He received a royal send-off to the skirl of the pipes played by a Glengarry lassie, Pipe-Sergeant Ruth MacMaster of the Glengarry Pipe Band. Ruth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith MacMaster, Mastermuir Farm, Laggan. With the Governor General are Winter Fair officials.

Early Construction Of Senior Elementary School Planned In Alexandria By Board

First sod may be turned as early as next week on construction of the French senior school to be erected on the east side of Sandfield Street South, here. Construction will definitely start this fall, the SD&G Separate School Board announced early this week. It should be ready for occupancy next September.

It will be the first flexible open-concept type school to be erected in this area.

Not to exceed the department of education's ceiling of $925,000, the new school will be one storey, covering 40,000 square feet. It will be built in a traffic circle type form with a central open lobby holding all the school's lockers.

Halls will fan out from the main foyer. Grade 7 and 8 pupils from eight schools will attend the new school, which will be able to accommodate some 500 pupils.

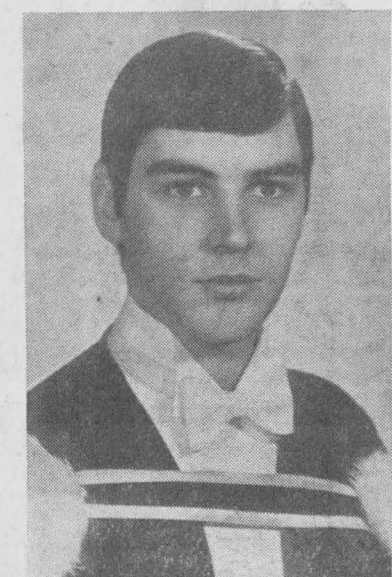

Pupils will come from Alexandria, Williamstown, Maxville, Dalkeith, Glen Robertson, Green Valley, North Lancaster and Lancaster.

Planning for the new school has been continuing since March 1969 when the Board requested approval from the Ontario Department of Education, reports Board Chairman Lindy Latour of Cornwall.

Addition To Maxville Manor Ready For Official Opening At Year's End

Construction of the new wing at the Maxville Manor is right on schedule and the building will be ready for occupancy on Dec. 31, as planned.

Five acres of additional land were purchased to the west of the Manor and the main extension here is for 52 beds. Twelve beds will. In a statement last week-end he detailed how the decision was reached for an open plan school after trustees had visited this type in Montreal and Ottawa. The architects were instructed to design a school that has the flexibility to change from an open plan design to a modified conventional design with the least cost and inconvenience to the users of the school. After studying the problem the architects recommended a type of building known as Educational Building Systems (EBS).

GETS B.A. DEGREE—Bernard G. Larocque, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Larocque, Alexandria, was recently awarded his Bachelor of Arts degree from Loyola College, Montreal. A graduate of Glengarry District High School, Bernard is presently taking the secondary school teacher-training course at the Ottawa U. Faculty of Education.

EBS is a series of pre-engineered parts which are standardized and pre-manufactured, then assembled on the building site. Equivalent to 70 per cent of the building, the systems work covers structure, heating, electrical, lighting, roofing and casegoods. The other 30 per cent, which will probably be done by area contractors, includes foundation, landscaping, ceilings, and all painting and floor finishes.

At least 40 per cent of the building will be air conditioned, Mr. Latour reports. He continued, "The school we are building is flexible to the extent that if the school population should ever move it could be changed into commercial or even manufacturing space."

For special care are being added at the south side of the main building. An extension is being made also to the crafts and adjacent rooms, which will double their size, and make adequate accommodation for the increased number of residents.

The roofing and walls have been completed on the extensions, and workmen are putting in wiring and plumbing and finishing all the rooms inside. Contractor is J. R. Couture of Cornwall.

Fire regulations, which allowed some wood in the construction of the original building, have since been changed and the new wing is entirely steel construction.

Besides the residents' rooms, the new wing has space for a small laundry, a storage room, and a large trunk room in the basement. All furnishings have been ordered and are expected in early December. Many attractive trees were left at the west side and the extensive grounds will be landscaped in the spring.

The central furnace and kitchen facilities were installed with a possible extension in mind and are adequate to service the increase in residents and staff. The kitchen will require only more dishes and some hot serving carts.

The Dec. 31 completion date is being eagerly awaited by the large number of residents ready to move in and almost the entire wing has been applied for. Plans are presently being made for the official opening, which will probably take place during the holiday season.

Red Cross Drive Netted Over $4,000

The drive for funds for Glengarry Red Cross proved most successful, reports Campaign Chairman Gilles Roy. His final report shows $4,119.15 collected.

He reports wonderful co-operation from team captains and canvassers right across the county and a most satisfying public response.

New Bridge Is Officially Opened

The chairman and members of the Cornwall Suburban Roads Commission are pleased to announce the opening of the Black River Bridge, across the Raisin River, on County Suburban Road No. 18, approximately 3.7 miles west of St. Andrews West, in the Township of Cornwall.

The old bridge, which was built about the year 1910, was a steel truss type structure, with timber deck on concrete abutments. The span was 48 feet, and it accommodated only one lane of traffic. The new bridge is a three span structure, with a total length of 84 feet, and a roadway width of 29 feet.

The new bridge, which is located approximately 175 feet north of the old site was built on dry land, and after it was completed, a new channel was excavated and the stream diverted through the structure. Long Sault Construction Limited was awarded the general contract. Construction of the stream diversion was carried out by the County Road Department. The total cost of the project was $50,000.

The Commission plans to complete road improvements in the vicinity of the bridge during the 1972-73 construction seasons.

Let Contract For Hamilton's Island

Long Sault Construction Ltd. of Long Sault has been awarded a $62,540 contract for remedial shore protection works on Hamilton's Island.

Public Works Minister Arthur Laing said the firm submitted the lower of two qualified tenders. High bid was $64,500. Hamilton's Island is east of Summersetown.

About 6,000 tons of stone and 2,000 tons of fill will be used in the 2,400 foot riprap protection. The protection will arrest the high rate of erosion along a portion of the island which fronts on the St. Lawrence Seaway channel.

Since the embankment to be protected has been developed as a recreational facility by summer residents, care will be taken to protect lawns, trees and water intake lines.

The work is to be completed in two months.

Hope To Clean Garry Riverbed Under Federal Incentive Program

A program costing an estimated $45,162 and employing 22 men through the winter has been set up by town council and was forwarded to Ottawa yesterday for approval under the winter work program.

The work envisaged would include brush clearing along the Garry River and around the lakes, cleaning the riverbed between Loch Garry and the Delisle River as well as removing dead trees from the parks and roadsides. Painting and repairing the PUC building and other municipal property not already improved recently could be done in April and May after the river work was completed.

Total cost of labor is estimated at $38,600 and a 17 per cent allowance for materials and transportation would add $6,562 for a total outlay of $45,162.

The provincial incentive program allocates another $3,554.91 to Alexandria on a per capita basis and it will be used to accelerate the recreation program. Two extra men will be added to the payroll and they will keep rinks on Bishop Street South and the lake clear of snow as well as organizing more activities. They will also tidy and clean up around the arena.

Barry Warwick of the Department of Lands & Forests was present to review the proposed agreement and council passed the by-law authorizing management of its Loch Garry acreage by the department. Reforestation will be the primary goal, with provision of environmental conditions for wildlife. Control of floods and erosion, protection and production of water supply and recreation will be byproducts. Council will be free to disprove any activity by the department.

Nature trails and picnic areas for groups such as Guides were other possibilities suggested by Mr. Warwick.

Nine tenders for purchase of a town tractor were considered. It was sold to the high bidder, Gerald Gibbs, RR3 Alexandria.

Strength of the fire brigade is being increased from 21 to 25. New members are Constable Roger Levert, Gerald Leduc, Raymond Theoret and Raymond Gagnon.

Served 36 Years As Court Clerk

Peter J. Morris of Alexandria, has retired from his post as Clerk of the Second Small Claims Court here, after 36 years. Succeeding him in that post is Mrs. Hilda Tobin who took over in September and has her office in her St. Paul St. home.

Members of the local Bar recognized the long service of Mr. Morris in court here, Tuesday when G. G. Aubry QC spoke warmly of the long association and Duncan J. MacDonald, QC, made the presentation of an inscribed pen and pencil set. Judge Brennan and his secretary, Mrs. Lillian Snet-singer also added their good wishes.

Other court personnel present included Mrs. Tobin and Marcel Major, bailiff.

Sells Business

Omer Poirier has sold his Alexandria Livestock Exchange business to George Shonker of Lancaster Commission Auction. The last commission auction was held Wednesday of last week.

The sale did not include Mr. Poirier's auction barns and he intends to continue in the livestock business in which he has been involved for 23 years.

Even Haggis For St. Andrew's Concert

The Glengarry violins, the singers, dancers and other entertainers will be there in full force and next Tuesday's St. Andrew's Concert in Alexander Hall, here, will even feature the haggis.

Program Chairman Angus H. McDonnell will be charged with carrying in the haggis which will be a product of the Highland Chief Farm kitchen. Encoined in a sheep's bladder, the haggis is the national dish of Scotland and those at the concert with sufficiently strong stomachs may be allowed to sample the delicacy.

Pipe Band Honors Archie MacDonell Whose Piping Looks Back 55 Years

At the Glengarry Pipe Band's annual Fall Concert, last Saturday, Piper Archie MacDonell MM, of Greenfield, was made the band's only honorary member. Tributes were paid by the MC, Grant MacGillivray, who referred to Archie's military career, and by band President Morlin Campbell, who spoke of his time with the band and the example he has always been to other members. Pipe-Major David Danskin then presented Archie with a framed certificate, indicating his honorary membership.

Archie went overseas as the youngest piper in the 154th Battalion, SD&G Highlanders during the first war. Transferred to the Canadian Scottish, he served with them throughout the war, winning the Military Medal in France. He then spent some time in another famous regiment, the Black Watch.

When the School of Piping was formed in 1967, Archie was one of the first to enroll, and as the president said, when Archie missed a parade, you always knew why.

The concert itself was extremely successful, drawing the largest crowd ever to attend a band concert. This was largely due to the presence of The Celts, the Ottawa entertainers, who handled the last half of the show, and then played for dancing. These lads are top-flight entertainers, and when asked to sing "The Road to the Isles" in Gaelic, for residents of Maxville Manor, they did so immediately.

The first half of the show featured the Glengarry Pipe Band Concert Party—the band, the Glengarry dancers and singers Robin Upton and Gerry Matthews, who also helped keep the show moving, all in all, a very good evening.

A performance which drew tremendous applause was a novelty

Fine Tree Until Bulbs Snatched

The PUC staff was proud of the fine Christmas tree installed on the office lawn Tuesday afternoon. The colored lights beamed through the early evening darkness until bulb snatchers went to work that night and robbed the tree of much of its glow.

More than a bit incensed, PUC Secretary Ambrose Lalonde warns they will be sternly dealt with should they return.

Three temporary blackouts in various sections of town recent nights have been caused by overloads on transformers, he reports.

is submitted individually to the ratepayers.

As outlined in the plan on page 7 of this issue the water works projected would be owned by the province and would cost an estimated $583,564, half of which would be paid by the Ontario Government. Estimated service rate would be 127.3 cents per 1,000 gallons of water supplied to the municipality, together with frontage rates, connection charges and an annual charge of one mill on all rateable property.

Frontage water rate is estimated at 50 cents per foot per annum on abutting lands or those connecting to the mains. The connection charge will be $20.71 per annum and domestic users will pay $65 per year as a flat rate. There are higher special rates for commercial users.

Two wells have been developed capable of producing 175 gallons per minute and a standpipe 100 feet high and with a 25 foot diameter would be erected at Victoria and North Beech Streets.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Opportunities Limited

The survey conducted here by the Ontario Housing Corporation showed a higher proportion of senior citizens to the total population than is the Ontario average. That is not surprising and it is probably true of most small towns where opportunities for high-paying employment with the promise of advancement are very limited.

The over-emphasis on the elderly is not a new thing in Alexandria and its causes are easily discernible. Most of our young people seeking the good life are drawn to the cities where most large industry is centred. Many of them probably would prefer to return to small town living after the novelty of the city wears off but for that fatal flaw. Opportunities for advancement are few and far between in the smaller centres.

Most of our young adults almost inevitably head out for greener pastures and end up in the concrete jungles of our cities. And as the small towns and rural areas are being drained of most of their more venturesome youths they are attracting those who have retired from the farm, and the cities-elderly who may seek to recapture the slower-paced life of the small town where their retirement dollars could prove more adequate.

It will always be thus, at least until more enlightened government gets seriously to work on decentralization of industry. Even then the big city will lure most of those who have schooled themselves to great expectations.

That survey also evidenced the fact the average number of children per family is higher in town than in Ontario as a whole. That is no doubt as true of the rural sections of Glengarry and those two sets of statistics constitute another argument against the present practice of financing most of the cost of education through taxes on real estate.

We of the small towns and villages, and even more so on the farm holdings, are being burdened with the cost of educating the larger part of the school population. Most of those who take the greatest advantage of educational opportunities are destined to use that acquired knowledge in the larger cities or in service elsewhere to big industry or overgrown governing bodies.

The home-owner in town, and the farmer forced to pay an inordinate part of the cost of educating children whose knowledge and acquired ability is destined for service in the cities. Even after they have raised and educated a family, the senior citizens are left with much of the burden of training a new generation that is city-bound.

It doesn't make sense. The cost of education that looms so large on the municipal tax bill should long ago have been absorbed one hundred per cent by higher levels of government.

Hello, Down There!

The world keeps shrinking under the onslaught of speedier systems of communication and that is as true of the Glengarry scene. Better roads and faster cars have brought every section of the county closer one to the other and extension of the free calling areas by Bell Canada is serving the same purpose.

Alexandria, Glen Robertson and the former Lochiel exchange area are already in the same orbit and on Sunday the free-call zone is being extended to take in subscribers on the Lancaster exchange. As of Sunday morning Billy Bonnie Brier, way north at McCrimmon, will be able to call up Buster MacDonald, down there in South Lancaster, and Ma Bell won't demand a cent for the call. Johnnie Willie Billy D. MacLeod, at Pine Grove, will be free to talk to his daughter in Lancaster without any such thing as a direct distance dialing beep beep.

That's progress. It's bringing most residents of the county within easier talking range and it will probably be only a matter of time before the Maxville and Martintown exchanges are brought into our free calling zone to provide instant communication right across Glengarry. That narrow neck along the St. Lawrence that is still listed on the Cornwall exchange might more properly now be transferred to Lancaster which will be in the same free-calling zone.

Bell subscribers at Lancaster are going to be in an even happier position, come Sunday, than their northern neighbors. Not only will they be linked in a free zone with Alexandria and Glen Robertson; they get open sesame to Cornwall and Martintown, too. Only the Maxville exchange will involve toll charges from Lancaster.

Mind you it's not all for free. Bell Canada has to pay for all those electronic installations that make for smoother, faster service. The more telephones that are brought into the free calling area, the higher go service charges. But the increase is not that much and we imagine most Bell subscribers will see the benefit outweighing the cost.

Ye editor certainly welcomes the Lancaster area readers into this closer contact. He hopes they will feel freer to pick up the phone and give him news of doings down along the Front. If they want to give him the odd advertisement, that won't hurt his feelings either.

Happy we are to be getting this easy rapport with our Lancaster friends. This move by Bell we see as a blessing but we do have reservations on the Company's latest request for a general increase in service charges. That extra 40 cents it is asking monthly of local subscribers does not loom very large but it comes on the heels of recent increases in long distance charges that could hit the pocketbook much harder. People in the habit of gossiping over the long distance wires are going to be paying till it hurts for the privilege.

These inflationary times are hitting Bell Canada, too, as witness the strike threat by Bell girls. The Company can't be faulted for needing more income, but must these increases in rates all come at once?

We Have A Right To Know

The Trudeau Government has again been caught with its credibility down in the uproar that followed publication of the Gray Report in the Canadian Forum magazine. The timing of that unauthorized report on a confidential government document may have proved embarrassing to Ottawa officials, busy trying to counter the U.S. surcharge. Cabinet denial of decisions long since taken, though, flouted not only Parliament itself but the people's right to be informed. The government's approach may prove even more an embarrassment.

Public Opinion polls show a steady ebbing of popularity for the Trudeau Government and there is no corresponding rise in popular support of the Opposition parties.

Let's Get Back To Simple Arithmetic

Where can I come up with a good office girl who can type and keep books, a local businessman asked us? We knew of two whose services might be available, but we couldn't recommend them. Another employer had remarked on their weaknesses in spelling and typing. They could not produce a clean letter for his signature and he was trying to steel himself to look for replacements.

The educational levels of young people looking for employment are often deplorable. They lack penmanship, if one is to judge by the juvenile scrawls on business forms reaching us from large city offices. The ink eraser has been widely used on typewritten forms and spelling errors are still common. No doubt the adding machine is an indispensable aid to those weak in mathematics; it can even multiply and subtract if given enough time.

What has this new math done to a generation of paper boys who appear to be totally untrained in mental arithmetic? They may be able to multiply 38x7 if given time and paper, but most are incapable of working out the answer in their heads?

An official of a large insurance company at Ottawa expresses himself as aghast at the educational lacks of young applicants seeking work. Each year only 250 of a thousand applying for jobs with his company are hired. All with a minimum of high school graduation, these youngsters face a simple test of reading, writing and arithmetic skills. This year only three of every five made the grade. Only 51 per cent of the answers were correct; and one is left wondering how many of those might have been educated guesses.

Eighty-two of 100 could not do simple interest; sixty-eight could not calculate a simple problem in percentage. Fractions found them almost as weak.

University-trained staff are not much brighter, this insurance executive found.

That suggests the fundamentals are not being learned in primary school and if secondary school graduates are so weak in mathematics surely a reassessment of the worth of the new math method of teaching is long overdue. There are educationists who doubt its efficacy but we see no evidence that the Department of Education is having second thoughts.

Today's youths are anything but morons and so a school system that is not instilling the basic skills must be at fault. A return to the three "R's" at the primary level seems indicated.

The Weeklies Say

WRONG CHOICE

The sad fact is that the maverick we now have as prime minister was the wrong choice of the Liberal party for any purpose except winning the last election. — Yellowknife (NWT) News of the North.

Parlance Vs Music

(The Ridgetown Dominion)

We need to redefine so much of our common parlance in order that in its synoptic significance it would become the lingua franca that is music.

Strength would mean courage and support, not force and domination.

Work would mean the pleasure or being of use to oneself and the community.

Pleasure would mean the satisfaction of work well done.

Leisure would be that state of mind and body in which both work and pleasure are seen as indivisible.

Love would mean service of the highest kind.

Protection, that which is offered but never imposed.

Discipline, that which is summoned from inside, never from outside.

Progress, that which is concerned with the wildest conception of man's needs and never at his cost.

Freedom, that liberty one does not enjoy at another's expense.

OUT OF BOUNDS

Snowmobile enthusiasts must have been cussing the weekend rains that wiped out the first snow. They had been out in force the previous weekend and it must have been frustrating to have to return their machines to temporary mothballs.

At least one of those early snowmobile jaunts left tracks on the golf course and club officers have asked your Rambling Reporter to make a special plea to the snowsled set to stay off the course this winter. Some $2500 was spent last month in improving the course and just a few irresponsible snowmobilers might wipe out all that work.

More than 100 new trees have been planted across the fairways and what a speeding snowmobile could do to those saplings wouldn't be funny. The tees have been enlarged and are covered by new sod that hasn't had too much time to set. A snowsled skidding into a turn on that new grass could leave a bad impression.

The course is being marked with "No Trespassing" signs and golf club officers ask the co-operation of owners and drivers in order that nature may have a chance to complete the process of improvement just started.

If you please to drive on the golf course, want wait until next summer when you will be welcome to drive a golf ball straight down the middle of improved fairways.

Reminder to snowmobilers—
Don't cross their t's or golfers will feel like dotting your i's!

WHEN TRAVEL WAS TESTING

Montreal's city limits are just about an hour away with today's cars and roads but it was not always that fast a trip. The Official Road Guide of Canada for 1912 has been reprinted and it makes interesting reading, notes a columnist in the Ridgetown Dominion.

One of the provincial motor regulations of that day concerned the speed limit:

"A motor vehicle shall not be driven at a speed greater than six miles an hour within the limits of a city, town or village, nor at a speed greater than fifteen miles an hour in any other locality."

Information on road conditions and routes in 1912 includes this assessment of adventures to be met along the St. Lawrence front.

The road from Brockville to Montreal was most exciting. Between Brockville and Prescott there were three tollgates.

At Prescott, the Road Guide said, "Leaving here the roads get worse, although they are not really bad until Cornwall is reached. Best plan to ship car from Prescott to Montreal."

At Cornwall the directions for those who have ignored the suggestion to take a boat, continue "Cross a small shaky wooden bridge in swamp, taking special care not to run through Four Corners, a quarter of a mile beyond."

At Cascades Point "Turn left wretched stretch of road. At Farmhouse on the river bank. Necessary to find and arrange with a French habitant to row one car at a time across to the Isle Perrot. May occupy one hour or three and the charge is $2.00."

At Isle Perrot a similar ferry and evidently the tourist has become a bit fed up with the whole trip for the instructions read "Look up another slow-going Frenchman, who will take car across to mainland for $3.00."

Maybe that's why Montreal is such a wicked city. Visitors were taking ferries there 60 years ago.

WE GO WITH IVAN'S ARGOS

Toronto Argos will be playing in their first Grey Cup game in almost 20 years come Sunday and a lot of local fans don't rate their chances of beating Calgary Stampede too highly. We've got a couple of bucks to bet on Ivan MacMillan's boot so if anyone wants some easy money he'll know where to find a sucker.

Judging by the final play-offs in East and West the Stamps should run away with it. That wide-open brand of fast, hard-hitting football provided by Calgary and Regina was a lot more impressive than the dull hit-or-miss variety shown in the Eastern playdowns. In fact it can be said that seldom has the East put on such a woeful football production right through the season. Only Toronto had adequate quarterbacking and the Argos coasted into the play-offs well equipped with two top signal callers.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM MAXVILLE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Vallance and Mrs. Verna MacGregor were in Almonte on Thursday attending a general meeting to assess the need, and community support for a residence like the Maxville Manor. Mr. Vallance was one of the speakers at this well-attended gathering. Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Johnston of Montreal, were Sunday guests recently with Rev. and Mrs. Iver D. MacIver. Hugh Smith is making a good recovery at home after his recent illness.

If you still have not done all your Christmas shopping there is another chance — St. Andrew's ladies are having their annual Christmas Bazaar, Bake Sale and Tea on Saturday, Dec. 4th.

After years of being one of the most hazardous intersections in the county the St. Elmo and Maxville road corner is being graded and visibility improved. We'll all probably drive out now and get creamed anyhow.

One sports trophy came home to Maxville this week—the Junior Girls' Basketball team won a decisive playoff against Vankleek Hill on Thursday.

Mrs. J. N. Fitzgerald has returned home after spending several days in St. Eugene.

A group of residents from Maxville Manor enjoyed complimentary tickets to the Pipe Band concert this week. More entertainment is scheduled for the next few days—on Monday the Walt Disney film "So Dear To My Heart"; on Tuesday the McCrimmon Women's Institute are putting on the birthday party for the ten residents whose birthdays come in November, and on Wednesday the Young at Heart Club has invited everybody to an old-time singing in the Community Hall. A very useful aid for this sort of gathering is a song book printed in very large type, with about eighty old familiar songs in it. These are available from the Department of Social and Family Services in Toronto.

Another lady winner this week in the Lions' Club 50-50 draw—Mrs. Douglas Nevin.

C. Clifford Morrow of Regina, who was attending the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. W. M. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Morrow, Betty and John, at Morrowdale Farm.

The last euchre party until after Christmas will be held at the Manor on Wednesday, December 1st at 8 p.m.

CWL MEETING

The Maxville CWL held their monthly meeting on November 11th, with several members present. The meeting opened with the League Prayer led by Mrs. Gaudet. The minutes of last meeting were read by Mrs. Harvey Scott. The correspondence was read by the president. Congratulations to Joanne Thauvette, winner of the CWL Bursary. A discussion followed based on a questionnaire of great interest about Church Life today. The meeting adjourned, closing with a prayer. Lunch was served and a social hour was had by all.

DIOCESAN MEETING HEARD PANEL

Several members of the Maxville CWL attended the diocesan meeting held in Glen Walter. The meeting began with a Mass with Monsignor Wylie officiating. There were six priests present. Father O'Brien opened the meeting with the League Prayer and members were welcomed by Father Desrosiers. Present for a panel discussion were Bishop Proulx, Judge Bergeron and Mrs. Enid MacDonald. Bishop Proulx spoke on "Women in the Service of the Church". Judge Bergeron spoke on the "Legal Right of Women" while Mrs. MacDonald spoke on Women's Rights in general. She said that women must not sit idle. They must continue to demand their rights. There followed a question and answer period which was very enlightening to some of us who do not always know the answers. The meeting closed with a thank you to the panelists, after which a delicious lunch was served.

UCW HEARD TALK

The Fall Thankoffering meeting of Maxville United Church was held on Tuesday, Oct. 26th at 8 p.m. in the church. It was very well attended by Maxville members, also ladies from other community churches of Moose Creek, Apple Hill and Monkland. Although the gentlemen had been invited, Rev. Henderson, alone enjoyed the wonderful message later given by our guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Gwen Swift, a newcomer to our community who has recently purchased the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Rowe.

General UCW president, Mrs. Hector Runions presided and extended warm welcome to 52 ladies. Mrs. Elmer McDermid read from John 10 (9-17) and Mrs. C. B. McDermid continued in prayer. Miss Marilyn Campbell played the beautiful spiritual "How Great Thou Art". Another spiritual "Count Your Blessings" was sung by all. Mrs. Harold Willis presented a short lesson "What Does It Mean To Be Alive?"

Mrs. Harold Blaney introduced Mrs. Gwen Swift who gave a heart-rending presentation of her work over the years—especially later years as public health nurse in Lochiel and Kenyon. Mrs. Swift emphasized throughout, that man must re-establish an individual concern for his fellowmen in order to overcome the tragic circumstances of some of our community families.

Mrs. Robert MacIntosh thanked Mrs. Swift on behalf of all present.

Apple Hill UCW announced their annual bazaar is to be held on Nov. 13th in their church and ladies enjoyed an hour of fellowship with lunch.

If Toronto can manage to look half as good on the Vancouver tartan turf as they loom on paper Calgary should be outclassed.

We have a theory the weather has a lot to do with the sustained tempo of those play-off games in the West. It's so cold in Regina, Edmonton, Winnipeg, and even Calgary, the players have to keep moving or form an icicle. So they keep hitting and running. The referees have one primary goal, to get the game over in the least possible time and get back to warmth. So they don't slow up play with two many penalties.

It shouldn't be so cold in Vancouver, Sunday and so perhaps the Calgary Stampeders won't be so hot.

tor and assistants in the area. The people have been a wonderful consolation with their willingness to cooperate for the success of the Community Hospital. We might have volunteer doctors from Canada or the United States to teach and help our doctors in this area, as up until now even Caesarian Sections have been done under local anaesthetic.

There are many beautiful things to share with my friends back home regarding this project. It really has taught me much to see people who have nothing but do so much trying to improve their community.

to give us His Peace so that we will be open to listen to His whisperings of Hope. For you all, I pray that you will grow in Love and be open to the needs of Christ's poor. Very often in our own richness we are His poorest.

Let us together pray for peace in the world and that the developing countries will grow to find that there is such a thing as dignity, justice and love for men.

SPORTS

in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

Just a few football observations on the eve of what is termed "The Great National Binge"—Grey Cup weekend.

One evening last week we drew up a chair beside editor Gene's desk in the News office to chat on the latest news excerpts. These are always pleasant moments.

This occasion was an exception. Editor Gene, pointing with his pipe stem to an obvious old football club picture leaning against the counter, said, "There's a picture for your Highland Chief mini sports hall of fame from our mutual friend Jim Hill, Williams-

We carefully placed the 24x21 frame on our knees and slowly checked the names below each player cut of Ottawa Rough Riders, Canadian Football Champions 1900. That would be Grey Cup champs today. There was the famed D'Arcy McGee, "Bouse" Hutton, Harvey Pulford and then J. Stuart (Lancaster) Rayside. We paused right there.

We have written reams of copy on Glengarry old time athletes in general and the prowess of our football players in particular and although information is authentic there are always some 'Doubting Thomas' fans in the wings. At least we were scanning visual proof.

On Saturday afternoon we settled down in our den with the picture now leaning against our fireplace. We had the mantle radio beside us to alternate with CTV and the Argo-Ticat game and the CBC play of Western U Mustangs-Alberta Golden Bears for the Canadian Intercollegiate championship. (We will close our stint with reference to the latter game).

When Ivan MacMillan jogged on the field for his first field goal attempt, we glanced at Jim Hill's picture (sincere thanks for your thoughtfulness Jim) because here we thought that history would repeat 71 years later as Ivan MacMillan, we hope, gives Glengarry another name to be inscribed on the football champions of Canada plaque.

What better setting to enjoy the Eastern final? We did until we listened to Ernie (CFRA) Calcutt in commenting on Ivan's accurate booting relate that although he didn't read the article Montreal's Tex Coulter had written that Ivan's post kicking jump in the air with hands upraised was "bush". Terry (CFRA gm) Kiely opined that sometimes sport writers inject a controversial note for sake of attention.

Well Mr. Coulter for your information, and obviously you require being briefed, Ivan MacMillan is about the most modest teenager who ever hit the pros. Just check with Ottawa and Toronto sportscasters and writers if you think this is a hometown (Glengarry) opinion.

Mr. Coulter when Ivan MacMillan was cut by Ottawa coach Jack Gotta, a move Gotta regretted to make due to finances. Ivan reported to Argos and just like many, many baseball, football and hockey pros Ivan could hardly wait until he played against his old club. Not with rancour in his heart just pro desire to comeback and haunt his former teammates. That feeling, too, is history as you so well know.

That game took place and as Ivan lined up in the Argo Double-Blue for his first field goal try against Riders he was needle jabbed by their front wall including a shout, "You are going to choke Ivan." Ivan didn't and when he saw the ball sail through the uprights that human check valve on pressure released and Ivan leaped with hands upraised almost as high as the flight of the ball, to quote a Toronto scribe. That wasn't bush, Mr. Coulter, that was only a human athlete's gesture of immense satisfaction. That has become his trademark, signalling a field goal before the officials do. Anything wrong with that bit of color, Mr. Coulter.

Finally, Mr. Coulter, if "Red" O'Quinn had signed Ivan to replace George Springate and in that last Als-Rider game at Lansdowne when all you needed was one field goal to move into the semi-final against Hamilton, if you had had MacMillan you would have won that game with points to spare. Then would you have called Ivan's after kick gestures "bush"? Amen.

Although not generally known in the Glens, we kept in touch with the College Bowl at Varsity Stadium because Terry Harvey was a star for Western especially on two great pass catches, one resulting in a major. Terry is married to Susan MacDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Innis MacDonald of Ancaster. His mother-in-law is the former Isobel Dolan, daughter of Ourtown's Dr.

Moderator Of General Assembly Welcomed By Presbytery At Avonmore

On the occasion of his official visit to the Presbytery of Glengarry, the Very Rev. Dr. Murdoch Nicolson, Calgary, Moderator of the 97th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, warned that the coming days would be difficult ones for the Christian Church.

Dr. Nicolson, who was elected to the Church's highest office last June, spoke a reassuring word as he told of the devotion and love that he has witnessed in recent months as he has visited the Church across Canada and its far reaching missions overseas.

The Moderator, renowned for his eloquence in the pulpit, preached the sermon at the evening service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Avonmore, Sunday. Dr. Nicolson based his message on the Apostle Peter's encounter with his Master, wherein he was confronted with the probing question, "Lovest thou me more than these?"

Rev. W. E. Sayers, MA, Moderator of the Presbytery of Glengarry, conducted the service of worship and welcomed the members of Presbytery—the ministers the men, the women and young people from the various congregations within the Presbytery.

The choir of St. Andrew's Church led in the service of praise. Miss Wendy Lang sang as a solo "No Other Song Have I to Sing but Jesus". Mrs. Neil Bush presided at the console.

In the fellowship hour that followed in the church hall those present had the opportunity of meeting the Moderator and Mrs. Nicolson.

Under the chairmanship of Rev. Mr. Sayers, there was a question and answer period in which the principals of the local schools have also offered co-operation.

The police were recently approached by members of a national youth organization which is gov-

One of the main requirements for membership is a local board of directors and this is in the planning stage.

ODAF DATA

A report from your Glengarry Agricultural Office

by J. Y. Humphries

FREEZING MEAT

Locally processed meat is being used to a greater extent each year for storage in home freezers. All custom slaughter and processing plants in Ontario are now licensed and under inspection of the Veterinary Services Branch of ODAF insuring a clean wholesome, disease-free product. We do receive numerous inquiries about freezing food products and an excellent bulletin entitled "Notes on Home Freezing" is available. The most common cause of deterioration in meat products is freezer burn due to improper wrapping.

LOSS OF MOISTURE CAUSES FREEZER BURN

Freezer burn on frozen food is caused by loss of moisture. It indicates long storage or poor handling of food.

Moisture is lost if frozen foods are partially thawed and then refrozen. This can happen in over-loaded frozen food counters or with a rise in storage temperature during transport or in retail stores. To maintain quality of frozen food, temperatures just below freezing (32°) are not low enough. Quality is maintained only at 0° or lower. Low temperature itself does not guarantee quality. A torn package or wrapping that exposes food to the cold dry air of the freezer allows moisture to escape by evaporation, and freezer burn results.

Freezer burn is characterized by a change in color. Large chalky white areas or dark patches appear on poultry. Red meat like beef becomes light pink and may have gray spots. Vegetables will fade to a pale green. The loss of moisture also results in loss of flavor, dryness and poor color in the cooked product.

CATTLE DISEASE FORUM

We are continually faced with new disease and nutritional problems as well as the old ones in the livestock industry. Changes in management practices, feeds available and markets have produced some new problems.

The Glengarry Holstein Club in co-operation with ODAF is sponsoring a "Cattle Disease Forum" on Tues. Nov. 30 in the Green Valley Pavilion. The annual meeting of the Glengarry Holstein Club will be held at 10:30 a.m. to be followed by lunch and a program from 1.00 to 3.00 p.m. on Cattle Diseases and their Control. The program will be in the form of a panel discussion moderated by Dr. George Fisher of the Regional Veterinary Laboratory at Kemptonville with five practicing veterinarians. Cards will be available for cattlemen to submit written questions to the panel. We think this session will be most interesting and valuable to cattlemen. An invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

Grant Cameron, Fieldman for the Ontario Milk Marketing Board, has made arrangements to be available in the Ontario Dept. of Agriculture & Food Office, the third Thursday of each month, from 1.00 to 4.00 p.m. to meet producers with problems or requiring an explanation of quota or pay. He will be in the office December 16, January 20 and February 17.

MAKE A DATE FOR DECEMBER

The Ontario Silage Conference will be held at Toronto on December 15th and 16th. Top speakers from Canada and the USA will be on the programs as well as Ontario farmers who have pioneered and made a success of silo systems. Jim McCague from Alliston, Wally Gallagher from Laurel, and Murray Selves from Seaford, are a few of the Ontario farmers who will report on silage systems for dairy, beef and swine.

Readers of Hoard's Dairyman will have an opportunity to meet with Louis Longo and Professor Hoglund as they are both on the program. The guest speaker at the banquet on December 15 will be George Jones. It should be worth the trip just to hear him as an ex-civil servant.

Do you want to know what crops to grow? How to preserve them? How to feed them? Check with your local Agricultural office for registration forms. A limited number of people can be accommodated at the conference. For about $40 you can have two days of a program that is really top plus all you can eat. Plus a couple of days of meeting the smartest and most progressive farmers in the province, in the country, in the world.

WHAT'S UP!

Dec. 10-7 p.m. Annual meeting Glengarry Ayrshire Club, ODAF Boardroom.

Dec. 17-1 p.m. Annual meeting Glengarry Crop Improvement Association.
