

Cleveland McPhee Suffered Heart Attack While Ice Fishing On Lake St. Francis

The first ice-fishing trip he had ever gone on ended in tragedy yesterday afternoon, when Cleveland McPhee, widely known area farmer, died of a heart attack. His death occurred shortly before 2 p.m. in the fishing shack of Sam Brunet on Lake St. Francis, minutes after they had reached the spot.

Mr. McPhee was 68. It was the second such tragedy experienced by Mr. Brunet. Three years ago he had been one of a local party of deer hunters who had arrived at their camp on the Upper Ottawa only hours before Tom Gauthier died suddenly.

News of the death of Mr. McPhee under such distressing circumstances came as a shock to his family and a host of friends throughout the area. He had been in apparent good health and keen to enjoy the fishing trip, according to Mr. Brunet.

Shortly after reaching the fishing shack on the ice of the bay at Sutherland Creek, eight miles east of Lancaster, Mr. McPhee had started fishing through the ice. Mr. Brunet went to the nearby shack of Harry Franklin, Lagan, to borrow bait and on his return found Mr. McPhee slumped over on the floor, breathing heavily.

A score of Alexandria fishermen in the area gathered at the spot and did what they could to ease Mr. McPhee's condition, but death ensued within minutes.

Provincial Police had been sent for and Dr. D. J. Dolan was called as well as Rev. Cyrille Contant, from Alexandria.

A lifetime resident of Lot 9 in the "Little Third" of Kenyon, Mr. McPhee had been a successful farmer until ill health forced his retirement from active farming a few years ago. A big man physically, he possessed an equable disposition and many other fine qualities which won him many friends.

Cleveland McPhee was a son of the late Alexander McPhee and his wife, Catherine McDonald. He married the former Gertrude Lapalme of Hammond, Ont., who survives with three daughters: Joy, 14; Lois, 12; Rita, 9.

Four sisters also survive: Mrs. Leo Doyle, of Kingston; Mrs. William Baldwin, of Montreal; Misses Annie and Margaret McPhee of White Plains, N.Y. The body is resting at the Marcoux & Morris Funeral Home, here, and the funeral will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday to St. Pinnar's Cathedral and vault.

Reminds Of The Days Glengarry Men Wore Shawls

The Glengarry museum will have at least one reminder that at one time Glengarry men wore shawls. That was before the day of overcoats; and these shawls were designed primarily for men, though women wore them too, on occasion, for warmth.

Mrs. Norman J. MacLeod, Kirk Hill, has donated one of these shawls to the museum that is due to open in early summer.

Made of pure wool, it is 14 feet long and a yard wide; and they came in various shades, some in clan colors. It came out from Scotland with her forebears who wore these shawls to keep out the winter cold of the Highlands.

As we hear it, these stalwart Scotsmen could cover their bodies completely with such shawls. They were wrapped around the waist, twisted at back, brought up over the shoulders, and the two ends came down over the chest to be tucked through the waistband.

Mrs. MacLeod, the former Jessie McIntosh, got this shawl from her uncle, the late Rory Malcolm McCuaig, of 20-6th Lochiel. It came out from Scotland in 1802 with his grandfather, Malcolm McCuaig, who settled on that same lot.

Malcolm (Mack) McCuaig, Vankleek Hill, remembers his father wearing this shawl, that will soon become a museum piece.

Funeral Today Mrs. McPherson

The funeral was held this morning of a highly esteemed resident of the Alexandria area, Mrs. John D. McPherson, Third Kenyon, who died Monday in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal. A native of Glen Roy, Mrs. McPherson had been six weeks in hospital.

She was predeceased by her husband, the late John Douglas McPherson. Three sons and three daughters are left to mourn her passing: Donald and Martin, at home; William, of Windsor, Ont.; Mrs. Greg. Cruikshank (Jean) of Ottawa; Mrs. Henry Cameron (Gerry), Alexandria; Mrs. Gordon Filiatrault (Mary Rita) of Montreal.

One sister also survives: Mrs. Nellie Donovan of Montreal.

Hog Producers Vote Monday

Hog Producers across the province are to vote Monday to elect two county representatives. These two Glengarry men, in turn, will go to Kemptonville, March 15th, to help select zone representatives to the Ontario Hog Marketing Board.

The province has been divided into 11 zones and Eastern Ontario is Zone 1 for purposes of the vote, which is being held, we understand, to ensure that members of the Hog Marketing Board are democratically elected by the hog producers of the province.

J. Y. Humphries, ag. rep., will supervise nominations Monday morning in his office and the choice of representatives to the zone meeting will be made there in the afternoon. All hog producers in the county have a vote.

Gordon Kippen To Be Pipe-Major Of New Band

Gordon Kippen of Maxville, has been named Pipe-Major of the new Glengarry Highlanders band and the first practise is to be held in Maxville Curling Rink, Saturday evening.

All pipers interested in playing in the new band are asked to be present.

Lost Everything In Cornwall Fire

Two Cornwall families, formerly of Alexandria, lost all their possessions in the Monday morning fire which destroyed the City Smoke Shop, on Second Street West.

Among the ten tenants of upstairs apartments were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Asselin, who escaped only with the clothes they were wearing, and Mrs. Julia Munro and son, Allan.

Mrs. Munro was spending the weekend with her brother, Alex McDonald, RR 2, Alexandria, while her son was in Ottawa at the time of the fire.

Marie, and five daughters, Hilda, Mrs. James Campbell, Dunvegan; Miss Ruth Dewar, Margaret, Mrs. Earle Patterson, Jean, Mrs. Douglas Cudmore, Dorothy, Mrs. Thomas Roy, all of Montreal, and by 13 grandchildren. The many beautiful floral tributes received testified to the esteem in which he was held by all who knew him.

Burial took place in St. Columba cemetery.

Choir Had Supper

Members of the Sacred Heart Choir enjoyed a buffet supper at the Ottawa Hotel last Monday, followed by singing and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Sid Lamoureux, of Cornwall, were among the guests.

To Sell Shares In FAME

FAME, the Farmers' Allied Meat Enterprise, a plan whereby hog producers would co-operatively handle their own meat packing, is seeking the support of Glengarry farmers.

As explained to this reporter by C. T. Upton of Lancaster, the plan of the Hog Producers of Ontario, envisages the raising of two million dollars through the sale of shares and the building of eight packing plants across the province which would eliminate the middleman.

Mr. Upton was the delegate from the Glengarry Hog Producers to a meeting in Toronto in mid-February when plans were made for a province-wide canvass. Glengarry is being asked to furnish $120,000 in shares at $100 each. Mr. Upton informs. Each county has a quota based on hog production and some of the Western Ontario counties are already over the top in fund raising. The goal of two millions is needed before FAME starts to build its plants, we understand. There is a possibility one may be located in Glengarry.

According to Mr. Upton, the Packing companies have only one dollar invested in hog production for every $18 the producers must spend. And yet the Packers get 64 percent of the retail price of the hog, he says. It is this spread, which they see as unjust, that has moved the Ontario Hog Producers Association to organize a co-operative which will permit the hog producer to earn his just share of the retail price of pork products.

FAME also intends to handle beef and sheep marketing, we understand.

Three canvassers have already been appointed and each must be a shareholder in FAME. They are Mr. Upton, Alex McDonald of RR 2, Alexandria, and Douglas Ferguson. Five additional canvassers have yet to be appointed.

The canvass of county farmers will start soon, we understand.

Won Jackpot

A visitor to Alexandria is $245 richer as a result of attendance at Tuesday's bingo in Alexander Hall. Miss Marcella Chouinard of Ottawa, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hubert Contant, won the big jackpot.

LEGION NOTES

At the general meeting held at the Legion clubrooms last night, approval was given for the purchase of certain articles of furniture and equipment for the new hall.

It was decided to dispose by sale of the surplus coal furnace recently converted for oil.

The Welfare Officer, Comrade Larry Sicard, reported that two Life Certificates were completed for the month of February; also two applications prepared and submitted, one for widow's allowances and one for veterans' allowance. In all, there were nine personal interviews and five letters written in connection with these services.

A team of cribbage players from Alexandria Legion Branch had to settle for second place, Saturday, in zone competition at Cornwall, when the host Branch beat them out by three games.

Branch 423, Alexandria, scored a victory, however, when Alden MacMillan captured the trophy for high game winner. He won nine out of nine games played.

Four Branches competed — Cornwall, Alexandria, Hawkesbury and Ingleside — Long Sault.

Representing Alexandria Branch were Alden MacMillan, Conrad Lajoie, Charlie Dear, Ramald McDonald, Marcel Pattyn, Harry Main, Vincent Barker and Art Thivierge.

Ice And Wind Combined Saturday Night To Paralyze Large Part Of County

Wind and rain combined Saturday night to deal most of Glengarry its worst blow of the winter, the heaviest in a decade. Communications were almost completely disrupted for 36 hours and many rural residents are still without normal telephone service.

Some are still without power, though extra gangs brought in by Hydro succeeded in restoring service late Tuesday to all of the 4,000 customers who were hit by power failure. Clear sunny skies are helping speed restoration of lines downed by the ice, snow and wind.

Still uncertain Tuesday when their electrical service would be restored, were residents of the Sumnerstown — Glen Walter area served by Cornwall Street Railway; and of the Dalhousie area, on the Quebec side, served by Gaitneau Power. They must await restoration of service in Cornwall and Montreal, both hard hit by the storm.

Glengarry Telephone, serving Lochiel and part of Kenyon, was hit hard as entire sections of its north-south lines fell before the wind and ice. Two circuits were opened Tuesday between Alexandria and Lochiel central office, but it is expected another week's work by an augmented crew will be required before all subscribers have normal service restored.

Extra crews of Bell Telephone men have also been brought into the area to restore main and secondary lines hard hit by the storm.

All telephone lines out of Alexandria were out of commission Sunday, the six circuits to Cornwall and eight to Montreal all being interrupted. Ottawa service was restored Monday and the two circuits to Avonmore were turned over to Alexandria for long distance calls.

Montreal messages went by way of Avonmore to Cornwall, and thence to Montreal.

Telephone and telegraph lines along the CNR between Alexandria and Montreal were completely disrupted and extra gangs on Tuesday were able to get one cable back in use. It was reported running along the ground in many sections where new poles have to be raised.

Train service was back to normal Tuesday after long delays due to the lack of communication and the snarl up in the automatic signals' system between town and city. The last train, Saturday night, took four hours to come from Montreal due to the fallen poles and the blocked signals. Trains to and from Montreal continued to run late until Monday night when the worst of the damage had been cleared.

The storm took its toll of trees throughout the area. Large branches fell in many instances and the ground was littered with twigs and smaller branches broken off by the wind and ice. Snow-capped by Sunday's fall, the ice-covered trees were a thing of beauty in the strong afternoon sun. By Monday they had been freed of their sheath of ice.

The heavy rain which struck this area early Saturday night did most of its damage in the St. Lawrence Valley, where winds gusting at more than 50 miles per hour, were at their worst. Vankleek Hill, the McCrimmon area, Maxville, got off lightly because they had no wind.

Dalkeith was hard hit and the damage to communication lines was general on a line paralleling the St. Lawrence from Montreal through Cornwall, and in northern New York State.

The rain turned to snow, during the early hours of Sunday, here, and snow plows were out through the morning keeping the roads open. The going was heavy, and icy in spots, but only a few minor accidents were reported in the area.

Lineman Broke Arm In Fall

Only casualty of the weekend storm was an Alexandria man, Paul Decaire, 24, who fell from a Hydro pole while working with the PUC maintenance men Sunday. Decaire suffered a broken left arm, above the elbow, and body bruises in a 15-foot fall from a pole on Ottawa street at 1 p.m. Sunday.

Treated by Dr. D. J. Dolan, he was conveyed by ambulance to Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, where he is, now a patient.

The young man had been taken on staff early that morning to assist the hard-pressed regular crew, who had been on duty through the night. He had completed work on the wires and was descending the post when his spikes failed to hold on the icy post and he plummeted to the ground.

Most Alexandria homes got off lightly despite the severity of the storm. Some had no power interruptions at all; others were without lights only for some three hours of the early morning, while some 20 percent of homes were without power for eight hours. The north and south ends of town suffered longest. Two poles were brought down, one on Main Street south; the other on Victoria street.

All services had been restored by Monday night, but PUC maintenance men were still busy removing branches from the wires. There were no telephone interruptions here, except on long distance or rural calls.

Hardest hit here were residents of the area served by the rural line. Some were without light or heat until noon on Tuesday.

Three properties adjoining their bakery have been purchased by George Lanthier & Son, who plan to build additions that will almost double their present floor space.

Purchased last week were the Saue apartment block, immediately north of the bakery, part of the lot owned by Elie Massie, west of the Saue property, and the house immediately south of the bakery, owned by Peter MacMillan, Lochiel.

The MacMillan house has been sold, for removal, to Francois Seguin and the sheds on the Saue property will be torn down to provide room for plant expansion. The apartment block will remain as is.

When completed the addition will give the plant a floor space 110 ft. by 140 ft. It will be of cement block construction, one-storey, and will not be started until August or September. Provided will be enlarged quarters for the bakery and pastry rooms, the stockroom and the garage. Considerable new equipment will also be added, according to Mr. Lanthier.

Plans for extending the bakeries' routes will await completion of the addition. "We are finding it difficult to supply the present demand," reports Mr. Lanthier.

Cornwall Rabbi Addressed Lions On Brotherhood

A strong plea for a quickening of the spirit of tolerance was heard by members of Alexandria Lions Club and their guests Monday night at their annual Brotherhood Night meeting.

The speaker was Rabbi Abraham Matis, of Beth-El Congregation, Cornwall, who delivered an eloquent message on the Brotherhood theme. Prejudice and intolerance stem from one of two causes, he pointed out; the feeling of superiority of one individual over another, one race over another, one religion over others. But far more difficult to curb is the prejudice that comes from a feeling of inferiority. It is made up of envy of our fellowman, it seeks to drag him down to our own level, and it is far more vicious. Rabbi Matis emphasized in his talk the fact that we will not know true peace on this earth until all recognize the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

He was introduced by Harold Nyman and Campbell Fraser expressed the thanks of his hearers to Rabbi Matis for his very fine talk. Laurent Crevier, president of the Richelieu Club, was a head table guest.

John Proulx was winner of the record play drawn for at the meeting.

George Andrews Died Suddenly

Friends and relatives were shocked to hear of the sudden death of George Andrews, at the Herbert Reddy Memorial Hospital in Montreal, on February 11th.

Though born in London, England, Mr. Andrews had spent most of his life in Montreal.

Besides his wife, Evelyn Munro, formerly of Munro's Mills, he is survived by one daughter, Roslyn, and one son, Munro. He also leaves four sisters and one brother, living in England.

Funeral service was held from the Clarke Funeral Home, Montreal. The service was conducted by Rev. Russell Gordon, Chaplain of Royal Albert Masonic Lodge, of which Mr. Andrews was a member.

The body was placed in the vault at the North Branch cemetery, Martintown. Interment will be in the Spring.

Border League Play-Offs Open Here Sunday

Lancaster scored a 6-3 upset victory over Dalhousie in the Gardens, Tuesday night and came within one point of catching the front runners. This was the last game of the schedule and the play-offs open Sunday.

Dalhousie will be meeting third-place Williamstown in a best-of-five series, while Lancaster comes up against a fourth-place Vankleek Hill team, which has been given permission to use its local juniors.

All games will be played here unless colder weather restores the Vankleek Hill natural ice surface. Dalhousie and Williamstown meet this Sunday afternoon and next. Vankleek Hill and Lancaster tangle Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Tuesday night's game was a real roughie featured by four goals for Jack Coleman, Bourgon and Saucier got the others for Lancaster, while Ranger, Richer and Cuertier counted for the league leaders.

Thirteen penalties were handed out, eight of them to Lancaster which, observers say, might easily have earned three times that number.

Maxville Man Died Suddenly

A 68-year-old Maxville district man, Desile Hudakowski, dropped dead at his home late Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Hudakowski left his home in the Fifth Concession of Kenyon about 10 a.m. Saturday with a shotgun to check his woodlot where work was being done. On his return shortly before five o'clock in the afternoon he dropped dead.

A post mortem was performed by pathologist Dr. W. J. Shannon. Dr. M. Markson of Alexandria, was the coroner at the scene. Prov. Cst. Neil Brush of Maxville OPP, investigated.

The dead man is survived by his wife, Mrs. Belle Hudakowski.

French Teachers Had Seminar

A seminar for the Regular French Teachers of District 27 was held at the Alexandria High School on Saturday, February 25. The meeting was sponsored by the Professional Development Committee of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation. Representatives from Cornwall, Ingleside, Morrisburg, Plantagenet, Hawkesbury, Vankleek Hill, Williamstown, Maxville and Alexandria schools were present.

Beginning at 10 a.m., the teachers were welcomed to the school by C. C. Fraser, Principal. The Chairman, Lionel Poirier, then introduced the guest of the day, Professor T. J. Casaubon of the University of Western Ontario, and co-editor of a Grade 12 French Authors book extensively used in Ontario High Schools.

Louis Lecompte, of the French Department at Morrisburg High School, then explained his method of teaching the demonstrative adjective and his approach to translation of exercises on the adjective. The point stressed by Mr. Lecompte was that the presentation of this adjective should be made in context rather than through a formal grammar lesson. Discussion led by Professor Casaubon followed and the latter stressed the method of proceeding from the known to the unknown.

The next topic on the agenda was presented by Fernand Parent, Head of the French and Latin Departments at St. Lawrence High School in Cornwall. Mr. Parent described his approach to the teaching of a Grade II French Authors Lesson, as well as his views concerning translation in general. The exclusive use of French in the classroom was stressed by Mr. Parent. This, in his opinion, eliminated difficulties rather than created them.

Again discussions followed, under the guidance of Prof. Casaubon. Lunch was served in the school cafeteria.

The section of the programme everyone had been anxious for at the resumption of the meeting at 1:00 o'clock when the teachers were given a demonstration lesson by the Professor. Six Grade XIII students of the Alexandria High School served as a class when Mr. Casaubon, in his usual expert manner, taught a completely new French passage to students he had never seen. The direct method (exclusive use of French) again was used and both teachers and students were delighted with the results.

The day ended with a general discussion.

Miss Ada Adams, of the Cornwall Collegiate, expressed the group's appreciation to Mr. Casaubon, who had come 400 miles to be present at the seminar.

On Courtesy Staff

Dr. J. R. Lacroix and Dr. L. P. Laberge of Alexandria, have been accepted on the courtesy staff of Hotel Dieu, Cornwall. This enables them to attend their own patients in hospital.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Back To The Bush

Less than two centuries ago our pioneer forefathers were laboriously carving farmsteads from the bush that is now fertile Glengarry farmland. And today, it would seem, our planners at Ottawa would return much of Glengarry's acreage to bush.

A Government Bill to be introduced to the Commons during this session would open the way for the conversion of unprofitable farmland in the Ottawa Valley for pulpwood production. Federal aid will be provided in this conversion from field crops to pulpwood.

There is a worldwide demand for pulpwood, the planners at Ottawa reason. Much of the soil in the Ottawa Valley is so poor that it is more suited to grow trees than field crops, they claim. Ergo, the Ottawa Valley can switch in large parcels from poor farming to profitable forestry. Says Agriculture Minister Hamilton, "The Eastern counties of Ontario are an ideal place to begin a reforestation program".

He may be right. A recent report of provincial authorities who have made an extensive survey of these counties recommends more than doubling the present forest areas — from 516,000 acres to 1,127,000 acres. That is more than one third of the total land area of 3,234,232 acres.

Surely these planners are not thinking of returning more than one-third of Glengarry to bush. We realize there is much land in this county that could be profitably used to grow tree crops; but surely more than one in three acres can be retained for field crops and pasture. The tree-farm movement has our moral support; we have deplored the cutting of entire bush tracts with the stumps left as a reminder that no attempt at reforestation has been made. These wasted areas we would like to see returned to trees and there are undoubtedly many other areas in the county that could be best used for tree planting.

What scares us is the picture of efficiency experts at Ottawa and Toronto coldly deciding from afar which Glengarry farms are sub-marginal and should be returned to trees. If the farmer is not paying his tax bill, is it because of market conditions, inefficient management, farm labor shortage, or countless other factors? And simply because that farmer is not paying his bills will the agricultural experts decide his soil is unprofitable and so should be re-forested?

We like trees; but we also like Glengarry farm folk. This new federal government concept could mean new life for the lands of the Ottawa Valley, we read. New tree life, and perhaps a lift to the economy for some landowners two or three decades hence.

But it could also result in loss of real life in our county; a reduced population, thousands less cattle producing millions of gallons less milk that helps keep our economy buoyant. The exodus to the cities would be intensified to create more social problems there. The small towns would become smaller, the farm homes fewer. There might be new life of a sort in the reforested areas; but the growth of a tree is slow and anything but exciting. The Glengarry scene would be the sorer for its loss of human and animal life.

Unhappily, in our opinion, the experts in agriculture seem too prone to write off the human equation in their planning for a heaven on earth none of us is ever intended to know. If they put half the time now used for devising ways of getting people off the farm, into a search for new markets and research into new products, farming might be a much more stable way of life. And rural Canada might continue to exert a stabilizing influence on the entire economy of our country.

Only God can make a tree; and we cannot see Him uprooting too many Glengarry farm folk, shipping them wholesale to the cities where they might raise saplings instead of the sturdy oaks they here produce. The planners in government should take the farm family more into account when they legislate for the better life.

Stay Off The Sucker Lists

There's a sucker born every minute", according to one of the original pitch men; the Barnum who helped make Barnum & Bailey a circus. Mr. Barnum was probably right; but it seems equally true today that there are almost as many being reared with the aim of making their living the easy way, off the sucker list.

The sucker list is almost endless. It includes the innocents who are easily convinced; those who feel they are too smart to be fooled, until they meet a really glib salesman of the species; and those who would like to get their lucre the easy way, too, but who prove paties for the smart operator who preys on their acquisitiveness.

It is the city slicker rural Canada must always be on its guard against. The cities breed an ever-ending class of sharpies dedicated to the fast buck. And most of them seem to find their most fertile field among the farm folk or the small town residents.

Almost every week the editor's basket has consigned to it advertising orders we figure are phony. Some of them may be legitimate, well intentioned, but we have heard so much of smart operators that we suspicion almost any advertisement that offers stupendous profits. Those that ask for a cash investment get the automatic heave.

Entire mail routes in Glengarry are now getting the coupon treatment from two

Toronto firms whose mailings have a striking similarity, if one has the opportunity to see them both. A share in "free" prize money is offered as a lure to get the sucker on the hook. All he has to do is supply his name and address and soon the fast-talking type will be calling on him with more bait. Equipment he has indicated he needs may be his for the answering of three "easy" questions, at low, low prices. If he doesn't know the average rainfall in Vancouver he may still earn more discounts by supplying the names of other potential suckers in the area.

If he ever gets the "bargain", it may turn out to be shoddy. Cold comfort it will be to find out his friends have been similarly stuck, because he supplied their names.

There are salesmen on the road, earning a legitimate living and providing reliable service to the rural resident. They usually are easily identified and we would not want this warning against the fast-buck one-timer to spoil their sales. They have a place on the rural scene.

We do suggest that you investigate before you invest one penny; that you call on an artisan you know when you require improvements or repairs. And your purchases may be cheapest in the long run if you buy from a local merchant who will be there to answer to your complaint if you feel you have been done badly by.

No Provincial Sales Tax, Please!

The Prime Minister and the 10 provincial Premiers have been getting together again at a Dominion-Provincial conference on new ways of dividing up the tax take. And, as expected, they failed to get together at all.

Mr. Diefenbaker wants to get off the hook; the hook being the fact that as long as the federal government collects tax monies that are turned over to the provincial treasuries under the present tax-rental system, Ottawa is blamed by the public for the high rate of taxation. The Prime Minister is looking for new ways of increasing taxes, but first he wants to force the provinces to levy their own taxes. The tax load will be heavier to bear; but Ottawa won't look quite so hungry if the provincial governments are more openly sharing the blame.

Ontario's Premier Frost came to the Conference asking a mere 150 million dollars more, if the province is to meet its increasing commitments. He broadly hinted a provincial sales tax would have to be added to the already heavy federal one we have, if the Dominion Government didn't come across. He's not going to get much more, it appears; and he is going to be forced to tax directly instead of having Ottawa do it for him.

This haggling over the public tax trough has us completely disillusioned. Every one of our senior governments is committed to spending millions more than they can expect in revenue. They don't want to be held accountable for imposing more taxes, but they continue to woo the voter with Hospital Schemes and such that have to be paid for some day, some way.

Now that we're saddled with it, the Hospital Scheme is being used by Mr. Frost as an excuse to add a second sales tax to almost everything we buy.

We don't buy that, Mr. Premier. We'd much prefer to see you cut your spending to fit provincial income. Another tax on our purchases will leave you with a very slippery purchase on your high post.

The Weeklies Say

GROWING PAINS

A few years ago, a customer might have been surprised and delighted to find a product in an Aurora store because he considered this town "small". Today he gets angry if he doesn't find what he wants because he considers this a "big" town. — Aurora (Ont.) Banner.

BRING SKILLS

Canadian experience is that an immigrant family is four people — not just one. Thus for every immigrant requiring a job there are four more consumers. . . . These families bring skills and arts which in many cases do not already exist in Canada. — Marpole (B.C.) Review.

TAX TROUBLE

Municipal taxation has long since passed the stage where it is fair taxation. It is not based on ability to pay and as long as it isn't, it will remain unfair. Despite all this municipalities have precious little money to call their own. — Chilliwack (B.C.) Progress.

FARM ECONOMY

We have every sympathy for the farmer in his increasingly difficult task of eking out a living. But the state of the farm economy is not for the want of trying to provide subsidies or tariffs or protective legislation. — Gananoque (Ont.) Reporter.

NECESSARY APPROACH

Putting one's finger in the dike may be heroic, but it is obviously not only better, but imperative, to repair the breach. Something like this is the approach needed to Canada's unemployment problems. — Pembina (Man.) Pembina Triangle-Progress.

ACTIONS LOUDER

The soundest plan in the world is ineffective unless it is put into use. This town is being brought face to face with this fact increasingly. Plans have been written into law designed to prevent the sort of blights that have ruined valuable neighborhoods in the past but they are so much waste paper unless they are fairly but rigidly enforced. — Cochrane (Ont.) Northland Post.

An Editor's Prayer

(The Tisdale (Sask.) Reporter)

Blessed are those who do not expect the editor to know everything, but who tell him whenever an interesting event occurs in which they are interested, for they shall have a better newspaper in that town.

Blessed are the merchants who advertise, for they have faith in their business, and their prosperity shall increase many fold.

Blessed is the woman who sends in a well-written account of a wedding or other social event, for she shall see the names of her guests

Blessed be the advertisers, correspondents and other reporters who correctly reported.

Blessed are they who co-operate with the editor in his efforts on behalf of the community, for their town shall be known to all men far and wide as a good place in which to live and do business.

Blessed are they who do not think they could run the paper better than the editor runs it. For it's not as simple as it looks.

Blessed are they who pay their subscriptions promptly and who realize they are getting a real bargain for $3.00.

Blessed are they who read the paper for the good they can get out of it rather than the errors they may find in it.

HALF DON'T CARE

It is one of the disheartening facets of democracy as we know it that citizens should talk of an excellent or even good turnout (at municipal elections) when almost half of the population wasn't interested enough to take a few minutes off in the year to use the most important right they have. — Pipigon (Ont.) Norshore Sentinel.

IN DEMAND

One has only to look around one's own community to see that skilled tradesmen are in great demand even in a time of unemployment. . . . Special courses . . . can help some unemployed persons become fit for the type of work which now is short of trained personnel. — Altona (Man.) Red River Valley Echo.

TEN YEARS AGO

Friday, March 2, 1951

G. H. McDougall of Maxville, has sold his general store to H. A. Quart of Cornwall, who took possession on March 1st. Member of one of the pioneer families of Glengarry, Dr. Falkner was one of the first graduates of the Faculty of Medicine, McGill University, in 1866, and practised in

The most disastrous fire in many years visited Alexandria early yesterday morning when the Post Office and R. H. Cowan's hardware store were completely destroyed and the store and residence of John Boyle were seriously damaged. The fire originated in Cowan's store. — Two young horses, the property of W. F. A TOUCH OF WINTER

That was quite a taste of winter we got Saturday night, and one of winter's most beautiful sights, Sunday afternoon, when a strong sun had replaced the snowfall.

The sun lighting up the ice-sheathed trees and poles and wires produced a picture, only nature could paint. This was a winter wonderland on Sunday and it seems we paid less for the show here in Alexandria than did others right across Southern Ontario and Quebec.

The Public Utilities staff had a tough night coping with icy tree branches on Hydro lines; the trees themselves lost many a branch and twig; the power failures were brief and so timed as to cause little or no inconvenience for most of us.

But how much worse it might have been had that heavy all-night rain been freezing on contact, as apparently it was at other points. A heavy coating of ice combined with that gale wind could have caused chaos. If that rain had come down in the form of snow we might have had the worst blizzard in memory.

We got off lightly; but next time we might not be so lucky. That Saturday night storm was just what we needed to remind us that this really is winter time. We'll be satisfied now, Mr. Weatherman, to coast into Spring.

Maybe the Russians have a space vehicle streaking for Venus; but who wants a gal with no arms?

TIMES, AND MEN, CHANGE

The Kansas City Star comes up with a bit of an essay on how time changes the ways of men. It is one which should be of particular interest to Scotsmen, especially members of the Cameron clan.

According to tradition, Sir Ewen Cameron killed Scotland's last wolf with his bare hands. He could wring blood from the finger tips of friend or foe with a single hand-clasp. And in the highlands, the article continues, since 1793 the fearsome reputation of his clan has been perpetuated by the 79th regiment, the famous Cameron Highlanders. The Camerons were part of the Highland division that routed the Afrika Korps at El Alamein.

But how time will change the ways of men! Even of tartan-clad fighting men.

The Star notes that in Edinburgh today, if you need a baby sitter, you may call list battalion headquarters of the Camerons. A highland warrior will arrive promptly.

The Kansas City paper is not criticizing the men of the Camerons for their willingness to serve and to pick up a few extra shillings. "But somehow we keep thinking of old Sir Ewen", the article concludes.

We see the editor's point. But he missed another. Isn't it possible men who are rash enough to enlist in the Camerons, are the better suited to deal with diaper rash?

Why does it take a high school girl an hour to comb her hair so it looks as if a comb had never touched it?

WOMAN'S LOGIC

An Ottawa woman, the mother of eight, faces a four-day stay in jail because she refuses to pay a fine for speeding. She had pleaded guilty to the charge and because of that, the magistrate explained, he had no alternative but to fine her $22 or four days in jail.

"I shall not finance or condone what I think is a poor sort of justice" she told the court. "I shall go to jail". She has two months to think it over and perhaps in that time she will change her mind. Women sometimes do. But this one sounds stubborn.

Here's how she sees it. "My three-months-old child had just recovered from bronchitis and was getting some fresh air in the pram in the backyard. I was up town picking up another child at the eye doctor's. A heavy rainstorm broke, and I was rushing home to get the baby inside before the pram was engulfed. It was two o'clock in the afternoon, there were no cars on Sussex Drive near the RCMP barracks and I was driving slowly."

Most of us, men or women, can sympathize with the position this woman found herself in. We can understand that this was an emergency and that under like circumstances we would be tempted to speed home too.

from woman's form of logic is in the fact she pleaded guilty to the charge and yet refuses to pay the fine imposed. That is illogical to the male mind; but doesn't it remind you of other such arguments with women in which cold logic got you no place?

Guilty she was, by her own admission, but she's going to have the last word; even if she goes to jail for it.

How do I save?

I'm a working girl, so saving isn't the easiest thing in the world. But I've found how to make it easier... I use the "Royal's" 2-Account Plan. I like the way it keeps my saving and my spending quite separate.

I use a Personal Chequing Account to pay bills. My Savings Account is strictly for saving. I'm really getting ahead, now I've stopped dipping into savings. They're building up, earn interest too... it works!

Day Of Prayer At Kirk Hill

The World Day of Prayer was observed in St. Columba WMS with the Kirk Hill United Auxiliary and friends sharing in this service.

The theme was "Forward Through the Ages, in Unbroken Line", with Mrs. Campbell MacDonald and Mrs. Archie MacGillivray as leaders.

This year our World Day of Prayer programme was prepared by the Central Day of Prayer Committee of the United States of America.

Hymn, "Forward Through the Ages", was sung. The words of welcome were given by Mrs. Douglas J. MacMillan. Let us call the roll of the nations was given by Mrs. Sam MacDonald as First Voice, and Mrs. W. D. MacLeod as Second Voice. Hymn, "O God Our Help in Ages Past", was sung.

The Lord's Prayer was said in unison and then the leader explained the different points in it. Hymn, "Breathe On Me Breath of God", was sung.

Prayers of Intercession were given by different members: Mrs. W. J. MacGillivray, Mrs. N. J. MacLeod, Mrs. Mac MacLennan, Mrs. Archie MacRae, Mrs. Alexander MacLeod and Mrs. Rae MacGillivray.

A special address was given by Mrs. Alex McCuaig, explaining the theme and the purpose of the World Day of Prayer.

The offering was taken by Mrs. Morlin Campbell and Mrs. Bill MacGillivray, and dedicated.

Mrs. Mac MacLennan, organist, played "Sweet Hour of Prayer" while the ushers received the offering. Hymn, "The Day Thou Gavest, Lord Is Ended", was sung. The Benediction brought the meeting to a close.

Lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

Breadalbane ladies served refreshments and a social half hour followed.

C.W.L. Met At Glen Robertson

The regular monthly meeting of the Glen Robertson C.W.L. was held in the parish hall, Thursday, February 9th, with most of the members present. The Director, Father Leduc, opened the meeting with prayer and a business discussion followed.

Arrangements were made for our annual St. Patrick's entertainment, which will include a concert, cards, and refreshments. Father Leduc gave an interesting and instructive talk on the life of St. Francis of Assisi.
