WATER SAFETY LESSONS START—School's out and kiddies are flocking to park and beach to be joined by their elders as the warm spell continues. Swimming and water safety courses started Friday at the local beach and a heavy registration is reported. Swim supervisor Andrea Macdonell is caught by the camera as one of her fledgling students gets the feel of the water. Looking on are Recreation Director Bill Upper and council's Chairman of Recreation Jacques Joly. Youngsters in foreground are Ann and John Ferguson, Lancaster; Ginette Menard, Marc Cuierrier, Luc Valade and Rosalie Rice.

New Bank Managers Are House Hunting

New managers at the two local bank branches are now at their posts when not out house hunting. Both are staying at the White Rock motel with their families until finding permanent quarters.

Gerard Gosselin, his wife and three children, arrived Monday from Buctouche, N.B. He is being assisted in the take-over at the Royal Bank by J. A. E. Comeau who leaves Friday to assume new duties in Quebec City.

Ildas A. Desjardins took over his new duties at the Bank of Nova Scotia, Friday, after arriving from Ste Therese with his wife and three children. No stranger to Alexandria he was born at Vankleek Hill, worked in the local branch in 1954 and '55 and was manager at St. Isidore for more than six years before going to Ste Therese.

Concerned With Possible Pollution Of Loch Garry

A suggestion that town or counties' council try to buy the remaining land bordering on Loch Garry to prevent its possible pollution was made to town council at its Tuesday meeting.

Barry Warwick of the Department of Lands and Forests expressed concern with the rate at which the Loch Garry shoreline is being taken up by cottagers. The lake is shallow and already has an abundance of algae and weeds, Mr. Warwick noted. He fears it will not be able to handle possible pollution that might come with still more cottage sites.

The town already owns some 600 acres in the area and Mr. Warwick felt more acreage could be used as a park for recreation and reforestation. The town's water supply might thus be kept free of pollution.

Council invited Mr. Warwick to attend a meeting of the Area Planning Board on July 27th when he might enlarge on his views for the benefit of area officials.

A resolution was passed favoring the town's participation in the Area Planning Board. Councillor Laurier Lefebvre was appointed council representative on the board.

Feed The Meters Starting Monday

The meters will not have been returned to Main Street next week but those still in place on the side streets will have to be fed as of next Monday, warns Acting Police Chief Leo Lemieux. A meter holiday has been observed during the weeks when traffic movement was at its worst but most of Main Street will be open to traffic and those meters still in position will require feeding.

One-way streets have been used for two-way traffic during this period and the police chief declares they will continue in use both ways for the present.

No Shortage Of Water Foreseen Here

There should be no need to restrict the use of water in Alexandria this summer, according to PUC Secretary Ambrose Lalonde. The improvements to the filtration plant should be completed by the end of this month, but meantime the new temporary filter bed is working well and there is an abundance of water.

Youth Lost Leg In Power Take-Off Green Valley Man Gun Victim

A Cornwall youth visiting on his uncle's farm, 9th Lancaster, lost his left leg in an accident involving the power take-off on the tractor, last week, and a Green Valley man is threatened with loss of a leg as the result of a mishap involving his gun.

Joseph A. Bedard, 47, of Green Valley, the father of 11 children, is being treated in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, after his shotgun discharged into his foreleg. Infection could force amputation of the leg below the knee, it is reported.

Mr. Bedard was awakened at 5:45 Wednesday morning of last week when a dog was threatening his chickens. His 12 gauge shotgun accidentally discharged when he slipped after emerging from the house and the shot caught his leg between knee and ankle. His sons administered first aid and he was conveyed by ambulance to Cornwall.

The farm accident involved Richard Dupuis, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dupuis, Cornwall. He was visiting on the farm of an uncle, Euclide Larocque, 9th Lancaster, when the accident occurred about 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

The youth reportedly attempted to jump from the rear of the tractor and his pants leg caught in the power take-off. The left leg was so badly mangled it had to be amputated below the knee. His right foot was also fractured.

J. D. Villeneuve Died Suddenly

A widely known resident of Glengarry who had served as deputy-sheriff of the United Counties, J. Domina Villeneuve of Glen Walter, died July 1st following a heart attack. His death in Hotel Dieu, Cornwall came at the age of 74.

Mr. Villeneuve was a native of Moose Creek who had resided at Maxville through most of his adult life. He had made his home at Glen Walter with a son, Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve, in recent years.

Prominent in the Glengarry Conservative Association he had contested the provincial seat in 1934 for that party. Osie F. Villeneuve, MPP of Maxville, is a brother.

J. Domina Villeneuve was born at Moose Creek in 1897, a son of Frank Villeneuve and his wife, Fabiola Marion. He had been associated with his father in a meat market and droving business at Maxville, continuing the business following his father's death. Since his appointment as deputy-sheriff he had resided at Glen Walter with his son, Father Rudolph.

A member of the K of C and a former member of the Cornwall Club, Mr. Villeneuve possessed a congenial disposition that won him many friends.

Predeceased by his wife, the former Mary Helena Cleary, he is mourned by four sons and two daughters. They are: Rev. Cleary Villeneuve, Nagoya, Japan; Rev. Rudolph Villeneuve, PP, St. Francis.

Rainfall Short This Spring

The high temperature for the past month was 90° recorded on the 30th. This compares with 86 in June '70. The low was 35° on two nights the 1st and 2nd. Last year the low was 36°. The average daytime temperature was 75°, the same as last year, which is above average.

Rain fell on nine days for a total of 2.05" and thunder storms occurred on two days. Only 1.35" fell in June '70 on eight days, with thunder on three days.

The rainfall for April, May and June this year was below average by almost one-third and although higher for the same period last year was still also low in comparison to long term averages, reports George Hambleton, Dalhousie Mills weather observer.

Lucky Winners In July 1 Draws

There were seven lucky winners in the series of draws made at the July 1st park celebration.

Luckiest was Oscar Larose, Alexandria, who won the new car in the 300-club draw of the Lions Club.

The Lions $1,000 draw was won by Mrs. Georges Lanthier, Alexandria and the two $100 auxiliary prizes went to Paul Larin, Alexandria and Mrs. Blais, Alexandria.

Mrs. John Chisholm, RR1 Alexandria, won the Saguenay cruise for two, drawn for by the Progressive Merchants of Alexandria.

The Firemen's Social Club 50-50 draw earned some $200 for a member of the brigade, Donat Deschamps.

The pony and saddle drawn for by the Alexandria Horsemen's Club were won by Mrs. Larry Van Dyke of Ste Therese, Que.

Elected An Officer Of Grand Chapter

At the 113th annual convention of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Canada in the Province of Ontario, held recently in Toronto, R. Ex. Camp, L. R. Hauley, first principal of Glengarry Chapter 143 was elected to the office of Grand Registrar for 1971. Mr. Hauley is manager of the branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in Avonmore and is a native of Glen Robertson.

THIRD OF KENYON'S CENTENARIAN

Members of his family are with John Allan Cameron today, as he celebrates his 100th birthday. A familiar figure on the Alexandria scene through most of those years, Mr. Cameron will be "At Home" to relatives and friends in Alexander Hall, Friday night, following a family dinner.

Now residing with his son, Henry Cameron, on the western outskirts of town, Mr. Cameron is still active about the house. If he is now hard of hearing this is one of the few concessions he has made to the advancing years.

Mr. Cameron was born on the family farm, lot 14 in the Third Kenyon, July 8, 1871, a son of Allan Cameron and his wife, Bella Bethune. With the exception of a few years spent at bushwork in the South Woods and at Tucson, Arizona, he continued to reside in the old home until its destruction by fire, Good Friday morning in 1960. John Allan Cameron looks back on a full and active life. In addition to his farming operations he was the area's builder, repairman, mason and roofer. His skills were in demand when neighbors gathered for a building project and many structures in the Third Kenyon still stand as a tribute to his craft.

Mr. Cameron was always associated with sports and provided ready support for area hockey and lacrosse teams right down to the days of box lacrosse.

Mrs. Cameron, the former Harriet MacMillan, died some six years ago and only six of their 11 children survive to be with him in his centennial year. They are John Allan and Henry Cameron of Alexandria; Alexander and Hugh of Windsor; Andrew of Ajax, Ont. and Mrs. Allan MacDonald of Sudbury.

With Help Of Weatherman July 1st Celebration A Success

The Park Opening celebration here, July 1st, was an unqualified success according to officials of the sponsoring Park & Recreation committee. A financial statement is not yet possible but the box office take was up over last year's and a larger attendance generously supported the various booths, it is reported.

The weatherman played an important part in the day's success. Heavy clouds loomed over town as the parade got underway in early afternoon but only a brief, light shower dampened the enthusiasm of paraders and the thousands who lined Bishop Street. It rained heavily at Green Valley and in other areas of the county through the afternoon but Alexandria escaped with only a dampening of the dust on Main Street.

On the park platform entertainment both afternoon and evening consisted of songs by the Celts of Ottawa and the "Our Town" rock band. Oscar Larose's Atlantic Hotel team won the tug-of-war against a combined team from Carnation and Hawkesbury and Mr. Larose was well rewarded in late evening when his ticket was pulled in the Lions Club 300-club car draw.

Bishop Street proved well adapted to the holding of the parade, its trees offering shade not available on Main. The parade boasted some fine floats, colorful bands and majorette corps, as well as horsemen, antique and decorated cars, clowns and other entertaining features. Though not among prizewinners, the Lions Club bathing scene and the Richelieu Club's Garden of Eden proved popular with the crowd. A Glen Robertson junior float was disqualified by the judges because it displayed beer bottles.

Alexandria TGA's Hawaiian float was judged best, with the farm animals on the Farmers' Union float taking second spot. A winter scene by the Daughters of Isabella took third place. In junior floats, the Young Conservatives placed first, the Alexander School's float

County Court Judge Appointed

A Cornwall lawyer, J. A. (George) Stiles, QC, has been appointed county court judge for the United Counties. He replaces Judge G. E. Brennan who retired recently after 26 years on the bench.

A native of Cornwall, the new judge practised law in Cornwall before serving as a fighter pilot with the RCAF during World War II. On his return from overseas he opened his own office in Cornwall and he is currently president of the SD&G Bar Association.

Three Injured When Truck Rolled

Two young residents of Dalkeith suffered broken legs and a Ste Anne de Prescott youth, Emile Burton, 18, also was injured in a weekend crash, one mile west of Dalkeith. Marcel Audet, 19 and Robert Ferrier, 19, suffered leg injuries and all are being treated at Hotel Dieu, Cornwall.

The three were driving along County Road 24 from Laggan to Dalkeith about 6 a.m. when the delivery truck in which they were riding went off the road, rolled over and burst into flames.

THIRTY YEARS A BISHOP—Some priests of the Diocese of Alexandria, invited by Bishop Adolphe Proulx, presently in charge of the Diocese, met on Tuesday, June 29th, to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the Episcopal Ordination of Bishop Rosario Brodeur. Now aged 82, Bishop Brodeur is retired. He was ordained Bishop, on June 30th, 1941, in the Cathedral of St. Hyacinthe, Que., by His Excellency Bishop Idebrando Antoniutti, then Apostolic Delegate to Canada, now a Cardinal in Rome. Bishop Brodeur resigned his See of Alexandria, on October the 11th, 1966, because of his age. In the picture taken on this occasion are, seated, Bishop Adolphe Proulx, Bishop Rosario Brodeur, Msgr. James Wylie, VG, and standing, Msgr. Alcime Poirier, the first priest to be ordained by Bishop Brodeur; Msgr. Donald Kerr, Rector of St. Finnan's Cathedral; Msgr. Henri Bougie, Archdeacon; Msgr. R. J. MacDonald, Pastor emeritus of St. Columban's Parish in Cornwall. Others who do not appear on the picture were also present at the celebration. Amongst them were Father Aime Leduc, bursar of the diocese, Rev. Rejean Lebrun and Rev. Romeo Major who were the last priests ordained by Bishop Brodeur.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Let The Customers Decide

The new sidewalks look smart, solid and permanent but they are so wide in front of our door they emphasize the narrowness of the street. Our main drag will remain inadequate to cope with traffic, especially if the parking meters are to be re-installed on one side of the street.

Let's face the fact—our main street is too narrow to allow for any parking and we should be studying the alternatives and making the break from tradition before the reconstruction job is completed. This is the time to junk parking meters and provide more off-street parking.

Some members of town council are in favor of a ban on parking but they say their hands are tied because the merchants are dead set against such a ban. That is probably true of many businessmen but we know some who are willing to give it a try. They have seen their volume of business maintained over a two-months period when there was no traffic by their doors, when there were no sidewalks, and yet customers kept coming. Somehow, somewhere they found a place to park and if they were forced to walk to reach the stores, that extra exercise may have been compensated for by the fact they were not forced to feed the parking meters.

Merchants who are most vehement in their opposition to a ban on parking might do well to get the viewpoint of their customers. They might find most of their clients so resent the meters they have long made it a practise to park beyond their reach.

This summer of major surgery on our main arteries surely has shown shopping is not necessarily as dependent on adjacent parking as had been argued for so many years. If, as has been demonstrated, the customer will come back even when she has to walk a plank to reach a store, perhaps the merchant should be more concerned with pricing and personal service than with store front parking meters the shopper may resent. That resentment can rub off on the merchant when a parking fine is imposed.

Before the drill starts biting into those brand new sidewalks to provide holes for parking meters might it not be smart to give a trial to a policy of no parking on Main. Might not our town win a reputation for being really progressive if it could boast it had removed those unarmed bandits that had been preying on out-of-town shoppers for so many years.

Might we suggest each Main Street merchant poll his out-of-town customers. If they don't want the meters why should we be lining a too-narrow street with them.

Still More Staff To Administer The UIC

Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey's new Unemployment Insurance Plan is now in effect and both employers and their employees are feeling the effects in larger payments or higher deductions from payroll. They should be happy to know those increased deductions from salary are not only promising easier benefits to the temporarily jobless. They are, as well, helping to finance still more empire building in Mr. Mackasey's department.

Improved public service is planned by the Unemployment Insurance Commission, according to a release from Mr. Mackasey's office last week. The Commission is re-organizing existing offices "on a large scale" and will open new offices across the country. By the end of summer more than 100 new offices will add to the services provided by the 60 now in full-time operation.

In larger centres, satellite offices are being established to support the work of the district offices. Complete service offices will be located in strategic areas outside the larger metropolitan centres; then there will be partial service offices in rural areas where specialized help is needed. In an effort to provide "a total service to the public" the UIC is also establishing mobile or part time offices in locations where there are smaller populations remote from the services offered in larger centres.

Cornwall will retain its district office and Hawkesbury is one of the centres that will boast a new UIC office. The release does not specify whether Hawkesbury's will be a satellite office, a complete service office, a partial service office or a mobile or part time office.

One hundred new service offices for one operation of government seems more than a bit ambitious and one is left wondering if the intent is to reduce the unemployment rolls by providing a plethora of job openings to staff all these offices. Of course, the benefit periods are being made much more flexible and as a consequence the paper work and other administrative duties will demand more personnel in that branch of the Labor Department.

Improved public service, Mr. Mackasey terms this new UIC setup. There are those who will see it as another form of indirect taxation, the primary purpose of which is to further the empire-building proclivities of public servants in the Department of Labor.

Cruising Down The Raisin

The long dreamed of plan to restore a summer flow of water to the Raisin River appears close to realization and it is possible residents along the river will enjoy the sight of water flowing through a cleaned-out bed of the river's south branch late this summer.

A local contractor, John Chisholm Construction Ltd., is now widening and deepening the intake ditch at Long Sault that will channel water from Lake St. Lawrence into the Raisin. When Highway 2 was widened in that area some years ago provision was made for future diversion of lake water by installation of a tunnel under the road to link lake and river.

Under an agreement with Ontario Hydro, the Raisin River Regional Authority has permission to divert water 100 days a year at 25 cubic feet per second. This should prove adequate to provide a flow down the 28-mile course of the south branch through the weeks of summer when the water is reduced to a trickle and is liable to become stagnant.

That diversion ditch is to be ready in August and in the next few weeks a group of university and high school students will be employed clearing the accumulation of debris from the river bed and its banks. They were to start Project SWEEP (students working in an environmental enhancement program) this week under a $21,000 grant approved by the provincial energy and resources department. A similar grant will provide student employment on the South Nation River.

There are plans, too, for controlling the flow of the Raisin River's north branch by enlarging the dam at Martintown.

That new summer flow in the Raisin should prove a boost for a large area of Charlottenburgh Township and a source of great satisfaction for those who have been working so long to make this dream come true.

Keep A Common Market

If the principle of free trade between provinces is compromised, Canadians lose in two ways suggests an editorial in The Montreal Gazette. First, it is a weakening of one of the truly essential ingredients of national unity. Any restriction on internal trade is quite obviously a divisive force. Secondly, the general public will pay more for the commodities supplied by protected producers serving shrunken markets.

It is difficult to imagine anything more absurd than the provinces of Canada striving for a condition of agricultural autarchy. Yet this is already happening in a limited way and there is no guarantee that the present limits will not be exceeded. The reactions in Quebec and elsewhere to the ruling of the Supreme Court of Canada on the Manitoba egg marketing board have been hesitant and evasive. Each provincial government manages to see something different in its own legislation and agencies, some redeeming feature that permits it to help turn Canada into an uncommon market.

The restrictions applied against imports from other provinces for the benefit of egg producers in Manitoba and Quebec and broiler-chicken producers in Ontario signify a belief in the possibility of provincial self-sufficiency. It is a vain and short-sighted belief. Meanwhile, the public pays unnecessarily to sustain producers who cannot compete, or are not allowed to compete, in a free market.

It is not yet clear whether the Supreme Court of Canada has succeeded in putting a stop to the so-called chicken-and-egg war. It will take some time to sort out the ramifications of its ruling that the Manitoba egg marketing board is unconstitutional. But it certainly casts doubt on the legality of any provincial agency or restriction whose purpose is to control the inflow of a commodity from another province.

The Supreme Court judgment says in part that the Manitoba board "is designed to restrict or limit the free flow of trade between provinces as such."

"Because of that, it constitutes an invasion of the exclusive legislative authority of the Parliament of Canada over the matter of the regulation of trade and commerce."

This does not seem to leave much room for any interference by one province with inter-provincial trade, whatever the motives.

Spokesmen for Fedco, the Quebec egg marketing agency, cannot settle the issue simply by saying that they see no effect upon their operations. It is a serious matter when the public is forced to pay more for eggs or any other commodity through trade restrictions. It is even more serious when these restrictions are suspected to be unconstitutional.

A Different Story

(Renfrew Mercury-Advance)

Premier Bourassa did the popular thing when he rejected the latest plan to amend the constitution. Popular, that is, in Quebec. Whatever the merits of his objections to the Victoria formula, it will be the fact that Quebec said no that will linger.

Prime Minister Trudeau's idea of Canada just isn't what Quebec has in mind. One united nation might have been possible 100 years ago—we don't think it is today. There may have been two founding nations but more and more, Canada is evolving into English-speaking and French-speaking cultures. Quebec cannot be considered just another province in talks about constitutional amendment, she must be considered a nation within the Canadian framework.

There is a good case for considering Canada as five regions, the Pacific, the prairies (Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba) Ontario, Quebec, the Maritimes (and Newfoundland). When you think of Saskatchewan taking part in constitutional talks then think of Montreal or Toronto — both have a bigger population than Saskatchewan.

Quebec's "difference" has been pooh-poohed for many years with opinions that separatists were only a lunatic fringe, and that more money, or the threat of less, would silence Quebec's separatism.

Today it is a different story; Quebec is a nation and the future will see her with very special status or separate. If you don't think so, review Canadian affairs since 1960.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

PROUD OF IT

St. Raphael's

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

I was frankly not surprised at the narrow-minded arrogance typified in Mr. Stewart L. Crawford's letter published in the July 1st edition of your paper and which advocated the implementation of the English language as the sole official language in Canada.

It just so happens that my native tongue is French. I speak it, and I am proud of it; but, on the other hand, since I live in Ontario where the majority is English-speaking, and because I love my province, I have made the effort to learn English and I feel deeply rewarded for it. But no one can convince me, not even Mr. Crawford, that depriving me of the use of my native language will contribute towards solving the problem of Canadian unity. Mr. Crawford has expressed an opinion consistent with the way of thinking which inspired Ontario's Regulation 17, during the first war, a way of thinking long since abandoned legislatively for its prejudice and arrogant unfairness.

Today, an estimated 6,000,000 French-speaking Canadians live in Canada. That Mr. Crawford would even dare suggest that Canada's economic, political and social structure should refuse to accept six million Canadians claim to use what is after all only their own language, can only contribute to the fuel of ignorance of Canadian reality constantly wrecking whatever bridge is being built between the two founding races.

I suggest that Mr. Crawford, the Canadian Loyalist Association and all others who support a snobbish spirit of so-called "tolerance" for French-speaking Canadians, look again at the facts of Canadian reality, and transcend the narrow-mindedness of their retrograde and naive solutions to problems of Canadian unity.

In conclusion, I suggest that the many problems we have in Canada between French and English will never be solved by suggestions evidently illogical and selfish such as those advocated by Mr. Crawford and the Canadian Loyalist Association.

SNAKES ALIVE

The gateway to the Thousand Islands, Gananoque, faces a problem that is plaguing that town's council. Should council throw the door open to establishment of a snake park that might prove an added tourist attraction in that summer resort area; that is the question.

Actually Gananoque's council saw no reason to question the original application of a Windsor man to move his snake exhibition to their town. It sounded like good tourist bait and council gave quick approval. That was before the Gananoque Reporter's story hit the street and less than a week later council had an irate citizenry's petition to deal with and had called a special meeting at which said approval was rescinded by a 5 to 1 vote.

Meanwhile the owner of those reptiles had moved them from Windsor to Gananoque and now he is threatening to sue the municipality. Seems council was so intent on stopping the reptilian invasion it neglected to rescind its original motion approving the move.

Snakes alive are something a Rambling Reporter doesn't even want to see on television. As far as he's concerned the early bird can have the worm and the mere sight of a bloodsucker or an eel is an invitation to an upchuck. Squirming, slithering members of the reptile family have no place in this Garden of Eden we call Glengarry and if it takes a snake park to attract tourists yours truly figures the tourists are welcome to go elsewhere.

Our sympathy is with those Gananoque citizens who petitioned to halt that reptilian invasion. That snake charmer may be looking for another town to bring his tourist bait to and town council is warned not to welcome him here. If it does we'll quit rambling long enough to hurry up a petition against a snake pit here. It takes all kinds of people to make a world, we realize, but darned if we can visualize the type of tourist who would take a gander to Gananoque, or anywhere else, to see snakes. Better they stayed home and drank themselves into the dt's.

Let's not have too rainless a summer, though; lest we get it again in the form of another record snowfall.

THINK BACK TO WINTER

Last week's issue was our 26th of this year and that number on our masthead brought the realization that half of this year of 1971 has already slipped into history. The way the weeks are flying by it'll be no time at all before we're welcoming another new year. And long before that, summer and fall will have given way to the cold blasts of winter.

That's a chilling thought even when the sun is beating down in the midst of a heat wave. Last winter was so hard to take the dread of another such lingers on.

And that can prove useful in getting us through summer's more humid days. "Kinda hot today," we observed in passing, but the fellow wasn't having any of that. "This is a pleasure if you'll think back to mid-February," he rejoined.

And he had something there. We could look back to December and January, and March, too, and recall all the days of the long snows when we were yearning for just such a sun as is proving a bit on the hot side now. After living through that winter of record snow and swirling blizzards we should all count ourselves sun worshippers, for didn't old sol finally rid us of those high banks of dirty snow?

That dreadful winter should serve a useful purpose in getting us through the hottest and most humid days of summer. So Main Street is a dusty mess and cars are taking it easy over the temporary gravel surface. Think back to Thursday, March 4th, when skidoos had the street to themselves and the stalled motorist plodded through foot-deep snow. Recall those poor pedestrians breaking trail over the snow-blanketed Mill Square, the wet feet one suffered struggling to a store only to find the disgruntled merchant had locked up and gone home.

That was a winter calculated to make us truly appreciate the months of summer we're knowing now. Maybe it's the memory of all that snow that shocked us into realization that the year's already half over and summer will have been and gone before we know it. We've earned our fun in the sun this year. Let's make the most of the warm weeks ahead.

HYMN SING AT MUSEUM ENJOYED

Enjoying a beautiful Sunday afternoon a great many people attended the annual Hymn Sing sponsored by the Glengarry Historical Society on the grounds of the museum in Dunvegan. In charge of the program was Rev. Fritz Vanderwal, formerly of Moose Creek, who is presently minister of the Presbyterian Church in Upper Melbourne, Que. Incidentally, this is the church portrayed on the Canadian two dollar bill. Chairman of the museum building committee W. A. MacKinnon spoke briefly, welcoming the visitors and drawing their attention to the newly erected windmill, and an additional piece of land east of the grounds which has been donated to the Society by Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Walker.

The old, familiar hymns were sung with enthusiasm and goodwill musical accompaniment by Mrs. Eileen Campbell with a piano very conveniently moved down on the back of Leslie Clark's truck. There were two duets by the father and daughter team, Art and Nancy Radbourne of Ottawa, who accompanied themselves on their ukuleles. They sang "Amazing Grace" and "In the Garden".

GHS president Mrs. Marjorie Crowley expressed her pleasure at the good attendance, and mentioned the many interesting and enjoyable meetings the Society holds through the year. She emphasized that visitors are always most welcome at these gatherings. The children came to the front and sang their special hymns, then there was a duet by the Radbournes "Peace in the Valley" and Nancy sang a lovely solo "Were You There?" Mrs. Mora MacLeod invited guests to visit the museum while they were there, and Rev. Vanderwal reminded the gathering of the importance of such respites of peace and tranquility, in the midst of today's overly busy world. A lunch and social hour followed, all the details of a very successful afternoon capably arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil MacRae.

PLAN FOR LIBRARY

Mr. Herman Nyland, director of the Regional Library Service, had another meeting with the Library Committee of the Maxville Branch. Applications for the position of librarian were considered, and plans made to have the premises all ready before the furniture arrives about August 25th. This would include laying the recommended carpet, and an effort is being made to finance this locally.

A tentative schedule has been drawn up, with the library open for about ten hours a week. Seven to nine p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and two to five p.m. Saturday afternoon. Since the bookmobile will no longer be calling at the schools, a time-table of some sort will have to be worked out to allow these children to use the library, and particularly the ones who come in from the country and have to go home on the bus. A whole day will probably be allowed for their use.

Actually the whole schedule will be set up on a trial basis for at least six months. Reading habits in the district will be determined, and local patrons will have time to offer suggestions and advice.

Fitness Awards Tests To Be Held

Canada Fitness Award tests will be given for youngsters from the ages of seven through seventeen on July 12th, 13th and 14th. They are being given by the Parks and Recreation Dept. of the Town of Alexandria. The tests are being promoted by the Fitness and Amateur Sport Directorate, Dept. of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa.

The plan is based on six performance tests which can be carried out simply and quickly. They are:

- One minute speed it-ups.
- Standing broad jump.
- Shuttle run.
- Flexed arm hang.
- 50 yds. run.
- 300 yds. run.

Enjoyed Reunion Ferry Command

Mr. and Mrs. Ken MacLeod of Lancaster, attended the Royal Air Force Ferry Command Reunion in Montreal, June 11th to 13th. A very enthusiastic response to the opportunity of renewing acquaintances with men and women of the "Ferry Command" resulted in a gathering of almost 600 in attendance for the three-day affair which ended with the unveiling of a Memorial Plaque, honoring the members and those who lost their lives in the service of "Ferry Command".

Mr. MacLeod served as a Civilian Flight Engineer for 4 years during which time he visited practically all the Theatres of War in the delivery of bombers from North America to the different places, including some 26 different countries from Australia to India.

The meeting of old friends and flying partners added up to the most rewarding and enjoyable occasions, marking the 25th anniversary of the disbanding of the command.

95 to 100% will earn the individual a gold crest, 80 to 94% will earn the individual the silver crest, and 55 to 79% will qualify for the bronze crest.

Evidently different degrees of achievement must be attained for different age groups. All children and teenagers are welcome to test their physical fitness on July 12th, 13th, 14th from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Glengarry District High School.

The best protective equipment you can ever own is already yours — one pair of eyes. Just knowing what's going on around you helps you avoid job accidents.

So it makes good sense to look after your eyes — so they'll look after you. It's a good habit to protect your eyes, if your job makes it necessary. And if your eyesight's not up to par — have your eyes checked. You need them.

Take care of your eyes, and they'll see you safely through the working day.

A report from your
Glengarry Agricultural Office

Pat Killoran
Assistant Agricultural Rep.

CORN

Corn growers who haven't recently checked their fields might be advised to do so. A few observations made at this season of the year can often assist in planning and making decisions for the following year.

A number of annual grasses such as foxtail and crab grass as well as nut sedge are continuing to build up in fields under continuous corn. These species are not effectively controlled with applications of atrazine and oil. It may be necessary to change your spray program another year to include a pre-plant application of Sutan or a pre-emergent application of Lasso or Bladex.

A type of subterranean cut worm has hit a number of fields in the country. It is a pinkish, brown worm which partially girdles the corn plant below the soil surface. The extent of damage is variable from a 10% to possibly 90% loss on some fields. We in the Department of Agriculture are interested in knowing the extent of damage and would appreciate any reports on infested fields.

SWAMP FEVER IN HORSES

We have had a large number of inquiries about Swamp Fever or Equine Infectious Anemia in horses. These have been generated not because this disease is more prevalent than in previous years but because the disease was recently declared a named or reportable disease and a test was developed to determine positive or carrier horses.

The program of testing was only initiated in March 1971, by the Health of Animals Branch of the Canada Dept. of Agriculture. Named the Coggins test, it is only compulsory at certain race tracks or where animals with clinical symptoms of the disease are reported. This disease has never caused any great economic loss in the area and we believe is no more prevalent than ten years ago. A large number of horses are reacting to the test however and the testing program could cause greater economic loss than the disease itself. If a person submits his horses for voluntary testing he should be prepared to deal with the consequent results. If horses react to the test the owner has two options. He can destroy the horse or have it and his premises quarantined. Quarantined means stabling the horse and not turning it out to pasture.

We would suggest that horse owners delay testing until more information is available to the public and a more definite and logical program has been established.

Mr. Trudeau and his followers? Are not the farmers themselves to a great extent to blame for this development? The "Air of Death" program showed a farm for sale because its owner had sprayed his grain bins with carbon tetrachloride without using a mask, resulting in destruction of two-thirds of his liver by the fumes he injected into his blood stream through his lungs and his skin.

It is sad to see how farmers every day are destroying their health by careless handling of such toxic substances. They will handle them without gloves or a mask, spray a field with the wind blowing the fumes in their face—not to mention the tractor fumes which contain deadly carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide and hydrocarbons.

Then the poison is carried by the rain into the drains and streams' cattle drink from and into their own and their neighbors' wells, while at the same time the fertility of the soil for future crops is reduced by the destruction of earthworms, beneficial insects and useful bacteria. And before it reaches the ocean, it has contributed to the poisoning of many plants, trees, fish, animals and people.

Could it be true, as some day, that it is the devil who is behind it all (Rev. 13) in order to bring about the fulfillment of the Bible prophecies of disaster, disease and death preceding the "last days", so that he himself may appear and claim to be Christ returned to save the world from complete destruction?

When our Lord was asked what to do about the weeds, He said to leave them alone till harvest time. (Matt. 13). Maybe His advice was better than that of our modern "experts" after all!

Dorothy Hope Graham.
