THE PLACE TO BE—Almost 300 swimmers are taking lessons at the Alexandria Island Park from puddlers to adults. Eight instructors handle the classes of children five days a week and adults three evenings per week. Swimmers may work for Senior Red Cross qualifications, bronze medallions and Red Cross Leadership. The heat has been a big incentive to good attendance and head instructor Tish Filiatrault reports all is going well. Here we have a group at the water's edge getting their instructions. —Photo by Mrs. Mervyn MacDonald

Over-demand for water ordains restrictions outdoor sprinkling

An excessive demand for water during the current heat wave has compelled the Public Utilities Commission to restrict the use of water outdoors on lawn or garden.

Householders may use outside taps for only one hour in the evening, from 8 to 9 p.m., and this only on alternate nights.

Families whose house number is even, for example 12-16-20, may do outdoor watering during that hour on the even days of the month, July 8-10-12, for instance. People whose house numbers are odd may use sprinklers or hose on the odd nights.

The trouble is not in the water supply; that is still quite adequate reports Laurent Poirier, P.U.C. supervisor. The filtration plant has a capacity of one million gallons per day and the demand has jumped to one million, one hundred thousand gallons. Another hundred thousand gallons is needed daily to backwash the filters, Mr. Poirier notes, so demand has to be decreased some way.

Since lawn sprinkling got underway, Alexandria demand has gone up 400,000 gallons daily and it is in a drive to reduce that outdoor gallonage P.U.C. officials expect to solve their problem.

The restriction on outdoor use of water will continue through the summer months.

Stoves, fridges for apartments arrive late

Seventeen apartments in the 20-unit OHC apartment block for senior citizens are now occupied and the lessees are more pleased with their lot since arrival of stoves and fridges on Tuesday.

Some occupants of the apartments had been "making do" for more than a week while awaiting the overdue kitchen fixtures.

OHC officials report the shipment had been lost in transit.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Berry will serve as custodians and are among those occupying apartments. A caretaker has also been employed.

The MacCulloch dancers will be seen dancing Grant's Fancy on the Ceilidh show, Channels 6 and 4, Friday, July 18th at 10:30 p.m., we are informed. Their second show will be later in the fall.

The nine Glengarry girls journeyed to Halifax in March to have their dancing taped as part of a Ceilidh performance.

Injuries were not serious in series of weekend accidents

Lancaster OPP had a busy weekend responding to accidents in the area. All were of a relatively minor nature with injuries not serious.

At noon Friday, Gerry Hines of St. Andrews, N.B., suffered cuts, bruises and road burns when he fell off his motorcycle on Highway 401 near the Fraser Road bypass.

John Lyons, RR 2 Cornwall, escaped injury when his 1967 Rambler was wrecked when it failed to make a curve on Highway 2 in the Glen Walter area.

A sideswipe accident at 3 a.m. Sunday on old No. 2 near the Quebec border resulted in no injuries. Police report a car driven by Allan Laframboise, Cornwall, was passing another driven by Guy Roussin of Petawawa. Damage was some $300, to the Roussin car and $500, to that of Laframboise.

Annie J. McLean, 17, 1st concession Charlottenburgh, escaped with cuts and bruises when the light bus she was driving left the pavement and rolled near Glen Walter. A stone dislodged by the McLean truck struck the car of Ursula Poirier, Cornwall, doing some $200 damage.

Larry MacDonald of Maxville, escaped with cuts and bruises in an accident at 2:30 a.m. Sunday on the Glen Robertson road, four miles east of Alexandria. The car reportedly went into the west ditch and rolled. Damage was some $1500.

Ruth Chung of Don Mills, suffered minor injuries at 12:35 Sunday when her 1971 Datsun left 401 near the C.N.R. overpass and rolled. Damage was some $500.

Nine prize cows lost to lightning

Denny Van Loon, Fourth Kenyon, lost nine purebred cows in the thunderstorm, Tuesday afternoon. The herd of 50 cows was standing under a lone California maple in the pasture. Out of the nine cows killed one graded very good, seven good plus and one good. He had been offered $3,000 for the very good cow in the spring. There are three or four others still recovering from the lightning, reports Mr. Van Loon. There was just one flash of lightning in the brief storm but it really hit its mark.

Jeremiah was top jumping frog at first such event in Laggan

When the results were tabulated a small-sized bullfrog named Jeremiah had won the Eastern Ontario Championship with a leap of 7' 10½" and netted the $15 first prize for owner Cheryl MacLeod of Laggan.

Zoe Grant, Alexandria, garnered the $10 second prize and Wendy MacSweeney, Dunvegan, coaxed her charge Pearl in for the $5 third prize.

In the racing John Theriault's 'million dollar frog' leaped to a convincing win in a field of 18 entries and took home the $15 first prize.

A variety program, fireworks display and lunch served under clear warm skies contributed to the success of what will become an annual event sponsored by the Laggan Recreation Association.

Costly tussle with policeman

A youth from Ottawa was fined a total of $300 as a result of a run-in with a member of the OPP at Maxville Fair. Warned by police when he was carrying a bottle of beer, the youth was seen again later with beer. A scuffle followed in which the policeman's shirt was torn.

A 15-day jail term was meted out here Monday, but after a strong plea by counsel the penalty was changed to a $250 fine, or in default 15 days; with another $50 fine for illegal possession of beer.

Two win Ontario Scholar honors at Char-Lan high school

Two graduates of Char-Lan high school at Williamstown earned Ontario Scholar status. They are Laurie Gordon, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Gordon, Lancaster, and Cameron Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Ward, RR 2, Williamstown.

Laurie will be attending Victoria University of the University of Toronto in the fall. Cameron Ward will attend the University of Waterloo.

Town offered $41,025 for arena

A person or persons unknown has offered to purchase the Alexandria arena at a price of $41,025. That would cover the land, building and contents except for the Zamboni machine.

Alexandria lawyer Jean-Marc Lefebvre made the offer, considered by council at Tuesday night's meeting. Name of the would-be purchaser was not disclosed.

Closing of the deal must be on or before August 31st, 1975, the lawyer's letter ordered and the offer "shall be irrevocable by the purchaser until the first day of August after which time, if not accepted, this offer shall be null and void".

Council will further consider the offer and will probably want to know to what use the building is to be put.

Council considered a letter from Consolidated Textiles Co. asked for clarification of its offer concerning improvement of the lagoons. A new motion was passed, reading as follows:

"Provided that the total cost of the lagoon modification project remains at the estimated figure of $448,840 and the estimated annual charges remain at $52,659.00, the contribution from Consolidated Textiles should be 82 per cent of the annual charges which yields $43,180 annually."

Want workshop aided on a per capita basis

Town council agreed to assist the Glengarry Workshop for Retarded Adults, at last week's meeting, but not by way of an $8,000 contribution.

Instead, Mayor Massie felt the town should help on a per capita basis, as would other municipalities according to the ratio of their residents who use the workshop's facilities.

Participants in the workshop come from as far away as Moose Creek and the workshop does have about 80 per cent of its budget underwritten by the government.

Mr. Massie suggested also that "terms of reference" be established to clarify the workshop's financial arrangement so citizens from surrounding municipalities will have an idea of what their local government contributes towards its upkeep.

Jobs found by summer group

(by Cathy McKinnon)

Having completed four weeks of work on the Friendship Conception Amie summer project the participants report that they have received a lot of support from farm and town people. Approximately 20 students have received work up to this point, about five of them have even found full time summer jobs. They would also like to note that the employers who hired our high school students have been more than satisfied with their work and in many cases have asked them back again.

It seems, however, that there is a shortage of jobs for girls. There are a lot of very qualified typists and baby sitters who are just waiting to be called to work.

On the other hand boys are hard to find since there are so many farmers who are desperately trying to get the hay in. When the office opens at 7 a.m., it is first come, first served, and it is difficult for farm helpers to be appointed in the evening.

In the evening there is a coffee house open for both young and old where performers display their talents to the public, free of charge. Local talent as well as people from the surrounding area come down thrice weekly, and there has been an encouraging response from Glengarry and area dwellers. It is hoped even more will venture out to the Hub Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays. Your support is needed and appreciated.

The drama department has combined forces with the Parks and Recreation Department of Alexandria and they will co-operate with the playground staff in order to make drama a part of the agenda for all the youngsters at the park this summer.

Support your youth! Give them a chance to prove themselves!

New teachers at area schools

Replacing Sister Kathryn Cameron, kindergarten teacher at Alexander School who is on leave of absence for a year, will be Mrs. Inez O'Connor.

Mrs. Gertrude D'Aoust, who had been teaching Oral French at the school, has been promoted to Oral French Consultant and a replacement for her is being sought.

Mrs. Catherine MacDonald will be remedial teacher at Alexander School and Iona.

At Iona, Mrs. Diane Sturkenboom will replace Mrs. Usha Kapoor and Duane MacDonald-Wolochatiuk will replace Mrs. Mary Decoeur in the primary room.

Had marijuana

Possession of marijuana brought a six months suspended sentence for a Green Valley youth in court here, Monday. It was a first offence and with the sentence goes a conditional discharge.

Honor teacher on retirement

George E. Edgerton, veteran Cornwall teacher and principal at Sidney Street public school for the last 18 years, retiring at the end of June.

Mr. Edgerton who was honored recently at a retirement dinner, also taught at Central Public School and S.S. No. 22 Charlottetown during his career, which was interrupted for seven years during Second World War.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton were presented with an oil painting depicting a rural scene on the Raisin River, not far from Mr. Edgerton's Glengarry birthplace near Lancaster.

Pine Grove retains soccer lead

by Nancy Ann Malkin

Lochiel had an opportunity to pull up in the standings this week, but only managed three out of a possible six points. They met stiff opposition in all three games. On Monday night, they edged Glen Sandfield 2-1. J. T. Hay continued his onslaught on the scoring championship. His two quick goals in the opening minutes of the game knocked the wind out of Glen Sandfield's sails. Bert Massia scored for Glen Sandfield.

The Clansmen had three penalty shots awarded in their favor on Wednesday night. They were only able to capitalize on two. Tommy Lowe was on target twice but Norman Laliberte was foiled on his attempt. J. T. Hay and Ewen MacLeod added singles for Lochiel. Final score 2-2.

Glen Sandfield came out fighting Thursday night. At the end of the first half they held a 2-goal lead over Pine Grove. Earl MacLennan and D. A. MacMillan scored. However, the strong spirit and drive of the Pine Grove crew carried them to another victory, despite Erwin MacLennan's great save on a penalty shot early in the second half. Campbell MacGillivray scored three and Rondo MacSweyn added a single. Hugh MacGillivray played an outstanding game leading the team to their 4-2 triumph. Alexandria outscored Greenfield 4-1 on Friday night. Tommy Lowe capped off a fine game with two goals. Danny McPherson and Hugh McGregor scored one apiece. Donnie Morris booted Greenfield's lone marker.

Rondo MacSweyn had a banner evening Saturday, scoring three goals to carry Pine Grove to a 5-2 win over Lochiel. Campbell MacGillivray added to his lead in the scoring race and Lynn Morrison also booted one. Wayne MacMillan played a strong game scoring two goals for Lochiel. His return from retirement should be a boost to their offensive output.

Lady golfers played to a tie

Sunday's excessive heat failed to reduce participation in a mixed "tombstone" competition among members of the Glengarry golf club.

Eileen Gallant and Gerry Derry took first place; Nicole Vincent and Cliff Rae were second and the third-place team was made up of Germaine Lalonde and Ron MacDonald.

The lady golfers played Saturday in the Mary McNulty annual competition. Colombe Amelotte and Arlene Adams tied for low net score and they are to play-off for the trophy Thursday night.

Five-man recreation committee named by Charlottenburgh

Three residents of the township were appointed to the newly created recreation, parks and community centres board by Charlottenburgh Township Council at its meeting last week.

Dr. James Algire, V.S. Martin-town: George Shoniker, Glen Walter, and Lloyd Rozon of Williamstown, will serve on the board until Dec. 31, 1976. Council's representatives on the board will be Reeve Adrian Gadbois and Councillor Ewen MacDonald. They will serve to Dec. 31, 1975.

The board will conduct and assist programs of recreation to meet the needs and interests of the inhabitants of the municipality.

Meanwhile, the council, at its regular meeting, also approved the new bylaw for carrying on of a community program of recreation. Clerk-treasurer Reg Gagne said a copy of the new bylaw will be sent to the ministry of culture and recreation in Toronto for final approval.

According to the bylaw, the board will be appointed yearly by the council. It will consist of two members of the council and three residents of the municipality.

The board will be responsible for all policies, rules and regulations relating to the administration of the program.

All resolutions, rules and regulations of the board will be subject to the approval of council.

Call tenders for San roof

Adrian Gadbois, chairman of the board of St. Lawrence Sanatorium, said that "the roof of the San is definitely going to be repaired."

The leaky roof, put in place when the building was erected in 1937, has been the subject of adverse comment by the grand jury for many years. Advertisements in area papers call for tenders to be received by the board's architect, William R. Mack of Cornwall, up to June 24. Mr. Gadbois said that the roof has been examined by the architect and others and is described as an excellent roof when the building was constructed but now suffering from the ravages of time and deterioration.

Mr. Gadbois said that numerous improvements have been made in the building in recent months, so that most of the recommendations of the grand jury have been carried out. Further improvements are dependent on the roof being successfully repaired.

Apart from home heating, a family usually consumes the most energy in producing hot water. Here are just a few small things you can do, that can add up to a considerable energy saving. Turn off hot water taps so they don't drip, fill clothes washers to match the size of the load, wait until you have a full load before using a dishwasher and remember showers usually require less hot water than baths. Try not to use more hot water than you need.

for this district in the way of fund-raising was the auction sale held at the Apple Hill Zion United Church grounds last Saturday afternoon. This is a comparatively small congregation, in charge of Mr. George Tomita, and faced with the increasing financial responsibilities that beset country churches today.

Renovations and redecorations were carried out in the manse and the church hall. Pieces of extra, no longer needed furniture, and left-over building materials formed the nucleus of the sale offerings. These were augmented by generous donations from the members of the congregation, and the auctioneer was John A. MacLennan, working with his customary energy and enthusiasm . . . he donated his services for the sale.

As an added attraction there was a small rummage sale in the church hall, and the UCN ladies ran a busy little lunch counter in a welcome patch of shade. A worthwhile and profitable afternoon for the church.

When nature carved out the mighty cataracts of Niagara in the prehistoric glacial era, she gave a legacy of spectacular beauty unequalled in the world. Geologists relate that the Niagara Peninsula was once part of the floor of a vast lake.

Father Louis Hennepin, a Jesuit priest, was the first white man to see Niagara Falls, in 1678.

Glengarry teachers at 100th date of Easton's Corners school

Glengarry County was well represented at the hundredth birthday party of the former one-room school at Easton's Corner on June 29. Two former teachers at Easton's Corner Mrs. Howard McEwen (nee Jennie Markell) of Maxville and Mrs. Donald Fraser (nee Elizabeth MacGillivray) of RR 2 Dalkeith, —attended the celebrations along with about 200 former pupils, teachers, trustees, and friends.

John Pringle of Merrickville, present member for the area on the County Board of Education was chairman for the afternoon. Mrs. McEwen presented her recollections on a taped recording. The most exciting event during her three years in this school 1919-1922 was the thunder storm during which lightning struck the school and injured one of the pupils.

Miss Stella Hughes of Toronto, gave a most interesting talk recalling many amusing incidents during her years at this one-room school.

All former teachers and trustees present were introduced to the gathering. A sing-song led by Garnet and Sid McGrath and accompanied by Mrs. Fred Haughton on the accordion, a spelling bee with audience participation, an Old-Timers' Softball Game, music by David McKillop —all were interesting features of the program. Looking at old books, pictures, and school registers provided great entertainment all afternoon.

But the meeting of old friends was the highlight of the day and the Wolford Park Board which organized the event felt very gratified with the response and the obvious enjoyment the event had received.

14-point holiday check list will help you get there—safely

There are 14 brief measures you can take to help safeguard your vehicle for a summer trip. Any reputable service station can carry them out for you:

1. Change motor oil. Remove the existing crankcase oil and replace it with required new oil. Three to four quarts will handle most cars. Remember that extra oil should be added (usually between one and three-quarters of a quart) when the oil filter is replaced.
2. Have the oil filter replaced. Remove the existing filter and replace it with a new one.
3. Lubricate chassis. Check the service requirements for your particular car. Lubrication service deals with standard fittings, and you should be prepared to pay extra if your car has plug type joints. Find out in advance before you authorize the lubrication job.
4. Inspect and rotate tires. See that the service people test the air pressure and make sure all the valves are capped. Have them make a visual inspection for possible tread wear. Use the standard procedure for rotation or a procedure that will balance irregular tread wear.
5. Examine brake system. Have the garage pull the front and rear right wheels for inspection. See that they check the pads and shoes; pull off the springs; check the wheel cylinder for leakage, the hub seal condition, the emergency cable and system operation, the drum size and condition and power brake operation. They should record any deficiencies on the work order and check with you before making needed repairs.
6. Examine lights and signals. Have the garage test the low and high beam. Make a visual check of the front and rear signal lights and park lights. The interior dash and dome lights should also be checked and replaced if out.
7. Have the exhaust system examined. Check the entire system for leaks and take a look at the exhaust pipe and muffler mounts.
8. Examine the windshield washers. The washer system, wiper blades, wiper arms, spray nozzles and fluid level in the reservoir should all be inspected.
9. Examine filters and belts. Following an inspection of the gasoline and air filters, have the service station man check all belts for tension and condition.
10. Pressure test cooling system—and the cap. The condition of the connecting hoses should be examined. They should be full and tight.
11. Examine shock absorbers.

Have the garage check the mounts and check for leaks. They should bounce test both the front and rear of the vehicle and record the results.

12. Check the level of the differential lubrication.
13. Check the level of the automatic transmission fluid.
14. If your car is 1974 or older, have the garage run a quick electrical check. If a scope is used have the garage check the condition of the points, plugs, dwell angle, condenser, plug wires, timing and idle speed. If the garage uses a dwell meter and power timing light, have them check the points and dwell angle and ignition timing. Visually inspect the plug wires and check the idle speed.

Waterfront clean-up is discussed

Charlottenburgh Township council passed two resolutions after a closed meeting on waterfront conditions. Both call upon the Ontario ministry of natural resources to help clean up rotting boathouses and docks.

In the first resolution the ministry was requested to remove dilapidated boathouses and wharfs in the township. This was unanimously approved.

The second resolution asked the ministry to try and implement a policy under which landowners would be allocated land adjacent to their lots for approved wharves and boathouses; along with a program to eliminate boathouses on crown land and their replacement with community boathouses.

The latter was voted by a vote of three to two. Voting for it were Reeve Adrian Gadbois, Councillor Roger Lefebvre and Councillor Ewen MacDonald. Voting against were Councillors Morgan Major and Gerard Dicaire.

The community boathouses could be constructed by private enterprise as a business venture, it was suggested.

It was also noted that some clean-up work is currently being carried out by the ministry of natural resources; and that a continuation of the clean-up is anticipated.

Only 37 million bushels of wheat were produced in Saskatchewan in 1937, as compared with 321 million in 1928.

Moped law is coming

The proposed new laws for drivers of motor assisted bicycles (Mopeds) will not take effect until it is officially proclaimed, said Transportation and Communications Minister John R. Rhodes.

"This will probably be in the middle or latter part of the summer. Meanwhile moped drivers may continue to drive without a licence or insurance as under the original regulations.

"This will also give MTC the time to prepare and distribute the necessary licence plates and registration forms."

Mr. Rhodes announced Thursday that the law for moped drivers, under amendments to the Highway Traffic Act, will mean that only persons 16 or over may operate these vehicles; drivers must have a driver's licence or a learner's permit; they cannot carry passengers; and all motor assisted bicycles must be insured and registered with MTC.

Registration is expected to cost $5. Moped drivers will not require helmets.

Martintown Rumor Mill

by Arthur Buckland

"Alright everybody, take all your clothes off, and follow me", I said. Soon I had ten youngsters engaged in "Project Hercules", that is a "paint-in" involving the old H tractor. It was a great project, even if I had to explain to parents, that one youngster did not have measles, that another child might not be hungry for supper because he had licked a popsicle disguised as a red paint brush. I'm sure no one else has ever used two gallons of paint for a tractor paint job before, but then fun for kids has no price. Gilles Aubin was another member of Fred Booth's young rock band at the recent recital. Congratulations to John and Mary Van Rooi of Glen Falloch; they are now Canadian citizens officially. Their son Martin was a lucky winner of $1,000 in the last Olympic draw. Congratulations to Dr. Wilfred Johnston of River Road on his recent honors from the Canadian government. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick (McConnell Road) watched this new machine mow hay, condition "it" and then place the hay ready for baling . . . all in one operation.

"What a machine," she said, what will they think of next?" She had hardly finished her last comment, when Garfield McLennan drove by towing a strange looking machine behind his big International tractor. He began working on the field and soon a large roll of hay came out the back of this odd machine.

Now what will they think of next? Garfield demonstrated this new baler for a group of us interested railbirds. It's the first one of its kind around our area . . . makes a rolled bale of about 1500 lbs.

Garfield and Donald McLennan of South Branch, two of the most successful farmers in our three counties, couldn't wait for the sales rep. to show up and explain the intricacies of this machine, they worked out all the kinks by themselves.

"I don't know where all those mosquitoes are coming from, but I sure know where they are going . . . right up my kilt!" cried Brian McD. in between his fine renditions of "Scottish Soldier" and "These are my Mountains". It all happened at Alexandria Island Park during July 1st celebrations with the Brigadoons. A great time!

This week Rob Taylor returns from the land of The Godfather (Joey Smallwood) to play at yon Bonnie Glen for Blair MacDonald's reception on Friday night, and Saturday at Maxville for Joanne Guindon's reception, (my favorite French teacher).

Did you ever get kissed by a bear, a giraffe, two elephants and a baboon all in one afternoon? My old Ford did and it could happen to your carload of kids if you went down to Hemmingford animal zoo (Park Safari). A wonderful afternoon for all. They have the right approach: the animals are free and the people are caged . . . in their cars.

The afternoon started with a few words of welcome from our president and chairlady for the afternoon, Mrs. T. C. Upton.

A short entertainment program was enjoyed by all. Those taking part were: Heather Mitchell, piano solo; Heather MacRae, a vocal solo; Tracey Ager, piano solo; Heather and Sharon MacRae, a duet accompanied by Brenda MacRae; Bernadine, Brenda and Inez McDonnell, several selections on the accordions; Brenda MacRae, several piano selections; Laurie and Brenda Condie and Kim and Tracey MacRae, songs accompanied by Mrs. Ron MacRae; Laurie and Brenda Condie, step dance, accompanied by Mrs. Wm. Condie. Mrs. Condie also played several piano selections.

Presentation of Life Memberships and pins, was made by Miss Bessie Cumming, district president, and Mr. Harold Fournery, second vice-president for the district. Mrs. Charles Edgar and Mrs. Donald Ross said a few words on Mrs. Edgar's work with the WI while she was a member. Mrs. Dan Edwards, Mrs. Lloyd MacRae reminded us all of the faithful years Mrs. Edwards was a member and helped out with our WI hall. Mrs. John Petrie paid tribute for the many years Mrs. John Keir was a WI member and our faithful pianist for those years. Mrs. James McKie and Mrs. Archie Robertson had a few words in her honor. Mrs. Rufus Carr, Mrs. Mae McEwen reminded us of the faithful years Mrs. Carr has been a member. Ever since she has moved from our community she very rarely misses a meeting. The WI grace was repeated and tea was served by the ladies.

Mr. Athol Edgar actually scored a 93 in 18 holes of golf. I only gave him half the credit he deserved when I mentioned this last week.

Duncan Macdonell, owner of the Atlantic (my favorite hotel), was showing me his liars' table. What a lovely table. He insisted on initiating me into the Liars' Club. I wonder why? I'm president of the Truth Club as it is.

County road employees disappointed by council offer

County Roads employees, members of C. U. P. E. Local 1715, have expressed their disappointment in the stand taken by County Council in deciding to lock them out on July 26, 1975.

A member of the employees had gone around to visit the members of Council in recent weeks to lobby for a better offer from the County's negotiation team.

Roy Alguire, President of C. U. P. E. Local 1715, said that all of the Councilors they spoke to agreed then that the County's offer of .50 cents was not enough. They all stated that they were not being kept fully informed by the Committee and favoured the idea of our Union making a formal presentation to County Council and yet all the employees received a letter stating that Council turned down a request to meet the Union on the grounds that the Committee was keeping Council informed.

Joe Bouchard, National Representative for C. U. P. E. stated: "Warden Whitteker is trying to make us look as if we weren't willing to negotiate, yet they turned down our request to meet. At the Union meeting held on Thursday evening, we have drafted up a new proposal and we are sending a letter to Council requesting another meeting of the bargaining Committees. As far as the lock out goes, I still think Council is bluffing, but we are prepared for it anyhow."

Mr. Bouchard further stated that contrary to what County's Clerk Treasurer Ray Lapointe stated in the media on June 30, basic wages for County workers is $3.40 per hour with the highest rate being $4.85 and only one man out of 45 earns that rate. The majority earn between $3.65 and $3.95 per hour for an average of $3.80 per hour.

Both sides have been in a strike or lock out position for nearly two months and the Union has refused to take a strike vote insisting on continuing negotiations.

accommodation for boarders. With the seminary established, Macdonnell turned to the education of females, an interest he had held for many years. In 1828 he completed the erection of 'a house for the reception of religious women as the commencement of an establishment for the education of the female children of the settlement'. Unfortunately the nuns were prevented from coming and the school never opened.

The College of Iona operated until about 1836. Difficulties, particularly financial, hampered its progress throughout this period. Macdonnell lamented that the school had 'no other funds than what can be saved of the tythes of this parish and the few pence I may be able to scrape together here and there'. In 1830 he reported that the school had for the past five years cost him an average of £300 per annum. Local apathy was almost as great a problem. In 1829 the Reverend Edward Gordon, who was then in charge of the college, complained in a letter to Macdonnell that only four boys attended the school. He continued: 'The people do not seem to be disposed to send their children for the Rev. John and I have done our utmost to induce them to do so'. The theological studies, he wrote, 'were getting on as usual'.

The closing of Iona College was the inevitable outcome of the Bishop's departure from St. Raphael in 1829. The school continued on a reduced scale during the years he spent at York, but Neil of Cornwall and one sister, Annie Florence MacCosham, who is Sister Mary Philomena of Chicago.

The funeral was held on Monday, July 7th, to St. Columban's Church where Father Paul of Troy, N.Y., offered the funeral mass. Rev. D. B. McDougall was in the sanctuary. Burial was in St. Columban's Cemetery.

Need info for OFY project

Maxville's OFY project, sponsored by the Ministry of Manpower and Immigration, is now underway. Winona MacGregor, David Danskin and Rhonda MacInnes of Maxville, and Kathy Dore of Moose Creek, are compiling a document and tape on the History of Piping (HOP) in Glengarry since 1700.

During the month of July, they will be visiting museums, researching in libraries, and interviewing people. Anyone who has information regarding Glengarry's piping history is asked to contact the above people. "HOP" Headquarters will be at Maxville Senior Elementary school after July 21.

Glengarry MP in debate

share of the money go to Glengarry - Prescott - Russell as compared to the Toronto area constituencies.

Mr. Ethier continued: Mr. Speaker, in a slight change of tempo I want to talk of the problems we face in eastern Ontario, and most of all in my riding of Glengarry-Prescott-Russell. As I mentioned previously, Queen's Park does not show—or, should I say, has never shown—any concern for our region, so I plead with this government to give every possible consideration to assisting this part of the province. I might suggest a few ways in which this government could help. First, by reinstating my riding as one of the designated areas. I must admit that we did belong to a designated area and the Prescott part of my riding obtained numerous substantial grants and attracted many industries. For this I am grateful. But the Glengarry part of my riding was not prepared then to accommodate industries as it is today.

Therefore, I ask that this riding be reinstated as a designated area. I am convinced that within a few months we would attract enough industry to our area to guarantee full employment at home and to eliminate travelling long distances to work centres such as Cornwall and Ottawa. Such action would serve two purposes. First, it would guarantee full employment; second, it would contribute to the energy-saving program by reducing travelling distance to work.

Another means of assisting us in Glengarry - Prescott - Russell would be to consider extending the boundaries of the national capital region. On Monday, June 23, prior to the budget presentation, the President of the Privy Council (Mr. Sharp) proposed that a special joint committee of the House of Commons and the Senate be appointed to study and report upon matters bearing upon the development of the National Capital Commission. I sincerely hope that the members appointed to this committee will give serious consideration to my request of extending the boundaries to include municipalities such as Rockland and Clarence, and also the remaining part of the township of Russell which was not included in the 1958 boundaries. Since the major employer of the residents of these municipalities is the federal government, in an effort to decentralize government services I suggest some government branches could be moved to areas such as Rockland. I am sure this municipality would welcome such a move.

Some may recall my maiden speech in this House when I suggested that something should be done in our district to cater to the ever-increasing tourist industry. I still maintain that position. I would recommend that our government discuss with the province of Ontario the possibility of transforming the vast Larose forest into a national park. Everyone knows the beauty of this vast region, but still it is not a tourist attraction. It could very well become one, should both governments agree.

Mr. Speaker, playgrounds, an open air theatre and a bicycle path could be developed; given the natural and well-wooded aspect of the area, a zoological garden could be established as the one at Granby which is an attraction for millions of tourists every year.

I do not think I am mistaken when I say that all the schoolboys in my constituency have gone to Granby and visited the zoo; we could have that kind of tourist attraction a few miles only from the National Capital if the two governments could come to an agreement. The new Highway 417 would make that area more accessible. Here, I wish to congratulate the government of Ontario for this first concrete gesture they have made in our area. But many shopkeepers on the old Highway 17 have been adversely affected by the opening of the new highway; their concern for the future, which I understand quite well, incites me to make these requests. I understand also that this matter is under provincial jurisdiction, but, knowing the snail's pace of Queen's Park, I ask my colleagues to give me their support so that we may help the people of my constituency whose businesses depend solely on the users of Highway 17.

In the southern part of my constituency, along the St. Lawrence, the Province of Ontario has organized two parks; I am convinced that this action helped all the businesses along the St. Lawrence. But on the northern side of my riding there is nothing to help businessmen on Highway 17 who were hard hit by the opening of new Highway 417. I would like the government to consider the possibility of undertaking negotiations with the province of Ontario within a joint program financed on a 50-50 basis for the development of one or two parks along the Ottawa River, and if the province does not want to participate in such a program, perhaps even consider the possibility of an entirely federal project so those honest people will not be forced to close their businesses and go settle elsewhere.

Another point that is of great concern to me is the slow progress in the negotiations with Quebec and Ontario about building a new bridge between Grenville and Hawkesbury. In view of the danger existing on the present bridge if the tonnage limits are not respected, and considering the lack of interest of both provinces involved I would propose that this government build immediately a new bridge, even if it has to pay the entire cost. It is unthinkable that in 1975 provincial governments like Ontario and Quebec would disregard people to the point where simple matters of financing such an urgent construction would be delayed.

I understand this would impose an additional burden on this government but in face of such a danger it is important that we continue to show that we are a responsible government and we accept such challenges because the safety of those using that bridge is at stake.

Take the lumps out of farm income

Money received in lumps is great, but with them comes the heavy burden of income tax.

A Sun Life Income-Averaging Annuity has been designed to reduce that burden. It enables you to defer taxes on certain lump sum income receipts by spreading them forward. This will generally result in tax saving and higher disposable income.

Many types of income are eligible, for example: income from the sale of inventory or accounts receivable; or capital gains.

In cases like these, Income-Averaging Annuities can save tax, earn interest and guarantee future income.

Give me a call and I'll fill you in on all the details.

FLYGON

FOR INDOOR FLY CONTROL

Since time immemorial, flies have been a nuisance. More than that, they have been—and still are—a source of contamination and pestilence throughout the world.

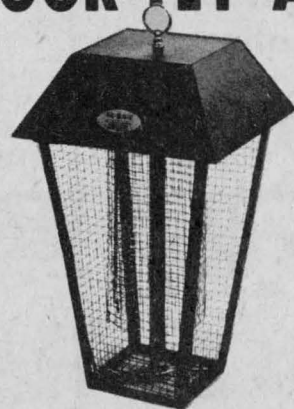

Sprays, pest strips, and toxic chemicals have been tried and used extensively as means of keeping the threat of fly infestation under control. Needless to say, the cures have turned out to be as hazardous as the disease itself. Sprays and chemicals have contaminated our food supply, our drinking water, and the very soil itself.

Rid-O-Ray has a better way. Flygon units offer a non-toxic, sanitary and efficient method of fighting fly infestations. "Spectral-Glo" panels combined with black light attract the flies to electrically-charged grids which electrocute them in a split second. The dead insects drop into a specially designed tray—removable for easy cleaning—insuring sanitary conditions. Nothing could be simpler, safer, and more efficient! Flygon is the ideal fly control device for dairy barns, meat processing or packing plants, restaurants, kitchens, stables, chicken and turkey farms, etc., etc. In other words, wherever flies tend to be a chronic problem, Flygon units are the ideal—and final—answer.

Charlottenburgh departments to distribute stickers in township

Some 4,500 stickers listing telephone numbers of fire departments in Williamstown, Martintown and Glen Walter will be printed soon for distribution to residents of the three areas.

Charlottenburgh Township Council last Wednesday unanimously decided to go ahead with printing stickers for phones.

The original request for stickers came from the fire department in Martintown.

Deputy Reeve Roger Lefebvre told council they should order stickers for the three fire departments.

Reeve Adrian Gadbois said such stickers have proven handy. He said the stickers can be distributed by the three departments during fire prevention week.

Mr. Lefebvre also suggested the firemen should ensure the stickers be placed on all telephones.

"This way we can be sure that residents will find the number when it is needed," he said.

The motion to go ahead with printing stickers was moved by Councillor Gerard Dicaire and seconded by Councillor Morgan Major.

A rental higher by $576 yearly will have to be paid by Charlottenburgh council for the rental of premises used by the Nursery School at Williamstown.

Until now the council has been paying $2,000 a year for rental of the premises. The new rent will be $2,576.

The council approved a request from St. Mary's Church to increase the rent.

A church spokesman told the council cost of electricity has gone up 30 per cent while heating cost has also increased 16 per cent.

"We have been hit by increases from all directions," he told the council.

The spokesman said one more room will be made available for the nursery school use this year.

The council, while approving the signing of a new lease for rental of nursery school premises, also authorized expenditure of $1,000 for caretaking services.

Earlier, council members expressed concern about the rent increase. Councillor Ewen MacDonald said the council should explore the possibility of finding a new building for the nursery school.

A number of concession roads on Highway 34 renamed without council's authority should come down immediately.

This was demanded by Deputy Reeve Roger Lefebvre at the regular meeting of Charlottenburgh Township council in Williamstown.

The deputy reeve claimed a number of concession roads had been renamed without the council's authority.

"These names should come down immediately," he said. "How can anyone rename roads without council's authority?"

He said change of names were an insult to some families in the area. Apparently no one in council knew anything about the name changes.

A full report will be made to the council at its next meeting.

and direction, and for this School, I wish to procure a few Masters in this County, of superior talents and learning, capable of educating Gentlemen's Sons upon a more liberal and extensive plan than what would be necessary for the lower class of settlers". It was clear that his proposed school or seminary was intended to give education at least equal to that provided by the province's Grammar Schools.

Bathurst finally agreed to support three teachers at L100 per annum. With this commitment Macdonell returned to Canada and, in 1818, erected at his own expense a log school house at St. Raphael. The teachers and some of the students lived in the spacious stone house which Macdonell had erected nearby in 1808.

The school was small and was kept going with great difficulty. An insight into its operation is given in a letter of 1821 from Macdonell to Bishop Plessis. He wrote that he had one student studying theology 'and at the same time teaching the boys I have in the house with the assistance of the oldest of themselves'. The course of study consisted mainly of English and Latin.

In the meantime, however, he had encountered further financial difficulties. When, after his return to Canada in 1817, he had applied to provincial authorities for the allowances promised by Bathurst, he had been informed that no funds were available from which these could be taken. Macdonell was back where he had started, but undaunted, he repeated the whole process of petitions, letters, and a visit to England from 1823 to 1826. He was again successful and was assured not only of future support but also of payment of the arrears in salaries.

The affairs of his school could now be placed on a more permanent basis. After the Bishop's return to Canada in 1826, he expanded the establishment and added a seminary for the training of priests. A qualified teacher, the Rev. W. P. Macdonald, was placed in charge of the school, which became known as the College of Iona. In 1827 an addition was made to the building and by the end of that year he had twelve students 'as promising subjects as ever went into one house'. The seminary, he reported, 'is coming on famously'. His optimism ran so high that he considered adding two wings to his house in order to increase the

Area NFU submits brief

Several recommendations are made by directors of Region 3, District 1 of the National Farmers Union in a brief submitted last week to the Commission into Inquiry into Beef Marketing.

The brief says in part: "... today many herds are larger than in previous years due to the farmers using Provincial Government Incentive Program. These types of Provincial Government Incentives only encourage farmers to get deeper in debt and upset the balance in the marketplace.

They should be discontinued completely on the Provincial level and used on the Federal level only after very careful study has indicated that an Incentive Program is necessary. Loans should not be made unless the format is established whereby a farmer using good management will be able to repay the loans.

We see the present situation as such: there is a World Food Shortage yet a surplus of beef which is a costly source of protein. The price paid to farmers is far below their cost of production. There is market manipulation and price-setting by chain stores.

We recommend that the National Meat Authority be established in the same manner as the Canadian Wheat Board with all the Provincial Governments passing concurrent legislation transferring the Meat Marketing power now vested in them to this Authority. That the format be established for the farmers to bargain with the Authority, the terms and conditions under which they will produce meat; with the farmers having the right of a ratification vote on the agreements reached.

The organization doing the bargaining must only have farmers as members and must have at least a simple majority of the producers of a product as members in good standing before being qualified to act as bargaining agent.

If it is deemed necessary to establish stabilization programs these should be negotiated between the Federal and Provincial Governments and the National Farmers union. Stabilization programs such as that on cows this past winter should be such that only those farmers who sold for less than the established price support get paid the subsidy. This will allow farmers to cull when they should and allow an even flow of cattle to market which should cause the price to fluctuate less.

We recommend that an investigation be made to determine how much control Organized Crime has in the Montreal Livestock Exchange.

We recommend that the Department of Weights and Measures do spot checks of the scales at Community Auction Marts while the sales are in progress to make certain that the scales are not tampered with.

We recommend that this Commission study a report presented in 1955. It was an investigation into the Meat packing Industry and the purchase by Canada Packers of Calgary Packers Ltd. and the Packing Company in Montreal.

We recommend that a method be found for the farmers to discolour the dead or diseased animal meat so it can be easily identified to prevent it from being sold for human consumption.

The brief was signed by officers of District 1, Region 3, N. F. U.: Director, Joe O'Neil; Lady Director, Yvonne Sauve; Junior Director, Gilbert Desjardins.

Still pushing for clean-up of shoreline

Charlottenburgh Township councillor Morgan Major says he plans to continue pushing for a clean-up of dilapidated boat-houses from the shoreline of St. Lawrence River east of Cornwall.

Mr. Major said a large majority of township residents, especially those near the river, support him.

A meeting was to be held June 24 with government officials to discuss the situation. Mr. Major said the meeting would shed more light on the problem.

Mr. Major said he is also concerned with owners of boat-houses converting their buildings into summer cottages. He has discussed the matter with health unit officials, he said.

Planning well along for early August Williamstown Fair

Directors of St. Lawrence Agricultural Society have completed plans for the Aug. 8-9-10 Williamstown fair.

There are several new features this year. The 4-H horse club achievement day program will be held on Friday morning, Aug. 8 and that day will include the line and breed class horse judging and judging the show hall exhibits.

Friday evening is youth night, with a dance on the grounds. Music will be by Williamstown "White Rock" orchestra. The midway will also be in operation.

The Saturday program is a really full one, with a light horse English show, heavy horses, the calf clubs, the black and white and red and white dairy cattle shows, the Highland dancing competition and many others. Martintown branch of The Women's Institute will serve lunch at noon in the fairground dining hall.

The children's parade will be right after lunch. The midway, demonstrations, booths and displays will be on all days.

On Sunday the fair will present a family day, with a baby contest, a sheep-dog demonstration, a goat show, children's races, harness classes and a western horse show.

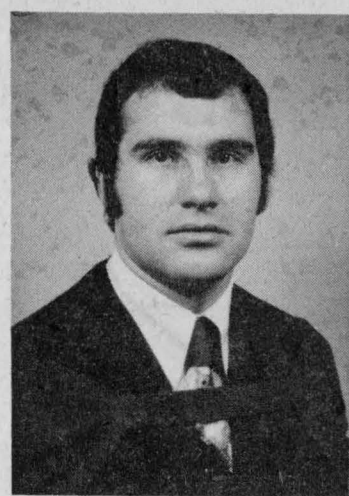

The Glengarry Pipe Band and the MacCulloch dancers are featured in a two-hour concert.

One of the novel features this year is a photography contest and accompanying display in the Nor-Western museum next door to the fairground. This is on Saturday morning under the direction of C. R. Wall and Ed St. Jean.

The whole prize list has been reviewed and new items added in many categories.

The old fairgrounds has been drained and is expected to be in excellent shape for the show; a midway has been obtained and will be in operation for three days.

Ruth Mowat, secretary of the fair board, is now distributing prize lists. The president of the board this year is Wilfred McNaughton. Robert McDonnell is manager.

GRADUATED FROM MCGILL—Dr. A. Kevin Watters received his medical degree from the Faculty of Medicine, McGill University, on May 28th. Dr. Watters is the son of Mrs. Josie Watters and the late Joseph L. Watters of Lachine and a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alex Dougal MacDonald, 5th Conc. Lancaster.

Ontario began to build its Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railroad in 1902, in order to implement the transportation of silver, cobalt, gold, nickel and copper.

Impaired drivers still a problem

Impaired drivers continue to be a problem in Ontario, according to Transportation and Communications Minister John R. Rhodes as he released the 1974 figures for convictions in Ontario under the Criminal Code.

"When you have 23,371 convictions for impaired driving and 14,817 convictions for drunk driving in one year, you have a total of 38,188 potentially dangerous situations for the motoring public," said Mr. Rhodes.

"And this does not include the additional 3,312 who were convicted for failure to take the breathalyzer test or the untold numbers of impaired drivers who were not caught," he added.

According to figures compiled by the Drivers and Vehicles Division of the Ministry, 49,593 convictions under the Criminal Code were recorded in Ontario in 1974 as compared to 46,361 in 1973, an increase of over six per cent.

Charges included: criminal negligence, 80; failure to remain, 2,228; dangerous driving, 1,362; and driving while disqualified, 4,413.

Too dry for fun

Grass that was once green and verdant has been burned brown by an unrelenting sun and an almost complete absence of rain. Some sections of Glengarry have had a few downpours over the past few weeks but others have been knowing near drought conditions and area farmers must be experiencing real anxiety.

The hay harvest seems to have been healthy in most sections of the county and the dry spell made for ideal haying conditions. Pastures that once were lush have lost most of their sustenance, however, and the milk flow must be rapidly drying up as a result of the heat wave.

While you sweat, they swelter

The heat and the humidity have been hard to take at times in recent weeks. You may find it easier to sweat it out if you fix your thoughts on people worse off than you are; city residents, for instance.

If you have never lived through a hot summer in the city, writes the editor of the Wingham Advance-Times, you certainly cannot appreciate how lucky you are to be out of such a place when the months of summer arrive. Admittedly, since the invention and common use of air conditioners city living is more tolerable than it was 25 years ago, but for our money it's still a pretty mean sort of existence. When the sun blazes down all day and the concrete buildings and pavements get thoroughly heated, bouncing back any of the high temperature you think you can avoid by walking in the shade, the only refuge is an air conditioned office or apartment. Ah! the beautiful relief when you step into one of those cool havens from the baking streets outside.

That's just great until you must go back out again.

So the average city guy slugs his way through an endless five days, dreaming of the weekend and his cottage in Muskoka. The wife and kids are getting everything ready for the trek north and the cool water and fresh air. Perhaps father is fortunate enough to have a job from which he can escape a bit early on Friday afternoon, so he beats the traffic home, packs the car with a thousand and one items the family will never use, and they take the road by 3:30.

That road, in fact any road out of the Veteran farmers no doubt have learned to take each day's weather as it comes. They long ago realized they can do nothing but make the most of what's served up.

It must be frustrating though, after successive wet years that hindered the planting of crops, to have a heat wave threaten what promised to be an exceptionally fine crop year.

A few cool days with rain might still restore Glengarry pastures and fields. This town's water supply could use a few good rains, too, if only to ease the use of sprinklers.

city, is jam-packed with cars, trucks, trailers, boats on trailers, tents on trailers, plus 22 kinds of motorcycles. The carefree trip to lakeland becomes a nightmare of frustration and despair.

The guy behind has the same set of problems, just as the fellow in the lane to the left. But eventually, about 75 miles and three or four hours later the traffic does thin out a bit and the family is roused from despair and irritability by the prospect of that first plunge into the lake. By this time Dad can think of nothing better than locking himself in the privy where there are no kids, no wives, and above all, no cars.

So they make it, and the cottage never looked so good. Two beautiful days of warm sun, cool breeze and sparkling waves lie ahead. It's just great—except for a fact father can't quite forget. Sunday evening lies ahead, and with it the spectre of a traffic jam that stretches in unbroken agony from Huntsville to Toronto. Is it any wonder he quietly ponders about whether cottage life is really that wonderful?

However, the initial purpose of all this was to remark upon the fact that life in a small town may at times be a bit dull, but by golly we really wouldn't have it any other way. Maybe Cousin George makes a lot more dough in Toronto, but frankly he can have it. Right here at home we have so many bonuses in fresh air, open space, walk-to-work offices and stores, that a 50 per cent raise in income wouldn't make it worthwhile to change places with Georgie-boy. And if there is any one thing that makes life worth living it's contentment with who we are and where we live.

It's worth a try!

A bumper sticker reached our desk last week from the Department of Energy, Mines and Resources of Canada. It bore the message "For better mileage, 55 maximum" and was the first inking we had had in a long time of any Canadian government's interest in a saner speed limit.

By driving at a 55 m.p.h. maximum speed an impressive percentage of saving can be realized, the accompanying note reminded. It told of a workshop held in early June by the Canadian Automobile Association at Quebec City when a panel deliberated on the relation of accident reduction and energy saving to reduced speed.

Highway speed limits are under provincial jurisdiction, we are reminded, but Energy Minister Donald S. Macdonald would be favorable to the implementation of a 55 m.p.h. maximum speed limit.

We could wish the Davis Government at Queen's Park had the guts to initiate such sensible legislation. Instead, it makes a big to do about making seat belts mandatory, a law that would be impossible to enforce.

The most mobile nation in the world, the United States of America, has put that governor on its cars and finds both gas and lives are being saved. Why should not Ontario give it a try?

Difficult to justify

Federal prison guards across the country took a one-day walkout last Wednesday. They were protesting the Trudeau Government's practise of refusing to allow capital punishment even though the law ordains execution for convicted murderers of policemen and prison guards.

While seven thousand prison guards took a day off to protest, the Parliamentary Opposition was taking much of a day in the Commons to demand the resignation of Solicitor General Warren Allmand who was accused of taking a "dishonest position" with parliament. He refuted the charge, but it is difficult to justify his argument in light of Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield's summation of the Solicitor General's position.

Mr. Stanfield attacked the ministry for having two years ago asked the Commons to pass legislation which Mr. Allmand, as the responsible minister, was not now prepared to implement. That legislation called for the death penalty for those guilty of murdering prison guards or policemen. Mr. Allmand has said he could not remain in a government which permitted the death penalty to be carried out, and in the eyes of Mr. Stanfield that left him in a "dishonest position".

The leader of the Opposition is of course making political capital out of the walkout by prison guards. Mr. Stanfield may be against capital punishment, too, yet his point is well taken.

In a free vote two years ago Parliament enacted a law calling for the death penalty in certain circumstances. If the cabinet minister responsible for law enforcement refuses to carry out that mandate he should long ago have had himself removed from the post of Solicitor General.

It is probably true that the entire cabinet is involved in commutation of such death sentences, but that is no argument for the responsible cabinet minister not at least trying to carry out the enactment of Parliament as a whole. Public opinion has been shown to be overwhelmingly in favor of restoration of capital punishment but the Ottawa Government persists in disdaining the peoples' will in this as in other matters.

Crime marches on!

PUTTING A TIGER IN THE BIG BLUE MACHINE

WITH OUR
RAMBLING REPORTER
by Ed.

This heat wave's a reminder the Gay Nineties wouldn't have been gay if the 90s had been temperature readings.

30 YEARS TOO SOON

We musta been born at least 30 years too soon, we were thinking when we read that Sammy Kaye was coming to Maxville next month. His band is following Lombardo's and it's a bit too much for a guy who has been slowed to a rambling pace to have two of his favorite bands park on his doorstep and make the kind of music calculated to put him in the mood to dance all night.

He coulda danced all night to a Guy named Lombardo, a few decades back. But in those days your RR overdid the dancing and now his feet are one of his worst features. The spirit is willing when the band strikes up, but the dogs start barking and that's enough to sour even the sweetest music this side of heaven.

Actually your Rambling Reporter did dance to the Lombardo brand of mellow music more than 40 years ago at some joint in northern New York. We were mobile then. A repeat performance was denied us at Cornwall a few years later, as we recall. The dance was in the arena and by the time our party arrived the sour smell of ammonia fumes had cancelled out the sweetest music Lombardo was there to play.

Now these bands are as close as Maxville. Surely there's a pill that's calculated to let us oldsters dance all night.

Sammy Kaye's a bit of OK; but our feet aren't.

WE ALLOWED FOR THE WIND

Golfers on the pro circuit are supposed to be able to allow for the wind in planning their shots. Your Rambling Reporter is far below that category but he must have been playing like a pro on one of his putts one day last week. No. 3 green in the men's twilight league, Wednesday night, along about the time a storm was brewing up. The clouds were menacing overhead, a stiff breeze had blown in and there was every indication that rain was on its way after weeks of baking sun.

Your R.R. had a challenging putt of some 10 feet to save a six and it must have been subconsciously that he became aware of that wind and made due allowance for it. He coolly stroked that putt and the ball made a beeline for an area at least two inches west of the cup.

Aha! But that wind was out of the west and just as the ball slowed to give a passing nod to the cup that wayward breeze blew it right into the hole.

Even if we do say so ourself, it was a magnificent example of allowing for the wind. Other members of our foursome must have been duly impressed. Impressively lucky they must have decided we had been, and we couldn't have given them an argument. We had to be lucky to be finishing the third hole just as rain was threatening to cascade down. Our foursome absorbed only a few droplets before reaching the shelter of the nearby clubhouse to wait out the storm.

That was a bust of another kind. The thunder continued as a distant rumble, the lightning merely lit up the horizon and the downpour fizzled into a five-minute shower. This golfer resumed play with mixed feelings. His game was better than usual and so he didn't relish a rain check. But the course was so badly in need of rain he would have welcomed an allnight downpour.

Why we didn't get it, we're still wondering. Thursday's paper told of wind and rain that brought power blackouts to Montreal, Ottawa, and Cornwall. When your Rambling Reporter's golf ball was being blown into that hole by what seemed a vagrant breeze, trees and utility poles were being blown down by mini-tornadoes only a comparatively few miles away in all directions. We were getting only the tail-end of somebody else's troubles.

It all goes to show that the Glengarry golf course is in the garden spot of America, which undoubtedly is Glengarry. But gardens need rain if they are to flourish. Rain in decent moderation we would remind the weatherman. Ideally, it should fall at night, when we're not golfing.

Drinking shortens school days

(The Ridgetown Dominion)

The Wellington County Board of Education shortened the length of the final day of high school classes because in previous years intoxicated students caused classroom disruptions, when they came back from their lunch hour.

At the annual three-day meeting of the Ontario School Trustees Association a resolution was passed calling on the provincial government to raise the legal drinking age from 18 to 20. The trustees noted that drinking by 18 and 19-year-olds is making life miserable for students who don't drink. Lowering the legal drinking age to 18 has produced more drinking by 16 and 17 years olds because of association.

Evidently the trustees teach by precept rather than example, because according to reports in more than one paper most of them "put in a full schedule of cocktail parties, receptions and old-fashioned pub-crawling before framing the resolution calling for provincial action."

road to all traffic. He informed me that he had notified the Township Council three weeks in advance that he would be closing the road on that date, that he was not putting in a bypass, Council deeming it not necessary, and that it would be two to three months before the new bridge was installed.

In view of the fact that when this bridge was built in 1912 a bypass was installed and bypasses have since been installed for other bridges in the township, especially on the same road at Sutherland's Creek where the traffic is much less, how can the Lancaster Township Council justify this decision?

On speaking to the Township Council I was informed that their reasons were:

1. That the estimated cost for a bypass was $10,000, which was too expensive.
2. That the terrain of the river bank presented very great obstacles to install this.
3. That they had waited until the school season was over so as to not inconvenience the school buses.
4. That one neighbor bordering the bridge, on whose property a portion of the bypass would be installed, would not give his permission to install it.

I informed them that an independent contractor had upon request inspected the site and quoted a figure of less than one quarter of the $10,000; that by comparison with the terrain of two recently built bridges, where bypasses were installed, the terrain here was much better; that they had themselves prohibited school buses from this bridge a year ago. And that this neighbor who was so obstinate in not giving them permission to install a bypass had never been approached by any of the council. Also, I found out later when I contacted him that he would have had no objections.

The fact that farmers have to haul their hay an additional 6 or 7 miles, making 12 to 14 miles return trip; that ambulances and staff at Maryvale Nursing Home drove up to this bridge, had to turn around and find another road and will have to for two or three months yet, was, I presume of secondary importance to this council. To add to the irony of this situation we find that the Lancaster twp. Council has voted to give the contractor an additional $750, over and above the contract, for any inconvenience caused him, such as moving his equipment to either side.

Aside from the legality of closing a road without any notification whatsoever, what justification can they have for this fait accompli? Evidently the council arrived at these decisions some time ago and I am at a loss to know why these decisions were not made public; and for that matter why all decisions that are of vital interest to all the taxpayers of Lancaster Township are not published in the newspaper.

Since a taxpayer's petition for a hearing on the matter was not even acknowledged by the council, I am taking the opportunity of using the Glengarry News to bring this matter to the attention of the Township taxpayers.

APPRECIATE SUPPORT

The editor,
The Glengarry News.

This past season has been very successful for the Seaway Valley Snowmobile Association. (The largest club in the Province with approximately 900 members.)

This success can only be attributed to the fantastic co-operation we have received from everyone concerned. We must single out the landowners who were so kind as to let us open their fences (which we repair in the spring) and cross their land.

To these many generous people we say thank you on behalf of all our members. We hope to have your continued support next season so that we can once again provide marked, groomed trails for safer snowmobiling for the snowmobilers of the three United Counties.

Not all silos are equal

Your cows deserve the best, but should it come from a glass lined steel silo or an inexpensive bunker? Dairy farmers certainly require the convenience of a vertical silo either concrete or steel to minimize labor problems in feeding. A well constructed concrete silo will normally have about 5-10% dry matter loss due to fermentation. A sealed silo may have less loss than a concrete silo especially when moisture content is too low for an unsealed unit.

A sealed silo with a bottom unloader offers an advantage in more uniform feeding. Faster unloading around the sides than in the middle results in material at the top moving rapidly down to the unloader. This causes a mixing when the silo is unloaded. The cattle do not have abrupt feeding changes which may result in production decreases. The silo may also be filled without interrupting unloader operation.

While the glass lined steel silo may offer the best in preservation and feeding one major problem remains. What comes out is never as good as what went in. In fact there has never been a silo which improved the feed that went into it. Losses due to fermentation will always result in dry matter, protein and vitamin loss until the pH drops causing the fermentation to stop. If immature legumes are harvested the feeding value of a ton of dry matter as haylage may be as good as half a ton of soybean meal. The protein value from mature grass haylage may be no better than feeding straw.

Moisture contents are important for preservation in different types of silos. You can save $135 on a moisture tester by using this simple test. Grab a handful of chopped forage, squeeze it in your hand and let go. If it stays in a round ball it is ready for a bunker. Haylage which falls apart slowly should be put in a vertical concrete silo. Sealed silos should have haylage which readily falls apart. In the sealed unit good preservation is more certain and dry matter intake by cattle will be highest at lower moisture levels.

Chopping at 1/4 inch length will improve the preservation in a bunker silo. Less spoilage may occur in vertical silos permitting a longer cut, but the capacity of the silo is reduced as the length of cut increases.

Louisburg Fortress stands again

(by Sheila McCook)

Down to the ancient-style hinges on the door, the hand-hewn beams on the ceilings and the perfectly reproduced tableware, the Fortress of Louisburg in Nova Scotia is an attempt to tell North Americans as accurately as possible about one of the more extravagant aspects of their past.

The fortress, constructed over the early part of the 18th century was a monument to a French king's overreaching pride in empire and to military planners' over confidence about their ability to keep the enemy at bay by geographical barrier and gargantuan fortifications.

No sooner had construction been completed on a windswept peninsula of what is now Cape Breton Island, than the fortress fell to an invasion of New Englanders. The French planners had calculated that the fortress was impregnable by sea; they hadn't foreseen that an attack could come via the seemingly impassable marsh and forest.

The 1748 treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle returned Louisbourg to France but 10 years later it fell again, this time to the British. In the two centuries that followed, the fortress site fell yet again—to demolition decay and quarrying.

Now Louisbourg is once more open to invasion, but this time, the fortress is for the most part a reconstruction and the invaders are friendly tourists.

There was considerable information on the original fortress to facilitate plans to reconstruct a fifth of the original site.

The main structure is the barracks of the King's Bastion, once thought to be the largest building of its time in North America. Within are the lavishly appointed Governor's Wing (with the most extensive collection of period French furniture on the continent), the cold and uncomfortable soldiers' quarters, officers' mess and kitchen. The chapel to the left of the main entrance was burned in October, 1974, but with the exception of some ornamental work, has now largely been restored. Residences, fortress walls and service buildings like the ice house have been rebuilt on their original sites, reproduced as they were on the eve of the 1745 invasion.

One of the most extensive excavation and archaeological undertakings ever performed in North America, this project which started in the early 1960s and still continues has been aided by the wealth of information left behind. Artifacts found at the site total about two million. Dozens of plans have survived time; Louisbourg archives include over 500 maps, plans and views, and over half a million pages of documents and correspondence, all shedding a light on the town's appearance and its inhabitants' way of life.

Open from May 15 to October 15, the fortress comes to life in ways that may surprise tourists. See a young man in tattered French military uniform, ask him what college he attends during the year, and he may snub you.

He is more than a guide. He has studied the life of an actual soldier who lived at Louisbourg (such is the wealth of information from two centuries ago that many residents' lives are known in surprising detail) and has now taken on his name and character.

He may stagger about like a drunk; he may wolf down his food ungraciously or shout across the square in French to a colleague. He will also help tourists find their way about the site, but remains at least partially in character while doing so. The rest of the time, he is performing jobs about the fortress in approximation of what his namesake did long ago.

There are many other attempts not to compromise efforts to recreate 18th century fortress life. The site is open to tourists only until 5 p.m. till June 15, and again after Labor Day; during the summer months it remains open until 8 p.m. Keeping the fortress open to visitors later in the evening would require lighting, and anything as unauthentic as electricity wouldn't do.

Some attempts at duplicating authentic atmosphere have been hastily abandoned. Pigs once ran free on Louisbourg's streets; a day of that tried at today's Louisbourg saw tourists running inside doorways and clinging to window sills. The pigs were installed behind a fence and peace returned to the fortress.

Louisbourg is situated 23 miles from the city of Sydney. Admission

Work for welfare resolution supported by counties council

United Counties Council supported a resolution last Wednesday, calling on welfare recipients to work for their support.

A resolution submitted by Durham County asked that welfare recipients work an appropriate number of hours to recompense the municipality for money paid, assuming the recipient is able-bodied.

This resolution was especially supported by Adrian Gadbois, reeve of Charlottenburgh, who said he has favored such a program for years; and by Walter Shadbolt, reeve of Winchester, "for the good of the country."

Durham also requested support for a return to the system of providing bulk drugs at homes for the aged instead of the existing system requiring dispensing under individual prescriptions, which the homes find costly. It asked that parents retain responsibility for children under 18, since now these young people can leave home and claim welfare assistance. These requests were agreed to by council and supported.

The County of Simcoe asked that juveniles in detention homes be supported by welfare. At present these people have to be supported by municipalities, which some of them find quite costly. This request for support was supported.

The resolutions and memorials committee was under the chairmanship of Keith Graham, reeve of Chesterville.

The agriculture and reforestation committee under the chairmanship of Roger Lefebvre, deputy reeve of Charlottenburgh, decided to ask for a grant in lieu of taxes on land held by the province. It also supported a request to the minister of agriculture that beaver control problems should be referred to one designated branch of the government. At present several provincial agencies have an interest in beaver control and none seems to do much about it, in council's opinion.

Reeve Edwin Waldroff of Osnapruk said his municipality has designated a man to do the work. The council pays a fixed fee and the cost of dynamite to blast beaver dams, even if it has to be done several times a year. Other townships indicated they may have to follow suit.

The functions of the Emergency Measures Organization so far as local civic emergencies are concerned was to be taken over by Ontario Provincial Police as of July 1, it was indicated to council. The fate of EMO as an organization was not directly discussed, but Warden John Whitteker indicated that the province is withdrawing its support and the counties and city would have to put up $20,000 to continue it. Moreover after July 1 the EMO will have only a teaching role as it could not implement plans to deal with emergencies once the responsibility was turned over to the OPP.

Children of families receiving welfare may get dental care in the near future, Ed Thompson, social services director, indicated to the United Counties council.

As it stands, Mr. Thompson said, dental problems are neglected until teeth have to be pulled. Then later on the social services have to pay for dentures which could have been avoided, as well as being better for the patient. Chairman of Social Services Committee Ewart Simms indicated this was considered a good idea by the committee.

Mrs. Allison guest speaker at Moose Creek WI 60th date

Moose Creek W. I. Branch was organized, 60 years ago, on June 12th, 1915, by Dr. Annie Backus of Aylmer, Ont. with 13 ladies joining the W. I. as charter members. Two of these members are still living, Miss Mabel Blair (now Mrs. J. T. McLean) of Montreal, and Miss Cassie Munroe of Moose Creek, who will be 92 in September and is still very alert.

Seventeen members enjoyed dinner at the Torch Room in Cornwall on June 12th, to celebrate the day, and on June the 19th we had the pleasure of entertaining the other branches in the Community Hall.

The President, Mrs. E. Brunet, presided for the opening exercises with Mrs. N. Cleary at the piano.

Miss Tessier favoured us with two songs and her guitar accompaniment. Greetings and congratulations were given by our Provincial Board Director, Mrs. Geo. E. McCaffery, of Russell, Mrs. Megan Oudekirk, President, Stormont District and Miss M. Nickels of Cornwall, Home Economist.

Mrs. E. McDermid gave a short summary of the 60 years of our W. I. work.

Mrs. E. L. Blair introduced the speaker, Mrs. Lilian Allison of Chesterville, who spoke on "Where Do You Live", which was greatly enjoyed, and gave us a lot of food for thought in her talk.

Mrs. Gordon McKercher thanked the speaker and presented her with a gift on behalf of the W. I.

J. Boyle rendered several selections on the violin with Mrs. J. Flagerty at the piano.

Duets were sung by Mrs. A. MacGregor and Mrs. S. McKay with Mrs. J. Flagerty at the piano.

A blind auction was an added feature of the evening with Miss Violet MacDiarmid as auctioneer. This was quite lively at times. The auctioneer was so happy with the results of the sale that she gave a step-dance accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Flagerty.

The winner of the draw was Mrs. John Worrall of Avonmore.

The guests were seated at tables decorated in the W.I. along with an Anniversary Cake with candles of the W. I. colors on

A COOLING SIGHT—The heat and the humidity of recent weeks add to the attractiveness of any body of water, especially so in a time of near drought. This camera shot of the Alexandria lake and park beach should bear out that statement.

St. Lawrence San has $403,000 loaned to various borrowers

The St. Lawrence Sanatorium is in the money-lending business. And several members of United Counties council, as well as administrators of the board of directors, appeared surprised at the extent last week.

Two pages of the San's financial statements ending Dec. 31, 1974 show a total of $403,000 has been loaned to townships, counties, banks, school boards and cities over a period of years. The money originally was bequeathed to the San in the wills of area residents.

The local politicians were meeting in an afternoon session to examine the San's financial statements and were told the Glen Walter institution earned a surplus of some $41,000 last year.

The money-lending has been geographically widespread with the city of Swift Current, Sask., getting $12,000 at six and three-quarter per cent interest and the Roman Catholic school board of Sarnia, Ont., getting $11,000 at six and one-quarter per cent interest.

Although there was no general disapproval among council members about such an arrangement, it was pointed out money might be used as an argument against the San when it goes to provincial and county governments looking for financing of renovations and repairs.

Counties warden J. C. Whitteker explained the procedure had started under the San's former administrator Cameron Kennedy who Mr. Whitteker said, lent money to those agencies offering the best rates of interest.

the head table. Mrs. E. L. Blair and Mrs. Brunet cut the cake.

Winner of the door prize was Mrs. Geo. E. McCaffery of Russell.

The Branch received several invitations to the other branches in the next month.

Although the offerings may have been advantageous by earlier financing standards, interest rates are much lower than those offered through banks and other regular lending agencies today.

The revenue fund investments, schedule A, list 30 recipients, including towns, school boards, cities and the General Mortgage Corp. of Canada, which received loans totalling $283,000.

The township of Franklin, in Manitoba, received three loans under that schedule, for $1,000 and $15,000 and $9,000 while the separate school board of Alliston, Ont., received four loans for a total of $27,000.

McCrimmon WI had meeting

On June 16th, the McCrimmon Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Douglas MacGillivray. Mrs. Lynus MacPherson, president, welcomed 24 members and six visitors.

The motto "Investigate before you buy" was commented on by Mrs. Neil Blair with the Roll Call being "The way I spend cents—does it make sense?"

It was decided to send the required display to the Williams-town Fair, which is August 8th to the 10th, under the leadership of Mrs. Angus MacMillan and Mrs. Alexander MacLeod. This entry must be arranged before 11 a.m. The visit to the Maxville Manor will be in August, while the Social Evening in McCrimmon Hall will be August 21st, where the lucky ticket for the quilt is to be drawn.

Miss M. Michels, Home Economist, gave a very interesting, informative talk on Foods, Fads and Fallacies, stating that fad diet is only temporary. No one food is a "Wonder Food." Follow Canada's Food Guide. She was introduced by Mrs. N. Blair and thanked by Mrs. K. MacMillan. It was decided to support the program on Alcoholism in the fall.

The 17th of July meeting will be in the form of a picnic, visiting the Chalet Glass, Cornwall, first at 10 a.m. Each is to bring a box lunch and the drink will be supplied by the hostesses. A pleasant social time was enjoyed while the hostesses, Mrs. A. MacRae, Miss F. MacGillivray and Mrs. K. MacMillan, served a delightful lunch. Mrs. L. MacPherson thanked Mrs. MacGillivray for her hospitality.

Some of the members accepted an invitation from Denis Ethier, MP, on May 29th, when they visited the Parliament Buildings, seeing the piper doll in the showcase for Glengarry, and having a lovely noon meal there.

CWL learns of boat safety

"St. Raphael's has no place to go but ahead," Father O'Brien told the ladies of the CWL at their July meeting. The co-operation and support of the League during his years in the parish had been a constant help, he told the group.

Constable Matte from the OPP detachment in Hawkesbury who was guest speaker for the evening gave an informative talk and slide presentation on boat safety. Mrs. Diane Sturkenboom thanked him and presented him with a gift.

Plans were discussed by the members concerning a pilgrimage to Cap de la Madeleine in August. Conveners were appointed to look after the annual bake sale at Williamstown Fair.

Mrs. Rene Poirier donated a beautiful hand-painted home-made quilt which will be raffled at the Harvest Supper
