Another Teacher Needed At High School As Registration Up 74 To Record 490

The proposed addition to Glengarry - Alexandria District High School, now in the talking stage, will be a must next year judging by the enrolment Tuesday. Registration jumped a huge 74 to a highest-ever 490 pupils.

To cope with the big increase another teacher has been secured; Mrs. Lorne Whelan, a former member of the staff. She will teach various subjects in Grade IX.

Principal C. C. Fraser reports Grade XIII this year has a record 30 students; that a new Grade XIIB has had to be added to the Grade XIIA and the Grade XIIC (Commercial). Overcrowding is particularly serious in Grade XI and a fifth Grade IX has had to be opened.

Classrooms are in short supply and the Cafeteria is now in continuous use in addition to its meal hour activities. Some classes also will be held on the stage of the auditorium, he reports.

The big increase at the High School more than offsets slight decreases in registration at some of the primary schools in town. The total student population in the six schools is 1318, up 55 from last September's 1263.

School registrations, with last year's in brackets, follow:

High School, 490 (412); St. Joseph's Boys' School, 185 (198); the Alexander School, 170 (198); Perpetual Help School, 323 (320); Public School, 75 (70); Maria Goretti Academy, 75 (70).

Mrs. Jean Casselman, M.P., To Open Williamstown Fair Next Wednesday

Ontario's oldest livestock show, preparing to celebrate its 150th anniversary next year, will be opened at Williamstown on Wednesday by Mrs. Jean Casselman, M.P., Grenville - Dundas. Next week's event is billed as the 149th exhibition of the St. Lawrence Valley Agricultural Society.

Fair officials expect large entries in the horse and cattle classes, the latter featuring the County Red & White and Black & White shows. Seven calf clubs will be competing and there will be the special feature exhibits in the cheese, honey and hay classes. The floral and other displays in the homemakers' building will also be well filled.

For the kiddies the Allan Midway will be on hand with its rides. Two bands will be providing entertainment, the new Glengarry Highlanders Pipe band and the Char-Lan Girls' band.

Among improvements this year are a new coat of paint for the dining hall, a new 60-ft. flagpole for the horse ring.

LEGION NOTES

The president, Marcel Pattyn, stated that the Legion Bingo will be played on the 2nd Tuesday of each month and cribbage on every 3rd Thursday of the month.

Char-Lan Registrants Addressed By Old Grad And Benefactor

Opening of the term at Char-Lan High School, Williamstown, had an added bit of ceremonial when the assembled students and staff were briefly addressed by an old grad and a visitor from New Zealand.

The former graduate of Williamstown High School was Dr. A. L. MacLennan of Pasadena, California, who went on to higher learning in the 1880's, but has retained a warm regard for his alma mater, shown in recent years by the gift of his library to the school in memory of his father, John MacLennan, a former M.P., Glengarry.

Now retired, Dr. MacLennan timed his visit here for the opening of the term and he recalled briefly for the student body the early days of Glengarry and the many men of achievement who had attended Williamstown High School. He encouraged his hearers to stay in school and soak up as much education as possible. "Never was it so much needed for the good life".

Sir Alexander Gillies of New Zealand, visiting at the moment with Principal Donald Shaw, was the second distinguished guest. Knighted in recent years for his pioneer work in orthopaedic surgery, Sir Alexander is founding president of the Crippled Children's Association of New Zealand and in his position of president of the New Zealand Red Cross is en route to the international conventional of Red Cross at Prague, Czechoslovakia.

He noted the French - Scottish ties in this area and recalled the words of Robbie Burns on the brotherhood of man — "a man's a man for a' that". He was greatly impressed with Glengarry and Canada as a whole, said Sir Alexander, and he was taking away memories of a very pleasant visit.

Registration at Char-Lan was up considerably over last year, to the 350 mark. Changes have been made in the heating system and a cafeteria has been introduced.

Members of the staff of 16 are: Principal, Donald Shaw; Miss Johanna Freund, Latin; Mrs. Joan McDonald, girls' PT; Ronald McCabe, English; Thomas Barker, Math. and English; Cairine Cavanagh, Science; Mrs. C. Edwards, Home Economics; Roger Daignault, French; Robert McLachlan, History; J. P. Gelinas, French; Earl Stephens, Math.; Taylor Coombs, boys' PT; Ian McMartin, Science; Peter Small, Commercial; Mack Edwards, Math.; J. A. McDonnell, Shop.

The professor's wife and four children travel with the circus and he has organized tutoring classes for all the children of the circus performers. "I've always wanted to be a clown. I've always wanted to entertain children. This is it", he explains his switch from gown to clown.

Honor Minister Prior To Coming To Dunvegan

Avonmore. — The congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church paid a fond farewell to Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Douglas and their two children, Mary Elizabeth and Stephen, at a largely attended gathering in the church hall on Friday night. Rev. and Mrs. Douglas, who have ministered faithfully in the Avonmore charge for the past six years, leave within a few days to assume new duties in Kenyon Church, Dunvegan.

M. F. MacRae, chairman of the Board of Managers of St. Andrew's Church, was chairman of the evening's program. He expressed the Board's regret in Mr. Douglas's departure from Avonmore.

The program included vocal selections by Misses Lee and Brenda McIntyre, Miss Penny Tinkess, Rev. Charles M. Shaver, and Mrs. Thos. Firth. Clifford MacRae screened a number of color slides, depicting several activities within the church during Mr. Douglas's ministry as well as several pictures of former ministers and their families.

Calvin S. Grant read an address extolling the Douglasses' faithful ministry — a ministry in which the work of the Kingdom was extended by the preaching of the Word and by deeds of kindness to those in need of a helping hand and words of encouragement.

In expressing the congregation's regret, Mr. Grant said, "We do, however, derive some consolation from the fact that your new charge will not take you beyond the bounds of Glengarry Presbytery. As there has always been a strong link between St. Andrew's and Kenyon in ministry, missionary effort, and young people's work, we feel that your presence in Dunvegan will strengthen that link, that we shall retain contact with you and that you will retain an interest in our church."

Duncan Bethune, on behalf of the congregation, presented Mr. Douglas with a well-filled purse. Mrs. Neil M. Bush, president of the Ladies' Aid Society, presented Mrs. Douglas with a five-piece hostess table set, and Mrs. John Ferguson, president of the Women's Missionary Society, presented a china butter dish to Mrs. Douglas.

Mr. Douglas, speaking on behalf of Mrs. Douglas and their children, graciously thanked the members of the congregation for their support during the years. He briefly recalled highlights from the past six years and he stated that his ministry in the Avonmore charge had strengthened his faith. He thanked the congregation for these remembrances and for the happy social evenings arranged in their honor.

The congregation, with Mrs. Neil Bush at the piano, joined wholeheartedly in the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and "God Be With You Till We Meet Again".

Rev. Mr. Douglas pronounced the benediction.

During the social hour which followed, a sumptuous lunch was served by the ladies of the congregation.

The service of induction in Kenyon Church, Dunvegan, under the direction of the Presbytery of Glengarry, will be held on Friday night, September 8th, at 8 o'clock.

Miss G. MacRae Dies At Ottawa

The sudden death occurred of Miss Grace Henrietta MacRae in the Ottawa Civic Hospital on Wednesday, August 9th. Although having undergone surgery in the week previous, Miss MacRae was making satisfactory progress until the day prior to her death, which came as a great shock to everyone.

Miss MacRae, who was in her 39th year, was born in East Hawkesbury Township, the daughter of Catherine Margaret (Cassie) McCuaig and the late James Angus MacRae, who predeceased her in March of this year. In 1950, Mr. and Mrs. MacRae moved to Ottawa, where the family resided at 67 MacDonald street. After attending High School in Maxville and Vank-leek Hill, the late Miss MacRae joined the Civil Service in Ottawa in December, 1940, where she was employed in Army Records until 1947, and then with the RCAF Chaplain Service until her death.

In addition to her loyal devotion to her work, Miss MacRae gave unselfishly of her service to many organizations, among them the Women's Auxiliary of the Ottawa Civic Hospital, the Mispah Auxiliary, the Young Adult Club, and the Sunday School of Chalmers United Church. She was for several years a member of the St. John Ambulance Brigade. Because of her untiring contributions to these many organizations she will be sadly missed. She was also a member of the Protestant Girls' Club of Canada and the Chaudiere Golf Club.

In addition to her mother, Miss MacRae is survived by three sisters, Florence and Viola, at home, and Mrs. A. V. Penchuk (Gretta), of Trenton; also two nephews, David and Robert Penchuk.

The funeral was held in the Hulise and Playfair chapel on Saturday afternoon, August 12. The service was conducted by Rev. J. D. MacRae, assistant minister of Chalmers United Church, assisted in the service by Group Captain E. S. Light and at the graveside by Wing Commander A. R. MacIver. Interment was in Capital Memorial Gardens.

The great number of friends who paid their respects, the many floral tributes and expressions of sympathy were an indication of the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Chief Of Glengarry Toured Much Of The County Friday

The 22nd Chief of the Macdonells of Glengarry visited Glengarry, Canada, Friday, for the first time. It was a flying visit in which Air Commodore A. R. D. Macdonell, D.F.C., saw several historic spots and reportedly liked what he saw of Glengarry and its people.

"I should like to come back to your Glengarry, possibly to attend your Highland Games of which I have heard so much", he told a News reporter.

Air Commodore Macdonell was accompanied by Colonel Hugh M. Wallis, of Senneville, Que., his host, and Rt. Rev. Monsignor Ewen J. Macdonald when he dropped in at this office, early Friday, for a brief chat. Colonel Wallis is himself a descendant of Glengarry Macdonells.

Wearing the Glengarry kilt, the clan chieftain proved a personable man nearing middle-age. His father, Aeneas Ranald Macdonell, 21st Chief of the clan, died in 1941 and that was about the extent of the personal information we could draw from him.

It was Colonel Wallis who informed us of the chief's air exploits in the Battle of Britain which won him the Distinguished Flying Cross and led to his present position as Chairman of the Battle of Britain Fighters' Association. Commander of a squadron of Spitfires in that epic defence of Britain, the present Macdonell chieftain was shot down three times, in March, 1941, for the last time when the Germans hauled him out of the Channel and headed him for prison camp.

From Alexandria the chief was taken on a brief tour of the county and then on to Cornwall, where that evening he was a dinner guest in the Officers Mess of the S.D. & G. Highlanders. The local regiment, he confirmed, is the only one in the world to wear the Macdonell of Glengarry tartan.

Air Commodore Macdonell had been in Toronto earlier in the week when a Clan Donald Society had been formed, one that is expected to grow into a country-wide Clan Donald Society. On Tuesday he was to leave Montreal for Ligonier, Penn., where he was to be guest of honor at the Highland Games sponsored by the Clan Donald Society of America.

The accident occurred when the Volkswagen in which they were passengers crashed into the undercarriage of a transport.

They expect to return to Alexandria about September 30th.

EDITORIALS

IT'S OUR OPINION

The Golf Club Is A Going Concern

A progress report on the new golf course might be more suitably found in the news columns. But the editor happens to be president of the club and he happened to have a Toronto reader observe this weekend that he hadn't read too much of golf club activities in the paper in recent weeks.

Here we were trying to tone down our enthusiasm for the new club to spare those of our readers who are totally uninterested in the game of golf. There was this Queen City reader left with the impression the new club was floundering, had lost its impetus.

A Friday afternoon tour of the course convinced him this was a going concern. He found seven fairways in almost perfect condition; there were four temporary greens playable; and our Toronto friend left with the promise to return. He was amazed at the condition of the course after only two months of conditioning and his enthusiasm for the lay-out, the possibilities in future years, have been echoed by visitors from Florida, Massachusetts, other States of the Union and several Canadian cities. Without exception, they found it a perfect setting for a golf course.

This rainy summer that hit the farm front so hard has been almost ideal for the golf course. Never in our wildest dreaming did we expect to have such co-operation from the weatherman in feathering the fairways. Those lines could not be afforded in this first year, so the heavens responded copiously.

So have sports-minded residents of town and district and the neighboring cities. Many new enthusiasts for the game of golf have already taken to the sport and others among the more than one hundred charter members plan to give it a try in the two months of play still remaining.

Despite a broiling sun, Sunday, some fifty golfers were banging out balls.

Building a golf club takes years, though; and money. There's plenty of time; but another 25 charter members right now would provide the wherewithal for preparing the last three fairways for play next Spring.

If you are seriously thinking of golf in Glengarry next year, your charter membership would never be more welcome than right now. It could help provide a complete nine-hole Glengarry Golf & Country Club course next Spring — complete, that is, except for permanent greens and a swanky club house.

These, too, will come in time.

Blowing A Horn For The Weeklies

Not too often, we trust, do you find us blowing our own horn in these columns. A combination of circumstances moves us this week to dwell for a few paragraphs on the role of our paper in the community.

At the Halifax convention of the Canadian weeklies, Prime Minister Diefenbaker was addressing delegates on the Berlin crisis and Canada's role on the international scene. He mentioned in passing that in Communist Russia there were only 14 weekly newspapers as compared with more than 600 in Canada. Nowhere has the weekly press flourished as in the U.S. and Canada, he noted, and the Prime Minister went on in glowing terms to laud the role of the small town paper as a bastion of democracy.

The editors ate it up, of course; even while making a mental reservation that this kind of talk was good politics.

No paper was printed during that week of staff holidays and perhaps it was the Prime Minister's praise of the weekly press that primed us for the numerous observations on how much the paper had been missed. We've been returning from conventions for years, but never before do we recall so many mentioning that they had felt the non-appearance of the News. It gave us a definite lift.

It was in that mood we came upon the observations of one John Casey, professor of Journalism at the University of Oklahoma, on the role of the small town paper. He is quoted as saying:

"Without its newspaper the small town community would be like a school without a teacher or a church without a pastor. In the aggregate, the country newspaper determines the outcome of more elections, exerts a greater influence for constructive community progress, is read longer by more members of the family and constituents, with its millions of circulation and quadrupled millions of readers, a better advertising medium than any other group of newspapers or periodical publications.

"When properly conducted, it cultivates so intensely its home news field that city dailies, farm journals and general magazines circulating in the same territory become only secondary influences.

"Through service to its community, the small town newspaper will not merely survive; it will continue to flourish as the most representative, most distinctive, most wholesome type of journalism North America has produced."

That's heady stuff, isn't it? Even taken with a dose of salts it practically justifies the existence of the weekly editor and the paper he publishes. And we trust our advertisers let sink in that observation about the advertising value of the dollar placed in the weeklies. We know from experience that it is true.

We hesitate to add, too, that the town without a weekly newspaper has two strikes against it; may never get to first base. We feel this is true of any community, but we say it hesitantly lest one be accused of overblowing our own horn.

Didn't Hurt Much, Did It?

Friday, September 1st, was rainless for a change, and one of the hottest days we've experienced out on the new golf course. But that didn't stop an Ottawa newspaper from heading a story: "Frost hits Ontario".

The weather got no mention in the story, of course; it concerned the advent of Premier Frost's new 3 percent sales tax onto the Ontario scene. The new tax got quite a splash in all the weekend papers and most stories were critical of this latest plundering of the people's purses.

But, honestly, it didn't hurt too much, did it?

Over at the liquor store a few grunts of displeasure were unloosed when guys with a thirst had to fork over another 15 cents or so for hard stuff. The yelping was probably louder in the barrooms, where only an extra cent was involved, but where more beer drinkers gave their displeasure volume. Cigarette smokers had to cough up that extra cent, too, and many swore at the thought; even if they didn't go so far as to swear off smoking.

But these are all luxuries, or should we term them non-essentials for the type of person who is strong enough to say "no" to his baser instincts. He or she probably has less justification for resenting this new tax than, say, the motherly type who has fed her flock so well they have waxed big for their age.

She may have been shopping, Friday,

LETTERS to the EDITOR

RELATES ANECDOTE

35 Broadway Avenue,
Ottawa 1, Canada.

Editor, Glengarry News.

Dear Mr. Macdonald:

In the recent history of the lives of Glengarry and Dundee settlers and their kintfolk, "As Others See Us, Scots of The Seaway Valley", there is a brief biographical mention of Dr. Andrew Shaw Grant, M.D., D.D., born 1859 in Dundee, Que., whose mother, Mary Fraser, was a cousin of the James Fraser, Kenyon reeve and county warden, whose post office and store was the centre of the once lively little village of 100 souls, Loch Garry. On the several hundred acres which he cleared and farmed with the late John Ban McDonald and son Duncan, about the shores of the lake, now rise the modern cottages of a growing summer resort.

Pierre Berton, distinguished Toronto journalist and TV personality, in his late book, "Klondike", records a revealing incident in the life of Andrew Shaw Grant, who was one of the pioneer Presbyterian missionaries to the Yukon and a contemporary of the many colourful characters of the gold rush days and "trail of '98". It may be of interest to Presbyterian Glengarrians (and others) who may not have had ready access to Pierre Berton's book, to note that author's relevant commentary, as follows:

"He (Hall Young, a Presbyterian minister who opened a church in Dawson City in 1897) was replaced the following summer by a Canadian, Dr. Andrew S. Grant, a surgeon who had studied under Osler and then taken to the cloth. Young's makeshift church had burned to the ground, and Grant held services in the Pioneers Hall until the building was submerged in the spring floods. Nothing daunted, the minister gathered up his flock and marched them to St. Paul's Anglican Church, walking in through the door just as the congregation commenced to sing the second stanza of a grand old hymn: 'See the mighty host advancing, Satan leading on.'"

Yours sincerely,

R. J. FRASER.

I Was Offered 4 Jobs Today!

Tilbury Times

"So you've got unemployment in Tilbury. I don't see why there should be — I was offered four jobs this morning — can't take care of them all — I'm going to help 'so-and-so' draw hay — he called me first."

The speaker was a Tilbury district man, well over 80 years of age. A proud man. A man who had known hard work and was not ashamed of it.

Balanced against his attitude was the fact that in June of this year the Town of Tilbury had paid out in direct welfare $1,324.00 to families and individuals. True, a number of the recipients are elderly widows or are considered disabled and unable to earn a livelihood. However, week by week, monthly and yearly the cost of welfare mounts.

Last week when a sudden storm swept through parts of Essex County, destroying crops and property, Paul Martin, member of parliament for the district, sought government aid for those harmed.

Taking a dispassionate view, when hail and storm insurance on crops and property is readily available for those desiring it we wonder if such representation to the government is necessary, except, of course, in the case of a national disaster.

We have our doubts if the government would rush to our aid if the roof blew off our building. We have no illusions about help if our business failed as so many have and will continue to do.

We have a sincere admiration for the attitude of our elderly friend and if there were more like him Canada's future would be more assured than what it looks at present when so many are rushing to the government whether local, provincial or federal with hands outstretched.

WITH OUR RAMBLING REPORTER

by ED.

What this world needs is a summit meeting on the level.

STILL SOME

Honored we were on Friday to welcome into our crumbly little office no less than the Chief of the Macdonells of Glengarry, one Air Commodore A. R. D. Macdonell, who is the 22nd Chief of this branch of Clan Donald.

Young he was to the aging eyes of your Rambling Reporter; forty-ish we would say, very personable, complete with an old-country accent that was pleasing to the ear. We liked what we saw of "Glengarry", right down to the knees peaking out below the Macdonell of Glengarry kilt. And he seemed to like what he was seeing of Glengarry in Canada.

Observant he was, too, as might be expected of one who flew a fighter in the Battle of Britain two decades ago. Half-buried under the junk on our desk was a relic of last May's Ontario convention of the weeklies at Ottawa. It was our identification badge, and it carried a length of the Macdonell of Glengarry plaid, as all the badges did at this "Glengarry" convention of O.W.N.A.

The Glengarry Chief had been in the office only minutes when he spotted the bit of plaid and compared it with his own kilt to confirm it was indeed a bit of "Glengarry".

Air Commodore Macdonell got another lift as he was leaving the office when he encountered a man who, seeing his kilt, remarked "I'll bet you're straight from Scotland". That's right said the chief, with the rejoinder, "I'll bet you're a Macdonell".

He was pleasantly surprised to find he was right, too. He was talking to Hugh Finlay Macdonell, of the Sixth Kenyon.

A century ago it might not have been considered a coincidence. A census in 1852 showed there were 3,228 Macdonells, or Macdonalds in a Glengarry which probably numbered half the 18,000 people the county now boasts.

Money does go farther these days. In fact a lot of it winds up in outer space.

OUT WITH SLUSH FUNDS

An editorial in the Renfrew Advance deals with the problem of party funds for election purchases and suggests that all such funds be abolished in an effort to create "an atmosphere where a vote is more important than a dollar".

Editor Don McCuaig quotes an article in Maclean's Magazine, in which James Scott, until recently the Liberal party's national organizer, calls for an end to "slush funds".

He points out that few people have any idea where the millions of dollars required for national election come from. Most of it is donations from big business and the general pattern is 60 percent for the party in power and 40 percent for the opposition. It would be fair to say that most of it is not designed to influence parties, but past history shows that patronage and corruption go hand in hand with election funds. It stands to reason that a company or individual making large political contributions is in a favorable position when contracts are being let or political favors distributed.

This system of underwriting vast campaign expenditures is justified as a donation to the free enterprise system (or the democratic way of life) but, as Scott's article points out, the bad aspects outweigh whatever moral justifications are put forward, Mr. McCuaig suggests.

In this we heartily concur. General elections today, whether provincial or federal, cost millions of dollars in big party expenditure and that kind of money isn't found on trees by the party organizers. The known fact that corporations and contractors split their contributions, 60 percent to the party in power, 40 percent to the challengers, indicates they want to be friendly with whatever party wins the election.

Organized Labor proposes to do it a bit differently. It means to assess union members for a contribution that will go exclusively to the New Democratic Party, which once thirsted for election money when it was known as the CCF.

Campaign contributions, the money the parties require to get

Won Scholarship

A quintet of European floral designers demonstrated their technique to some 1,800 North American florists in a design school which was one of the highlights of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association convention meeting at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel in Montreal.

Representatives of Sweden, Germany, England, France and Switzerland created a wide variety of arrangements in the European tradition.

Montreal florists made a brief appearance at the international session when they presented scholarships to twelve Montreal nurses at their banquet. Selected by the Montreal branch of the Nurses' Association, the students each received scholarships worth $200, given on a 50-50 basis by the Montreal FTD and the provincial government.

We Glengarrymen are pleased to know that Miss Mary Margaret Campbell was the recipient at the Royal Victoria Hospital as the most deserving student.

Miss Campbell is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Muriel Campbell and the late John W. Campbell, of Maxville. She received her early education at the Athol Public School and the Maxville High School. She has completed her second year training in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Many Enjoyed Messer Show

All lovers of "down east music" on radio and television made their various ways to Maxville on Friday night last to see and hear "Don Messer and His Islanders".

Those who were not on the grandstand of the Exhibition Grounds to enjoy their program of song, music and dance, made their way to the Community Hall for the second performance — a dance to Messer's music.

All in all, it was a big night in Maxville, and another of those worthwhile entertainments that the Agricultural Society have been providing for the community.

Watch for their next good entertainment and do not miss it!

We Owe Our Heritage

Saturday's issue of Standard-Freeholder contained an article on British Air Commodore A. R. D. Macdonell, the Glengarry chieftain of the Clan Donald family, who made a brief tour through Glengarry last week, and when leaving, said "It was a wonderful trip and I would like to come back — perhaps to Glengarry Highland Games at Maxville."

This gentleman was well versed in the history of his clansmen. They were the pioneers of our Glengarry, who cleared the rugged forests, established the earliest homes, and built the first church, the Roman Catholic Church at St. Raphael's. How applicable the passage of scripture is "One soweth and another reapeth. One men laboured and ye are entered into their labours."

We Glengarrymen must not forget the noble part played by the pioneers and the heritage they have handed down to their succeeding generations.

out of the vote, loom much too large in any election, we agree. Money talks, never so loudly as in this day of the cheap dollar, and the dependence of all parties on slush funds to run an election means, as the Renfrew editor writes "that some people are going to have more influence than the rest of us on whatever party forms the government".

It would be a big step toward real democracy if we could have an election free of slush funds. But what party, whose victory depended to at least some extent on this financial backing, can break the chains which bind it.

County Honors To Alex Hay

Alexander Hall, Alexandria, was the scene of another successful 4-H Homemaking Club Achievement Day. On Friday, September 1, 1961, leaders and members of the project "4-H Home Garden Club" gathered to participate in this event.

During the morning programme, the 4-H Homemaking Club members gathered to practise placing and judging classes of vegetables. Each girl also answered a quiz on gardening to see how much knowledge she had gained by studying this unit.

The afternoon proved most entertaining. Each of the six clubs in Glengarry county had prepared an exhibit, skit or demonstration which they presented to a large audience of interested parents, friends and Institute members. Everyone received many valuable tips on gardening and preservation. Each girl's record book, five of her vegetables and a jar of her canned tomatoes were on display.

Mrs. Stanley Kippen, district president of the Glengarry Women's Institutes, brought greetings from the Institutes and helped present the awards. Five members received County Honours Certificates and Pins upon completion of six projects. They were: Doreen MacGillivray, Anne MacGillivray, Lynda MacGillivray, and Christina MacCrimmon, of the Dalkeith club, and Gweneth MacArthur of the Lancaster club. Each girl and local leader then received a sterling silver spoon upon successful completion of this unit.

This completed another 4-H Homemaking Club unit. Voluntary leaders were: Bainsville—Mrs. H. Fournay and Mrs. K. Aitken.

Pledged Vows At Greenfield

CHISHOLM - MacCORMICK

The marriage of Miss Betty MacCormick and Mr. John Chisholm was solemnized at St. Catherine of Sienna Church, Greenfield, on August 26th at ten a.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan MacCormick, Greenfield, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Chisholm, Northfield Station.

Rev. Bernard Cameron officiated and the wedding music was played by Miss Sally McDonald with Mr. Innis Campbell as soloist.

The floral arrangements were of pink and white gladioli and the bride was attended by Miss Inez MacCormick, as maid of honour, and Miss Bonnie McGee, as bridesmaid. Mr. William Chisholm of Northfield Station was bestman and the ushers were Hubert Chisholm, St. Andrews West, and Hugh MacCormick of Montreal.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white organza with bateau neckline and short sleeves. The full, princess skirt was embroidered with fleurettes of lace trimmed with mother-of-pearl sequins. The back was topped with organza rosettes which accentuated the fullness. Her double veil of French tulle fell from a head-piece trimmed with lace and sequins, and she carried a white prayer book adorned with baby red roses.

The maid of honor wore an aqua gown of pure silk organza with scalloped shell neckline and sleeves. The full skirt of organza covered lace and draped waistline finished with a side sash. She wore a matching headpiece and carried a semicascade bouquet of white 'mums and pink roses. The bridesmaid wore an identical yellow gown with matching headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of white 'mums and pink roses.

The mother of the bride chose a mauve chantilly lace dress with matching jacket in three-quarter length. She wore white accessories with a corsage of white carnations. The groom's mother wore a green floral dress with matching accessories and pink carnations en corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Bonnie Glen Pavilion, where Mr. Allan MacCormick acted as Master of Ceremonies. Later the young couple left on a trip to Niagara Falls and surrounding district.

Going away the bride wore a beige ensemble of silk organza and full-length coat with three-quarter sleeves. The slim, straight sheath dress had a high neckline trimmed in lace and she wore a corsage of tiny gold roses.

Out of town guests were present from Montreal, Ottawa, Wyman, Bowmanville, Saint John, N.B., Thetford Mines, Dearborn, Mich., and Bourlaimaque.

INFORMATION about the

ONTARIO RETAIL SALES TAX

The following basic information about the 3% Retail Sales Tax, that went into effect September 1st, will be of interest to every resident of Ontario.

Why the Sales Tax was introduced

Ontario is experiencing the most dynamic growth in its history.

As a result, the demands on the provincial treasury continue to grow at an unprecedented rate. For example, during the next five years we must build the equivalent of one thousand schools large enough for 500 pupils each. This means that provincial grants to schools must be greatly increased in the years immediately ahead, or municipalities will be faced with crippling mill rates to provide basic educational facilities. Hospitals, highways and other public works must also be greatly expanded to meet the needs of our rapidly increasing population.

Your Province must increase its revenues by about $150 million annually to pay for these vital projects.

After considering every method available to the Province, of raising money, your representatives at Queen's Park decided that our vast financial needs could not be met out of present sources of revenue. It was agreed that The Retail Sales Tax Act was the fairest and most practical way for residents of Ontario to contribute to the cost of their schools, hospitals and other essential services.

Before drawing up the Ontario Retail Sales Tax Act, your government closely studied the retail sales taxes of seven other Canadian provinces and many states of the U.S.A. The Ontario Retail Sales Tax Act has the broadest exemptions of any of these retail sales taxes. Only two other provinces have a tax rate as low as Ontario.

Collection of Tax

Those who regularly sell goods as a normal part of their business must apply to be registered as vendors. Those who have applied are now receiving their permits.

They will collect 3% tax on the price of goods sold to the ultimate consumer. The tax will be collected only once. Thus, a registered wholesaler will purchase goods for resale tax free from the manufacturer. He in turn will sell to the retailer on a tax free basis. Then the retailer will collect the tax when he sells to the consumer.

Major Consumer Exemptions

Most of the day-to-day necessities of life are free of sales tax. Food, prescribed drugs and medical supplies, and children's clothing are all tax exempt. Heating fuel, electricity and gasoline are exempt. Newspapers, magazines and books are exempt. No tax applies on restaurant meals charged separately at $1.50 or less. Each sale of less than 17¢ is exempt. These and many other exemptions are discussed in detail on special cards that are now being mailed to retailers and other vendors.

Homes Not Taxable

Houses and other buildings are real property and are not subject to tax under this Act. The building contractor pays tax on materials incorporated into the home or other structure but no tax is payable on the labour that constitutes a large part of the total price of a home.

If furnishings such as draperies, stoves and refrigerators are sold with a home, tax is payable on the fair value of such furnishings.

Services Not Taxable

Only items of merchandise that are moveable, and telephone services, except long distance calls, are subject to the tax. Those persons selling "services," such as barbers, beauty shops, laundries and dry cleaners, do not collect tax, but must pay tax on the materials they use in supplying their service. However, if a repair service includes substantial quantities of parts or material, the entire bill will be taxable unless the materials are shown as a separate charge from the labour.

Casual Sales

When an individual sells goods privately, the transaction is a "casual" sale. In such cases the purchaser and not the seller of taxable goods is responsible to report the purchase and pay the sales tax on the purchase price to the Retail Sales Tax Branch, Office of the Comptroller of Revenue.

Instalment Purchases

Sales tax is due on the total price when the sale is made, even though payments may continue over a long period of time. Finance charges are also taxable unless quoted and itemized separately.

Trade-ins

The actual selling price minus the amount of the trade-in allowance is the amount upon which sales tax is payable.

Farming

Farmers will be exempt from tax on most equipment, on agricultural seeds and feeds, on drugs and medicines for livestock and on many other commodities used directly in the business of farming.

Exports and Imports

Goods exported from Ontario are not taxable since the tax is applicable only to goods used in Ontario. No tax is payable under this Act by manufacturers on goods they purchase for use in the production of goods for sale. Thus, their competitive position in the export market is maintained without change after the introduction of this tax.

Goods imported into Ontario are taxable since they are purchased for use in Ontario. The purchaser of the imported goods is subject to the same tax he would have to pay to an Ontario Vendor if he purchased the goods in Ontario.

Rental of Moveable Property

The person who acquires possession of moveable property by paying a rental price for its use is regarded as a purchaser of such property under the Act and tax is payable by him on the rental price paid.

Registered vendors are receiving special cards that list exempt and taxable goods. Each explains how the Retail Sales Tax applies to each particular type of business. Additional information is available from the District Sales Tax Office serving your community.
