of immigrants. A number of Canadians who approve of the withdrawal of South Africa from the Commonwealth are opposed to the entry of fellow human beings from countries where people of different color predominate.

A number of Canadians think that immigrants are crowded too many in a room or a house, forgetting that, however great the over-crowding in Canada, the conditions of living here are a vast improvement on what these people left behind them.

A number of Canadians are so parochial that they seriously dislike overhearing conversation in a language they don't understand.

A number of Canadians don't like competition. Immigrants are apt to want work and to be willing to work long hours and sometimes at wages below the union scale, whatever that is. Fortunes are being amassed by people who work hard, earn something and spend little. A number of Canadians are dogs in the manger. They don't want to develop the country themselves and are unwilling to see others striving for that purpose.

Some of the best stepping stones to success are stumbling blocks.

SCOTCH WATER

We don't drink, Scotch. But just for the heck of it we'd like to get a taste of that Scotch water the canny Scots are now shipping overseas.

Seems the latest fad among drinkers of Scotch whiskey is that it must be watered down only with water from the Highlands. Them that goes for Scotch on the rocks, presumably, must have their ice cubes fashioned from this Scottish H₂O, too.

Musta been Johnny Walker, or Old Parr, or some other distiller who dreamed that one up, but seems its taken hold and the Scots are now shipping water to Paris and New York and other places where it sells at 10 cents.

You are nobody, but nobody, today, if you don't take genuine Scottish water with your whiskey.

As we mentioned earlier, we don't drink, Scotch, but we would like to try a bottle of this Scottish water some time. You see, we don't drink water either. Haven't touched the stuff since they started adding those new tastes and smells to the local product.

At 10 cents a bottle, we're wondering if the LCBO will be able to afford this Scottish water for watering its stocks of Scotch. They say the boys in Toronto use a lot of water for this purpose.

The only time some folks are on the level is when they are sleeping.

COURTESY IN CRIME DOESN'T PAY

Those bank robbers who dropped in on Jack Bridge at Fort Colouge recently, apparently weren't the type one likes to play with. Before Jack had finished trying to impress on them the fact he couldn't remember how to open up the safe a revolver was being pressed to his bald spot to remind him he'd better remember, but fast.

Glad we are Jack decided to let them have the loot before they got too trigger-happy. Good bank managers are in short supply and, after all, what's a mere 40,000 bucks to one of Canada's richest banks — especially when the loss is insured? Jack might think seriously, though, of getting a transfer to England where bank robbers apparently are much more gentlemanly in their approach. Like the guy in Bristol who walked into a bank and announced:

"Excuse me, gentlemen, this is a bank raid."

He was quickly caught by police and in court he admitted he wasn't very good at robbing banks. The judge must have agreed for he let the gentle man off with two years' probation when he promised to take psychiatric treatment.

Presumably a few sessions on the psychiatrist's couch will show him the error of his ways and provide him with an entirely new approach to his profession. Then he can emigrate to Montreal where bank robbers are too busy to be polite.

If at first you don't succeed, you're like most people.

BABIES IN FERMENT

All this talk about calories and cholesterol and such, so-called scientists are coming up with, is enough to take away one's appetite. Let your mind dwell on cholesterol for a few minutes and you can almost feel your arteries hardening.

Read some of the stuff the magazines run about the dangers of eating and drinking such staples as bread and milk and one wonders what happy fate permitted one to get this far along the road of life. Strange, too, how many of our senior citizens manage to live on at 90 and 95 when they never gave a thought to a calorie count.

The Bell News recently carried a bit of nonsense that might even be taken seriously by some of our faddists. Mothers are asked not to deprive baby of his night-time bottle because of this definitely unproven theory. This is how the Bell News tells it:

"Certain would-be experts advise that babies should not be given milk before going to sleep. Their reason is as follows: at night children toss and turn in their sleep and the milk becomes butter. Because they toss some more the butter turns to (Continued on Page 3)

Charles Gibbons Died At 73

A resident of Alexandria for more than 50 years, Charles Patrick Gibbons died April 18th at the age of 73.

Mr. Gibbons was born in Ireland, his family coming to Canada when he was a child. Mr. Gibbons came to Alexandria a decade later from Sherbrooke, to work in the Schell plant. During World War I he served overseas for four years in the Canadian Army and since his return had been employed with various firms.

On February 14th, 1942, he married Teresa McDougall, of Alexandria, who survives as do one brother, John, and one sister, Miss Mary Ann Gibbons, of Sherbrooke, Que.

The funeral service was conducted at the Marcoux & Morris Funeral Home, April 21st, Rev. C. H. Dawes conducting the service. Interment was in St. Finnan's Cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Jack Reid, John G. Proulx, James A. McDonald, Cecil McCulloch, John McDonald and Cormic McDonald.

Floral pieces and messages of sympathy were received evidencing the regret in his passing.

Many At Funeral J. E. Perrier

An impressive last tribute was paid by relatives and friends from a wide area at the funeral of Joseph Eusebe Perrier, held Saturday morning from his late home in Dalkeith to St. Paul's Church and cemetery.

A prominent merchant in that village for more than 40 years, Mr. Perrier died in hospital at Ottawa, April 26th, at the age of 83.

Rev. Thomas Villeneuve, P.P., chanted the Solemn Mass of Requiem, assisted by Rev. Leo MacDonell, P.P., Glen Nevis, and Rev. Leo Bourgoin, P.P., Ste Anne de Prescott. A cousin, Rev. Percy McGuire, of Chute a Blondeau, was in the Sanctuary.

The pallbearers were Xavier Beaudieu, Donat Lanthier, Hugh McDonald, D. J. MacLeod, J. A. McIntosh and Albert Seguin.

Chief mourners were his wife, two sons, Hector and Aurele Perrier, Dalkeith; one daughter, Mrs. Paul Guilbeault, of Montreal, and three sisters: Mrs. Henri Robillard, Mrs. Jessie Lavergne, Mrs. Peter Gagné, all of Montreal.

A very large number called at the home during the wake to offer sympathy and many relatives and friends were present at the funeral from Montreal, Ottawa, Cornwall and neighboring points in north Glengarry and Prescott.

A wealth of floral tributes and many Mass cards and messages of sympathy further evidenced the widespread regret in Mr. Perrier's death.

BACKACHE?

..not me!

For relief from backache or that tired-out feeling I depend on—

STATEMENT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGEMENT OF GLEN-STOR-DUN LODGE CORNWALL, ONTARIO

1. — Glen - Stor - Dun Lodge is a Home for the Aged under The Homes for the Aged Act, 1949. In 1950 the Corporation of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, a Municipal Corporation under The Municipal Act herein called "The Counties", purchased and erected this Home in its present location in the eastern portion of the City of Cornwall. This is one of the best Homes for the Aged in Canada.

2. — By contract dated July 31st, 1950, the Counties entered into an agreement with the City of Cornwall to permit the City to have accommodation for fifty beds, which later following annexation was increased to ninety beds, and provided that the City was to make certain payments for the use of these beds; and the City was to have the right to appoint one member to the Board of Management. Section 5 of that agreement reads as follows:

It is understood and agreed that irrespective of anything in the within agreement contained, that the City shall not acquire any interest of whatsoever description in the said home for the aged, the real estate used in connection therewith, or the chattels contained in or about the said home from time to time.

3. — The By-law of the Counties provides that the said Home is to be managed by a Committee known as the Board of Management consisting of five members, four appointed by the Counties and one by the City of Cornwall. This, in effect, is a Committee of the Council with one representative from the City. The Committee is appointed annually and holds office for only one year with the exception of the City Representative who holds office for two years. All contracts and agreements have to be submitted by the Board of Management to the Council of the Counties for approval.

4. — In 1954, pursuant to a provision of The Labour Relations Act, By-law No. 3200 was passed by which the Council of the Counties enacting that the provisions of The Labour Relations Act would not apply to the Corporation of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry.

5. — On several occasions the Board of Management have been approached by representatives of the National Union of Public Employees regarding certification of its Union in this Home. The Committee has always advised the Union that they had no power to enter into an agreement with them because of the said By-law of the Counties.

6. — On several occasions representations have been made to the Council of the United Counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry to recognize the Union and to repeal said By-law No. 3200. The Council has refused to repeal this By-law and on the last occasion being Friday, April 21st, 1961, the decision of the Council was unanimous. The Board of Management of the Lodge under these circumstances has no authority and no power to recognize the Union or to enter into an agreement with it.

7. — This Home for the Aged accepts as residents under the provisions of The Homes for the Aged Act which reads as follows:

Who may be admitted—

13. Any person

- who is over the age of sixty years and incapable of supporting himself or unable to care properly for himself;
- who is mentally incompetent and ineligible for committal to an institution under The Mental Hospitals Act, R.S.O. 1960, and who requires care, supervision and control for his protection;
- who is over the age of sixty years and who is confined to bed but does not require care in a public hospital or hospital for incurables; or
- who is under the age of sixty years who because of special circumstances cannot be cared for adequately elsewhere, if his admission is approved by the Minister.

It is essential that the Board of Management have employees who will care for these people and who will accept responsibility and not leave them without care or attention.

8. — On Friday, April 21st, 1961, thirteen employees did not report for work and appeared in a picket line before the Lodge. Later two of these people reported for work. The Board of Management considered that an employee who, without notice, failed to report for work and left the residents without care was guilty of a gross breach of duty. The Board of Management immediately directed that every effort was to be put forth to find other employees who would look after these residents. The Board of Management feel that any other course of action would have rendered the Board derelict in its duty to these people.

9. — The Board of Management does not believe that the Union represents the employees. The Union maintains that it represents all the employees, but the Board of Management has received a petition signed by 39 employees out of a total of 47 employees, which petition reads as follows:

"We the undersigned group of employees of the Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge wish to state clearly that we do not wish to have the National Union of Public Employees as our negotiators with the management of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge regardless of any previous signature given."

It therefore appears that the Union does not represent the employees at Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge.

10.—The Employees of Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge perform an essential service. Employees cannot be permitted to take the attitude that they can walk off the job and leave old and infirm people without care and attention. A strike was called for union recognition against the Board who have no power to grant recognition. The innocent people are the residents of the Lodge, many of whom are confined to bed. The Union's quarrel is not with the Lodge or its residents. The continued picketing and threatened demonstrations can only have an effect on the physical and mental welfare of the residents.

11. — The Board of Management have always given careful attention and thought to the welfare of the employees of the Home; it believes that a large majority of the employees are happy and satisfied in this institution.

Dated at Cornwall
28th day of April, 1961.

J. M. FADER,
Chairman.

PREVENT 'STAPH' MASTITIS WITH CYANAMID'S NEW TOXOID

The development of Cyanamid's new Slanetz No. 7 'Staph' Toxoid is a great step forward in the battle against Mastitis.

Vaccination with 'Staph' Toxoid immunizes your herd against 'Staph' mastitis, one of the most prevalent and dreaded forms of the disease.

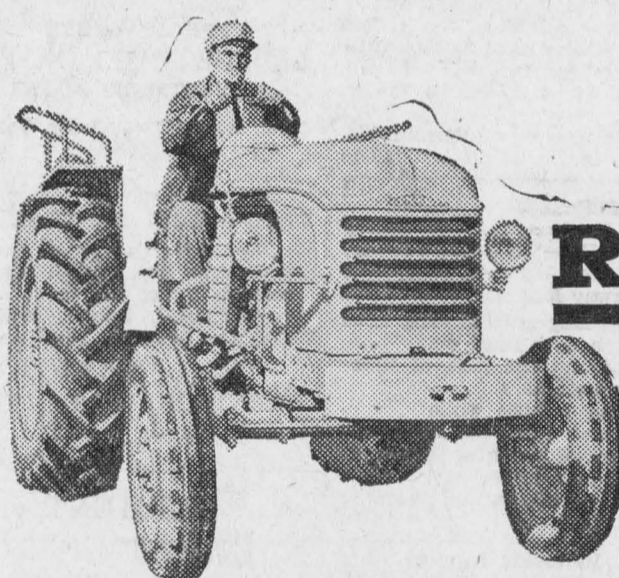

Vaccination costs you no more than treatment, but saves you milk and worry.

Ask your Veterinarian to vaccinate your herd with Cyanamid's 'Staph' Toxoid. Have him set up a regular testing program and depend on him for guidance. He will recommend other proven Cyanamid products, such as Polyotic, Targot, and Aureomycin Mastitis products.

'Staph' mastitis can be prevented. Ask your Veterinarian for Cyanamid's new Slanetz No. 7 'Staph' Toxoid.

"I've tried most makes and found

RENAULT

economical!"

"In the past we have owned a number of different makes of tractors, and we tried many others on our farm before deciding the air-cooled, diesel Renault was the tractor for us," says Mr. Robert M. Grimwood, R.R. 1, Thorold, Ont. Mr. Grimwood is engaged in mixed farming, has 16 acres of grapes, and does custom baling for neighboring farmers.

"Before deciding on a Renault, we gave it a rugged on-the-farm test in competition against 4 other makes under the toughest, wet and hilly conditions. We found the economy, power and stamina of Renault best fitted the needs of our farm."

Mr. Grimwood reports that his Renault air-cooled diesel is also used for the tougher-than-average jobs on his father-in-law's adjacent farm.

Mr. Grimwood sums it up this way—"Not only is our Renault economical . . . it's as handy as any small tractor, and it's got the big tractor power too."

BEFORE YOU BUY...TEST-DRIVE A RENAULT

You too can cash-in on Renault tractor economy and performance this year! Before you buy your next tractor, make sure you see us—your Renault Tractor Dealer. Ask us about the various diesel or gas, air-cooled or water-cooled models. We'll be happy to give you a demonstration on your own farm.

A test-drive will prove that a Renault tractor makes farming more profitable. Give us a call.
