

South Branch Youth And Visiting Cousin Killed By Lightning Saturday Night

Caius Gordon, 12, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gordon, South Branch, and a visiting cousin, Thomas Lockhart, 16, of Montreal, met death by lightning early Saturday evening on the Gordon farm.

Young Lockhart was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lockhart, of 4620 Esplanade Ave., Montreal. They had been visiting at the Gordon farm home on the South Branch Road.

After milking the cows, the two boys left the Gordon home with an air rifle. The electrical storm with hail and thunder broke minutes later at 7:30 p.m.

When the boys did not return after dark, the worried parents and friends and neighbors began a search about 9:30 p.m.

Lancaster OPP was called at 2:45 a.m. Sunday and two officers went to the scene.

At daybreak Cpl. J. J. B. Polnick and officers from both Long Sault district headquarters and the Lancaster detachment went to the Gordon farm and organized a search party.

Shortly after 9 a.m. Norman Gould, 64, a neighbor, found the bodies. They were lying a few feet apart beside a stone fence 400 yards behind the Gordon farm house, near large elm and basswood trees. "I was shocked," he said. "They were a copper color, as if the lightning had darkened them."

Judging from marks on the two trees, police said, lightning apparently struck the elm, bounced to the basswood and then hit the two boys.

Cornwall coroner Dr. A. B. Peachey declared them dead. He decided against a post mortem or inquest.

Cst. R. H. Graham, of Lancaster OPP, investigated the deaths.

Besides his parents, Caius Gordon leaves four sisters, Ann, Barbara, Linda and Gweneth.

Thomas Lockhart leaves his parents and two sisters, Ruth and Gladys.

The funeral for both boys was held Tuesday at three p.m. from Meldrum Funeral Home to St. Andrew's Church, Williamstown.

Burial was in St. Andrew's Church cemetery.

Pall bearers for Caius Gordon were Gary Fournier, Bruce Kennedy, Wayne Laplante, Glendon McKay, Kenneth and Neil Warden.

Pall bearers for Thomas Lockhart were all school mates from Montreal.

Eight More Men Signed By Square C

Square C Textiles officials were here today interviewing and signing on eight more men. Ten of those hired last week reported for training, Monday, at the Joliette and Ste Hyacinthe plants.

Donolo Construction, of Montreal, started work on the new plant Monday and a large number of men are now engaged in installing footings.

Maxville Loses Popular Young Area Resident

Maxville residents and those of the entire district were shocked and grieved to learn of the sudden death of William D. (Billy) MacLeod on Monday, July 14th, at the early age of 25 years.

Billy MacLeod was born in Cornwall, the second son of William G. MacLeod and Grace Campbell. He came to Macleview Farm, Maxville, with his parents at an early age and attended the local public and high schools.

A favourite with all young folks, he was an ardent sports enthusiast; an active member of the Maxville Curling Club, the Apple Hill Bowling League, and the Apple Hill "Border Riders" softball team, of which he was manager, having served faithfully as captain in the 1963 season.

A strong, healthy youth, Billy became a victim of leukemia during recent years, and was hospitalized frequently for treatment. It was while undergoing treatment that death came with startling suddenness. He had spent the previous Sunday with his parents and members of their family at his home in Maxville.

He is survived by his parents, three sisters and two brothers — Melba (Mrs. Donald Shaver) of Ottawa; Alma (Mrs. Ian Metcalfe) of Montreal; Shirley (Mrs. Donald Ferguson), Ian and Campbell MacLeod, of Maxville.

His remains rested in a wealth of beautiful floral offerings, the gifts of sorrowing and sympathizing friends, at his parental home from where his funeral took place to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at 2:30 on Thursday afternoon of last week. The pastor, Rev. Iver D. MacIver, conducted the service. He presented a comforting message and paid due tribute of esteem to the young life so suddenly called to higher service. Hymns sung were "Forever With The Lord" and "Safe In The Arms of Jesus", with Mrs. MacIver at the church organ.

Pall bearers were fellow members of the Apple Hill softball team — William Benton, William Illingworth, Rayburne MacMillan, Ronald MacMillan, Norbert Richer and Winston Van Putten.

Burial was in the MacLeod family plot in Maxville cemetery.

Besides the immediate members of the family present for the funeral, other close relatives included Mr. and Mrs. Glen Campbell and Norma Morrison, of Toronto; Peter MacEwen, of Woodstock; Alex Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Linton MacLeod and family, of Cornwall; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Villeneuve, of Hawkesbury, F. B. Villeneuve, of Lancaster.

J. A. MacLachlan Lancaster, Dies

The funeral of John Alexander MacLachlan, of South Lancaster, formerly of Alexandria, was held Monday, July 13, to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in South Lancaster. Rev. John Fortier officiated. Burial was in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church cemetery.

Born May 1, 1878, he was the son of the late Alexander MacLachlan and Sarah MacDonald, of Green Valley.

Besides his wife, the former Laura Matilda MacKeracher, he leaves two sons and six daughters: Mrs. Donald A. Cameron (Sarah), of Deep River; Mrs. Wilson Westgate (Jean) of Vankleek Hill; Alexander Donald and Archibald Allan, both of Toronto; Mrs. Clare J. Cook (Anne) of Chalk River; Mrs. Kenneth S. Brownlee (Katie) of Elphinstown; Mrs. Emile Gauthier (Matilda) of Montreal, and Mrs. F. Ray Madill (Marion), of Toronto.

Pall bearers were Donald MacLachlan, Leonard MacLachlan, Donald Cameron, Wilson Westgate, Donald P. Smith and Bruce Sova.

THE DRIVERS WALKED AWAY — There were plenty of spills and crashes at the Alexandria Raceway, Sunday, but fortunately no injuries resulted. In the feature race two cars hooked wheels with the unhappy results shown above. A car from Cardinal, left, was a total wreck and that of "Linky" Larocque was almost as badly banged up. A third car driven by Ray Theoret rolled off the track at the same point narrowly missing that of Larocque. Another two cars left the track in other races.

Trip To Joliette Included Tour Of Plant Similar To New One Here

The editor has a better idea of what is in store for Alexandria, with acquisition of the new Square C Textile plant, following a Monday visit to Joliette, Que. The trip included a tour through the offices of the parent Consolidated Textile Mills in Montreal; a survey of the Joliette plant which is similar to that now abuilding in Alexandria, and a round of golf on the fine course at Joliette.

He came home with three distinct impressions: firstly, Consolidated Textile Mills is mature enough to foster a healthy infant, even a Square C one. The Ste Hyacinthe plant is reportedly much larger than the one we toured in Joliette and an office staff of some 80 in Montreal is kept busy processing the paper work and planning production and sales.

The editor's second conviction is that Jim Bornstein, comptroller of Consolidated Textile Mills, is the ideal host. The way we were wined and dined and shown around led us to believe his pocket is almost as big as his heart.

Our third sorry conviction came on the second tee of the Joliette Golf Club. There it was we plunked three balls in a stream that apparently is as jolly yet, as our own Garry to swallow our misdeeds. Then it was, we knew we'd never be ready for the pro circuit. After losing three balls we quit counting, but incidental intelligence tells us host Jim scored a 49, Reeve Lloyd McHugh a 52, on the nine holes played before the rains came.

The editor was in distinguished company on this jolly ride to Joliette. Reeve and Counties' Warden Lloyd McHugh, Councillor Jean Paul Touchette and Plan 5 Co-ordinator John D. Grant were being given an intimate view of what is in store for Alexandria, and we rode along.

In the Montreal office we saw samples of many of the products that roll out of the plants at Joliette and Ste Hyacinthe. Some 80 employees were cost accounting, keeping track of inventories, pay-rolls, sales, credit and all the other phases of big business. Cards were being punched and fed into IBM machines and we were pleasantly relieved to see the girls feeding automation were not mere automatons. They could still smile pleasantly.

From Maurice Rabinovitch, secretary-treasurer of Consolidated Textiles we learned that the plant in Alexandria would be similar to the one we were to see in Joliette. It will be much more modern, though, both in lay-out and equipment. The latest in looms are to be installed and planning of the plant has involved even the engineers of Canada's Research Council.

At Joliette we toured the plant of Consolidated Textile Mills where that morning a first echelon of Alexandria area trainees was due to report. We saw mere threads of various man-made filaments woven into varying deniers; followed the interwoven spools into the weaving room where our unprepared ears were dinned by the drumming of more than 200 roaring looms. The men manning them must have been accustomed to the noise. We were fascinated by the weaving, but almost weaving with the cessation of sound as the door closed on that noise so new to our ears.

We didn't tour the dyeing plant next door, but we do recall the observation of one of the more witty members of our party that employees of the dye plant would not die from the smell. There was absolutely no odor.

This was our first, fleeting visit to Joliette and we were impressed by the wide boulevards, the civic display of flowers, the fine old homes, some of them turned into professional offices and one of them particularly prepared to serve food fit for a king.

We found Joliette a town to our liking and we came away with the conviction it has not suffered from having a plant of Consolidated Textiles located there.

Fox Thought Rabid Killed After Attacking Dog At Third Kenyon Home

Bitten in the leg by a fox thought to be rabid, the collie dog of Albert Faubert, Third Kenyon, is being kept tied while word is awaited from the Health of Animals Branch.

Friday night's incident was the second in that area within a week and evidences the fact that rabies has not yet been entirely eradicated in this county.

Widely known auctioneer and deputy-reeve of Kenyon, Mr. Faubert was away from home when his wife was attracted to the rear door about 11:15 p.m., Friday, by the barking of their collie dog. She found a strange animal attacking the dog and took the kitchen broom to the dog's aid. She then recognized the animal to be an almost full-grown red fox.

The arrival of Mr. Faubert at this point frightened the fox away, but within minutes it returned to the attack and bit the collie in the leg before the dog managed to kill it.

Game Warden E. W. Munro, of Apple Hill, was notified and the carcass was turned over to officials of the Health of Animals Branch at Cornwall. They are now awaiting examination of the head at Hull to ascertain if the animal was rabid.

Robert Smith, owner of the factory, was unable to estimate the amount of cheese stolen until a complete check had been made.

The break-in which occurred some time after 3:30 a.m. is being investigated by Long Sault Provincial Police officers.

Cheese, Butter Stolen At Finch

Five hundred pounds of butter and an undetermined amount of cheese were taken from the Finch Cheese and Butter Factory in a break-in early last Friday morning.

Police said entry to the building was gained by forcing a small door leading to the boiler room.

Locks on the storage doors were smashed.

Robert Smith, owner of the factory, was unable to estimate the amount of cheese stolen until a complete check had been made.

The break-in which occurred some time after 3:30 a.m. is being investigated by Long Sault Provincial Police officers.

Federal Farm Survey Sees Loch Garry Area As One Progress Passed By

Marking Anniversary In British Columbia

Mr. and Mrs. Norman MacDonald, both natives of Glengarry, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Saturday, July 18th, at the home of their son, Alexander, at 2625 St. George Street, Port Moody, B.C.

She is the former Flossie MacDonald, of Laggan while Mr. MacDonald, a native of Dunvegan, was police chief of Vancouver for many years.

Army Worms As Close As Stormont County

No infestations of army worms have been reported yet in Glengarry but at least four are reported from neighboring Stormont.

Farmers in this area of the Ottawa Valley may soon find themselves locked in a war with millions of brown-black, white striped army worms, according to word from Ottawa.

The worms, who last raided this area 10 years ago, can strip a grain crop in a matter of days and they're almost impossible to detect because they work only at night.

They vary in length from a half to one and one-half inches and have a life span up to five days. They multiply at such a furious rate that an infested field may contain four or five army worms per square inch of soil.

J. C. Guppy, federal department of agriculture entomologist in Ottawa, has received calls from worried provincial agriculture representatives in most of the south-eastern counties.

Mr. Guppy has advised most of them to recommend infested fields be sprayed with poison. In many cases the farmers have followed this advice but some have decided the problem is not serious enough to warrant the expense.

Mr. Guppy and his assistants were out today surveying the extent of damage locally.

Bill Parkinson, assistant to the provincial agriculture representative in Stormont, said four farms in his county are badly infested.

Mr. Parkinson said the Stormont problem is not critical yet but he was worried that many farmers, busy now with haying, may be losing their grain crops without knowing it.

"They're almost impossible to detect," said Parkinson.

Grenville County representative Carman Tenant said the problem is "widespread" in his area. He said six or eight farms were known to be infested.

Dundas County provincial agriculture rep Ed Pearson said he took a flashlight into a field last Friday night and found the worms had stripped an entire oat crop.

House At Kirk Hill Hit By Lightning

Fire, caused by lightning, destroyed a farm house in the Kirk Hill area early Friday evening. The house was owned by Ray MacGillivray and was occupied occasionally by a farm employee, Leo Lajoie.

The house was struck at the height of an electrical storm which swept the district about 6:30 Friday. A neighbor, Mrs. William MacGillivray, noticed smoke and summoned neighbors and the Dalkeith fire brigade. Though unable to save the house, firemen prevented flames from spreading to a nearby shed.

Two-Pound Prints From New Machine

The first machine in Canada capable of packaging two-pound prints of butter has been installed in the Graham Creamery, here. The larger prints will be on sale this week.

Doug Baxter explains that two-pound rolls have been on the market, but they are hand-wrapped and the butter is handled twice. The new machine wraps the two-pound prints automatically.

They are being marketed under the name of "Upper Canada" brand.

Funeral Here D. J. McKinnon

Following but a brief illness, the death occurred July 8th in Hotel Dieu, Montreal, of Donald John McKinnon. He was in his 78th year.

Mr. McKinnon was a son of the late Ronald McKinnon and Flora McDonald, of Passifern. He was twice married, to Hattie McMartin, who predeceased him some 40 years ago, and later to Annie McDougall who survives as do one son and two daughters. They are: Gordon McKinnon, Mrs. Bernie McLellan and Mrs. Eldon McDonald.

Two brothers and one sister also survive: Alexander and Joe McKinnon and Mrs. Hattie Paquette. The funeral was held Saturday from the Marcoux & Morris Funeral Home to St. Finnan's Cathedral and cemetery. Rev. J. D. McPhail chanted the Funeral Mass.

The pall bearers were Eldon McDonald and two sons, Leonard McDougall, John McDougall and Alex Stang.

At Lions Convention

Three members of the Alexandria Lions Club were in Toronto last week attending the International Convention of Lions Clubs. Zone Chairman Doug Baxter, Mike Barbara and Duncan Macdonell were accompanied by their wives.

At Least 25 Bands For Games Brisk Seat Sale Promises Big Crowd

At least 25 pipe bands are in prospect for the Glengarry Highland Games at Maxville, reports Secretary John Jamieson. The Worcester Kilts will be back to defend their North American championship and there will be several bands new to Maxville, as well as many seen in other years.

Two girls' bands, and possibly a third, will be competing in a special class. This will be the first Games' day for an all-girl band from Glengarry as Pipe-Major Connie Kippen Blaney parades her unit of youngsters trained by the Glengarry Highlanders' organization.

Wide interest in the August 1st

Games is reflected in the entry this week of seven pipers from an Ohio town in the piping competitions. Their band can't make it as a unit, but they are coming to the Glengarry Games anyway.

Advance sale of grandstand seats started months ago, reports Mr. Jamieson, and the centre section of the big grandstand is already sold out. There are still many hundreds of good seats available, however, in both wings of the big covered stand and there will be good vantage points for all comers around the big hollow square where the massed bands parade.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Happy With What We Had

Our news columns have been dominated lately by reports of progress on the acquisition of our town's newest industry, Square C Textiles. Promoting the progress of town and county is one of our chief aims in life and a new industry promising employment for men is not attracted every day, or every year.

We have been right behind Town Council in its successful negotiations with Consolidated Textile Mills and our pen is always poised to encourage the march of progress that seems to herald more diversified job opportunities here. Our town is growing, moving up to a new plateau, and the growing pains will demand that all of us adopt a progressive attitude that is beamed on future benefits.

While making our newest industry welcome it may be timely to remind ourselves of the contribution made to the local economy by those industries we already possess. They have set the tempo of an industrious, well-integrated community that undoubtedly had much to do with our attracting this new textile plant. We value them today as we did when welcoming them to Alexandria and we would not have them feel they are being forgotten or downgraded in public acclaim for the newcomer.

Carnation's gleaming white plant has been with us for twelve years and has provided peak employment for 75 men. Its shot in the arm to the local economy has been shared by some 450 milk producers of the area who were provided with an alternate market for their milk at a time when cheese milk was a drug on the market.

For the past five years the Alexandria plant of Carnation has been producing that company's milk powder for the entire Canadian market. The product is being shipped to Australia, the Caribbean and other world markets and our Carnation plant has swung many Glengarry dairymen to year-round milk production.

The Brown Shoe Company is a relative newcomer but one that has well earned the community's appreciation. Some 150 men and women are now producing shoes at the rate of 1200 pairs each working day and the plant's payroll is a welcome boost to the economy of town and district.

So with Alexandria Sash & Door, now rebuilding on an ambitious scale after a devastating fire loss. The Harry Flax production, Glen Dress, Alexandria Bakery and Glengarry Transport are other steady employers whose success has welcome repercussions on the local economy.

It is well to remember that Alexandria was enjoying a bit of a boom even before Square C Textiles came on the scene. While welcoming this new industry warmly, we are not forgetful of those other employers of labor who have contributed so much to Alexandria's resurgence from depression days.

We Finance Another Wage Boost

At a cost of a mere 57 million dollars to the Canadian taxpayers a threatened tie-up of the nation's railroads apparently has been averted. The government at Ottawa has negotiated what it hopes is a settlement by offering the railroads a new formula for calculating government financial help in return for labor peace.

In return for this added subsidy from the national treasury the railways agreed to resume talks with the 15 non-op. unions in Montreal this week "for the purpose of negotiating an agreement on the basis of the conciliation board's recommendations." This is interpreted as acceptance by the railways of a 19.1-cent hourly pay increase for the 100,000 non-operating railway workers across the country.

And so, it seems, another in the regular threats to tie-up the railroads has been settled in a predictable manner; with organized labor having most or all of its demands met. And with Ottawa playing its predictable role of peace maker at the expense of the Canadian taxpayer. This time it was the railways' non-ops. that were threatening to strike. Next month, or next year, it will be the turn of the operating railwaymen to want more. And they'll get it, with the beneficent help of the government of the day.

Organized Labor must be placated by the politicians and the railway unions need only voice the threat of strike to be heard clearly in the halls of Parliament. The publicly-owned C.N.R. has been their road to riches and the unions have come to count on government as an ally in bargaining for betterment.

Farm Safety Week

Our news columns have been blessedly free of accident reports in recent weeks and it is to be hoped the slate will remain clean through Farm Safety Week, July 19th to 25th.

Fire has taken its too frequent toll of farm houses lately but there has been an absence of injury. Even on the highway there appears to be a holiday from the almost constant reports of accidents involving death or serious injury.

We would like to think that the weekly Farm Safety reminders carried on this page are at least partly responsible but an editorial on Farm Safety Week should be in order. As the National Safety League of Canada points out, the present-day farm is a comparatively safe place to live, but it remains a dangerous place to work.

If present rates continue in the next year, more than 120,000 of the farm population will be involved in accidents of which 33,000 will cause injury and 2,400 deaths. This will mean that one member of every fourth farm family will be either killed or seriously injured this year.

Of all accidents involving farm residents, 72% occur on the farm, the rest off the farm. In one-third of the machine accidents, victims are under 20 years old, 12 per cent under 10. The tractor is involved in the majority of fatal farm power accidents.

"Operators of tractors must know safe operating procedures", warns NSL.

"Safety procedures are as necessary on the farms as in other work if farm safety is to be brought into line with the rest of the nation," the League claims.

Supervision of employees is more difficult on the farm than in a factory. The worker often works alone and an unsafe act may go unnoticed and uncorrected. Frequently the farm employee is temporary, an itinerant worker or a student working during the summer. Too often he lacks the proper training and knowledge to work safely.

"The farm employer should make an extra effort to be sure that his workers understand their duties and the proper, safe way to operate equipment and handle the materials they use. It cannot be assumed that a high school student can operate a tractor properly because he has a driver's license—no matter how safe a driver he may be."

Farm Safety Week is a time to concentrate on identifying and removing accident hazards and examine safety attitudes, in a united effort to reduce farm, home and rural accidents to an irreducible minimum. The farm family can play a most important part in accident control. It must be a family affair.

Another way to have one foot in the grave is to rest it too heavily on the accelerator.

A SCREECHING STOP

It was a grand try. But the timing was terrible.

It was Friday night and the main drag buzzed with two-way traffic. The Mill Square parking spots were all filled and there we were, cooling off at the office door, when this cowboy took off from the head of the square all tires squealing as he rocketed toward Main Street.

We had to admire the way he went into his sound effects almost as soon as he was mobile, but we couldn't love that sound. Our nerve ends were shuddering with the screech and we were just about to start hating him, but good, when we realized this cowboy was about to start hating himself.

As he stopped for Main, Constable King popped on the scene and we were satisfied to imagine the verbal by-play as a ticket was made out.

This was the first time we'd seen one of these horrid tire-screechers caught in the act. We trust he will prove a horrid example to all the other car cowboys whose one aim in driving seems to be to drive people crazy with their noise.

The guy who really has insomnia is the one who can't sleep even when it's time to get up.

WHO'S FOR THE HARMONICA?

Does anyone play the mouth organ any more?

It's just another of the idle thoughts that popped into our rambling mind the other night. It was a warm summer evening and cars carrying kids were moving up and down the main drag. Most of them were occupied only by a couple, and so close was she snuggling one was left conjecturing whether the young girls of today aren't trying to occupy the driver's seat even before they've got control of the driver.

But to get back to the mouth organ.

Our rambling mind recalls warm summer nights when jaunty airs on the harmonica were a welcome re-

THE COW JUMPED OVER THE MOON

I hate to do this — making a direct copy of someone else's brainwave, but I rather liked this one, and hope you will too. I got it from the Boston Globe (Nov. 23, 1958).

On lawn or meadow or morass, Whenever he can find the stock The hopper eats his weight in grass.

In fifteen minutes by the clock.

The cow, upon the other hand, To make a corresponding show Must ruminate on grassy land Two months and fifteen days or so.

How stolid are the cows that browse — How slow and seemingly asleep! The hopper doubtless laughs at cows

Who never seem to like to leap.

But still and all, we must allow With truth prevailing late or soon, The records show it was the cow And not the hopper cleared the moon!

And just to fill up space and waste your time, here's one about a motorist down South whose car got stuck in a mudhole. A colored man with a team of mules showed up shortly and agreed to pull the car out for three dollars. The motorist agreed and paid him.

"Did anyone else get his car stuck here?" asked the driver.

"Oh, yassuh!" replied the darkey. "You is the fourteenth car Ah've pulled out so far today."

"You must be plenty tired."

"Yassuh. Ah sure am plenty tired."

"Never mind. You'll get a good rest tonight."

"No Suh. At night de boss makes me haul water for de mudhole!"

a weekly. I marvel at the contents of his column and may I tell you as one who considers (without any shade of boasting) himself an authority. As an old sports writer—formerly sports editor of the Calgary Canadian edited by Charley Hayden formerly of the Citizen and formerly sports editor of the Saskatoon Phoenix when Vern De-Geer (Gazette) was sports editor of the Star, which two papers afterwards amalgamated—I believe it is the height of presumption for some sports writers to call themselves columnists and to operate with a by-line, the symbol of knowledge and authority. Your Angus H. McD does not fall into that category because I would rate his contents as on a par with such cronies of mine as Baz. O'Meara, Tommy Shields, the late Walter Gilhooly, Tommy Lowery, Bill Westwick, Vern DeGeer, (reading back I should clarify the word "contents" as I mean the contents of his column). Angus knows whereof he speaks and may I presume to say that you are fortunate in having such a hobbyist as his column must be the very first page read. Take for instance your subscriber, Mr. Marjerson in his late '80s always has some comment about someone he writes about when he hands me the paper.

Although hockey rated high in my sports interests at the time when I was secretary of the old Saskatoon Shieks (Newsy Lalonde, George Hainsworth, Cook Bros. etc.) President of the amateur league which sent Saskatoon's Quakers to the Allan Cup and to 13 countries in Europe and my brother's team the Battleford Millers to the first invasion of Japan by a foreign team, both of which invasions I promoted. Out of this experience, I went on to be scout for New York Rangers afterwards Chief Scout for Cleveland Barons, etc. etc. I consider football to now be tops. Why? Because I don't appreciate this razzle-dazzle brand they now play in the arenas across America on the ice lanes.

Football being my prime avocation, I try to digest all I read of it and I really relish each issue of the News in the football season and Angus always has some worthy material. Such being the case, I feel he is the man who can do a job that should be done to honor and remember the feats of some of the exponents of yesteryear in the Football Hall of Fame, about which a great deal is currently being written. My football originated at Ottawa University and I remember seeing the pictures of all the Glengarry boys which adorned the walls of that seat of learning in my day. Perhaps the greatest of these was the late Father Dunc. MacDonald whom I recall as pastor of the Cornwall Eastend. I had a great friend who played with him and Boucher and Clancy and Lafleur and Father Dan, named Billy Codd at Battleford and he could rave far into the night all about what a powerful man Father Dunc was on the gridiron. Father Foley is another from the counties who was tops.

I notice in your paper that there is no favoritism whatsoever shown as between R.C.'s and non-Catholics and lest my suggestion backfire, I should include the name of Rayside and Tupper McDonald of Williamstown, both worthy Hall of Fame material.

Recalling an experience a few years back that I had, I would say that your Angus H. is the man for the job and that he should begin immediately a crusade to have Glengarry's greats included early. I tried to get a plaque presented posthumously to the late Very Reverend William J. Stanton, O.M.I. who revolutionized Canadian football by cutting the makeup of the team from 14 to 12, who introduced the flying wing to the game, who thought up and introduced the razzle-dazzle plays we now have and who interested the great Frank J. Shaughnessy to the game of Canadian football. The Canadian Union was to say the least partial to Torontonians and their affiliates and frankly I was getting nowhere fast with my project. All at once the thought came to me to make an effort to interest Jimmy McCaffrey, a Glengarry, then G.M. of the Ottawa Ruffies. Jim put his shoulder to the wheel and the project was achieved as if it had received unanimous approval all along the line. Angus could call on McCaffrey for assistance I am sure because Jim is the soul of co-operation. But it requires someone to beat the drums and I cannot say too much for how much I think Angus is a natural to achieve the setting up of Glengarry into football's Hall of Fame for all they have contributed.

At the outset I should have complimented you on the editorial you wrote anent the removal of the Iron Curtain from Saskatchewan shortly after April 22nd. It was a masterpiece and I saw to it that Premier Thatcher got to read it.

With kind personal regards,
Yours sincerely,
Hubert D. Bishop

lief from the humidity. A jalopy would go by overloaded with young Canada, perhaps, and a budding musician would be feeling out "O Susanna" on the lip reed. You'd be cooling off on your porch and in the distance a harmonica kid might be heard stumbling through "The Camptown Races."

It wasn't good music, mind you.

But it was exuberant and unrehearsed. Much easier on the ears than the nasal pap that pops out of today's portable radios.

There oughta be a law that protects a captive audience, like on a train, from the portable radio. We'll settle for a law that forces all youngsters to trade in their portable radios for a harmonica.

Music hath charms, especially when its played outdoors, on a mouth-organ, on a hot summer night.

LOWER TRANS-CANADA LONG DISTANCE RATES

You've probably read the news stories about the lower Trans-Canada Long Distance rates that went into effect last month. It occurred to me that reductions have been implemented so often over the years that they're in danger of not being "news" anymore! However, they're refreshingly different, considering the price trends of just about everything else.

Trans-Canada Long Distance Service is made possible by close co-operation among the various telephone companies over whose territory a call travels. Before 1928, there was no interconnection of lines between the main Canadian telephone companies, so a call between Alexandria and, say, Edmonton, had to travel over American lines. By 1932, however, an all-Canadian East-West route was completed and, of course, continued expansion has occurred since then. Today your call may speed over actual telephone lines, or through the air via micro-wave (alongside television programs!), or over radio-relay systems that reach out to isolated sites, some well beyond the Arctic Circle. Telephone companies certainly don't just sit on the accounts collected from customers: money is continually ploughed back into the Canadian economy to provide better and better service, and a higher standard of living for all.

TAILORED TELEPHONES

On the average, masculine fingers are 10 per cent longer and 20 per cent wider than feminine fingers. Also, on the telephone, men's voices are two decibels louder than women's, and men tend to talk even louder when talking with other men. "Who cares?" you ask. Well, telephone engineers care very much. They even care about the average distance between the human mouth and ear: the handset must "fit" both for ideal transmission and reception (the mouth-piece should be held from one-half to one inch from the lips). Careful study of these human factors has led to the best possible design for items of telephone equipment.

WHERE YOU ARE

Ever notice how some Alexandria folks answer the phone promptly when you call them? Well, they might just always be right beside the telephone. But it's more likely that these prompt-answers have discovered the convenience of having extension telephones where they are. In the kitchen, for example, where the lady of the house spends so much time. She can make and take calls with ease... keep an eye on what's cooking at the same time. Some people find it handy to have extension telephones in the family room, or Dad's workshop. And, of course, a bedroom extension is not only convenient, it adds a reassuring sense of security, knowing a phone's close at hand. Extension phones come in three models—wall phone, regular desk set, and the little Princess with its glowing nightlight. Why not find out how convenient it would be to have extension phones in places handiest in your home. All it takes is a call to our Business Office, or ask the telephone service man.

Raisin River Authority Budgets For $7,000

The Raisin River Conservation Authority last week approved a 1965 budget of $7,000 of which $5,000 will be for capital expenditures and $2,000 for administration.

The 1964 budget of $2,000 was all for administration.

The provincial government, which must approve the budget, would grant the Authority half the amount budgeted for.

Three representatives of the conservation authorities branch, Department of Energy and Resources told the Authority it should plan on some projects, although the government survey of the river has not yet been completed.

Members of the authority asked the approximate cost of dredging the mouth of Gray's Creek as a conservation project. The men said they did not know if such a project would qualify for the grants, but advanced a rough estimate of the cost.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and wore a floor-length, empire style dress of white peau de soie, with Chantilly lace bodice, the sleeves coming to a point over the wrists. The waist-length veil fell from a pearl headpiece and she carried a bouquet of yellow mums.

SPORTS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

When Tony Lema won the 104th British Open Golf Crown last week at St. Andrews, Scotland, the 30-year-old San Leandro, California pro not only proved his prowess on the fairways and greens but he also provided an excellent example of heading advice that should be emulated by our young athletes. By athletes we mean all from our golfers right down the line to football and hockey.

Why? Well, after Tony Lema flew to Scotland he engaged James "Tip" Anderson, 28, to caddy. Tony Lema had just conquered several name golfers, however, although his Anderson caddy was two years younger, the Yank champ asked Anderson for advice, plenty of it. He adhered to the Scottish caddy's coaching. Result, despite the gales that swept the course Tony Lema used, as advised, seven irons on the tough greens instead of a wedge to win five strokes ahead of Jack Nicklaus. This is just one example. So, youngsters in particular, when you conclude that you know as much as your coach, pause, think of Tony Lema and his caddy "Tip" Anderson.

The Glens softball league is rounding the far corner of the schedule and heading towards the play-off wire.

Maxville and Lancaster are running one-two, however, like our Glengarry football standings there could be position changes by early August when the first four clubs meet in the semi-final playoffs.

President "Mickey" McCaskill tells us the crowds are beginning to turn out in larger numbers and, it was ever thus, by playoff time there should be improved attendance.

Now, as we go to press, Thursday, we start another football season by heading along 43 to Winchester and Ottawa's Lansdowne Park. Last year's Grey Cup finalists, B.C. Lions, are on hand to claw the Rough Riders out of their saddles. We were told last Saturday by an Alouette supporter that if we didn't give Jim Trimble's crew some lofty rating, then, this fan's subscription to your favourite Weekly newspaper would be terminated.

This forcibly brought to mind that peering into the crystal ball time is again at hand. So we join the scribe prophets by saying we think the Grey Cup champs from Hamilton will finish on top in the East. The old axiom of stringing along with the champs.

Should Trimble groom young Bork to be a top flight signal caller this season and Jim Andreotti continues his superb defensive play coupled with the ever present threat of Dixon, Alouettes could roost on the second limb. However, Bork must serve his apprenticeship while Russ Jackson should be almost at the climax of his career, hence, he will go along with Rough Riders to be just a pass or two ahead of Montreal which means Argos to trail.

What will happen out West? We are too far removed from the Prairies, Foothills and the Rockies to offer anything other than an opinion based on press reports. Here, too, we go along with last year's winners the B.C. Lions.

Regina will prove that their best player of late last season wasn't Lady Luck, however, those Calgary cowhands are going to close the gate on the gridiron corral sometime soon and it could be this year. So we give them the nod over Roughriders followed by Bombers and Eskimos.

You don't win the Grey Cup in July-August, however, barring injuries to Bernie Faloney the Tiger-Cats could go all the way.

... HITHER AND YON ...

Correction ... last issue we referred to McCrimmon as around the 14th ... we meant 18th ... in our first geography lesson of Glengarry we knew McCrimmon as either Bonnie Brier or the 18th ... while on this note we experienced quite a geography and history lesson last week ... accompanied by that master wielder of the artist's brushes, Stuart McCormick, we drove along the fringe of Little Russia, explored Siberia, stopped at Dr. Baker's old medico center, Old Dalhousie, turned left along the DeLisle to historic Peveril's saw and grist mill, on past Tommy Bathurst's to another landmark Stackhouse mill ... here we found only the site and a stone that was obviously used for grinding ... To trek along the DeLisle from the Dominionville headwaters through Glengarry and Soulages quite a chapter of history could be recorded of those early mills that served our pioneers.

At Second and Pitt, Cornwall ... Mickey McDougall spending July at his Coteau Landing cottage ... Detective Eddie Ostler tells us he keeps fit by playing lacrosse on the Island ... he means, of course, playing catch with the gutted stick at his cottage, Hamilton's Island ... not playing with Cornwall Island Indians ... We covered a lot of reminiscent ground lately ... with Bernard (Bunny) Dan MacEachen) McDonald and then Norman Duggan, vacation callers at Highland Chief ... Bunny recalled that he was the road construction water boy when his uncle Jack "John R." McDonald supervised the Kelly's Swamp strip filling mentioned in last issue by the Rambling Reporter ... Bunny then weighed sugar for George (Dominion Stone) Terry to the thumping tune of Professor Dan Mulhern pounding out piano scales on the second floor (now the welfare office building) Bunny left us with the thought he could very well retire from La Tuque to here in the Glens ... a pleasant thought ... Then Norman (Ottawa) Duggan called ... with articulate Norm we recalled our days in the Upper Ottawa from the Carp-Arnprior-Renfrew-Eganville-Barry's Bay across to Pembroke including all the cross-road stops and characters that, name-wise, vie with the Glens ... Ex-Glengarryans come vacation time, head back to the Glens like the salmon swishing by Chilliwack and Hope to their Fraser River birthplace.

Sport fans in the Glens learned with regret the death last week of Billy MacLeod, Dominionville. Billy was a gentlemanly player and quite versatile as an athlete. He played softball with Apple Hill and was also a member of the Hill's bowling team. In the off season he was a popular and active curler at the Maxville club. This fine young sportsman will be greatly missed.
