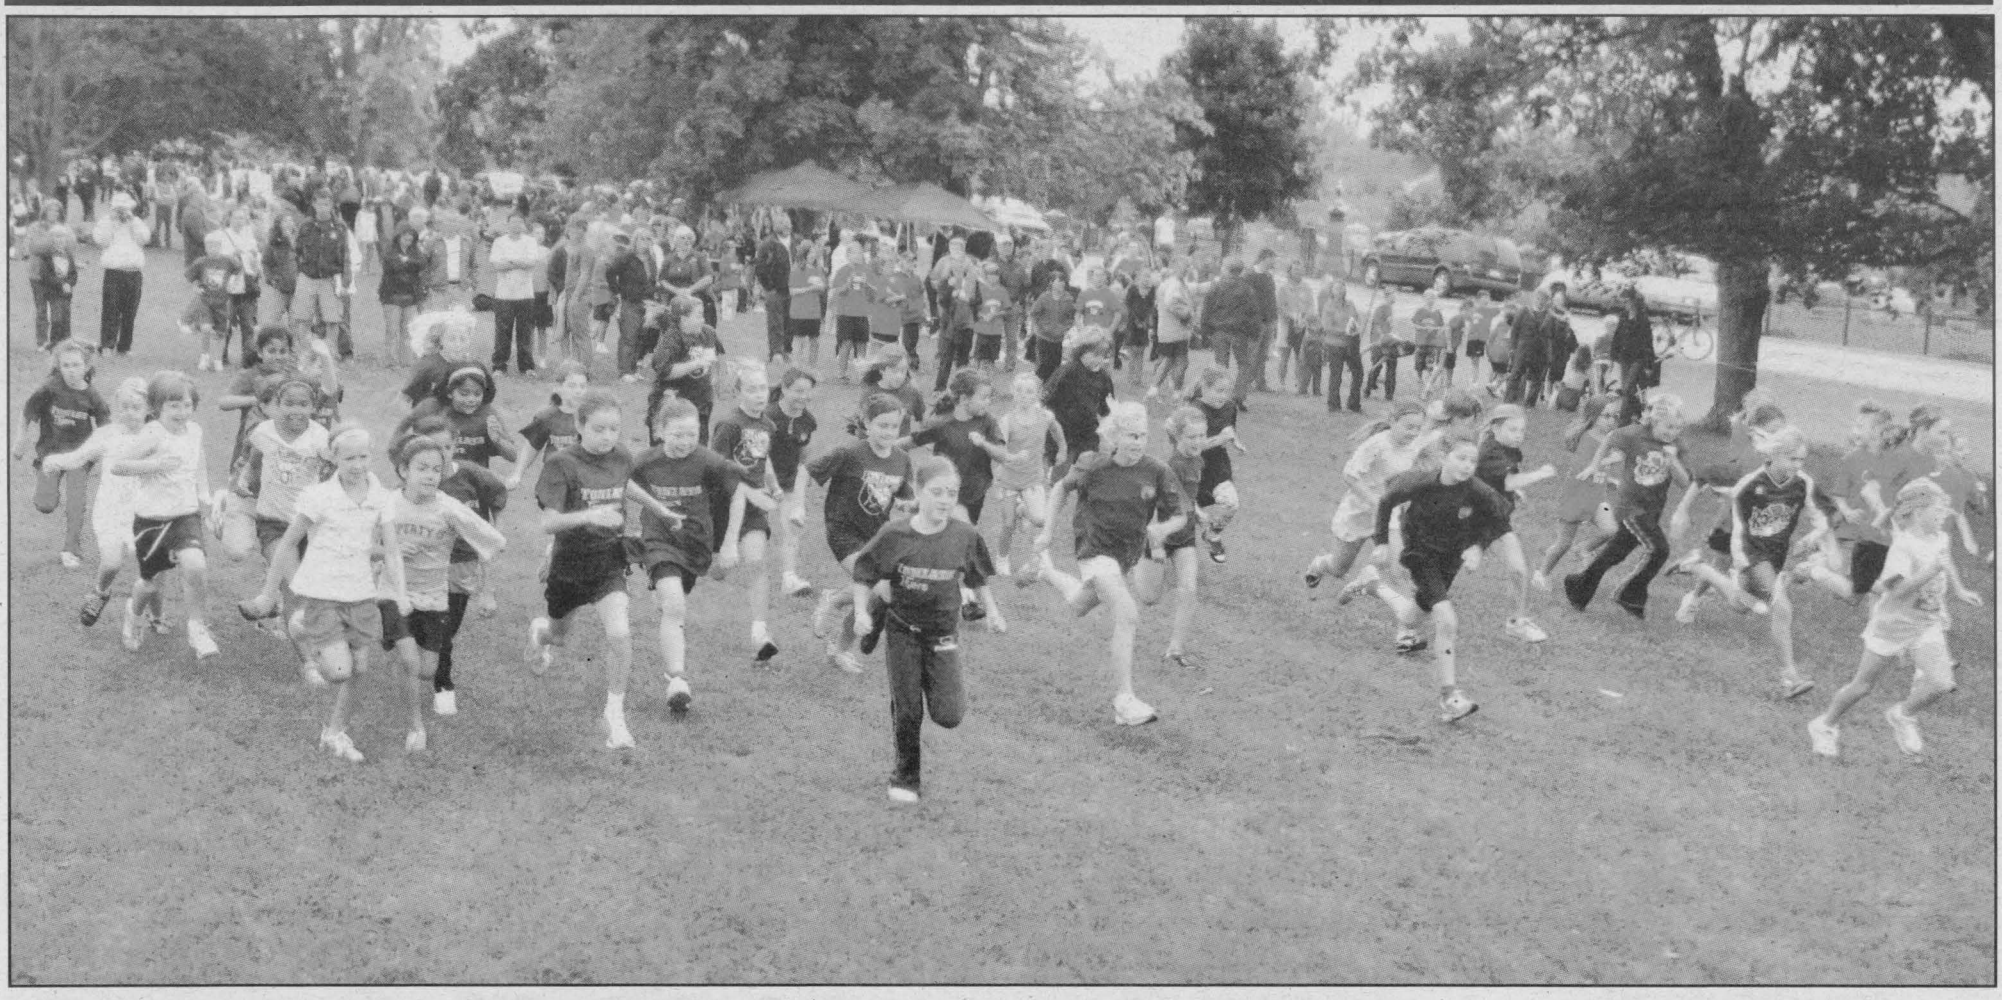
Wednesday, October 1, 2008 "Serving the Seaway Valley" Vol 27 No. 40 Price $1.00



These Iroquois Public School Grade four girls are are poised and ready to go.

Iroquois Public hosts cross country meet at Iroquois Point

In the above photo students from all of the attending 21 schools in the Grade 4 girls section take off on their race. The cool September weather made the running a but easier as runners left the middle of the Point, ran to the west end, then north and then east back to the finish line.

Students from Iroquois Public took to the grass Monday as they took part in a cross country meet along with hundreds of students from 22 schools across the school board area.

By the end of the afternoon of racing, Iroquois had collected 78 points and came in second overall in their category. They were only 8 points behind Lyn Public School who won the meet with 86 points.

The weather was cloudy but great for running. Iroquois Point was completely covered with students getting ready for their individual races.

The Iroquois Grade 7 and 8 senior girls did well with a third place finish overall as they battled against 21 other teams. The team members are: Megan Allen 11th, Gillian Beatson 15th, Terran Hall 18th and Lesley Ann Tubber 19th.

The top Iroquois finishers under 20th place were; Arron Tibben 9th, Julenea 9th and Nash Nebitt-Johnson 17th. Marc Beckstead came in 16th for the Grade 8 boys .

Darlene Jalbert NDP candidate for SD&G

Darlene Jalbert

Darlene Jalbert is the Federal NDP candidate for Stormont-Dundas and South Glengarry.

She is not a stranger to federal politics and the goings on at Parliament Hill in Ottawa, having being involved in many federal lobbies on behalf of workers. She plans, as the SD&G NDP elected representative, to help change for the better, her country and her riding.

Darlene has been a voice for industry as well as for employees, representing both sectors in Ottawa. successfully fighting for fairness and common sense in the Canadian workplace. She is a veteran of 20 years of working in the manufacturing sector.

Ms. Jalbert is the mother of two children, which she raised as a single mother with the support and help of their father. She understands the effort, energy and team work required to raise a family in uncertain times.

She is a graduate of St. Lawrence College in Cornwall majoring in office administration and human resources. She has worked for the Workers Health and Safety Centre, served as a steelworker negotiator and activist, is a member of the Ontario Health Coalition, is an Executive member of the Cornwall and District Labour Council, a member of the Board of Directors of the United Way of SD&G and is a member of the SD&G Coalition for Social Justice.

Attracting good paying and long-standing jobs to SD&G is one of her priorities. Jobs bring opportunity for families and individual residents. Giving the ordinary Canadian more opportunity for prosperity is one of her goals. Protecting the environment, encouraging Canadian industry to stay in Canada with positive and fair Canadian industry content legislation, improving health care, ensuring that the agricultural sector is respected and assisted as well as providing better access to post-secondary education are ideas and plans that she feels are a priority to accomplish.

"We have to learn as Canadians to invest in Canada," she said. She has pointed out that Ontario lags behind Quebec in looking after Canadian industry. "We are one of the few developed nations to not invest in our economy," she said, "who do not have a Canadian content policy".

Jalbert feels that creating and maintaining partnerships is crucial to how SD&G will fair in the future. "We should be working more with municipal councils," she said. "We need to have a Member of Parliament who is willing to partner with everyone."

As an experienced negotiator, Darlene believes that she has demonstrated her ability to find common ground between people and issues.

Protecting the environment is a deciding issue in this election. The Darlene points out that the average Canadian is already doing as much as possible to curtail their individual carbon footprint. Industry will have to do their share. She believes that smart companies will want to lower their own emissions as lower emissions make sense from a business point of view.

Safeguarding and growing Canada's agricultural sector is at the top of Darlene's list of priorities. "We have always stood behind farmers," she said. "We have to be prepared as a government to help farmers out." She believes that Canadian farmers are at a disadvantage as other countries give subsidies to their farmers which puts our farmers at a disadvantage.

Childcare is an issue across the country. "The early years of a child are very important," she says. She believes that if you are going to represent people you have to understand what they are going through. As a mother and worker, Darlene feels that she can bring that perspective to Ottawa. "You have to find new ways-a new vision", she said.

Keeping jobs locally as well as across the country is an NDP priority. "We have skilled workers all across the country who are not working," she points out. The long term care issue is one that SD&G residents have been concerned about. While long - term care issues are a provincial matter, not a federal responsibility, Darlene believes that the federal government should be doing what it can to move the issue along. She believes that government has a commitment to Canadians regarding health care that has to be honoured.

Morrisburg Sea Cadets begin a New Season

The 338 Defiant Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps, who are based in Morrisburg, have begun a new season of practising naval traditions and discipline, and they are looking for more young people to join them.

The Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps are a part of Cadets Canada. The Sea Cadet Corps program is available for young men and women between the ages of 12 and 19. Sea Cadets learn, through practical hands-on experience, about sailing, seamanship, shipboard life, naval communications technologies, handling and repairing boats, marine engineering, tall ship training, and ship deployments. They also learn how to be excellent citizens, terrific marksmen, physically fit, powerful leaders, and efficient instructors. Sea Cadets can even have the opportunity to participate in an annual national shipping regatta, or to sail on a tall ship (a very large sailing vessel that is rigged traditionally).

The 338 Defiant Sea Cadet Corpse is located at the old high school building in Morrisburg, and youth who live within the boundaries of the areas of Cardinal, Chesterville, Ingleside, Iroquois, Morrisburg, and Winchester can sign up and join the Sea Cadet Corps at no cost. The Sea Cadet Corps program runs regularly on Tuesday evenings from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m., and on Saturday mornings from 8:30 a.m. until 12 p.m. However, special events and activities often take place off schedule during the weekend.

Along with the local, regular program, the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps offer summer training camps in Borden and Kingston (Ontario), Cornwallis (Nova Scotia), St. John's (Newfoundland), Comox (British Colombia), and Ste-Angele-de-Laval, St-Gabriel-de-Valcartier, and Quebec City (Quebec). Courses are available in many different specialized disciplines, including athletics, gunnery, marine engineering, music, and sailing. Along with the advanced training and experience gained at these camps, Sea Cadets earn money for attending them.

Another big event for the Sea Cadets is the annual National Cadet Marksmanship Championship. In this contest, teams made up of a select few Royal Canadian Air, Army, and Sea Cadets, who have been chosen (through regional competitions) for their excellent abilities as marksmen and markswomen, compete for the honour of being named the best marksmanship team in Cadets Canada. This year's Marksmanship Championship will take place in British Colombia, in May.

More information on the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps and Cadets Canada can be found at www.cadets.ca. The 338 Defiant Sea Cadet Corps can be reached at 613-543-4505.

Williamsburg Womens' Institute

BY VIRGIE KURSCHINSKI,
PUBLIC RELATIONS COORDINATOR

The September meeting got off to a "healthy" start when eighteen members and guests, including several from the Finch W. I., met at the Support Centre in Williamsburg.

After the singing of the "Institute Ode" and the reciting of the "Mary Stewart Collect", everyone had a good laugh as the meeting motto "A balanced meal is not a cookie in each hand" was read. The roll call resulted in a variety of exercises being given, with walking and swimming being the most popular.

Several items of business were dealt with including our participation in the Williamsburg Harvest Festival on October 4th.

We were encouraged to bake for the sale, which will take place at the Support Centre. Members should have their baked items there by 8:00 a.m. on the 4th.

The convener for the September program, Joan Beckstead, introduced our delightful guest speaker, Mia Lightfoot, from the Eastern Ontario Health Unit.

Her suggestions regarding "physical activity for older adults" encourage us in a non-threatening way that exercise is an excellent pill and will help all of us.

The next meeting on October 14th should be of interest to all. The guest speaker will be "The Tooth Fairy", Lori Garlough, a dental hygienist from Ingleside.

Her specialty is preventative dental care and oral hygiene for patients of all ages from 3 to 93! More information will be available at the meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. All area women are invited to attend.

Whose debt are they talking about

The financial crises that is gripping the money markets around the world makes for great television.

It is amazing how little the lay person understands about how the money market works, and as the money pundits try to explain what is happening they forget to include a crash course on how the markets affects you and me in our tiny part of the world.

At first glance it appears that the current problem came about as a result of the money industry trying to squeeze that very last drop of profit out of an already bottomed out market. Sort of like me borrowing more money than I could ever hope to pay back and then finding out that I have to borrow more to buy winter tires.

At some point my household budget explodes and I am left with more money owed than I could possible make in this lifetime. Of course no one will dare to lend me more.

That may be a crude interpretation of events but it is the best I can do. The experts do not seem to be able to reduce their vast monetary expertise into a language we can all appreciate.

Time to buy a lottery ticket.

A thought... by Joseph Morin Editor

From me to you

The stakes in the global warming sweepstakes have just got higher.

When all of the scientists and then politicians began to sound the alarm, the big issue was finding a relatively reasonable way to reduce all of those carbon dioxide emissions.

Of course there are many different contributing factors to global warming and climate change, but the most obvious one was CO2. This was one that we could all work on.

Of all of the contributing chemicals that are going up into our atmosphere, CO2 lasts longer than most and enables the global warming effect to stay around longer than it is welcome.

Last week, came news about another more pressing threat. Methane gas is not a gas that we are for the most part responsible for. We do not produce very much of it. On the bright side, and probably why methane gas has not been the centre of much attention, is the fact that while it is 20 times as potent as CO2 in its ability to bring on global warming, it only hangs around for about 12 years and the amount that get sent into the air has been historically small compared to CO2.

Now comes news from a Russian research vessel that scientists there have noted that in areas off the Russia's arctic coast there are fields of methane gas that have been coming up out of he seabed faster than the water can absorb them. They end up getting into the atmosphere. Normally, because of the small amounts being absorbed by the earth's atmosphere and the short length of time that the methane is a problem, there is little concern. However the Russian research showing how more and more methane gas is being released from the melting permafrost. In fact, more methane than thought possible is getting ready to join its brethren in the clear skies around our planet. This is a disaster in the making.

One scientist has gone so far as to suggest that once gases such as methane gas start to drive global warming, the issue will be out of our hands. As long as it was CO2 that was the problem we could at least try and reduce it by changing the way we live and what kinds of fuel we use.

The next stop in the global warming trail is to come up with other ways of reflecting sunlight back into space, thus making the addition of the methane gas less of an issue, The problem of course is getting the message to government. This problem may prove to be more of an issue than the present financial crises.

The discovery of the methane gas situation would be like discovering that someone just ran up all of your credit cards and there is no money to be found to fix things. Going on a financial diet, in that example, would do little to solve your credit problems. It is out of your hands.

Government may have to expedite all of its global warming plans and switch over to an emergency type of mind set.

Scientists have suggested ways to counter the effect of methane gas, but they and us, are up against a planetary deadline.

Gathered in the lounge on Saturday past, to play a few games of cribbage were thirteen enthusiastic players playing singles. Finishing first with a count of 1075 and it being his first visit to the league was Tony [illegible]ter. Karl Kirkwood with his count of 1067 came in second while Joan Ault took the third spot with her count of 1046. Bridesmaid honors for the day were claimed by Andy Acelivari with his count of 1025. Eight furry polecats were found skittering around the lounge and Roger Coulter somehow managed to nab three of them. But to top the day, honors have to go Hubert Lapierre and Karl Kirkwood who somehow claimed a rarity when the each got a double stripped critter.

The Pot of Gold winner was Patricia Thompson who WAS signed in. If my memory serves me correctly, Pat won the pot not to long ago.

The Friday lunch is to be baked pork chops, mashed potatoes with gravy and veggies, dessert being (calorie free) cake and ice cream. A special feature of the Friday lunch will be M.P. Guy Lauzon taking some time out of his busy schedule to stop at our Branch to have lunch with everyone.

Sorry I haven't any euchre results for you. All I have to my knowledge is that there were seven tables.

As mentioned before, and for those who haven't got their renewal of membership yet for the New Year, they are now due and if you do it right away chances are you will have a chance at winning your dues back when we have one of two Early Bird draws.

Friday night mixed League Darts are now in progress with a good amount of dart players signed up. Men's league darts are now in progress as well and their first night of darts as well as the second, took place at the Iroquois Branch. Just a reminder- if you have not already marked your calendar for Sunday October 19, please do so now. We will be hosting the Sgt. Wilsons Army Show that afternoon from 3 pm to 5 pm for a small cost of $10 per person. They will bring back great memories of the wartime days of entertainment with reminiscing of songs of Vera Lyn, The Andrew Sisters, Kay Star, Doris Day, and of course the great Glenn Miller Band. This is some great entertainment for each and everyone to enjoy. Hope you can attend, I am sure you will enjoy this and at the same time, you will be supporting your Legion.

The tickets for the $1,000 cash draw are available at several local merchants as well as at the Branch and from members as well.

Until Next week-, take care.

Notes from the Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club

If you noticed individuals picking up garbage along the roadsides in the area, it was members of the Iroquois-Matilda Lions Club completing their fall cleanup. The Club has "adopted" County Road #2 from Grove St to Carmen road, and Carmen Road from #2 to the Seaway Lock. Adopting a road means they have agreed to clean up garbage along the roadside at least two times a year. In addition to the two roads already mentioned, the Club has been able to clean up Carmen Road north to the 401 off ramp twice this year. Club members heartily support this project as a way to keep our community looking better.

Also, the Club has become the owner of a quantity of used apple boxes. If you are interested in obtaining a keepsake of the historic apple growing past of the Seaway Valley this is your opportunity. The asking price for these boxes is $10 each or three for $20. If interested call Paul Robertson at 613-340-1123.

Iroquois Fire Depatment Hot Spot

The following information is brought to you by Iroquois Firefighter - Shawn Markell

Who is at risk for carbon monoxide poisoning

Everyone is at risk. Carbon monoxide poisoning can happen to anyone, anytime, anywhere. Experts believe that vulnerability to CO poisoning increases for unborn babies, infants, senior citizens, and people with coronary or respiratory problems. These people are considered to be at greatest risk.

How can I protect myself from carbon monoxide poisoning?

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission recommends installing at least one carbon monoxide detector per household. Reliable, cost-effective protection from carbon monoxide poisoning is now available from First Alert®, North America's most trusted name in home safety products. First Alert's new ULC listed Carbon Monoxide Detector uses patented Biomimetic technology, which simulates your body's response to CO and can detect levels as low as .01%. The first battery-powered model available to consumers nation-wide, First Alert provides protection even in the event of a power outage.

How do I know if I am suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning?

CO poisoning is difficult to diagnose. Because its symptoms are similar to other common diseases, such as the flu, carbon monoxide is often called "The Great Imitator." Symptoms of low level CO poisoning can include headaches, fatigue, nausea, dizzy spells, and confusion. There are, however, a few hints that can help.

To identify carbon monoxide poisoning in your home:

- Are other members of the household feeling ill as well?
- Do you feel better when you are away from the house for a period of time?

If so, you may be suffering from carbon monoxide poisoning. To be sure, see a physician and request a carboxyhemoglobin test. This will determine the percentage of carbon monoxide present in your blood.

Where do I put my carbon monoxide detector?

Near the sleeping area, according to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, which recommends at least one detector per household. A second detector located near the home's heating source adds an extra measure of safety.

White Cane Day hosted by Lions

Zippy and Zoya, two purebred black Labs, were out at the mall in Morrisburg on Saturday, September 27 helping the Lions Club raise awareness and funds for White Cane Day.

Brother and sister, Zippy and Zoya are being fostered by Lion Judy Charette and her husband. "Zoya may be kept for breeding, or both dogs may soon go into training as guide dogs," explained Charette.

The money raised by the Club will go directly to assist those with vision impairment in this area. By taking part in this fundraiser, the Lions are continuing a tradition which was initiated by Lions almost 80 years ago.

According to the Lions International website, in 1930 the late George A. Bonham, President of the Peoria Lions Club (Illinois) introduced the idea of using the white cane with a red band as a means of assisting the blind in independent mobility. The Peoria Lions approved the idea, white canes were made and distributed, and the Peoria City Council adopted an ordinance giving the bearers the right-of way to cross the street. News of the club's activity spread quickly to other Lions clubs throughout the United States and the world, and their visually handicapped friends experimented with the white canes. Overwhelming acceptance of the white cane idea by the blind and sighted alike quickly gave cane users a unique method of identifying their special need for travel consideration among their sighted counterparts.

Also in 1931, in France, Guilly d'Herbemont recognized the danger to blind people in traffic and launched a national "white stick movement" for blind people. She donated 5,000 white canes to people in Paris.

Today white cane laws are on the books of every state in the US and many other countries, providing blind persons a legal status in traffic. The white cane now universally acknowledges that the bearer is blind

To make the people more fully aware of the meaning of the white cane and of the need for motorists to exercise special care for the blind person who carries it, on October 6, 1964, the U.S. Congress approved a resolution authorizing the President of the US to annually issue a proclamation designating October 15th as "National White Cane Safety Day."

The National Federation of the Blind (NFB), a leading organization for the blind, has established the third week in May as "White Cane Week." During this week, a special concentration of efforts to educate the public concerning the hopes and aspirations of the blind is emphasized.

In keeping with the Lions' established tradition of assisting the blind, many Lions Clubs work to promote community awareness of the white cane by engaging in public awareness campaigns such as the event held this past weekend in Morrisburg.

Lions Lawrence Larocque and Judy Charette are pictured here with future guide dogs Zipper and Zoya. The Lions Club members were collecting funds to help those in the community with vision impairments.

Team Building at Iroquois Public School

After several delays due to rain, the Iroquois Public School Team Building Day was held at Iroquois Point on Tuesday, September 16.

The day featured several activities that the Grade seven and eight students from Morrisburg and Iroquois took part in.

Andrew Carson, one of he organizers of the event said that the students had an opportunity to work together, socialize and have some fun.

All of the activities went beyond satisfying the school boards curriculum criteria of providing physical exercise to students on a daily basis.

The Team Building Day included over 130 students. This was the second year that the school held the event. Last year there were 8 activities, this year, the organizers went with 4. "All of the activities were physical in some way," said the organizer.

Next year all of these students will be put together at the Seaway District High School. The team building Day will be more important than ever as students adjust to a big ger school and a different learning environment. "It will be more important next year," said Mr. Carson.

Iroquois Public School principal Toby Sebalj is supportive of the event. "The Team Building Day has made such a difference to our intermediate students," she said.

Teachers at Iroquois Public have been the driving force behind the Team Building Day concept. They are: Andrew Gibbs, Robin Gibbs, Chantel Lacroix, Angela Morrision, Mike Cobb and Sandy Hubbard. Connie Shearer and Kitty Eamon, Educational Assistants also helped out on Team Building Day at the Point.

Grade seven and eight students gathered at Iroquois Point to take part in Team Building Day. The day featured fun activities good food and comraderie. Teacher from Iroquois Public organized the day and students enjoyed the event.

Golf for a Cure raises $14,100 in Tom Nagy tournament

The seventh annual Golf for a Cure golf tournament raised $14,100 this year around. The fundraiser has raised $65,255 over the past seven years.

The golf tournament, held at the Nationview Golf Course, is held in memory of Tom Nagy and all of the fundraising is in support of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Golf for a Cure was held on Saturday, September 13. There were 88 golfers at the event.

The top team members were: Jim Porteous, Bob Mustard, Robert Mustard and Ron Flindall.

The most honest team out on the Nationview course that day was made up of Heather Wells-Baker, Kim Schell, Christine Kirkwood and Carrie VanAllen.

The winner of the 50/50 draw was Dawn Ferguson.

Bob Taylor was the winner of the Closest to the Hole contest. He won a grocery cart donated by Mike Deans in Winchester.

The putting contest winner was Marc Ethier. The Longest Marshmallow Drive winner was Ed Greengrass. Both winners won a pair of Hi Tec golf shoes, donated by Eric Chamberland of Hi Tec Shoes.

Bill Osborne "Chevrolet" of Kemptville, sponsored a new car for a hole in one. Unfortunately no one managed to get one this time around.

In the sprit of the cancer fundraising event, Steve Farrell and his seventeen year old son Eric Cormier, both shaved their heads to raise extra money for the charity.

The area business community was quick to offer their support to the tournament.

Doug and Sheila Durant organized the event and wanted to thank all those who gave their help and support by sponsoring the various holes.

"This year, Scotiabank in South Mountain, generously matched the first $5,000 raised." Sheila Durant thanked the Scotiabank Branch Manager, Sharon Ruth and her staff for all of their efforts, including Marilyn Williams, Viginia Wright and Matt Poapst.

Other sponsors are: Bill Osborn Chevrolet, Morrisburg Autopro, Corporate Golf, Douglas Durant, Bee Alarmed Security Solutions, McInnis, MacEwen, Horner and Pietersma, Longo and Associates, Cedarview Builders Supply Ltd. # Quilt Show at UCV displays the art of the quilter

According to Victoria Van der Linden of the Golden Threads Quilt Guild, the Annual Upper Canada Village Quilt Show is a great opportunity to introduce the public to the artistry of quilting. "We have been participating in this show since its inception 9 years ago. It's a great opportunity for guilds to show what they do and expose those who wouldn't otherwise visit a quilt show to quilting."

This sentiment was echoed by a representative of the Ottawa Valley Quilters Guild. Adeline Bouck Alkan, who now lives in Carp but who comes originally from Iroquois. "It is a good opportunity to make contacts and encourage new quilters," explained Bouck Alkan. "We also sell raffle tickets so it serves as a bit of a fundraiser."

The Thousand Islands Quilt Guild was well represented with two of the members also promoting their quilt shops located in Brockville. Donna Taylor is the owner of Taylor's Quilt Shop and Jennifer Hodge owns Picket Fences. Jackie Peterson of the Brockville Guild had her award winning quilt on display. Her quilt took 1st place at the Lansdowne Fair this summer. Audrey Higgins of the guild explained that participating in the Upper Canada Village Show also helps the Thousand Islands Quilters raise awareness about their own show which will be held at the Brockville Country Club in the spring of 2009. The Highland Quilt Guild and the Cornwall Quilters Guild also participated in the show.

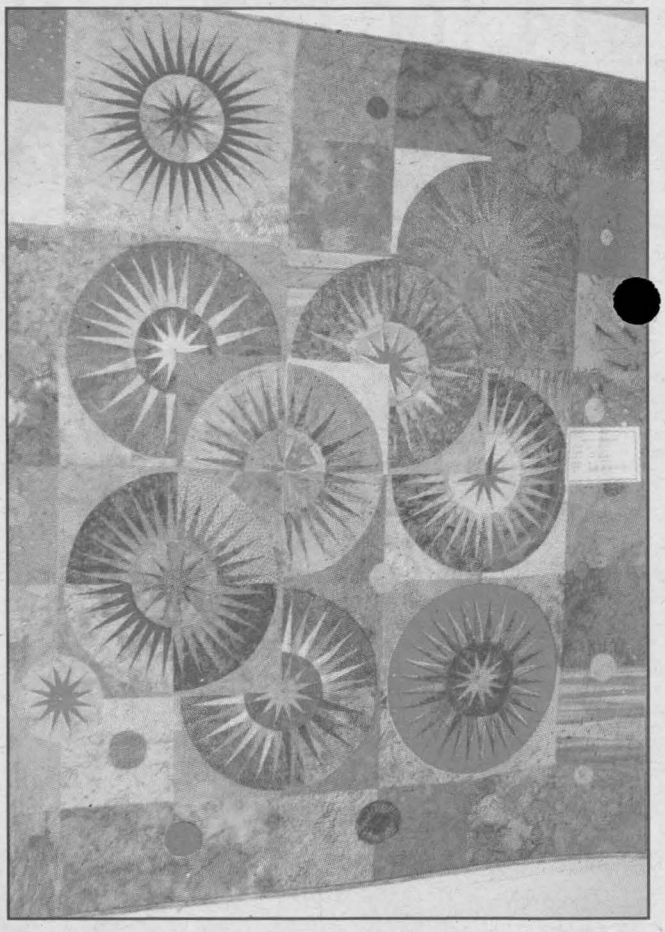
In all, five different quilt guilds provided a stunning display of work in the Family Activity Centre at Upper Canada Village on the weekend of September 26 & 27. 50 quilts were displayed in the centre, and a number of the Village homes also displayed UCV's own collection of quilts.

Iroquois native, Adeline Bouck Alkan, is pictured here beside one of her creations that was on display at the UCV quilt show last weekend. Adeline grew up in Iroquois but now lives in Carp and is a member of the Ottawa Valley Quilters Guild.

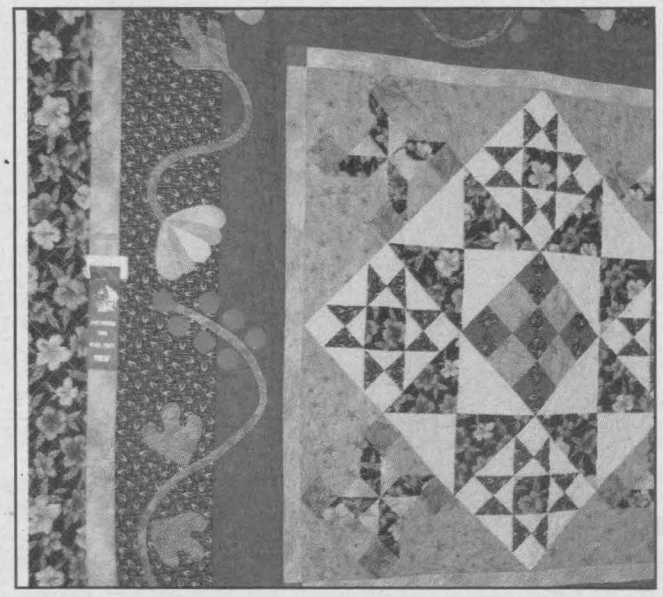
In keeping with the theme of the weekend, a Quilting Bee was held in the Ross Farm House and quilt talks were held in Crysler hall. These talks featured special guest Judy Lyons who spoke about the history of quilts, and fibre artist Liane Thiry-Smith who addressed her audience on using a variety of fibres and techniques to obtain rich textures in quilting.

Judy Lyons, in her capacity as a certified quilt appraiser, offered her services to visitors interested in learning more about their family heirlooms.

The show was well attended and visitors were in awe of the works of art that the quilts really are. "This art form is uniquely linked to women," expressed Van der Linden. "It is about memories of grandmother and is almost exclusively an artistic expression created by women."



This quilt is entitled 'Cirque du Soleil' and it was created by Maggie Fontana of the Common Thread Quilt Guild.



Jackie Peterson of the Thousand Islands Quilt Guild won 1st place at the Lansdowne Fair with this quilt.

Harvest Festival is on its way

On Friday, October 3 and Saturday, October 4, the Williamsburg Community Association will be hosting the town's 17th annual Fall Harvest Festival.

The festivities will begin at 6:30 p.m. on Friday, with a movie, Camp Rock, being shown for free at the Oddfellows Hall. At 8 p.m., the members of the local Fire Department will be playing a softball game against their wives at the Williamsburg Ball Park.

On Saturday, the events will begin at 8 a.m. with a children's ball hockey tournament, which will run until noon. At 9 a.m., a centerpiece contest, along with a poster contest, will be held at the Recreation Hall, and there will be a children's craft shop hosted by the Morrisburg Early Years Centre. A craft show and sale will be held at the Senior's Support Centre in the Villa. At 10 a.m., a heaviest vegetable contest will be held at the Post Office, there will be trivia games at Green Triangle design, and a tallest corn stalk and largest sunflower face contest will be held at LMS Motor Sales. Pony rides and a petting zoo will be opening at this time, and an apple pie baking contest will be held at the Senior's Support Centre. At 10:30 a.m., a children's costume contest will take place in the Williamsburg Garage. A pumpkin carving and decorating contest will be held at 11 a.m. at Whitteker's Meat Market. Children's face painters will be available at that time. At noon, the popular Harvest Festival Parade will begin, and bucket truck rides, hosted by Ontario Hydro, will open. At 1 p.m., a mini-putt game will be hosted by the Williamsburg BP Scouts, the Fire Department will be holding a fun-filled water event, Happy Face Nursery School will be hosting face painting and crafts, a blow-up obstacle course will open, and three rounds of bingo will be played. The second annual Allan Doherty Memorial Horseshoe Tournament will also begin at this time. At 1:30 p.m., Chris Pilsworth the magician will be performing a magic sho Children's games will be ava able at 2:30.

To finish off the weekend of festivities, an adults-only dance will be held at Matilda Hall from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Saturday night. A shuttle bus will be available to transport attendees from the Williamsburg Ball Park to the Hall and back.

More information about the Harvest Festival can be attained by calling 535-2264.

Local Artists geared up for the 20th Annual Autumn Leaves Arts Tour

Mark your calendars! Celebrating its 20th year of the Autumn Leaves Arts Tour, the 21 members of TIA (Thousand Islands Arts) will be welcoming the public into their homes and special guest locations on the weekends of Oct 4 & 5 and 11, 12 & 13.

The artists on the Annual Tour Local have reason to celebrate. Five of the Tour Artists, Anne Barkley, Claudia Deskin, Eric Deskin, Rhonda Kellett and Laurie Sponagle, were recently chosen for the 1st Annual Juried Art Show at the Marianne van Silfhout Gallery, located in St. Lawrence College in Brockville. Deskin, a new artist to the Tour and the area, and Mallorytown artist, Sponagle, were each awarded Juror's Awards for their works in the show.

Award-winning Williamsburg area artist Anne Barkley will be a guest artist on the tour. Her work will be found at the St Lawrence Islands National Park at Mallorytown Landing on the Thousand Islands Parkway, along with that of glass artist Peggy Giles and sculptor John Sabourin. "For me the pleasure and satisfaction of painting is first and always in making the art, the physical and emotional intensity required to get to that place where thought stops and intuition can have free rein; and then, once the work excites me, in the people I meet along my way: artists, art friends, clients, teachers, mentors, students. I am constantly exploring new ideas, subjects, methods and materials. At present my interest is in finding a complexity in simple abstract shapes and beautiful colours that will engage and challenge the viewer's imagination. My tools are serenity, emotion, strength, determination, passion, harmony, freedom, paint, colour, design, shape, pattern, line, texture, value, edges and space, repetition with variety, movement and rhythm." At present, Anne is also exhibiting at nine galleries in the Toronto and Ottawa area. To learn more about Anne's work, you can visit her website at www.annebarkley.ca.

This year brings many new faces to the tour with a wide range of talented Canadian artists taking part. Works showcased will be in a broad array of media, from sculpture, painting, drawing, pastels, and photography, to carving, wood turning, glass, pottery, textiles, rug hooking, and jewellery.

A majority of the 11 locations are along the Thousand Islands Parkway, with short side trips to the village of Mallorytown and north of Lansdowne. Locations along the 48 km route will be open 10 am to 5 pm daily. Visitors to each location have the opportunity to fill out a ballot to win a $100 gift certificate to an artist of their choice. Brochures are available at select area businesses or for a downloadable a map, brochure and more information about participating artists, please go to www.tiarts.org or call 613 923 1857.

Protect yourself from the flu this year

BY NICOLE LAPLANTE
COORDINATOR, VACCINE PREVENTABLE DISEASES

Flu season is coming up fast and the Eastern Ontario Health Unit would like to remind everyone of the important safety precautions they should keep in mind to proteet themselves and their families. While some people think that the flu is just a bad cold, what they may not realize is that the influenza virus can lead to serious illnesses such as pneumonia and even death.

The influenza virus can leave you ill for seven days or more. Not only can this cause you to lose time at work, but you may also infect others around you. Some people are at much greater risk of becoming seriously ill, such as the elderly, young children or people with medical conditions. You can protect your own health, as well as the health of the people around you, by getting the flu shot.

To lower your risk of infection:

• Protect yourself and your family by making sure all members get the flu shot.

• Wash your hands often.

• Cough into your sleeve and teach your children to do the same.

• Stay home from work/school when you're sick.

To get the flu shot, make an appointment with your doctor or visit a free flu shot clinic this fall.

A list of the free clinics' dates and times will soon be available on the Eastern Ontario Health Unit's website at www.eohu.ca.

A federal general election is taking place on October 14, 2008.

Business Person of the Month

Carolyn Beckstead

Carolyn Beckstead has been chosen as the September Business Person of the Month.

Carolyn owns and operates the hair Studio and Tanning Salon shop at the Iroquois Plaza.

Carolyn's business has a history in the South Dundas area going back to 1987.. She purchased the Hair Studio Family Hair Care in her hometown, Morrisburg in 1987.

In 1990, she relocated to the Village of Iroquois. By 1998, a space was available at the Iroquois Plaza and Carolyn was quick to establish her business there. She added tanning as another of her business services.

Living and working in Iroquois has been and continues to be a wonderful experience for Carolyn. She says, "I'm very pleased at how Iroquois has treated me as a business. Things have been great". Hair Studio and Tanning Salon caters to a wide orange of customers. Men, women and children of all ages have enjoyed going to the Hair Studio and Tanning Salon. Seniors receive a senior's discount.

Carolyn has great memories of growing up in the area. Her favourite childhood memory is learning how to drive, being with her family and friends and playing with her Barbie doll and her dream house. As a student, she had lots of fun working at the Sub shop/Arcade and Deli. There she enjoyed being able to do something different everyday and dealing with people.

Carolyn is outgoing and has a great sense of humour. Her favourite television show is Two and a half Men. The movie she likes the most is Momma Mia. Her favorite band is Bon Jovi and AC/'DC.

Carolyn loves her family. Her hobbies include snowmobiling and soccer. "I love spending time with my daughter. She is my world. We have lots of fun and we do everything together."

We all have a version of what a perfect day would be for ourselves. Carolyn's perfect day in one that is sunny and warm with lots of customers coming into to say hello.

Carolyn, like all of the other merchants at the Iroquois Plaza is looking forward to the renovations that will be coming to the Plaza. "I am looking forward to seeing the new face lift for the Plaza

NEWS & EVENTS

The Government of Ontario has made a number of changes to the property assessment system, which take effect for the 2009 property tax year. These changes include the introduction of a four-year assessment update cycle and a phase-in of assessment increases.

To provide an additional level of property tax stability and predictability, the market increases in assessed value between 2005 and 2008 will be phased-in over four years. The phase-in program does not apply to decreases in assessed value. The change in assessed value and the phased-in assessment values for the 2009 to 2012 property tax years are listed on your 2008 Notice.

Your 2005 assessed value is also included on your notice. This value may not necessarily be the same as the value that appeared on your last notice if your property underwent a change that affected its value. Please contact MPAC if you have any questions at 1-866-296-6722.

There have also been a number of changes to the Request for Reconsideration and Appeal processes.

The Public Works Department would like to thank everyone for their consideration and co-operation during the road construction this year.

Local Government Week is October 19-25.
Mayor Barkley and Council invite you to a Town Hall meeting at Matilda Hall in Dixons Corners on October 22, 2008 at 7:00. Council will be available to discuss any questions or concerns the public may have.

Recreation Program Coordinator, Louise Dimmick has joined our staff and will be co-ordinating programs, special events, etc. Louise will also review the Recreation Strategic Plan. Please contact her with your ideas!! Louise will be located at South Dundas Arena. Phone: 613-543-3773 or email her at ldimmick@southdundas.com

The Accidental Farmwife

I don't care if cleanliness is next to godliness; I'm only human

BY DIANA FISHER

Our house is only ten years old but - hoo boy - you can accumulate a lot of dirt in a farmhouse in a decade.

When I was growing up, my sister and I helped out [redacted] vacuuming and dusting on the weekend. Mom cleaned the bathrooms. Once a season or so, the kitchen floor would get washed (she's going to want to correct this and that's her prerogative). Every spring, Mom would wash the windows thoroughly. I'm sure myriad other deep cleaning jobs were done, but I was (thankfully) not privy to most of them because I wasn't home to see them being done. After all, I had a part-time job at Canadian Tire and a social life to keep up.

As a young mom raising a family in the suburbs of Ottawa in the '90s, I had a similar housecleaning routine: vacuum, spray, wipe, done. When I was particularly agitated about one thing or another, I would take on bigger cleaning jobs, like washing the floors and windows.

But now I live in a farmhouse. I fear it will never be truly clean.

We keep an old freezer full of various sizes of rubber boots on the back porch so that if anyone wants to venture into the pasture or the barn, they're covered. The intention is that these boots are meant to remain outside. The boots inevitably find their way indoors, however, in the winter. I find them parked inside the patio door, just to the right of the TV. Thankfully, by that time of year, the snow usually keeps them pretty clean and the mud / manure is frozen too hard to stick.

Coveralls, barn jackets and splash pants (to be worn during the lambing season, for kneeling in all sorts of questionable material) have also been restricted to hooks inside the basement staircase. I continue to find them draped over the back of the couch in the TV room.

Every Sunday without fail, we host a family dinner with an average seating of a dozen people. Our floor needs to be washed, often. The Farmer, having developed his own method for cleaning his hardwood floors, is quite adamant that his way is best. Without going into detail, I will simply say that his way is the long way. The slow way. The labour-intensive way. I am always looking for shortcuts with my cleaning, as with my cooking. The sooner the job is done, the sooner I can get back to writing my story or visiting with my lambs. That doesn't make me a bad farmwife, does it?

This summer, while my husband was toiling away in the barn building sheep chutes and cattle gates, I took on the daunting task of washing all the windows in the house.

I found what looked like a decade's worth (but the Farmer assures me it is not) of ladybug shells, spider webs, fly corpses and these crazy little flies that my sister calls "no-see-'ems" in the window tracks. If you've never lived on a farm, then you don't know dirt. I vacuumed the crud out of the windows and sprayed the frames with boat cleaner.

I borrowed Mom's pressure washer, and proceeded to spray down the windows. I got halfway through one window when the washer quit on me, never to spray again. Unwilling to give up due to technical difficulties, I hopped in the car and drove to the rental place.

Twenty minutes and twenty dollars later, I was back on the job.

That industrial washer was so strong it took the paint off the side of the doghouse. I was very happy with the end result.

The next morning, I went down to the kitchen and peered out my clear window. Over night, a zillion no-see-'ems had gathered in my spotless windowsill. Heavy sigh. It's no use. My windows will never be truly clean.

I have decided it's the thought that counts. I tackle a small housecleaning job every day, and someone or something comes along and reverses my efforts. I wash the floor, the dog drools all over it. I vacuum the carpet, Annie comes running in with freshly cut grass sticking to her bare feet. My car would stay clean if I could somehow get to work without having to use our potholed, muddy road.

Honestly, my house was cleaner when I was single because I clean when I am stressed. Now that I am happily ensconced in my newlywed farmwife existence, the dust bunnies are softly settling in around me. Ah, life on the farm. I wouldn't trade it for a spotless zen-urban condo.

Small schools thing big

More than 200 delegates will descend on Cornwall October 2-3 to learn how small high schools can offer a big experience and have a lasting impact on the lives of students.

The UCDSB 2008 Small High School Summit, entitled Planning Big for Small – Success Throughout Grades 7-12, will take place at the Nav Canada Training and Conference Centre. The two-day educational conference will offer delegates a chance to hear motivational speakers such as Olympic gold medalist Sylvie Frechette and Dr. Lorraine Monroe – an expert on providing leadership for students in [redacted] classroom.

The conference will offer 25 exciting workshops on a variety of topics including: "guerilla teaching" tactics; the Reading Plus program; embedding multicultural practices in small high schools; the "Nerd Club" initiative: and teaching students to channel their love for an iPod into a wondrous educational experience in the classroom.

"We want to show people that small high schools work and that small high schools are powerful," said Andrea Davitt, co-chair of the summit.

"Our delegates will receive powerful best practices to take back to their classrooms that support student learning in the areas of differentiated and multi-faceted teaching and learning."

In her keynote address, Monroe will demonstrate that all students can learn. The author of Nothing's Impossible: Leadership Lessons from Inside and Outside the Classroom, will discuss the need for teachers to bring all of their educational skills and best practices to bear to ensure every student in their classroom has the chance to succeed. Frechette will discuss the impact of coaching on her life and the need for teachers to be quality life and academic coaches in the classroom.

IN MEMORIAMS

HURLBERT, Edward David: In loving memory of a dear son, brother, uncle, great-uncle and great-great-uncle, Edward David Hurlbert, who passed away a year ago on October 1, 2007.

We glance often at your picture in a frame,
And we often speak your name;
Mom misses you across the table every day,
Now that you have gone away.
We miss your conversations,
And your smile so well known;
The streets you walked are empty now,
Without your footsteps there.
But you still walk in our hearts,
And they will never be empty;
For they are full of fond memories of
A loving son, brother and uncle.

Mom (Fern), sisters (Anna, Verna, Lila, June), andtwinsister(Eleanor), nieces, nephews and great and great great nieces & nephews.
