

Reeve ousts tape recorder from public meeting

An angry Reeve Ken MacLennan ordered the removal of a tape recorder from yesterday's Lochiel Township Council meeting.

The tape recorder had been taken to the meeting by residents wishing to hear council's debate on a proposed alcoholic rehabilitation centre.

Reeve MacLennan did not spot the tape recorder until after councillors and rehabilitation centre spokesman Don Riopelle had already discussed the matter.

"That's against the law," he snapped when he noticed the device.

He demanded the tape recorder be removed immediately.

"It's illegal in this public room," he insisted.

Rhoda MacDonald, one of the people reporting the meeting, said the machine was brought to assist in getting accurate quotes.

However, the acoustics of the room were not very good and the machine was never turned on, she said.

When Reeve MacLennan persisted, the two people reporting the meeting removed the tape recorder and handed it to other ratepayers who were sitting farther away from the council table.

However, Reeve MacLennan demanded the tape recorder be taken "out of this room".

One elderly woman was visibly shaken by the reeve's stern remarks and others expressed concern at his adamance.

"I don't think he made any friends," Ken MacDonald said afterwards.

He said the angry tone of the reeve's remarks were "totally unwarranted".

He said no one had any way of knowing that tape recording of the public meetings would be banned.

About a half a dozen ratepayers attended the meeting and "without an exception", they did not like the reeve's rough treatment of the reporters, Mr. MacDonald said.

In fact, a provincial official told The News after the meeting that the ratepayers were not breaking any laws by having the tape recorder at the meeting.

"It's not illegal," said Brian McNeely of the Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing. "There's nothing to say it's illegal."

Mr. McNeely, added, however, that the council is "master of its own procedure" and the reeve has "a general discretion" to order a ban on tape recordings.

However, in the absence of a council policy or ruling by the reeve, the ratepayers were not acting illegally, he explained.

Clerk Elmer MacNaughton confirmed that there is no council policy on tape recorders since no similar incident has occurred in the past.

Mr. McNeely said the reeve had the authority to issue the ban on the spot but that he could have been challenged by any other members of council in which case a vote of council would have been required to settle the matter.

New Bell system is being installed

Bell Canada is in the process of installing a new telephone communication system in Alexandria which will make operations more efficient and accommodate growth in the future.

Installation of the Serving Area Concept (SAC) will cost the company $548,000, reports Jack Kitchen of the Cornwall Bell Engineering Department.

The new network will see the town divided into five serving areas. Direct underground feeder connections will travel from the town switching centre to a central point within an area where the feeder pairs will cross connect with distribution pairs which then extend to individual dwelling units.

The new system will replace the multiple plant system which necessitated a maze of aerial wires.

Advantages of the SAC will be less maintenance, a system easier to administer for the company and make it possible to quickly accommodate future growth. In addition the remaining outdated lead aerial cable will be replaced with polyethylene insulating conductor cable which is less susceptible to breakdown.

The appearance of Main Street may also improve as a result of Bell's new system.

"There will be no more service wires crossing Main Street from Derby Street to McDougald Avenue," reports Mr. Kitchen. He added that as well as improving the aesthetics of the downtown area it will remove the inconvenience of service men working on Main Street and a potentially dangerous working condition for the men.

For town customers the only evidence of the new system will be the green boxes or connecting links located at points within the five service areas.

The boxes can be found at the following locations: the intersection of Harrison and Kenyon Streets, the intersection of St. Paul and Bishop Street, on Bishop Street in front of the Bell switching centre, on Chisholm Street—north of James Street and on Main Street in front of the LCBO.

The new system, which the company has been working on for the past two and a half years, should be in full operation either late this year or early next year, said Mr. Kitchen. The change-over from the old system will be gradual and should not inconvenience the customer.

Alexandria is one of the smaller towns to receive the new network but the Bell feels the town has the growth potential, said Mr. Kitchen.

Hawkesbury and Cornwall are also in the process of having systems installed.

WHAT A SYSTEM—Jack Kitchen of Cornwall Bell engineering Department calls the new telephone network planned for Alexandria "the Cadillac of systems". He was found recently checking a cross connecting link at the intersection of Harrison and Kenyon Street.

Mill may be saved

Charlottenburgh Township Council has taken the first step towards saving the Martintown Mill.

Council agreed last week to pay half the cost, to a maximum of $12,000, towards short-term stabilization of the decaying building.

The Ontario Heritage Foundation will pay the other 50 per cent. Council also agreed to pick up the remaining $5,000 on a $17,000 study aimed at long-term stabilization.

The decision followed a presentation by OHF spokesman Dan Schneider who said the Ontario government agency had deemed the mill to be of provincial significance.

Constructed in 1846, it is the last of eight mills which once stood the Raisin River.

The township is also asking the Raisin Region Conservation Authority to assist with the township's 50 per cent contribution.

Long term stabilization could cost up to $100,000, preliminary estimates show.

Authority General Manager Jay Currier said the Authority could adopt the project if the board of directors so choose.

He said a cost-sharing formula involving all 10 member municipalities would have to be devised with Charlottenburgh likely picking up a higher proportion as the major benefitting municipality.

Mr. Schneider said mill owner Marjorie McMartin was prepared to turn the building over to a public agency, a condition which council placed on its support of rehabilitation.

He told council the mill was in danger of collapsing at any time. As a temporary measure, the OHF had proposed stabilizing the walls and creating a breakwater wall to prevent the Spring run-off from smashing against the structure.

However, it is now too late to install the breakwater wall before Spring, he pointed out, although the wall might be installed later in the year.

The cost of short-term stabilization (phase one) is estimated at $39,000 of which $16,000 is for the breakwater wall.

Long term stabilization (phase two) could cost up to $100,000 if new foundations are needed.

Council agreed to pay half the cost of phase one, which is now reduced to $23,000 due to the inability to construct the breakwater wall.

When the phase two study is completed and the Conservation Authority has ruled on its possible involvement, council will decide whether to support long-term stabilization and possible renovation of the facility.

Mr. Schneider noted the mill could be restored or converted to some revenue producing use.

He said the OHF became involved in the project at the request of local citizens.

About a dozen citizens were present at last week's council meeting to support the restoration project.

Councillors Stuart Buchan and Larry Gordon who were extremely hesitant to support the scheme originally, said they were now satisfied that the project had merit.

At the original council meeting, the two said there was a limit to how much the township could afford to spend on heritage restoration and were concerned that a final price for complete restoration was unavailable.

Mr. Schneider said it was not possible to determine how much it would cost to put the building to some use since several options were available. A study would have to be done to evaluate the options, he pointed out.

Drain funds decreased

Charlottenburgh Township has decided to follow provincial guidelines and cut tile drainage assistance to 50 per cent.

Previously, farmers could receive loan assistance for 75 per cent of their tile drainage projects to a maximum of $20,000.

The Ministry of Agriculture has started apportioning money to the municipalities for tile drainage on the basis that it will be given out at the 50 per cent rate.

Legally, the township council can provide a higher percentage of funding, but if it does so, it could exhaust the provincial allocation leaving some farmers with no assistance.

He said no options would be available, however, if the mill collapsed in the meantime.

Although reluctant to put a figure on future work, he said he would not be surprised if it cost another $200,000 to renovate the building after it is stabilized.

He pointed out that other sources of funding, such as Wintario and private donations, might be available at that stage of the project.

Wilfred Johnston of the Glengarry Historical Society expressed support for the project as did the Martintown Women's Institute which represents about 50 members.

Three individuals also wrote letters of support for the scheme.

Local wins award

Elmer Gadbois of RR1 Cornwall was a Gold Seal Award Winner at the annual meeting of the Glengarry County Milk Committee on Thursday, March 4.

Ken McKinnon, chairman of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board presented the award for low bacteria count and low leucocyte count (low white cell count).

Council says no to new centre

A spokesman for the proposed alcoholic treatment centre on Laggan Road failed yesterday to re-enlist Lochiel Township Council's support.

Gateway House President and Administrator Don Riopelle appeared before council to question why the township had abandoned its original support of the planned $660,000 alcoholic rehabilitation centre.

Although originally endorsing the concept in principle, council recently decided not to support the necessary re-zoning to accommodate the three-storey, 20-unit facility.

"When we got a petition requesting that we not go ahead with it, we thought we should not go ahead with the re-zoning," Reeve Ken MacLennan explained.

Residents in the vicinity fear an institutional use in a farming community will create disruption, a charge Mr. Riopelle has consistently denied.

He has called a public meeting at the township hall for Friday at 2 p.m. to explain his project to the residents.

He noted that his non-charitable organization has already invested money in the property on the basis of council's original support.

Mr. Riopelle said he had followed the channels proposed by township officials.

When Reeve Ken MacLennan said the project was made known to all councillors at a council meeting, Councillor Ron MacDonell denied knowledge of such a meeting.

Councillor MacDonell said he must have missed that meeting.

"I think you were here," Reeve MacLennan insisted.

Councillor Linda Kennedy said she would only support the project if the objections were withdrawn by neighbors.

Deputy Reeve Maurice Jeaurond said he had nothing against the project personally "but the local people around that area were not notified in any way."

He suggested Gateway House should have engaged in "a little public relations".

"The people didn't know what was coming and I don't blame them for feeling that way (negatively)."

Mr. Riopelle said his organization only received CMHC backing for the project recently and was holding off on a public meeting until the approval came through.

"I don't feel the community in there wants it," Councillor MacDonell said. "I wouldn't want it next to my place."

He said Gateway House should have waited before investing the money.

"You went ahead and you didn't have the total approval," he said.

Gateway House Program Director Anne DeWaal said neighbors of the organization's rehabilitation house in Ottawa have not encountered problems.

"The neighbors have found that we have been better neighbors than some of the other people on the street," she said.

The half dozen ratepayers attending the meeting were not convinced, however, indicating they would still oppose the centre.

Don Fraser said he was even "less convinced" than before the facility would be a success.

He said the organization has limited financing and questioned what qualified staff would be on hand to administer the centre.

He said he was concerned about personal security as well.

"I'm trying to raise a young family not a thousand yards away from it (the proposed site)," the father of two said.

other local dignitaries have been invited to the festivities.

On this occasion, Alexandria Footwear Ltd. will also announce the names of two students of GDHS-ESRG who will each receive a $250 bursary and who will be given a complete Adidas Sports outfit. A boy and a girl will thus be rewarded for their athletic and academic standings.

On April 5, at Four Seasons Hotel in Toronto, Adidas of Canada has organized a national press conference to mark the accomplishment of their Alexandria plant. Mayor Jean Paul Touchette, John Cormier, chairman of the industrial committee, the ministers of Cultural and Recreational Affairs Reuben Baretz and Gordon Walker will all be present and there is a possibility that Premier Bill Davis will also attend.

Teachers settle

School teachers in the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board have been given salary increases of more than 12 per cent, Laurent Poirier, administrator of personnel informed The News on Monday.

The collective agreement which had been reached in mid-January and ratified by both parties was signed on Monday at the Board Office in Cornwall.

Teachers had to be satisfied however, with a letter of intent that the Board would do its utmost to maintain the current parent-teacher-ratio commonly known as PTR. They had been aiming for a contract clause guaranteeing this.

Retroactive to September 1, 1981, the scale increase is for a 12.5 per cent increase for the first year of the contract and 12.25 for next year. The contract expires August 31, 1983.

Stage still alive

The Alexandria Lions Club has not given up on its idea of a permanent stage for Island Park.

Club President Michel Ferland said the Lions' committee studying the plan will get final details and cost estimates together and approach the town's Park and Recreation Committee once again.

Last week, the Park and Recreation Committee turned down the club's offer to build a stage, suggesting that the private service club donate their money towards something else, such as a second ball park.

"It was suggested if the Lions' Club wishes to contribute funds for recreation that they investigate some of these other venues," the committee minutes stated.

The club proposed the stage—which could cost up to $50,000—in a letter January 26.

In addition to serving at the annual July 1 festivities, "we also believe that this permanent stage could also be used for other activities in the summer, by various clubs and organizations performing such events as outdoor concerts, plays, festivals, etc.," July 1 Entertainment Chairman Jacques Trotter wrote.

The stage would also contain storage space and dressing rooms for the park.

Mr. Ferland said the stage could not be built without the town's permission and the club would have to determine how strongly the Park and Recreation Committee feels about the project.

"I think over four years, we've spent thousands of dollars on that park," Mr. Ferland said.

He said the club has many worthwhile causes in which it could invest its money and "I don't think we'd ever build a ball diamond."

He said the stage would add a new dimension to the park by providing "cultural enrichment."

Farmers up coverage

More and more farmers will be insuring their crops this year as the cost of production continues to rise, crop insurance agent Adrien Carriere of Alexandria expects.

Fifteen years ago it cost $97 to produce an acre of corn and with the interest rate at six per cent at that time, the carrying cost was only $5.82 per acre. Today it costs $348.85 to produce the same acre of corn and with interest at 20 per cent the carrying cost alone is $69.77.

With seed grain costing $200 per acre to produce, the interest on this is $40. Very few farmers can afford to plant their spring crop without borrowing the money. Crop insurance is almost "a must," when one considers the risks of flood or drought, hail, wind or early frost, disease and insect loss.

Premiums for 1982 on general cash crops range from $3.15 per acre for spring grains to $13.40 per acre on the high price option for colored beans. Claims paid out for 1981 will total near 20 million dollars with processing tomatoes, soybeans and corn receiving the greatest share. Excessive rainfall in Southwestern Ontario and Eastern Ontario was the key peril affecting these crops in the past.

Len Davies, sales manager for the Crop Insurance Commission of Ontario says this program offers farmers the security of covering his costs if a loss occurs with very reasonable premium rates. The Federal Government matches the farmers' half of premium costs, while the Government of Ontario pays all administration costs of the program. Currently, there are 42 different crop plans offered to farmers. The Commission has 101 private insurance agents on the road during the winter months calling on their farm customers in addition to Carriere.

"We don't use any high pressure selling techniques," explains Davies. "My goal is for every farmer in Ontario to understand what crop insurance is about and how good a value it is."

ADRIEN CARRIERE

The deadline for application is May 1. To cover any one crop, corn for example, a farmer must insure all the acreage that he grows of that crop. However he may insure only one of several crops if he wishes. Most farmers who grow corn and spring grain insure both crops. It is permissible however, to insure only the corn and not the spring grain.

Crop insurance can be used as security on crop production loans. The right to indemnity can be assigned to a second party.

Council to install executive

The Seaway Valley District Health Council's new executive will be installed on April 1.

Keith Jodoin of Cornwall, who is past president of the Board of Health of Ontario and active with the Board of Health locally, is the new chairman.

Tatiana Labekovski of Cornwall retains the post of vice-chairman and Suzanne Bowen of Alexandria the post of secretary-treasurer.

The members-at-large, who will be appointed to head the council's standing committees, are: Dr. Duane Justus of Winchester; Carl Ward of Chesterville and Dr. Margaret Hansen-Grosche of Rockland.

Two new members, both municipal representatives, have joined the 17-member council this year. Ward, who is reeve of Chesterville, and Lucien Berniquez, reeve of North Plantagenet, join the third municipal representative on council, Cornwall Mayor Gerald Parisien.

Provider representatives include Dr. Justus, Dr. Hansen-Grosche, Dr. James T. Baird of Cornwall and Dr. Joseph F. Dietrich of Wendover.

Citizen-consumer representatives are Jodoin, Labekovski, Bowen, Laurent Gayen of Hawkesbury, Fr. Frank R. Lawler of Hawkesbury, Melicent Maguire of Cornwall, Louise Sloan of Morrisburg and Mavis Wert of Avonmore.

The council expects to fill two vacancies on the council soon, Executive Director Gerald Lecour says.

'Jaws of life' objective

The Glen Walter Volunteer Fire Department started a campaign last December to raise funds to purchase a set of "The Jaws of Life."

"So far we have raised about $3,700" said Howard McEvoy, deputy chief of the fire department and the man in charge of the campaign. The type of jaws needed cost $12,000. Some of the donations received have been as high as $500.

The fire department is hoping to get a grant from the province and will also seek help from the township and county.

The three volunteer fire departments in Charlottetown Township will all benefit from "The Jaws of Life." They will be kept at the Glen Walter Fire Dept. but will be available to the department which needs them.

Marina snubbed

Charlottenburgh Township Council won't be purchasing Gray's Creek Marina.

At a regular meeting last week, council turned down its option on the property which is being offered for $160,000 by the Raisin Region Conservation Authority.

If the City of Cornwall also turns down its option to buy, the marina will be placed on the open market.

Charlottenburgh Councillors indicated they had no use for the marina which was originally built to accommodate boathouse owners illegally occupying City of Cornwall and provincial crown land at the mouth of Gray's Creek.

The 50-slip marina was opened three years ago at a cost of $614,000. Although both the city and provincial Ministry of Natural Resources footed most of the bill for the alternative accommodation, neither would evict the boathouse squatters after the marina was completed.

The Authority subsequently let the slips out to pleasure boaters.

Although leased to the Glengarry Marina Operators Association for a token $1 a year, the Authority is still faced with maintenance costs totalling about $10,000 per year.

Since the facility is not fulfilling its original objective, the Authority decided to sell the marina and 14 acres of adjacent land.

An independent appraiser set the market value of the marina at $160,000 but another $30,000 would have to be spent by a prospective new owner to build a roadway to serve the facility.

The marina is now served by a long roadway through the 107-acre Gray's Creek Conservation Area.

The channel leading to the St. Lawrence River has silted in and will probably have to be dredged and even widened, Authority General Manager Jay Carrier said.

WMS LEARNS OF NEW MINORITIES

The WMS Evening Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Church met in the church hall on Tuesday, March 2. Cheryl Munro, Group Two leader, opened with a poem "Measure of Love," and this was followed by a reading on this year's theme "Pluralism" by Mabel Christie. The ladies were presented with a questionnaire "What do you think?" which stimulated everyone's thinking. Bertha Carter read an article on religious rights in Canada, and Catherine Munro outlined the meaning of New Minorities—assimilation, separation, and understanding. A film "From Every Race and Nation" was viewed, and all participated in the study period, with Stella Fitzgerald, Honey Heinsma and Fairley Kennedy. Cheryl Munro closed the study period with prayer. President Helen MacLeod welcomed everyone to the business meeting, and thanked Group Two for their informative study. Vera MacEwen announced that the Rally will be held on May 20 at this church, with afternoon and evening sessions. The speaker will be Rev. Wallace of Korea, and Dr. Howes from Saskatchewan. The meeting closed with a poem "The World is Mine" and prayer. Hostesses were Marion Cumming and Donnie Vallance.

PUBLIC SCHOOL NEWS

Maxville Public School hosted a very successful broomball tournament—540 students took part over a two-day period, and the Maxville girls came off as "B" champions. Planning is underway for the year-end Grade Six trip—this time to see the Expos vs St. Louis baseball game early in June in Montreal. Dr. Jaggsar paid a visit to the school last month, discussing life in the Caribbean with Grade Six. The Great Canadian Theatre Company will arrive on Thursday, March 18 to perform "The Gadget" and Charles Hayter will be reading selected works of the poet Robert Service on either Tuesday or Wednesday, March 30 or 31. Next Monday, March 15, the School Committee will meet to consider the fact that the SD&G Board is going to review the terms of reference of school committees. This meeting will be Maxville School committee's opportunity to develop its own recommendations concerning the future role of school committees, and should interest every parent.

LIONS ACTIVITIES

Many members of the Maxville Lions' Club made their annual safari to Moose Creek last week, enjoying their dinner meeting there, and paying off in total the balance of their commitment towards the Moose Creek pool—$7,800. The Lions sponsored the January birthday party at the Maxville Manor, with their own brand of music and fun. Their annual Bonspiel netted a profit of $664, and this week's 50-50 draw was worth $84, with the same amount of course going to the lucky winner, Harold Willis. Remember that this is how they raise the money for these projects. Oh, yes—they have another of their popular breakfasts planned, this one for Sunday, March 21 at the Complex, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.—a delightful treat either before or after church.

HAD BIBLE QUIZ

The Afternoon Auxiliary of St. Andrew's WMS met on Tuesday, with a short business meeting conducted by President Gladys Roulston. She then opened the devotions with the poem "Thank God for Little Things." Mrs. Vera MacEwen, president of Glengarry Presbyterian, was the guest speaker, bringing news and greetings from the organization. Mrs. Bertha MacRae read the poem "We go this Way But Once," and Mrs. D. G. McNaughton read the 23rd Psalm. There was a meditation, and a quiz on the Books of the Bible. The next meeting will be the Easter Thankoffering on Tuesday, April 6.

WI HOSTS MANOR BIRTHDAY PARTY

On February 25 the Maxville Women's Institute hosted the Manor Birthday Party with President Gladys Roulston bringing greetings to all the residents. The entertainment included Cecil MacDiarmid and Ralph McIntosh, violinists, accompanied by Margaret MacCrimmon at the piano. Mrs. Marie Campbell sang and accompanied herself with the autoharp. Mrs. Joan O'Hara and Catherine McEwen led a sing-song. There was Scottish dancing by Sherri Shields, Cathy Arkinstall, and Kathy MacGregor. There were lovely birthday gifts for the residents celebrating, and a special corsage for Ethel Ostrom on her 100th birthday. Congratulations in February to Elizabeth Butler, Jean Campbell, Mary Campbell, Mary Duncan, Ethel Ostrom, Adrianna Quimet, Mary Ross, Lucy Rowe, Mabel Stewart, George Begg, Leo Lalonde and Ewen Munro.

ACTIVITIES AT THE MANOR

Activity co-ordinator Anne LeRoux is presently on leave of absence, and her place has been taken by Mrs. June Lovesey who has provided much volunteer help over the past year, especially in the crafts room. On Wednesdays Mrs. Lillian Thornton, assisted by Mrs. Craig, conducts a liquid embroidery class, the main goal of which is to bring together a small group of residents who share the common interest of painting and applying different techniques. For many, this provides an alternative from conventional embroidery which requires good eyesight and a steady hand, and the projects are tapered to the individual's skill level and ability. The choir meets every Friday afternoon for practice under the direction of Mrs. Isabel MacLeod, and their performance was one of the highlights of the impressive World Day of Prayer service at the Manor on Friday afternoon. Speakers at the Men's Club meetings this last month included Major Grant MacGillivray, Heather McRae and Mrs. Bonnie Cappuccino.

The next meeting of the Maxville Manor Auxiliary will be held on Wednesday, March 17 at 8 p.m. in the Manor lounge. All members are invited to attend.

FILM SERIES ATTRACTS MANY

The Focus on the Family film series is attracting a very interested audience—the next one, the fourth, is "Preparing for Adolescence"—dealing with the origins of self-doubt, the canyons of inferiority and the secret of self-esteem. This will be at the Senior School on Wednesday evening, March 17 at 7:30 p.m.

PARTY TIME FOR 4-H CLUB

The Maxville 4-H Club has progressed to its last meeting which will be on Tuesday, March 16. So far the girls have made Scottish currant bread, spiral twists, and whole wheat bread. They have also tried their hands at making bow knots and daisies with their dough. This week the club will be having a party mainly organized by the girls. A few mothers and the executive from the Women's Institute will be invited to take part in the festivities. The theme will be Italian, with pizzas and lasagnas surely present. The Achievement Day program for the Club will be held on Thursday, April 22 at 7 p.m. at the Glengarry District High School in Alexandria. The Club's exhibition will consist of dough sculpture—edible or inedible—on the theme of farm life and made by the members of the Club. This should be very interesting to see, and everyone is invited.

Day of Prayer held at Manor

A very impressive Day of Prayer Service was held on Friday afternoon at Maxville Manor. Mrs. June Lovesey, Activities Co-ordinator, led the service and was assisted by Mrs. Isabel MacLeod in the musical part of the program. Six volunteer pupils from the Maxville Senior Public School distributed the books, took up the offering, and assisted the residents in other ways.

Residents taking reading parts in the service were: Neil Donald MacLeod, Bill Dockstader, D'Assise Bray, Everett Helmer, Helen Hope, Catherine Kippen, Mrs. Weagant, Hazel MacCallum, Ella MacIntosh, Hazel Coleman, Isabel MacRae, Hughena MacKinnon, Hazel Begg, Mary

Ross, Mabel MacLeod and Margaret MacLeod.

Rene Carriere opened the service with a solo, "Amazing Grace," and Neil MacLeod gave the Call to Worship Theme. A special prayer was offered in English by Mrs. Hughena MacKinnon and in French by Tony Poulin. Mrs. Thelma MacConachy led the gathering in the Lord's Prayer.

Hymns chosen by the residents were: What a Friend we have in Jesus, Rock of Ages, I love to Tell the Story, Onward Christian Soldiers, I need Thee every Hour, and The Church in the Wildwood. Mrs. Lovesey thanked all those who took part in the Service.

Homemakers hold shops

The Glengarry teaching Homemaker Workshop has been holding monthly gatherings at Glengarry Sports Palace with some very interesting guests in attendance. On February 2, 1982, Henri Dore, the butcher at the Alexandria IGA, demonstrated to the group the art of cutting meat in order to obtain maximum dollar value and good taste. The storing and purchasing of various meat types was discussed at length. He also provided a ham as a door prize which was won by Heather Urquhart.

Two very talented ladies from our community, taught weaving techniques to the group on March 2. Mrs. Inez MacPherson and Mrs. Gertie MacDonald provided a lot of expertise and creativity as we all learned how to make practical, economical crafts.

All workdays include meal planning and preparation with different recipes each time. It is sponsored by the SD&G Counties' Social Services, teaching homemakers' branch in co-operation with Glengarry Developmental Services Unit and Glengarry Adult Protective Services.

Battle for third

With only a handful of games remaining in the Seaway Valley Industrial Hockey League the Green Valley Jets and Apple Hill 78's will battle for third spot in the final league standings while the remaining positions are established.

The final league games will also feature a close race for the top scorer trophy as Green Valley's Leo Seguin and Ottawa Hotel's Frank St. Pierre battle it out. Only two points separate the two players and they both have the same number of games to play.

In play last week Apple Hill drubbed St. Anne's 21-0 on Wednesday night and last Monday in a doubleheader North Lancaster outlasted Apple Hill 10-7 and in the second game Glen Robertson dropped Green Valley by an identical score. Last Sunday's lone game saw Ottawa Hotel overpower Glen Robertson, 15-5.

The Molson Player-of-the-Month award was won by Frank St. Pierre who collected 24 points for star selections while collecting 23 goals and 12 assists during the month's games.

There are still openings for entries in the upcoming intermediate tournament on April 29, 30, May 1 and 2 at the Glengarry Sports Palace. This event will be a 16-team tournament with over $1,000 in prize money. The team entry fee is $150.

More information can be obtained by phoning (938-6524) after 6:30 p.m.

Tickets for the league banquet are presently on sale and can be obtained from league members.

Bowlers advance

An Alexandria youth bowling team will represent Eastern Ontario in a provincial bowling five-pin tournament in Scarborough on Sunday.

The Alexandria Bantam bowlers (aged 8 to 10 years) won the eastern district in a recent competition held in Cornwall. The team is comprised of the following Alexandria youths: Stephane Menard, Richard Chevrier, Timmy Lampron, Jacques Sauve and Joel Seguin.

The five-member team will be accompanied by their coach Roger Menard and Daniel Dubois who qualified for the provincial competition as a single bowler in the senior class.

Mr. Menard who is also the manager of Alexandria Lanes, said the competition is called the "Four Steps to Stardom" and is the Youth Bowling Council's biggest tourney of its type. The fourth step of the competition is the Canadian championships which will be held in Saskatoon sometime in May.

The Toronto tourney this weekend will feature 18 teams from different zones across the province.

Mr. Menard said it was the first time a town team had advanced this far in the competition and he feels his team "has a good chance."

Dubois and another Alexandria bowler, Sylvie Menard, have qualified for the Pepsi Challenge national tournament in Toronto on March 20 which is restricted to senior players.

Gaels win Cornwall hockey tournament

Glengarry District High School Gaelic hockey team won three consecutive games to capture the Cornwall High School Annual Invitational Tournament held on Thursday in Cornwall.

The six-team event was hosted by St. Lawrence High School at the Bob Turner Memorial Centre.

The final win, a 5-4 decision over Cornwall Collegiate Vocational School, came in dramatic fashion. With the score tied 4-4 the tournament rules called for simultaneous penalty shots to be taken by a designated member of each club.

Jeff Carter lined up at the red line for Cornwall and Glengarry captain Frank Morris held his team's hopes. Carter hit the post and Morris scored.

At one point in the final game the "boys on the hill" led 4-1 but Cornwall responded with three unanswered goals in the latter stages of the second period to tie the game 4-4.

Jim Danaher, Mike Campeau and Frank Morris put the locals ahead 3-0 before Steve Carter replied for Cornwall with a minute remaining in the first period.

Eric Paquin retained the Gaels' three-goal margin with a marker at the 10:01 mark of the second period but then CCVS struck for their three goals. Herbie Seguin, Steve Carter with his second, and Frank Sinfield were the markers.

Alain Lalonde was in nets for all three Gaels' victories.

In order to gain a final berth the Gaels had to win two matches in the double round-robin qualifying round. In the first game of the tournament Glengarry edged North Dundas, 3-2 and downed St. Lawrence 7-5 in their second encounter. Immediately after beating the host team the Gaels had to take the ice to play CCVS in the final.

Coach Larry Yaguchi said he was proud of the school team in their performance on and off the ice. He added that he was impressed with the physical condition of the players.

The last game was not the only tight contest in which the Gaels were involved. In the first match the Gaels needed another Morris clutch goal with only 20 seconds left on the clock to down North Dundas. Joel D'Amour and Brendan MacDonald had given Glengarry an early 2-0 lead only for the NDDHS team to answer with singles by Bourk Boyd and Keith Moore.

In the second game Joel D'Amour's second goal of the game with 6:55 remaining proved to be the winner. Brendan MacDonald, with his second of the game, rounded out the game's scoring with an empty netter. Other Glengarry scorers were Joel Doiron with a pair and a single by Maurice Bellefeuille.

St. Lawrence scorers were

Mike Fox, Brian Dicola, Jacques Dionne, Pat Carson and Norm Hurlbise.

Char-Lan and La Citadelle were the other teams in the tournament.

The tournament rules included no body checking.

When you add up all the benefits of Lasso and one-pass shallow incorporation... you can't beat them!

If you grow corn or soybeans... try Lasso® herbicide and one-pass shallow incorporation. You'll get unbeatable control of grasses such as green and yellow foxtail, fall panicum, barnyardgrass and crabgrass. You'll also get excellent crop safety along with no carryover.

1982 FARM PROGRESS

AGRICULTURAL NEWS

by G. J. Smith, P.Ag.
 Glengarry

1981 will be a year remembered by many—some for different reasons. The abnormal weather conditions and depressing economic conditions have created hardships for many farm families. Some farm operations are under severe financial stress and only good financial management, good farm management and a survival attitude will bring them through this problem. High interest rates and increased cost of production have affected all incomes in the agricultural industry and it is extremely important that now is the time to tighten the purse strings and ensure most effective use of your resources. This is the time of year when we are looking for fertilizer, seed and possibly equipment. It is important to shop around and get the best prices available. With crop prices such as they are, make the best use of crop inputs. Do not skimp on the fertilizers and herbicides, but also do not apply more than is required.

INCOME TAX DAY
 Many hours are being spent now on bringing the farm books up to date. I have received many questions on income tax. The new federal budget in November has created considerable confusion and controversy. If you are filing your own income tax, it is important to understand the implications of the new budget and the tax regulations outlined in the Farmers and Fishermen's Tax Guide.

In order to bring farmers up to date on income tax regulations, a one-day seminar has been planned for March 15 in the F. J. Perrish Bldg. at KCAT. The program will begin at 9 a.m. and will conclude at 3:30 p.m. The morning program will consist of two concurrent sessions. One session will deal with the tax liabilities incurred when a farm business is sold to either a stranger or to someone in the family, the other session in the morning will be for part-time or novice farmers.

The afternoon program will deal with annual tax filing, such as implications of the budget proposals, quota purchases and sales, five-year averaging capital gains reserve, principal residences, spousal partnerships or wages; farmer pensions etc. There will be a registration fee of $5 which will include the noon meal and proceedings.

MANAGEMENT SEMINAR
 There is also a one-day seminar to be held on Saturday, March 27 at the W. B. George Centre, KCAT, on farm management for part-time farmers. This conference will cover income tax, bookkeeping, cream production, heavy calf production, beekeeping, organic farming, women on the farm, farm energy, beef cattle and sheep, etc. The program will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 4 p.m. There is a registration fee of $5 and this should be received prior to March 27. Please contact Phyllis Brown at 1-258-3411.

DAIRY SEMINAR
 Ontario Hydro, Paul Mueller Co. and Tuco (Div. of Upjohn) are sponsoring a Dairy Seminar to be held on Tuesday, March 30 at the Bonnie Glen, starting at 10 a.m. Some of the topics to be discussed are a new drug for dry cows, increased profits through efficient milk cooling, heat recovery from bulk milk cooling, high energy efficient motors, practical application of Lutalyse (Prostaglandins), energy conservation in the dairy unit. Lunch will be courtesy of the sponsoring companies.

BUS TOURS
 The Glengarry Holstein Club is planning a bus tour to visit Holstein herds in Renfrew County on April 2. Those who have not yet purchased their tickets should do so by contacting this office.

BARN MEETING
 The Glengarry/Prescott Ayrshire Barn Meeting will be held on Saturday, April 3 at MacGregor Bros., Dalhousie Station, starting at 1 p.m.

BREEDERS' SALE
 Glengarry/Prescott Ayrshire Club is planning a breeders' sale to be held on November 5 at Eastern Holstein Sales Inc. RR1 Cardinal. Anyone interested in more information or interested in consigning animals for this sale should contact Ian Cumming or Lawrence McQuat.

ANNUAL MEETING
 The annual meeting for Eastern Breeders Inc. will be held on March 18 at 10:30 a.m. at the W. B. George Centre Auditorium, Kemptonville. The cost of carrying a crop loss for a year has hit at unprecedented levels, making crop insurance a viable income production for 1982. Liabilities for crop loss in 1981 reached a record level of 453 million dollars while farmer premiums amounted to 16 million. The number of farmers purchasing crop insurance has increased from 5,000 in 1972 to 28,000 in 1981.

There is a new plan for unseeded acreage benefit which will pay for one-third of a farmer's guaranteed production if the crop was unable to be planted due to weather conditions. This benefit is available with a deposit of $1 per acre on the total acreage intended for spring seeded crops. There is a hay and pasture plan, new forage seeding insurance plan as well as plans for winter corn and small grain production.

With the high cost of production and tight financial situation on many farms, it would be to your best interest to consider crop insurance. For more information, contact this office or the Crop Insurance Agents: Adrien Carriere, Alexandria (525-1271) for Lancaster, Kenyon and Lochiel Townships; Donald MacAllister, RR1 Lunenburg (537-2005) for Charlottetown Township.

ON THE MOVE

Mrs. Pearl Thompson spent several days in Montreal as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilcox. Monday visitors of Mrs. Thompson were, Mrs. Isobell White, Mrs. Adelaide Shaw, Mrs. Isobell Murphy and Julie Pidgeon.

KNOX UCW NEWS

The March meeting of Knox UCW was held in the church hall with Mrs. Albert Seguin presiding. She also led the devotional portion.

Opening with bible readings from 1st and 2nd Samuel, Mrs. Seguin then spoke of Abigail known as the woman pacifist. Following a quarrel between her husband, Nabel and David, Abigail made peace by feeding David's army. After Nabel's death David comforted Abigail and in due time they were married and had a son. Abigail was a great comforter and helpmate to David. Two hymns were sung and this portion closed with prayer.

The yearly programs were given out and it was decided to hold a bake sale July 3 instead of the scheduled event.

Mrs. Mary Matheson read an item 'Today' stressing we should not put off calling on others or doing necessary chores, tomorrow might be too late. We must do them today.

Mrs. Seguin reported on cards and visits to sick and shut ins. A card of thanks was read from a member who was recently in the hospital.

Members were reminded that the spring rummage sale will be held April 30 and May 1. All help would be appreciated.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

On Friday, March 5 area residents gathered at The Church of St. John the Evangelist for the World Day of Prayer services. Fr. Gordon Warden welcomed all to the service and gave the opening prayer. Mrs. Lorna Everson gave the introduction to the service, prepared by the Women of Ireland, the theme being 'The people of God, gathered for worship, scattered for service.' Taking part in the service were women from St. Andrew's United Church, Bainsville; St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, South Lancaster; St. Joseph's RC, Lancaster; Knox United, Lancaster; St. Lawrence RC, Curry Hill and the host church. Several women of St. John's Church acted out the drama 'Brigid of Kildare,' a woman of great faith. Organist for the occasion was Gordon Turnbull. The offering goes to the Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada. Refreshments were served by the host church.

GDHS NEWSLINE

by Todd Hambleton
With just one week of preparation, the senior boys hockey team swept all three games they played in at a Cornwall tournament last week, en route to the overall championship. All three games were one-goal affairs including the final, a 5-4 upset win over CCVS. Frankie Morris notched the tournament clincher in a shootout. Congratulations to coach Larry Yaguchi and his club, who playing an underdog role, upended tough Cornwall competition.

Last week marked the end of the senior intramural volleyball season, with the championship game being played on Friday. Next intramural activities are junior boys volleyball and junior girls indoor broomball. A demonstration of indoor broomball, a new activity at GDHS, was held at noon on Tuesday.

Letter-grade progress reports were handed out to students on Friday, along with the announcement that parent-teacher interviews will be held Thursday, March 11. Students will be dismissed at 2 p.m. Afternoon interviews are from 2-4 p.m., and at night from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Students interested in an exchange trip to Germany should contact the Guidance Office this week. A prime requirement is the ability to speak German fluently.

Students can also visit the Guidance Office for information pertaining to the agricultural summer job programs being offered. Two programs are being introduced, one for those experienced in this field and another for the inexperienced.

There's still time left to enter the Canadian Mental Health Association's High School Essay Contest. Contact any English teacher in the school for more information.

Mrs. Jane Wright tells UCW of stress

The Alexandria United Church Women met in the Church on the Hill Hall recently with Mrs. Jane Wright, co-principal of GDHS, as guest speaker.

Mrs. Wright spoke on "stress." She distributed questionnaires with which participants were able to evaluate the level of stress in their lives. The results were surprising, as many taken-for-granted factors in our daily lives produce certain levels of stress. Even medical problems add to the buildup of the stress level.

With the use of charts illustrating self-help techniques, she presented several ideas for changing attitudes and habits so as to reduce stress and thereby improve health and work performance.

Mrs. Wright was introduced by Kay Houseman, program chairwoman, and thanked by Carol Baxter.

After a brief social hour hosted by Ruth Paige, and Bessie Clingen, the meeting reconvened with a devotional period led by Carol Baxter. She brought an inspiring message of love and hope as exemplified by the life work of Edith Radley, recently retired medical missionary in Zaire, Africa. Miss Radley described her fellow UCW members in Zaire as being enthusiastic church workers who labor in the Lord's work just as we do here in Canada.

Helen Upton, president, conducted the business meeting in which plans were made to assist in the 100th birthday of former UCW member Ethel Ostrom.

The group will also assist in the Communion Service to be held at the Community Nursing Home on Holy Thursday, April 8 at 10:30 a.m.. A UCW luncheon and meeting will follow this service.

Another Vietnam on the way

Could El Salvador become the next Vietnam?

The parallels are striking. The U.S. administration is making pronouncements almost daily about outside Communist influence in El Salvador. We are told the Russians and Cubans are sending arms and advisors. (Presumably only the U.S. is morally permitted to sell arms all around the world.)

In a front page article in the Globe and Mail last week, however, journalists said they found little evidence to substantiate the charges. In fact, the guerrillas they saw had American and Belgian weapons.

In recent weeks, U.S. Secretary of State Alexander Haig has been blaming the Nicaraguan government for the Salvadoran conflict. Nicaragua has a left-wing government following the ousting of its former military government.

"The operations of the guerrilla forces in El Salvador are controlled from external command and control," Haig told newsmen.

It's the old "outside enemy" routine, a tactic employed by shrewd politicians for centuries to whip their people into a state of paranoid hysteria.

Prior to the Vietnam intervention, we were told that the Chinese were running everything. However, the half a million U.S. servicemen who were eventually sent over to "save" Vietnam captured precious few Chinese.

Provocation is the other excuse the U.S. used in Vietnam. The bombing of North Vietnam was ordered, so the president said at the time, because North Vietnamese torpedo boats attacked the U.S. destroyer Maddox in international waters.

Many years later, during a U.S. senate investigation, the truth came out. The Maddox had shelled North Vietnam first. The navy admitted it.

Now we have the "atrocity" story in El Salvador. Last month Haig pointed to a picture in a right-wing French newspaper, Le Figaro, as evidence of Nicaraguan atrocities against Miskito Indians.

Haig used the photograph to tell a meeting of American union leaders of the "most atrocious genocidal actions that are being taken by the Nicaraguan government against their Indian populations along the east coast."

The caption under the photograph read, "The massacre of fiercely anti-Castro Miskito Indians by Nicaragua's Socialist-Marxist barbudos (Cuban advisors) last December. Two hundred Indians were cut to pieces by grenades and automatic arms."

Last week, Le Figaro was forced to admit the story was a hoax when another French newspaper proved the photo was actually a 1978 picture of Red Cross workers burning casualties of the Nicaraguan civil war.

A U.S. state department spokesman replied, "It is unfortunate that the photo was misidentified. Nonetheless, our views on the Nicaraguan treatment of the Miskito Indians remains as it was, as stated by the Secretary of State."

Indeed, let's not let the facts interfere with the economic self-interest of U.S. foreign policy.

Haig and his cohorts choose to ignore the verified atrocities, such as the rape and murder of five American nuns and lay workers by right-wing supporters of the military regime. He also chooses to ignore the condemnation of the Salvadoran army by three U.S. congressmen who recently visited the country.

The three—two Democrats and one Republican—were unanimous in condemning the regime, as have all independent investigators.

The three said they are now convinced the Salvadoran armed forces are guilty of massive human rights violations, including the mass murder of thousands of civilians.

"A land without justice. That to me sums up El Salvador," said one congressman.

Likewise putting gaping holes in Haig's credibility was the television network which captured pictures of U.S. servicemen carrying M-16 rifles in a Salvadoran combat zone. Haig had repeatedly claimed that the Americans were only advisors and did not enter combat zones. (The same thing was said about "advisors" in Vietnam, prior to widespread U.S. involvement.)

We may never get the whole truth about what is happening in El Salvador. Both sides in the conflict are bound to color their stories. It's just that we expect distortion from the "other side." Many of us still labor under the illusion that "our side" tells the truth.

But we're learning.

Aerial spraying questionable

Area fruit grower Gordon Lunan of RR 2, Vankleek Hill, is a happy man this week.

He was recently awarded $500 in small claims court as a result of damage to his raspberry crop from last year's aerial spraying for corn borer.

The spray drifted onto his crop and he lost his harvest.

We learned a tough lesson last year. It was the first time aerial spraying was done on such a widespread basis and it appears the detriments outweigh the benefits.

Although no claims have been made, there was evidence that the spraying also killed many honey bees, thereby adversely affecting another part of the county's economy.

The dangerous side-effects might be tolerable if spraying were the only means to combat corn borer, but it isn't.

As agronomist Bruce Archibald told a meeting of the Stormont Soil and Crop Improvement Association a few months ago, there are few advantages in spraying against corn borer unless the infestation goes above 50 per cent.

On the other hand, selection of varieties of corn with good standability will help more than spraying, he suggested.

His advice comes from tests on actual crops in areas which were infested with corn borer below the 50 per cent level and did not benefit significantly from spraying.

One area farmer has suggested that by using different hybrids and changing his strain of corn every few years, his plants have a high resistance to the corn borer.

Because there is big money in chemicals, we have been conditioned to believe that the chemical industry is our savior. Whether in farming or medicine, we have become hooked on these drugs.

We have forgotten that mother nature also has a way of keeping things in balance. As the above-mentioned farmer noted, the spraying also kills the predators which eat the corn borer.

It is doubtful that we will ever be able to live without chemicals. Indeed, we wouldn't want to. Many are useful and necessary.

The question which we must ask ourselves, however, is whether we are using them to excess.

Founding of Apple Hill

by Angus H. McDonnell

Continuing our News thesis of Apple Hill's first 100 years, we try in this second installment to portray how a railway preliminary exploration crew found a suitable site for a proposed Glengarry railway station.

This station was to be Loch Garry. Due to the low land in the proximate south area of this pioneer hamlet, the building of a station and siding was not feasible. Following intensive scrutiny the alternative site became the birth of Apple Hill.

This is a railway story throughout. In our weeks of research we endeavored to tag all the information bases. Our gratitude for invaluable assistance goes out to the knowledgeable disciple of Glengarry history, an encyclopedia, Ewan (Martintown-Godrich) Ross and Omer Lavallee, corporate historian and Canadian Pacific archivist, Windsor station, Montreal. Also, and unfortunately in this historic matter, the writer vividly recalls the legendary narration, many years ago, by a Canadian Pacific official revealing why Loch Garry was bypassed in favor of Apple Hill.

This informant, a next-of-kin in our railway family, revelled in reminiscing railway folklore especially CPR stories. He was Willie (H.W.) MacDonnell, a native of Greenfield. "Bill" as he was affectionately known, when still a teenager, became a CP brakeman on the Fort William-Schreiber-White River division. He enjoyed a brilliant career that climaxed with his appointment of superintendent of CP lines, Western Ontario, headquarters in London.

Having established authenticity, now let us trek across the fields and then walk the rock ballast and ties.

Among Pierre Berton's many manuscripts relating Canadian history, The National Dream, is, in this writing of special interest. The Great Railway, 1871-81, records how governmental, finance, lakes and mountain barriers were overcome by political leaders, C.P. directors and contractors as they bound Canada from coast to coast with ribbons of steel. Thus the National Dream became a reality.

The Great Railway, the Canadian Pacific main line defeated the Rockies' almost insurmountable road block by a world-famed engineering feat at the Kicking Horse Pass. As a result this rail line connected Vancouver-Montreal-the Maritimes.

That is the overall railway accomplishment in capsule form. However, our interest lies within the Montreal-Toronto segment that involved the United Counties. The Grand Trunk, by November 1856, linked Toronto to Montreal, thus providing south Glengarry, Stormont and Dundas with railway service.

Approximately 25 years later a second line joining Toronto-Montreal was on the drafting board of the Ontario-Quebec Railway. Smiths Falls was to be a divisional point. From Smiths Falls the route would connect with the CP main line from the West at Carleton Place. This proposed route then would be Toronto-Peterborough-Smiths Falls-Carleton Place-Ottawa-Hull-Lachute-Montreal. Turning back the pages of time to this era, it is obvious the central area of the United Counties, Leeds and Grenville were without prospective railway service.

The proposed Ottawa-Montreal Railway across north Glengarry and greatly in demand by Alexandria was survey staked but stalled due to lack of capital. However, a decade of rail service anticipation was to become a reality with a dual announcement—first in Ottawa and then Montreal. Ottawa's railway and lumber tycoon, John R. Booth, would combine the Ottawa-Montreal road with his Canada Atlantic Railway to Depot Harbor. And secondly, the Ontario-Quebec Railway was ready to launch the initial phase of its planned road from Montreal to Smiths Falls by sending out an exploration crew that would cross the mid-section of Glengarry.

The drafting board map of this proposed railway depicted a course almost due west, as the crow would fly, from Montreal to Smiths Falls. Now let us in imagination retrospect join, figuratively speaking, this Ontario-Quebec Railway exploration corps at Vaudreuil. (In late years Dorian.)

The time is May, 1882. The fields have dried and the creeks subsided after the spring thaw. We learn from the superintendent that the station names are to coincide with the post office settlements on or reasonably close to the route. First a customary right-of-way policy must be observed. We will call on the land owner advising the reason of our presence and seek permission to trespass. Obviously the coming of a railway was greeted with full co-operation.

After trekking across Les Comtes de Vaudreuil et Soulanges we are just north of St. Telesphore. The settlement is close enough to warrant a station. Now we are about to cross the Quebec-Ontario border. Here we meet our first station problem. Dalhousie Mills (Stackhouse and Pevril) on the shore of the Delisle River were well established. But some distance to the north. All concerned compromised. Dalhousie would be retained and Mills replaced by station. Hence Dalhousie Station. (Later Dalhousie Mills became known as Old Dalhousie and Dalhousie Station just plain Dalhousie.)

Although Glen Nevis had a post office since 1856, the hamlet was by-passed as a station due to its proximity to Dalhousie Station.

The Glen Norman post office was comparatively close so a platform station site was staked to accommodate mail, express and passenger traffic.

Green Valley's post office was at least a decade younger, 1878. However, a station suitable to house a future telegraph operator made this location a logical choice. The advantage of the "Military Road" (now 34) intersection added importance. This road was the County's chief link connecting McCrimmon-Alexandria and Lancaster. Hence the anticipation of mail, express, freight and passenger revenue.

Glen Roy with an older post office, 1874, and hamlet was similar to Glen Norman. Another platform station with siding was designated.

At this point we note that the route bends slightly northwest and then due west again. Let us say we are near the rear of Hughie (the Farmer) McDonald's farm. The course now leads out of Charlottenburgh into Kenyon below Loch Garry, across the "Indian Lands" and into Roxborough. On the map there is a proposed station marker about two miles south of Gravel Hill. This is to be a "way-freight" divisional point, midway to Smiths Falls. A water tank and a "Y" are to be added facilities.

Almost due south near McMillan's Corners, 1st of Roxborough, is Monkland's post office. Tradition would be maintained by changing Monklands to Monk- (Continued on page 11)

Perspective

Article stirs farmers

Lies, damn lies and statistics.

The latter are taking their lumps this week as Glengarry's Federation of Agriculture takes aim at an article in a January issue of the Globe and Mail, entitled, "Farmers are moving into class of millionaires, survey shows."

The article says "Canadian farmers are moving into the millionaire class, according to a 1981 survey of farm wealth by the Farm Credit Corp., a federal agency that lends money to farmers."

It notes that "after their debts are taken into account, the average net worth of all Canadian farmers, large and small, was found to be just below $441,000 in January, 1981, an amount several times the net worth of the average Canadian family."

In British Columbia and Alberta, the top farmers "had moved well into the millionaire class with an average net worth of less than $500,000."

"Even the smaller farmers are better off than the average family," the report said. "The 30 per cent of farmers with average sales of between $30,000 and $50,000 were worth $386,000 on average and the 40 per cent with sales below $30,000 had an average net worth of $216,000."

The figures are not inaccurate. They are, however misleading. That's why the Glengarry Federation of Agriculture has protested to the Globe and Mail. (The protest letter is reprinted in our letters section.)

By concentrating on "net worth" rather than annual, disposable income, the article gives the impression that farmers should be put in the same class as oil tycoons.

The difference is, you can't live on "net worth." It represents the value of your land and equipment. The only way you can translate that into disposable income is to sell your farm.

(Perhaps this is what the government wants. Once all the family farms and small businesses are forced to sell out because they can't make a decent annual income, the government and a handful of multi-national corporations will control the whole economy.)

It should be noted that the value of these farms has accrued over several generations, let alone several years. Unlike oil barons, who have accumulated billions over a few short years through inflated prices, many Canadian farmers have had to eke out an existence from year to year based on depressed prices for their commodities. Pork producers, for example, are barely getting the same price for their hogs as they did five years ago.

The Globe article was technically accurate, but we fear many city dwellers will not appreciate the distinction between "net worth" and disposable income.

The GFA was correct in responding to the article. We can only hope the publishers of Canada's national newspaper will give the letter the prominence it deserves.

land the station name. That was the route prospectus from Glen Roy.

Now we are to meet our first real confrontation with the lay and firmness of the land. We are approaching the proposed Loch Garry station site. (The hamlet and post office, 1860, is two miles due north.) The land is swampy as this is part of the River Beaudette headwaters. Loch Garry Lake, nearby, is spring fed. Soil tests reveal that it will take countless tons of rock ballast and gravel to support a raised track bed let alone a station and siding. (Even today old-time Apple Hillers recall this location as the "sink hole.")

There was no alternative except continue westward seeking a suitable station site in the immediate area that would house a telegraph operator, a counterpart of Monkland, Green Valley and Dalhousie Station.

The exploration crew sensed the Loch Garry station problem had been solved after trekking up a gradual grade to its crest in a field, west side of a road, on lot 37, 2nd Kenyon.

HOW THE VILLAGE WAS NAMED—Apple Hill legend is portrayed in this photo. Angus H. McDonnell is pointing (north) to the original site of the once historical "Sandy" Kennedy apple orchard. This is what "Sandy" Kennedy is alleged to have done in late May, 1882, when he stated to the Ontario-Quebec Railway exploration crew superintendent that the orchard was his pride and joy. Apple was taken from orchard and prefixed hill, they were standing on the crest, hence Apple Hill. Staff Photo—Brian Filion

This ideal setting prompted an immediate area investigation. The owner of the farm field was Alexander (Sandy) Kennedy. Some 300 yards north was a small store, two or three dwellings, a nearby school at a crossroads intersection. The east-west road was from Loch Garry through the Indian Lands. The road to the north linked Dominionville-Northfield-Athol. (Maxville and the Canada Atlantic were in the wings.) However, it was the road to the south that was the clincher. Martintown was five miles away. A prominent, virile village, the hub of a progressive and productive farm colony, MacMartin's grist mill was widely known. And "Big Jim" Rayside was rated a Glengarry lumber tycoon after buying and operating Sylvester's sawmill. What prospective lucrative railway revenue and only five miles away! Add bustling Loch Garry three short miles to the east. The glowing investigation results were dispatched to the Montreal head office. The Ontario-Quebec Railway officials promptly concurred. In a terse reply they queried, "What is the name of the proposed station?"

This historic Glengarry legend relates that in the process of selecting a name, to start with, the exploration crew leader noted the significance of the "hill," as a basis. And there were precedents. Gravel Hill in nearby Roxborough. Vankleek Hill on the northeast Glengarry fringe and Curry Hill in the southeast. If hill was accepted, then it was only right to consult with "Sandy" Kennedy the owner of the proposed station site land as to a prefix name.

This was the next procedure step. "Sandy" Kennedy was a stocky Highlander. A highly regarded citizen and a farmer of foresight. This distinction was enhanced by his planting and nurturing a small McIntosh apple orchard in front of his pioneer home, north side of the school and road just west of cross-roads corner.

"Sandy" Kennedy was asked by the exploration crew superintendent what he cherished the most in or about his family home that could appropriately prefix hill as a station name. Thus recording for all time his contribution to area history. Brimming with Scottish pride he is alleged to have pointed north across the field to his orchard remarking that that was the finest apple orchard in this part of Kenyon and the Indian Lands. So apple was taken from orchard to prefix hill. Hence Apple Hill.

The Ontario-Quebec officials agreed with the proposed station name Apple Hill. They promptly conferred with the Postmaster General's office head as to approval. The name choice was accepted. A few days later, June 1, 1882, Apple Hill was accorded a post office. In recognition of "Sandy" Kennedy's contribution his farm home was chosen to house the post office. And the first postmaster was "Sandy" Kennedy. Thus the founding and christening of Apple Hill.

One hundred years later plus 30 days, July 1, 1982, Apple Hill residents will roll out the red carpet and traditionally welcome the dignitaries and scores of visitors who will join in the celebration of this historical birthday.

Why are these people on Canada's most wanted list?

There are jobs in Canada that cannot be filled because of a shortage of skilled people. Technology is moving faster than some industries. And if Canada is to remain competitive in international markets we must meet the employment challenges we face now.

Our hope is in informing young Canadians about the opportunities in the fields of skilled trades and the new technologies.

At Employment and Immigration we have helped hundreds of thousands of young people discover options they never knew they had.

Federal government programs help train them so they can take advantage of those options. By special funding to institutions and colleges, Canadians get classroom education in priority subjects. And virtually all of the apprentices training in regulated programs are supported by some form of federal government assistance.

That helps people find the right job, and industry find the right people. And that helps Canada work.

Roy's in semi-finals

Roy's Garage defeated Moulding Mavericks, 5-3, on Thursday, in Alexandria Foot Hockey playoff action. This was the deciding game in a best of three series.

Both teams scored a goal apiece in the first and second periods, making it 2-2 starting the third period. The Garagemen jumped into a two-goal lead at the midway point of the final period but, the Mavericks closed the gap to one goal with two minutes remaining to play. They continued to apply a lot of pressure but, it backfired as Roy's got a breakaway goal with 50 seconds remaining to salt the victory away.

Maurice Bellefeuille scored four goals for Roy's Garage and Kevin Massia twice for the Mavericks and Hubert Massia scored once.

In semi-final action on Saturday, Glen Robertson upset the league champions, Trotter-Ford by a score of 4 to 1. Scoring for the Glen were: Michel Decoeur with two, and Michel Beauclair and Daniel Lalonde with one each. Guy Quesnel tallied the lone marker for the Tractormen. Glen Robertson were full value for the victory as they out hustled their opponents throughout the second and third periods.

In the other semi-final match, Silverwood took care of Roy's Garage by a score of 3 to 0. Billy Wylie, Leroy Robinson and Gilles Massia were the marksmen for the Milkmen and Rene Lefebvre registered the shutout.

In the consolation round, Dunvegan defeated Consoltex 4-3 in overtime to tie their best of five series at 1-1.

CUB CORNER

by Raksha

What is cubbing? Cubbing is fun. Cubbing offers boys the opportunity to develop responsibility, self-reliance, and to increase skills in hobbies and handicrafts, and to work and play with others. Cubbing allows boys an opportunity to "reach out" into the community, to work with others and to gain experience through daily living.

The cubs of Alexandria have taken part in many different activities such as: a visit to the Police station, a visit to a circus, and an ecumenical service at the Church on the Hill, and many more such activities. The boys are now preparing for the annual Kubkar Rally in Cornwall.

Star work has also been a serious part of the meeting. The boys receive tangible rewards in the form of a badge. The things involved in obtaining a star are numerous. Boys may work at projects, go places and meet people. At present Anand Janack and Randy Gebbie are the only boys who have received all the stars available. Many other boys too numerous to mention have received one or two of the awards. Encouragement from parents shows through the boys in the obtaining of the stars.
