Chesterville High School

The following pupils of Chesterville High School were successful at the recent Middle School Normal Entrance examinations;—Wilfred Clement, Alex Lawson, Eddie Moore, Marion Sullivan.

Successful candidates at the departmental Examinations may obtain their certificates and the unsuccessful ones their statements of marks, on application to the Secretary of the Board, Mr. J. O. Corner.

Rowdyism on the Street

While the storm of Saturday night was heavy it was no more a disturber of the peace of the night than the rowdyism of the night preceeding it. Whiskey is said to have been responsible for the unseemly uproar. Where it came from and by whom dispensed is shrouded in mystery but there were apparently clues enough for any astute guardian of the law to do a little successful investigating.

Heavy Storms

A series of very heavy electrical storms passed over this place and section during Saturday night and Sunday morning, with at times particularly heavy down pours of rain. The lightning was particularly vivid and the thunder crashing in the early hours of Sunday. During the first storm Mr. I. Garrow's residence had a very close call when lightning struck a corner of the verandah setting fire to it. Members of the family on the verandah at the time received quite a shock but were able to put the fire out before it made any headway.

Keep the Streets Clean

Drop it anywhere! Nobody cares! Anyway, one little cigarette box, or the wrapper off chewing gum, or the envelope from the letter—surely, one would not call dropping them on the side walk, littering the street. But, if each citizen, young and old, drops a paper on the public streets, the cumulative effect is not pleasant to behold. In many towns and cities, boxes are placed on the streets for the deposit of waste paper. Where such are not available, however, it is no hardship to carry small paper wrappers until they can properly be disposed of. Cigarette and gum containers are not out of place in the pocket until empty: Keep them there, and, for the sake of cleanly appearance of the streets and of that civic pride which is essential to the general prosperity of the home town, keep scraps of paper off the street.

No Need For Alarm over Sugar Prices

A word of warning was issued by leading members of the Whole sale Grocers' Guild that the despatches threatening a rise in the price of sugar to 20 cents a pound were altogether outside the bounds of possibility, and that no such ridiculous prices were even thought of. The worst that could happen, it was stated, was that prices might rise possibly a cent a pound for a time, with a likelihood that, with careful conservation, this increase might later on be found unnecessary. But the wholesale grocers, through officers of their guild, issued a warning that people should not become excited over the threatened increase of prices and start hoarding sugar, as such a course, with the present scarcity, would simply intensify the difficulty, and force prices to much higher levels than the market really demands.

"There will be no serious scarcity of sugar", it was stated. "We are in position to handle the situation, and it is unlikely that the price will rise more than a cent or possibly two cents a pound, until the supply catches up with the demand. The talk about 20 cent sugar is absurd, and there will be no marked rise in prices unless the public go crazy and start stocking up to such an extent as to force dealers to raise the price to prevent such hoarding".

Duck hunting season opens next week on Monday, Sept. 1st. Patridge cannot be hunted until the fall of 1920. Deer season this fall opens on Nov. 5th and closes Nov. 20th. instead of from the 1st to the 15th as formerly.

Death of Mrs. Johnston Hill

After a lingering illness Mrs. Johnston Hill of Winchester, passed peacefully away on Sunday Aug. 24th at 1.30 p. m. at the age of 85 years. Her husband predeceased her nine years ago, and she is survived by an only son Mr. Wm. Hill of Ottawa, a daughter Mrs. Scott having died over 30 years ago. During a part of her life Mrs. Hill resided in Chesterville, also a while in Morewood where her husband had contracts for buildings. She was an earnest, consistent member of the Methodist Church, and although for a long time unable to attend public service, she was interested in the work of the Church, always welcoming her pastor and any other Christian workers who visited her. The funeral was held on Monday at 1.30 p. m. in the Winchester Methodist Church after which the remains were laid in Maple Ridge cemetery beside those of her husband.

An imposter has been plying his nefarious work in the northern country recently. His plan is to remain over night at a farm house and when departing in the morning offers a watch in payment and asking $10 difference. It develops after that the watch is worthless and the farmer is fleeced. This knight of the road professes to be a returned soldier and wounded in the back and wins sympathy in this way. He drives a light bay horse and says he belongs to Trenton.

Wanted by Police

A young man named Lee Bernard, who is well and unfavorably known in Winchester is wanted by the police for two serious offences. He stole a good buggy, took it to Winchester, and sold it to a band of gypsies, who were camped there. The buggy was afterwards recovered near Smiths Falls. He is also charged with stealing a set of harness. A more serious charge, however, is that the same night he stole the buggy he tried to assault a young lady. So far he has escaped, but the provincial authorities have been notified and it is hoped that he may soon be brought to justice.—Smiths Falls Record News.

If you break a lens or a frame of your eye glasses Mr. A. E. Bolster can fix it for you—day or night every day—at W. G. Bolster's Drug Store, Chesterville.

BETTER COOLING

(FARMERS CUT THIS OUT.)

At this time of the year when the sun is hot, and the flow of the milk is high, remember that more water is required to cool milk to the desired temperature. The more milk you have the more water is required. Don't try to cool eight cans in water that will only cool four cans. Change the water often. Milk cooled and not kept cool will sour.

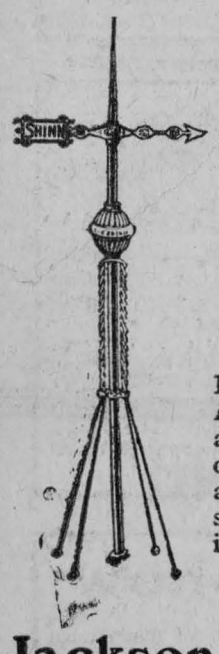
Shinn-Flat

Lightning Rods Prevent Lightning Losses

WHEN your buildings are protected with Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods, you may be absolutely sure that they're safe from Lightning damage Shinn-Flat Lightning Rods are the only kind made in the form of a flat cable—which has 36% more conducting surface for electricity than the same amount of material made into a round cable.

Lightning Can't Strike if Shinn Gets There First!



Shinn-Flat prevents the accumulation of electricity in the building, by permitting it to gradually pass from the heavily charged ground and building into the atmosphere above.

Bonded to Protect

A large Bonding Company issues a Surety Bond to the owner of every building we protect, guaranteeing that Lightning will not damage.

W. H. DAY

Professor of Physics at the Ontario Agricultural College for many years, and Canada's recognized authority on Lightning Protection is now Manager of the Shinn Mfg. Co., and assists in training Shinn Dealers thus insuring correct installation.

Morewood High School

Results of Final Examinations

Passed Lower School—Aileen Ault, Lawrence Ault (Arith.) Marjorie Smith, Herman Collison (Geo.) The subject in brackets may be carried over to another Form. These four candidates are promoted to the Middle School.

Passed Middle School Entrance to Normal—Clara Allison (honors), Charlie Coulthart, Nancy Gollan, Jennie MacGregor, Nora Swerdfeger, John Whittaker. Five of these candidates completed their Middle School work in less than two years allowed for it—see page 59 of the Minister's Report 1918—and Charlie Coulthart did the work in less than one year as the school was closed five weeks owing to the influenza. We allow any or all Middle School pupils to complete that work in one year if they so desire. In fact several of those juniors have taken the final examination with honors. Just one hundred candidates from this school have passed the teachers' examinations for entrance and the Normal Schools.

School opens Tuesday Sept. 2nd. A complete list of texts and books for all Forms may be seen if pupils call at any time for information regarding next year's work.

Miss E. Armstrong, B. A., of Ottawa will be the assistant.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Forthcoming Olympic Trials & Dominion Championships.

Recently, there sprang into being an organization which has for its purpose the central control and direction of athletics in Ottawa and the Ottawa Valley. This organization, the Ottawa Amateur Athletic Federation, aims at the revival of amateur sport. Its object is to revive amateurism, to solidify sport, and to perpetuate the spirit of clean play, and eliminate if possible the taint of professionalism which has crept into athletics.

Embodying as it does in its personnel many of those wh se names were once household words in the realm of sport it starts out under the most favourable auspices. Although its growth is a recent one, it has only been launched on its career a few weeks, already great success has attended its initial efforts. Through the efforts of Ed. Archibald, Associate Sports Editor of the "Journal," the Olympic trials and Canadian championship tests have been secured for the Capital.

This in itself is considerable of an achievement as such great sporting centres as Toronto and Winnipeg were angling for these events, and the fact that they were awarded to Ottawa speaks volumes for the regard in which those associated with the Federation are regarded in Toronto where the central governing body of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union is located.

There has been a tremendous impetus given to amateur sport, and signs of an awakening revival are apparent all along the line. The Ottawa Police games once one of the greatest sporting events of the season are again being held this year with the city firemen, the Dominion Police and the Hull Police affiliated. New amateur athletic organizations such as the Ottawa South Amateur Athletic Club, and various other clubs have sprung into being and are being linked up with the Federation.

Sport in the Capital and throughout the Ottawa Valley has been in a chaotic condition. Partly as a result of the war but mostly because of the lack of control and the haphazard and slipshod methods formerly in vogue have produced a semi-professional spirit, which threatened to result in the abolition of sport altogether from an amateur standpoint. A registration committee consisting of Guy Boyce, famous as a paddler and hockey player as well as an organizer of amateur athletics, Controller Frank Plant, one of the foremost athletic devotees in the Capital, and Allan Healey, Secretary of the Federation, has been appointed.

The powers of the Association permit it to issue amateur cards to sanction athletic meets and to govern its affiliated bodies in accordance with the rules and regulations of the main governing body. Nearly every amateur athletic club in Ottawa embracing every branch of sport have hastened to link up with the organization and cards are being issued daily. The groundwork has been completed and the Ottawa Amateur Athletic Association is now prepared to enlarge its scope and receive applications from organizations of the Ottawa Valley.

First Ontario Welcome to Prince at Smiths Falls

At 12.45 Monday morning the train bearing his Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, arrived at the Smiths Falls C. P. R. depot and after a stop of one hour to change engines and replenish the stores of ice and water, continued on its way to Toronto via the Lake Shore line.

Notwithstanding the lateness of the hour a large crowd had assembled at the station in the hope of catching a glimpse of the heir to the British throne. They were not disappointed in this, as he not only stepped from the train during its stop, but addressed a few words to them from the platform of his car, the "Killarney".

Engine number 2225, flying two flags upon its buffer beam, upon which was inscribed the Royal coat of arms, drew the special train. When it came to a stand the big crowd pressed about the last coach, "Killarney", in which they knew His Royal Highness was travelling. There was little hope that they would have an opportunity of seeing him as it was presumed he would have retired.

It appears, however, that the Prince had left instructions with his attendants to inform him of his arrival in the province of Ontario and upon being apprised of the fact that his train was standing at the first C. P. R. divisional point in the banner province, he arose and descended to the station platform amidst tremendous cheers from the loyal people who thronged about him.

He lit a cigarette and for ten minutes paced up and down the platform, accompanied by an attendant, chatting, smiling and shaking hands in a charmingly informal manner with the eager people who pressed about him in their endeavor to give him assurances of their attachment to his Royal Father and himself.

No more touching welcome could have been given a Prince of the British line by the people of this most loyal and foremost of the provinces of the great Dominion, than that accorded Prince Edward by the citizens of Smiths Falls that night. He had asked to have his arrival in Ontario made known to him, prompted no doubt by a curiosity to feel that he had at last arrived in a part of Canada of which he had heard so much and his reception at the first stop within its borders must have fulfilled his expectations.

Those who were fortunate enough to see Prince Edward that night felt that he was most deserving of the popular title he has received from the Canadian populace "The Smiling Prince". He was what the ladies termed a "lovely boy", and he shook hands with those about him in a manner suggestive of an appreciation of the warm-hearted welcome he was receiving.

One old lady was heard to exclaim "Let me touch his coat, I saw his grandfather and have lived to see him". The Prince wheeled about, raised his hat and with a charming smile shook her hand and no doubt that will be looked upon by one elderly lady of the town as the proudest moment of her life.

Passing back to his car the Prince mounted to the observation platform and before re-entering the coach stepped up to the rail and said: "It's awfully nice of you people to stay up so late to welcome me; it is very late and I am sure you should be in your beds. I may say that you are the first people to welcome me to the Province of Ontario. I am going to bed now and I am sure you will be ready for yours, goodnight." He smiled and bowed as the crowd, with hats off, cheered heartily, then passed into his coach and a few minutes later—at 1.45—his train moved out of the station bearing him to to the capital of the Province which he evidently feels such a keen interest in, where he will open Canada's National Exhibition.— Record-News.

MELVIN

Last Wednesday morning when Mr. Lanoue was closing the gate at Mr. Arthur Christie's his team ran away. The express wagon turned over and the shipping cans and side boards all fell off. After the wagon turned back again the horses ran nearly two miles. Mr. Lanoue and one of the boys started after them with the car. When they caught up to them at Cheney's corner Mr. Lanoue jumped from the running board of the car into the wagon. The horses and wagon were not any the worse of the chase.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Martin left for Regina last Monday morning.

Mr. Arthur Christie has sold his farm to Mr. Geo. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm Paul of Carleton are spending a few days at Mr. Sherman Christie's.

Miss Iva Weir of Rosemere, Que. has been visiting at Mr. Baxter's.

Mr. John Stata of Williamsburg spent the week-end at G. F. Beckstead's.

Miss Laura O'Neill is visiting her friend Miss Mabel Barret.

Mrs. James Shaw has moved into part of Mr. M. Wilson's house.

Mrs. J. Quart and little son accompanied by Miss Greer of Ottawa and Miss Preston of Winchester, had a very narrow escape on Tuesday morning when the horse got frightened and broke the harness. Misses Greer and Preston and the little boy were thrown out but Mrs. Quart held on the lines and was dragged nearly a half a mile between the wheel and buggy until Mr. Gauthier headed the horse in the ditch opposite his place. They were all very fortunate not to be hurt.

An item in last week's Melvin news said Mr. Mahlon Casselman and Mrs. Heberlee of Carp were guests of Farren Beckstead's. The first mentioned should have read Mrs. Mahlon Swerdfeger.

When My Baby Was Sick

I SHALL never forget that dreadful day when I wondered if anything would ever agree with my baby. Of course, I had tried to nurse him, as every mother should. And we had tried almost everything, it seemed—but he wouldn't gain weight or have the pink cheeks I prayed for.

And then our old doctor said "Let's try Nestlé's Milk Food. You know that it is made out of milk—it's the nearest thing in the world to mother's milk. They add cereal and sugar to it—just the right amount—and the tough milk curds are broken up and easier to digest."

As I write, a sturdy, two year old plods gravely up to me and the dreadful day seems far away—for my baby is well.

Nestlé's is very easy to prepare—you just add water and boil—it is a powder that comes in an air tight tin—and I hear that for fifty years it has been making babies strong.

The Nestlé Company likes to save babies and put them on the road to health. They gave me free a big Mother's Book on baby feeding by specialists, and enough Nestlé's for 12 feedings. They will be glad to do this for you, too, if you will send them your name on the coupon below.

Nestlé's is pure milk in powder form that is already modified and does not require the further addition of milk. Always pure and safe, always uniform and free from the dangers of home modification, Nestlé's has stood the test of three generations and has today the largest sale of any baby food in the world.

FREE! Enough Nestlé's for 12 feedings. Send the coupon!

Prepare to Fight Fire on the Farm

Provide Protection for Barns Stock and Stacked Grain.

Stories of the trouble experienced by settlers in northern Ontario, and even Summer residents in the Muskoka district in fighting bush fires during this Summer, should be taken as warning by farmers everywhere to make full provision for the protection of their harvested crops in this season of exceptional dryness. Up to this time the majority of fires reported in the country districts have resulted from burning slash or from some unknown cause—which, however, could in most cases be pretty well decided on as due to human agency. From now on, however, the season of thunderstorms can be looked for, and with barns filled with the season's crop, the matter of lightning protection should receive special consideration. Another risk that nearly all farmers run, between now and the new year, is that from the operation of threshing machines. As regards the possibilities of fire from spontaneous combustion in barn or stack-stored crops, the time for taking precautions in the method of storing, and with regard to the condition of material—hay or grain—at the time it is put into the barn, is past but, in case of trouble from this source, every farm should be provided with some sort of handy equipment for tackling a blaze at its start.

For adequate lightning protection on farms, all barns and other buildings should be rodded with standard lightning rods, and wire fences should be "grounded" so as to save stock in the fields from the chance of electrocution. To avoid fire from other sources, fire guards should be plowed around all hay or grain stacks situated in the open; threshers and threshing engines should be placed where the prevailing wind cannot carry sparks toward the barn; automobiles or other gas-driven machinery should be stored elsewhere than in a barn or stable. By following the sound advice to work stubble fields intended for Fall plowing, as soon as possible after harvest, will help in averting the fire menace in a specially dry season, and the benefit to the land and succeeding crop of this form of treatment is not to be questioned.

Culture of Bulbs for Winter Bloom

Practically everyone plans to have a showing of flowers during summer months, but why should not the same precautions be taken in preparation for winter, when there is such a dearth of color?

The practice of raising bulbs, e. g., hyacinths, daffodils, tulips, etc. for winter bloom should be more general. The work involved is comparatively trifling, and the results most gratifying, but, with this, as with many other things, just a little aside from the ordinary routine, people hesitate to make the start. Yet in reality, more time and care is frequently expended in coaxing into bloom a few sickly geraniums than would be necessary to produce a whole windowful of bright cheery daffodils.

The first requisite, naturally is a supply of good fresh bulbs, which should be obtainable of any reliable florist. These should be procured early in October, to insure bloom for Christmas, and should be potted in loose, sandy soil, provided with good drainage facilities.

In general, the bulbs should be put in at such a depth that their tops will be just below the surface of the soil, or as in the case of the daffodils, slightly above it.

The arrangement of the bulbs in planting is a matter for individual taste to settle. One might have a long window box of tulips for example, with red or yellow in the centre, and a border of white; or pots, ranging in size from the four-inch size to those large, shallow fern pots, frequently used for hanging baskets. One precaution should be observed in combining different varieties, and that is, to be sure that those used together will bloom at the same time. A mass of bloom is certainly beautiful, but when one has a limited supply of bulbs to draw from, it is better to prolong the season bloom, than to produce it all at once. Most bulbs do not object to crowding, in seven inch pot one can put half a dozen daffodils, or tulips or Roman hyacinths, while fully a dozen and a half of crocus will find plenty of room in the same area. A very little practice will acquaint one with the habits of the different kinds of bulbs which, once learned, will facilitate pleasing combinations in arrangement.

When the bulbs have been planted they should be watered and set in a cool cellar or dark room. This marks the first and most laborious stage of the work; all that then remains to be done, is to see that they are watered occasionally (say once a fortnight or less frequently according to the dampness of the cellar) and not allowed to freeze.

The difficulty of knowing just when to bring the pots up to the light, may be overcome in this way. After watering the pot, tip it upside down on the hand allowing the soil to leave the pot, (it will remain intact if carefully handled) and determine the amount of root development. If the pot seems to be full of roots, it is ready for the light, if not, even if the foliage seems well started, leave longer in darkness, as development of foliage cannot be taken as an indication of root growth.

The Dutch hyacinths can be successfully grown in water, but it is wiser to have plenty of stones in the water, that the roots may be less disturbed by handling. In this case, all that is necessary is to replenish the water as required—a small piece of charcoal is a good addition to the water.

With a very small expenditure of time, labor and expense, there is no reason why anyone should not have continuous bloom from Christmas until May, when outside flowers are in evidence again.

Wife (sobbing): "I have lost that beautiful ring you gave me at our marriage".

Husband: "Oh, ti's all right. I found it in my trousers pocket this morning".

BEDRIDDEN WITH RHEUMATISM

Felt That He Would Never Walk Again "FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought Relief.

MR. LORENZO LEDUC

3 Ottawa St., Hull, P.Q.

"Fruit-a-tives" is certainly a wonder. For a year, I suffered with Rheumatism; being forced to stay in bed for five months. I tried all kinds of medicine but without getting better; and thought I would never be able to walk again.

"One day while lying in bed, I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' the great fruit medicine; and it seemed just what I needed, so I decided to try it.

The first box helped me, and I took the tablets regularly until every trace of the Rheumatism left me.

I have every confidence in 'Fruit-a-tives' and strongly recommend them to every sufferer from Rheumatism".

Defective Leather.

It is a common experience that the soles of boots and shoes of a given thickness have different degrees of durability. Doubtless not a little of the difference in the quality of the leather is due to the way which the hide was tanned, or whether the hide was from a healthy animal; but there is a type of defect sometimes noticeable in the leather from the tanned hides of bulls, buffaloes, oxen, or cows, when it is cut with a sharp knife, that the ordinary manufacturers of belting and of boots apparently know nothing about. The nature of the defect is that, instead of the leather appearing uniform in texture and quality through its thickness, it is streaky, one or more layers of fleshy or horny streaks being seen on the cut surface or section The cause of this defect is that when the growing animal has an illness its coat is affected, it loses its usual lustre, and a layer of inferior hide is put on Such leather must be regarded as wasteful, whether it be used for boots or for machinery belting, etc.

Price May Drop in Spring.

The news that next spring may bring a drop in price of all but kid and very fashionable shoes, should be very welcome, although it is sometime off before next spring. Children's shoes are stated by the trade most certainly to be down, and except in the very special calf and all-kid shoes, there will be a decrease in price. The embargo on hides for exportation has already caused Canadian hides to drop from 53 cents to 40 cents a pound, but as it takes two or three months to turn these into leather for the manufacturers, the effect of the drop will not be noticed until well on in the winter or in the early spring. It is true that Canadian leather is not used for the best of shoes, but is used for those which are most in demand, and, therefore, if it becomes cheaper, it is bound to relieve the shoe situation to a large extent. The fashionable shoes will, perhaps not be affected with much difference as they are made chiefly with special grades of kid, and a few other leathers. Women's shoes will not be affected to the same extent as men's but in all but the kid there should be a slight decrease in price. There will be a very small drop in calf, for Canadian leathers are not much used for calf boots except in cheaper varieties.

"Were any of your boyish ambitions ever realized?" asked the sentimentalist.

"Yes," said the practical person. "When my mother used to cut my hair I often wished I might be bald headed."

Shipping Moss

Persons owning swamp lands in Brockville vicinity are benefitting through a lucrative trade just developed in moss gathered from marsh or low swamp lands. George E Johnston, Newmanville, Grenville county and relative, Claude Armstrong, are at present engaged in shipping three carloads of moss to Rochester, N. Y., where it will be used by nursery men and florists. The moss which is found in abundance in low lands conserves moisture and is used by nurserymen to wrap around roots of fruit trees, etc , intended for shipment. Some varieties of moss are used by florists in preserving cut flowers. The moss is sold by the cord and brings a good price.

THE EXPLANATION

Nature placed the growth-promoting "vitamins" in the oil of the cod-fish—this explains why

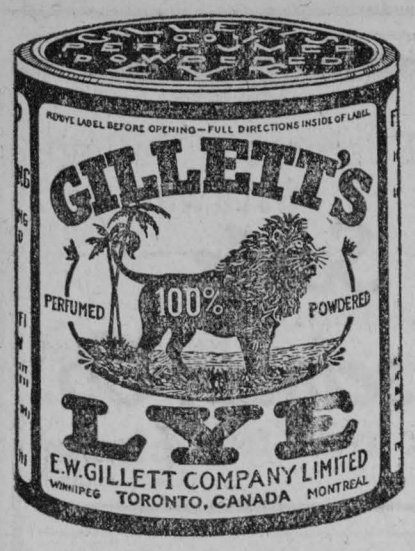
AGULNIK BROS., CHESTERVILLE



Fascinating Dame was Bolshevik Spy

An interesting story of a fascinating beauty who was arrested by the secret police as a spy while she was dining with British naval officers in the Crimea was told by Commander Walter H, Hatcher, R. N. R. who is in command of the Virgilia, a new freighter of the Cunard Company, which arrived in Montreal during the week-end from Avonmouth. Commander Hatcher served on the Queen Elizabeth for two years in the Orkneys and subsequently in the Dardanelles. Prior to the outbreak of war he was in command of the Mauretania, from which post he was called to naval duty. It was after being demoblized in February of this year that he passed through some interesting adventures in Southern Russian waters. He took the Phrygia, one of the Cunard boats, to the Mediterranean, that being the first Cunard ship to reach Constantinople.

One evening a British naval launch swung alongside and requisitioned the Phrygia to proceed to the Black Sea to help to evacuate people who were in peril from the Bolshevists. The latter had given the British naval authorities an ultimatam to clear out within four hours, but this ultimatum was disregarded. On reaching Odessa Capt. Hatcher found an order to proceed to Dniester, twenty miles away, in order to save two hundred Russian volunteer officers, but fog tied up the ship and the unfortunate officers were butchered before help came. Later the Phrygia was ordered to Yalta, on the other side of the Crimea, in order to save four hundred refugees. This was in April last and for some days the Commander took large numbers of refugees aboard, all of them having fled from their homes with just what they could carry on them, and in many cases the Bolsheviki had denudded them of everything as a condition of letting them go. Among these women who came aboard one afternoon was a very fascinating one dressed in the smartest robes and wearing plenty of jewelry, who asked for a cabin, but she was informed that she would have to share the 'tween-decks accommodation like the others, though eventually some better provision was found for her.

She left the ship early in the evening, informing Capt. Hatcher that she was due to dine on a warship The Commander of the Phrygia had an invitation for that same dinner and there he found this distressed butterfly the centre of attraction in the messroom. Half-way through the dinner, however, when everything was animated, there appeared the "White Devil", the name being applied to a famous secret service man of the Russian Royalist side. He at once denounced the beauty as a German Bolshevik agent and although she recognized the secret service man, she continued to talk vivaciously. Eventually she was led away, declaring that she knew her fate. The secret service man wanted to carry out the execution on the spot, but was told this could not be, and when next he was seen he stated that the sentence had been carried out that night. It was stated that this woman had been accountable for the lives of 7,000 people whom she had impeached.

Among the refugees that came aboard the Phrygia were many distressed nobility, including two countesses and a gentleman-in-waiting of the late Emperor Nicholos. These people showed their gratitude to Commander Hatcher and his crew when ultimately they were conveyed in safety to the city of the Golden Horn.

A Motoring Convenience

A square piece of canvas (18" x 18"), practically takes up no room in the tool box. But it can be used for innumerable purposes by the motorist. It saves the trousers when you have to kneel to get at some inaccessible part. It keeps the jack from slipping on snow or ice. It keeps the inner tube free of dust when it is being inserted on the roadside. It can be used to strain gasoline. It will keep the tools from rattling, protect the hand when fixing hot engine parts, and, finally it will make an emergency inside of a blowont patch.

GRANTLEY

Mr. and Mrs. James O. McMillan were the guests of Sandy Gordon's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carr and Miss Katie and Master Clifford were recent guests at Mr. Will Carr's.

THE APPLEFORD COUNTER CHECK BOOKS

Look over yonr stock, and if you are nearly out drop in and see us, or use the telephone and we will send a representative. Prices on automatic check books are likely to rise on account of scarcity of materials caused by the war, so it will be wise to order now even if you are not needing a new supply immediately.

Cut Chore-Time in Half

Do you realize that an average farm uses one ton of water a day? How long are you going to handle this tremendous bulk by old-fashioned, wasteful methods?

Modern farmers let the wind pump and distribute their water. They cut chore-time in half. They have running water in the house, the barn and stables, and pasture.

Not with old-fashioned windmills. But with big, sturdy, efficient double-geared Toronto Windmills, constructed throughout of galvanized steel, strong and rust-proof.

A Toronto Pump and a Toronto Water-System, combined with a Toronto Windmill, gives you a real city water service.

Toronto Pumps and Water Systems can also be supplied with a gasoline engine or electric motor.

Our Windmill, Pumps and Water System booklets show you how to cut out waste time and energy on your farm—how to make more money. Write for them. They are sent free.

As a result of being trapped in a building, four valuable cows, owned by H. Huck of Loughboro Lake died, while three others were found in a dying condition. The cattle had gone into an outhouse to escape the flies. They were there for nine or ten days, the cause being that the wind blew the door shut, and the cows could not find an exit for release.
