A group of the new guides and brownies had a part in the parade for the first time and also entered a float. An innovation this year, la cave a vin at Alexandria Pizzeria proved a popular feature. Monks strongly resembling members of the Richelieu Club are seen serving a table of visitors from Casselman. At far right, Major Touchette is seen welcoming the Carnival crowd before presenting the key to the city to Queen Patricia Filiatrault, flanked by her princesses, Jeannette Lajoie and Madeleine Lalonde. —Photo by Robert

Graced By Good Weather Winter Carnival Was Best Yet Richelieu Club Organizers Say

Alexandria's winter carnival went off without a hitch and was the most successful yet, reports Gaetan Giroux, general chairman of the sponsoring Richelieu Club's carnival committee. The weather was a bit on the cool side but clear for Saturday's parade and it was almost ideal for Sunday's snowmobile rally on the lake.

An innovation this year, la cave a vin proved a popular feature drawing almost constant crowds through three nights of the carnival. Bands from Valleyfield and Hawkesbury joined our own Hawkesbury in adding color and sound to Saturday's parade which attracted a large gallery. Bonhomme Carnaval was there to delight the kiddies while prominent in the parade were Queen Patricia, her princesses and the other four cute contestants for the crown.

At the Mill Square following the parade Mayor J. P. Touchette welcomed all to the carnival and presented the key to the city and a souvenir plaque to the queen. The bazaar which was to have followed on the Square was moved to Alexander Hall because of the cold.

Las Vegas night at the Hall had attracted a large attendance Friday and the two dances on Saturday night also proved enjoyable successes.

Particularly pleased must have been Jean-Guy Ravary of Ste Anne de Prescott who was winner of the $1,000 bill drawn for at the Bonnie Glen.

Higher temperatures Sunday provided an ideal day for snowmobilers on the lake and there was a large turnout of machines most of their drivers out for a pleasure spin. Winners of the cross country race were Marcel Lalonde, for machines under 340cc and Marc Lalonde for the higher-powered sleds. Winners of the treasure hunt were Denis Polier and Jean-Guy Chénier.

The closing event at Sacred Heart Hall was another big success with more than 500 sitting down to the carnival supper.

Up at the high school it was hectic as pupils and teachers tied in their carnival with the one downtown.

There were peanut races, paper races, bed races in the snow, a pie throwing contest, snowmobile races, a penny arcade and a free dance in the afternoon to the music of Merge. Teacher John MacDonell won the beard growing contest with a student, Paul Prieur, as runner-up.

Jacques Touchette won the "beauty" contest, with teachers Jean Yves Jeaurond and Oscar Cashion as runners-up.

Grade 11 won the popsicle stick-a-thon by erecting the highest tower in a given time.

On the hockey ice teachers and grads tied at 1-1. Teachers beat the senior basketball team by a slim 48-44 margin and the girls beat the teachers by 2-0 in a broomball battle.

It all added up to a lot of fun.

Control For Dogs!

Police and town councillors have been receiving a lot of complaints regarding dogs at large and action is to be taken.

Dog Catcher Alfred Taillefer is being given an extra hand in rounding up all dogs running at large. They will be impounded and the owners will pay the costs.

If that doesn't work Acting Police Chief Leo Lemieux informs us charges will be laid against owners or harborers.

Some Latecomers For Plates Yesterday

A heavy demand for car plates kept things hectic at the local issuer's office this week but extra help prevented applicants from too long a wait in the line-ups. Tuesday was the deadline for 1972 plates but there were quite a few latecomers yesterday and the office stayed open to accommodate them.

More than 3,000 sets of plates have been sold to date, comparable with last year's sales. The local office handles about 4,500 plates in a year, reports Mrs. Stephen O'Connor.

Alex McMillan Died At 74

One of Alexandria's top athletes a half century ago, Alex J. McMillan died Wednesday in Glengarry Memorial Hospital following an extended period of failing health. He was 74.

A star home player on some of Alexandria's strongest lacrosse teams, Alex McMillan was also proficient at hockey in his youth. That interest in sports he retained through the years and Mr. McMillan was always an active supporter of local teams. A staunch Liberal he had served as ward chairman in the riding association over a long period of years.

Born in Alexandria he was the last surviving member of the family of Archie McMillan and his wife, Grace Macdonald. He spent some years in Montreal before returning here to operate his family farm and conduct a milk route. He had also carried the mail on RR1 Alexandria over a period of years.

Four nephews in Montreal are his closest survivors.

The body is resting at the Morris Funeral Home and the funeral will be held Friday at 10 a.m. to St. Finnan's Cathedral.

Raisin River Conservation Authority Elects Officers, Considers Budget

The first meeting of the Raisin River Conservation Authority for 1972 elected a chairman and vice-chairman and considered the annual budget.

Steward Crawford was re-elected to the chair and Hugh McIntyre to the post of vice chairman. The total budget amounting to $81,445 was adopted, with the note that $51,105 is made up of provincial grants and the remaining $30,340 is paid by the authority.

Much the largest single project the authority has in mind is the Gray's Creek conservation area improvement project, with a total of $33,500 ear-marked for the purpose in the current year. Other proposed expenditures are for weir design, for preliminary engineering and for land purchase to be used

Ethier Will Not Be A Candidate

Viateur Ethier, MP Glengarry-Prescott-Russell will not be a candidate in the next federal election to be held later this year.

The News was informed of his decision Tuesday when Mr. Ethier phoned from Ottawa to make the announcement. The condition of his health and the large area of the riding since much of Russell County was tacked on make it impossible for him to undertake a campaign, Mr. Ethier explained.

He has heard there are quite a few residents of the riding interested in seeking the Liberal candidature but Mr. Ethier would not be quoted as to names or any preferences he might have.

Now a resident of Glen Robertson, he was operating Dalkeith Bakery when first elected to the Commons in 1962.

February Had 44 Inches Snow

The month just past was approximately eight degrees colder than normal and 44" of snow fell, about 20" more than normal.

The low temperature was -40° on Feb. 23, and a high of 39° on the 14th and 15th. The low fell below 0° on 17 occasions.

The 44" of snow fell on 14 days and rain for a total of 1/2" on three days. Total precipitation was 5" combined, which is 2" more than average.

The average temperature of February last year was about normal with the low of -38° and high of 45° and the low below 0° on eight days only. Total precipitation was almost 6" a year ago this past month. The increase over this year was due to the fact that 51" of snow fell in the same period.

Thus far this winter 87" of snow have fallen compared to 122" last season. March and April will have to produce a lot of snow to reach the 165" total for last winter, notes Weather Observer George Hambleton of Dalhousie Mills.

The balance of construction at the Long Sault diversion is expected to cost $16,745.

Among land areas being considered by the authority are areas in lots nine and ten in the southern part of Kenyon Township.

The most important preliminary study now being authorized is the proposed restoration of the mill dam at Martintown. Another study will be made on the practicality of a removable weir on the South Branch near Glendale.

No Increase In Rates Despite Record High Losses By Mutual

Record loss claims of $122,950 up some $42,500 over 1970, were reviewed at Saturday's annual meeting of the Glengarry Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Co. Losses were by a large margin the highest in the 77 year history of the company but there is no thought of increasing premium rates.

Despite the heavy loss claims paid out, the Company was able to record a net gain for the year of $14,369, due to investment income that hit a new high of $36,777 in 1971.

Assets have reached $671,976 and surplus is nearing the half million mark at $485,142. Policies in force in the counties of Stormont, Dundas, Glengarry, Prescott and Russell, have a value of $47,602,342, with an additional wind insurance coverage aggregating $3,741,625.

Alexandria, Nebraska Invites Mayor To 100th Birthday

The Village Board of Alexandria, Nebraska, has invited the mayor of Alexandria, Ontario, to take part in that village's centennial celebration May 27-28-29.

The invitation was received at Tuesday's meeting of council and Mayor Touchette declared it might be possible for him to attend. Council's best wishes will be forwarded in any event, with some brochures of our town and a request for more information on that other Alexandria.

Planning Board Sees Possibilities Of Joint Dumps

The Area Planning Board has discussed the possibilities of locating dumps to be used jointly by the six municipalities, town council was told by Councillor Laurier Lefebvre at Tuesday's meeting. The Board's consultants have been asked to examine possible sites that might be used jointly and more economically by the municipalities.

In view of that prospect town council will ask the Department of the Environment to extend the time the present open dump can be used. A land fill plan was to have been instituted in May.

Town Solicitor Jean Forget of Cornwall was present to discuss council relations with Police Chief Cleroux. After meeting in camera, council passed a resolution that there be no change in the request for an inquiry by the Ontario Police Commission and that no other action be taken.

Advised by the Municipal Affairs department that legislation is being introduced to repeal the Residual Property Tax Reduction Act, council resolved to object to its repeal. Councillors feel it is discriminatory to cancel the rebate on municipal taxes in urban areas while continuing them for farmers and pensioners.

County Engineer A. R. Ferguson has advised council that a study report on classification of county roads is to be made and asked for suggestions of town council. Reeve Massie suggested that maintenance of Lochiel St. East be requested from sidewalk to sidewalk rather than only the travelled portion of that county road.

Expect 50 Bands For Anniversary Games

At least 50 bands are expected to mass at the 25th anniversary Glengarry Highland Games on Aug. 5th and Games' Secretary John Jamieson has high expectations some bands from Scotland will be among those present. Some dancers from Scotland will definitely be here, he reports.

Ivan Sproule, president, was in the chair for Saturday's annual when the general by-laws of the Company were revised to bring them into line with the recent amendments to the Insurance Act and the Corporations Act.

Retiring directors re-elected were J. K. MacLeod, R. A. McNaughton, and Charles B. Proudfoot.

At a subsequent directors' meeting Mr. MacLeod was elected president for 1972. R. A. McNaughton is vice-president and Arch. McDonald is secretary-treasurer.

Axe Used In Robbery Attempt Against Dalhousie Mills Merchant, Harris Bathurst

Parish Improvements Proceeding Under Winter Works

A work crew is busy this week clearing out the debris from the ruins of St. Raphael's Church as part of a winter works project in the Glengarry deanery financed by a grant from the federal local initiatives program.

Some 35 men are employed under the program which will provide some 180 man weeks of employment, reports Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve of Cornwall, diocesan co-ordinator.

Among other programs in addition to that at St. Raphael's are renovation and painting of church halls at Glen Walter and Apple Hill and improvements to the cemeteries at Williamstown and St. Finnan's parish, Alexandria.

George Eppstadt Long In Business At Maxville

George Eppstadt, the genial merchant at Maxville's main intersection for more than half a century, died Wednesday, Feb. 23rd in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall. He was 76.

Perhaps the best known individual in Maxville. Mr. Eppstadt was a native of Hanover, Germany, who came to Canada in 1914 and to Maxville in 1919.

He opened a little store and restaurant a short distance south of the present Eppstadt store, but it burned down in a fire which swept many of the village business blocks just a few years later.

Shortly afterward he opened a new business on the corner, where he and his wife, the former Millie Rolland of St. Elmo East, were long known as leading citizens.

For many years he operated a restaurant but in recent years had confined the business to operating a store.

Mr. Eppstadt was the type of man who brought enthusiasm and energy to everything he did. He was an ardent stamp and coin collector, widely known among philatelists and numismatists. He retained an interest in things German, and had a collection of decorative wall plaques and weapons, mainly with the coats of arms of German cities and towns.

Both he and his wife were among the most noted benefactors of Maxville Manor, and he would organize special observances, make birthday cakes, and visit the large home for the aged on frequent occasions.

One of his projects was a huge gingerbread model of Hansel and Gretel, the fairy tale figures, which he contributed to the Manor in a fund drive.

Mr. Eppstadt is survived by his wife and two children, a daughter, Pearl, Mrs. Donald E. Grant of Montreal and a son Earl of Ottawa. There are 12 grandchildren and a great grandchild.

The funeral was held Saturday morning to St. James Church where the solemn mass was offered by Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve. Rev. Bruno Pilon and Rev. Bernard Lajambe, Rev. Iver D. MacIver of St. Andrew's Presbyterian and Rev. W. E. Henderson of Maxville United spoke briefly and Father Lajambe delivered the eulogy.

Palbearers were Osie Villeneuve, Archie Munro, Archie Hughes, Hugh Stewart, Bud Guindon and Leo Chova.

Interment will be in the spring.

Harris Bathurst, 72-year-old merchant at Dalhousie Mills, is reported in satisfactory condition in the intensive care unit of Hotel Dieu Cornwall, following an attempted robbery of his store early Tuesday night.

An axe was used by two men in their early 20's in a vain attempt to get money out of Mr. Bathurst. He was struck about the head and suffered severe lacerations as well as a possible skull fracture.

Police believe the men were frightened off by an approaching car. They are reported to have made good their escape in a car but police have not yet been able to get a description of the vehicle involved.

The injured man was conveyed to Glengarry Memorial Hospital for preliminary treatment before being transferred to Hotel Dieu.

OPP Constables J. O. Robinson and I. B. Brodie are in charge of investigation. The robbery attempt was made about 6:45 p.m. Tuesday while Mr. Bathurst was alone in the store.

Glengarry Federation Of Agriculture Seeks Greater Pension Participation

The Glengarry Federation of Agriculture met here with George Kinloch as chairman and Fraser Campbell as secretary. The meeting at the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food board room, discussed a number of points of interest.

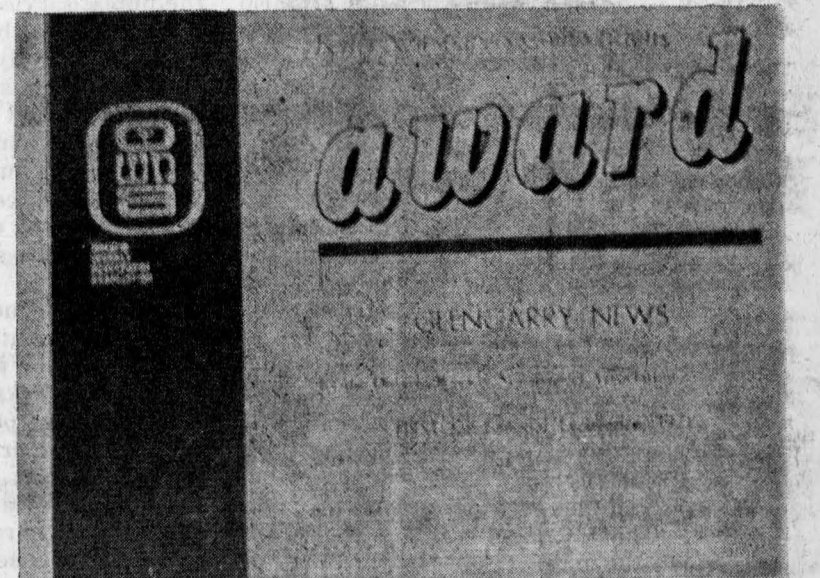

The local FOA asked that the Canadian Federation ask for amendments to legislation to allow self employed people to contribute the maximum amount to gain the full benefits of the Canada pension plan, regardless of income.

The federation wants support for a suggestion that the school should be a focal point for rural activity and discussed the possibility of a corn marketing board. The cow-calf type of livestock operation was discussed.

Mr. Kinloch explained that IFAP stood for International Federation of Agricultural Producers and reported that the meeting will be in Canada this year in October and the OFA will do its part to be hosts to the members. There is a public session and tour on Oct. 6 at Ottawa, and a tour through Eastern Ontario and Quebec for interested members.

Those interested can take a couple to their farm for the weekend and return them to Ottawa for the Monday session. More information will be provided later on the plans for the meeting and entertainment of the guests.

Christmas Seals Sale A Success

Mr. and Mrs. MacDonald and family flew to their new home in Edmonton, early last week, from Toronto's Malton airport. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hugh MacDonald of Passifern.

POTATOES NOT BAKED—A carload of New Brunswick potatoes, passing through town on a CNR freight, was saved from premature baking at 7 a.m. Tuesday when Alexandria firemen rallied around to douse a fire in the freight car. A charcoal burner in the refrigerator car, in use to prevent the potatoes freezing, had toppled and its coals had set fire to the flooring. The train crew noticed the smoke at Glen Robertson and phoned ahead for the services of our firefighters. The train was held up less than an hour and the damage was negligible, we understand. —Photo by Robert

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

A Half Century Of Radio

An item in Auld Lang Syne last week brought the reminder that the first radio set came to Alexandria fifty years ago. Wireless telephone it was called back in 1922 when Clarence Ostrom and Dr. H. L. Cheney jointly invested in a set and brought in programs from Pittsburg, 600 miles away. KDKA was the pioneer broadcasting station and Schenectady went on the air that year.

It may have been that same year ye editor listened in for the first time to the set Bill Breenie installed in his garage on Catherine Street, the building recently vacated by Alexandria Cleaners. As we recall it, fine tuning had yet to come and radio programs were dominated by static. Nevertheless those first wireless telephone sets were particularly popular during World Series time or when a heavyweight boxing match was being aired.

The advent of home radios, and later television, was to completely revolutionize the communications field and have a tremendous impact on society. The generation that can look back to that post-World War I era when radio was in its infancy recalls a way of life that has been completely altered by improved means of communication and automation. Those who have grown up with television can have no conception of the more intimate and satisfying home life families knew in a day when Hollywood was producing flickers and entertainment was dependent on home talent. There was the gramophone to thrill one with the voices of a John McCormack or a Caruso, but the parlor piano was the focal point for music and song. If there was a lack of harmony at times, certainly there were not as many discordant notes as are to be found around the family circle in a day when entertainment is on tap at the flick of a finger.

If there was a generation gap in those days before radio and television, the automobile and the airplane made the world smaller, the family singalong must have had an ameliorating influence. Our means of communication are a marvel today, but their impact on society falls short of being totally beneficial.

Fifty years after radio first came to Alexandria its listeners might be less nerve-racked if it was not repeating so much unwelcome news every hour on the hour. The family might be much closer if its big sister, television, raised its standards of programming and limited its hours of so-called entertaining.

We'll Have To Pay For Pure Air

Talking with an official of Ontario Hydro the other day, in discussing means being adopted to reduce air pollution, he said "If you want purer air you'll have to pay for it. On the contrary if we don't get purer air, our children will pay for it."

A recent news item reveals that Japanese school children in heavily industrialized cities have lower breathing capacity than children in other parts of the country. The growth of the pollution problem over the past few years was demonstrated in the statement from the Welfare Ministry that the breathing capacity of primary school children in heavily industrialized cities such as Tokyo, Yokkaichi and Osaka was lower than that of children in other parts of the country. The health of children in the industrial areas was badly damaged by sulphuric acid gas as well as dust. Many school children in Tokyo have to be kept in their classrooms throughout the day, rather than be let out for exercise when pollution levels rise to danger points.

We have been fortunate in having examples of highly industrialized nations to study. We have been stupid in that we did not heed the lessons. We have examples from Japan, or closer we have the mistakes made by the United States in their drive toward wealth and power. Is there any reason we should copy all their mistakes rather than use their experience to avoid similar mistakes?

People are more important than things. The welfare of the child should be more important than the material wealth of his parents, suggests an editorial in The Ridgeway Dominion.

In this we can find common ground with the young radicals who accuse the older generation of sacrificing the future of their children for their immediate wealth, and who themselves decide to drop out of the affluent society and find themselves a pioneer existence in the open air.

Wanted - A Substitute For Strikes

Montreal has known near paralysis again as the result of a strike, this time by its street-cleaning crew who let the snow drifts pile up in last week's storm to bring business to a halt downtown. Brought to heel by the threat of government intervention, the snow-clearing gangs were reopening the city's arteries on the weekend but there were mutterings of another walkout and Montrealers face the prospect of more such paralysis come the next blizzard to hit the metropolis.

As if that isn't nerve-shattering enough, city dwellers are also having to stock up on booze in case Quebec's liquor stores are shut down by another strike. The men who man the province's liquor outlets are rumored to be planning a walkout in March and that could bring a return of queues to the liquor stores in this area of Ontario as the border is breached by thirsty Quebecers intent on restocking their liquor cabinets.

Montrealers may be the most frequent victims of strikes that have an immediate impact on the public but the entire country is being victimized ever more frequently as service employees use the strike weapon as a form of blackmail. The air controllers brought plane travel to a halt and service had scarcely been restored when air technicians walked out to again inconvenience the travelling public and inflict heavy financial losses on businesses dependent on air traffic. CBC technicians and supporting unions are also making nuisances of themselves by work stoppages that force interruptions in programming.

As a result of these many interruptions of service the public is becoming antagonistic to strikes notes an editorial in The Toronto Star.

Such troubles and breakdowns are inevitable in a highly technological and interdependent society, so long as public workers feel they have no just substitute for the strike weapon, and so long as there is no generally accepted public philosophy to inhibit its use.

By "public philosophy" we mean, briefly, a sense of responsibility towards all other members of society in the exercise of economic or social power. This concept is in a shrivelled condition today, in both the private and public sectors, where the prevailing ethic seems to be every interest group for itself and the devil take the hindmost.

The logical and convenient place to start rehabilitating the public philosophy is in the public services. To be honest and effective it must cut both ways: The public must be as sensitively concerned to deal justly with its servants as public servants are concerned to avoid harming the public.

In short, a substitute must be found for strikes that cause the public gross inconvenience and cost, not just those strikes which would directly and immediately threaten public safety or health.

Two things are needed: A board to make sensible judgments on what public services are essential and where strikes are therefore to be prohibited; and the fashioning of yardsticks which will guarantee continuously fair pay and working conditions to workers deprived of strikes. Neither is beyond the wit of man to devise; and the forestalling of a vicious public backlash at best, and of spreading chaos at worst, is a matter of urgency.

Two Local Success Stories

The benefits to be realized by mutual co-operation under competent leadership were demonstrated conclusively on the local scene by the financial reports of two area companies that held their annual meetings in recent weeks. Both the Caisse Populaire of Sacred Heart Parish and the Glengarry Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company report continuing progress, the latter in spite of record loss claims which a few decades back might have jeopardized its financial position.

Started on a shoestring by a farsighted group of Lochiel farmers back in 1895, the Glengarry Farmers Mutual now is so solidly solvent it was able to absorb record loss payments of $122,950 in 1971 and still show a surplus on last year's operations. That extra heavy burden of losses was more than $40,000 more than those of a year earlier and yet the Mutual's mounting income from investments enabled it to show a revenue gain of $14,000 on the year's operations.

This Alexandria-based Farmers Mutual now offers protection for farm property over the five most easterly counties of Ontario and policies in force have reached the astronomical value of $47,602,000. Company assets are at a new high of $671,976 of which more than half a million dollars represents invested capital.

Healthy and still growing at 76 is the Glengarry Mutual. Much younger is the Caisse Populaire of Sacred Heart Parish, now in its 20th year. It showed remarkable progress in its first year in its own modern banking office. The Caisse almost doubled its assets in that last year of its teens and they are now nearing the million and a half mark. Doing business well beyond the bounds of the parish, it now has record deposits of $1,213,878 and a new high in loans at three-quarters of a million dollars.

These are success stories that speak well for the initiative and managerial ability of those who have guided them from modest beginnings to a status today that must be regarded as big business. May they continue to flourish while filling a worthwhile role on the area scene.

WITH OUR RAMBLING REPORTER

by Ed.

The March lion acted up a bit during Tuesday night. Alexandria Lions probably will be acting much worse later in the month.

NO SNOW IN T.O.

We tear another leaf off the calendar this week and isn't it warming to welcome March and feel we've made it through the worst of another winter. Saturday is the 4th and we have grim memories of what the weatherman threw our way just one year ago. But even if he's in a bad mood this weekend we can take it in the knowledge winter's end is in sight. That was fine carnival weather Mr. W. served up and the way we hear it from the young folk this was the best carnival yet, "with more things to do". Course they had a school carnival and the downtown activities to keep them mobile and we suspect that new feature, the wine cellar, may have proved popular with the senior teens.

We missed this year's fun on account of because we were rambling to Toronto to renew acquaintances at the Ontario Weeklies' convention. Just incidentally, the News was awarded recognition for "Editorial Excellence", and wasn't it nice of the editor to let your Rambling Reporter step up and receive the award. Ye Ed. happened to be there too.

T.O. is a nice place to visit and perhaps even nicer to get away from if one has no tolerance for constant streams of traffic. Our room in the Inn looked out on two levels of traffic coming off the busy Gardiner Expressway and no matter the hour of day or night it seemed there was never any let-up in the long lines of cars scurrying somewhere and jockeying to beat the others to the next Stop sign.

They can have all that frenzy but the Glengarry scene would seem even more alluring from that distance if one wasn't visualizing the high snowbanks and the ever-present threat of another blizzard. As usual, Toronto's weather readings were about 15 degrees higher than those reported for the Ottawa Valley and there wasn't enough snow to supply even a good snowball battle. It was actually trying to snow Saturday morning but the puny flakes that were managing to reach the ground couldn't be compared with the real thing that blows in so bravely to capture Glengarry's roads and bridges.

It was still overcast weather in Toronto and rubbers were needed to cope with slush or the odd icy underfooting but we've got to admit winter must be easier to take around Metro than in this snow belt. We have an idea that layer of smog over the city may prevent the snow from falling through, or maybe all those chimneys and car exhausts generate enough heat to turn the snow into rain.

It's kinda disheartening to see how much easier winter can be lived through up Toronto way but there's consolation in casting one's mind-eye ahead to spring and summer. Then Glengarry's greenery will be the envy of all those native sons and daughters who've been lured by Opportunity to live out their lives in those traffic-congested concrete canyons.

Our garden spot of America has its compensations.

If it snowed more in Toronto maybe those planners at Queen's Park would get the drift.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Doyle Klyn, columnist in Weekend Magazine, has a special fondness for unlikely names of people. We hesitate to ask the lady if she is aware that the inventor of the first flush toilet during the reign of Queen Victoria was a fellow by the name of Sir Thomas Crapper.

That incidental intelligence comes to us by way of the District Forester at Kempsville, but he doesn't say whether this guy Crapper earned his knighthood through inventing a more comfortable "throne" for Victoria. Rec. He doesn't say, either, that the inventor of that flush toilet lent his name to a widely used synonym for body wastes. It seems more than coincidence, however, that the two are so closely related.

District Forester D. R. Johnston threw in that interesting bit about the first flush toilet in a release on the comeback of outhouses that were practically wiped out by the popularity of indoor plumbing. More politely referred to as comfort stations, outhouses are again in production and Mr. Johnston notes it is the Department of Lands and Forests that has a winter works program underway at nearby Bonville where comfort stations are on assembly-line production.

Just Leave Them Alone

(The Wingham Advance-Times)

The grapevine in Queen's Park carries a rumor that the Department of University Affairs would like to take over Ontario's agricultural schools and colleges. If that is actually the case, it is time to take a hard second look at the government we elected with so much confidence only a few months ago. Of course, Mr. Davis is totally re-styling his entire cabinet set-up, so change is in the wind at present.

The Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food has operated the agricultural education program for many, many years, and during those years students have come from almost every country in the world to study at the OAC in Guelph, for the simple reason that it was among the top schools for agricultural studies to be found anywhere.

Courses in practical agriculture have also been taught at such places as Ridgeway, Centralia and several others, with equally good results.

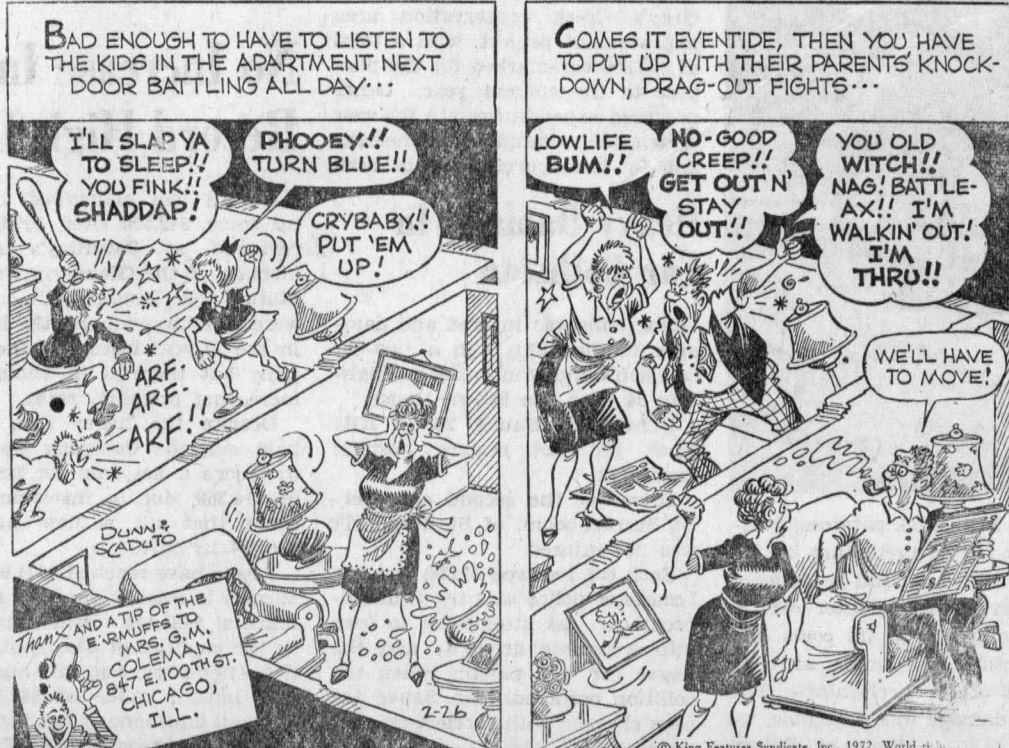

So far the provincial department of education cannot claim the same high level of achievement as the DAF. The introduction of county boards, which was intended to provide a vastly improved system of elementary and secondary education, has a spotty record to say the least. Even in our own county, where we have one of the better examples of the county board program, there is far from universal conviction that any great improvement has been achieved. In some of the other 15 county educational jurisdictions the record is dismal.

As one small example, last week the Toronto Board of Education decided to save $20,000 annually by discontinuing the use of a chauffeur-driven limousine for its chairman and director.

The agricultural schools do not fall into the same category as secondary schools or universities. Their laboratory and research facilities are closely integrated with the agricultural representatives' offices and are geared to assist in meeting the problems of the man on the land who needs guidance and assistance. It would be difficult to imagine this close liaison continuing under a department which does not have the interests of farm people as its sole responsibility.

Truth of the matter is that government departments are empires unto themselves. Their ministers and senior administrators are prone to build up their own network by fair means or otherwise in the conviction that the stature of the monarch increases with the growth of his kingdom.

The outdoor toilets are destined for the many picnic sites and nature trails, already existing or being developed this season under other winter programs, in agreement with the Department of the Environment in Eastern Ontario. The toilets will replace ones damaged by vandals in the off-season and porcupines with sharp teeth.

Designed to blend into the forest, these sturdy, rustic-looking structures are panelled inside, ventilated and tailored to rest on six foot deep poured concrete septic basins that are treated regularly. and her bridge club had been discussing the 'sad case' of one—just one—of their grade thirteen students who couldn't spell. That, I presume, led Mrs. B . . . and her bridge club to the decision that replacing the spelling bee with sex education has bred a generation of "little sex maniacs" who advocate abortion on demand. She then states that the next step will probably be euthanasia. All these conclusions, then, stem from the fact that one grade thirteen student couldn't spell properly. Well, Mrs. B . . . there must be people over fifty, like yourself, who make a little spelling mistake once in a while.

On the whole, I find the statements of Mrs. B . . . form a precariously high tower built on quick sand. She has used the case of one grade thirteen student and then included all of the students in this one case. Surprisingly enough, Mrs. B . . . we aren't all the same and we don't all make the same mistakes.

Mr. Editor, as grade thirteen students today, my friends and I, all learned penmanship and times tables in elementary school. And they were called "times tables". My younger brothers, now in elementary school, are learning penmanship and "times tables". Before you generalize, Mr. Editor, take a closer look at the facts.

No, Mrs. B . . . we are not sex maniacs who advocate abortion on demand. No, Mrs. B . . . we are not incapable of spelling. No, Mr. Editor we are not incapable of multiplication and good penmanship.

And no, Mrs. B . . . our next step will not be euthanasia, even if unfair, biased attitudes like yours prevail. After all, you make mistakes too, just like we do.

Mr. Editor, you state that youngsters should be taught to multiply. Perhaps people like Mrs. B . . . should be taught to subtract—the bad from the good.

Our generation is not perfect—neither is yours. But as a mem-

Smiths Falls Took "A" Honors Cornwall "B" Champs In Pee wee Play

Smiths Falls captured "A" class honors in the weekend carnival pee wee tournament on the arena ice and Cornwall's entry needed overtime to win out over Prescott in the consolation "B" series. Ten teams participated in the tourney which was reportedly a big success.

In the first game on Friday night Alexandria defeated Winchester by a score of 15-2. The second game was won by Hawkesbury over Cornwall 8-3. On Saturday morning, Cornwall Twp. and Maxville played at 7 a.m. and when the final bell rang Cornwall had out-scored Maxville 8-3. At 8 a.m. Massena, N.Y., won 4-1 over Lancaster.

Probably the best game of the tournament was played at 9:30 a.m. between Smiths Falls and Prescott. After three periods of play the score was tied 3-3. At the 8:20 mark of the first overtime period Smiths Falls scored to win 4-3.

At 11 a.m., the first team was eliminated when Cornwall won their first game of the tournament 14-4 over Winchester. In the "A" division Alexandria was shut-out 6-0 by Hawkesbury at 2:00. Smiths Falls played only 12 minutes in the first period before Massena, N.Y., left the ice complaining that Smiths Falls was too rough. Prescott eliminated all chances of our local boys winning the tournament "B" division by defeating Lancaster 6-1. Cornwall beat Maxville 8-3 to move into the finals of the "B" Division against Prescott, while Smiths Falls won 5-0 over Cornwall Twp. to meet Hawkesbury for the "A" championship.

After three full periods of action Prescott and Cornwall were tied 4-4. In the first overtime period the Cornwall goaler stopped 15 shots before his teammate Danny Lavis scored and made Cornwall the 1972 "B" champions.

In the final game of the "A" Championship Smiths Falls proved to be too strong for Hawkesbury, defeating them 3-0 to make Smiths Falls the "A" Champions.

The most valuable player was Pat Breen of Smiths Falls who scored 5 goals and 8 assists in the tournament.

The tournament committee was appreciative of the co-operation of Archie McDougall of the Cozy Inn who gave his free time and 300 hot dogs, milk and pie to every player in the tournament.

Local Team Won In Colts Play

An Alexandria rink skipped by Jerry Adams eliminated Vankleek Hill in Colts competition on local ice Tuesday. Colts play is restricted to players who are comparative newcomers to the game. The local team continues in Centre play at Hawkesbury, Friday.

The rinks:
Alexandria: Stanley Fraser, Fraser MacLeod, Pat Killoran, Jerry Adams, skip.

Vankleek Hill: Bruce Barton, Bob Steele, Leigh Mode, Murray Allen, skip.

Difficulties Of French Students In High School Seen By Advisory Board

Meeting at Glengarry District High School, here, Tuesday night, the French-language Advisory Committee became a sounding board for the problems and grievances of students, parents and teachers involved at the school.

The open discussion at the school was the first of a series planned by the committee to glean first hand information and background on city and area secondary schools where French is used in instruction.

Reports to the committee by school principal P. T. Lloyd and vice-principal Rene Gauthier showed that of the 1,006 students 537 are French-speaking, yet, only 21 take four subjects taught in French. Of the school's 61 teachers, 18 speak French and seven teach in French.

"One of our main problems," said Mr. Gauthier, "is that despite the fact that more than half our students are French-speaking, nearly all of them take most of their subjects in English, as the statistics prove.

"The problem," he continued, "is especially acute for the Grade 9 students. They come here from French Catholic schools and a French culture and are suddenly thrust into studying six subjects in English and two in French. The change is sudden and adapting is extremely rough for these pupils.

"If we are interested in preserving our French culture, we need more French instruction. It's as simple as that."

Committee chairman Marcel Masse described the switch from elementary to secondary schools as "an unbelievable jump for French-speaking students."

"There is a fantastic discrepancy between instruction to French-speaking students at the elementary level in comparison to what they face when they hit secondary school level.

These students can speak English, but communication in the language vastly differs from having to receive instruction in that language. The students must understand to learn and for the most part they have a greater understanding in French."

In an effort to help alleviate such discrepancy between elementary and secondary schools, the committee is planning to present a report to the Board of Education.

They need to find out the situations at these schools so we will have background, experience and figures upon which we can base any future recommendations."

Fire Mutual Aid Association Plans Education On Escape Plan

The SD&G Fire Mutual Aid Association will proceed with a program of educating the public on fire safety and will concentrate on presenting a family escape plan for every home.

This plan was explained by Co-ordinator, Chief Lou Carriere, to Montreal Aid members at the regular meeting of the Association which was held at Iroquois Civic Centre.

A grant has been received from United Counties Council which will enable our Fire Departments to buy flip charts and information and try to educate the public on fire safety.

The meeting was attended by 17 chiefs and 45 members of various Fire Departments which comprise the Association.

Chief Murray Storey of the Iroquois Fire Dept. introduced their senior councillor and a former Fire Chief, Jack Fetterley who welcomed the firefighters on behalf of the Village of Iroquois.

Maurice Roussey, our representative from the Ontario Fire Marshal's Office, introduced Robert Adams who now handles all fire investigations in the three United Counties. Mr. Roussey spoke on the importance of communications in fire fighting and said that each Council should be preparing to install radio communications in each department.

Guest speaker, Provincial Constable Gordon McGregor, Accident Prevention Co-ordinator for the OPP, was introduced by Capt. H. J. Summers, Public Relations chairman for the Association.

School Observing Education Week

"Education Week" is traditionally a time when schools put out their welcome mats to the community. In its turn, the community responds and acknowledges the work its schools are doing.

The theme of Education Week this year is "Community Grows Through Education." Throughout the week a variety of programs centred on this theme are planned for the Alexandria School, here.

A speaker will address the students of the senior grades on the importance of Education, now and for the future. Essays, posters, bulletin board displays and public speaking will help focus attention on Education Week. Classroom techniques, suggested by the pupils of grade five will be implemented and evaluated by the teacher and the students at the end of the week.

Parent-teacher interviews will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Interested parents are invited to drop in during the week to find out how our "Community Grows Through Education."

Board Ups Prices Cafeteria Food

Wonder how many eligible bachelors strayed away from home on Tuesday, February 28th? There's an old Scottish tradition, that if a lady asks a man to marry her on that day and he refuses, he must buy her a new dress! With the popular use of hot pants, he wouldn't have to pay out as much money today.

But this tradition is gradually fading because every year is leap year in a girl's mind these days!

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Attridge, Montreal, spent the weekend, at Rosehearty Farm.

Donald MacDonal of New Liskeard, spent the week at his home with Mrs. MacDonald and boys. March 1st brought more than a lion on Wednesday. For the first time in many years, there were quite a few thunder storms and incessive lightning. Thunder storms in winter predict an open and early spring.

HANDLING TILE DRAINAGE FOR TAXES

Farmers should note that amounts paid for tile drainage installed after 1964 are deductible expenses within the year in which they are paid. Thus tile drainage completed and paid for in 1971 must be totally claimed as an expense in that year. It should also be noted that this is not a depreciable expense. One possible way of spreading the expense over more than one year is by paying part the first year and by signing an official note with the contractor for payment of the balance in the following year. By doing this actual payment is in two different years and the expense may also be claimed in those two separate years. The contractor is also able to use this note as collateral at the bank.

BEEF CATTLE

There will be an information meeting on Tuesday, March 8, at 1.30 p.m. concerning the Ontario Beef Cattle Testing Program. This will be held at Fraser Hall, Kemptonville College of Agricultural Technology. Discussion will include the purpose of the program, feeding beef bulls on test, eliminating management differences, station testing and the average daily gain index.

Talk On Taxes

by Pat Killoran

This new column is an attempt to discuss the new tax changes and how they affect the farmer. As of January 1, 1971, the federal government has eliminated both the gift and estate taxes which they had previously administered. In Ontario the provincial government has now levied a gift and estate tax which will, for all intents and purposes, replace the federal taxes.

ONTARIO GIFT TAX

The following are exempt from gift tax:

- 1) Gifts up to $2,000 per year to any donee with an aggregate annual maximum of $10,000.
- 2) All absolute and outright transfers between spouses.
- 3) Gifts to Canadian charitable organizations.
- 4) Gifts to any Government.
- 5) Gifts taking effect on the death of the donor.

The gift tax rate is 15% on the first $25,000 and then progresses upward on greater amounts. The $10,000 once in a lifetime gift is no longer permissible. Should a donor die within 15 years of the gift, then the gift must be added back into the person's estate. It may be worth noting that succesion duties are less than gift tax in the case of preferred relatives, i.e. son, daughter. Succession duties will be discussed in a further article.
