FARMERS GIVE IT AWAY—Canada is losing farmers at the rate of 1,000 a month and though increased prices for foodstuffs are a factor in the rising cost of living the price paid to the primary producer may actually be decreasing. These were points the Glengarry local of the National Farmers Union was striving to stress when it organized a

McCabe, Jackson Guest Speakers At Sportsmen's Night

Eddie McCabe veteran sports columnist with the Ottawa Journal is to be the guest speaker at the annual Lions Club sportsmen's dinner, Monday, May 10th. Backing him up will be Russ Jackson, star quarterback with the Rough Riders until his retirement last year and principal of Champlain High School in Ottawa.

Assistant sports editor of the Journal and a sports commentator with the CBC, Mr. McCabe has spent 25 years on the sports trail and is known for his ability to reminisce on highlights of the past as well as on the current scene.

Montreal Alouettes will be represented at the dinner by Terry Evanshen, starry pass catcher and by Gene Gaines, playing backfield coach.

The Junior Glens will be present in a body to take a bow and student athletes from area high schools will also be grouped together.

Quigley's Sells Quota To Kraft Will End Operations On Friday

Quigley Cheese Manufacturing Association will take in its last milk on Friday and cease production that day.

Its milk quota has been sold to Kraft Foods Ltd. for $106,000 and the $37,000 Ontario Government grant for quitting business will provide more than enough money to meet the $137,000 debt. That includes $60,000 invested by members of the co-operative.

The deal with Kraft is subject to approval of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board but this is considered merely a formality by Association officers.

The plant will remain an asset of the Association and officers are hopeful they will be able to find an industry to occupy it. Three weeks ago a manufacturer of plastics looked favorably on the plant but found the water unsuitable for his use. The firm would have employed 25 reports Sec.-Treas. Morlin Campbell and he hopes another payroll will be found.

Most of the Quigley staff have found other work and Plant Manager Henri Giroux is going to the Schneider plant at Apple Hill.

Opened in April 1964, the Quigley's plant has found it impossible to continue operations under the milk quota system now in effect. Recently it had been down to two vats a day, dependent on local milk shippers entirely.

It will be some months before the business details can be cleaned up and under terms of the agreement with Kraft the charter will not be surrendered until 1974.

SNOW BANKS IN MAY—It's moving day May 1st but some of our record snow banks didn't get the message this year. Most of the Glengarry landscape has lost its blanket but patches of snow remain and shady areas may still have some of the stuff come June unless we know warm rains and a stronger sun. The 10-foot bank shown here is alongside Highway 34 just north of the Beaudette River bridge. Donald Vincent McDonald, who lives across the road, gives an idea of its height.

School's Model Parliament Brief When Liberal Government Defeated

The majority Liberal government in the GDHS model parliament enjoyed but a brief life span when the PC and NDP members voted as a two-party block against the proposal to legalize marijuana.

The opening of parliament took place on Tuesday afternoon coincidental with the opening of the House of Commons in Ottawa. Here as guest speaker was Jack Cullen Lib. member for Sarnia-Lambton.

The speech from the throne included a variety of proposals—protection against pollution; the preservation of natural resources; legislation to insure the rights and equality of all citizens; an amendment to the abortion bill to enable women to obtain abortions more easily and without economic prejudice; a system of student employment and increased financial assistance for post-secondary education; an active stand on conservation and preservation of endangered wildlife; a continued programme of bilingual services; effort to economize in government spending; a reduction of NATO forces; the legalization of marijuana and decrease in penalties for use of drugs; machinery for compulsory arbitration to minimize the frequency of strikes; measures to provide greater opportunity for Indians and Eskimos in Canada. The first bill the new parliament chose to present was the one on marijuana which was defeated 23 to 19.

A lively question and answer period followed the throne speech all of which was video taped for future use.

The model parliament will have no further sessions during the term. Its particular purpose was to make the students aware of their responsibility to vote and take an active part in government affairs in the future.

Expect To Have Library Open In September In Top Floor Of Former Post Office

Plans to proceed with organization of the public library in Alexandria were approved Tuesday night at a meeting of the SD&G County Library Board in Cornwall. Mrs. D. J. Baxter, local representative on the board, was in attendance.

Herman Nyland, head of the County Services was instructed to open negotiations with the Alexandria Council with regard to the space in the old post office. Tentatively the library will be placed in the old customs quarters on the second floor. An appropriation of $2,800 for furnishings was approved by the board. Renovations will start as soon as an agreement has been reached with council.

The Alexandria library has been made possible by a special grant of $10,000 from the Department of Education. Part of this money will be used for establishment of a library in Alexandria, the rest for a branch in Maxville. Negotiations with Maxville interests are also to start soon.

A large number of books has already been made ready for the Alexandria branch. The collection will be in both the French and English languages. A collection of reference books is on order.

The local library advisory committee in Alexandria is composed of Mrs. D. J. Baxter, Mrs. Lloyd McHugh, J. P. Touchette and Rene Gauthier.

It is the intention to open the library at Alexandria in September, if all the preparatory work can be completed. The board has not yet taken a decision on opening hours. However, it is anticipated that the library will be open most evenings from 7-9 and at least a couple of afternoons. Such hours, even after they have been set, will have to be adjusted later on to the pattern of borrowing.

Anyone wishing to donate books to the library can deliver them to the home of Mrs. Baxter. They will be shipped to Cornwall for registration and collation.

Auctioneer Albert Faubert Had Part In Post-Sale Robbery Attempt

Albert Faubert, local auctioneer and reeve of Kenyon, had a rather unnerving experience Saturday night, when he was involved in an attempted robbery following an auction sale near St. Isidore.

Two armed and masked robbers entered the home of Armand Ranger, who lives 1 1/2 miles west of St. Isidore, in search of some $15,000 proceeds of the auction sale held earlier.

They left on the run with but $13 in silver, contents of a money bag which Mr. Faubert had thrown at them to speed their flight.

The attempted robbery occurred at 9:45 p.m. in the kitchen of the Ranger farm home where Mr. Faubert, his sales clerk, Mrs. Alex Willard of Alexandria, and Mr. Ranger had just completed settling the books of the auction. Proceeds were $14,839, reports Mr. Faubert, and he had pocketed his sizable commission. The balance of cash and cheques was on the table in front of Mr. Ranger and there were another seven people in the large kitchen, members of the Ranger family.

As Albert tells it, the door was flung open and two hooded bandits came in, armed with pistols and wearing raincoats and black gloves. "Hand over the money," the first man ordered in English. Mr. Ranger put the money and cheques in his pocket and grabbed at the gun hand of the front robber. He backed away with the gun pointing at the people and robber No. 2 yelled "Don't shoot, don't shoot!"

"That gave me confidence," reports Mr. Faubert. "I grabbed the money box and as the bandits were backing out the door I threw the box, hitting No. 1 on the head." He ducked, grabbed the box and both men disappeared into the darkness.

Members of the OPP from Hawkesbury were on the scene within a half hour and road blocks were set up but the robbers apparently made good their escape.

A rather shaken auctioneer and his sales clerk were given police protection home and Mr. Ranger's sales proceeds were stored in the bank at St. Isidore after the manager had been roused from his bed at 2 a.m.

It was the first time anything so startling had happened to Albert Faubert during 27 years of auctioneering and he'll be happy if there's no repeat performance.

Improvements To Community Centre Under Employment Incentive Program

Painting and other improvements to the community centre and work on the new police quarters in the former post office building will be partly financed under Ontario's employment incentive program town council hopes. At Tuesday's meeting it was decided to apply for the special $1 per capita grant which will pay the cost of labor on undertakings which would not be undertaken normally at this time.

The budget calls for $1728 for painting the interior of the centre and moving spectators seats from the east end to the area to be heated. Another $1280 will go for labor in relocating partitions and erecting a three-cell prisoner block, painting, etc., in the first floor of the post-office building.

The police budget presented to council calls for expenditures of $48,480 this year. Applications for places on the fire brigade were received from Harvey Leduc and Jacques Trotter.

The Richelieu Club will be hosting a regional Congress here on June 12th and Jean Clement was present to ask that the mayor play host at a civic reception. This was approved.

Formal notice was received from the CNR of its application to have its Alexandria agent removed.

Counties council informed that the town's request for a committee of adjustment to handle land development deals had been tabled. Clerk-treasurer Don Collin pointed out that if the counties has no such committee by Dec. 31, 1973 all applications for real estate transfers of this kind will have to be approved in Toronto.

Kenyon Council Opposes Regional Government Idea

Kenyon Township council is opposed to the Ontario's Government's plans for regional government. At a special meeting last week it endorsed a resolution from the council of the city of St. Catharines which calls on the government to delay implementation of plans for regional government which has been proven inefficient and costly. A copy of the resolution appears in another column of this issue.

Tenders are being called for a system of central heating in the township hall at Greenfield.

Among accounts was a payment of $500 to Roland Leduc, Dunvegan, covering loss of two purebred heifers to dogs.

Cecil MacRae, Dunvegan, was appointed building inspector and dog tax collector. Dog taxes were raised to $3 for males, $5 for females and $20 for a kennel.

Contract for the Apple Hill drain was awarded to Raymond Lalonde, Apple Hill, at $1,085.

Slow March Competition Eliminated At Games In Favor Of Medley

Clan MacMillan, holding its North American clan gathering in the Montreal area at the time, will be present in force at this year's Glengarry Highland Games to be held in Maxville July 31st. George MacMillan, eldest son of Sir Gordon MacMillan, clan chieftain, will officially open the Games.

The announcement came Saturday night at a dinner meeting of the Games committee held in Maxville Curling Club. Representatives of the Ontario Pipers and Pipe Bands Association were present and at their suggestion it was decided to drop the slow march competition. Instead the Class A bands will play a medley of tunes of their choice for a period of from 5 to 7 minutes. Prize money is being increased and the champion band will win $650 in addition to its trophy. There will be increased prize money in other classes as well.

This year's Games will have more sports events it was decided.

IT'S OUR OPINION

A Pioneer Property Never Looked Better

Officers of the Glengarry Golf and Country Club get a chiding this week in a letter to the editor. Hugh MacMillan takes them to task for razing one of Glengarry's oldest buildings, the Col. Alexander Chisholm home, in order to replace it with a new clubhouse.

Mr. MacMillan is not too biting in his criticism of the golfers, though there is the inference they are well meaning but ill informed from a historical and architectural standpoint. They might have decided to properly restore the old house, he feels, and they would have had the most unique clubhouse in Ontario.

As a member of the golf club executive we think it only fair to point out that that group was fully aware of the historical significance of the club house they had been occupying for ten summers. The decision to tear down the building was not taken without a measure of regret and if the local club had had unlimited funds at its disposal there might have been consideration given to restoring the original log walls and adding needed facilities in a setting that would really have been unique.

Mr. MacMillan does not suggest where the restoration money might have been raised and he certainly should be aware of the Glengarry Historical Society is far from flush enough to furnish a few hundred thousand dollars for such a project.

The new clubhouse will be a modest structure, built to the needs of the club at a very limited cost. Competent construction men had found the original building not adaptable to enlargement at any practical price and there was the further factor that space is at a premium on the local course. There was no alternate site on which to build a new clubrooms and so the old house had to make way for the new.

We share Mr. MacMillan's zeal for items of historical significance, up to the point where the past is permitted to weigh too heavily on the future. When he writes, "we need stiffer laws to force people to stop..." our spirit of independence is left cringing. In our view there are already many too many laws aimed at restricting the freedom of individual choice and that observation leaves the impression Hugh's job with the Ontario Archives has moved him up among the mandarins. We doubt he took the time to think that suggestion through.

It is regrettable that one of Glengarry's oldest homes had to go, even in the name of progress. The original log house had long ago been hidden from view by additions, though, and Colonel Chisholm's contribution to the early Glengarry scene will remain apparent in that lovely long lane and the inspired landscaping of his property that made it a natural site for a golf course.

We golfers may have dealt harshly with a once-fine old home. But to counter-balance that it can be counted in our favor that Colonel Chisholm's acreage has never been so green and so appreciated by so many people who can hardly wait to get back on the fairways.

It Was An Orderly Protest

Farm people were giving away milk and eggs on Main Street, Saturday, and it is a sorry commentary on our times that such a demonstration is considered essential as a means of protesting the price the producer is now getting in a high-cost environment. The give-away was organized by the National Farmers Union local and similar protests have been held in other Eastern Ontario towns.

The message is there for urban residents to digest. Farm prices are often below the cost of production, or at least so low there is no room for even a modest profit on operations. There is no just relationship between what the farmer gets for his food products and what the consumer pays over the counter. Ergo, let's give it away and thus point up the fact that under today's system of economics the farmer is working for practically nothing and is not responsible for the high over-the-counter prices of most foods.

It is all those middlemen who are kicking the prices of food to the consumer, the militant farmer is emphasizing. The warehouse owner who provides storage, the wholesaler and the retailer must be assured their profits before food is priced in the store. The bottler, packager, labeler and the advertising agencies add to the retail cost and yet when consumer organizations protest the cost of foodstuff it is usually the primary producer who is criticized for high prices.

Saturday's demonstration was also intended to point up the fact many farmers are being forced to leave the land because of low returns for their labor. Government policy is aimed at getting rid of the fringe farmer, of concentrating production in larger units. Already we are experiencing shortages in some products and there is the prospect of serious food shortages some day when economists in government will have been proved impractical in their planning.

Commenting on another such give-away of milk and eggs at Renfrew the Ottawa Journal sees the need for one strong farm organization. It editorialized in part:

The farm people need an organization as they have never needed it before—a strong, solid, literate, down-to-earth organization that will speak for all farmers and lay their cards on the table before government departments. And this means all farmers, be they apple growers in British Columbia, wheat producers on the prairies, dairy, hog and poultry farmers in Ontario and Quebec, potato growers in the Maritimes. Yes, the growth and development of such organization has been slow, painful, perhaps erratic, mainly because farm people, rugged individuals as they are, never like to be pushed, bullied, or cajoled into anything. They prefer to do their own thinking and make up their own minds. But uniformity in agriculture is coming, for the one simple reason that it had to come to prevent chaos in what has always been, and let us hope always will be, one of the finest and richest agricultural countries in the world."

Perhaps Canadian farmers will one day be forced into one giant organization for their own protection but we see little advantage to society in such a development. They will have become desperate before allowing themselves to be compressed into such a mold and the militancy of so powerful a union might create more problems than it would cure.

Saturday's give-away of food was a peaceful, orderly demonstration that caused no disruption or interference with the normal routine of our town. As such it was much to be preferred to the picketing and disruption of services more militant unions inflict on society.

It is to be hoped the message gets across, not so much to townsmen who should be aware of our dependence on a healthy farm economy, but to those in key government roles who appear unsympathetic to the plight of the primary producer.

Pseudo-Thrift In Education

The Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation is embarked on a publicity campaign to make the public aware of its position in the three-sided confrontation over education policy. The Department of Education has imposed limits on the spending of area school boards. In turn the trustee boards are passing on the spending restrictions to the various schools by way of a 20 per cent cut in spending on supplies and equipment and an increase in the pupil-teacher ratio.

The teachers are especially concerned with the latter which will result in a decrease in the number of teachers hired and an increase in the size of classes. In one area high school, they estimate, 47 per cent of all classes will have more than 30 and some will run to more than 35 students. Such classes are too large for a teacher to handle competently, they say, and the inevitable result will be a lowering of the standard of learning in our schools.

Its effort to lift the department of education's restrictions on spending are further complicated by the fact an election is pending in Ontario and Premier Davis is probably embarked on a policy of reduced spending in education in an attempt to woo voters who have shown themselves thoroughly disenchanted with the high cost of education. Mr. Davis is not likely to heed the teachers' demands if it involves spoiling his new image with the electors.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

WHAT PRICE PROGRESS?

Willowdale, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

By the time this gets in print another Glengarry landmark will have fallen to the wrecker's hammer in the name of progress. I refer to the Glengarry Golf clubhouse, built by Col. Alexander Chisholm who resigned as a Captain in the Royal African Corps to come to Glengarry in 1817. He married Janet Macdonell, granddaughter of John Macdonell of "Leek" related to the Chisholm Chief. He was our MLA from 1834-40.

What price progress? In the area of preserving buildings of historic or architectural merit, it more often than not means the destruction of some worthy landmark that could be preserved providing local groups such as our Historical Society were on the alert. A survey of early 19th century Glengarry buildings has been ably conducted by Velma Franklin under the auspices of the Glengarry Historical Society and the Archaeological and Historic Sites Board of Ontario. The Chisholm house (later purchased by Stuart McCormick's grandfather) would have been included in the survey, and rated as well worth preserving.

The value of such surveys is greatly decreased when it is possible to tear down such historic buildings without any protest from the public. We need stiffer laws to force people to stop and think before such actions are begun by well meaning, but ill informed (from a historical and architectural standpoint) owners of such buildings.

Marion MacRae who is from Glengarry wrote a book entitled "The Ancestral Roof". This was about 7 years ago and in that short time about one third of the buildings she photographed and described have been torn down. Not all communities tamely submit to such unenlightened means of progress. Sometimes, like the knights of Columbus hall Alexandria, we just cover them with asphalt.

The town of Elora has a most attractive early 19th century stone post office. The Federal government told the town of Elora it was to have a modern, up-to-date steel and glass building they could be proud of, after they tore down that old eyesore. The people balked at such stupidity and they still have their charming stone post office. It is not often people get to strike such a blow at this type of bureaucratic ineptitude.

Who do we blame for the destruction of this fine early 19th

Survey Startles MP ?

(The Carillon News, Steinbach, Man.)

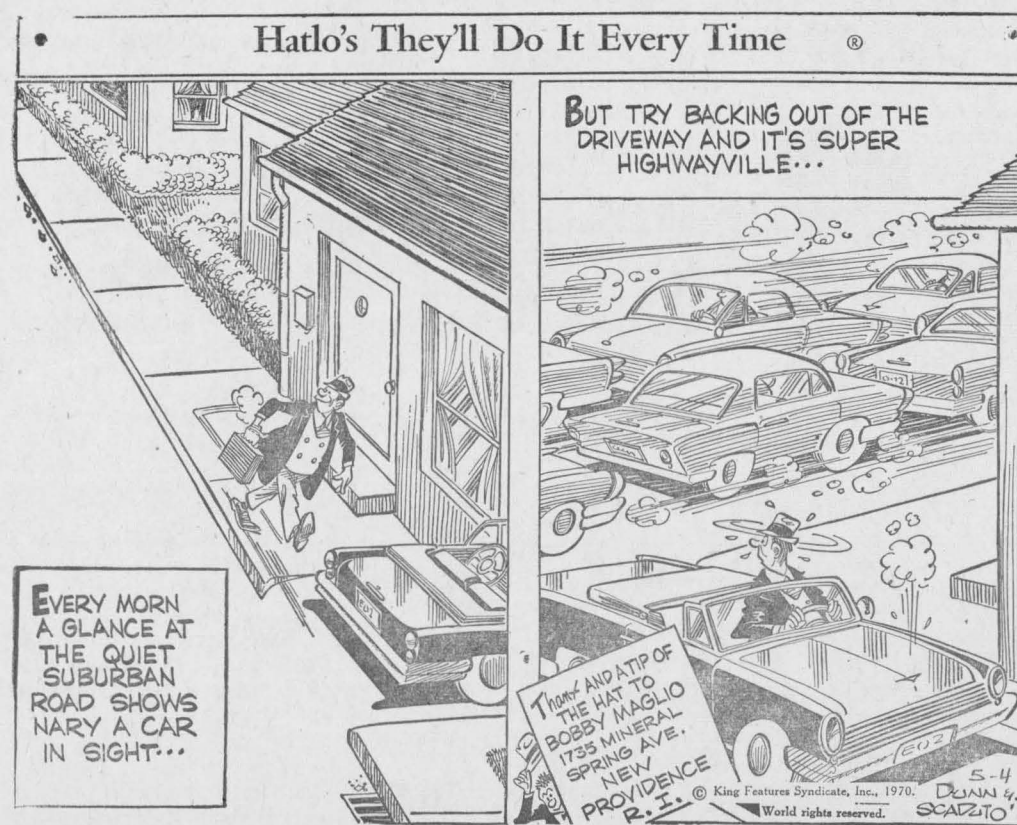

A recent story from Ottawa tells about a member of parliament making a thorough survey in his constituency, and his surprise at the results of the survey.

For instance, the member of parliament discovered that his constituents were overwhelmingly in favor of the implementation of the War Measures Act, they are willing to pay more to fight pollution, and that they are strongly opposed to proposals on the White Paper on Taxation.

The MP said he was "startled" by approval given to the question: "Should wage and price controls be instituted if necessary to govern serious inflation?" The answer was yes in a 6 to 1 proportion. Contrary to an opinion in Ottawa's Health Department, there was extremely strong opposition to relaxing laws on marijuana, and there was strong support for banning cigarette advertising.

The average elector may be slightly surprised to learn that the federal representative knew so little about the opinion of his electors, but that is the way it is with a great many of our people who get into parliament. Once safely established in the House, they seem to get out of touch with their constituents and they take on a more sophisticated view from the top down. Even worse, they are surrounded by "advisors" who have all the answers—and the answers are generally based on what these supposedly clever people think is good for the party.

The interesting part of this survey is the sad commentary that only the Member of Parliament—the people's elected representative—didn't know the feelings of the people in his own riding.

WITH OUR RAMBLING REPORTER

A PLACE FOR WOMEN

Could be the gals have gone too far with their Women's Lib movement and a backlash is developing among the poor downtrodden males.

The kitchen used to be considered exclusively woman's domain but now television presents a galloping gourmet who has the gall to tell housewives how to cook. And they seem to be enjoying it.

Now man is trying to worm his way into another calling that has been for women only; and we aren't referring to call girls. A U.S. court has ruled in favor of a young man who filed suit against Pan American because the airline refused to consider his application for a job as a steward on the airline because of his sex.

The court ruling ordains that airlines must hire men as stewards if they possess the abilities necessary for the job. It opines that the exclusive use of females as stewardesses violates the 1964 Civil Rights Act. While women stewardesses provide a pleasant environment they are not necessary to the successful operation of the airline.

We rather enjoy seeing men use Women's Lib's own tactics against them but we're not too enamored of the thought of airline stewards. Making like a bird leaves us feeling none too safe and we find the stewardess much more comforting than her male alter ego might be. Man might possess the abilities necessary for the job, in the eyes of a judge, but he hasn't the same equipment, nor the inborn know-how for solacing the fractions male.

If we're sick enough we'll probably let a male nurse minister to us, but when we're in a holiday mood up among the clouds we go for service with a feminine smile. This backlash business can go too far.

The way we see it, you ought to be able to put a woman in her place without putting a man in her place.

NO MORE STUDES

Tomorrow isn't only the deadline for filing income tax reports. It's also the day motorists have to get rid of their studied tires which are banned on Ontario roads as of April 30th.

There are two schools of thought on this business of banning studied tires but whether or not you find them useful for winter driving it seems they are hard on highway surfaces and so must go in the interests of economy. It is so seldom one finds government interested in saving our tax dollars one is inclined to go along with Queen's Park on this matter, especially when one is a Rambling Reporter who prefers to use shank's mare to get about.

The weekend mail brought us a release from the Canadian Tire Stud Manufacturer's Institute which threatens an 11 per cent increase next winter in the number of motor vehicle accidents if studs are not being used. Minister of Highways Charles MacNaughton also sends along a copy of his address in the Legislature in which he declares claims for studied tires are extravagant.

They do make driving easier on icy surface, he admits, but they can add hazards on a year-round basis and there is no doubt they cause severe wear on both concrete and asphalt surfaces.

We have had drivers tell us how effective studied tires are in winter and to offset that argument there are reports Michigan and New York State are moving to ban studied tires, too. The damage to highway surfaces must be severe if the tire manufacturers cannot dissuade legislators from banning them.

Highway building is so costly and so far behind today's traffic needs your Rambling Reporter must vote to ban anything that might hasten their disintegration.

What was it Confucius say: "A studied tire, or a tired stud, may keep you out of trouble?"

STILL GOOD ADVICE

Most of today's problems are not too different to those faced by earlier generations. Way back in 1862 a Michigan doctor published the latest of his popular "Dr. Chase's Recipes". It contained the following advice "to young men and others out of employment".

The advice has relevance 109 years later:

"Why are so many young men and other persons out of employment? Indolence, coupled with a determination that they will do

MARKED 25th DATE

Many relatives, neighbors and friends were present in the IOOF Hall, Avonmore, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Howard MacMillan on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mrs. MacMillan was the former Miss Jean Rombough, of Newington.

The evening was spent most enjoyably in dancing to the music of the Cousins Five from Dalkeith. Their fine Scottish music was enhanced by the solo renditions of Sylvester MacDonald of Cornwall.

During the course of the evening Howard and Jean were escorted to the platform where a congratulatory address was read by Hubert Delaney. Dan MacDonald, on behalf of the assembled friends, presented the honored couple with a well filled purse.

Howard and Jean responded, thanking one and all for their kind remembrance. The gathering saluted them with "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

A sumptuous lunch was served during the midday intermission. The MacMillans had previously been honored at a family dinner and by their neighbors at a surprise party in their home.

PASCHAL MEAL WAS FEATURE OF MEETING

A most unique evening was experienced when St. James United Church Women of Avonmore hosted the United Church groups from Long Sault, Newington, and Finch and the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in an Easter thank-offering service.

The evening program began with Paschal meal of which 75 women partook in silence and meditation, a meal which had been prepared according to the manner of Jesus' day. This included roast lamb, seasoned rice, green salad, rye bread, grapes, figs, dates and apples for dessert, with grape juice as the beverage.

The tables were appropriately decorated and contained low candles. The only lighting was from the candles with one single spotlight focusing on a large painting of the Last Supper. The only sound was a background of religious recorded music.

Waitresses were unnecessary as each served the other as the food was passed. At the close of the meal a reading was given by Mrs. Rutherford MacIntyre.

An impressive worship service was conducted in the sanctuary of the church by Mrs. Milton Crawford, assisted by Mrs. George Jackson, Mrs. Maldwyn Watkins was organist.

Following the worship service the guest speaker of the evening, Mrs. Eric Read of Kemptonville, was introduced by Mrs. Henry Funge.

some great thing, only. And because that great thing does not turn up without effort, they are doing nothing. The point of difficulty is simply this: they look for the end, before the beginning. But just consider how few there are that really accomplish any great thing, even with a whole life of industry and economical perseverance. And yet most of our youth calculate that their beginning shall be amongst the greats. But as no one comes to offer them their expectations, indolence says wait; and so they are still waiting. Now mind you, as long as your expectations are placed upon a chance offer of something very remunerative, or upon the assistance of others, even in a small way, so long will you continue to wait in vain.

"At this point, then, the question would arise, what can be done? And the answer is equally plain with the other. Take hold of the first job you can find, for it will not find you. No matter how insignificant it may be, it will be better than longer idleness; and when you are seen doing something for yourselves, by those whose opinions are worth any consideration, they will soon offer you more and better jobs; until, finally, you will find something which agrees with your taste or inclination, for a life business. But remember that the idle never have good situations offered them. It is the industrious and persevering only, who are needed to assist in life's great struggle."

Summer Recreation Program Aims To Keep Children Occupied All Week

The Alexandria Park and Recreation Committee is hiring additional student help this summer and its objective, reports Director Bill Upper, is to keep every child occupied from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. five days a week.

Main events of the summer program will be swimming and water safety instruction, arts and crafts, minor baseball and soccer.

Six swim instructors have been hired to give lessons in the mornings and act as lifeguards in the afternoons and evenings. They are Andrea Macdonell, Bonnie McDougald, Mike Kelly, Karen Brown, Pat Filiatrault and Michel Lauzon.

Betty Sabourin will instruct in Arts and Crafts, among activities being finger painting and work with plaster.

Susan Conway will organize various activities for the children, including singing games, contests, fashions shows. She will also teach nature study and puppetry.

Luc Desjardins and Donnie Morris will organize softball games to follow the swim lessons and other activities such as pseudo track and field events — balance test, slow races, balloon bursting, umbrella races, etc. They will also supervise some activities at the arena.

Boys and girls will be able to go from one event to another throughout the day. A sample summer day schedule might involve:

9 to 10 a.m.—Swim lessons.
10 to 12 a.m.—Arts and crafts.
1 to 2 p.m.—Boys' or girls' special events.

4 to 5 p.m.—Minor baseball.
6 to 7 p.m.—Minor soccer.
Parents should register their children in each program as it is advertised in this paper, suggests Mr. Upper. Minor baseball is the first one, this week.

Spring Prom Set At Maxville High

Maxville High School is holding its annual spring prom on May 7th. The theme of the prom will be "An Evening in Paris" with the gymnasium decorated to resemble a Paris street cafe. Entertainment will be provided by the Charles James Orchestra.

The students hope to see parents in attendance. Their absence has been very noticeable the past few years. The failure of parents to attend the prom has been attributed to the music. This year the music will appeal to both the parents and the students. Invitation may be obtained through any Maxville High School student.

Famous First When Trudeau Kissed Another Prime Minister

(by Brian Black)
The students, themselves, are divided on this issue and the minority Liberal government could well go down to defeat by the combined forces of the NDP and PC Opposition parties who hold 27 out of 48 seats in the "House".

A smaller group of students also visited former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker in his office and listened intently while the former leader told them stories of his experiences and encouraged them in their involvement with politics. "Freedom", he said "is the right to be wrong, not the right to do wrong", and parliament is the only place where our freedom can be preserved. He urged them to follow their goal, even if they were "a minority of one."

Also included in the day's activities was a Question Period with two Progressive Conservative MPs, Paul Yewchuck and David Macdonald, on the role of MPs and Parliament in general. In the evening the group attended the NDP Convention and after the "Bear Pit" session, was fortunate enough to talk with David Lewis, the front runner in the NDP leadership race. He was asked about the new Waffle Movement as a divisive force in the NDP Party and indicated that he was proud of the freedom of discussion within the party and confident that it would not split the NDP party.

All in all, it was a highly successful day and the students involved took full advantage of it que, Westport and Glengarry Historical Societies. The workshops are held in April and October for the purpose of interchange of information and suggestions. Ian McMartin and Mrs. Duncan Grant, represented the NorWesters Museum, GHS and W. A. MacKinnon and Mrs. J. P. MacLeod, Scottish Pioneer Museum, GHS. Members of the welcoming committee were Mrs. V. F. Crowley, Major and Mrs. W. A. MacKinnon, and Mrs. W. A. MacKinnon. Comments during the workshop indicated that the traditional role of historical societies is broadening to include increased educational resources and co-operation with teachers of Canadian history, as well as publications of historical interest, such as year books, pamphlets, brochures, etc. On a contemporary level, several societies are not only involved with the conservation of historical resources, but natural resources involved with historical areas.

On arrival, the delegates were served coffee and doughnuts, and luncheon was served later. Much interest was shown in the Inn's interesting history and furnishings, as well as the booklet supplied by Mr. and Mrs. William Wright, owners of the Inn.

MR. AND MRS. YVAN BLAIS

Pledged Vows At Green Valley

A lovely spring wedding took place in St. Mary's Church, Green Valley, on April 17th, at 4 p.m., when Miss Carole Menard became the bride of Yvan Blais. Rev. Maurice Lariviere officiated at the ceremony and Paul Viau provided the wedding music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Menard of RR2 Green Valley and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Blais of Glen Robertson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of floor-length white sheer over layers of peau de chame. Rows of white lace accentuated the circular collar, full sleeves and length of the dress. Her elbow-length veil of matching sheer was secured by a lace crown and her floor-length train fell from her waistline. She carried a white muff ornamented with red roses.

Johanne Menard was bridesmaid for her sister in a gown of yellow peau de chame, and another sister, Lucie, acted as flower girl, dressed in yellow and white.

Daniel Menard was best man.

Following the marriage a reception was held at the Green Valley Pavilion where guests were present from Montreal, Dorion and Rigaud as well as the surrounding area.

For their honeymoon trip to Noranda, Que., the bride wore a beige dress and coat ensemble with brown accessories. The couple will reside in Kemptonville.

Auxiliary Tea A Grand Success

The Glengarry Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Spring Tea was the social event not to be missed Saturday afternoon, April 24, at the Legion Hall here.

Pastel parasols, daffodils, pussy willows, lemon streamers and bows and tea tables laid with gold cloths was the setting prepared by Mrs. Ranaid MacDonald, tea convener, her committees and Mrs. Nell Blair, president.

The tea room was aglow with color as the afternoon progressed when women from the far corners of Glengarry County and Alexandria attended, dressed in colorful spring attire. Mrs. Aime Lalonde, the Auxiliary's first president, officially opened the tea.

Receiving at the door were President Mrs. Blair; Mrs. Henry Ladouceur, immediate past president; and Mrs. J. A. Wightman, in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Aime Lalonde presided at the contribution basket assisted by Mrs. George Dumouchel. Mrs. John Grant was in charge of the membership table.

Two little girls who were most helpful at the door were Kathie MacDonald and Bernardine O'Connor.

Mrs. Betty Burns and Mrs. Sylvia A. Kells, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively of District 9, Ontario Hospital Auxiliary Association, drove a hundred miles from Almonte to attend. ## LETTERS TO THE EDITOR century home? The officers of the Glengarry Golf and Country Club? Not necessarily, since they might have made some other arrangement had they been given any warning that some of us cared. They might have decided to properly restore the old house and add more space to the back in a manner that would blend in with the buildings and satisfy their needs for more space.

Perhaps I should blame myself for not speaking out more strongly five years ago when I wrote a column on early Glengarry buildings. At that time I suggested the officers of the Glengarry Golf Club might consider getting a restoration architect such as Peter Stokes (who restored the Nor-Wester museum) to properly restore the building. I said then and still say they would have had the most unique club house in Ontario. I guess I should have taken up golf and become a member. Then I could have been the only dissenting voice when the decision was made to call in the wrecker. What held me back was my terrible form of golf—I'm better in a canoe.

It is not enough to just write to our heroic ancestors. It is also necessary to take a stand when the destruction of the worthwhile things they built is threatened. The Col. Alexander Chisholm house is such a case. Those of us who care about old buildings in Glengarry have lost this round. Let's not lose the next one.

Hugh MacMillan

RECORDS FOR THE WEST

The editor,

The Glengarry News,
We wish to appeal to your readers for help in a program to preserve Canadian history. Many settlers in the Canadian West came from the older provinces, so the Glenbow-Alberta Institute of Calgary is now trying to discover any old records which might exist among eastern families. Items such as diaries, letters, photographs, drawings, political or business papers, and artifacts dealing with the West are probably lying in many attics in your area. Some may deal with the fur traders, Mounted Police, missionaries, railroaders or ranchers, while others may be letters from relatives who homesteaded on the prairies.

If such items are sent to Glenbow, they will be preserved and made available to historians. Glenbow has two museums, an art gallery, library and archives devoted to this purpose. By knowing our past, we hope that people will understand their country and have greater pride in being Canadians.

If any of your readers have western items or know where they may be found, we hope they will write to Director of History, Glenbow-Alberta Institute, 902 11th Avenue, S.W., Calgary 3.

Hugh A. Dempsey.

POOR JUDGMENT BY CANADA COUNCIL

Pierrefonds, Que.

The editor,

The Glengarry News,
After reading Isabel McGillis's comments on my recent letter to the "News", I am confused as to the message she has sent north. Perhaps in all fairness to her, this winter's deluge of snow flakes on my head may have numbed my ability to interpret.

It would appear that she is torn between two loves — the country that has provided material wealth and the country of her birth. With no disrespect intended, I would think a "star spangled beaver" would be most descriptive. Far from sniping at her adopted country, I welcome all trips south of the boarder, particularly the return, when I am eligible to purchase a duty free bottle of Scotch.

The purpose of my letter was to identify weaknesses in a Canadian federal body, namely the Canada Council, that bestows cash prizes (tax dollars) to questionable recipients. To illustrate beyond the Dunvegan example, this same august body attempted to present $5,000 to a proven Marxist who led the violent separatist march against McGill University. It was only public outcry that forced the Secretary of State to intervene and withdraw the grant. Surely if these two examples don't approach absurdity, then I'll eat my habitant tuque.

The Florida lady seems quite anxious to defend Mr. Trudeau's regime and I wonder if she has become enthralled by the swinging image of our prime minister. She is correct in stating that Mr. Trudeau did not create the Canada Council — a statement I did not make. It was created in 1957 under the St. Laurent government as a federal body reporting to the Secretary of State. My reference to the grant examples happened under a Trudeau regime.

Far from knocking the purpose of the Canada Council, I am suggesting the use of sane judgment when screening potential candidates. Would it not be far more representative of Glengarry culture to have had the $5,000 directed to a student or students of the Glengarry piping school rather than an imported guitar maker?

Digressing for a moment, there was another recent "News" letter from P. A. MacLean referring to the Glengarrys in the last war, which tends to strike at our short memories. Where was Mr. Tru-

A report from your
Glengarry Agricultural Office
J. Y. Humphries

The Capital Grants Program for Ontario farmers was revised as of April 1/71 and the amount available per farmer has been increased. Grants are paid on the basis of 40% of allowable items on all sections of the program.

Section A—Farm buildings and drainage has been revised to include fixed equipment such as stable cleaners, pumps, bulk tanks, silo unloaders, milker lines and fans. (Used bulk tanks acceptable).

The amount of assistance has been increased to $3,000 less any amounts received since April 1, 1967 or under sections B and C of the program.

Section B—Field enlargement and farm water supply continues with a $1500 maximum.

Section C—has been added to include a program of assistance for farm vacation hosting with a maximum of $1500.

An additional section is now included to provide grants of $500 per tree up to 100 trees for the removal of dead and diseased elms. It is now possible for a farmer to draw grants up to $3,500 or in the case of a partnership or corporation, double the amounts in Section A, B and C.

Further information and application forms can be obtained from the ODAF office in Alexandria. The Canadian Dairy Commission established a new arrangement for reallocating subsidy quotas between producers in provinces having a market sharing quota program on April 8.

In the past quotas were transferred to persons acquiring the cows of a farmer going out of dairying. Under the new arrangement, subsidy quotas will be attached to the market sharing quotas and will be transferred with them.

In transfers of part quotas, the minimum amount which will be transferred between producers is 420 lbs. of butterfat or 12,000 lbs. of milk.

A producer may now acquire additional subsidy quota up to 24,500 lbs. of fat or 700,000 lbs. of milk.

While market sharing quotas are administered by the OMMB and subsidy quotas by the Canadian Dairy Commission, to simply matters for producers there will be

Montreal And Ottawa Synodical Holds Annual Meeting In Brockville

Sunny skies and gracious hostesses greeted the ladies of Montreal-Ottawa Synodical who arrived at First Presbyterian Church, Brockville, on April 6th for their annual meeting.

The President, Mrs. P. W. Murray of Kars, Ont., chaired all sessions.

While the vision of Departmental secretaries for 1971-72 were being presented an opportunity was given for questions and comments on last year's reports and statements, these having been printed beforehand.

Both Wednesday morning and afternoon, members were divided into groups during which various topics were discussed. Some of these were (a) the possibility of the purpose of the Synodical Society might be fulfilled through a Council of Presidents with one person as co-ordinator.

(b) The practical aspect of having some work of the WMS (WD) done by committees within a synodical rather than in Toronto.

(c) Flexibility in worship services and meetings in general.

It was felt that neither of the first two would be practical but that there was much room for flexibility.

Miss Doris Bloise, in glowing terms, paid tribute to Mrs. Murray's capable and dedicated leadership during her term of office.

Following the theme "Stir into Flame the Gift of God which is within you". Rev. M. Putman of St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, Ont., gave a most inspiring address. He reminded all that the duty of each Christian is to witness, word by the word, by worship and by works. Soloist for the evening was Mrs. Ann Loughrey with Mr. E. Flannigan as organist.

In an impressive installation service Rev. L. R. Renault of First Presbyterian Church, Brockville, installed the following officers.

Past president, Mrs. P. W. Murray, Kars, Ont.; president, Miss Doris Bloise, Montreal, Que.; 1st vice Pres., Mrs. Carman Brown, Cardinal, Ont.; 2nd vice pres., Miss Dorothy Dodds, Perth, Ont.; 3rd vice pres., Mrs. Harold Shaver, Ingleside, Ont.; treasurer, Mrs. N. R. Dunlop, Carleton Place, Ont.; adult groups sec., Mrs. J. R. Forrester, MacDonald's Corners; girls' organizations, Mrs. L. J. Cowper, Spencerville, Ont.; children's groups, Mrs. G. MacLagan, Montreal, Que.; friendship and service, Mrs. J. McCleverty, Ingleside, Ont.; literature, Mrs. J. D. Jack, Forester's Falls, Ont.; glad tidings and press, Miss Alene Morrison, Sherbrooke, Que.; supply, Mrs. J. E. Edminston, Montreal, Que.; life membership, Mrs. E. Bragg, Quebec, Que.
