FRIENDS REGRET DEATH OF MRS. RUTH WELLS

Many friends in Morrisburg and throughout the area learned with sincere regret of the death of a former long-time resident of the village, Mrs. L. D. (Ruth) Wells, which occurred suddenly on Friday, December 1st.

Mrs. Wells was born in Quebec's Eastern Township area and received her early education there. She married Luther D. Wells and later the couple moved to Morrisburg, where Mr. Wells conducted a successful monument business. At the time of the seaway construction, they moved their business to the Ingleside area, where they conducted it until a few years ago, when Mr. Well's failing health forced him to retire and dispose of the business. Mrs. Wells had continued to reside at Ingleside, and had made many friends in her new location who also regret her sudden death.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Lee of Cowansville Que.; two sons: Lee of Sundre, Alta. and Lawrence of Cornwall; two daughters, Mrs. Donald Ellenwood (Lorraine) of Pierrefonds, Que., and Gale of Welland, Ontario.

Funeral service was held Tuesday, December 5th at McArthur Bros. and MacNeil Funeral Home Cornwall ,at 11 a.m. with interment following in St. Lawrence Valley Union Cemtery.

Her husband predeceased her a few years ago.

Also surviving are two sisters and four brothers.

Pall bearers were Lee Ouderkirk, Larry Wells, Lee Wells, Don Ellenwood, Byron Lee and Guy Lee.

Achievement Day For 4-H Club

Achievement Day for Dundas West 4-H Homemaking Club members marked the completion of the fall project, "The Cereal Shelf", by eighty-one girls. The program was held in Nationview Public School at South Mountain on Saturday, December 2, 1972. Parents and friends attended the afternoon program, to see the members try teaching through exhibits and demonstrations. Those presenting exhibits for their clubs were: Evelyn Winter, Hallville No. 1, on "Cereal Snacks"; Louise Simms, South Mountain No. 2, on "Make It With Pasta"; Barbara Milne, Mountain No. 2, on "Featuring Corn"; Marnie Smith, Hallville No. 2, on "Cereal Desserts"; and Bernadette Smail, of Matilda No. 2, on "Three Ways With Rice".

Four clubs gave demonstrations to illustrate topics discussed during the project. South Mountain No. 1 Club's topic was "Mixing Muffins", while Mountain No. 3 Club presented "Three Ways With Oatmeal". Matilda No. 1 Club demonstrated "Three Ways With Macaroni", and Mountain No. 1 Club worked with "Our Daily Bread".

An interesting report on the '72 Girls' Conference was given by Mary McInnis, Matilda No. 1 Club Mary joined 200 other Ontario 4-H Homemaking Club members for a three-day conference in June at the University of Guelph. Other Dundas County delegates were Cheryl Godard, Morewood Club, and Annie Van Adrichem, South Mountain No. 1, Club.

Provincial Honours awards were earned by Beverley Koekkoek, Hallville No. 1; Barbara Milne, Mountain No. 2; Donna Casselman, of Mountain No. 3; Norma Johnstone, Mountain No. 3; Betty Bongers, South Mountain No. 1. Mrs. Alfred Carkner, President of Dundas District Women's Institutes assisted Home Economist, Miss Lorraine.

Visiting Home Economist, Mrs. Susan Humphries, Renfrew County, assisted during the day.

All girls between the ages of 12 and 26 years, as of March 1, 1973, are invited to join the Spring project, "The Jacket Dress". Each junior member will make a dress, while senior members will make a dress with a co-ordinating jacket or vest. The course also includes a study of synthetic fibres and knit fabrics.

FLOOD CONDITIONS IN AREA UNDER STUDY

Residents affected by flood waters of the Nation and South Branch rivers met at Brinston Memorial Hall last week seeking some solution to the drainage problem.

This was an unusual year and the area was ravished by the over-flow, not only during the spring run-off but several times during the summer and even late autumn.

Walter Baker, newly elected Grenville-Carleton M. P., representatives from neighbouring municipalities, and also a representation from the South Nation River Authority were present for the important meeting.

Those present expressed the hope that some control plan could be worked out and that, in addition, financial assistance might be made available.

Area men appointed were: Lorne Strader, Douglas Irvine, Jerry Belanger, Norman Tinkler, Donald Buma, Rae Guy, Graham Hess and Irvine Adams.

DECEMBER MEETING OF WILLIAMSBURG COUNCIL

The regular meeting of the municipal council of the Township of Williamsburg was held on Saturday last in the IOOF hall at Williamsburg Ontario with all members present.

The Township clerk was instructed to request the Engineer to examine and report on the improvement of the Chas. M. Whitteker municipal drain.

A by-law was passed under the Tile Drainage Act for the purpose of issuing debentures in the amount of $4,0..

The Engineer's report on the improvement of the Allison Drain was read by the clerk and adopted with a few minor changes. A by-Law was passed to authorize the Township entering into an agreement with the Ontario Hydro in connection with street lighting in certain areas of the Township.

The clerk reported that Mr. Irvine M.P.P. would be setting up a meeting with the Minister of Transportation and Communications in Toronto within the next two weeks to discuss a possible increase in the Townships 1973 road appropriation.

The meeting did then adjourn.

Important Visitor Coming to Town

Announcement was made this week of the forthcoming early visit to Morrisburg of a distinguished visitor from the northern part of the country, Mr. S. Claus.

Mr. Claus will be in Morrisburg on Saturday, December 16th. A reception will be held at 2:00 p.m. at the Public School Auditorium for children of all ages to meet this remarkable gentleman, and treats will be given to cildren under 12 years of age. Entertainment will be by Del and Rog. and cartoons will be shown.

Mr. Claus annually travels this area on the eve of December 25. However, through the combined efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club and the Fire Department, arrangements have been made for this visit.

When interviewed by telephone at his home at the North Pole, Mr. Claus stated that he was very busy with his assistants, preparing for his round-the-world trip on December 25th. But with his usual efficiency, everything was prepared to the point that he felt he could squeeze in this extra visit to Morrisburg.

He is looking forward to meeting all his young friends here on Saturday, December 16th.

O.P.P. Urge Care With Snowmobiles

The area's first major snow fall of the season has already brought out many snowmobile enthusiasts and the first two accidents involving snow vehicles. Many of the persons operating nowmobiles this year are doing so for the first time and could possibly get themselves in difficulty if they are unsure of the laws or their machines.

Last winter, 116 people were killed in Canada as a result of snowmobile accidents. Over half of the fatal snowmobile accidents involved collision with other motor vehicles and other snowmobiles, while 15 percent were the result of breaking through the ice or lakes and rivers or running into open stretches of water.

The following rules may be of assistance to those people who are operating machines for the first time as well as serving as a reminder to those persons who have operated machines previously

The owner of a motorized snow vehicle shall register it with the Department before driving it or permitting it to be driven.

Every motorized snow vehicle while being driven shall have attached to and exposed on the front thereof, a number plate or license, furnished by the Department. No person shall operate a motorized snow vehicle on a High way unless he holds an operators or chauffeur's licence.

Every person in charge of a motorized snow vehicle who is involved in an accident shall, if the collison results in injury to any person or in damage to property of any person, other than the owner or driver, apparently exceeding $200.00. Report the collison forthwith to the nearest police officer.

Motorized snow vehicles were not designed to be driven on the highway. The Motorized Snow Vehicle Act states that, "The driver of a motorized snow vehicle may operate the motorized snow vehicle on the King's Highway except the roadway (pavement or travelled portion of the road) provided that he operates such vehicle as far away from the roadway as is practicable under the circumstances."

Since motorized snow vehicles do make a certain amount of noise respect the rights of others by not travelling around built up areas late at night. If the throttle sticks in an opened position, push the "kill button" or turn off the key. A little common sense and know how will assist you in enjoying this newest of winter sports.

YOURS SINCERELY

BY MRS. WELLWOOD ADAM

I found myself thinking back this week, of the first few years my husband and I were privileged to serve in Alberta, just prior to coming to S.E. Ontario. Albertans represent a tremendous potential of a varied racial and cultural heritage, and I suppose we have the same in Ontario.

Yet, I found it was quite interesting to live out there, and especially because we never seemed to be reminded of the so-called benefits of bi-lingualism and biculturalism as is suggested in Ontario. I often wonder why this is! The Albertans are really getting somewhere, pleasurably, in their multi-coloured fabric of diversity in this racial and cultural heritage of theirs, and I am enclined to envy them. Maybe they have learned the secret of living peaceably together, no matter what nationality, race or creed into which each one has been born.

Shortly after we arrived in our new home in northern Alberta, I heard that another 13,000 immigrants had arrived in the happy province, and that they represented 38 countries! And they still represent these countries (one hears a variety of languages and lialects spoken all around) making an effort with the common language and very definitely endeavouring to become good Canadians and contributing to Alberta's richness and greatness in a variety of ways also to Canada as a whole. This is as it should be, and it is an example to the rest of the Dominion, indeed.

I mght say here, that although I have done a good deal of travelling overseas, and been to and fro across Canada etc, I have also been around the world without leaving Alberta!

It has been really thrilling to hear Ukranian choirs, and watch Ukranian dancing at their weddings, and sampled their cooking. The same with Russian and Palish families; and I have been permitted to join in the happinesses as well as the deep sorrow of a fine Jewish family out there, still in the N.E. Alberta. Visiting them at Passover, I enjoyed some of their wonderful Passover cooking as well.

The quiet and meaningful courtesy of the Chinese people, and I have watched their children grow from babyhood, then young junior students to thoughtful and clever university scholars entering the faculties of medicine, law etc., and this impressed me very much, always. I remember meeting smiling and gentle Japanese girls when in the south, in Lethbridge, and recollect with pleasure crossing trails with two German women, one a clever writer (I have an autographed copy of her latest book at that time) and the other was a widow of a German diplomat (he met his death tragically during World War 2) and she was just a nurses' aide, doing a good job of it, in Banff, among her beloved mountains, so like home! The new Dutch immigrants, so hard-working out there, as everywhere else . . . I have wonderful memories of a fine Dutch doctor and surgeon, said to be my double We were so often mistaken for eachother, we laughed a lot over it, and only our accents gave us away. I have often rejoiced that a young Negro woman in Sunnyside, not far from Calgary (I met her mother, a beautiful singer and also her brother, while we lived in the Turner Valley manse, in the foot-hills of the mighty Rockies) . . . and she was the first woman of her race to be admitted to the Bar of Alberta, certainly the first in all Canada, I believe. She became a clever lawyer in the Federal government, by the way.

I could go on and on, but space forbids. It has been proved that one can only make a real home from one's own home away overseas or anywhere else if we are allowed to settle down peaceably among a multi-lingualism and multi culturalism society in the larger provincial way, and as a result, still be able to add to Canada's greatness, as they do in the West.

I suppose it is all an attitude of mind and heart, isn't it? "Love ye one another . . . Be ye kind one towards another . . ." said the Almighty One, so long ago. To follow it out, only means to offer the right hand of fellowship and understanding to those needing it.

Health For All

Charcoal and Carbon Monoxide

Glowing charcoal fires take the chill off the cool night air. But inside closed spaces, char c o a l fires in grills and hibachis can cause poisoning. Even fatal poisoning.

After cookouts, campers and hunters sometimes take makeshift burners inside station wagons and vans to warm up sleeping quarters. The still-burning coals, however, can give off a deadly concentration of carbon monoxide. The gas is a silent, unseen poison formed by the incomplete combustion of the carbon in charcoal.

In outdoor cookouts, the gas escapes into the open air. And fumes from indoor cooking on these burners usually force everyone to open windows fast. But in tightly closed places, levels of the gas soar. High concentrations of it starve the body tissues of oxygen.

The red-colored blood pigment, hemoglobin, acts like a gigantic sponge, soaking up carbon monoxide breathed through the lungs. Hemoglobin, which carries oxygen to the tissues, combines with carbon monoxide about 200 times easier than with oxygen. The brain and heart both depend upon a continuous supply of oxygen; but carbon monoxide forces oxygen out of the blood.

At high altitudes, where the air is thinner, the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning is even greater. There is less oxygen in the air to begin with, and the body has to work harder to draw it in. And to make matters worse, starting at about 3,000 feet above sea level the lack of oxygen makes the char coal less likely to burn completely, thus producing more carbon monoxide.

CARE SEEKS DONATIONS FOR MEDICO FUND

"My first impression of Susan Wright was that a good gust of wind would carry her away. Turns out that this sweet, frail-looking girl is as hard as nails and as brave as anyone I've ever met." That is the report of a CARE/MEDICO field officer on how a Montreal nurse, who insisted on a tough posting when she volunteered for CARE service, handled an emergency situation in the semi-wilderness of Nueva Guinea, Nicaragua.

"Last Friday night Susan delivered twin infants weighing three-and-a-half pounds each. The local doctor and nurse were 280 kilometers (175 miles) away in Managua. When she was satisfied that the 15-year-old mother, an agrarian colonist, was well and comfortable, Susan was able to devote her full attention to the infants. Throughout the night she applied warm towels but she realized their only hope for survival lay in evacuating them to the well equipped hospital in Managua.

Due to continuous rains, the road had been impassible for 60 days. Then, through a stroke of luck or divine providence, a cargo plane of the Nicaraguan Air Force landed on the local cow pasture airstrip to deliver food supplies. By Saturday afternoon Susan was at the door of Managua's General Hospital with her precious bundles."

On two previous occasions since August, the report adds, Susan had taken patients to Managua by road, bringing back medical and food supplies. In each case, because of rain-swollen rives, Susan had had to hike the last 20 miles to her outpost station.

"When this frail-looking girl arrived," the field officer says, "I wondered if she'd survive the first six weeks but she is one of the bravest, and as tough as nails."

At the present time, Susan Wright is one of 16 Canadian doctors and nurses serving with CARE/MEDICO in Afghanistan, Dominican Republic, Honduras, Indonesia, Jordan and Nicaragua. Pay, on a two-year contract, is about 20 per cent of the Canadian level — for example, $400 a month for a fully-qualified physician.

The Canadian team at Solo, Indonesia, needs to add two registered nurses — one immediately, the other next August. In addition, eight nurses will be needed on two year contracts within the next few months. Enquiries can be made to CARE, 63 Sparks Street, Ottawa K1P 5A6.

In the past year, Canadians provided $1,600,000 in support of CARE. In addition to the medical program, the funds were spent on CARE's food program through which 26,000,000 people (mostly children) received daily lunches, and on education, self-help projects and disaster relief.

CARE is currently seeking donations for MEDICO and its other programs for 1973. Contributions may be sent to CARE, 63 Sparks Dept. 4. Ottawa K1P 5A6.

SMITH — In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Howard Smith who passed away December 14th, 1968.
Past her suffering, past her pain,
Cease to weep for tears are vain,
She who suffered is at rest,
Gone to Heaven with the blest.
—Ever remembered by
HUSBAND and FAMILY.

REID — In loving memory of our mother, Florence Reid, who passed away Dec. 7, 1969.
It I had all the world to give,
I'd give it. yes and more,
To hear her voice and see her smile,
And greet her at the door.
But all I can do, dear mother,
Is go and tend your grave,
And leave behind tokens of love
To the best mother God ever made.
I like to think when life is done,
Wherever Heaven may be,
She'll be standing at the door
Up there to welcome me.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by daughter, Doreen, son-in-law Harry and son Jack.

REID — In loving memory of my dear wife, Florence Reid, who passed away December 7, 1969.
God looked around His garden,
And found an empty place.
He then looked down upon His earth
And saw her tired face;
He put His arms around her,
And lifted her to rest,
God's garden must be beautiful
For He only takes the best.
—Lovingly remembered by husband, Percy.

REID — In loving memory of my grandmother, Florence Reid, who passed away Dec. 7, 1969.
We miss you Nan, I think you know
That our lives shall never regain
The peril that we had to bear
When God called out your name.
He relieve you of that awful pain
Put a smile upon your face
Gave you a ticket to Heaven
Then you left the human race.
But when you left, you took much love
Yet in our hearts shall stay
The remembrance that we have of you,
The twinkle in our day.
—Sadly remembered by granddaughter, Brenda.

DECEMBER 10TH IS BIBLE SUNDAY

"The lamps are going out all over Europe." That comment by Lord Grey in 1914 was a sadly true analysis of the bleak political picture as the nations of Europe poised on the brink of a bloody war.

An observer of today's international scene might be equally pessimistic. The hopes of man — some of which gleamed brightly for a time — seem to be in eclipse.

Technology, once hailed as a way of life that would lift the underprivileged and deprived to unprecedented prosperity, has suddenly become a villain and is blamed for a spreading pollution that threatens mankind. That light is flickering.

Education was to be aother saviour. Men and nations sacrificed to provide the very best in educational facilities. The focal point of unrest and violence has frequently been in universities — often accompanied by the destruction of those vaunted facilities. No longer is education alone regarded as the lighted way to the better life.

International cooperation — symbolized in the splendid hopes surrounding the formation of the United Nations — was supposed to bring a message of harmony and peace unknown in man's history. Despite the accomplishments of the organization, newspapers and the media generally abound in accounts of hot wars and cold wars —and undeclared wars.

Before joining the prophets of doom, however, one should look further. And through all the change and flux, one light still shines brightly — and claims the attention of more people than ever.

The Bible today enjoys a wider readership than ever before. Young people boldly claim their acceptance of its teaching and point the finger in the familiar "One way!" sign telling all that there is only one way to God and to real life.

They would concur with the psalmist whose testimony hundreds of years ago was: "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."

That light shines as brightly as ever.

Bible Sunday this year — December 10th — reminds all of us of that light which has never failed.

Canadians have shared in the increased interest in the Bible. Last year, through the Canadian Bible Society, they contributed nearly $700,000 to Scripture distribution outside of Canada — or $14,000 each week of the year!

And, in Canada, a heightened interest in the Word of God is reflected in the record number of Scriptures and Scripture portions which the Society distributed. That total topped the two million mark for the first time.

In the meantime the Bible Society popular paperback translation, Good News For Modern Man, continues as a publication miracle Now it is firmly entrenched as the best-selling paperback of all time.

The light shines.

And maybe more lights would shine if each of us availed ourselves of those dust-covered Bibles which lie on the shelves of our homes. Or maybe we could turn to one of the newer translations and discover there old truths in new garb.

Bible Sunday directs our attention to that abiding light.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

BY DON IRVINE
M.P.P. for Grenville - Dundas

Largely because of the pressure of events I have been unable to prepare my regular column for some weeks, but I hope to be able to report to you on the activities at Queen's Park on a regular basis.

I was personally very pleased to be appointed by the Premier as a Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs. I feel that this appointment will be most helpful in enabling me to forcefully advance the views of the people of Ontario and in particular the residents of Grenville-Dundas. I look forward to the many challenges which lie ahead. As you know, this Ministry is responsible for the Design for Development programme which plans the restructuring of municipal government throughout the province. The purpose of our regional government planning is to give municipalities the broad base necessary to permit them to provide those services which our citizens want and need in the years ahead. At the same time we must ensure that government at the local level remains responsive and available to the people as it has in the past. It can't get too big or too remote.

The Minister has assigned to me the responsibility for the Design for Development programme for all the province east of Metro Toronto. This includes the Port Hope Cobourg designated growth area where plans for development are progressing at a rapid rate. I have been and will be having many discussions and meetings with councils, planning boards, committees of adjustment and land division committees throughout my area of jurisdiction. Our approach is to provide suggestions and invite comments and ideas from the municipalities. We want them to tell us what they want for their area. After we have carefully considered the recommendations received from the municipalities and individuals in Eastern Ontario, the Government will bring forth, as soon as possible, a propoal for the overall development of the Eastern Ontario Planning Region.

It looks like an exciting time ahead and I am particularly pleased to be associated with this Ministry.

Opening of the Legislature

The second session of the twenty-ninth parliament resumed sittings on Tuesday, November 21st after being adjourned June 30th.

At the adjournment, several important bills had received first reading so that they could be examined by all the members and interested citizens and groups.—Their comments and suggestions will assist government in bringing in the final form of the legislation.

Ontario Hydro

Just before the session began the long-awaited first report of Task Force Hydro was released. The purpose of this study (of which more reports are to come) is to assess the capacity and demand for energy in the decades ahead.

Among its highlights the reports recommend:

—Ontario Hydro become a Crown Corporation in order to provide efficient organizational structure,

—the emphasis in future should be on satisfying demand at "lowest feasible cost" rather than satisfying demand wherever it occurs,

—in future citizen groups will be invited to assist Hydro in adjusting to environmental considerations.

Ministry of Health

On Tuesday the Minister of Health tabled the Report of the Dental Technologist Advisory Committee. A bill to provide for training and licensing of Dental Technologists was given first reading in the spring and is expected to be debated hortly. This whole subject has worried dentists who fear that under-trained persons may do irreparable damage to patients The Report recommends amendments to the legislation which should provide the necessary safeguards.

St. Lawrence Parks Commission

As a result of the expressed desire of Vice-Chairman Alan Farlinger of Morrisburg and Mr. Lee McKnight of Prescott to retire from the St. Lawrence Parks Commission at the end of this season after many years of most valuable service, it is my pleasure to announce the appointment by the Honourable Leo Bernier, Minister of Natural Resources of Mr. Sam Ault of Morrisburg as Vice-Chairman and Mr. Jack Saunders of Prescott as a member of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission to fill the vacancies.

OPP REPORT

MOTORISTS

Here's a winter driving reminder. It is required by law to have clear driving visibility — front, sides and rear — whenever the it is illegal to drive with windows vehicle is in operation. This means steamed up, frosted over, or covered with snow. Weather conditions may make this difficult at times, but remember . . . you can't avoid an accident if you can't see the hazard.

Another timely tip is to have your exhaust system checked over. When driving, keep a window partially open to prevent drowsiness from deadly carbon monoxide fumes. If you find yourself getting drowsy, stop your vehicle, get out and walk in the fresh air. This would prevent your being involved in a serious accident or overcome by fumes.

ADELAIDE DANIELS SAYS

ARE YOU REALLY LIVING?

Overweight is as much a symptom of malnutrition as underweight. Just as soon as the missing food values are supplied, the water and fat generally roll off.

Of course, a happy life is a positive one, so negative thinking will never help to stimulate or replace any burdensome weight. With a new mental outlook you will soon replace all discouraging thoughts about dieting and replace them with helpful ones.

I've known many women who have stated "I'll never get married or attract a man — I'm too fat!". Think instead: Dieting is trimming my figure, sharpening my wits and brightening my mind.

Taking off those unwanted pounds offers you more health and beauty and youthfulness. Your activity will increase fifty to one hundred percent.

You'll find your food bills less so will have money at the end of the month to spend on more fashionable clothes for your trimmer figure at the end of the month sales.

As you lose those unwanted pounds you'll feel more like doing and participating in more outside activities. At less weight, even a casual walk becomes more pleasurable and exhilarating, and when the local bowling or curling team needs a replacement, you'll be only too happy to join — you'll feel like exercising.

Have you ever watched a slender person over a period of time select food? Invariably, they will select low-calorie, starch-free foods. They just naturally prefer the "slenderizing" foods, or have cultivated an appetite for them. At the end of the day they have eaten a tremendous amount of vitamins, minerals, proteins, but fewer calories than the average overweight.

Treat your appetite like a small child and train it. Revitalize your life, lose those unwanted pounds and gain that extra energy for really living.

Your questions are invited.

NFB STAR AGES 60 YEARS FOR ROLE.

After three hours of make-up magic, film star Jackie Burroughs has aged by over 60 years. Miss Burroughs, whose career pans films, stage and television in both Canada and the United States, is presently in Montreal, where she is playing the lead in a new musical comedy by the National Film Board. The film, being directed by Mort Ransen, also stars 21-year-old David Balser in his first screen role.

The film concerns an elderly lady who escapes from a home for the aged to find a new life among young people.

Make-up artis Julio Piedra who is originally from Argentina has studied make-up design in New York, Paris, London, Rome and Montreal. This is the fourth NFB feature for Piedra who also works in television and the theatre.

The 2nd FORTY

Who's to Blame?
Dear Margaret Brookfield:

In your column and elsewhere, middle-aged women have been blamed for emotional disturbances, sexual problems, family finances and religious and political difficulties. And all the problems of their children have been traced back to their prenatal care. Why doesn't someone write a column, like yours, which asks, "Have you a problem as a middle aged man or with one?" I think that men are at least 50 percent to blame for all of the aforementioned problems F.F.

Dear F.F.:

You may be right. But perhaps it isn't men or women alone, but the chemistry between them that's responsible. This chemistry can produce its share of positive things, however, as well as negative ones. If any of our readers have their own ideas on the subject, they should certainly send them along. Their letters might be interesting for others to read.

Family Finances
Dear Margaret Brookfield:

My husband and I are both 58 and have been married for 19 years. (I'm his third wife and we both have grown children from previous marriages.) For the first 12 years, we were very happy; then things seemed to be happening. My husband got to the point where he demanded everything of me, but said he wouldn't be responsible in return. He wouldn't pay my doctor bills for a while, although he's paying them now. Then about four years ago, he said he wouldn't bury me if I died. He said the country would have to do that. Also he keeps a checking account in his own name only. I can't touch it and it isn't a small account. He's been aying for the last year that it's his only, that none of that account is mine. I had a job until the last year and a half, and when I was working, my money went into that checking account too. At the time I tried to pass off the idea that my name wasn't on it, but I think about it sometimes now. Am I being a sucker? Don't tell me to see a lawyer because I haven't any money of my own and my husband would never pay the bill. Except for two cars, we don't own a home or anything. But we don't have any debts either. Maybe all I need is advice on how to cope with my marriage. E.L.

Dear E.L.:

You might have done better if you'd tackled the problems of handling the family finances earlier in your marriage. Many women who work either insist on a joint account, or perhaps have a bank account in their own name. (It gives them a sense of independence.) But that's water under the bridge. Perhaps you'd do best by not dicussing and arguing about such matters with your husband. He is legally and financially responsible for you, regardless of what he says.

TODAY'S CHILD

BY HELEN ALLEN

THE TORONTO SUN SYNDICATE

With his happy smile, Randy doesn't look like a little boy with a problem. But five-year-old Randy has cerebral palsy (loss of muscle control) which handicaps him to some extent.

Only Randy's right side is affected. He has near-normal use of the leg, being able to walk, run and climb. Though the use of his right hand is restricted, it is improving steadily.

Randy has had physiotherapy for a year and now does exercises in his foster home. He is expected to improve still further as he continues the exercises.

Tall for his age, this lad is Anglo-Saxon in descent. He has light brown hair, blue eyes and fair skin.

In his early life Randy's potential was underestimated and he was registered in a special nursery school for retarded children. On his first day all the staff and the school psychologist decided he did not belong there so he was transferred to a regular nursery school. He is now in kindergarten, which he loves.

Randy is a lively boy who makes no concession to his handicap in his choice of activities. He likes to be on the go and wants to do whatever other children are doing. Ingeniously designed games help his handicapped areas.

Cheerful and co-operative, Randy tries hard to please.

Randy needs loving parents who will provide him with stimulation, understanding and the encouragement to surmount his handicap. It will be good if he can have older brothers and sisters to take an interest in him and for him to imitate.

To inquire about adopting Randy, please write to Today's Child, Box 888, Station K, Toronto. For general adoption information, please contact your local Children's Aid Society.

More Precious Than Diamonds

Nearly everybody has heard the famous song "Diamonds are a girl's best friend." This may be true, but there are also a few other things that are a girl's best friend — everybody's best friend as well.

No matter how valuable diamonds may be, "A diamond is not as precious as a tooth," said Cervantes, author of "Don Quixote." This applies especially to the six-year molars, the most important teeth of all.

Called the six-year molars, they appear when a child is about six years old, these teeth are the first permanent teeth to erupt. They do not replace any baby teeth, and are entirely separate. They should not, as too often happens, be mistaken for late baby teeth and be neglected.

The loss through neglect of any of the four six-year molars, at any are, but especially from six to fifteen will produce disastrous breakdown of nature's plans.

Nature has arranged for the eruption of the six-year molars at about the time the temporary teeth are to be shed. Before the shedding, nature prepares the way for alignment of the other permanent teeth, by using these new molars as guideposts.

The six - year molars are the keystone of the dental arch, the welcoming committee for the other permanent teeth. For the welfare of all the permanent teeth, it is wise to take special care of these six-year molars, which are really as precious as diamonds and should be treated accordingly.

Weekly Report

"Well, I don't think we have to worry about machines taking over," said a forest technician who had just finished a short review course for scalers at the Larose Forest Headquarters.

"You can't get a computer to walk around the forest measuring logs," he chuckled.

Maybe not, but one computer—IBM 360-65 in a government building in Toronto somewhere — is making hundreds of Ministry of Natural Resources scalers go back to school, even if it's just for one day.

Everyone wants to keep 460-65 happy about the information it's getting. Take your average human machine. Ver-ry unreliable unit at times. There he is, clipboard and tally sheets in one hand, pencil in the other in front of a pile of freshly-cut logs in the bush. Maybe it's four below and he's shivering, maybe a mosquito sinks in just as he's about to write a zero which ends up looking like a figure six. Back in the office he might forget to write in the code number for his district in the district code box. Tiny mistakes that are very infrequent and are always caught, but which may cost a minute's delay when one of the four keypunch girls in Toronto converts the information on the new special scaling tally cards to a computer card. 360-65 doesn't like delays. That's why scalers like the 16 who attended the Larose Forest review course are double checking the proper way to make out the new tally sheets.

Computers aren't taking over, but they are changing the complexion of many government jobs, including some in the Ministry of Natural Resources. The Ministry manages hundreds of thousands of acres of Crown Land and country and township forest land across Ontario. When it's time to thin stands or harvest mature trees, local companies bid on contracts and begin the cutting operation. The volume of timber that piles up on the skidways has to be measured before being shipped to the mills — and that is the job of the scalers. Some companies have their own scalers and the Ministry scalers double check so neither the company nor the taxpayer loses. In the timber business scaling is a crucially important job, especially when the margin of error must be low and like last year, approximately 400 million cubic feet of timber for primary use by industry is involved.

No one, especially scalers, really scoff at computers. With simpler tally heets to complete and less arithmetic and writing to be done, everyone's happier. Tally sheets pour into Toronto from all over the province and 360-65 does all the addition, estimating and calculating with all the required variations in a flash. Before, harried scalers far too busy to keep a running count on each company's volume, had to spend a month including many weekends preparing figures and invoices at the end of the fiscal year. Now volumes, are calculated and invoices sent out monthly from Toronto to each compbany. Overtime is kept to a minimum and scalers are freed for other Ministry jobs. And the computer doesn't make mistakes. Every twist and variation of measuring any species of log volume has been built into its scaling program, plus safeguards to double check.

Everything is speeded up. Some timber companies are processing logs the same day they are cut in the forest. Also with monthly invoices the government collects almost immediately and avoids losing the interest on money it once had to wait for because of a slower system. With a large part of the pulpwood harvest measured by weight now at weigh scales where company and Ministry scalers are on duty, the timber industry is moving faster and more efficiently.
