Glengarry District High School has received approval from the Department of Education for an expenditure of $487,000 on the proposed addition to the school.

Cornwall architects, Mack Thompson & Associates, have been hired to complete plans for the addition and the board hopes to be able to call tenders in late summer. Construction might then get underway in October with the new rooms ready for occupancy in the spring.

The addition will have four ordinary classrooms, two new commercial rooms and two additional shoprooms, one a drafting room, the other a boys' occupational shop.

A 3,000 square foot library with seminar rooms attached, more administrative offices and accommodation for the larger staff are also included in plans.

Get Approval For New Lochiel Area School

The Lochiel Township School Area Board has received tentative approval from the Ontario Department of Education for the proposed construction of a school to have nine rooms and one general purpose room.

The board has been studying plans of schools of recent construction and visiting area schools of comparable size. Early this week, with engineering consultants, the board visited several possible sites available in the area.

As a result it is expected that the trustees will soon have a studied project to submit to those concerned with the education of the children under jurisdiction of the public school supporters in this area.

Adding To Garage

Roy's Garage (Green Valley) Limited has started construction of a $25,000 addition to their auto sales and service plant north of Green Valley.

The 55x60 addition of concrete blocks with stucco surface will rise at the rear of the garage and will be devoted entirely to servicing vehicles. Remi Poirier has the contract.

Mrs. Aime Lalonde Elected President Provisional Ladies Hospital Auxiliary

Mrs. George Raymond, Brockville, President of the Ontario Hospital Auxiliaries Association, met with a steering committee in the Board Room of the Glengarry Memorial Hospital, Alexandria, Ontario, on Sunday afternoon, June 5, 1966.

Mrs. Raymond gives inspiring leadership to Ontario's 208 auxiliaries manned by 67,000 members, who do volunteer work for the 234 hospitals in this province. She explained the functions of the Association and its affiliation with the Ontario Hospital Association, stating that it is one of the 17 sections of the OHA.

There has been keen interest in the formation of an auxiliary in Glengarry County which would be in District 9, one of the 13 districts where the hospital auxiliaries function, taking in the territory from the Quebec border to Brockville. There are 22 auxiliaries in this district, the largest district in the province.

Mrs. Raymond further stated that the purpose of a hospital auxiliary is threefold: to provide volunteer service, public relations, and a fund-raising body.

Eric Gale, Administrator of the hospital, introduced the guest speaker and spoke of his willingness to co-operate with members of an auxiliary, and of the need for their services. "There are so many facets of auxiliary work that should reach into all corners of the county and include each and every interested person, male or female," he said.

At the conclusion of the meeting a provisional executive was named as follows: president, Mrs. Aime

CONFEDERATION CARAVAN ON TRIAL RUN—Escorted by Provincial Police outriders, the prototype of centennial year's Confederation Caravan pulled into the Alexandria Park Sunday afternoon on a trial run to test travel times and road handling of the eight giant trailers which will make up each centennial caravan. Monday morning Caravan officials from across Canada arrived by bus from Ottawa to witness the operation of setting up equipment and to get an insight into what can be expected in 1967 when these Caravans will criss-cross the country. Centennial Committee Chairman Lyall Costello was in charge of local arrangements which included a civic luncheon in the Armouries for the visitors before the Caravan headed back to Ottawa. ## Mark Silver Date At Maxville

Dr. and Mrs. Don M. Gamble of Maxville were "surprised" by family and friends Saturday evening, on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary. Mrs. Gamble is the former Violet Lagroix.

Organized by their children, Don Jr., Reg. and Susan, the evening started with a family dinner at the Curling Club when Dr. and Mrs. Gamble received many gifts.

Hundreds of their friends gathered later in the showhall at the Fair Grounds where members of the Glengarry Fiddlers' Society provided lively music for dancing. Ron Clare acted as MC and there were brief addresses by Osie Villeneuve, MPP, Keith Franklin, president of the Fair Board, J. Y. Humphries, Ag. Rep., Ben Villeneuve and Angus H. McDonell. Each touched on facets of the contribution made to the Maxville area by Dr. and Mrs. Gamble in the fields of sports, civic progress, the annual Fair and Highland Games.

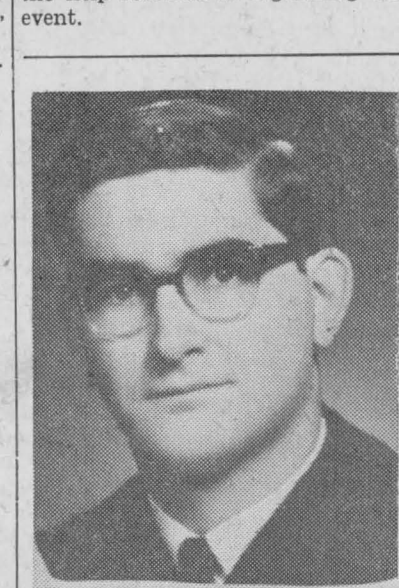

There was a bouquet of flowers for Vi and a bag of silver for Don from the Fair Board; a money tree from the Maxville-Fournier Hunt Club and a mailbox stuffed with goodwill from all present.

Both Don and Vi expressed their appreciation as did Don, Junior, for the help received in organizing the event.

Bell Telephone Taking Over Lochiel Operations As Of July 1st

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada will take over operation of the Glengarry Telephone Company on July 1st.

Most of the 630 existing customers will eventually be served from Alexandria or the new Glen Robertson exchange.

Both Alexandria and Glen Robertson will have dial service this fall but it will be some time before the Glengarry Telephone Co. customers can be changed.

"There is a lot of work to be done to effect the line changes necessary" said Larry Holby, Manager for Bell in this district. "A lot of time and money will be spent before the job is completed."

Some customers have indicated a desire for service from other bordering exchanges. These requests are under study.

Most customers will have a slight increase in their monthly rate. This will bring them into line with rates paid by customers in exchanges with a like number of telephones. For example a multi-party residence service will be $2.75 instead of $2.50 monthly.

"Our first concern will be to progressively reduce the number of customers per line where necessary to improve service."

Good Attendance At Ottawa Gathering

The Glengarry Club of Ottawa held its Spring Dance on Saturday, May 28, at the RCAF Airman's Mess at Rockcliffe with Harold Bird's orchestra providing the music.

Raphael's. Pigeau over-balanced and fell from the tractor, striking his head on the road.

The accident was investigated by Constable Brian Cassidy of Lancaster OPP.

A popular member of the younger set at St. Raphael's, Gordon Pigeau had been active in several organizations and his death came as a shock to family and friends. He had been an employee of Square C Textiles, Alexandria.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Shortage Of Milk A Possibility

It hardly seems possible that Canada may one day be put in the position of having to import dairy products. But a shortage of milk is a distinct possibility in the foreseeable future, the Canadian Dairy Food Service Bureau declares.

Each year an average of 10,000 dairy farmers are leaving the industry, many of them forced to sell their herds because of inability to secure competent farm help. This is as true in Glengarry as in other dairy farm areas. Several of the farm auctions held in recent weeks have been prompted by the shortage of workers.

Good men are departing this field to seek employment where they can enjoy a five-day, forty hour week, with weekends free. Adequate replacements are almost impossible to find and some area dairymen have been disappointed in workers imported from the Maritimes and who have proven unsatisfactory.

The shortage of farm help is a discouraging factor and so is the myth of four dollar milk, as more than one area farmer has described the federal government's guarantee. That price support came into effect April 1st, promising $3.25 fob factory for 3.5 milk, plus 75 cents from Ottawa.

Rejoicing lasted only until next factory statement showed a drastic drop in milk test for many. That all but wiped out the gain from government. Producers plagued also by abnormally late pasture feel there is a nigger in the woodpile, though they cannot put their finger on the culprit.

If dairy farmers continue to leave the business at the current rate there could be a serious shortage of vital dairy foods, the Bureau suggests and statistics bear out this prediction. Cow numbers are the lowest they have been in 45 years and the number of farmers keeping cows has declined to the lowest level since World War II.

Memory goes back to a day when cheese factories dotted the Glengarry landscape and the dairy farmer depended on the British market for Canadian cheddar. Milk was always in surplus supply, it seemed, and so were cheese and butter stocks.

Now it is the industrialization of the nation, the drift from an agricultural economy to one tuned to a socialist society that is squeezing the dairy farmer out of business.

If Canada reaches the condition that it is forced to import dairy products we will know how miserably the planners in government have failed the primary producer.

How Will The Cows Get Across

The CNR plans to introduce a new turbine-powered train on the Montreal-Toronto run in 1967. The train will hit an average of 120 miles per hour and will be able to make the inter-city trip in less than three hours, offering competition to the airlines, which have the problem of getting passengers to and from the airports.

If the new train is a success the railway plans to run similar turbine trains between other cities and the Ottawa-Montreal run probably would be instituted next.

That will mean new problems for Glengarry which will have these hurtling monsters of steel speeding through on two lines. Open grade crossings such as on Highway 34 here will need new protective devices. Travelling at 120 miles an hour and more, it would seem there will be only a split-second between the time the train whistle is heard and the westbound rounds the curve to reach the crossing. Such towns as Maxville which are bisected by the rail line will know special problems too.

And what solution will there be for the farm cattle crossing? These are already a problem with today's trains and slow-moving, aimless cows cannot be speeded up to meet the menace of a train approaching at two miles a minute.

Perhaps Donald Gordon has a solution less costly than providing underpasses for every farm. If not, the price of hamburger may come down when these turbine trains start making minced meat out of entire herds.

How Prevent Conflicting Dates In 1967?

Good thinking, we believe a lot of Glengarryans at home and away will find the move by Alexandria's Board of Trade to organize an Old Home Week for centennial summer. There has not been one in decades here, and what better time than in a year when thousands of former residents will be homing in to participate in Canada's birthday celebrations and to take in the World Fair at Montreal.

An Old Home Week may trigger many extra home-comings in 1967 for it could serve as a focal point, a meeting place for all those ex-Glengarryans interested in renewing acquaintances with childhood friends, school chums, with whom they had long lost contact. Former residents, long gone, may hesitate at making the pilgrimage in case they find themselves all alone in the merry-making. If Joe, way out there in Vancouver, can hope to run into friend Fred from Fredericton, or old neighbors now living in New Mexico, he'll come arunning, or even hop a plane.

Joe and Fred and all these other wanderers from their native heath will want to start making plans soon for that trek home. Holidays are now planned a year in advance in most big companies and the Old Home Week committee should lose no time in fixing on firm dates for the event.

There should be no mistake in making Highland Games day either the opening day or the grand finale—unless the people of Maxville have plans of their own that might conflict and engender ill feeling.

Which brings up the thought that it might be wise to have a county-wide correlating committee to ensure that there develops no such duplication of dates in 1967. Each municipality and various centres in all four townships may be making plans for some special event. Many of these will be worthy of county-wide support and it would be catastrophic if, say, Dunvegan and Dalkeith planners had the same date in mind. If Martintown and Maxville were inviting public attendance on the same day, or Glen Robertson and Glen Roy, the centennial spirit could cool appreciably in both centres.

A county calendar for centennial year would serve to smooth any bumps in the log of Glengarry's voyage through the twelve months of the year ahead. Who is the Solomon who could sagely apportion dates so as to satisfy all sections? We know no person who would dare accept that hot seat and it is with apologies to the clerks of our seven municipalities that we suggest they may be best qualified to make up a committee that would be all-knowing of what's cooking. The municipal clerk is in a unique position to keep tabs on what's going on, or what's coming off, in his own bailiwick.

Theirs would be no easy task; but it would be worthwhile if it cut friction to a minimum. On what authority they could be asked to act is another question. The problem we foresee is a chaotic conflicting of dates, and possibly a duplication of events, unless there is some over-riding county-wide committee to allot times and themes.

Perhaps we're getting so over-organized as to take all the steam out of centennial planning. We don't want to put a damper on any plans for 1967 and certainly not for something like an Old Home Week which we have strongly suggested.

We would like to see this materialize as something special; a week in the life of Glengarryans at home and abroad that they will recall with relish for years to come.

This week would have seven days and there are seven municipalities in Glengarry. Would it be possible for each to take on one very special event, day or night, and make this Old Home Week something calculated to leave returning Glengarryans and residents hanging on the ropes.

Then our nomads might be given a day or two of rest in Montreal. We would all be worn out by a week's binge, but it would be something to tell our grandchildren about.

As we said earlier, there should be no time lost in setting dates for an Old Home Week. From there on it might be possible to work this up to a truly county-wide wing-do that would get all Glengarryans in the groove; put all other centennial planners to shame.

The Board of Trade is on the right rail and we have no thought of side-tracking plans for that get-together. If a Glengarry Old-Home Week proves too complicated to realize let's have one of our own in 1967.

MAXVILLE WAS MUM

In a small town everybody knows what everybody's up to, they used to say; but Maxville must be an exception. Don and Violet Gamble swear they didn't have a clue as to what their kids were up to until they were smack bang into celebration of their silver anniversary, Saturday night.

If they didn't they were the only ones within miles of Maxville left in ignorance and it says something for the lack of loquacity of Maxville people. Nary a one spilled the beans and though hundreds of their friends were primping for the party Doc and Vi were in for a pleasant surprise.

Must be nice for Maxville people to learn there isn't even one idle gossip in their midst. For the popular bride and groom of 25 years ago, though, it must have come as a rude awakening to find out how sneaky their kids could be.

More wives might learn to cook if they weren't so busy getting meals.

COLORFUL CEREMONY

We love a parade and Saturday's presentation of new colors to the SD&G Highlanders at Cornwall was right up our alley.

There was all the spit and polish and tradition usually associated with military parades, the regiment was smart in its marching and drill and there was the pipe band the mere mention of which is calculated to "send" your Rambling Reporter. The new regimental colors were no more colorful than the ceremonial which attended their reception.

Only thing lacking, your Rambling Reporter felt, was the Glengarry touch in the past supplied by "D" Company based in Alexandria. "Dog" Company was moved to Cornwall with closing of the Armouries here and now even the building is passing into private hands to preclude any future military training in Alexandria.

Now the unit is of wholly Cornwall make-up and we'll have to ramble to that city in future if we want to see a parade.

Glengarry is there in name only on the new regimental colors, but they do have the raven on the rock and the 154 to remind that in World War I the 154th Battalion was raised here for overseas service. There are still members of that unit to remember it was 60 years ago this year, on October 31st, 1916, that the 154th arrived in England after a summer of training at Barriefield Camp.

We were there as a fledgling observer and the color and sound of the military life we absorbed then will never rub off.

Next time the SD&G's put on a parade of the stature of Saturday's, we hope to be invited again.

Food for thought: Steel loses much of its value when it loses its temper.

PRICE OF PUBLIC SERVICE

The "mudslinger case", as it is referred to not only in Parliament, has evoked considerable sympathy for those former ministers whose gambolling with Gerda has been so vividly brought to light in the headlines. Their indiscretions might better have been swept under the rug, some will argue, but Maclean's magazine has this pointed comment on public men in the public eye:

"There has been a good deal of ill-considered talk lately that can be summed up in the question: 'Isn't the private life of a public man his own business?'"

"In a totalitarian state it is. In a free society, it isn't. Where the news is managed and the press is controlled and there is only one party to vote for, it doesn't much matter whether the people know anything about their masters. In a society where the citizen must cast an informed vote for those who govern him, it does.

"We empower our public men to manage our country, our common affairs, our economic future — but not our news. Within certain decent limits we need to know what ideals inspire them, what pressures mould them, what weaknesses impair them. When they employ professional image-makers, we are entitled to ask whether the image is accurate.

"The sacrifice of privacy is a stiff price to pay for a career in public service. But in our system, that's the way it has to be."

CENTENARY SUGGESTIONS FOR INDIVIDUALS

Dunvegan, Ont.

The editor,
Glengarry News,

As a collector of the origin of county place names I was interested in a letter appearing in a May issue with some history of Dornie of 75 years ago. Some additional information, such as data, who settled on the farms of the inter-section, where they emigrated from and when was all it lacked for a short sketch. It is strange that a man by the name of O'Hearn should name the place Dornie. There must have been a suggestion to that effect from a native of the picturesque village of the same name on the west coast of Scotland.

Those were the days of nicknames, whether one was necessary or not, and the pun on the Irishman's name is amusing. The Gaelic spelling for herring is 'sgadan'. The writer, I am sure, will not mind me making the correction, he may not have a Gaelic dictionary.

There are still places whose origin I have no record of such as Elgg, Lochinvar and Picnic Grove. If there are persons doing the same kind of thing I would be pleased (Continued on Page 3) looking for a centenary project may I suggest the following historical ones that would not need much outlay of money, in some cases none, your own family genealogy; the history of your farm, your concession road, or the little school-house of your community that is no more; a record of your local cemetery, if one has not been made; acquainting yourself with what has been written on early county history. This last one is not easy unless you are near a reference library. A collection and reprint of articles written by such men as W. L. Scott and J. A. Macdonell (Greenfield) would be a worthwhile project. I especially recommend "Glengarry's Representatives in the Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada" by Scott and "Sketches illustrating the Early Settlement and History of Glengarry in Canada" by Macdonell.

A centenary is a time for looking backward, for an appreciation of the past, and an assessment of ourselves with a look to the future.

Sincerely
Elizabeth Blair

Junior Glens And Baseball Little Leaguers Break Into Win Column

(By Angus H. McDonnell)

The ominous clouds of uncertainty that hung over Alexandria's lacrosse and baseball clubs to date broke and cleared on the weekend giving way to rays of sunshine that should develop into a fine summer of entertainment for the fans of both games.

On Friday night in the Gardens the junior Glens defeated St. Andrews 7-4 to post their first win of the season. "Hoppy" Gallant's little league baseball crew followed up on Sunday afternoon with their first victory as they won over Fournier 8-5.

Lacrosse rookie Lyn Cameron started Alexandria on the winning way with the initial goal at 16:31 in the first period, and Norman Menard added another before the bell sounded. Roger Levert hit the hem early in the second canto, and Charlie O'Brien tallied number four at the close of the period. Three goals in the last twenty minutes, one each by Charlie McPherson, Burns McPherson and Tony MacDonald rounded out Alexandria's total. Archie McPherson set up two scoring plays with other assists going to Jim MacGillivray, Roger Levert and Les Newman.

Albert Lee, Alf Smith, Sandy MacGregor and Ron Lafave were the marksmen for St. Andrews.

Twenty-eight penalties were handed out and all were minors with the exception of five.

The next games have been set back due to the school examinations. On the strength of this fine win Ourltown's young club deserves a large supporting crowd at their next home game.

From Alexandria's oldest game, lacrosse, we switch to the newest as we write the first chapter of baseball in the lengthy and illustrious sport history of Ourltown.

As you know by now Alexandria has a franchise in the Little League Baseball local circuit. Last week they dropped their first two games, one to Fournier in Fournier, the other here to Moose Creek, which was expected.

Playing Moose Creek on a diamond here last Wednesday, a ball diamond that is such in name only, the Alexandria youngsters played splendidly during the opening innings and held the visitors 5-4 at one stage.

A couple of overthrows to third and second, (you can't blame the catchers when they can't see the sack) with runners on base gave Moose Creek the winning margin. Sunday afternoon's game con-

Playground To Be Improved In 1967

Engineer's plans for improvements to the park and playground were reviewed at a meeting of the Park and Recreation committee Tuesday night. It was suggested some fill would be obtainable from the street surfacing program and at least 18 inches of fill is needed in some areas.

Work on improving the playground will be delayed until next year and it was suggested the ball field at the High School be used for the balance of this year.

Proper lighting of park and playground, ball field and proposed lacrosse box will be proceeded with.

Reporting for the Board of Trade, John G. Proulx informed three bands have been secured for the July 1st parade and a campaign was on to get many more floats.

The Lions Club received permission to build a dike along the west side of the beach to stop silt from washing in on the sandy bottom.

We have tried to close a sale with you during the past 12 months by opening doors which have shown you how important the Hospital is to the Community.

Now let us ask you a question.

IN YOUR OPINION, WHAT IS THE MOST IMPORTANT BUILDING IN THE COUNTY?

The magistrate's office, symbolic of law and justice—
The grocery store, where food is procured—
The fire hall, for the protection of property—
The pub, where life takes on a roseate glow?

Or the Hospital, guardian of health, alert twenty-four hours a day—saving lives—helping those in pain—dedicated to serve the sick of the Community, without regard to economic, religious, or social status.

The grocery store and the pub are in business to make a profit.
The magistrate's office and the fire hall are entirely supported by taxes.
The Hospital depends on YOU.

If the Hospital is to expand, to add new equipment, maintain its present facilities, and continue to supply good service to this Community, it must be supported by the people.

SPORTS

in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

That was a bonne soiree held in the Fair Grounds Hall, Maxville, on Saturday when sportsmen and their ladies paid tribute to Dr. Don and Mrs. Gamble who were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. To use an old sport phrase, the glad hand couldn't be extended to a better guy and his doll.

Almost 30 years ago this Russell youth, a college graduate and athlete, walked out of Guelph with his Veterinarian Medicine sheepskin tucked under one arm and his personal effects bundled in the other, including a battered pair of skates.

Fate partly took a hand in heading this young doctor to Maxville. This was the era when Maxville Millionaires were a power house in intermediate hockey as they won the Citizen Shield with the regularity of Yankees and the pennant. But grief followed in the wake of glory when the lives of two Maxville stalwart players were ended in a tragic car accident.

Lawrence "Marbles" Currier was one of the top defencemen in the Ottawa Valley and Lawrence Coleman, when not starring with "Marbles", was on the forward line.

By another quirk of fate when a little later the High School Board were checking the qualifications of a male applicant it was discovered that this teacher, Bill L'Heureux, was tagged by NHL scouts. Benny Villeneuve, who had played some of his best hockey with Russell in the COVHL, had an eye on young Gamble so the School Board and hockey club officials got their heads together in unity, a well known trade mark of Maxville, to sign L'Heureux and Gamble, both defencemen, thus the Millionaires were able to continue in hockey.

Besides playing hockey and rapidly building his Vet practice, the "Doc" was also one of Maxville's most eligible bachelors, and here is where the little elf with the bow and arrow stropped in to have Miss Violet Lagroix become Mrs. Gamble.

Despite the attention required for his home and work, Dr. Don Gamble found time, partly due to his fondness for animals but mostly his bubbling community spirit, to become a pillar of the Fair Board and eventually secretary-manager. The Fair was moved into the Spring Show Class, the grounds gradually were improved, and old buildings replaced including the grandstand. The picturesque setting today, one of the best in the Province, is due in a great measure to the foresight and leadership of Dr. Gamble.

But that is not all. Legend has it that one day Peter MacInnes suggested to Dr. Don it might be a good idea to revive the Highland Games. Well, this tiny acorn became quite an oak, and here again you find Dr. Don one of the pillars.

Saturday's tribute was a deserving one. We trust it is the wish of Divine Providence that our popular jubilarians will see the silver turn to gold.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL

The first paragraph in a new chapter of Alexandria's lengthy sport history was written last week when Moose Creek opened the home schedule of Ourtown's little league baseball team at the Park Grounds. The loss of this first game locally was expected, but the deplorable conditions of the diamond, plus the lack of official recognition of this sport history date was so disappointing that the finger of shame is levelled directly at Alexandria Town Council.

Little League Baseball is as much a Canadian sport today as it is in the U.S. This international recognition was made possible by great little teams from Quebec Province and capped with glory last season by the championship laying of the Stoney Creek team from the Hamilton area.

Alexandria players while in this embryo stage already show promise of baseball ability that will be crowd-pleasing. Ernie "Hoppy" Gallant deserves great credit for the development to date due to his keen interest and time sacrificed to coaching.

On the pitcher's mound (that is if one is ever built here) Michel Boisvenue throws with confidence and effectiveness. Michel is also clean-up batter in the traditional fourth slot and this is a tribute to his hitting as pitchers are usually weak with the willow.

Andy McNulty, behind the plate, is agile with a fine base peg. This natural ability with the big mitt is one of the reasons Andy has done so well as a minor league goal-keeper. Brian Libbos, a left hander, doubles at 1st base and relief pitching. "Pee Wee" Poirier is as much at home covering second base as he is on the ice with the puck, and Geoff Mosher at shortstop gives Coach Gallant added strength down the middle. Bruno Lalonde is another promising promise at the third base hot corner.

Donnie Morris is a short stop alternate, and like Geoff Mosher is lead off batter. Paul Masson at third, Chris McDonald, second, Mike Kelly left field, and Mike McLeister right field are the other alternates. To this lineup add as umpires Stuart McDonald, Kenneth Mosher at the plate, with Kevin McDonald and Kenzie McDonald on the bases. These boys are officials that will be, with more experience, an asset to the league.

Here is a group of youngsters helped by their parents who bought mitts and gloves, but there is a backstop and a diamond area with rough top soil, tall grass and a weedy surface ankle deep that by no stretch of imagination can be called a baseball diamond. Due to an incomplete backstop; already four baseballs have been foul tipped into the lake. At $3.65 each, there goes $14.60. More than the cost of repairs.

When Coach Gallant drew this deplorable condition of the ball diamond to the attention of Council, "Hoppy" told this writer a member of Council replied that when he was young he played ball in long grass (or words to that effect) and this was good enough for today's players. The horse and buggy approach to a modern playground problem.

Come, come, gentlemen, come out of the bush and be Big League. Civic pride does not increase the mill rate, but lack of foresight and interest in youth has often raised the taxes for succeeding Councils.

Let's have a clean-cut diamond, chalk marked foul line stakes, coaches boxes, outfield foul line fences, an official opening to mark the advent of Alexandria being part of Little League Baseball with the Mayor tossing the first ball, the Reeve at bat, and say the League President behind the plate. It took a couple of farmers to put Alex-andria back on the hockey map in 1964-65, surely you don't expect a repeat performance to help Hoppy Gallant and his fine group of youngsters to make the baseball headlines.

HITHER AND YON

One of the many highlights at the Gamble reception was the dancing of an old-time waltz by Mrs. Julia Lagroix, a spry 85, and her son-in-law, Bill Barton . . . Joe and Mrs. Currier on hand from St. Jerome . . . Joe looking fit after a bout with the medicos . . . Joe's two boys play minor hockey . . . wouldn't it be fitting to have history repeat with another "Marbles" Currier.

Michel Quart, promising Maxville Bantam goal keeper, heading to a hockey school at Agincourt . . . Mike could be a scholarship prospect as already he knows his professional objective in life . . . best of luck, Mike . . . speaking of scholarships, we hope to break a story shortly on one close to home . . . Don't forget popular Charlie (O.K.) MacPhee and his O'Keefe golf tournament next Wednesday at our Glengarry club.

Upper Canada Village

Walk through the 1850 toll gate and escape into the tranquil world of Canada's historic past. When ladies wore hoop skirts and baked ginger cookies in the summer kitchen of the Loucks' farmhouse. Where the schoolmaster taught the three R's in the Glengarry log schoolhouse. And the local cabinetmaker fashioned pine and cherry furniture for the villagers. Upper Canada Village faithfully mirrors pioneer life in early Ontario. Best of all, it's a "living museum." The 1845 woollen mill produces soft blankets to sell at the Village Store; the sawmill turns logs into planks; the cheese factory makes nippy cheddar cheese. Nearby Chrysler Farm Battlefield Park has memorials to Loyalist settlers and soldiers, set imposingly in its 2000 acres. Upper Canada Village, near Morrisburg, on highway 2, is open daily from May 14 until October 16.

170 miles of parks

Looking for something different to do these summer weekends? Try a circle tour along Ontario's shores. Enjoy the variety of historic and recreational sites found in the St. Lawrence Parks strung along the highway from Adolphustown, on the Bay of Quinte, to Glengarry Park, 6 miles west of the Quebec border. In Chrysler Farm Battlefield Park you can inspect the railway museum, hop on the miniature train "The Loyalist", go horse-back riding, and play golf on the new 18-hole Upper Canada golf course. Be sure to visit Old Fort Henry, near Kingston, Ont. Parks are open from May 13 until October 16. For further information, write the Public Relations Officer, The St. Lawrence Parks Commission, P.O.
