R. C. A. F. Mobile Recruiting Unit To Visit Winchester

Flying Officer T. B. Senez, of the R.C.A.F. Recruiting Centre, Ottawa, was in town on Monday making arrangements for a "Mobile Recruiting Unit" to visit Winchester on the second Monday of the second complete week in each month, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Standard Time. The first visit will be on Monday, February 16th, the next on March 16th, April 20th, etc.

This is a new system of recruiting for the R. C. A. F. and will do away with the somewhat hit-and-miss method of casual trips into various localities utilizel in past effort.

Young men desiring to sign up with the R.C.A.F. may interview the officers during the time the Recruiting Unit is stationed here each month, and may take a medical examination at the same time, as a Medical Examiner will be present with the Unit, which will make its headquarters at the town hall.

The Ottawa Recruiting District of the R.C.A.F. has been divided into three "trips" under the new plan. On the first schedule F. O. Senez will visit Smiths Falls, Prescott, Brockville, Kingston, Napanee, Perth and Carleton Place. On Trip No. 2 he takes in Winchester, Morrisburg, Cornwall, Lancaster, Alexandria, Hawkesbury and Alfred. The third trip embraces Almonte, Arnprior, Renfrew, Eganville, Killaloe, Barry's Bay, Pembroke, Beachburg and Shawville. In addition there will be what F. O. Senez calls an "elastic trip" which will take the R.C.A.F. mobile recruiting car into places not touched on the regular trip schedules, or provide for "repeat call" where business requires additional service.

WILLIAMSBURG DRUG STORE SUSPENDS BUSINESS

"Our Drug Store," at Williamsburg, owned and operated for the past six years by Mr. Stanley G. Thorpe, has been closed and business discontinued. Mr. Thorpe has accepted a position as dispenser in a military hospital in Kingston. His many friends in Williamsburg and vicinity regret his departure, but all will wish him success in his new undertaking. Mrs. Thorpe and little sons, Murray and Gary, will remain in Williamsburg until spring, when they will join Mr. Thorpe at Kingston.

Travels By Bomber From Newfoundland

L.A.C. Allan Ellacott, of the R.C.A.F., Gander, Newfoundland, arrived home for a few weeks' leave last Saturday. He is a son of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. L. Ellacott. Although Gander, Newfoundland, is some 1200 miles from Winchester, Allan made the trip in less than 8 hours and had time out to do some sight-seeing in Montreal. He left the R.C.A.F. base in Newfoundland at 11 o'clock on Saturday morning in a R.C.A.F. bomber plane, travelling at 12,000 feet most of the way. He arrived in Montreal a few hours later and caught the afternoon train for Winchester, arriving here about 6.30 p.m.

Aircraftsman Ellacott was assigned to a clerical post at Gander shortly after he enlisted in the R.C.A.F., and this is his first leave in several months. He was surprised to see that many of his former chums have left town, most of them being in uniform. He says the weather in Newfoundland is not nearly as cold as it is here, the mercury very seldom registering below zero. The base where he is stationed is one of the largest in the world, but it is located in a desolate part of the Island and there is not much to do outside of his official duties. He gets the Press each week and as Allan says, "It may be a small paper here, but it's a mighty big one when you're away from home. I read every line in it and am grateful to the 100 Club for sending it to me."

Aircraftsman Ellacott says he enjoyed the trip to Montreal in the bomber and is going to try and catch one for the return trip, otherwise it will take him 5 days to reach his base. There were 16 passengers on the bomber which brought him to Montreal. He likes his work and has gained several pounds in weight since enlisting.

However, the program is well-balanced with musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental; fashion parade; ladies' quiz; readings; trios; quartettes, etc. It should provide a pleasant evening's entertainment, and it is hoped that the town hall will be packed to capacity. Rangers Shut-Out Inkerman Rockets, Vernon Flyers Draw With Local Cubs

In the opening game of Monday night's hockey doubleheader, the local Rangers shut out Inkerman to the tune of 5-0. This was the first contest of the Winchester and District Intermediate League and provided plenty of excitement. For the initial games, there was a good crowd of fans on hand and present indications are that the games this year will attract larger crowds than those of last year.

The Rangers outplayed their opponents in the first period, with Lloyd Kenney and Art. Summers scoring two goals each. On these counters, Summers got two assists, Kenny and Carkner each one.

In the second period the Inkerman Rockets settled down and held the Rangers to one goal, scored by Frankie Kellogg.

While Inkerman did not break into the scoring column, due to the stellar netminding of Art. Dupuis, former Maxville Millionaire goalie, they served notice in the third period that they were capable of upholding their end against any team in the league. They held off every Ranger attempt in the final session and only hard luck on several occasions kept them from scoring.

The line-ups were:

Rangers—Goal, A. Dupuis; defence, K. Boyd and J. VanBridger; centre, L. Kenney; wings, A. Summers and C. Carkner; alternates, D. Kenney, F. Kellogg, W. Cross, D. Hutt and L. Holmes.

Inkerman—Goal, S. Dawley; defence, D. Thompson and R. Kirkwood; centre, R. Hurley; wings, J. Kirkwood and F. Salter; alternates, G. McIntosh, A. Hurley; L. Pitt, G. Armstrong, L. Armstrong.

Second Game

In the second game, the Vernon Flyers overcame a 3 to 1 lead in the third period to even the count with the local Cubs—the final score being 4-4.

The visitors opened the scoring in the first period when F. Whitteker slipped one past the Cub goalie. In the second session the Cubs went on the offensive, with Bob Hitsman, Ed. Boyd and Gord. MacDonald each denting the twine. Geo. Elliott and Hitsman were credited with assists on these counters.

Determined to regain lost ground, Vernon came out in the third stanza and before many minutes had lapsed, succeeded in beating the Cubs' goalie three times on shots by E. Docksteader, C. Acres and L. Lemoine, who were assisted by K. Acres, F. Whitteker and D. Whitteker. The Cubs were hard-pressed, but they succeeded in tying the score before the period ended, when Ed. Boyd, in combination with G. MacDonald and Dan Robertson, slipped the rubber in the Vernon net. Final score, 4-4.

The line-ups were:

Vernon—Goal, R. Cumming; defence, G. Whitteker and L. Acres; centre, E. Docksteader; wings, C. Acres and K. Acres; alternates, L. Lemoine, F. Whitteker, F. Acres, D. Whitteker, G. Rixon.

Cubs—Goal, N. Hutt; defence, D. Craig and R. Hitsman; centre, J. Lennox; wings, D. Hitsman and G. Fader; alternates, D. Robertson, E. Boyd, G. MacDonald, G. Elliott, M. Boyd.

Referee, Mel. Scott.

Next Games.

The next doubleheader will be played on Monday evening, when the Cubs take on the Rangers, and Vernon and Inkerman clash. As the Press is printed on Wednesday evenings, the account of last night's games will be published in next week's issue.

Has Your Label Been Corrected?

Our mailing list has been corrected up to Friday, January 9th, and Press subscribers are asked to check the labels on their paper with their last receipts to ascertain if proper credit has been given them. While every precaution is taken to guard against errors in our mailing list, sometimes a slip will occur and we have no way of knowing this unless it is drawn to our attention.

If you have paid your subscription recently and your label has not been changed, let us know at once and we will make the correction.

If you have not paid your subscription, the label on your paper will tell you when your subscription became due, and we would appreciate a prompt remittance. We have mailed accounts to all whose subscriptions are two or more years in arrears, and we trust that subscribers receiving them will make an early effort to have their arrears cleared up.

This money is owing us and we need it badly at the present time. If you cannot pay all your account, pay a portion of it and arrange to have the balance paid later. We are willing to meet every subscriber half way, if given the opportunity. Come in today, and see us.

HERE'S ONE FOR ANDY CLARKE'S COLLECTION

A few weeks ago Andy Clarke, the "Neighborly News" commentator, told his radio audience about a farmer having a sow that gave birth to 100 pigs in 5 years. That's a pretty good record, but the Press has a better one. Mr. Harold Levere, who goes in for hog-raising, has a sow that has given birth to 125 pigs in a little less than five years. These were born in 10 litters. Of the 125 young porkies, Mr. Levere raised 103. Another sow, owned by this producer, has given birth to 70 pigs in two and a half years. She has had five litter in that time, as follows: 9, 12, 15, 15 and 19. The last litter was born last week and fifteen of them are alive and healthy. The other four, Mr. Levere found necessary to destroy as the mother sow could not accommodate all of them.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES BEING DISTRIBUTED

Featured by a buff cover of somewhat different design, Winchester's new telephone directory is being delivered to local subscribers this week.

Since there are more than 5,800 new and changed listings in the alphabetical section alone, the importance of discarding the old book and carefully consulting the new one before placing calls is obvious, if the "wrong number" nuisance is to be avoided.

It is interesting to note that the Dominion Post Office collects well over $10,000 a year for handling the directories of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada. In the largest cities, books are distributed by messenger, but all the smaller deliveries are made by His Majesty's mail.

If you want to enjoy a real entertainment, attend the Red Cross Concert in the Town Hall on Friday, January 16th.

Feed News!

FEED VALUE OF WHEAT

In a bulletin issued by the Alberta Dept. of Agriculture and the University of Alberta, the following report of tests made there show the comparative value of wheat as a feed for pigs.

"Wheat has many qualities which make it a desirable feed for swine and it actually has some advantages over oats and barley. It is low in fibre, high in starch, a fairly good source of protein, and contains a number of essential vitamins. Some idea of the comparative feeding values of the three grains in swine feeding may be obtained from the results of the tests at the University of Alberta. When the three grains of good quality, suitably supplemented, were fed to growing pigs from the time they were weaned until ready for market, it was found that barley was 94 per cent. and oats 87 per cent. as efficient as wheat. In other words, 100 pounds of wheat would replace 106 pounds of barley or 115 pounds of oats."

Wheat is one of the best and one of the cheapest feeds for poultry, pigs or cattle. Coarse grinding or rolling of wheat seems to give better results than fine grinding, even for pigs.

CHEAP WHEAT

We are offering a car of regular, good quality wheat to arrive at Winchester in about two weeks (around Jan. 30th) at $27.00 per ton, in half ton lots or more, at our warehouse (not at the track), the wheat to be taken while the car is being unloaded.

Cash price. Bring bags.

Leave your name and let us know ahead if the wheat is to be ground or rolled.

IN UNITY THERE IS STRENGTH

In the midst of a world torn by war and hate, in a world of sudden treacheries, of the cynical repudiation of solemn agreements and of general suspicion, two countries agree to abolish the tariff walls between them and clasp one another's hand for mutual help and defense.

Those two countries whose action shines like a beacon-light in an ever-darkening world are the United States and Canada.

The two neighboring countries recently completed a pact—a pact that pledges an alliance of resources and production that in no way impinges on the integral sovereignty and independence of either country.

The joint war production committee of Canada and the United States has recommended to the President and to the Prime Minister of Canada:

A joint maximum war production—a unified use of labor and raw materials—a common war program—suspension of all tariff barriers that impede the free flow of necessary war supplies.

These objectives will be immediately implemented.

* * * *

This is a PRACTICAL League of Nations, a league without compulsions, sanctions or political finagling. It should direct the attention of the world anew to the 100-year friendship between Canada and the United States.

There is here a frontier of thousands of miles in which not a defensive fort exists or a soldier stands on guard to watch either country.

All our disputes have been settled amicably by ARBITRATION.

There is a free and constant flow of the two peoples between the two nations.

The Canadian-United States boundary line has faded into almost an imaginary line.

Now today Canadians and United Staters are united as one country and people against a common enemy—an enemy that would annihilate the free institutions of both.

THE IMPORTANCE OF SALVAGE

One way in which we can all work for victory is to become more "salvage conscious." There is too much inclination on the part of the average individual to leave this job to the other fellow, says the Brockville Recorder & Times.

The Monthy Letter of the Royal Bank of Canada for January points out that the collection of iron and steel scrap is at present the principal objective of the National Salvage Committee of the Department of National War Services. The letter goes on to say that it is by no means the only objective.

A special drive for aluminum was successfully undertaken in September and the collection of copper, brass, lead, zinc and other non-ferrous metals is continuous. All of these metals are essential to our war effort.

Not only does the contribution of secondary metal relieve pressure upon our material resources, it affords a great economy in time and labor. In the case of steel, the use of scrap increases the output of the smelters. For example, a smelter turning out 10,000 tons of steel a week using iron ore alone can raise its output to 25,000 tons a week by using iron ore and scrap.

Industrial establishments, business houses and individuals are also urged to collect and recover rubber, paper and cardboard, rags and fibre, oils and fats.

It may seem unnecessary for the largest pulp and paper producing country in the world to collect wastepaper, but here another factor is involved. Every ton of wastepaper employed in the manufacture of paperboard and cardboard in Canada releases the equivalent amount of our wood pulp and paper for export, to secure valuable foreign exchange.

During a period of 16 months, the people of Great Britain saved waste paper valued at $35,600,000 and great enough in volume to fill 40 cargo ships, which were thus released for carrying other materials. They are now intensifying their paper salvage campaign.

Efforts in salvaging useful material must be expanded in Canada. In this, as in other features of our war effort, final success or failure depends upon the co-operation of individuals. As long as a single newspaper, rag or metal article that can be salvaged is burned or thrown away, effort lacks that much of being complete.

TEACHERS ORGANIZE

The Ontario secondary school teachers have apparently taken a leaf out of the book of union organizations and are aiming for a closed shop, if the latter term is permissible. The Teachers' Federation has a membership of 4,000 in this province and proposes to establish a fund to be used in the fight for a uniform minimum salary scale. This objective is to be attained by increasing the annual fee on a graded basis. This contingent fund is to be put to immediate use to provide compensation for three Sudbury teachers who were dismissed recently for fighting on behalf of the Federation's salary policy. Disciplinary action will be taken in the case of teachers who accept positions in schools where conditions are not satisfactory to the Federation. In addition the new executive has been instructed to prepare a brief in opposition to the Provincial Government's proposal to lower the compulsory school attendance age from 16 to 15 years.

A WORD FOR THE FARMER

W. J. Maher, the Cobourg meat merchant, uses his advertising space in The World for other than his stock-in-trade.

Under the heading, "Killing the Goose that Lays the Golden Egg," Mr. Maher has this to say, and it is well said and will find a responsive chord in the country places:

"It surely is a very serious as well as a very sad admission in this serious crisis by some of the patriotic Farmers of this country when they are forced to acknowledge they cannot afford to hire help to furnish the real necessities of life.

"All other manufacturers can afford to hire help and pay good wages.

"So what does all the munitions and other war material amount to, if the Soldier in the Army is not fed by what the patriotic Farmer should be producing.

"I know for a fact that some manufacturing concerns are to-day making more money out of what the patriotic Farmer is producing (at a loss) than they ever made before.

"Better prices to the Farmer would, to my mind, help to solve this very serious problem."

A POST-WAR JOB

Americans and Canadians gasp in astonishment on reading that fresh Irish salmon is offered for sale in the Billingsgate market of London at $4, while asparagus costs from $3.40 to $4.40 a bunch, cucumbers 80 cents apiece, and grapes from $3 to $4 a pound. Those are wartime prices.

Even in times of peace, however, such foods as asparagus and grapes are luxuries in Great Britain. So are many others which the Canadian consumer takes for granted. Fruit of all kinds and milk are commonplace to most Canadian children, while thousands of working class children in England grow up with very little of either.

Perhaps when the war is over some system can be worked out by which, with America's and Canada's help, so important in feeding Britain at present, the peace-time diet can be improved. There has been far too large a proportion, in the past, of bread-and-dripping and tea.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Now that the children have gone back to school, a number of householders hope to be able to catch up with the plots of the radio soap serials.

...—V...—

According to Premier Hepburn, there will be no additional provincial taxation this year. What most people would appreciate even more would be news that provincial taxes were being reduced.

...—V...—

We speak with awed tenderness of our guardian angels; but have we not all had our guiding angels, who came to us in visible form, and recognized or unknown, kept beside us on our difficult path until they had done for us all that they could?

...—V...—

What is not needful and is commonly wrong, namely, is to pass a judgment on our fellow-creatures. Never let it be forgotten that there is scarcely a single moral action of a single man of which other men can have such a knowledge in its ultimate grounds, its surrounding incidents, and the real determining causes of its merits, as to warrant their pronouncing a conclusive judgment upon it.

...—V...—

We are different with different friends; yet if we look closely we shall find that every such relation reposes on some particular apotheosis of oneself; with each friend, although we could not distinguish it in words from any other, we have at least one reputation to preserve; and it is thus that we run, when mortified, to our friend or the woman that we love, not to hear ourselves called better, but to be better men in point of fact.

The Press extends congratulations to the Smiths Falls Record-News and the Carleton Place Canadian, on the passing of another milestone in the publication of those papers. The Record-News has started on its 56th year of service in Smiths Falls, while the Canadian launches out on its 66th year of continuous publication. Both of these papers represent the finest in weekly publications and to their editors we extend best wishes for continued success throughout the years that lie ahead.

On another page of this issue is published a large advertisement by the "Committee for Total War." We recommend it for your careful perusal. If you are in sympathy with the issues set forth in this Advt. (and we believe you should be) we strongly urge that you clip the page out, sign your name to it and mail it to the local member of Parliament. In Grenville-Dundas the member is Col. A. C. Casselman, K.C., M.P., Prescott, Ont., or care of House of Commons, Ottawa. This is an important matter—act today. Parliament opens on January 21st and your name should be sent to the local M. P. before that time, if you approve of an "All-Out War Effort" for Canada.

...—V...—

Wars are not won by holding the thumbs up, placing the fingers in the form of a "V", pasting "V-for-Victory" signs on the windshields of cars or displaying them in windows; or by bright outbursts of oratory by governmental heads. These things, no doubt, have their place in arousing public sentiment, but things we should concentrate on are the training of a vast army, the manufacture of an unlimited supply of guns, ammunition, airplanes, ships, etc. These are the things that are necessary to win wars and the sooner we cut out the whimsicallities, the sooner we will be able to overcome the might of our enemies. Probably the most essential force in accomplishing this task is the power of prayer—let us pray unceasingly—and pray in faith. No nation ever lost anything by relying on God's guidance—that is our greatest need today.

"The Voice of the Press"

MERELY "ON HIS WAY"

(Welland Tribune)

A news despatch says Petain didn't know his destination when he left Vichy to meet a "high German personage" in the occupied zone. The veteran soldier would no doubt give a lot to know where France is headed for, let alone himself.

YEA, VERILY

(Pembroke Bulletin)

The president of the Kirkland Lake mniers' union wired Winston Churchill to intervene in the strike there. No matter what may be the merits of the stand taken by the miners it is a pity that they possess a leader apparently so bereft of common sense.

THE DANGEROUS MICE

(Guelph Mercury)

A Delaware man was afraid the bank would bust, so he took his $200 and put it in the attic. The mice got into the wad and chewed it into shreds. We knew that fast horses soon spill $200, this is the first time mice have figured as being dangerous to the wallet.

BACK TO THE HORSE AND BUGGY DAYS

(Almonte Gazette)

Just when a revival of bicycling seemed to have arrived the government, actuated by war time reasons, comes along and clamps down on the manufacture of these two-wheeled vehicles. If gasoline becomes unobtainable and we can't procure bicycles it will be back to the horse and buggy in towns and the country, and back to the street cars and busses in the cities.

WELL SAID, BROTHER!

(Almonte Gazette)

Reading a statement made by the newspaper publisher, William Randolph Hearst, about what the Americans were going to do to the Japs, the bellicose language recalled that with which he was wont to assail Britain in the good old days. Tub-thumping, chest beating and sabre rattling do not count much in real war—total war. Such noisy tactics may build up newspaper circulations, even win elections in some sections of a country, but when it comes to war they sound like the empty rumble of a distant drum.

THEY SHOULD BE BANNED

(Trenton Courier-Advocate)

If all the money that was spent during the past two weeks by the big shots in Ottawa and Toronto to put "on the dog" at the so-called levees, was invested in war savings stamps and certificates, the folks in the country would be feeling better about it. To ask us in the country to save, and to do without, in order that the government will have the money to finance the war, while the city society is encouraged and permitted to throw money around in such a vain and selfish fashion, is most unfair. And it is about time something was done to stop it.

MUNICIPAL ADVICE

(Brockville Recorder & Times)

Ontario's Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs, A. J. B. Gray, says that the best possible contribution that a municipality can make towards winning the war is to reduce its expenditures. This advice is just as applicable to rural municipalities as to the towns and cities. In many of the former reductions in taxation are long overdue, especially since relief and other costs have dropped to almost nothing. Indeed, the growth in abandoned farms and in depopulation makes it imperative that rural municipalities begin to do something which will relieve their taxpayers and thus assist in prosecuting the war.

VERY IMPORTANT WAR WORK

(Barrie Examiner)

No man engaged in agriculture today need think that he is not engaged in sufficiently important work for a nation and empire at war. Up to next October the Canadian government has contracted to provide the Mother Country with 600 millions of pounds of bacon. This bacon must be of the exportable type. A new ruling, published in the Examiner last week, provided that underweight hogs could not be accepted at packing plants. The farmer then has a definite duty to perform for his country at this time to provide Britain with the bacon she needs and of the right quality. That together with all the other produce the Old Country requires is a sizeable job in itself. One other important thing for farmers to remember is that if the bacon delivered to Britain in wartime proves satisfactory, it will continue to be a very substantially exportable product after the war is over—and that is worth many millions of dollars to Canadian farmers.

THE CHANGING TIMES

(Petrolia Advertiser-Topic)

The Press regrets the closing of the Winchester branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia after 41 years' operations, leaving the town with only one bank. It attributes the closing to a shortage of bank clerks due to the war. The policy of closing branches began shortly after the establishment of the Bank of Canada and is designed to lead in the not distant future to a well-regulated system of banking free of the useless duplication of the past when there was supposed to be competition. Many changes which we regret have taken place during the last half-century. In the town of our youth we have noted the disappearance of three tanneries, a grist mill, a furniture factory, a felt shoe factory and two newspapers. With the coming of the chain store the little bell that used to tingle and summon the owner when the door of the grocer or baker was opened, has given its last tingle in the name of progress. The horse-collar maker, the harness-maker, the tailor, the blacksmith have seen their businesses grow smaller and smaller with the passing years. We may regret the change but what can we do about it?

THE POET'S CORNER

IN HIS IMAGE

In far-flung space
With worlds of stars and sun a-blaze,
Pronounced by Him
Who made them all, as good,
Before the mountains stood,
With earth and sea and sky,
Then man—in thought of God so high
That he, unbound by laws of space,—
Remains the crown of all,
Eternally sublime.

—Dorothy Sproule.

A MOTHER'S PRAYER

The first was when he'd reached age three;
He grinned at Dad—then said to me
"I love you mother, all I can,
Because today I am a man!"

The years sped by—he was sixteen—
He'd brushed his hair into a sheen;
"Tonight I dance with Mary Ann,
Gee Whiz! I guess I am a man!"

And then today — nineteen — no more;
He came, a soldier, through my door—
"I've joined," he called, "they've said I can—Gee, Mum, I really am a man!"

And yet my heart, bereft of joy,
Cries out "Dear God, protect my Boy!"

—Faye Gould McLean

LIFE IS ETERNAL

For there is nothing lives
but something dies,
And there is nothing dies
but something lives;
For thus the falling acorn
buds the trees.
And pulses beat.
Where chill of death has been;
So groping blindly
for the light unseen,
As does the flower.
I have no word to say,
But just in simple faith
Greet each new day.

—Dorothy Sproule.

BEAUTY SHALL NOT DIE

Beauty shall not die on earth
Swords and guns will have their day,
Hate and fear its poisoned sway,
Yet the heart of men shall hold,
Honor—dearer far than gold—
Beauty shall not die on earth.

Beauty shall not die on earth
For behind the clamoring guns
And a million marching Huns,
Faith and hope and love will wait,
Silencing their murderous hate,
Beauty shall not die on earth.

Beauty shall not die on earth
For above the battle still
God—unseen—shall work His will
And His legions clothed in white
Shall unsheath the sword for right,
Beauty shall not die on earth.

—Edna Jeques.

Our Column

A man's measure is his ability to select men and materials and organize them.

The little done vanishes from the sight of him who looks forward to what is still to do.

Churchill says he's in America to "work." And if we all do the same we're sure of victory.

It is true, as someone has so wisely said, that no one ever won a fight by running away from it.

Hearing Winston Churchill deliver a speech makes it very hard to imagine him with an umbrella.

A Nova Scotian parson characterizes marriage as a "war-time disease." Perhaps so, and evidently a very contagious one.

The richest man in the world today is he who can wake up at two o'clock in the morning and go right back to sleep again.

What had the life of Jesus been to us, if we had only the record of his sermons without the record of his going about doing good.

You see the lamb was not alive;
'Twas made into a coat,
And when the tailor sent his bill,
He got poor father's "goat."

If the canners, running short of tin, turn to glass containers, at least the housewife will have a better chance to see what she is buying.

There will be no price ceiling on fresh water fish. There's no need for one, that being a commodity people don't want when it's high anyway.

It is predicted that there will be a shortage of golf balls next summer. That won't be so bad as long as the production of cannon balls keeps up.

There is no conversation so agreeable as that of a man of integrity, who hears without any intention to betray, and speaks without any intention to deceive.

To be happy, the passions must be cheerful and gay, not gloomy and melancholy. A propensity to hope and joy is real riches; one to fear and sorrow, real poverty.

The greatest possible good can be done by the extension of a helping hand at the right moment, but the attempt to carry anyone permanently can end in nothing but harm.

No man can tell whether he is rich or poor by turning to his ledger. It is the heart that makes the man rich. He is rich according to what he is, not according to what he has.—Beecher.

It is a mistake to think that only violent passions like ambition and love, can conquer the others. Sloth, in spite of its languor, is often the master; it encroaches on all the plans and actions of our life, and devours by degrees both passions and virtues.—La Rochefoucauld

WARTIME WAGE CONTROL INSTRUCTIONS

The National War Labour Board has issued instructions to Canadian employers and employees in regard to the Wartime Wages and Cost of Living Bonus Order (P. C. 8253).

As detailed in the advertisement appearing elsewhere in this issue, these instructions define what are national industries falling within the scope of the National War Labour Board at Ottawa, and those that come within the jurisdiction of provincial, or Regional War Labour Boards.

Since wage control, together with price control, have become integral parts of Canada's wartime design for living, the National War Labour Board has considered it necessary to demarcate, for the purposes of the administration of the Order, the respective jurisdictions of the National and Regional Boards.

In general, National employers are designated as those whose operations—such as transportation and public utilities, etc.—are inter-provincial in character, or those whose industrial activities—particularly mining and shipbuilding—are closely related to the national war effort as a whole.

Regional employers are considered those in which the operations of the industry or business is definitely within provincial or municipal boundaries. In this category fall most war production plants, all sections of retail and wholesale trade, and services, etc.

Employers and employees in the national field should address their communications to the Secretary, the National War Labour Board, Ottawa, while those in the Regional category should address themselves to the Regional War Labour Board in care of their respective provincial governments.

Interpretative Rulings on the Order have been issued in bulletin form, and these may be obtained on application to any Regional War Labour Board.

YOUNG CANADA STEPS OUT

For Release 14-1-1942

"Step out in uniform" say the posters outside many recruiting offices all over the Dominion. Here is a young soldier who has taken that message to heart, stepping out in the new "walking out" uniform shortly to be issued to all soldiers for wear off parade. The smart new dress as seen above includes a jacket out very much like that worn by officers, smart trousers, collar and brown tie and black leather low shoes.

These pictures of the sample uniforms give you an advance glimpse of the new uniform which, with wedge cap of regimental colours and "swagger stick" is probably the smartest ever designed for the Canadian Army.

Is the young lady looking at the man or the uniform? Perhaps it's all the same thing today when the uniform makes the man.

TOTAL WAR NOW!

The Parliament of Canada meets on January 21st. The most momentous session in Canadian history begins in a few short days. It is your Parliament. The members are the servants of the people, not of any party. They represent every one in the constituency which elected them. Each one of them needs your help as never before. Assert your democratic right to govern. Tell your member what you think should be done and do so without delay.

There is one issue which overshadows all others. The Prime Minister of Canada has told us what that issue is. These are his own words: "There is only one way to meet total war, and that is by total effort."—"We must maintain the Canadian army at full fighting strength." The Leader of British democracy told the people of Canada what total effort means. These were Winston Churchill's words: "In this strange, terrible world war there is a place for every one, man and woman, old and young, hale and halt. Service in a thousand forms is open. There is no room for the dilettante, for the weakling, for the shirker or the sluggard. The mine, the factory, the dockyard, the salt sea waves, the fields to till, the home, the hospital, the chair of the scientist, the pulpit of the preacher—from the highest to the humblest, the tasks are all of equal honor. All have their part to play."

To fulfil that description of total effort is the first and foremost duty of the Parliament of Canada. The people of Canada must be told what part they are to play. They cannot guess. Every man and woman, strong or weak, old or young, must be guided by the Government to the post where they can contribute most to victory. We are conscious of the substantial efforts made throughout the war by the Canadian Government. We are anxious to assist them in making the vital decisions forced upon them by the events of the past few weeks. We do not believe that the people of Canada consider that their Government or its leader are in any way bound by undertakings given before the United States entered the war. This is no time for a referendum. The responsibility rests squarely on Parliament. The war will not wait.

There is only one way to meet total war—by total effort—that is to mobilize all our manpower and material resources under a plan of universal compulsory selective service. Those who can serve best on the farms must work on the farms. Those who can serve best in the factories must work in the factories. And those best fitted to serve in the armed forces must be trained, equipped, and available for service in Canada or overseas anywhere at any time. That is the only way that our farms, our factories and our armed forces can wage total war. No half measures are consistent with national honor.

If you agree with that opinion then it is your duty to tell your member NOW that you want him to insist upon the immediate adoption of such a plan. Tell him that you want the business of government brought into Parliament where it belongs. Tell him to inform Parliament, and through Parliament the whole of Canada, that the people of his riding advocate and will support any measures, however drastic, which will assure the last ounce of effort of which they are capable. To Canada's Parliament, which meets in a few short days, Mr. Winston Churchill said this: "The enemy has asked for total war. Let us be sure that he gets it." Tell your member in the short time which still remains that you want to be sure that we do wage total war and that you want him to say so in your behalf on the floor of Parliament.

There is an added reason why you must act immediately if you believe that democracy is government by the people. Last week, President Roosevelt told one hundred and thirty million people of the United States where their armed forces are going to fight in this war. "As our power and resources are fully mobilized, we shall carry the attack against the enemy—we shall hit him and hit him again, wherever and whenever we can reach him." We are partners with the United States in this struggle. We signed a pact binding us to a common effort. National honor and the safety of our people demand that every man who wears the uniform of Canada be ready at all times to go overseas to hit the enemy wherever and whenever he can be reached. What a shameful travesty of justice it would be if we approved of unity of military command and failed to establish unity of sacrifice between nations. Canada's honor is at stake.

The Committee for Total War urges you to act without delay. Send your member a telegram, a letter or a postcard at once. This is your most important task. Your member represents you no matter what your party may be. He is your voice in Parliament. When you put down this newspaper, act at once. If you agree with the opinion supported by this Committee, say so.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

Discolored Enamelware

If the enamelware has become discolored, it can be cleaned with a paste made of salt and vinegar.

Cottage Cheese Dish

An especially delicious dish is cottage cheese mixed with toasted salted almonds, and sprinkled with minced green

Burns.

It is claimed that scraped potatoes make a very cooling application for burns and scalds, changing the application frequently.

Washing Rugs.

Rugs should not be wrung after washing. Hang them on the line and play the hose on them to rinse. Then let them drip and dry.

A Different Breakfast Food.

Try popping some popcorn with grease or salt, then running it through the food chopper. Serve with sugar and cream. It is both economical and healthful.

Soap Bubbles.

If the youngster wishes to blow some soap bubbles, add a little gum arabic to the soapy water. This will give the bubbles an elasticity and make them last much longer.

Restoring Velvet.

If any portion of a velvet dress is crushed, hold that part over a wide basin of hot water, placing the wrong side next to the water. The pile will be restored.

Temporary Repair.

If the window pane has been cracked and a new pane is not immediately available, give it a coat of clear shellac. This will make it waterproof until a new pane can be procured.

Rancid Butter.

The most rancid butter can often be freshened if broken up into fresh milk. Allow it to absorb the milk, drain thoroughly, then wash in cold salted water and work it again into the desired form.

The Waffle Iron.

To test the electric waffle iron for the right heat, place a sheet of white paper between the grids. When the paper turns brown, the iron is then ready to receive the first batch of waffles.

Improper Ironing.

Be sure not to dampen the clothes so much that it is difficult to iron them absolutely dry. If clothes are not ironed absolutely dry, they tend to crease easily and look unsightly after one wearing.

Cleaning the Hairbrush

Mix a half-cup of salt and flour in equal proportions, rub it through the bristles of the hairbrush, and it will make it as clean as when new. Be sure to shake out the mixture thoroughly before using the brush again.

Mist on Eyeglasses

The following will prevent mist from forming on eyeglasses when coming from the outside air into a warm room: Mix olein-potash soap with about three per cent. glycerine and a small amount of oil of turpentine, and polish the lenses with this solution.

Placing the Piano.

If the piano is to be placed against an outside wall, it is well to see that it rests a few inches away from the wall. Otherwise, the dampness entering through the wall will ruin the tone of the piano and cause it to become out of tune very quickly.

Glossy Linens.

Some persons desire a high gloss on their linens. To obtain this, use lukewarm water instead of cold when mixing the starch. Mix to the desired thickness with boiling water, add one-half teaspoonful of salt and stir well with a white wax candle. Then proceed with the starching as usual. This will impart a much finer appearance to the cheaper grade of linens.

OBITUARY

LATE EVA DELL BAKER

Miss Eva Dell Baker, second youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Edwin Baker, passed away in the Rochester, N. Y., Hospital on December 24th, 1941, after a lingering illness of over a year. The deceased was born in Winchester, and even as a school girl she revealed qualities of capability, originality and energy, and so developed a personality of charm and distinction. Whatever she undertook she did well, and she pursued her studies with diligence, both in public school and Collegiate Institute.

Miss Baker's ability was recognized in the various business concerns she entered in later life, and high value was placed upon her services. Seeking the door of opportunity for the good and welfare of others, she entered the nursing profession and during her career she made a host of friends, and her memory will be long cherished by citizens in all walks of life, both in the United States and Canada.

In religion, Miss Baker clung to the faith of her people, who were United Empire Loyalists. Among some of her last requests were that her remains be brought to the home of her brother, Earl Baker, and that her funeral service, at the end of life's journey here, be preached in what was formerly known as the old Methodist Church, which her grandfather, the late Benjamin Baker, helped to construct and furnish the stone for. The service was conducted by Dr. T. A. Halpenny. The pall bearers were Clark Hutt, William Carkner, Jerry Summers, Wilburn Coons, Cecil Strader and Clair Carkner.

Many letters of sympathy and floral offerings were received from the Summers' Sunday School, The T. Eaton Co. Limited, The Sheer-on Optical Co., and many others from the States and friends and relatives in Canada.

Left to mourn her loss is one brother, Mr. Edwin Earl Baker, of Detroit, Mich., and two sisters, Freda Pearl Baker, of Toronto, and Mrs. Sparling Redmond, of Winchester. Interment was made in the family plot, Maple Ridge Cemetery. —Contributed.

The more we study the more we discover our ignorance.—Shelley.

UNITED CHURCH W. M. S.

The first Auxiliary meeting of the Women's Missionary Society for 1942 was held on January 8th in the S. S. Rooms. The President, Mrs. Wm. Steele, conducted the Worship Service using the theme, "We Live By Faith." Mrs. P. Durant assisted by singing a solo. After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Mrs. O. Wallace, suggestions regarding the work were discussed and approved.

A year in which Community Friendship was emphasized and in which increased interest in the work was indicated in every department was summed up in the excellent reports of the departmental secretaries.

The Christian Stewardship Secretary, Mrs. W. Lannin, presented the allocation of $745.00, which is smaller than previous years.

The Society's prayer partner for 1942 is Miss Lois E. Russel, of West China.

The treasurer, Mrs. H. L. Hughes, reported a substantial increase over last year's givings.

Twenty-five dollars was contributed by Harmony Auxiliary.

Mrs. L. Suffel, Cor. Secretary, read a letter of Greetings from the Presbyterial President, Mrs. Ed. McKendry, also a letter from Mrs. Levere.

OBITUARY

LATE MRS. ALBERT BOUCK

Mountain lost one of its most highly esteemed residents in the passing of Mrs. Albert Bouck, in the Brockville General Hospital, on Wednesday, January 7th, after a brief illness. She was in her 71st year.

The late Mrs. Bouck was the former Mary Ann Hamilton, of Glen Stewart. In 1889 she married Albert Bouck, of Dundela, who predeceased her in 1931. After two years spent at Hallville, Mrs. Bouck has been a resident of Mountain until her death.

She was a woman of profound religious convictions and possessed a high standard of Christian living. She lived so that those who knew her did not doubt that she enjoyed in her own soul the love and faith she commended to others.

The late Mrs. Bouck was a devout member of the former Methodist church, now the United Church, of Mountain, She joined the Women's Association when it was organized, and held the office of President for 18 years. She was also a very faithful and active member of the Women's Missionary Society.

She leaves to mourn her passing, a niece, who is an adopted daughter, Violet VanAllen; and four brothers, David S. and Eddie J., of Glen Stewart; Christie, of Centralia, Washington, and Herman, of Iroquois.

The funeral was held from her late residence on Friday, January 9th, to the Mountain United Church, where the service was conducted by Rev. W. R. Johnston, assisted by Rev. G. A. Beatty, of Hallville, and Rev. Mr. Revie, of Mountain. Rev. Mr. Johnston took his text from I Cor. 15:57, "This is the Victory." The choir, assisted by members of the Hallville choir, sang "Heaven is My Home," and Mrs. Sheldon Robinson, of Winchester, rendered a solo, "I'm Going Home To Die No More." These were requests of the late Mrs. Bouck.

The opening hymn, "Abide With Me," and the closing hymn, "I do not ask, O Lord, that Life may be a Pleasant Road," were also requested.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Wm. McConnell, R. D. Cheney, Ed. Loftus, Robt. Bryan and Willis VanAllen, of Mountain, and F. R. Barriger, of South Mountain.

Mr. Barkey died suddenly at his home, at the age of 87 years. He was born in Williamsburg township of U. E. Loyalist descent, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barkley. Most of his life was spent in Mountain township, where he farmed. Two years ago he retired and went to Morrisburg. Mrs. Barkley survives, and two sons, George and Edward, both of Morrisburg. A Way to Serve....
and a Way to MAKE MONEY

IN THESE DAYS we are all anxious to serve our country's best interests. But we are all increasingly conscious, too, that "money makes the mare go." So it's mighty pleasing and important, too, to find a way to serve, and at the same time break more than even.

Here's one way, "made to order": Fill all the brooder space you have with early chicks....the best you can buy.

These huge British orders for eggs at a price ranging between 28.79c and 32.12c per dozen, Grade A-Large, at Canadian seaboard, and the Dominion Government subsidy of 3c per dozen on Grade A-Large bought for export, have put a definite "floor" under Canadian egg prices. Unless we miss our guess by a mighty wide margin, Winter and Spring egg prices, this year, will hold at least 7c, and probably 10c per dozen above those of a year ago. That's a paying difference, and it appears likely to continue.

We don't suggest over-expanding, overloading, or overcrowding. That's bad business. But we do suggest that you should use all the poultry equipment you have, to the limit. Start all the good chicks you have accommodation for, early.....just as soon as you can get your brooder house cleaned up, tightened up, and ready. Both the egg and broiler markets look so promising that you can't afford to overlook this really extra-special profit possibility; and there's practical patriotism in it, as well as profit.

Naturally, when you're choosing your good chicks, we would like to have you consider Bray Chicks. They're good chicks. They've done a real profit-making job for others. They ought to do the same for you. Get your order in early.

Extra Income!

Could you use some extra income 10 or 12 weeks from now? You can get it easily enough if you have brooder room for some extra Bray "90%" cockerels. Check up on the price of broilers, and you'll soon see what we mean, in dollars and cents.

RECOGNITION ACCORDED TO MRS. DOROTHY SPROULE

National recognition is accorded the talent of Mrs. Dorothy Sproule, 1235 Crescent Street, Montreal, through acceptance of this poet's work in the streamlined national anthology, "Music in Miniature," it was learned recently.

This anthology of poems not longer than ten lines is said to be the first co-operative, profit-sharing anthology ever launched.

She has also been honored with the privilege of inviting the poets of Montreal vicinity to submit poems for consideration for its pages.

Her poem selected for inclusion by the nationally known editor, Lucia Trent, of The Peots' Embassy, San Antonio, Texas, is entitled: "Stability."

"Most of the world's best remembered, most quoted poems are probably shorter than eleven lines,"- according to Mrs. Sproule." This, the first collection of such short poems, should prove again that poetry can pack a lifetime thought into a minute's reading. Poetry is needed today. But to be heeded in the rush, poetry does well to be streamlined, short."

SHORT COURSE WELL ATTENDED

The short course in Agriculture, which was held in the Agricultural School, Kemptville, last week, had an attendance of nearly 50 young farmers. This was very gratifying as the Course had been carefuly arranged to give much useful information in a short space of time. The general dairy course was also held last week and had a record attendance, showing that the dairymen of the province recognize the importance of the fine new dairy school and the advantages to be gained by attendance at the course.

Beauty for YOU
The Secrets of Good Looks by Barbara Lynn.

HAVE ATTRACTIVE HAIR

Your hair is one of your most noticeable features, so it will add much to your attractiveness if you will spend a little more time on it. And you can have fun with your hair, too—alter your whole appearance by changing the style of its dressing now and then.

First, though, make your hair healthy and glossy. If the scalp is scurvy, your hair will look dull and lifeless. Buy a good hair tonic and massage thoroughly Follow with a really brisk brushing to into the scalp two or three times a week. remove loose dandruff and stimulate the scalp. Use a brush with strong bristles; a soft brush is useless.

A secret of lovely hair is to have regular shampoos. Halo shampoo will bring out the natural beauty of the hair and is suitable for every type of hair. Halo shampoo is simple to use, too.

Dry hair should be dressed with brilliantine regularly. For greasy hair, treat the scalp with a good spirit tonic. The following is a good recipe: methylated spirits, four ounces; salicylic acid, one-eight ounce; liquor picis. carb., half ounce. Incidentally, a permanent is an excellent thing for a greasy head; it tends to dry up surplus oil.

It is possible to make a face look entirely different by changing your style of hairdressing. Try to accentuate the good points and conceal the bad ones. I'll help you if you'll write me. Send four one-cent stamps for my booklet on Beauty Care. It is full of interesting and helpful information. Address: Miss Barbara Lynn, Box 75, Station B., Montreal, Que.

The Royal Bank of Canada 73rd Annual Meeting

Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, hails new partnership of Canada and the United States. As Chairman of the British War Supply Council sees Germany outstripped by Britain and North America in 1942.

Sydney G. Dobson, General Manager, reports assets over $1,000,000,000. Sees record business expansion this year.

Prediction that Germany's war production would be outstripped in 1942 by the combined output of Canada, the United States and Great Britain, was made at the 73rd Annual Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada by Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director.

In his annual address Mr. Wilson gave factual evidence of the tremendous productive capacity of North American factories and spoke in glowing terms of the fine record made by Canadian industry since the outbreak of war.

"Two years ago," said Mr. Wilson, "we were incapable of outfitting an infantry division; today our industries can equip a new division every six weeks. Canadian equipment is being used in every area of war."

Mr. Wilson paid particular tribute to the Government for the way in which it had approached industry and persuaded manufacturers to go into production of the strange and complicated apparatus of war.

CONTROLS CURB INFLATION

Referring to the steps already taken to control inflation Mr. Wilson said, "You cannot divert half a million men into the armed services to engage in the most extravagant kind of destruction and consumption of goods, and expect business at home to proceed as usual, or prices to remain as usual.

"With the tragic memory of the inflation of the first World War in mind, thinking people believe that almost any measure would be justified to prevent repetition.

"If anyone is inclined to be critical, let him think of how dangerously our present position parallels that of the first Great War. The increase in the wholesale price index in the first 25 months of that war was 20 points; in the first 25 months of this war, the index has climbed 21 points. In the face of these facts, it would be difficult to argue that an effort should not be made to control the situation before it gets out of hand.

"It would be absurd to expect that in the midst of this colossal diversion of material and manpower we should expect to live as we have lived in peacetime.

"We have reached the point where we must cut down unnecessary consumption, in order to make available for the war effort all the resources possible.

"We must keep constantly before us the realization that our war effort consists, in a material sense, in things and services: that is, food, raw materials and manufactured products on the one hand, and man-power on the other."

CANADA PLAYS HER PART

As a comrade in arms of Great Britain, Canada, said Mr. Wilson, had been able to make a material contribution to the common cause. "We pay the whole cost of raising, arming and maintaining the Canadian armed forces serving in Canada, Great Britain, Gibraltor, the Far East, the West Indies and Newfoundland. We supply Great Britain with food, textiles, lumber and finished apparatus of war, and we do not demand "cash on the barrel head." Not one dollar of the $250 millions of gold sent to Canada by Great Britain has been used to pay for goods of Canadian origin—it has all been expended in the United States, with much more of our own gold, to cover a part of the cost of raw materials and machinery brought to Canada to produce war goods for British account.

Little opportunity existed, said Mr. Wilson, for the making of big profits out of the war. "There has been neither opportunity nor disposition for our producers to make big profits out of this war," he said.

CAN OUTSTRIP GERMANY

Mr. Wilson regarded with great satisfaction the close co-operation which has developed between Canada and the United States in recent months and particularly since the Japanese declaration of war.

"Even Germany, with all its vaunted efficiency, and with forced labor, cannot match the production possibilities of North America added to those developed with such extraordinary efficiency by Great Britain under the impact of war.

"Canada's war expenditure in this fiscal year alone is estimated at two billion, 820 million dollars, which is more than twice as much as our total expenditure in all of the last war. The United States has already doubled its entire expenditure during the first Great War.

"United States manufacturers sent to Great Britain in the first seven months of 1941 nearly twice as many combat planes as were lost defending the British Isles during the whole of 1940 . In Canada, starting from scratch, we are producing 40 or more planes a week, of which 15 to 25 are Hurricane fighters.

In conclusion Mr. Wilson paid a warm tribute to the heroic manner in which the people of Great Britain had sustained, for over two years, the terrible impact of war and at the same time performed miracles in the production of urgently needed implements of war.

GENERAL MANAGER'S ADDRESS

In presenting the financial statement, Mr. S. G. Dobson, General Manager, noted that the bank had enjoyed a satisfactory year despite greatly changed conditions due to the war. Notwithstanding Government regulations, "which at one time would have been considered intolerable, but which we recognize as necessary in the kind of war which has been forced upon us, your bank has continued to expand. While it naturally becomes more and more diiffcult to make reasonable profits, we have, because of enlarged business and economies effected, been able to show earnings comparable with a year ago."

Assets of the bank now standing at over $1,000,000,000 were at the highest point in history, said Mr. Dobson. Commercial loans had continued to expand and deposits by the public were at a record level—$152,259,936 higher than at the peak of the boom era.

"More new deposit accounts have been opened this past year than in any similar period in the history of the bank. We are doing our best to foster this growth not only because it builds up the bank's clientele, but mainly because saving is an essential development in our war economy."

1052 ENLISTMENTS

Because of war conditions a greatly increased burden had been placed upon the bank's staff, said Mr. Dobson, and too much credit could not be given for the commendable way in which both men and women had performed their duties.

"Since the outbreak of war," he said 1,052 officers, including 43 from our foreign branches, have been granted leave of absence to serve in the armed forces. In Canada and Newfoundland 40 per cent. of our male employees under 30 years of age enlisted. We have assured all these young men, of whom we are justly proud, and to whose return we are looking forward, that positions will be available to them.

"I regret exceedingly to report that eight of our young men have given their lives in the country's service. We extend to their relatives our sincere sympathy."

PRICE CONTROL

Referring to what he termed the new experience for business of price and wage controls, Mr. Dobson said, "Some people view with concern the institution of these controls and it seems to me an appropriate time to point out that such licensing and price fixing are commonplace with banks.

"Our charters are granted to us by virtue of the Bank Act which comes up for revision at ten-year intervals, at which time the chartered banks are subject to close examination by the Banking Committee of Parliament. All our powers are strictly regulated by law. The maximum rate of interest we are permitted to charge is fixed. There is even a ceiling on the commission we may charge for collecting a bill discounted in one city and payabe in another. We are not allowed to charge more than a fixed flat fee for small casual transactions. We are not permitted to own real estate except for our own use; we must not make loans against real estate security. We are subject to inspection by the Inspector General of Banks. We must make detailed and extensive statements to the Finance Department. Since the outbreak of the war we are required to be licensed by the Foreign Exchange Control Board before we can buy or sell foreign exchange and the regulations lay down the commission we may charge on such transactions.

"I do not point to these things in any critical way, but merely to show that what is revolutionary control of other businesses in the interests of wartime stability, is part of the every-day experience of banks. Price ceilings are not a novelty with us."

In conclusion Mr. Dobson remarked that indications were that 1942 would see all records broken in business expansion.

HULBERT Y. P. A.

The annual meeting of the Hulbert Y. P. A. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thorpe. The meeting opened with the hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," followed by Scripture Reading and prayer. The minutes and roll call were adopted, also a treasurer's report. The election of officers followed:

Honorary president, Rev. Mr. Taylor; past president, Bill Froats; president, Lyle Sullivan; sec'y.-treas., Evelyn Froats; Christian Fellowship convenor, Marjorie Jackson; Christian Missions, Evelyn Thorpe; Christian Citizenship, Daryl Graham; Christian Culture, Coral Flegg; Recreational convenor, Keith Flegg; pianist, Mrs. L. Sullivan.

It was moved and seconded that the Union take the Crusader for 1942, also that a fee of 25c constitutes a member. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer.

"Paul is the most bashful man I ever married."

"What makes you say such a thing?"

"He took along mistletoe on our honeymoon."

THRIFT IN SOUPS

Hello Homemakers! Soup's on! That old Scotch favourite is important when it really means what you say. For soup can be both tempting and substantial—and, of course, it's thrifty.

There are several types of soup. Clear soup is the aristocrat—a little goes a short way—and only paves the way to the main course. Thick legume or vegetable soup is practical, appetizing and wholesome—almost a meal in itself.

Then, there is cream soup. The expression 'cream' soup is misleading since we now use skim milk or the water in which the vegetables are cooked—not cream. Chowders are similar to cream soups but are thickened by adding flaked fish, pieces of meat or any vegetable—but tomatoes or no tomatoes, that's a question which can start a hot argument.

Served generously and well-seasoned, soups are ideal as a main dish for any family. To make soup still more tempting, serve it with plenty of crackers, melba toast, plain biscuits, pastry squares, or bread—inexpensive accompaniments. Along with the proverbial cabbage salad and glorious golden dessert of canned peaches, or stewed apples—soup's on!

Take a Tip:

1. Planning menus in advance helps the food shopper. By doing this, she can often save pennies by buying foods in large quantities.
2. Compare prices of foods with equal food values.
3. Read labels carefully so you will know exactly what is in the packages.
4. Buy in quantity when economical, especially such staples as sugar and flour.
5. Compare cost per ounce or pound of different sized packages.
6. Buy by weight rather than by the dime or dollar's worth.
7. To get the quality you pay for, buy by grade—for example, butter, eggs, beef, canned fruits and vegetables, etc.
8. Buy foods in season. Visit the local market and watch the Mixing Bowl Column to keep up to date on the food situation.
9. Check weights and purchases before you leave a store.
10. Notice the best method of cooking foods to retain the maximum amount of food value.

QUESTION BOX

Mrs. M. D. suggests:—To mend knife handles, place some sulphur in a tin on the range to melt, and when melted pour into opening in handle of knife or fork. The suphur hardens almost immediately.

Answer: Thank you, Mrs. M. D.

Mrs. N. P. writes:—"I have an upright vacuum cleaner. Are there any precautions in cleaning it?"

ANSWER: To clean your electric cleaner, take it outside, as far as cord will allow. Empty the bag into a paper bag. Leave top hanging loose and put into another bag, turn on the switch. You can sweep the outside and fasten the top up.

Mrs. C. F. asks:—"How can I remove candle 'drips' from a broadloom rug?"

ANSWER: Dampen a coth with gasoline, rub the spot with a circular motion.

Anne Allan invites you to write to her in care of The Winchester Press. Just send in your questions on homemaking problems and watch this little corner of the column for replies.

For man's illusion given."
We have to coax the weaker sex,
Because they won't be driven.

THE HUM OF HYDRO IS THE Voice of Victory

● The war calls everyone to a post in 'the front line'—in or out of uniform—and your Hydro answers "Ready!" Giant energy, tapped from Ontario's waters, flows over 6,000 miles of transmission lines to shops, mills, factories, foundries, mines and shipyards—wherever the tools of victory are being forged.

It may be simply shell-casings, or it may be thundering tanks, swift, sturdy corvettes or sky-filling planes. Whatever it is, Hydro energy is there to speed the work in a thousand plants.

Your Hydro was ready for war-time industry. Ontario's citizens can take pride in that. And, outside of industries, Hydro is supplying the needs of 600,000 users in city homes and 131,000 users in rural districts.

Of course, war-time needs have first call on Hydro power. Furthermore—there must be a sparing use of metals and materials once commonly used in extending Hydro service. These are demanded in war industries—vital to victory!

New projects, new war plants with new machines for new production are on the way. Hydro must and will supply the power needed. To this end, Hydro earnestly solicits the co-operation of all of the people of Ontario.

REMEMBER...it's YOUR HYDRO SYSTEM— OUR WAR EFFORT RELIES ON IT... YOUR COMMUNITY DEPENDS ON IT... YOUR SUPPORT MAKES IT STRONG

WARTIME HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS
You can save current consumption by having your electrical dealer or local 'Hydro' put your appliances in first-class working order. Canadian Editors Were Bombed and Understand British Sentiment

This is the sixth of a series of articles about conditions in Great Britain and other parts of Europe, written exclusively for the weekly newspapers of Canada by Hugh Templin of the Fergus News-Record.

As the days passed in London and no German bomber ever came near the city, the Canadian editors grew restive and impatient. They did not want to go home again and have to admit that they had never heard a bomb burst in anger.

Our hosts were most obliging in every way. If there was anything we wanted, we had only to ask the British Council, and it was arranged. We wanted to see the Canadian Corps in action and we saw it travelling over the countryside on large scale manoeuvres. We desired to meet Prime Minister Churchill face to face: in two days came word that we would not only meet him but we would also hear him speak in the House of Commons. We wanted to see a blitz—but it seemed that the British Council wasn't able to manage that for us.

One night I sat in the office of Mr. Robertson, editor of the Daily Express. A messenger came in. "The yellow light is on." That means that an enemy plane has crossed the coast somewhere. It happens nearly every night. A few minutes later, there was more excitement. The purple light had gone on. That indicated that the plane was definitely headed towards London.

All over the city, in A.R.P. posts and newspaper offices, men watched for the red light to come. That would be the one that would send the sirens screeching through the streets. There had been no red light for months.

With the Watchers on the Roof

The editor, who had graduated from the University of Toronto in 1914, thought we might see a raid after all, so we hurried up to the roof. George Drew was there and John Collingwood Reade, as well as several of our own party. With the light of electric torches, we went up metal stairs, past great tanks of water in the top storey and out on to the roof, where two men in steel hats kept a constant vigil.

I stayed with them for an hour, but the Jerry never reached London. Out to the eastward we saw flashes from the anti-aircraft guns, but that was all. The others went below but I remained, listening to stories of the days when London was the hot spot. These men, veterans of the last war, were in the thick of it then, but they had the same philosophy that carries all London through its dark hours: "if a bomb hasn't got your number on it, it won't get you: if it has, it does not matter where you are."

On my last night in London, I came out of the brightness of the Royal Automobile Club into the blackness of Pall Mall. For the first time, I saw the long fingers of the searchlights waving across the London sky. In daylight, I had seen the guns and the searchights in Hyde Park, but this was the first night there had been any sign of life. The purple light must have been on again.

They faded out after awhile but we walked hopefully along Pall Mall and through Trafalgar Square and down the Strand, but nothing happened.

It was nearly one o'clock when I wakened suddenly in my bed in the Savoy. I thought I heard the guns going outside. Carefully, I went into the bathroom, shut the door, turned off the lights, opened the window, and looked out. There was nothing to see and no guns to be heard.

Half an hour later I awakened again and dressed. After all, it was my last night in London and one more walk in the blackout would be pleasant. But outside, all was still and I walked to Waterloo Bridge with two Canadian soldiers hurrying to catch a train, then went back to the hotel.

Survivors of the Blitz

It wasn't hard to get stories of the blitz second hand. Nearly everybody had been bombed. Nobody bragged about it. It was weeks before I knew that Toby O'Brien, our host from the British Council, had been carried into a hospital after being blown out of his car one night. He didn't tell me till I asked him. The Savoy itself had six or seven bombs, one of which blew the end of the restaurant. Canadian Military Headquarters in Cockspur street had suffered more than the Active Army in the field.

So it went everywhere. At the Press Club one night I listened to amazing stories of Fleet Street in the blitz. It had been hammered almost to destruction, when a great land mine came floating down on a parachute. If it had gone off, every building for blocks around would have gone over like a row of dominoes. The parachute caught on a wire across the street and the great land mine swung in the breeze till the demolition squad took it carefully down.

Then there was the woman who sold purses to Major Christie and me in Liberty's. Somehow the talk drifted around to bombing.

"I went home one night and the roof was off my house. The constable says to me that I can't go in there. I says, I am going in: I live here and my sister lives here and we're going to keep on living here. And we're there yet, though it's inconvenient in winter not having a roof on your house."

The amazing understatement of all these people was what impressed me. I found it, high and low. One night, a Canadian editor suggested to Col. Astor that we would like to see a bit of bombing. Said the Colonel: "I would not advise it. We have found it a slightly uncongenial experience."

On a Train in an Air Raid

We left London on a Southern Railway train without hearing a bomb burst. With their usual thoroughness, the British Council had reserved two compartments. Five editors took one of them: Major Christie, Grattan O'Leary and I had room to spare in the other. Outside in the corridor, a man from the Royal Army Ordnance Corps and his girl stood in the corridor. We invited them in. The girl was able to knit by the dim radiance of a tiny light in the compartment and the man talked to us rather guardedly.

We must have been near the South Coast when the train slowed to a crawl and the white light went out, leaving only one dim blue bulb burning.

"You're in an air raid," the young soldier said.

We didn't believe it. There had been too many false alarms.

"All right," he said, "but if you hear machine guns, lie on the floor."

It must have been nearly half an hour before the lights came on and the train speeded up. In no time, we were out on the station platform at Bournemouth. An Imperial Airways officer was there to greet us.

"There has been an air raid, but the All Clear has just sounded."

Perhaps he thoguht we looked disappointed.

"No bombs were dropped," he added.

Two Planes Across the Sky

Just then, two planes went over, quite low. The long finger of a searchlight swept across, picking up one of them directly overhead. That was strange, I thought. They don't put searchlights on our planes. Could it be another German? Had they returned?

Bishop Rennison and Dave Rogers went away in the officer's car. The other six of us piled into a station wagon and followed. A few blocks away, we came over the top of the hill and saw the Channel in the moonlight.

Suddenly there was a terrific explosion and a great fan of yellow light covered much of the sky ahead.

It had come. I knew it as surely as I knew we were in Bournemouth.

I wasn't frightened in the least. That seems strange, looking back, but perhaps it was because we were all newspaper men now, on the path of a big story. Not one of the others seemed nervous either.

I thought: "This is better than any fireworks at the Toronto Exhibition."

In less than a second, there was another blast. That made it certain. I thought of the words of the King: "We're all in the front line now. We are really into it at last."

I wondered what the driver of a car did in a blitz. The driver seemed to wonder, too. An A. R. P. warden on the corner shouted: "Put out that light." He might have been shouting at our driver (who didn't pay any attention) or at a boy with a white lamp on his bicycle.

A Warm Welcome to Bournemouth

Water seemed to pour down out of the sky ahead. It was incomprehensible, but the gutters were full on the sides of the road. For the first time somebody spoke: "He must have smashed a water main."

It wasn't until next morning I heard about that. One bomb had burst in the sea and sent water into the sky for a quarter of mile inland. They were not bombs, either, it seemed, but two of the dreaded land mines that had floated down on great white parachutes and exploded on the beach, one in the water and the other on the side of the cliff. Next morning, I picked up a pocketful of splinters and part of the parachute cord. The cord was over an inch in diameter. The mines must have weighed 1500 pounds each.

The station wagon drew up at the Royal Bath Hotel and we stepped out on broken glass and entered. Inside there was chaos. The Bishop and Mr. Rogers had been knocked over by the blast but were on their feet again. Two women were trying to calm little dogs. The door leading to the lounge had been blown loose from the stone archway, frame and all.

There was no light except little penlights which we always carried. I walked to the arch where the door had been and stood beside a stranger. We looked back into the huge lounge, and as we stood there, half the fancy plaster dropped past our faces. A few feet farther in and we would have had very sore heads, if not worse. My unknown friend said: "It's not too secure in here." I laughed. There it was again: that British understatement.

Four people in the hotel needed hospital care. One man was nearly scalped by flying glass. A young girl was carried out on a stretcher. She was not unconscious. Through it all, the old grandfather clock in the lobby kept going.

The Airways people weighed us in the only room on the ground floor where a candle could be burned. The lady who managed the hotel brought excellent sandwiches and coffee within an hour. She apologized because she had no beds for us. They were full of glass and most of the windows were out. Those on the side next the sea were soaked with water.

B. K. Sandwell and I decided to sleep on mattresses on the floor. The lady manager led us upstairs with the occasional light of a torch. She apologized that we had to sleep on the floor. "You see," she said, "We've been a bit pushed about here tonight!"

There it was again! Half her hotel was wrecked. Plaster continued to fall here and there at intervals, yet they had been "pushed about!"

After an hour or so, we slept well. The only disturbance was the sound of men shovelling up plate glass off the the streets all night. Every window within a mile was gone, if it faced the sea. Five miles away, windows were cracked.

When we came to think it over, we agreed that if the German had pulled his bomb lever half a second sooner, not one of us would have survived. Evidently those bombs did not have our number on them!

"OTHER RANKS" GET SMART NEW UNIFORM

For Release 14-1-1942

Here is a sample of the "walking out dress" shortly to be issued to all Canadian soldiers to wear "off parade". To soldiers in the Army of a democracy off parade hours are essentially social occasions when the camp or barracks is forgotten and the amenities of civil life, voluntarily given up for the duration, again become important.

Tea with a young Canadian's "best girl" calls for his "best suit" and this is what is posed above. The uniform, made of sturdy khaki serge, is quite like that worn by commissioned officers — just as commissioned officers in training wear the same uniform as their men. Composed of belted jacket worn with collar and brown tie, and slacks with which low shoes and black socks are worn, the "walking out dress" will be issued to all Canadians in the ranks within the next few weeks.

ORMOND B. Y. P. U.

Mrs. H. Carkner presided during the meeting and led the singing, with Miss Hazel MacDonald at the piano. After the children's hymn, Miss Laura Hill led the group in prayer. Alex MacGregor and Glen Carkner received the offering. "Under His Wings," was sung as the Juniors retired for their study, led by Mrs. N. J. Porteous.

In Bible Study Rev. Mr. Augustine spoke of Jesus' rebuff to "a master of Israel," who prided himself on his ecclesiastical knowledge and on the law of Moses. Jesus informed him that as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the Son of Man be lifted up.

A series of discussions on Stewardship was begun by Mrs. Augustine and will be continued on Stewardship programs. What does Stewardship involve? Several Biblical excerpts including David's prayer of dedication were read showing that everything an individual possesses belongs to God the Creator. Stewardship involves the use of all these things.

Special music, "Valsette," was well executed by Miss Catherine MacGregor. Acts 22:1-14 was read responsively with Mrs. D. Campbell leading. A talk was given by Miss E. Carson on the missionary work among the lepers in India, done by Miss Isabel Hatch who, on hundreds of occasions risked her life for the cause of the Kingdom. The meeting closed with a hymn and Benediction by the pastor.

MODERN ETIQUETTE

1. Is it proper to place the elbows on the table while eating?

2. Is the man's or the woman's name spoken first when introducing a man and his wife to a group of persons?

3. Is it correct for a member of the bridegroom's family to give a shower for the bride?

4. How should salespeople in department stores address their customers?

5. What is the regulation size for wedding invitations, dances and similar affairs.

6. What is the proper way to remove some foreign substance that one has taken into the mouth while at the table?

Answers

1. This practice is not frowned upon as it once was. It is better, however, to keep the elbows off the table until coffee and cigarettes are in order. 2. The wife's name should be spoken first. 3. No; neither the family of the bride nor the bridegroom should give showers. 4. Customers should be addressed by name when it is known; otherwise as "madam" and "sir." Saleswomen should never address women customers as "dearie" or "honey"; this is exceedingly crude. Nor is it good form to refer to a woman accompanying a man as "The wife" or "The missus." 5. The regulation size is five and a half by seven and three-eighth inches. 6. Remove it with the fingers behind the napkin, and try to do it without attracting attention.

The first regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the new year was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Margaret Moffat, with a good attendance of members. Mrs. Geo. Wilson, the president, opened the meeting with the Psalm, "O God our Help in ages past." Reports were given by the secretary and treasurer. Mrs. E. J. Spinks reported for the Goforth Band. Mrs. H. Wilson and Mrs. W. Moffat reported for the Mission Band and Glad Tidings. Business was discussed, and it was decided to conduct the meetings much the same as last year.

Mrs. Wm. Johnston led in prayer for missionaries, ministers, soldiers and all in need. Mrs. A. G. Suffel then took charge of the programme and gave the Bible Study on "Suffering," followed by a brief New Year's reading entitled "Lend every energy to make our Society a success."

Some very interesting current events were given by Mrs. Wm. Watson, after which Mrs. Wilson, of Hamilton, led in prayer. Mrs. R. Empey introduced the new Study Book and gave the Mission Study written by Mrs. Jonathan Goforth. After the closing hymn, the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. Miss Mary Empey presided at the piano.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE COMMISSION

Provision has been made in the Unemployment Insurance Act for the inspection of registers, books, cards, wage sheets and records of wages of all employers who have insured persons in their employ.

No employer need hesitate to show any documents asked for by a duly qualified Insurance Inspector of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. Every Inspector carries with him a certificate of his appointment which he will show upon request to any employer whose premises he has entered. Each Inspector is under oath, and anything he learns in examining business records is regarded as strictly confidential. No private records of any nature, for example, payroll records or wage records, will ever be divulged.

It is the Inspector's duty to examine any material relating to Unemployment Insurance, or to question any employee present who might be able to give him necessary information in regard to Unemployment Insurance records for that particular business. He must make sure that all contributions are recorded to date in insurance books, and that any books given out to employees on separation from employment have been stamped to the date of the last working day.

A fine of $25 is provided as a penalty for any person who wilfully delays or obstructs an Insurance Inspector, either by withholding records or refusing to answer questions when he is making his inspection for the purpose of a Government report.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT NEWS

Cattle Being Tested.

The fourth general test of the dairy cattle of Dundas county for bovine tuberculosis is now being made by the Health of Animals branch, Department of Agriculture. A considerable number of reactors are being found, especially in the rear of the county, where in some cases entire herds have been ordered destroyed because they are infected.

In Hong Kong Hospital.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dangerfield, Kemptville, that William Galloway, who enlisted with the Forestry Corps and was sent to Hong Kong, was a patient in the hospital there. This word was received some days ago and so far no further word has been received. Galloway was employed by Mr. Dangerfield before enlisting.

Married at Spencerville.

The United Church, Spencerville, decorated with pink and white snapdragons. was the setting Saturday afternoon, Jan. 3rd, at 3.30 for the marriage of Miss Verla May Stirtan to James Elliott Martin, of Prescott. Triplets Soon Die.

Triplets were born to an anonymous mother in the Cornwall General Hospital on Tuesday of last week. The children, two girls and a boy, did not survive their premature birth more than a few hours. The last to die, a girl, lived in an oxygen tent until early last Wednesday. One of the babies was born dead and the other passed away in the evening. Dr. H. J. Mack attended the mother.

St. Paul's Church Services.

Services in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Sunday were conducted by Mr. Allan Thomson, of Montreal, second year Arts student at McGill University. Mr. Thomson spoke fluently and his interpretations of the Scriptures were well-founded. While not a student of theology, Mr. Thomson has an outstanding talent for preaching, and the subjects he chose on Sunday reveal that he has made an extensive study of the Bible.

Real Winter Weather.

Weather in this district during the past week was quite seasonable for the winter months. Last Thursday and Friday the mercury registered from 10 to 20 degrees below zero, the coldest snap of the season. This, together with frequent snow flurries and stiff breezes, is typical winter weather—but a January thaw would be appreciated, as these cold spells are hard on the old coal-bin. But, cheer up, Spring will come sooner or later.

Served On Skeena.

Edmund Jarvis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jarvis, of Morrisburg, was anti-aircraft gunner on the Canadian destroyer Skeena which recently battled with enemy submarines and long range bombers for a 66-hour period. He joined the navy three years ago, several months before the outbreak of war. His father is a veteran of the First Great War and his brother, George, is overseas with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders.

Chesterville Boy Honoured

At the annual meeting of Holy Trinity Anglican Church, Chesterville, held recently, Mr. Jack Morris, who for over 17 years has been active in the church as organist, Sunday School Superintendent and Rector's Warden, was presented with a beautiful fountain pen by the rector, Rev J. A. L. Ellacott, on behalf of the congregation. Mr. Morris leaves next month for the Officers' Training Centre, Brockville. For several years he has been an efficient member of the Chesterville Record staff, leader of the Chesterville Band and Master of the Boy Scout Troop at Chestterville. He has also been an active member of the S. D. & G. Highlanders, Reserves, and is an uncommissioned officer in the platoon at Chesterville.

Seed Fair at Chesterville.

The Ottawa Valley Seed Fair will take place this year at Chesterville on April 8, 9 and 10, it was decided at a meeting held last week in Chesterville. Recently the Dundas-West Stormont Crop Improvement Association extended an invitation for this year's fair to be held in its area and at the meeting this invitation was accepted. The manager of the fair will be H. W. Graham, of Morrisburg, district agricultural representative. At the gathering the Dundas-West Stormont Crop Improvement Association held its annual meeting when Mr. E. B. McMillan, of Chesterville, was elected president. and Mahlon Zeron, of Iroquois, secretary. They, along with the retiring president, Charles Harkness, will represent the association on the seed fair committee.

Arrives In England.

Mr. Gerald Helmer received a cablegram from Pte. Mike Lynch last week, who arrived safely in England with other Canadian troops a few days previous. Pte. Lynch is a member of the Canadian Forrestry Corps. Prior to his enlistment, he was a farm hand in the Maple Ridge district.

For Russian Red Cross

Collections taken during the "Week of Prayer" services, here, last week, will be donated to the Russian Red Cross Relief Fund. After expenses of the meetings were deducted from the collections, there was $11.00 left. This, along with some special donations will be forwarded to the Russian Red Cross Relief Committee.

United S. S. Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the United Church Sunday School was held Wednesday, January 7th, at the close of the prayer service, when Mr. Eldon Fennell was re-elected Superintendent, his associates being Messrs. O. Wallace and John Barrett. The Secr'y. Treasurer is Mr. Kenneth Carlyle. Reports given of the year's work showed an increase in attendance and in givings.

Takes Over Milk Business.

Last week Mr. E. R. Steele transferred his milk delivery business over to Henderson's Dairy. Ill-health was given as Mr. Steele's reason for discontinuing his route. With this amalgamation, Mr. J. E. Henderson will supply the entire village with milk. His dairy was given a high rating, following the last inspection of dairies throughout Dundas, and his delivery service leaves little room for complaint.

Talking About Geraniums.

Geraniums, as a rule, will grow rapidly and successfuly if given a reasonable amount of care, and most housewives have one species of this foliage that they are particularly proud of. We have seen some well-developed geraniums in our time, but none can compare with an "American Beauty" geranium, grown by Miss Mary Empey, Centre Street. This particular potted geranium is slightly over six feet tall and is just about ready to break forth in blossom. It is a beauty and shows the result of the careful attention Miss Empey has given it. It is her pet plant at present and she has every reason to be proud of it.

ICE DELIVERY

I am preparing to make an Ice Delivery in Winchester. I have delivered ice in Chesterville and Williamsburg for the last five years and my business is growing every year. My system is by the month. I will fill your refrigerator, no matter how large, and I'll see that it never runs low, for $2.50 per month. If you haven't got an ice box I'll loan you one. The season opens on April 15th and runs till November 30th.

My Motto is Service. If you would like to see me on any special ice delivery or ice boxes, see me in Winchester, as I am in your town four times a week. Leave word with Mr. Ernest Steele and I will call.
