Faubert Elected Reeve In Kenyon
Same Slates In Lancaster, Charlottenburgh

Kenyon will have a new reeve, Albert Faubert, as the result of voting Monday in four area municipalities. In Charlottenburgh the entire slate was returned, as was the case in Lancaster Village where there is one new councillor. Lochiel's election was confined to Area Public School trustees and a vote on licensing sale of beer consumption in public premises to which women are admitted. This was given a definite "No".

In Charlottenburgh liquor lounges and serving of liquor in licensed dining rooms were both given an affirmative vote.

Kenyon will have a new reeve as the result of Deputy-Reeve Albert Faubert's victory over incumbent Reeve Norman M. MacLeod. It will also have two new councillors with holdover Arthur Trottier. Hugh McIntyre of Apple Hill and Dan Gill, 4th Kenyon, were successful, with John A. MacLennan, Maxville, only 33 votes short of third place. Councillor Neil MacLean moved up to deputy-reeve by acclamation.

The vote for the reeveship resulted in a 237 vote majority for Albert Faubert who ran a strong campaign. His 639 votes were in contrast to 402 cast for Mr. MacLeod.

In the council race Arthur Trottier topped the field with a fine 516 votes. Mr. McIntyre had 495, Dan Gill 456 and Mr. MacLennan, 423.

Township voters return to the polls on Dec. 18 to decide on the sale of beer in licensed premises.

In Charlottenburgh's election all incumbents were given a generous vote of confidence. Reeve Archibald C. MacDonell piled up a 426 majority over Adrian Gadbois who got 692 votes to 1118 for Reeve MacDonell.

The three incumbent councillors finished well in front in a six-man contest. Raymond Filion had 890 votes, George Shoniker 873 and Bruce Sova 822. Lionel Baker ran close at 677 while Oscar Lauzon got 370 and Louis Latreille 311.

Deputy-Reeve Donald Thomson had been returned by acclamation.

Both votes under the LCBO won handily. On the question of ordinary liquor lounges there were 1052 "yes" votes to 571 "no"; for dining licences it was 1043 "yes", 558 "no".

Reeve Lloyd Fawthrop turned back a determined bid for the top elective post in Lancaster Village by Raymond Munro. The vote was 150 for Fawthrop, 85 for Munro.

Three incumbent councillors were returned: Stewart McGillis 116, Leonard MacLachlan 117, William Cumming 153—with one newcomer, William Wereley, who also got 117 votes. Close behind were Gerard Latreille, 108 and Maurice Menard, 105, with Bertyl White trailing at 56. Mr. Wereley will replace Lawrence McDonald who retires from council.

Kenneth MacLennan led the poll in Lochiel for Area Public School trustees with 318 votes. Two others returned were Clifford MacDonald 223 and Donald MacGillivray 238 with one newcomer, Gordon MacMillan, 239. He replaces Kenneth W. MacDonald who got 188 votes. Robert Lothian trailed with 185.

Lochiel now licences beverage rooms for men only. An attempt to legalize beverage rooms to which women would be admitted was turned back with a "no" vote of 496. The affirmative had 352.

The vote by polls is detailed below with successful candidates marked by asterisks.

John Alexander Cameron, 81, of St. Andrews West, died Wednesday morning in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, about two hours after being struck by a car operated by Leo Gareau, of Green Valley.

The accident occurred just before 8 a.m. as the car came westbound over the crest of a hill at St. Andrews West. Mr. Cameron was walking across the street and was in the centre of the road when struck, Ontario Provincial Police said.

Mr. Cameron leaves no immediate relatives. He was born in the Cornwall area and was a retired farmer. A bachelor, he is survived by cousins in the St. Andrews West district.

New Post Office May Be Located At Tennis Courts

A new $100,000 Post Office may be erected on the present tennis courts site, Catherine St. The Public Works Department at Ottawa has asked Glengarry Council K of C to put a price on the property. Presumably if the price is satisfactory the deal will go through.

Queried this morning Viateur Ethier, MP, confirmed the fact that site is being considered. The Department wants to get away from traffic and lack of parking facilities at the present office is another factor.

Size of the building will depend on whether other federal departments require space, we understand. If only a Post Office is required the cost might be considerably below the $100,000 mark.

$2,000 Taken In Hotel Theft

Investigation is continuing into the theft of $2,000 in cash and cheques from the Atlantic Hotel, here, Friday evening of last week. Police Chief Dubeau reports some leads are being followed up and he is hopeful of making an arrest.

The money was in a cash box which was removed from a locked desk in the hotel's diningroom between 6 and 6.30 p.m. Friday, reports Duncan A. Macdonell. The desk had been jimmied open and cash box and contents carried away before Mrs. Macdonell, wife of the proprietor, discovered the theft.

The large sum of money is kept for the purpose of cashing cheques of area customers. Mr. Macdonell reports some $500 worth of cheques had been cashed before the theft and the cheques were with some $1500 in cash when the box was stolen.

The thief picked a time when the proprietor was busy tending the bar.

Maxville Had Lengthy Blackout

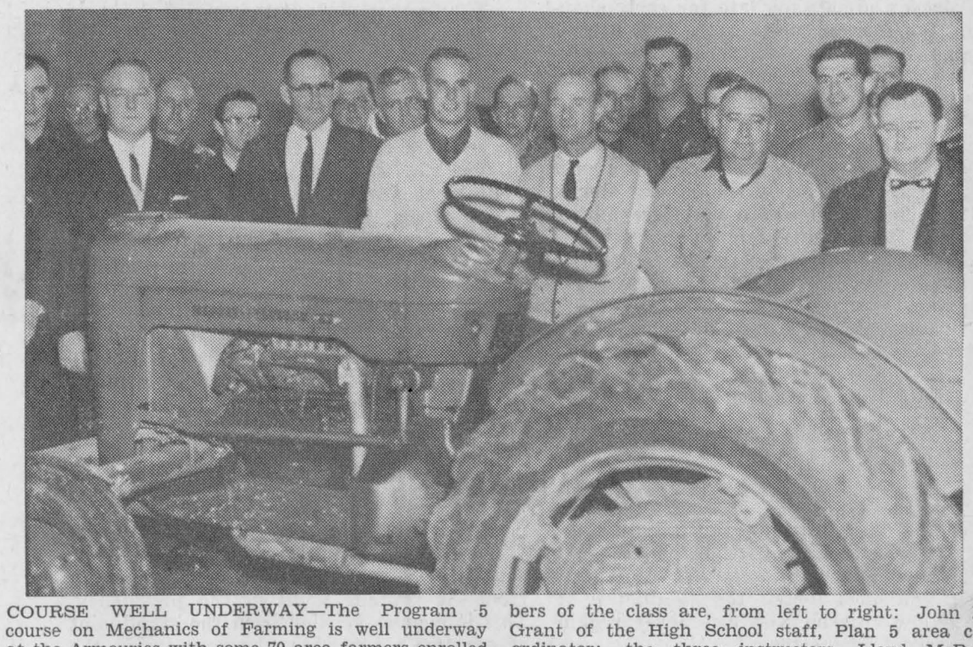

Lamps and candles were pressed into service in Maxville Sunday night when electric power was interrupted for a period of two hours and a half.

With electric furnaces used to heat many homes, it became decidedly chilly for a large number of residents before power was restored about 8.50 p.m. The power blackout began about 6.20.

Officials of Ontario Hydro at Lancaster said the blackout was caused by a broken conductor on one of the village lines. It was a case of some of the equipment becoming obsolete, but this was being replaced.

Const. Donald Fosberg of Maxville Provincial Police reported all was quiet throughout the blackout.

Maxville also experienced the blackout on Nov. 9 which plunged much of North America into darkness. But power was off only 40 minutes at that time.

Fur Trade Conference And The Museum

91 On Monday

Paul Lacombe of Glen Robertson marks another milestone, his 91st, on Monday.

Though confined to his room over the past few months Mr. Lacombe remains bright and active, still enjoying the company of family and friends.

His 91st birtnday is also the birthday of his daughter Edythe.

Five Bad Twenties Passed In Area

Cpl. S. E. McDivitt, in command of the RCMP detachment at Cornwall, advises that at least five counterfeit $20 bills have been passed in Alexandria and Glen Robertson areas over the past two weeks.

He warns that any $20 banknote bearing the prefix letters U/N are counterfeit. The lower prefix on any $20 is the letter "E" and any other marks the bill as not genuine. There have been a large number of bad bills with the lower prefix "E", however.

Cpl. McDivitt suggests you compare a suspected note with another. If in doubt try to detain the passer on pretext while calling police. "Under no circumstances give the note back to the person," he adds.

Dances Planned New Year's

At least two New Year's Eve dances are planned in Alexandria. The Legion Branch is having a dinner-dance in its hall and the Lions Club is holding a dance in the Armouries.

The Lions also have a Concert planned for Dec. 15th in the High School when children from the various schools will entertain. Proceeds will go to the Christmas Basket fund.

Not Seriously Hurt

A 7-year-old boy, Jean-Louis Ingola escaped with minor injuries at 9.30 a.m. Sunday, when he dashed into the path of a car opposite Sacred Heart Church. An Ottawa taxi driver was involved.

The child was taken to the office of Dr. Yvon Bourdeau and was released after treatment.

Another Still In Glen Robertson Area

Two Montreal men are out on cash bail of $1000 each and they will appear in court here next Tuesday sequel to a police raid on an illicit still in the Glen Robertson area early this morning.

Raymond Beliveau and Robert Hebert both of Montreal, were arrested by a combined squad of RCMP Police from Cornwall and the OPP at Lancaster, according to Cpl. S. E. McDivitt of the RCMP Cornwall.

The still was in a barn near Glen Robertson and though not completely erected at the time, it was capable of producing about 75 gallons per day. Eight barrels of mash, some 1000 gallons were fermenting, an indication that production would have been underway within a few days.

It was the second still seized in this area this year.

Glengarry Historical Notes

by Hugh MacMillan

Mink bikini's or chinchilla furs would come to mind if we were invited to attend a fur trade conference. The first such conference was held in St. Paul, Minnesota, Nov. 1 - 3rd. Early fur styles were exhibited by several of St. Paul's good looking models. Walter O'Meara, author of "Grand Portage", a fur trade novel, gave a running commentary on women of the fur trade. This was one of the more well attended talks.

Glengarry's forthcoming "North West Co Museum" came in for considerable attention after I was asked to give an outline of what was proposed. Most of our American hosts were not aware that an election was coming up in Canada, but worse than that, they were not too sure where Glengarry was. We soon got them straightened out on that point, and enlarged on Charlottenburgh's imaginative project for the Canadian Centennial.

W. L. Morton, University of Manitoba, in his paper "The North West Co. Pedlars Extraordinary" made frequent references to the partners and clerks in the concern who hailed from Glengarry. Other speakers who brought out this same point were Eric Morse of the Canadian Clubs, in his talk "Fur trade Main Line—Lachine to Athabaska. K. G. Davies of the Hudson Bay Record Society, Grace Lee Nute, and Valentine McKay also made mention of the county. These were the informed ones, but for most of the others present, it was an unfamiliar name.

Valentine McKay, aged 83, has spent all his life in the fur trade with "Revillion Freres". For an hour he held 300 people fascinated with reminiscences of his years in the trade. By descent Scotch, French and Indian, his father was Alexander McKay of Charlottenburgh Township. He went to the Columbia in 1811 on John Jacob Astor's ship the "Tonquin". He along with all the rest of the crew, were murdered by Indians, in Nootka Sound, off the coast of present day British Columbia. Valentine, by his manner of speech, could have come from Glengarry, yet he is five generations removed from the county. He still speaks a little Gaelic, along with French, and Cree. He tells with great gusto of how he and his French-Indian wife escorted a herd of cariboo by ship to Denmark for the King's forests. Apparently a herd of seasick cariboo is not pleasant to live with.

It was such men as his great grandparent along with the many other NorWesters who opened up much of western Canada, for later peaceful settlement. The "Fur Trade Museum" of Chadron, Nebraska, is devoted to telling the story of the trade, in what is now the western United States. It is easy to visualize how the one in Williamstown will do the same for Canada.

Tracing something of the progression of the fur trade through pictorial displays could be a useful function of our museum. It would be of great interest to school students.

Cod fishing slightly predated the fur trade as Canada's first industry, but not by much. Jacques Cartier is credited with bartering for the first beaver pelts with the Mic-Mac Indians. He describes them as being a small tribe, and coming out to meet him, waving their furs on sticks while they danced up and down in their canoes. Needless

Humboldt Student Wins B. A. Degree

Carol Ann Telfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Telfer of Humboldt, Sask., received her Bachelor of Arts degree at the Fall convocation of the University of Saskatchewan. She intends to enter the College of Law next September.

Carol Ann's mother is the former Helen Tobin of Lancaster and her father is editor and publisher of the Humboldt Journal.

RE-UNION IN CORNWALL—Two old friends from the Saskatoon of 40 years ago were brought together, Tuesday, in Cornwall by News sports' columnist Angus H. McDonell. Hub Bishop of Regina, visited Angus this week and he had arranged a luncheon re-union at the Cornwallis with Hank O'Day, now resident in Cornwall. Forty years ago O'Day had been one of the top second basemen in Western Canada when Hub Bishop, at left, was sports editor of the Saskatoon Star-Phoenix. Mr. Bishop, a brother of the late Rev. Charles Bishop, was born a bit west of Glengarry but has retained a warm interest in the old county.

Glengarry Memorial Now Full To Capacity With Extra Beds In Use

Glengarry Memorial Hospital, here, has been full to capacity for the past three weeks, reports Administrator Eric Gale. Even the solarium has been conscripted for use, with two beds added there.

The hospital now has a staff of some 77 people of which 23 are full-time nurses and 19 are part time.

The shortage of nurses at Glengarry Memorial has been met by a large number of part-time nurses turning out, explains Mr. Gale and he states hospital officials are most gratified at the response. Refresher courses are carried out on an individual basis and consist of on-the-job training plus instruction in new techniques, drugs and equipment.

The hospital operating room is now in full use and some 25 cases of major surgery have been successfully completed to date, including tonsilectomies, cystoscopies, dilatations and curatages. Doctors McLean and Anderson from Cornwall were here for the majority of these cases, assisted by Dr. A. M. McGillivray. Local doctors, such as Dr. Bourdeau and Dr. Roman have also assisted them and completed many on their own.

There have been almost 1000 accident and out-patient cases handled at the hospital, reports Mr. Gale. During November there were 130 of such cases.

The hospital kitchen is now serving almost 200 meals daily and the entire staff is now geared for capacity use of the hospital facilities.

An attractive new sign, illuminated at night, has been erected some 50 feet from Highway 43 at the entrance to the grounds.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Do Your Shopping At Home

Christmas is only two weeks away and it is already almost too late for early shopping. We suspect most of the gift buying remains to be done in these two weeks and we will suggest that the bulk of it be done in your local stores.

Probably it is true that not everything can be bought locally but most gift items are available here and probably at a cost competitive with those of the big city stores. In these days of brand-name merchandise there are comparably few bargains to be found after a long drive to larger centres. Service and reputation are important parts of smaller-town merchandising. One knows with whom one is dealing and there is the advantage of being able to return the goods and get one's money back for local shoppers who may have second thoughts. That is not always possible when one buys in big city stores.

The most important reason for shopping at home, in our opinion, is that shopping dollars that go out-of-town are totally lost to the local economy. They pay no municipal taxes, support no community activities, meet no local payrolls, help finance no improvements to property.

The Christmas shopping that you do in your local stores helps serve all these purposes. Local merchants invite citizens of the town and surrounding districts to at least drop in and compare the quality and prices of their merchandise before taking your Christmas shopping out of town. You may be pleasantly surprised to find local prices compare with those even of the discount houses. And you will not be required to carry a certified cheque when you shop among friends.

Election Reflection

We found most apropos this afterthought on the recent federal election, culled from The Printed Word:

"If you once forfeit the confidence of your fellow citizens, you can never regain their respect and esteem.

"It is true that you may fool all the people some of the time; you can even fool some of the people all the time; but you can't fool all of the people all the time."

Abraham Lincolm is quoted as uttering those famous lines 100 years ago and they should long since have been made required reading for the party planners of the Liberals and Conservatives in Canada, and their present leaders.

Both Lester B. Pearson and Honest John Diefenbaker have had clearly proved to them in two elections in two years that they have lost the confidence of the Canadian voters. Both parties of which they are the leaders have had it demonstrated by the fact of five federal elections in a matter of eight years.

Mr. Lincoln is revered both for his personality and for his political acumen. It was an assassin's bullet, not a defeat at the polls, that brought an end to his presidential reign in a troubled United States of America. Here was a man who made history, and this one utterance was enough to establish him as someone special in the political sphere. "You can't fool all of the people all of the time," Mr. Lincoln warned a century ago; but our petty politicians of today's stripe keep trying. They seem unable to raise their sights to a plateau where their fellow citizens might again show confidence in them.

Once forfeited, that public confidence can never be regained, Mr. Lincoln declared from his vantage point of the presidency. This is a grim verdict from the standpoint of our two old parties who now are in the wilderness, seeking the road back to public popularity.

If Mr. Lincoln was right there is no road back. Once forfeited, public confidence can never be regained, he thought.

There is a tortuous trail, we believe, which could regain for Canada a two-party system that once worked well. That path is now strewn with party promises which serve much the same purpose as land-mines, keeping our politicians from walking the straight and narrow that leads to good, honest government. This is the role we have elected them for; but they seem fearful of planting their feet on the ground lest those land-mines of election promises trip them up.

We, the people, have shown both the old parties that our confidence in them, as presently organized, is forfeit. The message has gone to Ottawa twice in two years. If it has not penetrated to party headquarters in an age of telecommunication surely the leadership of the Liberal and Conservative parties is so old they should remember Mr. Lincoln's words, and give them thought.

Our politicians of both old parties have forfeited public confidence by too promising an approach to recent elections. Unless our elected measure up we will have to look elsewhere for honest government.

The Bells Of Glengarry

Dr. Edgar Andrew Collard, an editor of the Montreal Gazette, has published another book on the bygone days of his city, notes an editorial in The Ottawa Journal. In "Call Back Yesterdays" (Longman's, $5.95) he reprints a charming account of the Glengarry Scots from Eastern Ontario on their produce-selling expeditions.

The description was written by John Fraser who remembered the Glengarry sleighs arriving in Montreal about 1840. A double sleigh out of, say, Lochiel, would carry 10 or a dozen kegs of butter, a dozen or two small cheeses, a few bags of timothy seed, a few fowl, turkeys, and geese, eight to 10 dressed hogs, and odds and ends such as home-made socks and mitts and perhaps a few hides and furs.

They would make their start about this time in December, each sleigh carrying hay and oats for the horses and a "kist" of bread and other food plus a brown jug with liquid to keep out the cold. The trip of 80 miles to Montreal cost the Glengarrians very little; they had their own food and could sleep well on a hostelry floor wrapped in their buffalo robes and blankets.

The sleighs travelled in squads of 12 or 15 and were a welcome sight to the Montreal people who put high value on the Glengarry produce. Mr. Fraser wrote in 1890:

"The reader of today never heard the merry cling-clong of the loud-sounding, large Glengarry bells of those days. They could be heard fully half a mile distant. Those Glengarry bells were as characteristic of the people as were their own bagpipes."

They were cheerful visits:

"Our Glengarry friends soon found their sleighs empty, and their pockets full of good hard silver. We shall allow them to prepare for their return home, after purchasing such needed articles as they required for their houses and their farms, these being mostly in the hardware line, such as axes, saws, nails, etc. . . ."

Comments the Journal editorial:

Perhaps some son or daughter of Glengarry, some December, will hear above the rush of tires and the growl of motors on the highway, the sound of sleigh bells. And if they do they should not confuse it with red-nosed reindeer. It would be the ghostly music of the hardy pioneers as welcome in Montreal as a modern Santa Claus but whose memory has vanished like the mists of the morning.

County Boards Next Step?

Grey County is making educational history in Ontario by establishing a single board of education which will have jurisdiction over both public elementary and secondary education for several villages and rural municipalities, notes the Dutton Advance.

The plan becomes effective on January 1st, 1966, and evidently has the blessing of the Minister of Education, the Honourable William G. Davis, who said "We believe that under this new system the rural municipalities will be able to provide the kind of education that urban areas have been providing for many years."

Under the new arrangement, three existing high schools will become central public schools. A composite secondary school for approximately 1000 pupils will be erected on a new site to be chosen by the board of education.

Establishment of larger school areas with central buildings is a policy which the Department of Education embarked upon some years ago and which it is pursuing steadily.

While there has been and still is opposition to such centralization, suggests the Advance, there is no denying that it provides rural children with facilities which previously were denied them, but which have long been available to urban youngsters.

FIFTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—

Friday, Dec. 8, 1910

Work on the interior of the new Sacred Heart Church is proceeding apace and it is expected the church will be open to the faithful for the first time at mignight mass on Christmas eve. — There are several cases of smallpox in the village of Moose Creek. — A native Glengarrian, Donald MacMaster, MP, has been returned unopposed as Unionist candidate in Chertsey, England, in the recent elections. — A. K. McDonald, deputy reeve of Kenyon township spent several hours in town on Wednesday. — Those who are fortunate enough to have a limited supply of fresh eggs are shipping them direct to Montreal, receiving in return from 40 to 50 cents per dozen. — M. J. Fitzgerald is in charge of a gang of men in the vicinity of Dornie, getting out logs, etc., for the J. T. Schell Co., of this place.

The Weeklies Say

STUDENT DEMANDS SILLY

Not too many years ago our university students were considered to be the intellectuals of our society. What has happened? Today they are apparently a group of not-too-well adjusted individuals who can be led around blindly by any group or individual who has a grudge against the government or against society in general. They will demonstrate for any thing from free deodorant for Eskimos to free education—and one is about as ridiculous as the other.

—Stanstead (Que.) Journal

LIVING OFF HANDOUTS

If we continue receiving free gifts from the government it will be possible for Canadians to live entirely on government grants. Looking back over the years, it will be noticed that each election more and more give aways are promised. If we keep up this pace, it would be reasonable to suppose that by 1985 a young couple will receive $500 cash for each child born and possibly there will be a winter bonus if one is born during the winter months.

A THOUGHT ON FARM SAFETY
Lawful drivers are survivors

RAMBLING REPORTER

MERITED MERIT

A friend was suggesting just the other day how much better it is to throw bouquets at a guy while he's still able to appreciate them, rather than send flowers to his funeral.

The florists might not appreciate such a thought, and certainly there's something to be said for a casket banked by floral wreaths, and cushions, and such. They are part of the funeral setting, even though the dear deceased has no longer a sense of smell.

This is kind of a morbid introduction to the thought friend Georges Lanthier much deserved that industrial award of merit he received last week from the EODA.

The Lanthier Bakery has been with us since those grim days of depression and we have been eating Lanthier bread for decades without realizing what was eating at Georges Lanthier's vitals. Seems he wanted to make a success of his life's work and he realized that though a lot of people figured half a loaf is better than none he wanted to make more dough than that.

So with the help of a dedicated wife and family, through depression days and into an era when dough comes easier to all of us, the Lanthier Bakery has grown into a local industry which feeds the famished of much of Eastern Ontario and the Quebec fringe.

Georges Lanthier is quick to say that he owes all his success to his industrious employees and his faithful customers. He's the kind of down-to-earth good guy who never took credit, even in the days when he might have desperately needed it.

Georges Lanthier et Fils is a going concern now, and a real asset to our town. This was a well-merited award by the EODA and we hope a lot of our young people will get the message that there's no other key to success to compare with drive, initiative and diligence. There are now 47 trucks on our roads where once he delivered by team.

Georges Lanthier would probably add to those qualities a knack for handling dough.

THEY'VE GOT OUR NUMBER

Big government has us finally hooked. They've got our number up at Ottawa and we can feel the clammy hand of the bureaucrat reaching out to get an even firmer grip on us.

Even next year, it may happen. The cold, mechanical voice of the computer might zero in on us: "No. 429,159,890, your Pension Plan deductions haven't trickled into the Treasury on time. Failure to file your return, with certified cheque, may result in recall of your social

TOMBSTONES

Many years ago I had a book of epitaphs supposedly taken from gravestones in cemeteries in America and England. Some of these were undoubtedly genuine, but others probably fictional. I can remember only a few at the moment but here they are:

"Here beneath this pile of stones
Lies the body of Silas Jones.
His name was Smith,
and never Jones,
But Jones was put to rhyme
with stones."

Jonathan Round
Who was lost at sea
and never was found."

"Here lie I
Hit by a sky-
Rocket in the eye."

"Here lie I and my three daughters
Dead from drinking Cheltenham waters.
If we had stuck to Epsom salts
We wouldn't be lying in these here
vaults."

"Tarry, Stranger, passing by.
Where you are, there once was I.
Where I am, soon you will be.
Don't believe me?
Wait and see!
Be seein' ya!

A.H.S. CHIT-CHAT

(by Nicole Hudon)

Finally we have started our intramural activities. There have been a few changes made in the timetables, as there are now only two lunch hours instead of three. But everything seems to be running very smoothly.

We hope every student will appreciate this, and take part in the sports activities. This program allows the out-of-town students to play an official game with referee, scorer and timer. Some will be even learning the techniques of officiating.

The Friday Nite Club has set the date for our annual Christmas dance. It will be held Dec. 21st, in the school gymnasium, from 9.00 to 1.00, with music provided by the well-known Noblemen. Admission is $1.00 per person and dress is semi-formal. But don't let that scare you, it simply means we want boys to wear suits and ties and girls to wear appropriate dresses. So, boys, hurry up and ask your favorite girl.

This week, Friday, there will be a record hop, everyone welcome. Admission, same as usual, three dimes and a half.

Greenfield Man Won Car Draw

Gerald McDonald of Greenfield, was the lucky winner of a 1965 Mustang V-8 convertible, Saturday night, at the trophy night dinner and dance of Glengarry Golf & Country Club. The event was held in Green Valley Pavilion and attracted some 300 golfers and their friends.

Second prize, a complete set of golfing equipment including clubs, bag and cart, was won by Lloyd Barbara of Montreal. Herman Parsons won the set of clubs given seller of the winning ticket. He had been top salesman in the sale of tickets which proved eminently successful.

Club President Louis Shepherd briefly reviewed a most successful year and could report that the interest on the club debt had been paid and there remained a substantial balance in the bank. A five-gang set of mowers was being purchased for fairways cutting next spring, he informed the gathering.

Ben Kerr, golf pro at the club in in its infant years, was introduced and he had warm praise for the local course and the fine group of members it had attracted.

Ladies' President, Mrs. Herman Parsons, briefly reviewed activities in her group and expressed appreciation for the co-operation and help extended her.

Club Captain Bud Mutchler presented trophies and prizes to the various winners of competitions and dancing followed to the music of Gauthier's Orchestra.

New Chaplain Welcomed

New chaplain of Glengarry Council K of C, Rev. Patrick Breton was welcomed at Monday's meeting of Council.

Fur Trade . . .

to say, any tribe that spent time dancing in canoes was bound to be small in numbers. The Algonquin tribe acted as middlemen for the French as they pushed the fur trade westward. One result of this was that the Indians furthest west wound up with the worn out trade goods, while those closer had the new.

After the French period the trade was taken over by English mercantile concerns, mostly in Montreal. It soon became apparent that these traders comprised mostly Highland Scots, out to make their fortunes in the far west. They realized that they couldn't operate without the French Canadian voyageur. These two races blended together in the North West Co., were soon giving the Honourable Hudson Bay Co. some unwelcome competition. The war was on and it lasted until 1821 when the two firms merged.

Because of Glengarry's proximity to Montreal many of the clerks or Engages were recruited from this area, and accounts for the many Glengarrians who rose to be partners in the concern. We can be sure, partially because of the Fur Trade Conference, hosted very ably by the Minnesota Historical Society, of many visitors from far away. These delegates returned home and will be talking for months to come of this new museum venture. Let's make sure we have something worthwhile to show them.

Mrs. Edward G. Mulcair and son, Michael, of Ottawa, visited on Sunday with her mother, Mrs. M. J. Morris.

Miss Bernice McPherson of Toronto spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard McPherson and family, Apple Hill. She was accompanied by Miss Donna Israelson, the Calgary Stampede Queen for 1965. Donna was en route from a trip to Nassau and the Bahamas, where she spent a few days representing Calgary on a pre-inaugural flight by Air Canada.

Mrs. Edgar Irvine of Ottawa, visited Miss Bess MacDonald last week.

Couple Wed At Cornwall

KELLY—MAJOR

The marriage of Miss Rejeanne Major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Major of Cornwall and Terrence Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kelly of Alexandria, was solemnized at Nativity Church, Cornwall, on November 27th, 1965 at 5 p.m. Rev. Gilles Gratton of Montreal, cousin of the bride, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a floor-length gown of white sculptured velvet styled with chapel train and fitted bodice having a draped neckline and lily-point sleeves. The shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion was attached to a white velvet rose and she carried a bouquet of white 'mums.

The bridal attendants were Mrs. Fred Ledoux, sister of the bride as matron of honor, Patricia Kelly, sister of the groom, bridesmaid, and Ann Ledoux as flower girl.

Hubert Major, Alexandria, was best man and the ushers were Fred Ledoux of Pembroke and Hubert Carriere, Alexandria.

During the evening there was a reception in the Knights of Columbus Hall with Rev. Gilles Gratton as toastmaster.

For a wedding trip to New York State the bride chose a three-piece camel and mohair suit with brown hat, matching snakeskin accessories and orange carnations en corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will reside at Senneterre, Que.

Out of town guests were from London, Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Green Valley and Alexandria.

Christmas Concert Held For Blind

The Christmas season began for the blind people of Glengarry on Wednesday evening, December 1st, when they attended a Christmas party given jointly by the Lions Club and Richelieu Club of Alexandria and the Glengarry County Committee of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

A turkey dinner was served in the cafeteria of the Alexandria High School where the guests were welcomed by D. M. C. Shaw, Chairman of the CNIB Glengarry Committee.

A very entertaining program was organized by Angus R. MacDonell, Secretary of the Committee. Pierre Rouette and Laurent Sicard acted as Masters of Ceremony. R. L. Seguin, treasurer of the CNIB Committee, brought cheques as Christmas gifts to the blind of the county.

Among the artists taking part in the program were Mrs. H. Theoret who sang to her own piano and guitar accompaniment; Bill MacNaughton who played the pipes both solo and for Miss Kathleen Villeneuve who danced the Highland Fling; Richard Lapierre tap danced to the violin playing of Donald MacDougall; Dr. and Mrs. Villeneuve helped lead community singing and Everett Rush of Cornwall and Miss Mary Flaro, formerly of Martintown, but now of Cornwall sang solos.

The guests came from all parts of Glengarry County. Transportation was arranged through the courtesy of friends of the CNIB as well as members of the Committee. It was the third year that the Christmas program has been held and it is proving to be a very popular entertainment.

security number. In that event you will be imperilling the future pension potential of yourself and members of your staff".

We've been reduced to a cipher in the eyes of Ottawa and we're not happy in the prospect. From now on we expect we will be treated even more impersonally by the big government machine, our nose held more firmly to the grindstone, our pockets picked cleaner and our sense of individuality ground between the pincers of those planners of the better world.

Last week's mail brought us our new social insurance number, a cunning little plastic card complete with raised name and numerals and a red maple leaf flag. It looks for all the world like those credit cards so many companies keep trying to get hold of your cash with. That's the government's purpose, too, of course; but this one has much more sinister implications.

This nine-cipher number we've been allotted is going to stick with us for life; and if we live long enough we may even be buried with it. The Pension Plan is only the lever to get all of us comfortably encased in the government computers. This number we are now known by in one department of government is bound to be used for a lot of other bureaucratic purposes in time. We'll be paying our income tax by cipher, drawing our unemployment insurance (perish the thought) our family allowances, the old age pension and probably sick benefits, too.

This socialist thinking would offer us security from cradle to grave and the bookkeeping in Ottawa has grown so complicated the computers must be called in. And so the social insurance number we are now saddled with.

The man who once was hopefully given a name by his parents has now gone through a re-christening he didn't ask for. He is now, in the eyes of Ottawa, Mrs. 429, 159, 890, unrecognizable from millions of other Canadians except by the ingenious eye of a mechanical monster. If those computers ever develop indigestion he'll be so wrapped up in red tape he may never get that promised pension.

We're more than a bit browned off about being beaten into a cipher, but we'll probably learn to knuckle under and let big government prescribe for our future happiness and security.

Prisoners in penitentiaries have had to learn how to lose their identities; and they are rewarded for good behavior. We'd better decide to be good, too. Or does anyone else want to help repel this numbers racket?

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

That was a bonne soirée enjoyed by members of the Glengarry Golf and Country Club and their friends last Saturday night at the 19th Green (Valley Pavilion).

Golf is a unique game. It encompasses those on the pro circuit, those on the fringe of pro scores, and the rank and file from grandparents to the junior beginners. Equally important to the relaxed exercise on the fairways is the social atmosphere that prevails.

A week previous this writer had the privilege of attending one of Canada's premier sports functions—the pre-Grey Cup dinner in the Royal York. On a pro rata basis of attendance, the festive board, program and general convivial spirit, we thought this third annual Golf Club presentation night, in its own way, was just as comparable and big league all the way.

President Louis Shepherd was ably assisted in handling the head table "mike" duties and trophy presentations by Bud Mutchler and Mrs. Herman Parsons.

That was a fine, sportsmanlike guesture by President Louis Shepherd and his gracious wife to be hosts of Ben Kerr for the occasion. Ben Kerr is in the sunset of a distinguished and dedicated golf career. Ben was of immeasurable assistance in launching our club. Last spring the executive had an unenviable decision to make when the point arose of re-engaging Ben for another season. It wasn't a matter of Ben having lost his grasp of the game to which he had devoted his life; it was a matter of economy. The executive ruled that economy slightly outweighed other factors, and although some members might have differed, after all the executive had to make the decision which was an unpleasant one, however, it was prudent.

That all is well that ends well was confirmed when popular Ben stood before the "mike" on Saturday night, thanked his hosts for the opportunity of being present; waved best regards to his legion of friends, and with a slight tinge of emotion, said, "I will always have a lot of pleasant memories of the Glengarry Golf and Country Club".

This sincere remark from one who has brushed shoulders with the top brass of golf in many places from his native Scotland to his final round on our Glengarry Club fairways, was a tribute that will always be cherished by our club.

The president and his assistants throughout the season, as well as Saturday night, can take a bow for their fine efforts as the term closed on a note indicating success, not only in 1966 but in the years to come.

A POPULAR WINNER

"It couldn't happen to a nicer guy". This is a sports' phrase occasionally used by members of the craft that is quite significant, although its grammatical structure is not suitable to the editorial page. It sums up a tribute to an outstanding athlete who is a gentleman in and out of the game, as well as a highly respected citizen.

The writer is referring, obviously, to Gerald MacDonald, winner of the Golf Club car draw last Saturday night. In our books the Greenfield sportsman rates among the all-time great goal keepers of the Glengarry Football League since it was organized in 1923. In addition, Gerald, especially two and three years ago, kept Greenfield at the top of junior hockey by the players he assembled to make up this championship club coached by himself. You can add broomball, and in fact any phase of sport to Gerald's record.

His gentlemanly play on and off the field is equal to his ability in the nets. Most important of all he is known as an exemplary citizen.

As we sat with a group of friends and the winner's name was announced, our thoughts were uttered out loud, "It couldn't happen to a nicer guy".

MAXVILLE HOCKEY

We completed our weekly chores in the Indian Lands last Saturday and drove to the Maxville rink to be briefed on hockey progress. We just missed Mrs. Dr. Mutch and as there were minor hockey players all over the place we thought, "What is a busted knee cap in a game like this."

"Doc" Munro, this year's manager, met us in his usual friendly manner and we were soon in his office where we noted some old time pictures lending a bit of Hockey Hall of Fame setting.

We checked out one picture in particular of the early Golden Twenties. Without help we identified executive members Herb Tracey and Donald John Kippen while among the players were Leonard Urquhart who moved on to Prescott and old friend Benny Villeneuve. By the way Benny had quite a forelock in those days and couldn't part his hair down the middle with the same ease as today.

But let's get back to the players of tomorrow. Doc Munro tells us they have sprites by the dozen. The really small fry have been divided in groups "A" and "B". The next three groups peewees, bantams and midgets are pretty well made up of two teams in each class. Doc feels that a midget team could be iced and would be a reasonably strong contender in a district midget league if such were organized. In any event each group will have a tournament and playdown entry.

Maxville's juvenile squad has been hit by star players moving up especially to Hawkesbury juniors. Among those taking a whirl in this "A" league are Don Benton, Wayne Villeneuve, Brian Leonard and Bernie Morris, the latter from Ourtown.

At this point arena manager "Doc" switched to senior hockey and was of the opinion the Highlanders were good enough for this Eastern Ontario Senior League if they could only put that puck in the net.

Somebody got this message across to the players because the next afternoon Maxville won at home over Ottawa Maroons 7-4. The crowds have been fair and no doubt will increase with a few more similar wins.

HITHER AND YON

Dec. 29th is the tentative date of Maxville's PeeWee tournament . . . Again on a pro-rata basis Ben Kerr received a round of applause when at the "mike" comparable to Bud Grant at Grey Cup dinner . . . At one point about center of dance floor Gillie Gormley exchanged greetings with Jim Weir and this prompted someone to say "I wonder what crossroads in Italy those two vets are recalling".

That was quite an even pipe smoking duel at the head table between Ben Kerr and the Rambling Reporter . . . that is until Marty Emberg stoked his briar bowl and whipped out that World War Two flame thrower he uses for a lighter . . . from here on it was simply no contest.

Memo to chefs and hostesses planning special yuletide dinners . . . should you be serving oysters on the half shell see Andy Comeau as Ourtown's bond coupon clipper highly rates as oyster samplers Eric Gale and Roger Roy.

And now we close out as we begin a tour of the Glens and Stormont with Saskatchewan's sport ambassador "Hub" Bishop . . . first point of call is the Cornwallis for luncheon with Hank O'Day, now Sylvester MacDonald's sales manager and one-time top second baseman in Western Canada's pro league with Moose Jaw.

MOOSE CREEK

Larry Walton of the Teachers College, Ottawa, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chris. Walton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay Baker and family of Shawville, Que., spent the weekend with Miss Tena McLennan.

John A. McLean of Montreal, was with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex McLean during the weekend.
