Highlanders Will Camp At Petawawa

Members of the Second Battalion, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, N.P.A.M., will go to military camp at Petawawa from September 2 to September 15, according to instructions received this week.

The original dates for the camp were from August 26 to September 7, but for undisclosed reasons the camp period was postponed one week. The Highlanders hope to take 500 men, all ranks, to camp.

Civic Holiday on Monday brought a temporary reduction in the recruiting pace, but authorities state that about 400 men have already signed. Recruiting is especially encouraging in Alexandria, Winchester and other districts.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights saw the beginning of drill for No. 1 Co'y. S. D. & G. Highlanders, 2nd Batt., when the Chesterville and Winchester platoons, each over 40 strong, drilled here. Beginning next week, there will be drill in both Chesterville and Winchester, and it is expected there will be a third platoon raised and drilled in Morrisburg. There is still room for about 15 more recruits in each of the local platoons. Dr. Gross, who is the unit's local medical officer, reports a fine type of man joining up. Lieut. F. M. Cass of Winchester and Lieut. L. H. Doering of Chesterville, are in charge of the local platoons.

Staff Located Here.

C. Q. M. Sgt. J. H. Keyes and Pte Wm. Nesbitt have been taken on strength of 2nd Batt. S. D. & G. Highlanders, and are stationed at No. 1 Company Headquarters in Winchester. Instructor Sgt. Ducker, of Cornwall, the other member of the permanent staff to be stationed here, will arrive the first of the week. Company Head Quarters are open daily in the Town Hall for enlistments.

G. RUSSELL BOUCHER TO RECEIVE CARLETON ACCLAMATION

The Carleton County Liberal Association will not contest the August 19 by-election in Carleton, President G. C. Ritchie has announced. The decision of the executive conforms with the wishes of the Prime Minister expressed in the House of ommons last week.

With the Liberals not placing a candidate in the field, it is now practically certain that G. Russell Boucher, well-known Ottawa and Kemptville lawyer and former Carleton County magistrate, will be given an acclamation.

WINCHESTER DEFEATED IN BASEBALL SEMI-FINAL

In the second game of the semi-finals between Hallville and Winchester, Hallville defeated the local team by the score of 9-4 on Tuesday evening, thus eliminating Winchester from the play-offs. In the meantime, Chesterville defeated Morewood in two straight games. Hallville and Chesterville will now meet in the final games for the league championship and cup.

Lane-Ault Wedding Held On Saturday

Miss Helen Muriel Ault, daughter of Mrs. J. W. Ault and the late Mr. Ault, of Winchester, and Mr. Thorold Lane, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Lane, of Aultsville, were the principals in a pretty wedding ceremony, performed at the home of the bride's mother, on Queen Street, at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, August 3rd. Rev. W. S. Atchison, pastor of the local United Church, officiated.

Ropes of flowers formed an aisle from the staircase to the end of the living-room, where the ceremony took place amid a profusion of ferns and summer blooms in pastel shades.

The wedding music was provided by Miss Alice Dunn, of Ottawa, and during the signing of the register, Miss Kathleen Wyatt, of Cornwall, sang very beautifully, "At Dawning."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Ralph Ault, of Montreal, was charming in a gown, fashioned on Princess lines, of white Point de Sprit, with lace insertion in the long sleeves, forming a point over the hands. A panel of lace formed the back of the dress, extending into a train. Her veil was held in place by a small coronet of orange blossoms, and she wore white lace mittens and carried a shower bouquet of Orchids, Roses and Forget-Me-Nots.

The bridesmaid was Miss Mary Campbell, of Ottawa. She wore a powder blue marquisette model, fashioned with tight bodice and full skirt, with insets of lace. Her picture hat was of natural straw, trimmed with blue velvet ribbon. She wore lace gloves and carried a shower bouquet of Sweetheart roses and Larkspur.

Little Miss Carol Ault, niece of the bride, performed the duties of flower girl and was gowned in a long pink sheer dress, shirred at the waist with full skirt. She wore a poke bonnet and carried an old-fashioned nosegay.

Mr. Grant Amy, of Smiths Falls, was best man.

Mrs. Ault, mother of the bride, chose a floor-length gown of navy blue flowered imported sheer, and wore a corsage of pink rose buds.

Mrs. Lane, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in navy blue sheer with white accessories, with a corsage of rose buds.

Following the ceremony, luncheon was served to about sixty guests. Serving was done on the lawn. The bride's table was centered with a beautifully decorated wedding cake, surrounded by tapers and bowls of flowers in pastel shades.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Lane left on a motor trip through the province of Quebec, and a boat trip up the Saguenay River, the bride travelling in a costume of heaven blue with dusty rose accessories.

On their return they will reside at Aultsville.

Local Recruits Drilled On High School Grounds

No. 1 Company of the 2nd battalion of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, N. P. A. M., got its first instruction in military drill at the local high school grounds last evening. The recruits, numbering about 100, were put through their paces by Lieuts. F. M. Cass and Lieut. L. H. Doering, assisted by Q. M. Sgt. J. H. Keyes and acting Sgts. Carl Barriger and Sam Ault. The company comprises platoons from Chesterville and Winchester.

Following a period of drilling at the school campus, the Company marched, in the new formation of threes, to the local Arena, where they received additional drill.

When these recruits receive their uniforms and undergo a few nights of intensive training, they are going to be a snappy aggregation, judging from initial performance last night. There were many spectators on hand to watch the drilling.

Morrisburg Child Fatally Injured

Brian Throop, three-and-a-half year old son of Constable Leslie Throop, of the Ontario Provincial Police, Morrisburg, was fatally injured when he fell out of a moving automobile on the highway two miles south of Winchester on Friday at 5.30 p.m.

The accident happened when the child opened the rear door of the automobile which was being driven by his mother, Mrs. Throop. She heard the door open and turned in time to see her son fall to the pavement.

After receiving medical aid by local physicians, he was taken to the Ottawa Civic Hospital where an emergency operation was performed. The child suffered a fractured skull, and passed away shortly after midnight. Coroner Dr. R. M. Cairns, after investigating, decided an inquest was unnecessary.

The funeral was held at Morrisburg on Sunday afternoon, where service, at the family residence, was conducted by Rev. G. O. Davies. Interment took place at Cobourg, the home town of Constable Throop. Mrs. Throop was a native of Port Hope.

MAN WANTED SOME TIME, CAPTURED AND FINED

Since early in the year Constable Clare Biccum, of Morrisburg, has been on watch for a Toronto man who had been driving a car without having seured a 1940 drivers' license and plate. He espied him passing through Morrisburg last week and overhauled him near Aultsville. Effecting an arrest, he took the prisoner before Magistrate McCormick, here. It cost the offender $26.50. He gave his name as Henry Auger, Toronto.

Alex Ramsay, Mille Roches, was prosecuted by Constable Biccum, before the same magistrate, on a charge of public intoxication. The penalty was $10 and costs.

CANCEL ANNUAL OUTING DUE TO RUSH ON FARMS

No picnic this year at either the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, or the Agricultural School, Kemptville, was the resolve of the executive of the Eastern Ontario Fruit Growers' Association at a meeting in Morrisburg recently. Members were present from Prescott in Grenville county to Aultsville in Stormont county and from Morrisburg and Iroquois north to Dundela. Reason for cancellation of what has long been a pleasant annual event was the present rush in hay and grain fields and the shortage of help due to enlistments. Orchardists present reported that prospects are bright for a good yield of apples, the only fruit with which the E. O. F. G. A. is concerned.

TAKE UP RESIDENCE AT MORRISBURG

Mr. and Mrs. David Kerr and two sons and two daughters—all four youthful—arrived in Morrisburg, Thursday, from North Ireland, and are at the home of M. and Mrs. Thomas Kerr, Morrisburg. They were among 1,400 passengers coming out, under convoy, leaving the boat at Montreal, in which city there was a wonderful reception for all. Mr. and Mrs. Kerr and some of the family were in Canada before, located in Mountain township, and now they are back in Canada and will settle in Morrisburg, where Mr. Kerr will go into business in association with relatives there, near the corner of Main street and the Gravel Road. Thomas Kerr, brother to David Kerr, is in the Air Force, at present in Western Ontario. Accustomed to strict rules in the Old Land since the outbreak of the war, the new arrivals are guarded in all their utterances, except that they are outspoken in their assurance the Germans cannot win the war.

STUDENTS TO ASSIST IN HARVESTING FARM CROPS

A serious emergency exists in Ontario at the present time, with respect to a shortage of farm labour. Due to enlistments, the speeding up of industrial production, and because of other factors existing as a result of the War, the Ontario Government find it necessary to appeal to the public for assistance in harvesting the 1940 crop.

Experienced farm help is not available in sufficient quantities to assist appreciably.

To meet this problem the Ontario Government has decided to delay the re-opening of primary schools until October 1st, thereby making available for farm help thousands of teen-aged boys. In the rural areas this will permit the boys to help on their own farms; in urban Ontario it will release for farm help many youths who, while inexperienced, are anxious and willing to aid in this emergency.

An organization has been established to enlist these young people in this patriotic effort. All farmers needing help, and all young people desiring to volunteer, are requested to communicate with the Department of Labour, Queen's Park, Toronto. The younger boys can perform a useful service in many phases of farm activity, while the older ones should, to a certain extent, be able to take the places of young men who have left the farms to serve their country, or have taken on other duties in connection with Canada's war effort.

Local Couple Married At Chalk River On Monday

St. Oswald's Anglican Church, Chalk River, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday afternoon, when Miss Myrtle Kean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kean, was united in marriage to Mr. John VanBridger, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. VanBridger, of Winchester.

Rev. John Davies, rector of the church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Mr. Amie, of Pembroke. Mrs. R. Boyle, of New York, played the wedding march and, during the signing of the register, sang: "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden."

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a white Chantilly lace gown, fashioned on princess lines, with a skirt of net forming a long train. Her wedding veil was of tulle illusion banded in pointe d'esprit and held in place by sunset roses. She carried a bouquet, in semi-colonial style, of sunset roses and babies' breath.

The bridesmaid, Miss Edna Kean, was gowned in a frock of azure blue alencon lace with a skirt of net. A circular shoulder veil was held to the head with tea roses and she carried a bouquet of tea roses and gladiolas.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Ted VanBridger, and the ushers were Mr. Percy Kean and Mr. Harold Nesbitt.

Mrs. Kean, mother of the bride, wore a navy chiffon dress, with a wide brimmed hat of white straw.

The groom's mother chose a dusky rose chiffon dress, with white accessories.

Following the ceremony, a dinner was held at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate families and members of the bridal party. The room was beautifully decorated with white and pink streamers and cut flowers.

In the evening, about 200 friends gathered at the reception, and a dainty lunch was served at midnight.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. VanBridger left on a motor trip to Niagara, Parry Sound and other points. For travelling, the bride chose a pastel rose dress with black suede accessories. On their return they will reside in Winchester.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. T. O. VanBridger, Mr. and Mrs. Hart Melvin, Misses Idena Jones. Madge Coons, Marjorie Colborne and Ethyle Bessin, Messrs. Work Progresses On Telephone Changes

Good progress is being made on the conversion of Winchester's telephone system to common battery operation, and it is expected that the actual change-over to the new type of service will take place in September, according to J. C. N. Cochrane, manager of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada here.

Northern Electric experts have been working for some time on the installation of the common battery switchboard in the new exchange building at the corner of Main and Gladstone streets. Installers are modifying all telephone instruments in subscribers' homes and offices for temporary use as common battery instruments after the conversion, until such time as the new-type telephones can be placed in service. Linemen are engaged in reconstructing and extending rural telephone lines in the vicinity of Winchester. High strength steel wire is being used, permitting long spans between the poles.

Besides the work here in Winchester, additional facilities are being provided to Chesterville and Finch, where the system is being changed at the end of the year. After this change, long distance and information calls for these two centres will be handled by the operators at Winchester, only the local calls being taken care of by the central switching apparatus.

As some telephone numbers in Winchester will be changed at the time of the conversion, businessmen who are in the habit of printing their numbers on stationery and advertising media are advised not to order large supplies until they have been informed of their new numbers.

Praises British Spirit

In a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McConnell from their son, George, who is serving with the Canadian Active Service Force in England, the spirit of the British people, as well as the troops, was summed up by the writer in the following paragraph:

"The spirit of the people in England is really wonderful and something to be admired. I hope you people in Canada have the same confidence, courage and determination to win this fight, no matter what the cost may be, as these English and Scotch people have. If anybody ever asks you, tell them that the morale of the troops is very high, as naturally it should be."

Mr. and Mrs. McConnell have two sons serving with the Canadian Forces overseas, Ross and George McConnell.

NEIGHBORS

It is in the rural districts that one appreciates the value of good neighbours. The family 'next door' may live a mile away, but the rural dweller knows that they stand ready to lend a helping hand in any emergency. They will be there to comfort one in a bereavement, to lend kindly aid in the sickroom, to lend a willing hand at the sawing bee or the harvest.

One may not have many friends or neighbors in the country, but they are tried and true. The happiest moments of farm life are those spent in the company of the folks from the next farm or the next concession. A farmer once explained his philosophy of life.

"I have always lived in the country. I hope to die in the country. I have a good farm, a contented family and good neighbours. My neighbours are my best friends. I know that when I am in need, they will help me. They have stood by me in the past, and I have stood by them. I can lose almost anything I possess, but if I still have neighbours, will still have plenty."

NEUTRAL AGAINST WHOM?

Eire is beginning to show uneasiness about its neutrality. It finds that the preservation of its present position cannot be accomplished merely by a reiteration of the desire to defend neutrality at all costs. It realizes that aggression listens not to words but to deeds, and therefore it has begun to see the need for laying mines around the coast. There has been much talk of a German invasion. Northern Ireland has taken all the necessary steps to counteract it. The South has been more dilatory, depending upon assertions of strict neutrality to protect it against the consequences which befell neutral Norway, Denmark, the Netherlands, and Belgium.

But now, Sean Lemass, the Minister of Supplies in Eire, has discovered that Eire is in the center of the war area, and is threatened by the forces which have throttled democracy in Europe. He therefore calls for the laying up of food reserves. He realizes that while Eire may have a small army, it has virtually no air force and no navy, and that its position as an independent State depends almost solely upon the British fleet, the Royal Air Force, and the vast land army which is gaining strength daily across the Irish Channel. What is the answer, then, to Eire's dilemma?

It is to dispense once and for all with the idea so widely circulated by extremists among the Irish, that England's extremity is Ireland's opportunity, and to appreciate, even at this late hour, that the extremity of its neighbor across the Irish Channel is the extremity, also, of Eire, and that it must gird itself without further ado for the emergency which faces all small nations, says the Christian Science Monitor.

THE PUBLIC HEALTH

Any suggestion that the work of voluntary health organizations should be taken over by the government arises from a failure to understand the functions and value of these various societies, so states an editorial in the current issue of the Health League of Canada's magazine "Health."

Private volunteer organizations give citizens an opportunity to participate in and understand movements of national importance, the editorial writer claims. "Were any of them to be allowed to die the result would be a slowing up in the progress of the slowly growing movement towards national health, the progress of which means much to the development of civilization itself."

Government support of voluntary health societies is characteristic of Great Britain and Canada, continues the editorial. "It is a demonstration of the fact that in Anglo-Saxon countries we appreciate democratic principles to the full. Voluntary societies in themselves are small democracies."

The editorial urges governments to continue the support of private organizations, and advises governments to call upon these societies for aid when emergencies arise.

"It is very significant that in Germany voluntary societies seem to have disappeared," the editorial notes. "Rotary Clubs and trade unions seem to have vanished too. Such organizations as the Home and School Club with its opportunity for free expression of opinion would be viewed with abhorrence in Germany."

The editorial points out that frequently it is a voluntary organization which achieves progress in pioneer work which would be difficult of achievement by a governmental body.

THOSE JUNK PILES ON WHEELS

Rattling and puffing along our highways are hundreds of potential engines of death. No one seems to know just what to do about them. They constitute one of the most difficult and serious puzzles for traffic officials, these ancient cars which get people from place to place and just manage to avoid falling to pieces, says the Windsor Star editorially, and there is a lot of truth in the article.

The inherent rights of mankind enter strongly into the problem. About the only apparent way to rid the highways of these dangercus "jalopies" would be to set a minimum standard of value for cars which might be driven legally in the province, and of course that immediately leaves the way open for a howl of "class legislation."

The regulations which are in effect are practically valueless. A car, to be permissable on the highway, must have a certain complement of lights, reliable brakes, a rear-view mirror and a windshield wiper capable of being operated from inside the vehicle. Beyond that the law does not, and apparently cannot, step. Yet, no one would dare to say that the possession of these minimum requirements makes a car safe.

One of the chief difficulties is that the people who drive dilapidated heaps of junk are, as a rule, those who have no financial standing whatever. When they are involved in an accident, no damage can possibly be collected from them. Ontario has a law respecting financial responsibility, but it begins to operate only after an accident has occurred.

Admittedly, it is impossible to set a price standard, but the makers of our highway traffic laws should be able to frame an adequate code of mechanical requirements which would effectively remove these clattering menaces from the road.

REGISTRATION IS NECESSARY

You have a date with your country on August 19, 20 or 21. Do not neglect it. There are penalties involving fine and imprisonment, but no one should be penalized for neglect.

If you are absent from home on that day, register at the nearest point of registration. The Registrar will forward your answers to the proper designation.

Answer the questions definitely, especially 14 and 17. These deal with the question of your present employment and capacity for other work. Your answers may be helpful to you as the demand for labour increases. National production for war purposes means demand for more men and women.

CRIMINALS ARE "HOME-GROWN"

Criminals, like honest and law-abiding citizens, have no mysterious origin, but are "home grown," charges J. Edgar Hoover, America's Number One G-Man, who fixes responsibility for crime within the family circle in his current Rotarian Magazine article on juvenile delinquency.

"Character, good or bad, gets its original 'set' at the dinner table, in front of the living room fire, in the basement workshop or playroom, even perhaps in the woodshed—wherever parents and their children meet, live with one another, react on one another," Hoover tells Rotarian readers. Very few parents consciously and wilfully instill criminal ideals in their youngsters, he says, but criminal tendencies are picked up outside the home because of improper background training.

"Boys seek the street and the outside, and become receptive to the criminal ideas and ideals of tough pals or gangs, usually for just one reason: somehow, whether because of indifference, ignorance, laziness, or stupidity, the home and parents have failed," he reasons out of 15 years' experience based on hundreds of cases. That that is true—and discouraging—is shown in the fact that throughout the past year the largest number of individuals arrested by ages fell in the 19-year-old group, while those 18 years old were second. One out of every five persons arrested was under 21 years of age.

"The greatest of all recipes for crime prevention is understanding of boy nature by older people, especially parents. It is chiefly from home where misunderstanding or indifference occurs which drive boys into haphazard relationships outside, that the men are recruited whom we of the Federal Bureau of Investigation later know, and conduct nation-wide hunts for, as kidnappers, murderers, forgers, thieves, rapists, and other public enemies," G-Man Hoover asserts.

"The threat of criminality has to be fought on every front where it shows its ugly head. But it is too bad that we have to ruin so many lives that could be useful, simply because the right influences are not present at the right time." Everyone—parents, taxpayers, and possible victims of criminality—must enlist in this war on crime, he says, adding: "The finest victories against crime can be won before individuals become criminals."

EDITORIAL NOTES

The desirability of introducing unemployment insurace at this period is not granted by everyone, and yet it is obvious that if such a measure is to be adopted, it could have no better start than during such a period of buoyant employment as that which is now appearing

In Russell village they have erected a cairn in honor of Dr. D. S. Macdougall, who, in half a century of practice, brought 7,000 babes into the world. But the plaque they put on it doesn't say one word about Air Commodore Stork, who must have had an important part in the enterprise.—Ottawa Citizen.

Hitler's ranting about Churchill reminds us unpleasantly that he never had much complaint to make about dear old Mr. Chamberlain. This should have been taken as a danger signal long before it was so construed. After all, it is only the effective adversary who raises the ire of an aggressor.

"Sew your lips with khaki cotton lest you say what's best forgotten," is a suggested slogan in Britain's drive to kill rumours and defeatist talk. "Chatter boxes" are to be placed in hotels, clubs and homes. People who circulate rumours or talk indiscreetly will be invited to drop in a contribution for charity. It is pointed out that rumours and depressing gossip often are inspired by the enemy. It would be well if some similar action were taken in Canada to discourage the circulation of malicious rumours concerning loyal and patriotic citizens.

SEEMS A BIT SILLY

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

It does seem a bit silly that when the Canadian militia is being greatly expanded for home defence service and when recruits are being invited to join its ranks, volunteer civil guards should be in existence in various communities to duplicate the work which the militia is trained to carry on.

AN EXAMPLE OF EFFICIENCY

(Kincardine News)

An example of government war-time efficiency comes in the case of a Kincardine resident who sent $40 to Ottawa for $50 war savings certificate. Instead of receiving one certificate she received 10 certificates of $5 denomination, each in a separate envelope, giving clerks and postal workers 10 times as much work as was necessary.

HELPING JAPAN

(Halifax Chronicle)

At home and abroad Japan has moved steadily towards fascist policy. The democracies have done about as little to check the trend as they did to check Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini during the strange, confused years leading to the present war. The Japanese, indeed, have been able to prosecute their campaign in China largely because of the supplies which they obtained from Canada, the United States and other democratic countries.

THEY'LL LEARN LATER

(Almonte Gazette)

The Japanese, who get bolder as they feel Great Britain and the United States are engrossed with affairs in Europe, claim that American influence with the South American republics is on the wane, that their sympathies are with the Italians and her axis partner. When it comes to a potential market for goods from these republics and financial assistance in the way of loans, Italy cuts an abject figure compared with the United States. If the South American republics do not know that, they know very little.

IT MIGHT WORK HERE!

(Stirling News-Argus)

The Fergus News-Record is offering a novel inducement to farmers of that communiy to pay up their subscription account. An agent from the firm is going about the community soliciting new subscriptions and renewals, and those who subscribe or pay up may have their names painted on their rural mail boxes free of charge. The idea strikes us as a good one and perhaps we shall try it out here some time. There is certainly no doubt but that the rural mail boxes in this district need the names repainted on them.

SOME DO NOT CARE

(Guelph Mercury)

It is an old rule but still a good one that vacationists, tourists, week-enders and half-dayers do their best to leave the countryside as beautiful as they found it.

For the wistful holiday-makers who remark bitterly how long a search had to be made to discover violets or who now search the flitting roadside for the flowers they recall as part of boyhood's early Summer it may be said with point that the disappearance of many of these is due simply to the fact that other holiday-seekers passed that way before them.

LAW SHOULD BE ENFORCED

(Trenton Courier-Advocate)

Trenton is in the limelight this week by the discovery of what appears to have been the murder of a little child. This paper contends that if the Unmarried Parents Act was enforced in this town that such a shocking incident would never occur. When will the authorities enforce a law that is designed to protect the mother and make the father responsible for the upbringing of his illegitimate child until it becomes of age? Trenton authorities have no excuse to offer for not knowing about this law on the books. It is here for them to enforce.

LIQUOR—DRIVING—DEATH

(Detroit Times)

A report issued by the traffic and safety division of the state police revealed that 254 persons were killed last year in Michigan automobile accidents in which the driver had been drinking.

This is more than a sixth the total number of traffic fatalities for the year.

Speeding is dangerous. Reckless driving is dangerous. Careless walking in traffic is dangerous.

But no traffic hazard is so grimly and inevitably dangerous as the combination of drinking and driving. Competent medical authorities, men utterly without prejudice, insist that driving judgment is blurred even after two or three drinks.

The best way to avoid trouble is never to drive if you are drinking.

CADET TRAINING IN GREATER FAVOR

(Perth Courier)

One effect of the new war to date is the change in public sentiment about cadet training in schools. Following the last war, opinion was against the continuation of this training and various corps in high schools and collegiate institutes were disbanded, and boys turned their attention to other activities

Now, new Ontario department of education regulations contain recommendations that all boys in the last two years of high school receive thirty minutes physcial training each school day, even if it requires an extension of the school day.

While cadet work is not specified, the minister of education believes many schools will start cadet training in the Fall.

GUIDANCE NECESSARY

(Huntingdon Gleaner)

Years ago people looked more to their churches for guidance and Christian leadership; today we believe they look more to the press for guidance, and all too many only listen to the radio for their religious instruction. If our lay members of parliament would spend more time in the study of economics than listening to and reading about petty politics they would enhance their minds and be more worthy of the offices entrusted to their care. The newspapers have their censors, the ministers their congregations, but the average member of parliament too often forgets his responsibilities to his country; his first thought should be economy and better legislation. Compulsory voting will perhaps be the ultimate solution for the election of our parliamentary members.

"STUDY IN FOG"

(Christian Science Monitor)

In "Mein Kampf" Adolph Hitler complained of the inability of imperial Germany to comprehend British character. That inability would seem to have remained a legacy to the Third Reich. For faced with Britain's refusal to be frightened or bought off by Herr Hitler's "peace threats," some publicists in Germany are attempting to trace British resistance to special encouragement by President Roosevelt.

Most Americans will feel that the reasons for British firmness are clear enough without "inside" analysis along diplomatic lines. The German deductions thus focus attention chiefly on Germany's continuing lack of capacity for understanding the British point of view. This is a deficiency that Herr Hitler once wrote down as a cause of grave mistakes in German policy.

THE POET'S CORNER

SUMMER-TIME

"Summer-time," the mother said,
"Is the fire that bakes the bread.

"Spring, as all her work reveals,
Starts the year and plans the meals;

"Kneads the batter; steeps the brew
Just as every cook must do.

"Then at last, with dish or tin,
Swings the oven, pops it in!

"Leaves it, simmering, out of sight,
Till it's done precisely right.

"Sometimes filling all the air
With a tempting fragrance rare.

"Then September, golden-gowned,
Peeps to see if all is browned.

"Sets the table; sounds the call:
'Come to dinner, one and all'!"

LIFE—LOVE

I often sit and wonder, wonder,
Now that we have both grown old.
If you love me like "back yonder,"
As your hand I'd gently hold
Where we'd wander down the pathway
Leading to the little stream,
Where we'd sit and watch it running,
And of life we'd talk and dream.

And we'd say those little nothings,
That meant much to you and me,
And we'd peer into the future
And our life-love we would see;
There we'd wait until the twilight
Settled o'er that sylvan scene,
Then I'd kiss you, kiss you, darling,
While of love we'd talk and dream.

Then we'd wander back so slowly,
While the nighthawks whirled o'erhead,
And the years slipped by so quickly,
To the day when we were wed.
As we've lived down from those love-days
Oft I've held your hand again,
Maybe I've no need to wonder
If you love me now as then.

You've no need, my dear, to wonder
If I love you now we're old,
As I did in days "back yonder,"
And my hand you'd gently hold
When we'd wander down the pathway
Leading to the little stream,
Which now's dried—but not my love, dear,
For our Life-Love's been no dream.

—Ralph Gordon.

THE MORTGAGE

We worked through spring and winter
Through summer and through fall,
But the mortgage worked the hardest,
And the steadiest of all.
It worked on nights and Sundays,
It worked each holiday;
It settled down among us,
And it never went away.
Whatever we kept from it,
Seemed almost as a theft,
It watched us every minute,
As it ruled us right and left.
The rust and blight were with us
Sometimes and sometimes not,
The dark-browed scowling mortgage
Was forever on the spot.

The weevil and the cut-worm,
They went as well as came;
The mortgage stayed forever,
Eating hearty all the same.
It nailed up every window,
Stood guard at every door,
And happiness and sunshine
Made their home with us no more.
Till with failing crops and sickness
We got stalled upon the grade,
And there came a dark day on us,
When the interest wasn't paid.
And there came a sharp foreclosure,
And I kind of lost my hold,
And grew weary and discouraged,
And the farm was cheaply sold.

The children left and scattered,
When they hardly yet were grown,
My wife she pined and perished,
And I found myself alone.
What she died of was a "mystery,"
The doctors never knew;
But I knew she died of mortgage
Just as well as I wanted to.
If to trace a hidden sorrow
Were within a doctor's art,
They'd ha' found a mortgage written
On that woman's broken heart.
Worm or beetle, drought or tempest,
On a farmer's land may fall,
But for first class ruination,
Trust a mortgage 'gainst them all.

ORMOND B. Y. P. U.

The weekly Young People's meeting was held on Friday evening, Aug. 2nd, and was opened with a song service in charge of Mrs. B. Armstrong. The Intermediate Scripture lesson was read by Doris MacDonald and the roll called by the secretary, Laura Porteous. Alex MacGregor and Dannie Campbell received the offering. The talk and quotations given by Mrs. F. MacDonald were on "Prayer in the Lives of Great Men and Women." Scripture verses in keeping with these thoughts were read.

The Devotional Group program was led by Mr. Neil Porteous. A period of prayer followed the opening hymn. Miss Dallas MacDonald read the Scripture, and the Devotional Group projects. This was followed by a Bible Quiz on Prayer. Special music was provided by Mrs. H. MacIntosh and Miss Hazel MacDonald, who sang as a duet, "Pray, Always Pray." Mrs. H. MacIntosh led in a discussion on Prayer, under such headings as 'Why we Pray,' 'Morning Devotions,' etc. During this period several opinions were voiced and the discussion was not only interesting but helpful. A hymn and Benediction then brought the meeting to a close.

Beauty for YOU

The Secrets of Good Looks by

Barbara Lynn.

WARM WEATHER WORRIES

A new set of beauty worries comes with the warm weather, but timely attention and care will help retain your beauty and keep you fresh and dainty.

First comes the hair. Sunshine tends to dry the hair, so you need to give it frequent applications of hair tonic. Halo shampoo will simplify your shampooing problems and help give your hair a delightful gloss.

Now for the other extremity. Treat your feet kindly and they will respond. Bathe them often and dust with talcum powder. Corns are particularly painful in the hot weather, so remember that corns are caused by pressure and friction. Home paring is only temporary and might even cause infection, so be safe and use a good two-way corn plaster. It will end pain instantly by removing pressure, while the medicated pad gently loosens the corn so that it comes right out, root and all.

We all get hot and perspire. This is inevitable and natural. But we CAN keep fresh and sweet, and here is the way: Always wash with gentle palm-olive soap, and after washing, dab a little deodorant cream under the armpits to banish odour.

Write to me for confidential and personal advice in your beauty problems and enclose four one-cent stamps for my booklet on Beauty Care. Address: Miss Barbara Lynn, Box 75, Station B, Montreal, Que.

HOW BRITISH KEEP THEIR CALM

The following appeared in a London paper:—What do I do....When I hear a gun, explosions, air-raid warnings...? I keep a cool head. I take cover. I gather my family with gas masks and go quietly to my shelter or refuge room. I do not try to have a look. I do not rush about alarming people. I remember that a lot of the noise is good noise—our guns firing at the enemy. And I remember the odds are thousands to one against my being hurt.

MODERN ETIQUETTE

Q. When you are going to have a guest who is very careless about ashes and cigarette ends, is it all right to ask this guest to be careful?

A. If this guest MUST be invited, in spite of causing you such uneasiness, the only thing to do is to place ash trays in every possible place where he may sit.

Q. When a girl and her escort enter a restaurant together, shouldn't the girl go first?

A. Yes; the girl should follow the waiter to the table, her escort last.

Q. What is the symbolism of zinnias?

A. Thoughts of absent friends.

Q. When a young woman's best girl friend is soon leaving for a month's vacation, what is the best way to show friendship?

A. It would be nice to give her a gift that you know will be nice for her trip. Or you might give her a party before she leaves.

Q. Doesn't it show poor taste for a person to attempt to display his knowledge on any particular subject, when with others?

A. Yes. We always find that the ablest person is the simplest and most modest.

Q. How should a girl introduce her escort to another girl?

A. "Edith, this is Edward Carter—Edith Hall."

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Rusty Clock Hands.

The appearance of rusty clock hands can be much improved by a coat of asphaltum varnish.

Perspiration on Silk.

Perspiration stains on a delicate silk garment can often be removed by rubbing gently with a soft dry cloth.

Finger Marks.

A few drops of ammonia on a cloth will wipe off the finger prints made by children on the freshly-washed windows.

No Pictures.

Never hang pictures in a room where walls are covered with scenic wall paper. It gives a cluttered, "overdone" effect.

To Eliminate Roaches.

Gum camphor is usually a speedy remedy for ridding the house of roaches. Powdered borax mixed with sugar is also effective.

Shoe Care.

Have the shoes polished regularly, so as to remove dirt before it has an opportunity to work into the leather and become ingrained.

Button Molds.

Line the silk coverings of button molds with outing flannel, or scraps of any soft thin woollen goods, and they will look better and wear longer.

Floor Matting.

Floor matting gets just as soiled as any other floor covering. To clean it, hang over the clothes line on a clear day, and wash it thoroughly with the hose.

Paint on Window Panes.

To remove paint from window panes, rub the spots with a strong solution of hot soda, or strong, hot vinegar. Leave on until nearly dry; then rub off with a woollen cloth.

Keep Flies From Fresh Paint.

Flies and other insects can be kept away from freshly-painted surfaces by mixing a little bay oil (laurel oil) with the oil paint. Or, place a receptacle containing this oil in the vicinity of the painted objects. The pungent odor will keep off the flies.

To Prepare Javelle Water.

Dissolve one pound of washing soda in one quart of boiling water, and 1-2 pound of chloride of lime in two quarts of cold water. Pour the clear portion of the lime solution into the soda solution and allow to stand for settling. Decant the clear liquid into bottles, cork tightly, and keep in a dark place.

Home-Made Cedar Chest.

An efficient and inexpensive cedar chest can be made at home very easily. Take a box of any soft wood and fasten the cover on with hinges. Then stain the inside of the box the desired color, brush the inside with oil of cedar, and keep a bag of cedar chips inside to insure its keeping qualities.

HERE ARE SIMPLE REMEDIES FOR POISON IVY

It is important to know that the hateful skin eruptions caused by the oil of the Poison Ivy may be contacted not only directly through any part of the plant itself, but by touching anything that has been in contact with the oil: tools, shoes, stockings, or even towels.

Especially does the oil seem to cling to the hair of animals that run through it, dogs more than any other.

It remained a heartbreak to me until I had eradicated it from my place, that I could not allow Collie Secundus to touch me. He never quite understood it for he was a loving young fellow, and felt it his duty to the Robinson family to call on me once a day at least.

If one comes in contact with poison ivy, where no remedies are immediately available, sand rubbed vigorously on the suspected spots will usually absorb the oil.

Just as soon as possible, however, wash the suspected areas with gasoline or coal oil. Shoes should also be washed with either one at once, and stockings washed and hung in the sun.

Should the eruptions have spread, owing to your ignorance of it, then the affected parts can be wrapped about with bandages soaked in gasoline, or coal oil if you can stand it, or a solution of soda if you can't.

If the eruptions are about to break, rub the few thousand that you will then have until they do, with absorbent cotton dipped in peroxide, and bandage them.

On top of all that, wash every stitch of clothes that you have worn at least once a day, and your bed linen every morning and hang all out in the sun.

Mother Nature has a few remedies of her own. At the very first appearance of a spot, squeeze the creamy juice of milkweed on it. Sometimes this is sufficient.

The juice of jewel weed is also supposed to be good. Crush its leaves, and splotched salmon and yellow flowers, through the meat grinder and apply the juice as often as the intolerable itching manifests itself.

However, I have found milkweed cream far more efficacious, and much less trouble.

Democracies may avoid the danger of dictator government by seeing to it that no one person, no group, and no party remains in the seat of authority long enough to become autocratic.

Summer Thirst Allayers

By BETTY BARCLAY

Centuries ago the Chinese were well acquainted with lemonade and accurately styled it "thirst allaying water." They held this drink in such esteem that the White House in the time of the Yuan dynasty, called Li-chi-wan, had an imperial orchard planted with 800 large and small lemon trees to provide lemonade for the imperial family!

Lemonade is still just about the most effective "thirst allayer" on a summer day when the thermometer soars and everyone gasps for a cooling drink. Today, however, no one would dream of boiling the lemon juice according to Chinese custom. Freshly extracted juice directly from the fruit is the first requirement for good lemonade. The longer it stands, the less flavor and health content it has.

Nothing could be purer than the juice in citrus fruits, which is ideal replacement for the water the body loses in perspiration when the sun's rays are over-active. Food authorities recommend fresh fruit juice beverages first as cooling drinks, for they actually mitigate the effects of heat.

When you drink a big glass of lemonade, you really do cool off, research workers have found. Exposure to high temperatures may cause as much as 50 per cent loss in vitamin C from the body tissue. For replacement, nothing is better than citrus fruits, most abundant in vitamin C. Lowered vitamin C reserves go hand-in-hand with "that tired feeling," so keep up your lemonade intake!

For a cool, old-fashioned lemonade that will hit the spot, remember three rules. Use fresh lemon juice and plenty of it. Use ice, and more ice. Don't make it too sweet—it's more refreshing a bit on the lemony side. To sweeten, try honey or sugar and water syrup to get the professional touch.

Note: For recipes, use first the lemonade recipe as given; balance as you wish from this selection or other tested recipes which may appeal to you as suitable.

Lemonade

Nothing is more refreshing than old-fashioned lemonade. For each person allow:

1 lemon
1 to 3 tablespoons sugar or honey
1 cup cold water Ice

Extract lemon juice. Add sugar to taste. Stir to dissolve. Add water. Serve over ice in large glasses. Garnish with lemon slice on rim and a maraschino cherry if desired.

Lemon Fizz

Make lemonade with carbonated water.

Lemon Float

Add to lemonade a dip of lemon sherbet or lemon frozen cream.

Lemon Shake

Shake together well: ¼ cup California lemon juice, ¼ cup sugar, ½ cup milk, ½ cup crushed ice (4 ice cubes).

Lemon Ginger Flip

1 lemon, extract juice
½ orange, extract juice
Sugar to taste
Crushed ice to fill ½ glass
Combine and fill glass with: Ginger ale
Add: Bit of shredded lemon peel

Lemon Eggnog

1 egg white, beaten stiff with
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg yolk, beaten well with
2 tablespoons lemon juice and
1 tablespoon sugar - Milk

Fold three-fourths of the egg white with sugar into yolk mixture. Pour into a tall glass and fill with milk, almost to top. Stir well. Top with remainder of egg white.

All drinks for which recipes are given above are in quantities for one only.

Lemon with Hot or Cold Tea

Correct tea service, hot or cold, includes lemon garnishes. Juicy quarters should be included as well as decorative slices. Insert cloves, if liked. For iced tea, an end of the lemon, sliced to fit over edge of glass, is admirable.

Grated lemon peel (1 teaspoon for each 4 to 6 cups) gives either hot or iced tea a delicate flavor and aroma. Place grated peel in teapot with tea. Add boiling water. Lemon juice is also good with black coffee, hot or iced.

EQUIPMENT STRIPPED OF ALL BUT WHEELS

Proneness of the disappearance act to continue until a finality is reached has been exemplified in connection with the Morrisburg fire brigade. When a system of waterworks was installed there, an engine and a hook and ladder truck were put aside and virtually forgotten. Article after article disappeared from both, some of them borrowed, some of them stolen, until at last there was nothing left to remove. The other day, the council resolved to sell both engine and truck and found that the buyer could be supplied with but four wheels of the engine and four of the truck, along with axles and platforms, enough in each instance for a chassis. The equipment, when bought by the town, cost a few thousand dollars and was as good as new when superseded by waterworks. The engine was for years a consistent winner at firemen's tournaments in Eastern Ontario and Northern New York.

OIL CANS CONSIDERED DANGEROUS FOR FOOD

It has been brought to the attention of the Dominion Department of Agriculture that many people are making use of oil cans for the canning of foods.

The use of oil cans for food is considered to be very dangerous practice since they are made of Terne plate, a plating which is almost wholly lead, and very small amounts of lead are poisonous.

Cans made expressly for foods are entirely different and can be bought at a nominal price from hardware stores and mail order houses. Years of research have gone into the manufacture of cans for canning food, with the result that the inside plating is lead free. This is done to make it impossible for foods to become contaminated with lead, and no cans should be used for fruits, vegetables, meats or fish other than those made as food cans..

Oil cans are not food cans and should not be used for any food product.

WOMEN AND REGISTRATION

War has always made a heavy demand on the service of the womanhood of the nation.

Totalitarian war makes a still greater demand. Modern war involves far more than the fighting forces—it goes beyond the lines. It involves home defence. It calls for the strengthening of the moral and spiritual forces of the nation, and also an increase not only in the production of war materials but an increase in general production as well.

We not only have to produce more so far as war materials are concerned, but we must produce products for export because it is necessary that many war materials must be purchased abroad, and the nation must accumulate the foreign exchange necessary for these purchases.

In war conditions the strength of the army in the field must be maintained, but the strength of the army of workers at home must also be increased. It is, therefore, only natural that more and more women ought to be drawn into the army of production in order to strengthen the nation in this time of conflict.

The women of Canada can help by filling in the registration card with care and by encouraging others to do the same. National registration day should produce a clear record of the womanpower of the nation.

THE GOLDEN WEDDING

Yep, Maw an' me been married now
Jest fifty years t'day,
An' we hev had some joys and jolts
A-joggin' down life's way;
An' when I think-a what Maw's stood
In all them fifty years,
A-livin' with a man like me
It fills my eyes with tears.

Maw sez she might done worse in this
Here matrimonial clutch,
If she had married someone else,
Then adds—"But, oh, not much."
But we hev always had enough
A-real good food t' eat,
An' we've had plenty clothes t' wear
An' shoes fer both our feet.

We always seemed t' git along
Though we've had little wealth.
An' we hev always had a bunch
A-real good, first class health.
So when yeh come t' figger up
The losses 'g'inst the gains,
We've had stack loads for thankfulness
In spite-a all the pains.

An' we hev always had a house
An' roof above our heads,
An' when we went t' sleep at night,
We always had good beds.
An' we hev had a heap-a friends,
T' love an' they've loved us,
An' we hev rid on trains an' boats,
Bikes, buggies, motors, bus.

So what's the use a-kickin' 'bout
Them fifty years gone past?
We've both decided: "No repeat,"
Cuz we know we won't last.
So happy days t' all our friends
Who've been so good an' kind,
May only earth's most precious gifts
Be what you'll always find.

—Ralph Gordon.

HEARTACHES OF A FAMOUS BOY GIANT OVER AT LAST

An article, in The American Weekly with the August 11 issue of The Detroit Sunday Times, reveals how a real life Gulliver, tried, unhappily, to make the best of it.....but he was different from everybody else, needing special clothes, shoes (at $100 a pair) and everything else, and finally a special coffin. Be sure to get The Detroit Sunday Times.

THE WEED OF THE WEEK—WATER HEMLOCK

Water Hemlock or spotted cowbane is one of Ontario's most prevalent poisonous plants, states John D. MacLeod, Ont. Dept. of Agriculture, Toronto. Its small white clusters of flowers may be observed at the present time above other vegetation in wet marshy places throughout "old Ontario."

It is a perennial weed which grows from 2 to 5 feet high. The leaves are compound, in two or three divisions. The stems are stout, erect, hollow and jointed, widely branching, quite smooth, pale green dotted, and streaked with purple. The root is a bundle of a few fleshy spindle-shaped tubers, like small parsnips.

Cattle are frequently poisoned by eating the roots of this plant, especially early in the spring when pasture is scarce. A piece of a root the size of a walnut will kill a cow. Roots are toxic at all seasons, leaves and seeds may be eaten without danger. Symptoms are frothing, uneasiness, pain, violent intermittent convulsions in which the animal kicks, sometimes extending the legs rigidly, throwing back the head, bellowing and groaning. Death results from respiratory failure. Raw linseed oil, raw eggs and lard may be given early while waiting for the veterinarian.

Watch marshes and low places for this weed and hand pull any plants that are found. This may be easily done if the roots are first loosened with a spud or other implement. Plants should be destroyed after pulling.

IS HASTE AT FAULT?

A recent survey covering injuries and deaths in which motor cars figured last year is reported currently in a statement issued by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations. The survey showed that over 36 per cent. of those killed were in accidents attributed to "exceeding the speed limit." Under the same heading came more than 22 per cent. of the injured.

The same record, which covers only actions of drivers resulting in deaths and injuries, deals with such other questions as: operating on wrong side of road, did not have right-of-way, cutting in, passing standing street car, passing on curve or hill, passing on wrong side, failed to signal and improper signalling, car ran away in absence of driver, drove off roadway, and reckless driving. Any motorist with an ounce of common-sense can exercise control on every one of these points.

Speaking of pedestrian deaths, the report pointed out that while a pedestrian takes a single step and advances a yard, an automobile being operated at 30 miles per hour advances nine yards.

Does the label on your Press remind you of anything?

MUST REGISTER ALL FIREARMS BY SEPTEMBER 15th

Complete knowledge and control of all firearms throughout the Dominion is sought by the government.

Recommendations made to the commons by its special committee on the Defence of Canada Regulations provides for registration before Sept. 15th of all rifles and shotguns with the authorities.

Under the present law, pistols and revolvers have to be licensed.

After that date anyone in possession of an unregistered firearm would make himself liable to a fine of $50, 30 days in jail, or both.

IT'S RENEWAL TIME

From time to time we call the attention of our subscribers to the fact that many renewals to The Winchester Press are due and overdue. A considerable number of subscribers have responded to our appeal for prompt payment of renewals, but there are many that we have not heard from.

Finally we repeat that it is necessary that some effort at payment in full or in part should be made at once by those who are in arrears for this paper and who are financially able to pay. We realize that most of those who are behind with their renewals are well intentioned and will pay eventually. For the sake of good business we ask that the process be speeded up.

Interment was made in the family plot at Knight's Cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs. Leonard Moore, Gerald Crowder, Clarence Bellinger and Graham VanAllen.
