NEW LIBRARY OPENED—Alexandria author Dorothy Dumbrille and William Roedde, director of Provincial Library Services, held the ceremonial ribbon, Saturday afternoon, as Mayor Jean Paul Touchette wielded the scissors to officially open our new public library. Among many others present to mark the occasion were F. B. MacMillan of Cornwall, chairman of the Eastern Ontario Library System; Reeve Keith Graham of Chesterville, chairman of the SD&G County Library Board, Osie F. Villeneuve, MPP, C. Campbell Fraser and Rene Gauthier, members of the local library committee. Coincidentally, opening of the library here, came on Dorothy Dumbrille's birthday.—Photo by Robert

BOOKS FOR EVERY TASTE—No sooner had the opening ceremonies been completed at the library, Saturday afternoon, than the young fry poured in to see what it had to offer. This group appears much interested in the volumes to be found in the boys' and girls' section. Some 150 readers had registered at the library by Tuesday and perhaps half of those were children. Registration, incidentally, is free.

New High Of 19,050 Voters To Ballot In 100 Polls In Riding

Swelled by the senior teenage voters for the first time, a new high of 19,050 will be eligible to vote in Glengarry riding Oct. 21st, reports Returning Officer Noel Casgrain of Summerstown. Enumeration was completed last weekend and the lists are now in the hands of the printers.

Each candidate already in the running has received one copy of the lists of voters made by the enumerators, reports Mr. Casgrain. Others will be made available as soon as the lists are printed and should other candidates emerge at official nominations, Oct. 7th, they will also be supplied with copies of the voters' lists.

Double polls have been reduced to singles for this election and there will be 95 polls in the constituency which includes Glengarry proper, the townships of Finch and Roxborough in Stormont, East Hawkesbury and a part of West Hawkesbury in Prescott County.

Five advance polls will also be in operation, at Finch, Maxville, Vankleek Hill, Alexandria and Lancaster. They will be open Saturday, Oct. 16 and Monday, Oct. 18th for voters unable to cast ballots on Oct. 21st.

Nomination day is Thursday, Oct. 7th and the usual joint meeting will be held that night in the auditorium of Glengarry District High School when all candidates and supporting speakers will be heard.

There have been few if any evidences of an electioneering warmup this week in the riding. An NDP office has been opened in the former dental office of the late Dr. Bernard Villeneuve.

Heavy Corn Crop Split Silo

Gordon R. McIntosh, East St. Elmo, finished filling his silo Saturday night and woke up Sunday to find the entire side of the silo split and all of his crop tumbled to the ground. The wooden silo had been lined with heavy sheets of plywood but still collapsed under the weight of freshly chopped green ensilage.

This probably means a new silo. The McIntoshes intend to salvage what they can of the spill, and in the meantime were philosophically blowing the rest of the cornfield into a big stack.

Council To Have Zoning By-Law

G. L. Richards & Associates, Ottawa planning consultants who have been retained by the Area Planning Board, will also prepare a zoning by-law for Alexandria. Town council decided at its Tuesday meeting to have the consulting engineers prepare a zoning plan which will be adopted by council only after the Department of Municipal Affairs has approved the draft plan for the Area.

Each of the six municipalities involved in the Area plan will have its own zoning by-law, we understand.

Kenyon Reeve Albert Faubert was present to discuss with council the condition of Lochiel St. West which traverses the common boundary. Some patching will be done at once and a new surface is promised for next summer.

Mrs. M. Markson was present to ask that a retaining wall and fence be restored to the front of her property. She was assured this was in the plans of the contractors and would be completed soon.

Tenders for snow removal were opened and referred to the public works committee.

The results of a survey on Main Street parking presented by the Progressive Merchants group was referred to the traffic committee for study.

Welfare Office Opens Here Monday

A sub-office of the regional Welfare office at Cornwall will open here Monday in the former telephone central building south of the Royal Bank. It will serve the local area and Real Huot, Alexandria, will be in charge of the office.

The building has been altered extensively to provide waiting and general areas and three offices.

Working out of the office with Mr. Huot will be field workers Mrs. Yvette Chenier, Mrs. Bessie Clingen and Mrs. Prudence Malcomson. Mrs. Helene MacKinnon will be clerk-stenographer. Laurent Sicard, regional administrator of Social and Family Services at Cornwall, expects to visit the local sub-office weekly.

The building is owned by Lloyd McHugh.

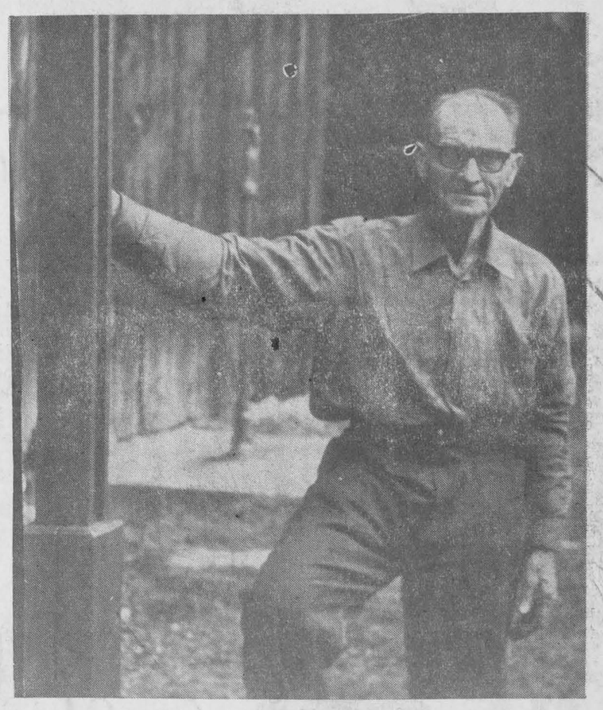

Last Asphalt Surfaces Being Laid

The second coat of asphalt was being applied to Kenyon Street West, yesterday and the new surface should be completed on both north and south Main Street within another week.

All resurfacing will have been completed before the Thanksgiving holiday, Councillor Martin Clement assures. The contractors then will concentrate on repairing frontage of properties damaged during construction.

Appointed Coroner

Dr. Donal Faller Conway of Lancaster, has been appointed a Coroner for the United Counties by Order-in-Council. His appointment was effective Sept. 19th.

ROBBERY VICTIM

Area Farmer Bound, Threatened With Fire By Robbers Seeking Proceeds Of Sale

Christopher J. McRae, 71, who farms four miles east of Alexandria on the Glen Robertson road, was tied up and threatened with burning of his house with him inside, Tuesday night, by two marauders seeking the proceeds of an auction sale held at his home on Saturday.

They got only about $100 in cash and Mr. McRae escaped the ordeal with bruises on his face from a gun or other blunt instument the robbers wielded. Proceeds of the sale had been deposited in a bank Saturday night.

His pocket knife, unnoticed when the robbers emptied his pockets, enabled the elderly farmer to free the rope tieing hands and feet after his house had been ransacked and the robbers had left.

Ontario Provincial Police at Lancaster got word of the robbery at 7.15 a.m. Wednesday and Constable D. R. Prowse is investigating Police see no tie-in with the attempted robbery at St Isidore following an auction this spring, nor do they feel there is a link with the robbery at Sky-Hi drive-in this summer.

Mr. McRae returned to his home about 9 p.m. from a shopping trip to Glen Robertson. He was carrying a parcel from his car when the men walked up behind him, grabbed him and threatened him with what he felt was a revolver held to his head. Mr. McRae was ordered to lie down and his hands were tied behind his back with ⅜ inch rope. They used his key to enter the large farm home and left it in darkness as they forced him to lie on a couch, covered his eyes with a pillow and later tied his feet after moving him into a bedroom.

Mr. McRae never saw them clearly but thought one man was heavily built while the second was smaller. They spoke fluent English but one said a few words in French to his companion and called him Joe.

The phone was ripped from the wall and a thorough search of the upstairs was made. They wanted to see books and papers from the sale, recalls Mr. McRae, and they upset trunks and dressers in a search lasting about an hour. Not finding any cash they threatened they would burn the house down around him, but finally accepted his word there was no money in the house.

Looting his pockets, they got about $100 from his wallet and took car licence and permit as well as the car keys. His car was left in the yard, however, when the two men fled.

Mr. McRae says it didn't take him too long to work the knife out of his back pocket and free himself. He decided to wait in the house until daylight in case they were still around. At 7 a.m. he went to a neighbor to call police.

New Fire Hall Being Opened Sunday

Official opening of Alexandria's new fire hall will take place at 2 p.m. Sunday. Members of the brigade will be holding Open House from noon to 6 p.m. that day in the new hall on Kenyon St. West.

Interest In New Library Shown In Large Turnout For Opening

Alexandria's new public library was enthusiastically welcomed by residents of town and county at official opening ceremonies Saturday afternoon. Library officials from Toronto and the county level were present to review briefly steps leading up to the acquisition of library facilities here and Mayor Jean Paul Touchette snipped the ribbon after expressing thanks of our citizens to all who had helped in realization of a long held dream.

Chairman of the County Library Board, Reeve Keith Graham of Chesterville, introduced other members of the board present after promising continuing interest of county council in the library field. We are working on a modest budget, he explained, and would like more financial help from the province but county council should be able to keep up the present program. Mr. Graham also expressed appreciation of the work of the local library board members.

F. B. MacMillan of Cornwall, chairman of the Eastern Ontario Library System recalled the fact his group is responsible for development of library services in an area from Pembroke and Gananoque to the west, to Cornwall and the Quebec border. In addition to setting up resource libraries the group initiates new services and restores present ones that may be more or less dormant. He noted that funds for library services from the Department of Education constitute less than one cent of every dollar in education grants.

A member of the local board, Campbell Fraser presented on behalf of Mrs. J. T. Smith, Dorothy Dumbrille, four volumes of her work to the library. Mr. Fraser also presented a first edition of "All This Difference", now out of print and impossible to come by. It was his own copy of the book and Mr. Fraser expressed the hope there would be many other donations to the library. It could become the repository for documents and literary items of particular interest to this area.

In presenting the Dumbrille books to Herman Nyland, head of the county section, Mr. Fraser noted the great cultural contribution Mrs. Smith has made to this county.

William Roedde, director of the Provincial Library Service, reported more than 50 million books and films had been distributed last year by libraries in Ontario. The population being served by libraries in this province had increased by 450,000 last year and he noted 10 per cent of these were residents of the United Counties.

Osie Villeneuve MPP paid warm tribute to the local committee and to county council for the realization of library service in Glengarry. Mayor Touchette added the thanks of Alexandria citizens to these boards and to Mr. and Mrs. Nyland who had supplied the leadership.

Rene Gauthier was the capable Master of Ceremonies and he introduced other members of the local board, Mayor Touchette, Mrs. D. J. Baxter, chairman, and Mrs. Lloyd McHugh. Also introduced were the library staff, Miss Karen March and her assistant Mrs. Morlin Campbell. They were kept busy through the rest of the afternoon registering first borrowers of books.

A reception followed in the new clubrooms of the Glengarry Golf & Country Club where Dorothy Dumbrille received warm good wishes when it was learned she was marking her birthday.

Planning Board Hires Consultants

G. L. Richards & Associates of Ottawa, have been retained as consulting planners by the Area Planning Board. They have been asked to apply to the Municipal Affairs department for official designation of the present committee as the Glengarry Planning Board.

Lochiel Reeve Gerard Massie will remain as chairman of the committee until the Board is official and a permanent chairman is named. Michel Samson, assistant town clerk of Alexandria, has been appointed secretary.

It is expected the consultants will require some nine months to complete the planning and costs are not to exceed $14,000. They will be shared by the six municipalities on an equalized assessment basis.

Archibald MacDonell of Williamstown, a member of the Charlottenburgh Planning Board, was present by invitation to comment on problems that board has encountered since it was organized in 1964.

Hearing On Local Improvement

A public hearing was held here Tuesday, by a representative of the Ontario Municipal Board concerning an application for a local improvement by-law covering sanitary sewers and water for Jean St., Lochiel St. West and West Boundary Road.

Arguments both in favor of the improvement and against were heard and it is expected a decision will be forthcoming from Toronto within a week.

Town Engineer Ghislain Seguin reviewed various plans which had been debated since 1965 to service the Lochiel St. area. He felt the last plan was most beneficial for all concerned. George Lepage and Hilaire Sauve were area residents who argued the need for these services.

Among those protesting the plan were Councillor Arthur Laporte, Ovila Massie, Norman Laperle, Theodore Desjardins and Reeve Bruno Massie.

Businessmen Favor Parking On East Side Of Main, Want Tire Marking Over Meters

Parking meters are not wanted by most Main Street businessmen but they do favor parking controlled by chalk marks on tires. A majority also favors a shift of one-side parking to the East side of the street and a limit of one-hour parking on the street and two hours on the municipal parking lot.

These are the more important conclusions drawn from a survey of Main Street businessmen conducted by the Progressive Merchants group. The results have been submitted to town council for its consideration.

Of 56 businessmen who participated in the survey 32 voted for parking on Main controlled with tire chalk marks. Fourteen favored parking controlled by meters; five wanted no parking on the street and one wanted free, unlimited parking.

Concerning the municipal parking lot, 22 want parking with chalk marks, nine prefer meters and 14 favored unlimited parking.

The vote was 26 to 13 for the use of the East side of Main for parking.

Other suggestions having a consensus favor more signs indicating location of the parking lot, more police foot patrols regularly, without favoritism, and paving of the parking lot.

Accident Victim Has Improved

Still in intensive care at Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, Mrs. Christena Kennedy is reported showing improvement following an accident Friday on Bishop Street North when she was struck by a car. The 79-year-old woman suffered a fractured pelvis and other injuries.

Occupant of an apartment in the former Graham Apartments on Bishop St. North, Mrs. Kennedy was crossing the street en route to mass at St. Finnan's when struck by a car driven by Gerald Lobb, 21 of Boundary Road. It was raining at the time and police report the car skidded when Mr. Lobb applied his brakes.

Mrs. Kennedy was rushed to Glengarry Memorial Hospital where she was treated before being transferred to Cornwall.

Constable Jacques Laflamme investigated. No charges are being laid.

Diocesan Retreat House To Become Super Boarding Home For Mobiles

A 35-room super boarding house for mobile people of both sexes and any age will be opened in mid-October in the former diocesan retreat house on St. Paul St. Villa Fatima will be a non-denominational bridge between home and the nursing home, more in the nature of a boarding house, reports Fred Lafontaine of Pickering, Ont., who operates Community Nursing Homes Ltd., in the Toronto area.

It will accommodate 35 people, some couples, who do not require nursing care. Applications are being taken now and Mr. Lafontaine reports quite a few inquiries have already been made.

Painting and other renovations are now underway in the former retreat house which Mr. Lafontaine notes is well adapted to its future use. The chapel is being converted into a sitting and games room and the building boasts a large dining room, modern kitchen, elevator and other facilities.

Mrs. Marthe Demers of Amos, Que., will manage the Villa for her brother and office records, billing, etc., will be done through the company's head office in Scarboro. Miss Jacqueline Sauve Hawkesbury, an experienced cook, will be in charge of the kitchen and act as assistant manager.

Monthly rates have not yet been set but Mr. Lafontaine declares they will be much less than those charged in nursing homes.

Man Charged With Indecent Phone Calls

Local police hope a rash of indecent telephone calls, which have been annoying home owners for more than a year, have been cleared up with the arrest of an Alexandria man. Lionel Lariviere, 29, appeared in court Monday on a charge of making indecent calls. His case was remanded to Oct. 15th.

Visiting Old Home In England

John Wood of Alexandria, is visiting his old home in Maidstone, England, after an absence of 31 years and his fellow employees at the Carnation milk plant, here, helped make that visit to his mother and brothers possible. They paid for his plane ticket home.

John has been in England two weeks now and is expected home on Oct. 7th.

Seek To Keep Retraining School For Adults Operating In Alexandria

The student's council of the Adult Retraining Centre here met Osie F. Villeneuve, MLA at the school Friday, to discuss the possibility of keeping the school here open.

The students said there are a number of applicants wishing to take the courses offered here; the school is located in the former Maria Goretti Academy on Centre Street and is part of the adult retraining program at St. Lawrence College.

Mr. Villeneuve assured the staff and students he will look into the matter, and that he could see the need for the school in the town, although it is largely a matter of federal concern.

Jack Haworth, in charge of the retraining program here and in Cornwall, said lack of students is the essential reason for the decision for closing the school.

Students have to come through the recommendation of the Can ada Manpower Centre, and the question of eligibility means that numerous applicants are not accepted.

There have been few applications from prospective fee-paying students, which means that all applicants have to come from Canada Manpower.

It is believed the paint vandalism was committed some three weeks ago but was only noticed Monday.

IT'S OUR OPINION

New Library Warmly Welcomed

If there was any question in the minds of officialdom as to the interest in a public library in this area it must have been dispelled by the large and enthusiastic turnout for Saturday's opening ceremonies. So many were there the younger element had to be asked to wait outside and even then that large attractive room that is the new home of our library was scarcely big enough to contain all comers.

The enthusiasm shown by adults left no room for doubt that these library facilities will be made use of. Even more reassuring on that point, though, was the presence of so many teenagers waiting for the opening ceremonies to be over so they could search out some interesting reading. A welcome asset the library certainly will prove for adult readers. If youngsters maintain the interest evidenced Saturday our new library is certain to flourish.

A happy circumstance is the special niche containing the works of Glengarry authors. In making the presentation of one of Dorothy Dumbrille's books now out of print, Campbell Fraser reminded that a library can have other functions in addition to the lending of books. Our library can also become the repository of documents and literary items having a Glengarry connotation and Mr. Fraser felt many other county residents might make contributions that would add stature to the new library.

The bookmobile service has proven a wonderful stimulus to good reading in the United Counties and the provision of resource libraries at Maxville and Alexandria is a further big step in the cultural development of this area.

Thoughts While Queueing

Totally unqualified are we to be telling somebody else how to run his business, especially someone so august as the general manager of that goliath, the Royal Bank of Canada. He has a lot of outlets to oversee, though, and perhaps he's totally unaware how frustrated his bank's customers feel when forced to stand in line overly long while awaiting service at the tellers' wickets.

For the umpteenth time we were caught in that Friday afternoon queue and perhaps because we were in something of a hurry the ten minutes or so of waiting and watching seemed more like a half hour. Waiting, we watched others in those two lines evidence impatience and we wondered if better organization might not result in warmer customer relations with Canada's banking fraternity.

Seems to us the service has slipped in recent years and we're not faulting the money-changing ability of the tellers. They probably handle today's soft dollars more nimbly than did those of an earlier era. They're quick and capable, but today's tellers are expected to do a lot of time-consuming duties that were not demanded of their predecessors.

Waiting in line, one wonders why a special wicket could not be assigned to handle savings accounts at rush hours. Admirable, the parent who salts away that baby bonus cheque, dividing this manna from a generous government equally among her offspring. It takes time, though, for the teller to make out perhaps three deposit slips and write up as many savings books. Once upon a time there was a ledgerkeeper to do the book work, but in this age of mechanization the teller's duties have increased.

Waiting in line one watches the customer ahead hand in four or five cheques. The obliging teller makes out a deposit slip, dashes to the adding machine to be certain of a correct total and then may be called on to make change and write up a bank book. One is left wondering why banks don't insist the depositor make up his own slip in the interests of traffic flow to the tellers' cage.

Where once there were two tellers now there are four. But only rarely are they all on duty at the same time, and never during that Friday rush hour from two to three.

Almost all the bank's confrontation with its customers is centred on the tellers' wickets and these are being increasingly burdened. Telephone bills, income and other tax payments, now are being handled by the bank teller and are lengthening the queue at her window. Standing in line can grow irksome and the bank's public image suffers.

They also serve who only stand and wait, some deep thinker once said; and it was while standing and waiting we came up with these deep thoughts on the banking business.

A penny saved is a penny earned. That's another thought we might as well pass on to the Royal Bank's brass. They keep putting a seven-cent stamp on a missive informing us our account has been credited with perhaps three cents in U.S. exchange. We couldn't care less and they might better save the time and paper and postage—or is it being debited, deviously, to our account?

Biggest Buyers Of Pipes

The Glengarry Highland Games is attracting more pipe bands every year and it must be because the increasing popularity of such events on both sides of the border is spawning more and more pipe bands.

More pipe bands require more sets of pipes and drums, kilts and sporrans. That probably accounts for the fact North America has become the biggest importer of pipe band accoutrements.

An editorial in the Dutton Advance has this to say on the subject:

Arthur Lawrie, a Glasgow bagpipe manufacturer, is astounded by the rising Canadian and United States demand for his product. He is also doing a big business on this side of the water in kilts, sporrans, dirks and all other paraphernalia associated with Scottish tribal pursuits.

In the last five years, Canadian sales have tripled with no end on enthusiasts, especially in Nova Scotia, Ontario and British Columbia.

Lawrie, the biggest bagpipe manufacturer in Scotland, estimates 90 per cent of his trade is with North America. It will come as a surprise to many that only one per cent of his orders comes from Scotland.

It isn't that people in Scotland don't buy bagpipes; they just don't buy new ones. Lawrie claims that a good bagpipe will last indefinitely, which may or may not be good news depending on how you feel about the instrument. Consequently, with typical thriftiness, Scots in the old land wouldn't dream of paying the price of a new set when they can pick up a used one.

Pricing Union Members Out Of Work

The publishing world has had a double shock with the announcements that Look Magazine and the Toronto Telegram will cease publication. The demise of two such giants in the publishing field is a reminder that mere bigness is no guarantee of security.

With a circulation of six million copies at its zenith, Look appeared to be healthy enough to compete with that other picture magazine, Life. Increased editorial and production costs in recent years had made it a losing proposition, however, and its owners, Cowles Publications, made the decision to fold when increased postal charges threatened to escalate its annual losses.

Toronto's second afternoon daily, the Telegram, had flourished for a time but in recent years had found itself unable to compete with the Star for the bulk of available advertising dollars. Losses aggregating two million dollars over the past two years had been piled on prior annual deficits. Labor negotiations were underway and the demands of plant unions and the Writers Guild were such as to threaten much higher operating losses in future. And so the decision to quit publishing adds 1200 to the jobless rolls in Toronto.

Many large North American dailies have suffered the same fate as the Toronto Telegram and overly-demanding unions are not the only factor in pricing them out of business. The competition for the advertising dollar posed by television and radio has had its impact on all publishing revenues and we have seen many major magazines, such as the Saturday Evening Post, forced to fold. So high are their operating costs they cannot survive without constantly increasing revenue from advertising. When this is drained away to television the losses mount and the presses eventually cease to roll.

Feather-bedding unions in the printing trades may not be wholly to blame for the attrition that has seen so many publications die. But these unions have such a stranglehold and are so demanding as to price their members out of jobs when the publisher inevitably finds it unprofitable to stay in business.

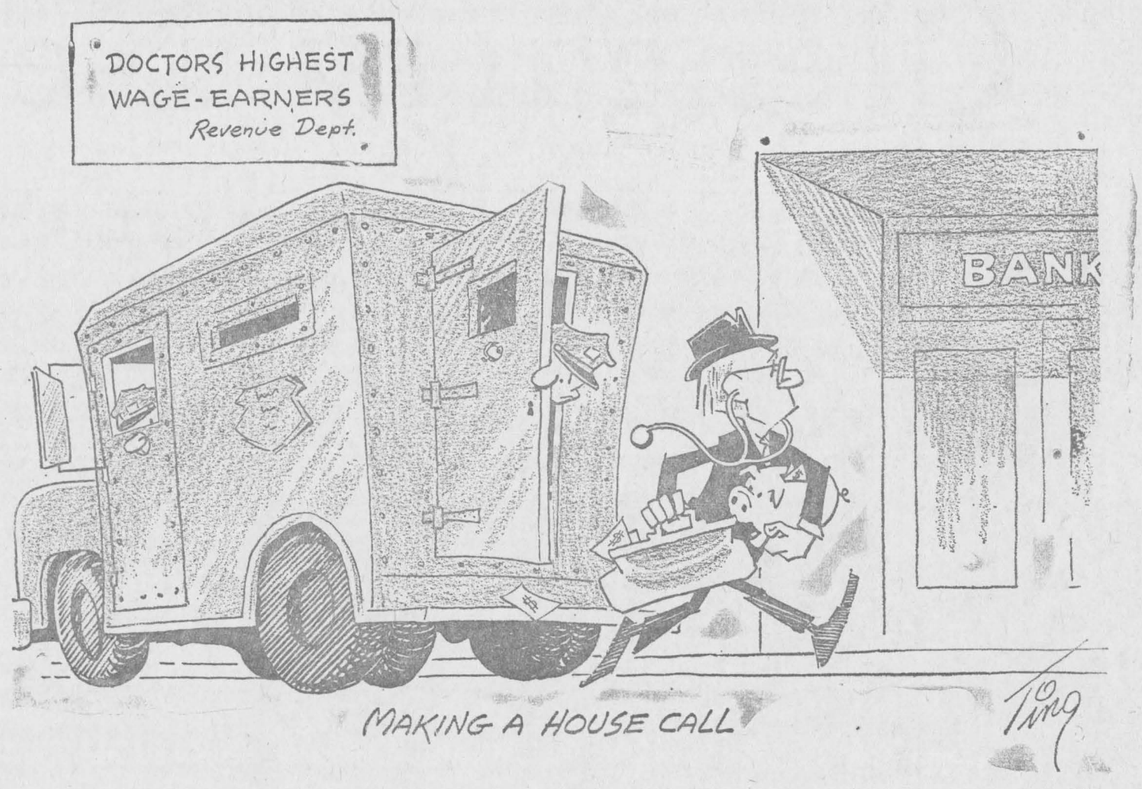

Labor leaders appear not yet to be aware the economy is in a slump and that excessive annual demands will lead only to more unemployment, even among their own union members.

QUESTIONS DRESS

We who live in smaller communities are surprised and amazed, when we travel to places like Calgary, Banff, Winnipeg, Vancouver or Toronto, to see the personal and physical dress of those who frequent the street corners and the public parks. What interests us is where the inclination for this sort of life came from. Did it develop as a result of the breakdown of responsible behavior in our school system and the discontinuance of the practice of regulating dress and manners there? —Rimbey (Alta.) Record

LETTERS to the EDITOR

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

Just a few things about our town. We are lucky to have three or four factories and lots of schools. But we have only one little hospital of about 45 or 50 beds and by times we are understaffed by nurses and orderlies. Then why does our administrator let our best orderly, Jack Hendrie, go after seven years service?

The Board should give us 50 beds not 25 beds more. Winchester is not half the size of Alexandria yet it has 125 beds in its hospital, and only one factory. Surely with all the money the government is handing out at least we can look for 50 new beds in Alexandria.

Then there is a school problem. RC and Protestant, French and English. Well I suggest we all put our money in with the government and then demand the government pay teachers and give all children the education they need.

If this is not satisfactory let RC English and RC French go to the same school and Protestant English and French go to the same school or let us have RC separate and Protestant separate schools. But I hope we will never see this.

We French, English and all other groups fought for Canada. Let us all be Canadians. I am not Canadian-born but Canadian by choice and I am proud of our Canada and always will be. I am a vet and a charter member of A. G. F. Macdonald Memorial Legion Branch, Alexandria.

The Right Spirit

(The Dutton Advance)

Up in the Kitchener area, it's a well-known fact that members of the Mennonite farming communities north of the city don't bother with fire insurance. If a home or a barn burns down, the neighbors gather and rebuild it without delay.

Recently, a new twist was added to this time-honored practice. When Walter Gohl's barn was struck by lightning and burned down, Gohl's Mennonite neighbors wasted no time clearing the rubble and building a new barn. The unusual thing was that Gohl is not a Mennonite, but a Roman Catholic. And while the men were busily erecting a new barn, Mennonite women, who traditionally prepare and serve food for the barn workers, were joined in their work by members of the Catholic Women's League.

Now, if we could just transfer this neighborly love and co-operation to Northern Ireland.

WITH OUR

by Ed.

NEVER SO NICE

We're a long way from June, when if ever come perfect days, but the poet who penned that ode to June might have been prompted to sing of September had he been lucky enough to be out on the golf course Sunday afternoon. We've been rambling those fairways more than frequently since spring and darned if we can recall another day when the elements so combined to keep one conscious of the joy of being outdoors.

It must have been that awareness of the perfect weather conditions that spoiled our concentration and made us muff so many shots.

Grand weather it was for golf or any other outdoors dallying and those recent rains have left the course in just about the best shape it's been in all season. The grass on fairways and greens seems even more lush than it was in late June. The realization comes hard that the calendar is getting on toward Christmas and the days for divot digging are inexorably numbered.

It's just possible, though, we'll be granted a later season than usual this fall. The election pot it boiling, the politicians will be letting off a lot of hot air for three more weeks and that might serve to warm the atmosphere practically right through to November.

Let's hope it's a hot race right down to the wire.

Politicians will have to watch their step in this election when they'll be wooing even 18-year-olds.

READING ROW

The new library has opened its doors in the former post office building and it won't be long until Euclide St. Denis moves his newsstand across the street into the new building he's erecting adjoining the News office.

That leaves the thought maybe this part of the business section will come to be known as Reading Row. One will be able to get all kinds of good reading material in the new library. Cross Catherine and one can drop in at the newsstand for the daily papers and various other kinds of reading material.

Just a step further south one will be able to secure all the news of Glengarry in what can safely be said to be the most readable newspaper printed in this county.

That's a lot of reading concentrated in a small area; maybe too much for tired eyes. In that event one can go one step further and find Murine or a pair of dark glasses in McLeister's Rexall drug store. If the eye relief is to be found in another type of glasses the Starlite Lounge is just another step further.

We'd better stop this rambling short of Gerry's barber shop. It's not reading the local senate is noted for, though 'tis said you can get news there at times that you won't see in print.

A Liberal candidate declaring a new library open may have been thinking area voters will be well Red.

DIRTY PICTURES

Uxbridge is a town in Ontario County near Toronto, just about the same size as Alexandria. But it boasts something lacking here—the Uxbridge Committee on Pollution.

Maybe we already have committees in plenty, without adding one that's ecologically minded. We didn't start out to argue that point.

What caught our eye in the Uxbridge Times-Journal was a story heading "Enter Dirty Picture Contest". We don't go for dirty pictures, mind you, but we were interested enough to read on and learn that this Uxbridge Committee on Pollution is offering cash prizes to all comers for dirty pictures.

The dirty pictures, of course, aren't the kind that are passed around at smokers; if there are still smokers in a day when cigarette advertising is illegal. That committee is seeking photographs that show "as powerfully and imaginatively as possible the various kinds of environmental obscenity around us".

The dirt that committee wants on film could be smoke in the air, old tires in creek beds, dead fish on beaches—any kind of an environmental ill.

What that Uxbridge committee plans to do with those pictures we haven't a clue, but perhaps the Uxbridge Journal editor plans to feature through the winter months a "dirty picture of the week". That might get a bit sticky though. There are tricky laws against libel that prevent a paper even printing truth that may be proven prejudicial to another person. If a picture is worth a thousand words maybe one of those dirty pictures would prove costly in court.

There's one dirty picture we'd like to see circulated, though, with the hope it would push town council into getting action on its plans for improvement to the sewage lagoons. Council is still waiting on Toronto for approval of those plans, we're told, even after more than a year.

Down at the golf course, Sunday, it might have needed a magic camera to capture the beauty of the setting. But if that camera had zeroed in on the waters of the Garry River it would have recorded a disgusting picture of pollution.

Perhaps the pump lifting town sewage to the lagoons had conked out, as it regularly does, for the Garry was again the repository of the town's effluent. There was a total absence of flow and those still waters were coated with an oily scum that was dotted with what could only be described by a four-letter word this paper doesn't print.

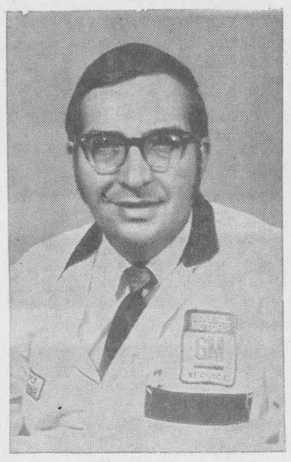

Nauseous was the sight of those foul waters and a picture almost as dirty might have been taken many times through the summer. Sunday's picture of pollution should have been captured on film to shame town council and Queen's Park, and every Alexandrian who piously protests pollution while adding to the filth the Garry must carry downstream.

If Alexandria had a Committee on Pollution seeking dirty pictures, first prize would have been a cinch for the camera bug who focussed on the Garry Sunday.

Springate Entertaining Speaker At Char-Lan Minor Soccer Night

Most valuable player in the peewee division was jointly won by Rod McCuaig and Jim Lawson at the first annual father-son night of the Glengarry Optimst Minor Soccer League held Friday night at Char-Lan High School, Williamstown. Tied for points, they were awarded the Jimmy MacDonell Memorial trophy. Both players will also receive plaques.

The MacDonell trophy was presented by Jim MacDonell Sr. The younger MacDonell played for the Cornwall Township team prior to his death.

The most valuable goalie in the peewee division was awarded to Cornwall Township player Mickey Wolfe. Ernest Larocque made the presentation of the Tab Larocque Memorial Trophy.

In the sprites division Paul Shoniker was the most valuable goalie while Allan Barton picked up the most valuable player award.

The St. Andrews sprites were the pennant winners of the southern division of the Glengarry Optimist Soccer League. Frank Van Zupton, chairman of the Char-Lan Optimist club along with head table guest Brian Gilmour presented the sprites with the trophies. Dollard Dubeau made the crests presentations.

The peewee trophies were presented by Reeve Adrian Gadbois and George Springate, a soccer style placement kicker with the Montreal Alouettes last year. Ernie Lauber presented the crests.

The Glengarry Sprites, coached by Edgar Provost, were the overall Glengarry champions. Both the Cornwall Township and St. Andrews club were ineligible for the Glengarry championships.

Among the head table guests were Springate, Brian Gilmour, All-American hockey player, reeve Gadbois, chairman of the night Don Cannon, Ernie Larocque, Dwaine Whitford and Optimist chairman Frank Van Zupton.

Both Springate and Gilmour, who are former teammates (they played together at McGill) spoke briefly.

Gilmour spoke on dedication one has to have to attain a goal. He said that if anyone wished to reach a certain goal he must go all out.

Springate related some of his experiences with the McGill football team and the Alouettes. He had the 200 boys and parents who attended the father-son night, roaring.

After the trophy presentations were made, Springate was presented with a gift and a book written by Ralph Connor, Glengarry School Days.

K. C. MacLeod Widely Mourned

The death of Campbell MacLeod, a lifelong resident of the Dalkeith area, occurred after a short illness in the Smith Clinic, Hawkesbury, September 15th, at the age of 77.

He was married twice, his first wife having been the former Catherine MacGillivray. She died in 1924. Later he married Margaret Ann MacLeod of Dunvegan, who predeceased him in 1968.

Mr. MacLeod leaves to mourn his loss, his son, Alexander K., at home, and one sister, Mrs. D. J. McCrimmon of McCrimmon. Two sisters predeceased him, Mary Netta, Mrs. Lorne McDonald in 1930 and Margaret Isabel, Mrs. D. W. MacPherson, in 1961.

He was an interesting and entertaining conversationalist to both young and old, which made his home a place of hospitality. Active in community affairs, he was a faithful member of Pine Grove LOL No. 951, a noted historian, and also an active member of the MacLeod Clan Society.

Mr. MacLeod was a devoted member of Kirk Hill United Church and for many years served as secretary-treasurer on the Board of Trustees. Upon retirement, he moved to Dunvegan where he attended Kenyon Presbyterian Church.

His remains rested at the Munro Funeral Home in Maxville where the service was conducted by Dr. D. N. MacMillan at 2 p.m. on Saturday, Sept. 18.

The pallbearers were Norman D. MacLeod, Mack MacCuaig, Stanley Campbell, Gordon MacLeod, George MacLeod and Russell Urqquhart.

Many floral arrangements, donations to the Heart Fund and messages of sympathy showed the esteem in which he was held.

Burial was at Kirk Hill United Church Cemetery.

ODAF DATA

A report from your Glengarry Agricultural Office

by J. Y. Humphries

RABIES AND DISTEMPER

The incidence of rabies in wild life and domestic animals has been practically non-existent in this area for several months. Recent reports from the Health of Animals Branch of the Canada Dept. of Agriculture, indicate cases being reported in foxes and in one case a dog in a neighboring county. This disease is largely spread by wild animals such as foxes and skunks. The population of these animals is gradually building up and we may again expect a problem in the area.

For the protection of you, your family and your pets, farm dogs and cats that are liable to be in contact with wild animals should be vaccinated against rabies at intervals of 30 and not more than 36 months. It is especially important to do so prior to the usual Fall movement in the wildlife population. Your local veterinarian can arrange to administer the vaccine on appointment. This would also be an opportune time to have your dog innoculated against distemper. This disease is rather easily transmissable and responsible for the death of a number of dogs each year. Distemper shots should be administered annually. Pups should not be vaccinated against either disease prior to reaching the age of four months.

INTERNAL PARASITES OF CALVES

Most people are aware that swine and dogs often harbor internal parasites or worms. What many people do not know is that young cattle, especially calves, can get wormy too. This condition is becoming more prevalent in the area and a larger number of cases are encountered each year. Fall or winter calves that are turned out to pasture in their first year are most often affected. This is especially true where permanent calf pastures or old orchards and yards are used for grazing year after year. Affected calves will appear unthrifty, lose weight, may
