Better be seeing to the Gardens in spring, lest we end up with another minor catastrophe in the fall.

No Plans For A Community Centre Just Talk So Far, Reeve Massie Says

There are no definite plans for a community centre, though there has been some talk around the council board on the possibilities of building such a complex at the park, Reeve Bruno Massie told a News reporter yesterday when queried on such plans.

The reeve was mover of a motion at last week's council meeting to rescind a prior motion covering purchase of Glengarry Gardens. The new motion, supported by four councillors, would offer Gardens directors $50,000 and it authorized the clerk to include in our five-year project of expenditures for Ontario Municipal Board approval "the community centre plan".

Now, according to Reeve Massie, there is no such plan though there has been some talk. Queried as to the probable cost of a community centre complex he thought it might run from $200,000 to $250,000. The reeve was asked how he had reached the sum of $50,000 to be offered to the Gardens directorate. They should compromise, he felt. "There are lots of people against the idea of buying the arena", Reeve Massie added.

Mayor Raymond Periard is hopeful agreement can yet be reached and he expressed satisfaction with the many donations offered by citizens and groups. They would make it possible to purchase the Gardens without any other outlay by council except the moneys received from sale of the Armouries.

These were outlined by Councillor Costello at last week's meeting prior to the vote which rescinded plans to purchase at $56,000. Reported Councillor Costello:

"It is the wish of the committee to purchase the arena at no more cost to the town than the money received from the sale of the armouries," he said. The committee outlined its plan of financing as follows:

Profit and debentures from sale of Armouries to Galaxie Sportswear, $30,500; interest on profit from Armouries money on loan to town at 6%, $520; department of agriculture grants, community centre, $5,000; artificial ice plant, $5,000; donation from Alexandria Lions Club, $5,000; donation from Aime Lalonde, $500; rent from Carnation Co. for 7 months as committed by 7 owners at $600 per month, if purchased immediately, $4,200; donation Duncan Macdonell, $500; donation Lloyd McHugh, $500; donation 1 lot (Laporte Gardens) — J. P. Touchette, $1,000; donation Mayor Raymond Periard, $500; donation Raymond Ouellette, $500 — total $53,720.

Present at the meeting, Jean Paul Touchette pledged that he would personally be responsible for raising additional grants and donations to assure that the arena would not cost the town moneys other than the revenue derived from the sale of the former armouries.

Donations, as yet to be solicited, are from the town's major industries, service clubs, unions and many private citizens who are interested in the civic and sports enterprise. Members of the purchasing committee had hoped to raise another $10,000 over and above the subscribed figure to begin operation and maintenance next Fall.

Wilfrid Menard, president of the Gardens' directorate could not be reached for comment. We understand there has been no further meeting of the directors and there is no thought of revising the price at which the arena was offered the town.

Arch D. McRae Vankleek Hill Widely Mourned

The whole community was saddened when it learned of the death at Vankleek Hill on February 17 of one of its most distinguished citizens in the person of Archibald D. McRae. Mr. McRae was the son of the late Donald McRae and Catherine Fraser and was born at Vankleek Hill on June 19, 1888. He spent his entire life in this area, where he became known as an outstanding funeral director serving not only his immediate district but the whole of the Eastern Ottawa Valley area. To his chosen profession he brought the ultimate degree of dignity, efficiency and graciousness. It was characteristic of "Archie" that he continued to serve his people just as long as he was physically able to do so.

Although he was an enthusiastic supporter of every cause that would benefit his town and community, there were three areas which engaged his special interest, and in each of these he made a lasting mark.

He was devoted to his church. He gave service to Knox Presbyterian at Vankleek Hill as Clerk of Session for 22 years and as superintendent of the Sunday School for a considerable period. His interest extended far beyond the Congregational level. He was a member of the Board of the Presbyterian College, Montreal for 22 years, and he was on many occasions a commissioner to the general assembly of the church.

McLaughlin Cemetery was one of the causes dear to his heart. During his entire life-time he was very closely connected with it, and for much of that period he served as chairman of the cemetery board. The splendid condition of the cemetery today and especially the beautiful landscaping is in large measure the result of his interest and activity.

He was widely known as a diligent member of the Masonic Order. For over 50 years he was one of the Town To Have Fourth Policeman

Terry Kelly, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kelly, Alexandria, joined the police force, Tuesday and a fourth man is to be added, possibly next week.

Decision to increase the force to four was made at a meeting of the Police Commission last weekend, according to Police Chief Sylvio Cleroux.

Prior to joining the local force Terry Kelly had been with the CNR police at Ottawa.

Strengthening of the force will permit more patrolling and an advertisement in this issue warns the citizenry that an intensified campaign is to be instituted against parking meter infractions and other parking restrictions.

Chief Cleroux has also issued a warning to parents to keep their children off the lake ice which is now dangerously thin.

Cancer Drive Set For April

April is Cancer month, so are the other eleven months but April is rather important to the Canadian Cancer Society because that is when we ask the public to take three important actions: know cancer's warning signals, have an annual health check up and support the Society's programs of research, education and service.

The campaign objective for Glengarry County is $2,700, so please welcome the canvassers. Mrs. Raymond Jette, president and campaign chairman, said the cancer slogan "Fight Cancer with a check up and a cheque", is still very much in the program to combat the disease and assist those who are afflicted.

The captains for the county are: Jack Reid, industrial chairman, captains, Mrs. Douglas Baxter, Mrs. Albert Laporte, Mrs. J. E. Ranger and Mrs. Cormick MacDonald; Green Valley: Mrs. Wilfrid Menard; Lancaster: Mrs. M. E. Robinson; St. Raphael's: Miss Florence Kennedy and Mrs. Ronnie Menard; Martintown: Mrs. James Lagroix and Mrs. A. Walsh; Dalkeith: Mrs. Roland Levac; Dunvegan: Mrs. Mora MacLeod; Greenfield: John G. McMaster; Glen Robertson: Mrs. Raymond (Jessie) Sauve; Maxville: Miss Bella MacLeod and Mrs. R. F. McRae.

Paul Roy (Florist) has offered the window of his establishment for cancer displays and literature.

Martintown Area Residents Are Parents Of Airman Killed In Plane Crash

Funeral services will be held today at Pointe Claire, Que., for Flt. Lt. Robert M. Grant, 25, of Martintown, pilot of a twin-engined CF-101 Voodoo RCAF fighter plane that crashed Monday near Bagotville, Que.

Also killed in the crash was FO Douglas R. Clark, 22, of North Vancouver, BC.

Flt. Lt. Grant was the son of Fred E. Grant and his wife, the former Josephine Dunn, who moved to a farm four miles east of Martintown last June. They had resided for some years at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que.

Cause of the crash, as the craft was approaching for a landing, was not immediately known. An investigation into the tragedy is continuing today.

The two airmen were approaching to land at the Bagotville air station, 100 miles north of Quebec City.

The Voodoo, on a routine training flight from the Canadian forces installation at Chatham, NB, was reported to have bounded across a road near the end of the runway and crashed to a stop in snow 10 feet from the road and 500 feet from the station's living quarters.

A huge ball of flames mushroomed from the doomed plane after impact. Parts of the aircraft were scattered over a wide area.

Flt. Lt. Grant was born near Birkenhead, England, May 13, 1941, while his father was serving overseas during the Second World War. His father served overseas with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals for almost six years and attained the rank of captain.

The dead airman graduated from McDonald College, St. Anne de Bellevue, with the degree of Bachelor of Science in Agricultural Engineering. He also captured a scholarship in his graduation year, but later decided to join the Royal Canadian Air Force. He enlisted in 1963.

He won his wings at Gimli, Man., in 1965, being a member of the honors roll in his class. Flt-Lt. Grant visited his home near Martintown about once a month, but was better known in St. Anne de Bellevue and Pointe Claire.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three brothers, Brian Grant, Niagara Falls, Ont.; Glen Grant and Andrew Grant at home.

Mr. Sauve was born at Glen Robertson 74 years ago, a son of Isaac Sauve and his wife, Bridget Hughes. His father had been a contractor specializing in bridge building and Isaac Sauve followed that trade throughout his life while retaining his residence in Glen Robertson where he was prominent in community affairs.

For some 20 years Mr. Sauve was associated with the Ontario Bridge Company and had worked in many sections of the province. Since 1955 two sons had been associated with him in the contracting firm of Isaac Sauve & Sons.

To mourn he leaves his wife, the former Cecile Lalonde of Alexandria, four sons and two daughters. They are Raymond and Maurice Sauve of Glen Robertson; Arthur and Ernest of Montreal; Therese, Mrs. Jean Paul Boyer, Vankleek Hill and Marguerite, Mrs. Raymond Lalonde of Glen Robertson.

Maxville Planning Health Centre To House Doctors And Dentist

A health centre with facilities for two doctors and a dentist is in the plans for Maxville, according to an announcement by Allance C. Vallance, chairman of a recently organized health centre committee. Mr. Vallance is also chairman of the committee which plans to build Maxville Manor, a home for the aged.

The health centre committee is now in contact with a doctor they hope to attract to Maxville but plans for the health centre will proceed whether or not he comes, according to Mr. Vallance.

The village and area have been without a doctor because of the illness of Dr. John F. Mutch and the medical centre will be an inducement to doctors, it is believed.

The health centre committee consists of Mr. Vallance, chairman; Dr. D. M. Gamble, Reeve Hugh Smith of Maxville, Nick Haramis, Maxville Lions Club president, and Gerald Leduc, president of Maxville Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Vallance said no decision has been made on the site of the centre. But it would supplement the 90 bed, $700,000 home for the aged planned to serve the village and general area.

The centre, will be built on property west of the village high school, part in the village and part in Kenyon Township. It is probable the health centre will be situated on the same grounds.

Meanwhile, final approval of plans are expected in the near future.

Both projects are being undertaken on a regional basis, with the endorsement of churches and other organizations in Maxville and the surrounding districts.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Do They Want It At Any Price?

Glengarry Gardens was ours for a week, it seemed. But now it appears clear a majority of town councillors do not want it at any price.

Instead, they have been enmeshed in behind the scenes planning for a huge community centre complex to be built on the park-playground area and to include new arena facilities. That dream could set the taxpayers back as much as $200,000; but apparently costs are of no consequence.

They want that complex, no matter the cost nor the many other complexities, including unsuitability of its location.

They have the majority on council, these five headed by Reeve Massie, and so it seems Alexandria taxpayers are to be saddled with another huge chunk of debt in order to realize a dream that in all probability will turn out a nightmare of wasted tax money.

We wonder if these five members of council have really put their minds to the matter, studied the terrain and its accessibility. Or have they merely been pressured into this position by people who may have a selfish interest in seeing one section of our town grow?

Judging from the motion pushed through council last week this new community centre is to be built on the park. The only bit of greenery earlier town councils had foresight enough to preserve for relaxation and recreation is to be torn up and turned into a parking area surrounding an arena that will presumably be empty and devoid of activity except in winter.

Or perhaps this centre is intended for the playground area where these same councillors wasted several thousands of tax dollars last fall on an open air rink. If an arena is to be built there, what space will be left for ball diamond, tennis courts, trailer park and other facilities that have been planned for that location?

And have these councillors considered the fact that high lake waters each spring flood over this area? Is it good sense to instal an artificial ice surface on a location where each spring hockey playoffs might be interrupted by rising water from the lake?

Whether this centre is intended for park or playground there is certain to be a traffic problem. The entrance on Derby Street is tricky in summer and that hill will prove doubly hazardous when ice and snow further complicate the approach to Main Street.

If a new community centre is feasible, which we doubt in view of the many more important demands on the town's borrowing limits, surely another, better location could be found. Such a site should be as handy to residents of the station area as to those living anywhere else within the town limits. The park-playground area does not qualify as such.

The members of council have pledged themselves to provide responsible administration of our civic affairs. They obviously see the need for a covered rink after the fiasco of this winter and yet a majority of them appear to have closed their minds to the fact that Alexandria possesses an artificial ice plant that can be made a community centre without any capital expenditure. The money is available from sale of the Armouries building and from other sources to meet the purchase price of Glengarry Gardens.

If Reeve Massie, or any others who voted to rescind a motion they agreed to one week earlier, has some new light with which to justify that action surely the citizens of Alexandria deserve to be informed. We want an arena; many of us think Glengarry Gardens will fill our requirements at a cost that will not be burdensome. We hear there is a firm offer of $56,000 for the Gardens which may leave our town without a covered rink for many years to come.

These councillors should put their cards on the table, in plain view for all to see. Or they should get out of a game that perhaps is beyond their depths.

More Mortgage Money Now Available

Amendments to the Bank Act were finally pushed through Parliament before the Easter recess. One of the most important changes permits Canada's banks to get into the home mortgage loan business. Where previously they had been limited to such loans under the National Housing Act, now they will be able to lend mortgage money on new and used homes at competitive local interest rates.

If Canada's banks take full advantage of this new amendment the result could be a boom year for the building trades. Housing starts declined in 1966 due to a shortage of mortgage money. The banks were restricted to loans under the National Housing Act and these were limited to new housing with a maximum amount of $18,000.

Now they are permitted to finance conventional mortgages on either a new or existing home. The amount available is up to 75 per cent of the property value, with a ceiling of $40,000. These mortgages can be used for buying or refinancing existing residential property and their availability should act as a spur to home improvement on a scale which might not have been financially possible last year.

In a year when new building starts are limited by "tight" money the entire economy feels the pinch. The building trades play the role of a barometer and if they are not booming the slack is felt in many unrelated industries. This added availability of mortgage money for new and used housing promises to free the fetters of many family men who have sought better housing but have been unable to come up with needed capital.

Canada's banks have long sought this opportunity to compete with the "near banks" in the mortgage field. A release from the Royal Bank covering this new Bank Act amendment indicates they are ready and anxious to serve.

Milk Price Boost Will Be Welcome

The increase in the price of milk for manufacturing to $4.75 a hundredweight at the factory will no doubt be welcomed by Glengarry dairymen though it falls short of the $5.00 price at the farm being demanded by some farm groups.

For Ontario farmers the increase will amount to only 40 cents a hundred due to the fact a 25 cent provincial subsidy will die with the new federal dairy price.

This federal government increase will be met at least in part by a two-cent addition to the Canadian dairy commission's buying price for butter, from 61 cents to 63 cents. The effect is to raise the retail price of butter by a like amount and an editorial in the Ottawa Citizen waxes indignant over the prospect of the housewife having to pay more for butter in order to help the farmer.

The editorial concludes: "As long as subsidies remain a tool of policy, someone has to pay. This is one of those cases where the consumer finds himself penalized to help the farmer".

This is true, of course, but the phrasing strikes us as more than a little rough on the farmer. Someone has to pay for any increase, whether by subsidy or wage boost or any other means. The consumer is the low man on the totem pole and the Citizen editorial writer might have reflected on the fact farmers are consumers, too. As such they are subsidizing much larger increases to other sectors of society through increased taxes and a higher cost of everything they buy.

This 40-cent increase in the milk price works out at less than a 10 per cent rise in his milk cheque. Compare that with 35 per cent wage increases won by the Longshoremen and somewhat similar jumps in the take-home pay of postal workers and many other classes of public servants. Every such boost in union wages eventually is reflected in higher taxes and the cost of living. All of us, whether farmer or white collar worker, must help pay those increases in our role of consumer.

We venture to say the dairy farmer is much less happy with the fact his produce must be subsidized than is this Ottawa editorial writer. He would much prefer to be independent of government help, but unhappily he has to live in a society which sees socialistic government insistent on having its say in every sector of our economic life. Today it unashamedly robs Peter to pay Paul; toforrow it finds Paul must be recompensed, too, lest there be a breakdown in the smooth running of the machinery of state.

Alas, the planners in government are dealing with selfish humanity and so we live in an era when breakdowns are always threatening and another cog must be greased with oil from the public service station. And so our taxes grow and our cost of living increases.

This milk price boost is welcome, but we would say the $5.00 per hundred at the farmer's gate being demanded is not out of line with many other increases the government has granted in face of union threats.

Buildings shook as reeds, stoves rattled but no real damage was done. — On Tuesday last the nomination to fill the vacancy in the Counties' Council representation at Charlottenburgh, caused by the death of A. J. Grant, was held at Williamstown. D. R. MacDonald, well known railway contractor, was given an acclamation. — At the meeting in the Queen's Hall on Saturday, it was unanimously decided that a creamery should be started here. It was decided to have all the monies pass through the hands of a committee composed of Messrs. Henry Duggan, Ed. McDonald and Jas. Kerr. It was agreed that Mr. Decosse, the proprietor, should charge 3c per pound for manufacturing the butter, he to supply all materials and pay freight to Montreal. — The sawmill of D. D. McPhee will begin operations next week. Upwards of 4,000 logs measuring 400,000 feet have been purchased this winter.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

THE MAYOR WRITES

Alexandria, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

It seems that generations to come will be lacking facilities for sports due to the fact that a few narrow-minded citizens are not prepared to provide recreation for our town.

I am of the same opinion as Councillors Costello, Brunet and Macdonell who voted against rescinding of the motion passed previously by council to purchase Glengarry Gardens.

I would suggest not only to the sports-minded, but particularly to citizens who do not seek a program of recreation, that such would serve to keep our growing youngsters out of mischief. It might also reduce the number of them who are motoring to our neighboring province or to New York State to find amusement.

I am also certain we are in a position to provide a recreation program with the help of the ad-

HATTERS MUST BE MAD

We were reading recently where the hat industry has gone to hades. Only one man in five wears a hat today, it seems; and that's why the few hat manufacturers that are left are liable to be mad, hatters.

Judging by Sunday's Easter parade the weaker sex has taken the lid off as well. Actually the parade down Main Street was almost non-existent. It was a bright sunny day, though the breeze had a chill to it, and one would have expected to see at least the young things out to show off their Easter finery.

They weren't out in numbers and most of them were hatless.

Mayhap they're so wrapped up in their miniskirts they feel they should be bare on top too.

Mind you we did see some Easter bonnets, mostly on the more mature; and some of them were bonnie. But we can recall the day when an Easter bonnet was a must, and when it was paraded down Main no matter how nasty the weather.

This is a different day, it seems, and maybe it's the longhaired boys who've taken the lid off the girls. Perhaps in self-defence more of the girls are letting their hair down to waist-length and a hat might spoil the effect.

Seems the girls are determined to cap the boys in this hair-raising business. And the boys are so proud of their waves length they refuse to hide it under a bushel.

The unfortunate makers of hats lose both ways and the barbers are forced to raise the price of the infrequent haircut.

NO TIME FOR RAMBLING

The Universal and International Exhibition of 1967, or Expo for short, opens at Montreal April 29th. That's less than a month away now and Expo officials must be poring over the long-range weather probs and hoping for a warming up of the ozone. The nights of May could prove uncomfortably cool on the islands of Expo.

We spent an hour poring over the program covering the performing arts and assorted activities that will be held in five Montreal theatres in conjunction with Expo and we foresee a great scurrying to and fro between Montreal and Glengarry through this summer. There are so many world attractions coming to Montreal with Expo it's going to be hard to keep 'em down on the farm almost any night you want to name.

Expo itself will take a sight of seeing and there are going to be 70 "national days" when each country exhibiting will stage its own spectacular on the open-air plaza called Place des Nations. These will be free shows for the first 8,000 comers and who relishes a free show more than the man from Glengarry.

There'll be all kinds of free entertainment on those islands of Expo and then there'll be all those grand theatre performances by some of the finest talent on this globe.

When again will we have a chance to see the Bolshoi Opera Company, the Bristol Old Vic Company, La Scala Opera of Milan, the Paris Opera Ballet, to name but a few? Can you afford to miss the Japanese Folklore Art Dance Company, the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, One Hundred Years of Musical Comedy, the Red Army Chorus and Dancers, the World Horse Spectacular?

Pearl Bailey's coming to Montreal, the Jack Benny Show, Maurice Chevalier, Yehudi Menuhin. "Hello Dolly" will be but one of the shows you'll want to see.

Better rest up this next month, and put aside a few shekels, too. Once Expo opens Montreal's going to be continually calling. And there'll be plenty of centennial celebrating right here at home, too.

Darned if we can see how we'll be able to keep to our rambling gait.

joining municipalities, this by yearly grants on the operation and maintenance of the Glengarry Gardens, or any other activities. Help is possible, too, through the Community Programs Branch and Mr. Louis P. Poirier of Ottawa, who has assisted us in the past. Such a recreation program can include a radius of 15 miles and lighten the burden for all concerned.

It was most disappointing to have the resolution of two weeks ago rescinded. I had thought this steering committee most capable and dependable and after extensive research its report was an interesting one. With available grants, generous donations and monies already in trust the arena would have cost us little or nothing. These donations have been promised even without the necessity of a campaign.

Rumors that the arena needs major repairs may be true, but this is to be expected; many of our homes and business places are in need of repairs. Our town consultant maintains that the cost of needed repairs would be more than compensated for by the increased value of the building, making it easier to resell i nthe event of a major recreation centre being built later.

At this time Alexandria has many projects for 1967 which will have to be approved by the Municipal Board. The Public Utilities Commission requires approval for some $350,000 of spending; the roads program, sewage, etc., may call for another $400,000 spending by the council.

Our beautiful park has been maintained without costing the taxpayer a penny: this through fine administration and co-operation between town officials, service clubs, and citizens.

I happened to be a member of the Kinsmen Club when we had the first thought of making a beach and park and filling and levelling the land for a playground. Our park is now most attractive and second to none in Eastern Ontario, a fine realization of that dream.

My children's skates stayed in the basement all winter because no ice was available. Some may say that the lake is there for them but I have already lost a nine-year-old daughter through drowning and I do not wish another such tragedy. Open air rinks are a thing of the past. They may have served us when we were kids but times have changed and we must change in our outlook, too.

The signs at railway crossings read: SLOW DOWN, LOOK and LISTEN. Do we want our children deprived of fun, sports, clean and healthy exercise. Our future citizens are growing up in an era of modernization.

Let us be conscientious and truly unselfish.

Maxville Juniors Take Second Win In Series With Ottawa Imperials

(by Angus H. McDonell)

Fond memories of the famed Millionaires' era were rekindled in the Indian Lands when Maxville earned a one game lead in the best of five Junior "B" playoff series with Ottawa Imperials as they won at home Tuesday night 9-3.

Winners of the St. Lawrence Junior League championship, Maxville dropped the opening game in Ottawa last Friday 9-5 to the Imperials; then came right back on home ice Sunday to tie the series at one game each by defeating Ottawa 5-3.

Tuesday night's game was the best of the series as the Highlanders delighted upwards of 500 fans with plenty of gunnery especially by the Beausoleil - Thompson - MacDonald line. This trio led the way as Ron Beausoleil scored a hat trick three plus an assist, Ken MacDonald scored a single and three assists while Mel Thompson set up all four goals.

Maxville could settle matters with a third win in Ottawa this Friday night, however, should they lose then the fifth and deciding game will be played in Community rink on Sunday afternoon.

The winner of this series meets either Hawkesbury or Ottawa Astros of the Ottawa Valley playoffs for the right to continue in the all Ontario finals.

Referees Carman Marshall and Chief Garrand handled the game in their usual capable manner.

Masons St. John Lodge, No. 21A, Vankleek Hill looked to for responsible leadership, and his lodge will keenly miss the sound judgment he exercised in the direction of its affairs. He was an expert ritualist and his contribution in this area was outstanding. His devotion to Masonry brought him honors and responsibilities which he richly deserved. During his life-time he served as Worshipful Master of his own Lodge, as district deputy grand master of eastern district and as grand superintendent of Ottawa district, Royal Arch Masonry. He was a member of the 18th degree of the Scottish Rite, and he had the honor of being grand representative of the Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario to the Grand Lodge of Para-Brazil. He brought distinction not only to himself but to his Mother Lodge, and indeed to the whole of Masonry. His brother Masons recognized this at a largely attended Masonic Service in the Funeral Parlors on Sunday, February 19.

The funeral was held on Monday, February 20 from the McRae Funeral Parlors at Vankleek Hill. It was conducted by Rev. J. A. McGowan, Minister of Knox Presbyterian Church, and was under the direction of McArthur Bros. and MacNeil of Cornwall. The pallbearers were Melvin McRae, George Rutherford, Delbert Barton, Donald Fraser, John Fraser and Ernest Allen, all of Vankleek Hill. The remains were placed in the vault for burial in McLaughlin cemetery at a later date.

Mr. McRae is survived by his wife, the former Jean McDougall.

This was a trying time for any youngster wishing to obtain his release after becoming dissatisfied. However, Ralph didn't quit. He took his lumps and finally had a whirl in senior hockey with Bill Cummings' Lancaster Dodgers.

Ottawa Montagnards, in ODHA Allen Cup playdowns, picked up MacSweyn for defence duty. While they were meeting elimination by Woodstock in the finals a Johnstown scout liked Ralph's rugged play and puck handling. Ralph signed a contract and is right now completing his third year with the Jets, the most successful of his hockey career to date.

Ralph MacSweyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald MacSweyn, Laggan-Cotton Beaver, has demonstrated that all high school boys just don't graduate with a hockey scholarship. However, if you have that great asset of desire to match your God-given natural athletic ability, then if you try hard enough, in the final analysis, you will be awarded life's breaks of the game.

Cut planting time with

INTERNATIONAL

CORN PLANTERS

Exclusive IH rotary valve lets you hill drop or power drill. Easily switches to straight drill. Hill drop 1 to 4 seeds per hill — 4.4 to 35.4 in. spacing. Or drill plant at 2.5 to 17.7 in. spacing.

The International 56 Corn Planter plants with pin-point accuracy at speeds up to 7 miles per hour. The secret lies in the exclusive IH rotary valve and IH "frog". Rotary valve deposits pre-grouped seeds at zero velocity without bounce or scatter — gives tightly grouped hills, precise seed count and exact spacing. The "frog" forms and firms the seed zone — for even depth and uniform germination.

Can be changed in minutes from hill drop to power drill or straight drill with gravity fall for single seed planting.

SPORTS in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

It is more than a bit ironic that the future of Glengarry Gardens is still a political football in Alexandria. At least that is the opinion of many.

When a boy in minor hockey is deprived of a season's play, and despite valiant efforts of a few, that is, in essence, what happened this year locally; such a boy's hockey future either via scholarship or Junior "A" becomes almost hopeless.

This is the case of a few boys in Ourtown, who shall remain nameless for obvious reasons, and they must be keenly disappointed with the civic leadership in the rink issue especially when the success is reviewed of another minor hockey grad, from the same rink, currently in the limelight to stay. We are referring to Laggan's Ralph MacSweyn; a youngster here in the days when minor hockey was a shoe-string operation in conjunction with the Gardens in contrast to this day of fabulous grants and no rink.

While in Montreal a few day ago combining business with Lions club dinner promotion work; we, by chance, met up with a pro scout who had just returned from appraising the player potential in the Eastern (minor pro) Hockey League.

It is the custom, and rightly so, of hockey's ivory hunters not to divulge their confidential contacts and player prospect files; however, in an off the cuff way they are interesting conversationalists especially when one gets around to discussing a player one is keenly interested in one's self.

We learned that this Eastern Hockey League embraces quite a territory. Johnstown, Pa., the home of the Jets with Ralph MacSweyn the Pierre Pilote of their defence, is the hub of the circuit. This city of 65,000 and some 65 miles east of Pittsburg, nestling in the forks of the Allegheny Mountains, is a pioneer centre of steel production.

In the northern division along with Johnstown there are four teams, Clinton Comets, New Jersey Devils, Long Island Ducks and New Haven Blades. The southern division is represented by Nashville Flyers, Knoxville Knights, Greensboro Generals, Charlotte Checkers and Florida Rockets.

The clubs play an interlocking schedule with the first four teams in each division declaring their own winners then these two meet for the EHL championship. You don't have to be a genius in maths to figure out that these players must travel upwards of 25,000 miles in a season. The Jets make all their road trips by bus.

Switching our discussion from the league in general to the Jets in particular, we gleaned that Ralph MacSweyn is enjoying his best season since he first scrambled around the field ice patches of Laggan. Johnstown being a member of the Detroit farm system, Ralph was among the Wings 'rookie recruits at camp last fall. However, due to improved play in '65-66 over '64-65, the Jets' coach Jack McIntyre, former NHLer, thought that Ralph would benefit by more seasoning in the EHL; so the Glen's product returned to the Johnstown defence as co-captain. This is often the guidance that makes or breaks a promising player and we were assured that MacSweyn capitalized on the opportunity with such vigor, determination and natural ability that he was awarded All-Star honors both by the EHL and the Jets' club.

We were told that Ralph was chosen as one of the first team North Division All-Star defencemen and he was the only Jet awarded this honor. Teammate Dick Roberge was right wing choice of the second team. The Jets also thought highly of his efforts as Ralph was named player of the month in February and in the final scheduled game was announced as the club's player of the year.

We asked our scout friend about Ralph's future having in mind the NHL expansion. He drummed his fingers for a pensive moment, then, with a glint quipped, "How old is MacSweyn"? "Oh, say 24, give or take a few months either way", was our guess.

"Then", shot back the scout, "he is still a bruiser of a youth, just under six feet, about 190, scored something like six goals, 22 assists, I suppose 60-70 minutes in penaltics, is the police take-charge guy of the team but doesn't go looking for trouble, is a penalty killer and on the point when up a player, so all in all it could well be that MacSweyn will be invited to one of the new NHL camps when the frost is on the pumpkins in your Glengarry next fall", concluded the scout.

Thus ended a delightful and informative discussion, especially to be briefed on the EHL makeup and play calibre and, of course, the Glen's contribution via Johnstown.

It would be pleasing to see Ralph MacSweyn given an NHL try, however, whether or not this should materialize, the Laggan farm boy has set quite an exemplary pattern for our minor hopefuls to follow.

At age five Ralph was on Lochiel ponds skating, and although smaller than his companions and younger, he so desired to play hockey that he would gladly risk frozen toes and ears by playing goal just to get in a game. Father Charlie Gauthier, as you would expect, was among the first to appraise the youngster's potential and this priestly sportsman was always there with his usual assistance.

It was about coach Adelard Sauve's year with the midgets that Ralph moved out of the nets and he has been a blue line player ever since.

At this time Ottawa's Carl Foley was tipped that Ralph could bolster his A.C.T. juvenile team that was to play in the Milton, Ontario, tournament. Ralph not only played top flight hockey for Ottawa, as they were tournament champs, but he also earned the Milton Merchants' Trophy, the most valuable player award.

Obviously this moved the Laggan youngster to the NHL negotiation list and four other clubs discovered that Canadiens had beaten them to the pen draw, Ralph, as a result, had no choice but to turn out with Les Habs Junior "A" squad.

ADVERTISE IN — THE
GLENGARRY NEWS

Ecumenical Tone Holy Week Service

Rev. Rejean LeBrun, vice-chancellor of the diocese, was special preacher at a Holy Week service held in the Church on the Hill, March 21st.

Rev. Leonard S. Woolfrey conducted the service. In welcoming the congregation made up of members of the local churches, he commented on the ecumenical spirit of this age "for we should be one in Christ, of one Lord, one faith, one baptism.

A 20-voice girls' choir from Iona Academy, St. Raphael's sang a capello under the direction of Sister Jane Francis "When I survey the wondrous Cross" and "God gives His people strength". As soloist, Frank Hamilton sang "The old, rugged Cross", with Mrs. W. A. MacKinnon at the organ.

Basing his homily on the passion story told in the Gospel of St. John, Father LeBrun spoke of Jesus' thirst and how these words are addressed to us. Christ our Lord is thirsty for our love and personal dedication. How much do we give him?

Christ is thirsty for a united people, he said, united in spirit, in love and action. Our answer to Him must be a free and voluntary one. It is our mission as Christians in a war-torn world. Only Christ can bring peace. We know that if all Christians would work together, things would change on earth. We could then be called the salt of the earth and the light of the world. Are we ready to follow him that far? he asked.
