If they find gas beside the Garry, residents of the area will be recalling they smelled it for years.

Drilling Rig At Work On Centre Street

A Consumers Gas drilling rig is at work on the Centre Street property of Mrs. Dora Brabant, today, testing the possibility that Alexandria may have untold riches in gas or oil under its substrata.

The big rig had gone down 200 feet by yesterday afternoon and had at least struck water which was being pumped out in quantity when a News representative visited the site.

Bill Kapral, an Albertan, is in charge of the drill rig which is the property of the James Oil & Gas Drilling Co. of Wallaceburg, Ont. His assistants are Jerry Peters and Art Lafleur and they are set up on the bank of the Garry River, at the rear of Mrs. Brabant's home.

They are digging at the same spot in which a 400 ft test well was dug back in 1895 when Alexandria's new municipal water system was being planned. Consumers Gas is using such old wells across Eastern Ontario as the starting point for deeper boring in its search for oil or gas, we understand.

This same drill crew was at work in early January in the George Osborne farm at Bainsville. They ran into obstructions at the 450-foot level in an old well on that farm and are now trying their luck here.

Two New Barbers Open This Week

Alexandria acquired two new barber shops this week to add to the four already in business.

Hubert Brunet of Cornwall, whose grandfather, Joseph Brunet, once operated a barber shop here, has opened a shop in the former Carmen's Dress Shoppe premises. A son of Lucien Brunet, Hubert was manager of John's Bowling here a few years ago. He will be joined by his wife and daughter now resident in Cornwall.

George Andre of St. Raphael's, has opened a shop in the Ottawa Hotel building, in the premises formerly occupied by Ben's Jewellery. He is a son of Elzear Andre.

Prairies' Pioneer Died At 83

In hospital at Leoville, Sask., on January 9th, the death occurred of Margaret Mary MacCaskill, beloved wife of James Titchmarsh. She was in her 83rd year.

She was born at Glen Sandfield, the eldest daughter of the late Malcolm MacCaskill and the late Sarah Cameron. In 1904 she married Norman MacRae of Ste. Anne de Prescott, and they went West to homestead at Carlyle, Sask., later moving to Rose Valley, Sask., Mr. MacRae passed away there in 1944. They had four children.

In 1960 she married James Titchmarsh of Leoville, Sask. In 1962 she suffered a stroke which left her partly paralyzed but still able to enjoy the company of her family and friends. Early in December she entered the hospital at Leoville, where she passed away on Jan. 9th following another stroke. She is survived by her husband, James Titchmarsh, two daughters and two sons: Mrs. Steve Holhouser (Sadie) of Endeavour, Sask.; Mrs. William Osterlin (Jessie) of Saskatoon; Andrew MacRae of Kelvington, Sask., and William MacRae of New Hazelton, BC, as well as 15 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Also surviving are her two brothers: Kenneth MacCaskill of Vankleek Hill and John MacCaskill of Glen Sandfield.

Industry Minister Drury Officiates Tuesday At Opening Of Square C Textiles Plant

The most modern textile plant on the North American continent will be officially opened here Tuesday morning.

Hon. C. M. Drury, federal minister of industry, will press a button to activate the machines at the new Square C Textiles plant in the presence of some 300 invited guests and in the glare of television lighting. The guest list includes government representatives, men from the business and financial world, senior employees of the parent Consolidated Textile Mills from Montreal and other centres, as well as local and area officials.

Both CBC and CTV television cameras are expected to cover the event.

Following the opening ceremonies a tour of the plant will be conducted and a reception and light lunch will conclude the program.

The general public is being invited to inspect the huge plant Saturday afternoon, February 13th, when an Open House is being arranged by Plant Superintendent A. C. McNulty. Visitors to the plant between the hours of 2 and 6 p.m. will witness production and have the various operations explained.

Painters were completing their work Tuesday when a News representative was taken on a tour of the big plant by Jim Bornstein, Comptroller of the parent Consolidated Textile Mills. Some 100 looms are now operating in the big weave shed and the six dyeing machines are having their bugs removed. We visited the beaming department, the slashing room, the weave room and saw much the same operations, we had previously witnessed in the Joliette plant.

Here all the intricate machines are gleaming new and, we were told, the very latest models. We were struck, too, by the roominess of the plant which has been built with an eye to future expansion of operations.

There will be a lot for you to see on your visit to Open House on February 13th.

4H Forestry Club For Glengarry

A 4H Forestry Club is presently being organized in Glengarry to be known as the "Glengarry 4H Forestry Club"

4H Forestry Clubs in Ontario are organized under the direction of the Agricultural Representative of Ontario Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Zone Forester of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. They are international in scope and Ontario is a most fertile area of operation.

To be eligible for membership, farm boys and girls must be at least 12 years of age by January 1st, and must not have reached their 21st birthday by December 31st of the current year.

Young people with common interests are brought together. 4H Forestry Clubs stimulate interest in the conservation improvement of farm woodlands, reforestation of poor lands and windbreak planting for shelter belts or snow hedges. There is fun too. The ultimate aim of most club members is that special trip to Guelph and the provincial competitions.

Minister Died Suddenly Tuesday

Rev. J. Eldred MacMillan, a native of Avonmore, died suddenly Tuesday night at a congregational meeting in St. Matthew's Presbyterian Church, Toronto. Mr. MacMillan's health in recent years has been poor. He has been in hospital several times. Last September he was able to resume his duties after a serious illness that had extended over a ten-months period. The announcement of his death came as a great shock to relatives and friends throughout the district.

Born near Avonmore on October 7th, 1915, Mr. MacMillan was the son of the late Neil MacMillan and his wife, Sarah. He attended St. Luke's Public School and Avonmore High School. He and his brother farmed on the 1st concession of Finch Township.

Active in all phases of the church's work, he was superintendent of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Sunday School when he made the decision to enter the Christian Ministry. In 1944 he graduated with his BA degree from McGill University and three years later from the Presbyterian College, Montreal.

During his student years he served in various congregations across Canada, including two summers at Knox Presbyterian Church, Moose Creek. He was ordained to the Ministry of the Presbyterian Church in Canada at Leaskdale, Ont., in 1947. Later he became assistant minister at St. Andrew's Church, Toronto before assuming the pastorate of St. Matthew's Church in 1953.

Mr. MacMillan had distinguished himself not only as a faithful minister of the Word but also as a counsellor of young people of the downtown area.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife, the former Norma Henderson, whom he married in 1947 and three brothers, Archie G. and Howard of RR 2 Finch and Rev. Dr. Donald N. MacMillan, Professor of Systematic Theology Presbyterian College, Montreal.

While funeral arrangements are incomplete, the body will be brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard MacMillan. The funeral services will be held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Avonmore with interment at a later date in Paul's Hill Cemetery.

Large Plurality Of Those Voting Monday Favored Liquor Lounges

Monday's vote under the Liquor Control Act, here, favored the introduction of liquor lounges by a large plurality, though not too many proved interested enough to vote.

On the question of sale of liquor under a dining lounge licence there were 583 votes in favor, compared with 92 for the negative. The 86.37 percent "wet" vote was well above the required 60 percent.

The percentage was even more pronounced, at 86.96, in favor of the second question, covering sale of liquor under a lounge licence. The yes vote was 587 to only 89 dissenting.

Of the 1545 Alexandrians eligible to vote Monday, only 676 cast ballots, 43.75 percent.

The vote by polls:

In favor of dining lounge licence

	YES	NO
South Ward	204	36
Centre Ward	176	36
North Ward	203	20
Totals	583	92

In favor of lounge licence

	YES	NO
South Ward	205	34
Centre Ward	179	33
North Ward	203	22
Totals	587	89

Vote May Result In Hotel Additions

Monday's vote in favor of the sale of liquor in licensed premises could result in additions to at least two of Alexandria's hotels, a poll of local hotel owners indicates.

Arthur Contant plans to apply at once for a liquor licence for the Ottawa Hotel and hopes to be handling it by the "shot" as soon as possible. He may build an addition on the rear of his hotel to include lounge facilities.

The Alexandria Hotel has no immediate plans for an addition but Lloyd McHugh will apply for the new licence and may adapt his present ladies' room for use as a lounge.

Duncan A. Macdonell is waiting for definite news of the proposed amendments to the Liquor Control Act before making plans for his Atlantic Hotel. He expects to seek a licence and has plenty of room for expansion should he decide on an addition.

Glengarry Historical Notes

By Hugh MacMillan

Early Glengarry Highland Games

A word of explanation might be in order as to why I wish to write this column at least once a month. I am in the business of collecting material relating to Ontario, such as —early (up to 1900) court records, municipal records, church records, newspapers, handbills, letters, diaries, journals, maps, pictures, farmers' account books. In the process of collecting this type of material, I frequently come across interesting stories and anecdotes about our county which has a long and interesting history. The material I collect is housed in our Provincial Archives at Queen's Park, Toronto. It is available to any person who wants to do research. Copies of material collected are available to the Glengarry Historical Society.

I would hope that these stories and anecdotes about people, places, and events from Glengarry's past will prove of interest to you, and that you will comment on them from time to time. The Glengarry News, one of Ontario's top weeklies, enjoys a large readership outside the county, chiefly among expatriate "Glengarrians". These stories may be of even more interest to them.

It could be said that I have an ulterior motive, inasmuch as I am hoping to hear from you, saying that you have certain old documents that might be of interest. In any case my ulterior motive has good intentions — to preserve and record more of our County's history. Please feel free to write to me at any time, to correct any misstatement I might make, or to add any new knowledge to my stories.

Our first story has to do with the origin of the earliest Highland or Caledonian Games in Glengarry. It appears that the first Highland Games were held in Prince Edward Island about 1838, and in western Ontario (Upper Canada) shortly before 1900, but what about Glengarry? This county is the oldest settlement of Highlanders in Ontario, and it is reasonable to assume that they might have held the first Highland Games in the province. Recently I came across rather conclusive evidence that Glengarry did indeed hold the first Caledonian Games.

A program dated 1871 states the following: "The grand annual gathering and Scottish Games, under the auspices of the Caledonian Society of Glengarry, will be held in the fair ground enclosure, Williamstown, on Wednesday, October 11, 1871." The president of the society at that time was Angus MacDonald, and the secretary was D. MacMaster. Wouldn't it be interesting to come across the minutes of this society?

The rules to govern the games are of considerable interest and read as follows:

"The games will be conducted according to the rules of the United Caledonian Association, which committee of management are anxious to enforce on the occasion in order that at the approaching International Games in Montreal in 1872, at which valuable prizes will be awarded, the athletes of Glengarry may compete with greater chances of success." One wonders how our athletes from Glengarry did in 1872.

"Competitors throwing the Hammer must stand at the scratch and deliver the hammer without swinging the body around. Length of hammer handle 3'6" outside of hammer socket. In putting the stone a race of 7'6" will be allowed. No weights will be allowed in jumping?" How do these rules compare with today?

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Revolting Profits

A recent issue of an American farm publication carries the details of a feeding program which apparently promises higher profits to beef cattle farmers notes an editorial in The Wingham Advance-Times

"The recipe for the new cheap protein diet may spell higher monetary returns but leaves the consumer with a decidedly queasy stomach. The mixture consists of 1500 pounds of chicken litter (straw or other fibre, plus manure), 500 pounds of potato pulp and a few pounds of minerals and vitamins. In some instances wood shavings take the place of straw or other vegetable matter as the base of the litter. The article explains that the litter is aged for a year.

"Inquiry in this area reveals that the practice has already been started in Ontario on a small percentage of beef farms, where turkey litter is substituted for chicken litter.

"We do not profess to know exactly what transformation takes place in the feed through the body chemistry of the steers to which it is fed. It could be that tests may prove the beef is as good as that produced on a diet of pure vegetable matter. We do know, however, that hogs fed on garbage often produce pork which contains the eggs of a deadly type of worm, and that humans can and do become infected by the worms unless the meat is thoroughly cooked before consumption. It seems logical that year-old manure might harbor similar or equally dangerous parasites, germs or viruses.

"A beef producer in Maine struck at the root of the matter when he said, "For heaven's sake, stop talking about chicken manure. Call it a poultry by-product and you're all right. Or if you want a premium, claim you're feeding choice Maine steers on 'Lickin-Good Litter' and demand a few cents extra."

"All thinking persons who live as close to the farming areas of Ontario as we do in Huron County know that beef cattle producers need every cent of profit they can get. It is a risky business and at times the returns are far from commensurate with the work and investment involved. BUT things could be worse . . . and certainly will be if the consuming public loses confidence in the edibility of the beef produced on Ontario farms."

Limiting Election Expenses

While Canada still toys with talk of limiting election campaign expenses, West Germany has done something about it, notes The Brantford Expositor. The three parties represented in the Bonn Parliament have signed an agreement pledging each to stay within a stated sum.

The Social Democratic Party, at present in opposition, and the Free Democratic Party, now the junior member of the government coalition, have bound themselves to spend not more than $3,750,000 each for campaigning in this election year to Sept. 30.

The Christian Democratic Party, senior member of the coalition, will stay within $3,150,000, and its Bavarian sister party, the Christian Social Union has a limit of $1,000,000. These figures are for a country with over twice Canada's number of electors.

But that is not all. The parties promise to open their books to a certified accountant so that he may check on the actual amount of campaign spending, and by June next year he is to declare publicly whether or not the limits were honored.

Any violations of the agreement are to be brought before an arbitration court. It might, for instance, deduct from the next campaign spending any excess in this one.

Are the West Germans, more civilized, efficient or what than Canadian politicians that they can achieve such agreement without the dilly-dallying and fumbling displayed by our Parliament?

The Farm Picture Is Not Flattering

The counties of Eastern Ontario — with particular emphasis on Glengarry — have been termed "Ontario's Rural Slum" in a recent series of articles appearing in a Toronto daily. We reject that unhappy appellation out of hand.

We residents of this narrowing neck of the province have long felt that Eastern Ontario was being neglected by Queen's Park, that we were but a poor relation to the more prosperous counties of Southwest Ontario. But we do not consider ourselves slum dwellers and we retain enough pride in our heritage to resent the suggestion that we have become sunken in squalor, so backward and lazy and inept that we are now content to sit in our sloth and watch progress pass us by.

Over-sensationalized we see Miss Moon's word picture of conditions in our rural areas. But she will have rendered a service if the statistics on which her story is based bring us to a realization that our rural economy is lagging. If those figures tell a true story of falling production and low acreage yields it behooves all of us to face the facts and start working for a healthier economy.

Elsewhere in this issue we reproduce several charts prepared by the local agricultural representative and most of them based on 1961 census returns. They show current production in comparison with other years and there are some comparisons with other areas of the province which are not flattering to the local farm scene.

Most Glengarry farms are too small to be economically sound under present conditions, it would appear. It is generally assumed that an economic unit for livestock production and a satisfactory low interest, credit or mortgage risk, notes Mr. Humphries, is a farm enterprise containing at least 130 tillable acres. A whopping 73 percent of our farms fall short of this acreage and as a result may lack the borrowing capacity to keep in step with today's capital requirements.

Drainage is perhaps our greatest lack. Glengarry's soil compares favorably with that of any other area in the province but more than half our tillable acres are classed as poorly drained and there is considerable acreage of good soil yet to be incorporated into the cropland area. The limited acreage of our farms with a resultant limit on borrowing capacity, no doubt is a big reason for the poor picture in drainage and land reclamation. Lack of capital may also be a factor in the low use of fertilizer on Glengarry farms. Where an average 14 pounds of fertilizer per tillable acre was used in Glengarry in 1963, Oxford County's average was 135 pounds and Norfolk had a whopping 578 pounds per acre.

Inability to produce alfalfa due to poor drainage may be a contributing factor to low hay yields in this county. Glengarry averages only 1.82 ton per acre while the average hay crop through Western Ontario is 2.47 ton.

Oats is the favored grain crop in Glengarry, yet we produce only 36 bushels per acre as compared with the 61.3 bushel average in Western Ontario. Our soil and climate seem admirably suited to grain corn and silage corn. Our acreage yields top those of Western Ontario and yet we grew grain corn on only 232 acres in 1961 while sowing 37,543 acres to oats.

Glengarry's farms were producing less of every crop in 1961 than they were 40 years earlier and the curtailment was similar in livestock production. There were more cattle on our farms in 1961, but fewer milk cows than were pastured in 1921. Sheep had dropped from 9,107 to a mere 876 and swine were down from 15,809 to 9,477.

These decreases no doubt reflect the reduction in the number of farms, but they also point up a general deterioration in the overall production of Glengarry farms. Prices of farm produce have not risen enough to compensate for the drop in production and so it seems clear our farm economy has been slipping.

Statistics notwithstanding, there are still many good farms in Glengarry and the trend to larger farm holdings should in time improve the overall picture. The proposed rehabilitation of fringe farms under ARDA could prove a shot in the arm but the extent to which this area will benefit by financial help from the higher levels of government will depend on the interest shown at the local level.

If we have permitted our standard of living in rural Glengarry to deteriorate to the point it is referred to as a rural slum, surely it is time for all of us to grasp such an opportunity as is offered by ARDA to develop our resources more fully. The future well-being of the area may depend on the degree of interest we now show in improving our rural economy.

SHINING EXAMPLES

The same breadth of vision, the same magnanimity, the same unflagging determination to bring strength and unity out of division and turmoil, which marked (Sir John A.) Macdonald a century ago — these are the prime needs for Canadian statesmen today.

—Cochrane (Ont.) Northland Post

A SMART PORKER

The other day one of our news sources watched a fat porcupine handle his winter supply of apples. First he climbed a tree and rustled the branches until he had quite a collection on the ground. Then he got down and gathered the apples into a pile. He bristled his quills, turned over and rolled through the apples. When he gained his feet the apples were impaled on his quills and he headed for his storehouse.

FOUND—MONEY AND AN HONEST WOMAN

Somebody who was unlucky enough to lose a sum of money on the Main drag last Friday may be luckier than he or she was thinking. That wad of bills was found by an honest person and brought into the office.

Even now it's safe in our safe awaiting an answer to the "found" ad we've inserted in the Classifieds.

That lady from out Dalkeith way who found the money and brought it in to us has restored our faith in the basic honesty of mankind. Usually it's the other way around. Someone who has lost a pocketbook or other valuables drops in hopefully to learn if by chance it has been brought in. And almost never is it recovered, even though there are identification papers in the pocketbook.

It's a rather sad commentary on our times that many people will be amazed to learn someone found cash on the street and did not quietly pocket it. Seems people aren't expected to be as honest today as their forefathers were and if that is the case probably our income tax laws are in large part to blame.

The taxpayer is expected to cheat wherever possible on his or her income tax.

Memo to Mrs. Clarence Fraser of Dalkeith, who found the money. No need for a Want-ad. The money was returned Tuesday to the loser, Dan MacMillan of Elgin Street, Alexandria.

A COB JOB

If you find more corn in this column than there was before it'll probably be because your Rambling Reporter is smoking a corn cob pipe these days. And it's not an affectation; it's a gift.

You never know when fortune is going to smile your way. Like Thursday night we dropped in to the curling rink to watch play in the mixed bonspiel. A rink from Huntingdon, Que., was on hand and it included a former Williamstown area man, E. C. (The Widow) MacDonell, now CNR agent at Huntingdon.

He introduced us to the members of his team and practically before we could get the pipe out of our mouth we were the possessor of a second one, a genuine Sunday Cob Pipe. It popped from the purse of Mrs. Eric Brown whose husband makes them at Huntingdon as a sideline. She hasn't taken to smoking a corn cob yet, but hubby does turn out a pipe for the ladies, we gathered.

Our new corn cob is pleasantly light, draws well and comes complete with a replaceable filter. It's threatening to become not only our Sunday Cob but our everyday smoke.

GROUNDHOGS' DAY

The New Year must be getting on now January's come and gone with February next in line with Groundhogs' Day and Valentine.

The Weather Bureau at Dorval has no faith in our furry pal. They claim he's just a phony fake — too liable to some mistake.

For even if it's Groundhogs' Day the skies are either blue or grey. His forecast doesn't mean a thing regarding the approach of Spring.

I claim our furry little pal has much in common with Dorval, and when prognosticating weather they should shake hands and get together.

For if the day be dull or bright, they both are either wrong or right. What tidings will their forecast bring? Are we to have an early Spring? Or blizzards on St. Patrick's Day? I'll let you know some time in May. So meanwhile, let's stop feeling blue. A Happy Groundhogs' Day to you!

Alexandria Intermediates' First Loss To St. Regis Indians Here Sunday

A new chapter of hockey history in Glengarry Gardens with an old and pleasant sport theme was recorded last Sunday afternoon, when St. Regis Indians defeated Alexandria 11-9 in a Long Sault league game.

Although lacrosse players from St. Regis and Cornwall Island played at times on the old Fair Grounds, it wasn't until the era of Chisholm Park and box lacrosse in the Hungry Thirties that sport fans in the Glens really got to know such outstanding lacrosse players as Louis White, Louis Sunday, Angus George and Angus Thomas, to mention only a few.

On Sunday afternoon our Indian friends were back, but this time to play hockey. Coach Enis Hemlock presented a fast-skating, well-drilled squad reinforced by pale faces from Ft. Covington and Hogansburg.

Play was close with a slight edge in favor of St. Regis, however, fan interest was maintained all the way as a one or two goal lead was held first by Alexandria and then finally in favor of the visitors.

Gilles Lefebvre scored at the 30-second mark of the opener for Alexandria. Eric Cooper quickly evened matters, and then gave St. Regis the lead on his second goal. Harold Robinson's two goals, and a single by Gilles Lauzon rounded out the home effort, while Cooper scored his third to end the first period, Alexandria leading 4-3.

Tony MacDonald and Lavellee in-

Tony MacDonald and Lavallee in the second. St. Regis goalie, Lawrence Malloy, settled down, holding the home squad at bay with the exception of two goals by Harold Robinson. Benore's double marker, singles by Premo and Duncan for St. Regis kept the visitors within one goal of tying at the close of the second 8-7.

Alexandria's scoring punch and defensive work slumped a bit in the final canto as singles were tallied by Premo, Benone, Benore and Cooper. Harold Robinson scored his fifth goal of the game to make the final read St. Regis 11, Alexandria 9.

A few minor penalties were handed out by referees Jacques Lalonde and Justin Burwash. This was a fast, clean, entertaining brand of intermediate hockey and deserved better patronage.

The teams:

St. Regis: Goal, Lawrence Malloy; defence, Keith Benore and Buck Smith (Dr. Bruce Smith); forwards, Jack Duncan, Howard Benone and Phil Premo; alternates, Thomas, David, Thomas, Sunday, Cooper, Sunday, Roundpoint, Hunter and Armstrong.

Alexandria: Goal, John A. Kennedy; defence, Bernard Morris and Gerry Currier; forwards, Gilles Lefebvre, Rickey Dumouchell and Gilles Lauzon; alternates, Lavallee, MacDonald, Robinson, Vaillancourt, Lobb, Joanette, Munroe, Leroux and Dumouchell.

Minors Played At Maxville And In Buckingham

The young fry in the Glens closed out Minor Hockey Week in Canada on two fronts last weekend.

Alexandria pee-wees travelled to Buckingham where in their Saturday game they eliminated Hawkesbury 7-1. Don Morris blinked the red light twice, while Ourtown's single goals were scored by Michel Seguin, Jerome Poirier, Ricky Lavigne, Bruce Libbos and Blair MacDonald.

Continuing in the semi-final on Sunday, Buckingham won 4-1 over Alexandria to enter the finals of their home town annual pee-wee tournament.

Alexandria gave a fine display and were credited to have had most of the play, however, apart from Michael Kelly's goal they were outlucked around the net.

Buckingham sprites kept their Lower Ottawa paper town on the hockey map by winning the sixth annual sprite tournament in Maxville. Buckingham, with plenty of scoring punch, defeated Morrisburg 13-3, then Eamer's Corner 10-0, and Cardinal 8-1 in the championship final. High-scoring young Crevier won the most valuable player award.

In the first round of play, Maxville side-tracked Lancaster 4-1. Maxville scorers were Gordon Blair, Garry McIntosh, Stanley McBain and Larry Shields. Shields also picked up two assists, while Blair and McIntosh each set up scoring plays. J. C. Gelinas, on a pass from Lacombe, scored for Lancaster.

Richard St. Denis tallied Alexandria's only goal in their 6-1 loss to Cardinal. Richard Giroux of Eamer's Corner was a one-man sniper as he scored a double hat trick to eliminate Williamstown 6-1. C. Jarvo, assisted by R. Cattanach, saved Williamstown from a shutout.

East Hawkesbury Church Annual

The annual congregational meeting of East Hawkesbury United Church was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fraser.

After a short devotional by the minister, the Rev. L. S. Woolfrey, favorable reports were presented by the United Church Women, the Session and the Board of Stewards. Considerable discussion took place re the matter of the election of an elder. It was decided to resume discussion on this particular business at a later date. The present committee of stewards was re-elected. A new trustee in the person of Mansel Hay was elected.

There was considerable discussion on the installing of a new heating unit for the church. The committee of stewards was empowered to look into this matter and report back to the congregation.

Mansel Hay on behalf of the East Hawkesbury congregation, expressed appreciation to the minister for his services. The meeting closed with the Benediction by the minister. The ladies of the UCW served a delicious lunch.

Panel Discussion On Vocations Featured Diocesan CWL Meeting

"Those who work for God receive God's pay."

"Inspiration for religious vocation is taken from the living priest."

"Parents, teachers, priests and the sisterhood must teach children to think and work unselfishly."

"A bend toward any vocation is encouraged by the mother."

"A mother's tears are often the instrument of God."

These and other conclusions were reached at a panel discussion of religious vocations, in Holy Cross Cornwall, Sunday evening, sponsored by the Diocese of Alexandria Catholic Women's League, under the presidency of Mrs. Mervyn MacDonald of Green Valley.

This past year, the CWL has been studying the whole picture of vocations, and the educational opportunities being offered to the youth of Cornwall and its environs.

Mrs. MacDonald, introducing the panel, paid particular tribute to those who had given themselves completely to the service of God. She quoted Ruth from the Bible, indicating that this decision to give over one's life in such a way "takes great courage", to go, to dwell and to accept "all that God's will indicates."

Sister Mary Catherine of Bologna, Holy Cross Convent, Alexandria, a panel member speaking on behalf of Sisterhood, emphasized "the meaning and purpose of religious life is always the same".

Aptitudes, abilities, choice of vocation, never change "that inner doctrine", she said, and the Sisterhood co-works with men on the same basis, that young people, particularly, are generous, and will always "respond to challenge."

Most Rev. J. A. Plourde, Auxiliary Bishop of Alexandria, speaking briefly to the gathering at the conclusion of the evening, said the CWL "deserves much credit for its attention to the study", for he felt certain "each member had been reacquainted with the importance of family living", and "the focus of Christian living in the heart of the family."

A comprehensive picture of the Bible as a "living aid" to Christian behavior was presented by Rev. Stuart McMillan, Director of Bible Service, and three youthful readers, all from Alexandria, Donald Conway, Hubert Morris and John Libbos.

Rev. Bernard Cameron, moderating the panel, said a reading of a recent book, The Comfortable Pew by Pierre Berton, had given him the impression that Berton, at least, knew "priests were always courteous, and obliging", since he had written favorably of his contacts with them.

Lloyd MacDonald, St. Lawrence High School teacher, told the gathering he, personally had been grateful for the influence of the Church on the boys with whom he had been dealing.

Rev. Brother Owen, FSC, of Toronto, whose Order has turned out an amazing percentage of priests, 39 in 1964 alone, said his fellow Brothers were operating in 88 countries, teaching boys since the founding of the Order in the 1680's, their numbers being close to 20,000.

Rev. M. J. O'Brien, diocesan director, assisted Mrs. MacDonald with introductions and arrangements.

Rev. James Davis, CssR, of St. Mary's College, Brockville, told his audience the whole question was one of "mutual responsibility."

The whole of the Christian way of life depended on "service", with which Father O'Brien audibly concurred. "One's own service in whatever way possible, wherever it is possible, for others, and according to God's will."

He urged his listeners to encourage youth "not to think only of themselves, not just to live for themselves" but to help youth to realize the "greatest joy came from service on behalf of others."

This, he declared, was the true foundation of any vocation.

A vocation without a constant questioning as to its contribution to the community of living could not be as effective, and would not be as successful, he believed.

Sister Mary Catherine suggested a book called "The Emerging Layman" should be on the reading list of every thinking Christian, and endeavored to explain that it was a misconception on the part of the laity if it did not understand the wide opportunities available to those who undertook religious vocations.

MacNaughton.

The highlight of the meeting was the presentation of a life membership to Mrs. Kenneth MacDonald, corresponding secretary, presented by Mrs. Fergus McRae on behalf of Mrs. J. J. MacMaster, Vankleek Hill, a former and very interested life member of Kirk Hill UCW.

Mrs. Callum MacGillivray and Mrs. Stanley Vogan were in charge of devotionals.

After a short business period, Mrs. Hugh MacPherson gave an interesting and informative talk on the new study book. Introduction to Brazil. The treasurer, Mrs. Alex MacCuaig reported the allocation of 750.00 had been reached by free will offerings.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and social hour followed.

INTEGRATION FAVORED

Looking over the many proposals of the (Parent commission on education) report, we get the idea that ultimately the separate school system of this province will largely disappear . . . Such a turn of events would do much to dispel the separatist movement, for if children grow up together they learn to know each other better.

Why did Mr. & Mrs. Graham open a Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit Account?

It all started when Mary Graham saw all the bargains advertised in the newspaper. Several stores were having big sales and she showed Jack the low prices on portable T.V.'s, and, of course, the specials on fur jackets. These sales were a "once-a-year" chance for the Grahams to take advantage of good buying opportunities but they didn't have the ready cash. The next day Jack Graham was discussing his problem with his Scotiabranch manager. He learned the details about Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit and Jack quickly saw its many advantages. After a few questions about his job and how much uncommitted monthly income was available for Cheque-Credit, Jack and Mary Graham were well on their way to getting the things they needed—and at sale prices, too.

Cheque-Credit gives you the extra money you need—when you need it!

1 You select the monthly payment that you can afford and then apply for twelve times that amount.
2 When your application has been approved you receive a book of special personalized cheques.
3 You are not confined to spending in specified stores. Your cheques are good for anything you need, anytime, anywhere in Canada.
4 The charge on Cheque-Credit accounts is $6.00 per year for each $100 borrowed. You pay only on the amount of credit actually used. You do not pay anything for the money held in reserve for your account.
5 Your monthly payment is approximately one-twelfth of the amount of credit you have used so far.
6 Each month you will receive a statement of cheques written, payments to be made, and the amount of credit still open.
7 Each payment you make rebuilds your Cheque-Credit reserve, giving you a continual supply of credit.

Scotia Plan Cheque-Credit is life-insured, too, at no extra cost to you. Find out today all about Cheque-Credit at your nearest Scotiabranch.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

Sport fans in the Glens share the delight of fellow countrymen in the results of two major weekend sport events.

First Vic Emery of Montreal and his bobsled team retained the world championship at St. Moritz, Switzerland. Their Olympic win was considered a fluke last year. The critics have been emphatically silenced.

On Monday night in New York, Canadian George Chuvalo, although outpointed decisively by Floyd Patterson, was the chief reason Madison Square Gardens was a sellout and the ancient fistic game was given a refreshing shot in the arm.

This time there was no stigma of infamy. Obviously falling behind on points as the fight progressed, George Chuvalo didn't quit. He flailed away till the final bell reviving an old spirit that has been sadly lacking for some time.

Alex DaPratto, executive member ODHA, after visiting with his daughter, Mrs. Ken Oma and L/C Oma near Soest, West Germany, returned home recently following Ottawa Montagnards' three-week European hockey tour.

The founder of Glengarry Gardens revealed some keen observations. Alex is quite a farmer at heart and enthused at seeing Fall wheat already becoming sprightly in almost Canadian April weather. We soon got around to hockey and arenas. We just about bypassed hockey as the international matches are too well known. Regarding arenas we were told that the Olympic rink at Innsbruck seats close to 20,000 and has no posts or pillars, similar to Maple Leaf Gardens.

In smaller centers such as Munich and Lieges, the ice area is roofless; however, the seats and standing room are covered and quite comfortable.

The real difference between our rinks and those overseas is our lack of bars opines Alex. "Put a bar in Glengarry Gardens and our financial troubles are over", Alex told us.

European hockey fans are still talking about Coach Father Bauer and our defeated hockey team of last year, so at least Canada salvaged some credit out of the Olympics.

Maxville is making a strong bid to finish first in the Little Nation League. At time of writing Maxville (27) heads Wendover (25) by two points, while Plantagenet (17), St. Isidore (16), and Rockland (5) complete the standing.

There was a familiar looking athlete taking an occasional turn behind the St. Regis blue line on Sunday. His stocky legs, broad shoulders and still agile movements were a reminder of other days, however, some extra suet on the midriff and greying hair made you think.

Finally you guessed — Angus Thomas. Lloyd McHugh asked us how old did we think Angus Thomas was? Our reply, "He was a mature athlete in the Hungry Thirties so he must be all of 50". Lloyd checked and informed us he was 52.

In the lacrosse glory of Chisholm Park Angus George and Angus Thomas were the Stan Mikita and Bobby Hull of Indian teams. "I always played a bit of hockey around St. Regis" Angus Thomas told us in a dressing room chat, "but lacrosse was my favorite as I played with the seniors when only 15."

To be able to play lacrosse with and against the burly crews of that era at age 15 spells only one word —greatness. Angus Thomas could do anything with a lacrosse ball equal to any other player and his shot was superior especially in speed. Bobby Hull's puck shot has been clocked at 108 mph and we venture to say Angus Thomas at Hull's age could fire a ball just about as fast.

Angus Thomas and Angus George moved on to Vancouver in 1937 to wield the gutted sticks in the coast league. They returned later and Angus Thomas is still helping along the youngsters. Among familiar names to older lacrosse fans you will note Wally Roundpoint, Dave and Bill Sunday, sons of popular Louis Sunday.

Sportsmen especially of the rod and gun brand are reminded that Sam Brunet, his nimrods and disciples of Isaac Walton are holding their annual trophy presentation and bean supper in the Legion hall, Friday (next) 12.

HITHER AND YON

Sport fans, especially from the Alexandria area, memo best wishes to one of Glengarry's grand old men and sportsman, Johnie Allan Cameron, as they celebrate their 66th wedding anniversary on Sunday in Kirkland Lake . . . Johnie Allan is listed among the greats as a booster of sport in Alexandria, and his native Third Kenyon . . . still on memos . . . Thanks to Mrs. Donalda (Scott) MacDonald for the Scotch . . . the book that is . . . interesting reading and similar to a Glengarry story . . . another thank you to Mrs. Florence Macdonald, Calgary, for her letter in nostalgic vein . . . A memo of apology to little Gilles Blais of Alexandria sprites . . . a fan tells us we were incorrect in our last issue scoring report of that recent St. Isidore sprite game . . . Statistics On Land Use, Crop Yields And Other Farm Factors

Editor's note: The following statistics were used by J. Y. Humphries as the basis of a recent talk on the condition of agriculture in Glengarry. We publish them in the belief they will prove informative and interesting for our readers.

ACRES OF IMPROVED LAND BY FARMS

ACRES	NO. OF FARMS		ACRES	NO. OF FARMS
Less than 3	21	73%	130 - 179	261	27%
3 - 9	24		180 - 239	129
10 - 69	492		240 - 399	53
70 - 129	664		400 - 559	4
			560 - 759	1

It is generally assumed that an economic unit for livestock production and a satisfactory low interest, credit or mortgage risk is a farm enterprise containing at least 130 tillable acres. 27% of Glengarry farms fall in this category.

Historical Notes...

or for the Prize Essay must lodge a sealed copy thereof with the President on or before the 8th of October." We will learn more of these essays later.

"Each game will be open to all Competitors on payment of 25 cents to the Secretary before the competition commences."

"Tickets on the Grand Trunk Railway between Montreal and Brockville will be issued to Lancaster, valid from 11th to 16th October at 10% more than single class fare." Likely these reduced fares did much to increase attendance.

"Admission to Grounds 25 cents, Children under 12 years 10 cents, carriages or persons on horseback 10 cents extra. Gentlemen wearing Highland Costume will be admitted free." These admission charges wouldn't go far towards running the Games today at Maxville, but I wonder if our Games officials could be persuaded to give free admission to Gentlemen wearing Highland Costume." Quite an incentive to go out and buy an outfit.

"Gates will open at 10 a.m. Annual Election of office bearers of society at 11 a.m. in Grammer School Hall." It would be interesting to know where this old building was and what it looked like.

The list of prizes for events is most revealing.

1. Throwing heavy hammer, 16 lbs., 1st prize silver medal; 2nd prize $2.00; 3rd prize $1.00. Awarded by Evander McRae, Esq.
2. Putting Heavy Stone, 21 lbs. Prizes $4, $2 and $1.
3. Thowing 56 lb. weight, prizes $2.00 and $1.00.
4. Ghillie Callum or Sword Dance (in Highland Costume) prize $4.00.
5. Best piper in Highland Costume, prize $4.00.
6. Best Scotch music on violin, prize $4.00.
7. The best essay on "The History and Effects of Highland Games" prize Gold Medal.
8. Best poem (in Gaelic or English) subject Glengarry. Prize Silver Medal.

This is just a selection of the 20 events listed on the program. It shows the interest of the people in keeping up the piping, violin music, athletic events. Were we able to uncover some of these poems or essays, they would be most revealing—particularly the Gaelic poems.

An even earlier "Handbill" dated 1858 reads as follows: "First Grand Annual Gathering and Prize Games of the Caledonian Society of Glengarry, weather permitting, on Tuesday, October 19, 1858 at Williamstown."

The secretary of the games at this time was Duncan McGregor. The events and prizes were much the same, but there were only 9 events listed. "Tossing the Caber" is listed as an event with prizes of $3.00 and $2.00. For some reason this event was not on the program of 1871.

It would seem from the 1858 handbill that this was the first games held. On further checking I came across one of the 1871 prize essays. It was written by Kenneth McDonald of Gardenfield (somewhere near Williamstown). He tells us that the first Highland Games were organized by Col. Carmichal in 1839 and were held at Lancaster. This is quite possible because Col. Carmichal was a highlander, and was in charge of the militia troops during the 1837-8 rebellion period in this area. Because the men were inactive at times and prone to get in trouble, he tried to devise various things to keep them occupied. The stone cairn in the river near South Lancaster was witness to his efforts. The competitive efforts of the games would fit in well with his objective of keeping the men occupied. McDonald states about the competitors: "The competitors, James McDonald, Glen and Duncan Kennedy, Kenyon, for the 24 lb. ball. Kennedy being the winner by 1 foot 9 inches (unfortunately there is no mention of how far he did throw it). James McDonald, Glen, Duncan Ban Kennedy and Bill Williams of Lancaster were competitors for the heavy hammer, James McDonald being the winner by 3'5" (once again no mention of distance)."

McDonald's comments on the effects of the Games are rather curious for a Highlander — "Injurious to those that follow them, as they create a great excitement, and over-exertion of the constitution. A good deal of drinking, some quarrelling, and a great deal of fighting, and some of the ablest men we have had in the county of Glengarry received their death through these games, by the report of our most able medical men."

Our essayist, McDonald had some strong political views, which he airs in this essay as he proceeds to recite the sins of some of the political leaders of the day.

We now have our earliest recorded Game back to 1839, a very early date. Perhaps we can authenticate an even earlier date.
