

Our Inquiring Reporter Gets Some Opinions On The New Meter-Free Main Street Parking

JOHN D. McLEAN, Greenfield—I think the parking is better on the east side—before, the cars were parked on the west side and all the trucks seemed to be unloading on the east so it created bottle-necks that slowed up traffic.

JIM McDOUGALL, Green Valley—The best thing they ever did was change the parking to the east side, it is not nearly so dangerous. I always use the parking lot, I didn't notice there was a change in the meters.

CAMERON McCORMICK—It's a godsend to see the end of those old parking meters. The parking on the east side is much better for the cars coming off Highway 43; the most dangerous spot is entering Main from Catherine St.

MAURICE MONTPETIT, Glen Robertson—It's nice not to dig for change soon as we come to Alexandria. Not many of us from out of town park in the same spot for an hour so I prefer this method of controlling the parking space.

MANSEL HAY—Parking on the east side makes it very difficult for the long transports to turn on and off Highway 43. I didn't mind the old parking meter system; it kept people from parking too long in one place.

JOHN McLEOD, Glen Nevis—I'd like to see them knock some of the old buildings down and put up another parking lot. They could even put meters in it; people don't mind paying if there is parking space available.

ALEXANDER MacLEOD, Dalkeith—It's too bad the streets weren't made a little wider when the work was being done. It's a big improvement not to be meeting the one arm bandits in Alexandria. —Photos by Mrs. M. MacDonald

First Class Constable Gets $2,500 Increase Over 2 Years In Judges Arbitration Decision

Increases ranging from $1,000 for a probationary constable to $2,500 for a first class constable over a two-year period are to be paid members of the four-man Alexandria police force, according to the ruling of Judge Rene J. Marin of Ottawa, who arbitrated terms of a new contract between the police force and the Alexandria Police Commission.

The new salary scales cover 1971 and 1972 with the new 1971 pay rates retroactive to Jan. 1, 1971. Members of the Police Commission have received a copy of Judge Marin's award, reports Mayor Jean Paul Touchette, but have not had a meeting to review the terms. Actually they can do little or nothing but accept the new agreement since the Commission had approved appointment of Judge Marin as arbitrator.

The 1972 contract will provide payment of a first class constable at $9,650 up $2,500 over the two-year period. The 1971 rate was set at $8,350, up from $7,150 and will be retroactive to Jan. 1st, 1971.

Second class constables' pay is increased over the two-year span from $6,800 to $8,870; the third class rate rises from $6,450 to $8,510 in 1972 and the probationary constable gains $1,000 over two years to $7,100.

The new contract will also pay 100 per cent of the force's medical plan and its group life insurance premiums. Under the old contract constable paid 25 per cent of the medical plan and 34 per cent of the insurance premiums. They are to pay 25 per cent of the 1971 premiums.

Other fringe benefits include payment at time and a half, at a minimum of two hours, for any call back to duty from off-duty hours. A minimum of two hours for each morning, afternoon or evening attendance in court.

Annual vacations are set at: On completion of one year: two weeks or 14 days; on completion of three years: three weeks or 21 days; on completion of ten years: four weeks or 28 days.

Ten days sick leave per annum will be cumulative during length of service. On separation, retirement or death any unused days will be payable at prevailing rates. A request by the police for free telephone use in homes was turned down.

The Alexandria settlement was the second gained last month by a United Counties municipal force.

Two weeks ago the Cornwall Police Association signed a 1971 contract with the Cornwall Police Commission. Under that pact, which has since expired, first class constables were paid $9,800 retroactive to Jan. 1, 1971, and $10,000 retroactive to Oct. 1, 1971.

Following is the Alexandria police force salary scale:

First class constable	$7,150
Second class constable	$6,800
Third class constable	$6,450
Probationary constable	$6,100

1971
First class constable	$8,350
Second class constable	$7,950
Third class constable	$7,550
Probationary constable	$6,550

1972
First class constable	$9,650
Second class constable	$8,870
Third class constable	$8,510

Graham Creamery Awarded Grant To Help Finance Expansion Program

The Graham Creamery Ltd., here, has qualified for an ARDA grant to assist in modernizing its facilities and expanding its operations. The announcement was made this week by the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food.

Amount of the grant is not announced and Doug. Baxter, while confirming award of the grant, reports it has not yet been received.

The ODAF announcement notes that the local Creamery "has provided a valuable market for farmers' cream over the years, expanding its production of butter from 400,000 pounds in 1952 to 2,000,000 pounds in 1970. The granting of this assistance was announced jointly by Hon. Wm. A. Stewart, Ontario's Minister of Agriculture and Food, and Hon. Jean Marchand, Canada's Minister of Regional Economic Expansion.

"The Graham Creamery Ltd. has proven itself by past performance to be a valuable asset to the dairy industry in eastern Ontario. During a period of uncertainty in the industry this creamery has stabilized the local dairy industry and expanded its own markets. The expansion program planned at this time involves the installation of specialized equipment for the manufacture of creamery butter and whey butter in sealed quarter-ounce, half-ounce and half-pound plastic containers. Recent market surveys indicate considerable potential for these individual portion packs of butter on both the domestic and export markets. As this optimistic outlook is translated into market sales, it is expected the project will not only result in a growing market for locally produced cream but an increase from 10 to 15 in the number of employees.

"This project is eligible for 50-50 cost sharing between the two senior levels of government under the terms of the 1970-75 Federal-Provincial Rural Development Agreement. It has been recommended by the Ontario Milk Commission and the ARDA Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, and approved by the Ontario Water Resources Commission and the Ontario Department of the Environment."

Long Service To Maxville Fair Recognized At Annual Dinner Meeting

Kenyon Agricultural Society held its annual meeting on Saturday, January 29th, in the Maxville Curling Club, with an excellent turn out of directors and members. The Society was very pleased to have a great number of exhibitors also at the meeting, from all around the area—Kars, Carleton Place, Hull, Ottawa, Vars, Richmond and Lachute.

President Walter Blaney and secretary-manager Dr. D. M. Gamble dealt with a lengthy agenda of reports and statements and a satisfactory financial report was presented. Last year's Fair was a very successful event in spite of the rain-out on Friday which cut attendance on that one day.

This year's Fair will be four days, as last year—June 22-25, Thursday to Sunday. Having a "Family Day" on Sunday proved to be a popular move. J. Y. Humphries made a brief report for the cattle classes, and all the committees will be having meetings soon to discuss arrangement of classes and any necessary changes in the prize lists.

There were various suggestions for attractions at this year's show, and considerable discussion. Among the ideas—a "Mutt" show, a horse-drawing contest, a brass band competition, and a repeat of the most popular events last season, in particular the soccer tournament, the 4-H Horse Show, and the National Potage Theatre. The latter will have a completely new program this year. Plans were made to have the usual number of delegates attend the February convention in Toronto.

The Ladies' Division of the KAS held their meeting earlier in the week. Mrs. Lorna Winter is president, 1st vice, Mrs. Dan MacRae, and secretary, Mrs. Ben F. Villeneuve. The main discussion centered on their prize list and there were some changes made. This list will be published separately from the main Fair Book and is expected to be available in two weeks' time.

After the afternoon session and a brief recess members and visitors enjoyed an excellent buffet dinner catered by Mrs. Thelma Hughes and the ladies of the Curling club. In honor of his birthday, Willie MacLeod of Skye, a long-time member and exhibitor, was presented with a large and impressive birthday cake. Presi-

January Was Mild And Open

Snowfall so far this winter has been only about half the amount we knew a year ago at this time, notes George Hambleton, weather observer at Dalhousie Mills.

The 43 inches of fall up to January 31st compares with 72 inches of snow at this time last year.

January's weather averaged 11 degrees higher than last January's and there was only 15 inches of snowfall on 13 days. Rain on three days added ¼" of precipitation. January of '71 brought seven inches more of snow than we had last month.

High for the past month was 52° on the 13th and the low was -25° on the 6th. Temperatures rose above freezing on 13 days and were 40° or higher on nine days. Mean temperature averaged 11° higher than last January when we had -33° on two occasions.

Thunder did not occur last month, but was heard on two occasions a year ago.

More Than One Million Dollars In Counties' Plans For Development Road Work Here

United Counties Council concluded its inaugural session for 1972 last week with appointment of committees and consideration of a number of reports.

The finance committee is headed by Lochiel Reeve Gerard Massie; roads and bridges by Donald Cumming; resolutions and memorials by Kenneth Kirkby; agriculture, reforestation and ARDA by Edwin Waldriff; and welfare by J. J. Whittaker.

Traditionally, the finance committee chairman is in line for the warden's chair.

Councillors agreed to a grant of $1,000 to the county mutual aid fire association. It will also provide a grant of $500 to the Glengarry Pipe Band Association.

An important grant recommended by the finance committee was $200,000 to the Glengarry Memorial Hospital at Alexandria, over a period of four years, to provide for expansion of the institution.

Tenders will be called for renovations to the law library by the county, although the entire cost is carried by the province.

The United Counties made a preliminary step toward creating a land division committee to handle this type of matter locally. A grant of $2,400 was made to the Victorian Order of Nurses.

A change of procedure was foreseen when the finance committee report recommended that seating in the council chamber should be arranged to allow all meetings, including committee meetings, to be held in the main council chamber instead of the committee room. This change foresees the end to the practice of holding committee meetings without public or press attendance.

An application for $20,000 under the employment incentive program will be made, to be added to $38,369 already in the budget. This is to stimulate employment.

The committee on agriculture and reforestation recommended that properties offered by Dale Marcellus and Mrs. Ethel Droppo, both in Williamsburg, should be bought for reforestation purposes. The report of county road super-

Alexandria And Lochiel Councils To Discuss Changes In Dump

Open dumps are now illegal in Ontario and as a result the councils of Alexandria and Lochiel will get together soon to discuss the problem of the dump they now share and possibly to seek another site.

At a brief meeting of town council, Tuesday, a letter from the Ontario Department on the Environment was permitted. The department will permit use of the present dump until May 1st after which council is left with three options:

It can sign a new contract including proper land fill operation. Lease the site from owner Pat Brunet and operate the dump properly itself.

Terminate the contract, close off the site and negotiate for another suitable site.

Councillors were critical of the new land fill provision which they see as costly and unnecessary for small rural municipalities.

Lochiel council had contacted Mayor Touchette on the matter and a joint meeting is to be arranged.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

We Have A Commitment

Hospital expansion seems assured here this year following counties' approval of a grant of $200,000. Hospital board officials feel the balance of needed local financing will be forthcoming and a start on actual construction is now dependent only on approval of final plans at Queen's Park.

Counties' council will finance its grant over four years and the annual levies should not prove burdensome when spread over the assessment of three counties. This is a fair way of meeting a major share of the local costs of expansion for it distributes the impost thinly over the widest possible area. If residents of the westerly section of the counties feel they are being unduly imposed upon, they should realize that we in Glengarry have paid our share of hospital expansion costs at Winchester and Cornwall. Glengarrymen, and Alexandrians in particular, will benefit most from improved hospital facilities here, and it is only proper that we should accept the responsibility for raising the balance of needed local funds. The Lions Club of Alexandria has taken on a major share of that load with its pledge of $40,000 and there should be little or no difficulty in coming up with another $150,000 if all those whom our hospital has served in its first decade pitch in.

The Lions Club is counting on county-wide support of its giant walkathon in May to help meet its commitment to hospital expansion. If the event is thoroughly organized we have no doubt that support will be forthcoming.

Pricing Us Out Of Police

The policeman's lot must be a much happier one, especially on payday, than it was in an era when Gilbert & Sullivan publicized his plight in song. In fact, the cop on the beat may be seen singing his way to the bank if there is not a slowing process soon in the annual increase in his pay and fringe benefits.

What the members of municipal police forces have going for them these years we can't quite put a finger on. The judges who serve as arbitration officers in their salary disputes are over-generously disposed and it might be they are basing their decisions on guidelines supplied by the Ontario Police Commission or some other branch of Government.

How else reconcile the increases in pay being granted small town forces right across the province in recent years unless these arbitration officers are basing them on salary scales in Metropolitan Toronto? Can a local Police Association composed of two members carry the same clout in wage negotiations as a big city force comprising thousands of officers? It seems to be so, and one is left wondering whence came the decision that all small-town forces rate pay scales comparable with those of Toronto, where living costs are so much higher?

We have all the goodwill in the world for the members of Alexandria's police force. Their rates of pay probably were low in the past and if we are to have capable, responsible men the municipality must be prepared to pay adequate, even generous, salaries. New wage levels set in the two-year contract announced last week may not be too high in face of today's living costs. The rates of increase though, are much too generous.

How can the arbitrating judge and the local police commission justify increases of nearly 17 per cent for 1971, with a further 15.5 per cent tacked on for 1972. A first class constable's pay has been increased more than 35 per cent over the two-year period and if that is not enough there are generous fringe benefits. The 1971 increase is made retroactive to January 1, 1971, providing a most acceptable bonus, and he is given another $1,300 increase on his 1972 salary.

That $9,650 wage level this year apparently is still inadequate, for the town will now pay 100 per cent of the policeman's medical plan and of the premium on a group life insurance plan.

This is heady stuff. These increases may even be more generous than Air Canada's traffic controllers will settle for. They had going for them a crippling ten-day strike that stopped all air travel across Canada. One wonders how the municipal police forces in Ontario are rating such generous contracts without even the threat of a strike.

One wonders only so long before deciding all this largesse has been made possible because of Queen's Park policy. The overall plan is for a single province-wide police force with all powers of decision centred in the Attorney-General's department. To attain that end, it seems, the municipalities are being priced out of their own police forces.

Trustees Get Poor Rating

Members of the County Board of Education earned a plus in our books when they voted last week against building a new administration complex for their staff. A majority of the trustees felt provision of two needed secondary schools should have priority over plush office space to house board administrators. That is how we see it.

Members of the board may have been influenced in their thinking to some extent by the poor rating given their performance by high school teachers under their jurisdiction. The SD&G County Board rated a poor 45 per cent in the eyes of its teachers in a survey conducted by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation. Survey results were supposed to be confidential but somehow they reached the press.

The area board rated third lowest among those of Eastern Ontario and a majority of the teachers in area schools found the trustees wanting in all four questions put to them. Most did not feel their board is generously interested in improving the quality of education; only 40 per cent think the board endeavors to maintain good relations between trustees, administrators and teaching staff. Almost half of those responding feel conditions in their school are probably as good as anywhere in the province, but only 43 per cent think the board adequately fulfills the educational needs of the community.

These are judgments that members of the trustee board may not take too seriously to heart. They no doubt console themselves with the thought that not too many employers are held in high esteem by the toilers in their vineyards. Other Eastern Ontario boards fared little better than did ours, but trustees in Atikokan must have a specially good attitude. That board topped all others in Ontario with an average of 85.5 per cent. The lowliest was Hornepayne, with a 9.5 average.

How much power any area board has to fulfill educational needs of the community, we wouldn't know. Teachers probably are in a better position though, to judge the general attitude of a school board than are the ordinary ratepayers.

If we who pay education taxes were asked to judge the performance of our area school board we would probably rate it even lower than have the teachers. Our assessment might be based on the high administrative salaries and the instances of extravagant costs of maintenance that are common gossip throughout the counties.

Last week's vote to defer building an administration complex leaves hope of a return to some sanity in education spending.

There Must Be A Better Way

Canada's airlines were back in business Friday after a walkout by air traffic controllers had grounded all flights over an eleven-day period. Members of the union had agreed to go back to work and let a mediator set the scale of salary increase after the Government had approved a start of arbitration at the 17 per cent mark.

This smacks of a face-saving decision on the part of both Treasury Board and union. Government bargainers had previously agreed to a raise at the 17 per cent level, which the union had rejected. Union representatives had accepted an increase slightly over the 18 per cent margin. It had been turned down by Treasury Board.

So the mediator has a field of little more than one per cent to play around in and his decision will probably be around the 18.2 per cent level.

That would probably have been just about the increase a mediator would have decided upon had such a procedure been agreed to by both parties before the strike was allowed to tie up the nation's air traffic and put some 14,000 employees of Air

Canada and CPAir out of work. The airlines lost millions of dollars in revenue, thousands were forced to find other means of travel or change plans, hotels and other city businesses dependent on the travelling public were hard hit by the grounding of air flights.

A recent poll suggests some 70 per cent of Canadians feel the strike threat should not be available to public services and yet Prime Minister Trudeau rejected an appeal that Parliament should intervene. Public servants have been given the right to strike, he is quoted as saying, and Parliament should not legislate them back to work while there is the chance of settlement.

And so the Canadian people can expect more disruptions as public servants continue to use the strike threat as a means of gaining a bigger share of the available dollars. The public are innocent victims of this use of blackmail but Parliament refuses to right the wrong a previous Liberal Government inflicted on the country.

Surely a better way can be found to settle labor disputes.

MAN THE KILLER

Some so-called sportsmen excuse their killer lust by saying they hunt only the dangerous animals. How many of these are there? Could you name six animals that would make an unprovoked attack on man? Even if you could, chances are they have learned through experience that they must attack first to survive. —Stanstead (Que.) Journal

ACCURATE REFLECTION

The Economic Council of Canada in its . . . observations on education . . . skates on thin ice in several important areas but broadly speaking, it reflects with reasonable accuracy many of the opinions one hears expressed with growing frequency by many Canadians. —Swift Current (Sask.) Sun

MINORITY RULE

A decade ago the majority sat back and allowed a small minority group to talk the boards of education into withdrawing religion from the schools. Today we find that virtually little or no religious education is even discussed in our secondary schools. . . . As we allowed religious instruction and discussion to be dropped, drugs took over. . . . The users claim that they are looking for something and they need this route to escape. Where is the religious belief that there is a strong power to help? It is time that we stop being conned by the few. It is now time that we stand up and be counted. —Geraldton (Ont.) Times Star

IMPROVEMENT NEEDED

It is rather disappointing to read about the new services which the Canadian Post Office is introducing at the present time. Nearly every day, The Times receives complaints from subscribers about the slow delivery and even the non-delivery of the paper. One would almost think that Postmaster Cote would improve the services he already has before embarking upon new ones. —Fort Frances (Ont.) Times

MIDDLE CLASS HIT HARDEST

Many politicians, as well as the laboring people themselves, appear to be unaware of the fact that any transference of taxation from sales tax and other sources will hit particularly hard the largest number of income taxpayers. . . . While many residents appear to think that the income tax is going to hit the men in higher income brackets, many do not realize they are in that bracket and they are the ones who will be doing the paying. In the eyes of Ottawa, it appears the great middle class contains the people from whom it is the easiest to collect the tax. And that is what is being done. —Fort Frances (Ont.) Times

Is Grade 13 An Illusion?

(by Celine Bourbonnais, Grade 13)

Many students from grade 13 are starting to wonder if this last year in high school is at all necessary. Around them, many of their friends are quitting and finding jobs, starting their way at the bottom and working their way up with the help of experience and night school. This seems to be the trend, and the plan of many of our graduates. Universities and colleges are beginning to shed their golden glitter. Many of their own graduates have no jobs and refuse to accept inferior employment. They have been educated toward high ranking jobs but lack the experience. The result—educated people on welfare who ought to curb their ego and start at the bottom of the ladder.

Parents, on the other hand, want their son or daughter to graduate from high school and then attend a reputable university. A father likes the sound of "my son the lawyer"—but what happens if the son wants to be a mechanic? The parents too often push the child; rather than treating him as an individual, they think of him as an extension of themselves and their dreams. The result—the grade 13 drop-out. The student wants to learn a trade but he is pushed to the professional world. If members of the older generation are taken aback by these "alarming facts", perhaps they should ask themselves when they last listened to their children's plans and ideas of their future? Parents are to guide, not to enforce a right way.

They'll Do It Every Time

RAMBLING REPORTER

SELLING OUR LANGUAGE

How hungry for money can the government at Ottawa get? Now it's drawing in the dough at $500 a throw by selling exclusive rights to bits and pieces of the King's English.

Gazette columnist Bruce Taylor was expounding last week on this devious practise of the Registrar of Trade Marks at Ottawa, which can limit our use of our own language.

Seems a department store ad used the words "fabulous fake" to describe a necklace that looks like gold but isn't. Promptly came a registered letter from a jewellery firm informing the advertiser it wasn't allowed to use that expression. It had been duly recorded with the Registrar of Trade Marks at Ottawa and exclusive rights were now held by that jewellery firm.

Not only couldn't it be used to describe jewellery. That firm had paid $500 to Ottawa and now had outright ownership of the expression. Anyone wishing to use it would have to pay a royalty to the holder.

Formal applications are made in Ottawa every week for exclusive rights to certain commonplace words or combinations of them. Seems anyone can oppose such an application by forwarding a statement of opposition accompanied by the prescribed fee. One is left wondering though, how one is made aware of the original application has been made?

Columnist Taylor lists a few expressions for which trade marks were sought last week: garden spot, hush, answer, blizzard, bulldog, wind drift, tete-a-tete.

That first one registered with your Rambling Reporter. He's been describing Glengarry as the garden spot of America for years and he's darned if some seller of canned vegetables is going to have the right to tell him to cease and desist or cough up some shekels. This happens to be the garden spot of America and we're going to insist on our right to so label it. Perhaps there's a place in business for protecting a particularly imaginative trade mark but surely there's a reasonable limit. When someone is given the exclusive rights to "answer" maybe we should start asking questions.

One thing's certain. Nobody'd want to get exclusive rights to the Rambling Reporter.

IT'S COLD ENOUGH NOW!

One doesn't read much of anything on what progress is being made by the Quebec Government on its James Bay power project. There have been arguments, though by ecologists and scientists that the project could be an environmental mistake.

A spokesman for one of the world's largest conservation organizations, the Sierra Club, calls the James Bay project "big dam madness". One of Canada's top scientists also expresses alarm.

The project could result in winters in Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes becoming colder. The breeding grounds of the Blue, Snow and Canada geese could be largely eliminated. The currents in James Bay and the Hudson Bay could be altered and the annual ice breakup patterns be changed. The lives of 10,000 Cree Indians will be affected.

That suggestion our winters will be colder is enough to have us yelling "Whoa!!" They're plenty cold enough now and it doesn't make sense to change the course of rivers and dam them to provide power we'll have to use more of simply to keep warm.

An exchange wonders what the House of Commons committee on the environment or the National Energy Board are doing in the way of investigating possible destruction of valuable Canadian territory.

"Or will they wait until it is another 'fait accompli' and there can be nothing but recriminations and regrets expressed". Remember BC Premier Bennett's Peace River Project?

Dam all the rivers you want; but don't damn us to longer, colder winters.

GOING TO COLLIDGE?

Some stories are too good to be true but this bit we find too bad to credit.

The American Council of Education is supposed to have surveyed freshmen entering sixty-one colleges about the careers they hoped to follow. Here are some of the written answers they allegedly received: "Denestry" — "Teacher" — "Business" — "Stewerdes" — "Technction" — "Sectoral" — "Holesail Sailsman." Izent educashun wunderfu!!

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM MAXVILLE AND SURROUNDING DISTRICT

Weekend guests with Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Villeneuve were Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Waddell and family and Miss Gwen Villeneuve of Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Carol Williams, Carleton Place, spent the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Williams and family.

Recent winners in the Lions' Club draw were Billy Kippen, and L. Leroux.

The Old-Timers' hockey team is still going strong. With the proceeds from the gates at their games they have donated $180 so far to the Junior Hockey fund. Arrangements are under way to have a Legion team come from Montreal, one of their players is Dickie Moore, and there are two teams scheduled to come from Ottawa sometime soon. All proceeds from these games go to support Minor Hockey.

There were many exhibitors and supporters from Carleton Place, Richmond, Kars, Hull, Manotick, Vars, and Lachute at Kenyon Agricultural Society's annual meeting and dinner. Ben F. Villeneuve and Mr. Leslie Clark were presented with awards in recognition of years of service with the Fair Board.

In the very worthy causes of pollution control and fund raising the Maxville Girl Guides staged a paper drive just after Christmas. The results were very disappointing—notice were posted, town council in the person of John Williams, provided a free pick-up service—and about 15% of the villagers contributed. Another pick-up will be held on Saturday morning, Feb. 26th—please save your waste paper for this drive and have it stacked in cartons or tied in bundles. Any kind of paper is needed—newspapers, paper bags, magazines, etc.—to raise that 15% to something a bit more commendable.

Next euchre party will be held at the Maxville Manor on Wednesday evening, February 9, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Donald Cumming spent the weekend in Ottawa visiting Miss Jessie Cameron.

Sunday callers with Mrs. J. N. Fitzgerald were Mrs. Dan MacMaster of Cornwall and Mr. and Mrs. Knute Grotterode of Port Hastings, NB.

The annual vestry meeting of St. Michael and All Angels Anglican Church, Maxville, was recently held under the direction of Rev. G. Kent Doe. This marked the end of the first year of shared ministry with Long Sault. Appointments for 1972 were: Erwin Shields, Rector's Warden; Merton Casey, Peoples' Warden; Brian Harvey, lay member of Synod; Mrs. W. C. Scott representative on Parish central committee; Don Henry auditor; Mrs. Jean Casey treasurer; and Lynn McRae organist.

LIONS STAGED MANOR BIRTHDAY PARTY

The members of the Maxville Lions' Club put on the January birthday party at the Manor and entertained everybody with a full-scale fashion show as the highlight of the evening. The Hiramis trio sang, Peggy Kathy and Nancy with her guitar, several lively songs, setting the proper mood. Then Mrs. Gordon Winter gave the commentary and Mrs. Leo Besner the piano accompaniment while a succession of hilariously costumed "ladies" demonstrated the very latest styles, just arrived from Hollywood. Twiggy first, in elegant splendor perhaps undernourished, followed by a matronly dame with a magnificent floral chapeau, and an even fiercer lady attired in eye-catching shorts for some summer shopping. A very stout Scottish lassie appeared, more or less ready for the beauty contest in white gown and plaid sash. Modern youth was represented by a languorous, even lanky, Brigitte Bardot, and age by a dear little old lady jazzed up in a completely scarlet outfit. Then a well-filled granny dress, and an oversized Baby Snooks measuring 44-44-44, Tallulah in slinky grey and a witch wig, and a hep chick in dangerously red stockings. One model wore a violently patterned beach outfit, brown wig, and parasol—and got the laugh of the evening when in the process of making unfamiliar sweeps and bows he accidentally hooked off his wig with the corner of his parasol, was instantly recognized as the administrator of the Manor.

There were gifts and a lovely birthday cake for the residents with January birthdays — Willis Carter, Peter O'Byrne, Donald MacLennan, Mrs. Brown, Miss Mary Bouck, Mrs. Rose McKeage and Miss E. Simms. Pipe-Majors MacKenzie and Danskin played, and there was a country dance by Rhonda Munro, Beth Danskin and Janice MacKenzie, then Dave MacKillican with his organ, and a bountiful lunch for all. Congratulations and birthday greetings were expressed by Lions' president Merton Casey.

CANCER GROUP REVIEWS PRODUCTIVE YEAR

The annual meeting of the Maxville and District Branch of the Glengarry unit of the Canadian Cancer Society was held in the Community Hall on November 30th. The president, Mrs. Angus MacRae, was in the chair.

Mrs. Roderick F. McRae, treasurer, gave her report showing that the 1971 canvass resulted in obtaining $1,007.60 and the "In Memoriam" donations amounted to $228.00, making a total amount for this unit of $1,235.60. Mrs. MacRae expressed her appreciation for all those who took part in the canvass.

The officers elected for 1971-72 are: President, Mrs. Angus MacRae; 1st vice-president, Mrs. John Loewen, Dunvegan; treasurer, Mrs. Roderick F. McRae; secretary, Mrs. Charles E. Blaney; medical adviser, Dr. T. A. Jaggassir; education and publicity, Mrs. Ovilla Doth; service to patients' committee, Mrs. C. J. MacPhail, Mrs. John Sinclair; campaign committee, Hugh Smith, Douglas McLennan; directors, Maxville, Mrs. Charles E. Blaney, Arnold Munro; Dominionville, Mrs. W. G. MacLeod; Dunvegan, William Clark, Mrs. John Loewen; Apple Hill, Miss Hilda Villeneuve.

GROUP ENJOYED MOVIES

The Young at Heart Club had their second afternoon meeting on January 26th, in the Maxville Community Hall.

Bill Wilkinson was on hand to show movies of many interesting places, both at home and abroad. January 26th was Robbie Burns day, so seeing the replica of Robbie's house at Kensington Palace was most apt. Among the many replicas shown, the one of Dunvegan Castle particularly interested members. Bill showed us many flower scenes, and with cold, icy streets outside, these were most welcome.

A most pleasant afternoon, followed by a cup of tea, and goodies, and, as always, friendly conversation.

The next meeting, February 9th will be euchre, canasta, or other games; 2 p.m. in the Maxville Community Hall.

Our Bantams Tops At Long Sault
Maxville Team Won Consolation

The Alexandria Bantam A hockey club, a member of the Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry Bantam Hockey League, walked off as grand champions of the annual Cornwall Township Minor Hockey Association Invitational bantam tournament Saturday at the Township Arena in Long Sault.

The Alexandria team, coached by Harry Main, is currently in last place in the SD&G league, but nothing stopped them from going all the way Saturday.

The Glengarrymen, an underdog in the tournament, won in all three outings, including a 4-1 win over the Cornwall Minor Hockey Association Bantam B Bergeron Electric team.

In the championship game Alexandria beat out the favored Stormont-Dundas-Glengarry Bantam Hockey club, by a 4-2 score.

Normand Laliberte, Claude Bourck, John Charlebois and Kerry McKay scored for the winners. Kevin Osler and Paul Doney replied for Morrisburg.

The Glengarrymen grabbed a 2-0 first period lead on goals by Laliberte and Bourck.

Charlebois scored early in the final period to put Alexandria up three goals.

Morrisburg then got on the scoreboard midway through the final frame on Osler's goal.

Doney narrowed the Glengarrymen lead to one goal, two minutes later but Alexandria's McKay put the game out of reach for Morrisburg with three minutes remaining in the game.

Alexandria opened with a 9-1 victory over Edwardsburg. Robert Menard, Paul Seguin and McKay led Main's team with two goals apiece.

Brian Main, Claude St. Denis and Claude Bourck completed the scoring.

Brian DeDekker tallied for Edwardsburg.

In the Alexandria-Cornwall game St. Denis, Seguin, Charlebois and Laliberte handled the scoring for the Glengarry team. Mark MacRae replied for Cornwall.

The Maxville team, coached by Lloyd Jackson took home the consolation championship, winning two of their three games.

In the championship game Maxville hammered Edwardsburg 7-3. David Hanson and Brian Kinner led the Maxville club with two goals apiece. Ricky Coleman, Eric Groves and Kerry Ferguson picked up the singles. Bill Lawrence collected two markers for Edwardsburg with Kevin Lawlor notching a single.

Norman MacDonald, Alexandria, won $53 in the 50-50 draw conducted by the Bar-B-Q team in the intermediate league. Another draw will be held Saturday night during the Morrisburg-Alexandria game in the arena, here.

Maxville's other victory was a 2-1 decision over Cornwall Township.

Their only loss was at the hands of the Cornwall "B" team by a 3-1 count.

The organizers of the tournament picked an individual star from each of the eight teams.

The stars were as follows: Cornwall Township, Kevin Tallon; Maxville, David Hanson; Massena, Mark Demers; Edwardsburg, Bill Lawrence; Cornwall B, Rick Ayotte; Cardinal, Bill Kenney; Alexandria, Paul Seguin and Morrisburg, Kevin Osler.

PEEWEE CHAMPIONS—The Alexandria Peewees have been making a big impression in tournaments entered so far this season. In the Long Sault tournament a couple of weeks past they came home with the A championship trophy they are displaying in the picture. To earn this they defeated Cardinal, Spencerville and Iroquois. In Maxville last Saturday they were runners-up for the A trophy; they defeated St. Albert and St. Isidore before being eliminated by Vanier City in the finals. They are left to right: Coach, Ernest Etherington, Tommy McLeister, James Villeneuve, Ewen McCormick, Doug Brown, Donald Gagnon, Ronnie Etherington. Back row, Paul Depratto, Paul St. Denis, Glenn MacMillan, Keiran McCormick, Jed Barker, Richard Chollette. Missing from the picture: Mark Woreley, Bruce MacKenzie and Andre Claude.

A paragraph of type was misplaced in last week's report on the evidence at the Cleroux trial. A reference to non-payment of parking tickets was so positioned as to appear to be part of the testimony given by P. A. Charlebois. Actually, it was evidence given by Acting Chief Leo Lemieux.

Auxiliary Pins For Candy Strippers

Mrs. Stewart Burns, Almonte, representative for District 9, Ontario Hospital Auxiliaries Association, spoke on the qualities of a good volunteer at the meeting of the Glengarry Memorial Hospital Auxiliary in the Board Room, Wednesday, January 26th.

Five requisites for volunteer service are perspective, responsibility, imagination, being informed and the fact that one must be needed. Auxiliary members should realize that more services are as important as the raising of funds.

Services must have the support and supervision of hospital administration, they must be well planned, must blend into the daily schedule, and be carried out efficiently.

"This is a job to be proud of, and is of special value because it is done of your own free will. The volunteer who always says 'certainly' is a great asset."

Mrs. Burns was introduced by Mrs. Aime Lalonde and thanked by Mrs. Jerry Adams who said the group felt as though the speaker had "recharged our batteries for greater service."

Mrs. Burns invited Auxiliary members and friends to a regional meeting to be held April 20th at the Rideau Regional Hospital

Annual Meeting Williamstown United Plans 165th Anniversary In June

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's United Church, Williamstown, was held Jan. 22. The evening program was preceded by dessert and coffee, and included presentation of reports.

Rev. Douglas MacKay opened the meeting with a worship service

Foods And Fashions Of Several Countries Featured At WI Meeting

A very enjoyable and extraordinary afternoon was spent at Picnic Grove WI Home on Thursday, Jan. 27th with WI members and friends from Summerstown, Martintown, Bainsville and Lancaster attending.

The occasion was "International Day," sponsored by Picnic Grove WI members under the leadership of Mrs. Pat Morgan, convenor of International and ACWW.

Seven countries were represented with native costumes, some of their special dishes and many items of interest were displayed.

Mrs. Jean Sangster and Mrs. Mary Sangster had a French Canadian display of hand-made pottery and Beauceware, an ancient syrup cruet, a spittoon (used as a jardiniere) and hand carved wooden figures. They served delicious samples of "tortierres" and maple syrup pie.

Mrs. Jane Ollen and Mrs. Margaret MacNaughton, in Lebanese head-dress, chose to tell about Lebanon, assisted by Mrs. C. Kahl, Mrs. A. Salhani, Mrs. John J. Assaly and Mrs. Nick Kaneb, all of Cornwall, who graciously served several delicious Lebanese dishes: Syrian bread, chick-pea dip with sesame and pine nuts, sautéed egg plant, "Kibbee" (ground lamb with crushed wheat), "Moojadara" rice lentils, fried onions and spinach; Lebanese pepper; spinach pies, and Lebanese pastries. They also had on display a "debouci" (a drum) and a "hookah" (a pipe smoked through water). His excellency Dr. Alif Gebara, Ambassador to Canada from Lebanon, sent a Lebanese flag.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ferguson and Mrs. Kit Gourlay, wearing Mexican hats and panchos, had a beautifully decorated Mexican booth with a Mexican blanket and woven mat as a backdrop. Mexican glass, pottery, sand dollars and other native shells; a large jade egg, and a poinsettia were also displayed. They served taco shells filled with ground meat and condiments taco sauce, Louisiana hot sauce, red and green chili, jalapenos and Mexican-style rice.

Mrs. Anna May Wightman, in a beautiful white wool Norwegian costume, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Aggie Hamre, displayed on a hand-painted burlap table cover, Norwegian brushed aluminum, several items of enamel (enamel on copper and enamel on tin) Norwegian flags, a tiny silver and glass viking ship (a salt cellar). They served Christmas bread, roast pork, sauerkraut, Jalaberg cheese, rice cream dessert with black currant sauce, Krumkake (nut bars), Fyrstekake (a pastry over almond sugar).

Mrs. Ella Smith and Mrs. Myrtle MacPherson, in gay summer holiday attire, exhibited Jamaican sand and shells, burnt-wood beads, raffia mats, a carved bamboo vase, a carved animal ash tray, and a beautiful ceramic brooch. Serviettes and tea-cloths bearing the blossoms of six trees of Jamaica poinciana, wild cotton, jacaaranda, cassia, petrea and the purple Queen of flowers, made a colorful array. They served pumpkin soup and a fruit salad served in a scooped out half of a pineapple.

Mrs. Pat Morgan and Mrs. Eileen Fournier dressed in Indian saris represented India, Pakistan and Ceylon. Mrs. Morgan commented on the display of Pakistan cottons and hand-painted cotton shirt from Ceylon, describing the cobras depicted on Indian brass candles, elephant bells, several items of Indian ivory, spices and saffron, incense from Pakistan, a hand-woven pure silk Indian scarf, Moslem temple bells, and a brass candelabra. They served saffron rice, with curried chicken and condiments of mango chutney, pineapple, shredded coconut, salted raisins and peanuts with "poppy dums" (bread). Mrs. Fournier poured Ceylonese tea and Darjeelon (Pakistan) tea and described the different religions of India.

The afternoon was a great success with about eighty visitors attending.

tend church. The Friendly Neighborhood Club was organized.

This non-denominational group has already met once in St. Andrew's hall. It is for all ages and plans to alternate meetings between St. Andrew's and St. Mary's church halls.

Preliminary plans were made for the 165th anniversary of St. Andrew's Church, to take place in June this year. The anniversary is celebrated every five years.

Mr. MacKay expressed his thanks for the help and co-operation from all departments, the choir, board of stewards, Christian education, the United Church Women and members of the congregation.

The UCW report was given by Mrs. Mac Warden, the out-going president. There were 11 meetings during the year, a world day of prayer ecumenical service was held, with Mrs. J. W. Irvine of Cornwall as guest speaker.

Speakers at some of the UCW meetings were Mrs. Innes MacGregor from the adult training school; Miss Pam McDonnell who teaches a class of retarded children; Mrs. Pelletier from the Cornwall VON, who described the home care program, and at one meeting there was a panel discussion on the proposed union of Anglican and United churches.

Many quilts and knitted articles were given to the Save the Children fund and a bale of clothing was sent overseas.

The UCW and the ladies from St. Mary's church joined for a party at Glen-Stor-Dun Lodge, there were gifts for shut-ins at Christmas, and there was catering done for dinners and suppers during the year. An important day for the UCW was the Williams-town Fair day, when the group sponsored a food booth, which turned out to be highly successful. The UCW also contributed to the Mission and Service fund.

Mrs. Warden expressed appreciation to the UCW which has comparatively few members for such an active group.

W. J. C. Barrett gave the report of the session, stating there were six baptisms, five funerals and eight new members received in the church, which has 224 members.

Reports on the endowment and cemetery funds were presented by M. C. MacRae, the secretary-treasurer of the cemetery board. Robert McDonnell has been appointed assistant in that department.

Mrs. A. R. MacNaughton reported on the Messenger group. There were 10 meetings with from eight to 15 children aged from one to 12 years.

The report on the church choir was given by Mrs. Duncan Grant. A number of young people have joined the choir this year. Prac-

MAXVILLE

WI HEARS TRAVELOGUE ON CANADA

Mrs. Domina Carriere was hostess at the January 28th meeting of the Women's Institute, Maxville Branch.

Mrs. Carriere took an interested audience back to farming in the twenties, when most of the work was done by horse drawn vehicles, with women doing the driving.

Then, the threshing bees, with 15 or more men to be fed afterwards, and all the cooking to be done over a wood fire.

Cutting ice during the winter months, to keep the milk cool during the heat of the summer. All a far cry from today's electrified farms.

Mrs. E. A. McEwen read some interesting, indeed fascinating current events.

For instance, did you know, Secretary-General Waldheim would like to see women serving at the United Nations.

Canadians spend a billion dollars a year keeping their houses warm, and, a good recipe to prevent drinking hang-overs, moderation. There were others both entertaining and factual.

The afternoon's speaker was Mrs. Robertson McRae. Mrs. Mc-

Rae travelled verbally with her listeners across Canada, citing highlights of each province as she passed through.

The Maritimes she found slow paced and contented, not striving to keep up with the Jones.

Prince Edward Island had farms like gardens. In Halifax she had the thrill of seeing a large swordfish landed.

The Highland Games at St. Annes, and beautiful scenery along the Cabot Trail.

Across Canada until finally British Columbia. Mrs. McRae was enthralled with BC, its flowers, animals and waterfalls.

One wondered how she could bear to leave there, even to return to beautiful Glengarry.

In all it was quite a journey for her audience.

Leaders were chosen for the February "Sew with Knits" course. Mrs. A. Vallance as leader and Mrs. Keith McDougall as assistant. On completion of this course these ladies will bring the teaching back to Maxville, so that all who wish in the community may benefit.

Mrs. McDougall was also elected program convener for the 1972-73 season, with Mrs. A. Vallance and Mrs. G. Matsell.

Mrs. Howard McEwen will head a committee to work on the March program, which will be on the United Nations. Mrs. Rod. McRae, Mrs. John Sinclair and Mrs. G. Matsell are also on this committee.

The next meeting will be on February 25th, an evening program, and will feature George Matsell who will demonstrate home hobbies.

Everyone welcome.

Dairy Replacements - To Sell Or Not To Sell

As most dairy farmers know, the price of dairy animals has been exceptionally high this winter. In other words, the type of cattle the buyers are looking for are scarce. Farmers are being offered high prices for their cattle, especially calves and open heifers and should closely examine their future situation before consenting to the sale. The milk that you must produce to fulfill quota two and three years from now will have to come either from your present supply of young heifers and calves or from purchased replacements at the time you require the milk. Can you afford to buy replacements at the present price or higher? It is quite possible with cattle moving across the border the way they are that replacements will remain just as scarce as now and prices will go higher. If this is the situation, keeping these young cattle may be worth a lot more than what you can presently sell them for. We are not suggesting that everyone stop selling dairy cattle but only that you take a close look at your future situation for both milk and replacements before you do so.

NEW EBI STAFF

Here are a few notes to those people using the services of Eastern Breeders. As you know the staff in the Alexandria office has recently been increased substantially. These new men are just becoming accustomed to this area and request your help in doing so. If you are asked on the phone to give your address, please do so. EBI are aware of several mistakes caused by farmers having identical names and until the technicians are more familiar with the territory they will be asking for addresses to keep these people straight. Another small but worthwhile point is that a name on a mailbox makes location of your farm much easier for these people. If you can help in either of these ways it may help improve the service that you are receiving.

PORK INSURANCE PLAN

Pork producers should be aware of the new pork insurance plan being proposed by the Ontario Pork Producers Marketing Board. It is hoped everyone received a copy in the mail but if not a copy is available from Mrs. Myers, Dalketh. It is your duty as hog producers to study this program and either support it, suggest changes or voice your disapproval before the plan has been finalized. The time to speak is now, not sometime in the future, when a decision is made to which you don't agree. The annual Pork Producers meeting will be held February 9th and this topic will be discussed at this time.

BASIC HERD

I was advised this morning that the date for establishing basic herd has been extended to April 30, 1972, for those eligible prior to Jan. 1, 1972. Cattle purchased in 1972 are not eligible.

TALKS ON TAX REFORM

The tax reform legislation recently presented by Mr. Benson profoundly affects Canada's farming community and rural property owners. On two forthcoming editions of CBC-TV's Country Canada (Sundays, February 6 and 13, at 1.30 p.m.) Ron Neily will be discussing the major changes of interest to farmers with Estate Planner Donald Cox.

Mr. Cox, who has written for the Agricultural Press on this project, will explain the implications of: the elimination of estate tax; capital gains tax; elimination of basic herd; elimination of gift tax; and new rates of tax.

Glengarry - Bred Cow High Producer

Wenron Mattie Champion is one of a handful of cows in the world that have produced over 10,000 lbs. of butterfat in their lifetime. A registered Holstein, she was bred by John F. McRae & Son, Bainsville, and is now owned by Donald Collins, Collins-Crest Farm, Perry, NY.

Mr. Collins threw a party for 15-year-old Mattie, attended by many leading figures in the dairy industry, to celebrate her crossing of the 10,000 lb. mark. Her unofficial production at that time was quoted as 224,336 lbs. milk containing 10,127 lbs. fat. Her early records were made in Canada and the balance in the USA. Her largest single record was made as a 13-year-old when she produced in 343 days 25,595 lbs. milk containing 1,036 lbs. fat and testing 4.0 per cent butterfat.

According to David H. Clemons, assistant secretary-manager of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, who attended the celebration, Mattie is a remarkably young looking cow for her fifteen years of age. She has a wealth of dairy quality and carries an excellent udder, well-balanced and tightly attached both fore and rear. Mattie is classified "Excellent" the highest rating for type.

Board Postpones Office Complex

The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry County Board of Education last week refused acceptance of a $139,698 grant, which would have assisted in construction of an administration building.

The board learned Friday from Hon. Lucien Lamoureux, Stormont-Dundas MP, that its application for a Local Initiatives grant had been approved that morning by the department of manpower.

By a 9-6 margin trustees turned down the building project, which was to have created 87 jobs. Opponents said they were concerned about the burden on ratepayers to make up the difference in a total building cost of $480,000.

A local architectural firm, M. S. Thompson and Associates, had presented plans and sketches for the education centre. Its construction now remains part of a long-term plan, and is scheduled for 1974-75.

Mary's church hall, on the occasion of his retirement.

An address was read by Ernest Larocque, praising Mr. Stanley for his faithful work for St. Mary's for many years. A retirement gift of a new general purpose television aerial was made.

Rev. Bernard Cameron and Rev. D. B. McDougall both spoke and gave great credit to Mr. Stanley for his good services.

During the evening eucure was played and ladies' first prize was won by Mrs. Melvin Lafave and for men by Roger Pilon, with Victor Pilon winning the door prize. Lunch was served at the close of the evening.

Changing Trends In Education Outlined By Speakers To UCW

Philip Lloyd, principal of Glengarry District High School and C. Campbell Fraser, former principal collaborated in a discussion of modern trends in education at the January meeting of the United Church Women of the Church-on-the-Hill, held at the home of Mrs. D. J. Baxter.

Mr. Fraser stated change is inevitable in a world where people are trying to fit themselves comfortably into an environment. He spoke of education prior to 1965 when he retired, at which time departmental examinations had been eliminated except for three sets of term examinations in the school year.

There is much more flexibility in the curriculum today, he shop and home economics. The old school was teacher centred and was undoubtedly authoritarian in tone and in practice. It operated under a set of rules administered by teachers and principals. The principal was strengthened in the knowledge he had the solid support of a small local school board.

Mr. Lloyd, who is the fifth principal in some eighty years, enlarged upon modern development of education in the last two or three years and hopes for the future.

He pointed out that the rate of change is phenomenal due to the fact we live in a highly complex technological society. It is a society which has changed very rapidly from unskilled to skilled, from fully employed to partially employed, from a 60 to a 40-hour week, from rural to city living and from an agriculturally-based economy to an industrial economy.

With these changes have come a whole host of problems that boys and girls are faced with today, he continued. We have to educate them not for this year, or next year, but so they will be gainfully employed for the year 2000. Society requires social, physical and emotional growth as well as intellectual. The student is encouraged to work at his own level, working as quickly as he can.

Mr. Lloyd explained the efforts of a staff of 61 who endeavor to fit the individual needs of 1,000 students who are required to choose 27 credits over a four-year period.

Education is placing more emphasis on leisure time pursuits, for one of the problems of young people today is adjusting to tremendous amounts of leisure time. A group discussion which followed the speakers, indicated today's students still want guidelines.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. Grant Cameron, program convener, and thanked by Mrs. Jerry Adams.

Mrs. D. J. Baxter presided for the business when annual reports were reviewed proving a successful year. Mrs. Elizabeth Clingen was appointed convener of the March of Dimes, to be held February 7th. The World Day of Prayer will take place March 3rd at Sacred Heart Church.

A Church-on-the-Hill Family Night will be held Wednesday, February 16th, with supper at 6.30. The film "That All Might Be One" will be shown.

Rev. W. H. Baugh led in a service of dedication and installed the officers for 1972: president, Mrs. D. J. Baxter; secretary, Mrs. W. H. Baugh; treasurer, Mrs. Richard Bird; program convener, Mrs. Grant Cameron; supply convener, Miss Mamie MacMillan; sewing convener, Mrs. Ruth Page; Unit president, Mrs. Lorne Hall; community friendship and visiting, Mrs. R. Bird; stewardship and recruiting, Mrs. D. M. Macleod; social functions, Mrs. J. S. Stark and Mrs. Douglas Gebbie; representatives to the Board of Stewards, Mrs. J. H. Humphries and Mrs. Bruce Sova; nominations, Mrs. Philip Lloyd.

Refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. Baxter, assisted by Mrs. Grant Cameron and Mrs. Lorne Hall.
