Trade Board Elects Directors Reviews Last Year's Activities

Fourteen directors named at the annual meeting of the Alexandria Board of Trade last Thursday night will meet soon to elect from among their number, a new president and other officers.

The directors are: John G. Proulx, J. A. E. Comeau, Lloyd McHugh, Lyall Costello, Frank McLeister, Jack Flax, Real Lefebvre, Duncan Macdonell, Jean Paul Touchette, Gilles Lefebvre, Randal MacDonald, Doug. Baxter, Campbell Fraser and Ray Gauthier.

Some 30 members were present for the dinner meeting held at Big Boy Diner. President John G. Proulx presided and as he reviewed the various activities of the past year members were asked to discuss various aspects as a guide for the incoming executive.

The report of the treasurer indicated the Board had operated 'in the black' and finished the year with a slight surplus after turning over $150 to the hospital. This was the net proceeds of two dances held. A trophy for the Peeewe tournament was voted.

There was criticism of an auto graveyard near the station and the president reported town council had been approached to act but was powerless to do so because the property was in Lochiel Township. One member reported the owner was now in the process of cleaning up the lot.

There was a motion of appreciation to the retiring officers for their diligence and President John Proulx thanked officers and members for the fine co-operation he had received.

CNR Announces End Of Flag Stop At Lancaster

Lancaster will be without any passenger train service after April 24th when the last flag stop for that station will be discontinued.

CNR officials advise that No. 18 eastbound at 9:26 a.m., an express-freight, now makes a stop at Lancaster when flagged. But in recent years practically no passengers to or from Lancaster have been using the train.

The change at Lancaster is one of many on the CNR's Montreal-Toronto line announced by the railroad's Rideau Division. Cornwall and Brockville will remain master stations, but many intermediate stops will be discontinued and in the fall a dayliner service is to be introduced to serve between the master stations.

Counties Will Spend $2,900,661 Will Levy For $858,990

United Counties' Council approved a 1965 budget last week calling for a $72,799 increase in tax levies over 1964.

The budget provides for a total expenditure of $2,900,661, of which $858,990 will be raised by municipal levy. The 1964 levy was $786,191, an increase of $35,405 over 1963.

The $858,990 will be levied on property in the counties valued at $54,231,533.

Remainder of the 1965 total expenditures — an estimated $2,041,671 — will be borne by grants and revenue other than taxes.

Counties clerk-treasurer L. C. Kennedy said the higher levy this year is largely due to increased road expenditures, which represents about one mill of the increase.

The biggest single item on the budget is $420,500 set aside for maintenance of county roads.

Funds set aside for various purposes such as general government (administration), protection to persons and property, and public welfare total $427,240.

Most Stores Are Open Friday Closed Monday

Most Alexandria stores will remain open through Good Friday and close Easter Monday, we are informed by Board of Trade officers.

Some business places will be closed Friday, including the Post Office, the banks and the Liquor store. Both banks will enjoy holidays both Friday and Monday but will open for two hours Saturday morning, from 9 to 11. The Liquor store will remain open until 9 o'clock tonight and will be closed both Friday and Monday.

Schools closed at noon today and will reopen Monday, April 26th.

Third Constable Made Permanent

Constable Hubert Major, on part-time duty in recent weeks, was made a permanent third member of Alexandria's police force at a meeting of the Police Commission here Friday. His salary was fixed at $3,900.

The Commission's budget for 1965 calls for expenditures of $19,940, up some $4,500 over last year. The increase is largely made up of the new constable's salary and an increase of car allowance for Chief Dubeau's car from $20 weekly to $30 per week. The increase car allowance is to cover extra mileage in patrolling.

Present for the Commission meeting were Judge G. E. Brennan of Cornwall, Austin O'Connor of Ottawa and Mayor Periard.

Many At Funeral Jos. A. Filion

St. Mary's Church, Green Valley, was crowded with sympathizing relatives and friends, Friday, for the funeral of Josephus A. Filion. A widely known area businessman and builder, Mr. Filion died suddenly April 5th at the age of 61.

Members of Glengarry Council, Knights of Columbus, acted as bearers and an honor guard was formed by fellow members of Bishop Macdonell Assembly, Fourth Degree. Fellow members of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission attended in a body while other clubs and groups in which Mr. Filion had been active were represented in the large cortege.

A nephew, Rev. Gerald Poirier, chanted the solemn mass of requiem in St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock. Assisting were Rev. Patrick Breton and Rev. Lionel Joyal.

The large numbers attending the wake and funeral and the many expressions of regret and sympathy evidenced the wide sense of loss in Mr. Filion's unexpected death.

Dominion Textile To Employ 375 In $14 Million Plant At Cornwall

After one and one-half years of searching for a new location, Dominion Textile Company Ltd. announced Monday construction of a $14,500,000 plant on Highway 2, west of Cornwall.

One of three construction programs announced by the Montreal company, the new plant will be built on a 270-acre site half way between Long Sault and Cornwall, adjacent to Moulinette Side Road.

Pentagon Construction Ltd. of New York State will start construction on the 300,000 square foot building in early May.

Company officials said the plant could expand to 700,000 square feet.

Crowding Problem Alexander School

Overcrowding in some classes is already a problem at the new Alexander School and there has been some pressure from ratepayers on the Separate School Board.

Possibility of adding more rooms to the school has been discussed by the board, a trustee informs us, but the board would prefer to delay decision for another year. That period of time should make it possible to better estimate what accommodation will be required to take care of increased enrolment because of new industry and the hospital, the board feels.

With an enrolment of close to 200 the school is not technically crowded in the education department's view, but two classes are badly crowded, one with 43 and another with 45 pupils.

The board is studying the possibility of moving the kindergarten class to another building if such can be found. This would permit use of that room to ease crowding in other grades.

The board hopes to have some solution for start of the new school year in September.

Some overcrowding is also being felt in other schools of the system, we understand.

Important Crop Meetings Next Week

Improved crop yields in Glengarry in 1965 are the aim of a series of meetings being sponsored next week by the Glengarry Crop Improvement Association in conjunction with the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Subjects to be discussed will include the use of fertilizers for hay and pasture production, the recipe for corn production, emergency crops and fertility measures and other aspects of crop production.

The meetings are being held Tuesday afternoon in the Township Hall, North Lancaster; that evening at Glengarry District High School and Wednesday afternoon in the Township Hall at Williamstown.

Asking Groups To Name Representatives To Centennial Body

The history train which will tour Canada during centennial year will not visit Alexandria but it is possible the caravan which will cover smaller centres in Ontario will come here. This was the opinion of J. D. Patterson of Kemptonville, regional adviser for the Centennial Committee, who was here this week to confer with Lyall Costello, chairman of council's centennial committee.

Mr. Patterson will return here soon to address the organization meeting of the local committee. All societies and groups are now being asked to name a representative to attend such a meeting.

Some Hope In Armouries Deal

A delegation from town council received some encouragement, Tuesday, when it visited Ottawa to confer on purchase of the Armouries building by the municipality.

Crown Assets officials were not in a position to bargain on the $27,000 price which has been established. Viateur Ethier, MP, arranged a meeting with Hon. Paul Hellyer, minister of national defence, and he was most sympathetic, especially to council's idea of using the Armouries as a youth centre and, possibly, a public library.

Making the trip were Mayor Raymond Periard, Reeve Bruno Massie, Councillor J. P. Touchette and Clerk-Treasurer Don Collin.

IT'S OUR OPINION

Suitable Housing In Short Supply

One of the evidences of Alexandria's growing pains is the shortage of satisfactory living accommodation for new families coming to town. Key personnel for our new hospital are reportedly finding it almost impossible to find the type of housing they desire and in some cases high rental is a factor. It seems rents are rising in ratio to the increased demand for accommodation.

New housing starts were on an encouraging scale last year and there is the promise of more residential building this summer. But few of these are for rental purposes and those that are may be beyond the means of many people on salary.

The problem is common to any growing town and there is no fast and easy answer. Today's high building costs no doubt demand higher rentals and some form of public housing might fail to come up to the standards sought by incoming families.

The situation may become so serious, we hear, that personnel already engaged for our hospital could decide not to come because of the shortage of suitable housing. Perhaps town council and the Board of Trade should put their collective heads together in an effort to come up with a solution. Some type of clearing house for accommodating newcomers might serve a useful purpose.

What Is Your Upset Size?

Several years ago, a newspaper editor posed two questions which might well be considered at this time in the Spring. They are challenging questions suggests an editorial in the Gananoque Reporter.

What is your upset size?, that editor asked. Does it upset you if the toast is burned, or baby wakes up in the night, if someone bawls you out on the phone and hangs up without identifying himself? Can you remain steady in the face of personal problems but find yourself upset when reading a dispatch that war is threatening?

A man's character is indicated by what has the power to upset him, the editor wrote. If he is easily upset, he is a lightweight. As the size of what it takes to upset him increases, so his spiritual substance and stature increase. He does not get upset because he believes that with God's help he can meet the situation, or he does not get upset because he knows it does not do any good.

The second question posed was: Are you part of the problem or part of the solution? Everyone at any moment is either part of one or the other. If he is part of the problem, he is making things difficult for other people and himself; if he is part of the solution, he is making things easier for everyone.

The man who hurts the feeling of others, or gets his own feelings hurt, is part of the problem. If he has a prejudice, he is part of the problem. If he refuses in a conference to take full account of the facts presented, if he breaks a traffic rule, if he gossips, he is part of the problem. But if he thinks only of what is good for all concerned and not merely of his own interest, he is part of the solution. If in dealing with every matter he is moved only by reason and love, he is part of the solution.

It is easy for a man in public life to see himself as others see him, the editor wrote. All he has to do is look at the cartoons and editorials, the letters of his own mail. But the private person has to use more imagination. He has to ask himself those two questions: "What's my upset size?" and "Am I part of the problem or part of the solution?"

The Scramble For Teachers Continues

A shortage which poses a province-wide problem is the lack of enough competent teachers to cope with the spiralling secondary school attendance. Each spring sees a mad scramble by school boards to lure competent teachers to their schools. The Toronto dailies carry pages of "Teacher Wanted" advertisements and the campaign reaches its peak when trustees take over a Toronto hotel to interview teachers and bargain for their services.

The school boards are supposed to have an agreement which limits maximum salaries that may be offered for the various categories of teachers. But it seems there are fringe benefits that can be offered under the table and the larger city schools are in a better position to lure teachers than are the small-town boards.

So each spring the competition for teachers becomes intense. While searching out new talent, each school board is bending every effort to retain the teachers it already has. The natural result is fresh demands each spring for a substantial rise in the increment each teacher is receiving, even though they had been hired on the basis of a fixed salary schedule which already allowed for an annual increase. And they get it.

We don't know how many extra thousands of dollars the area high school board will be forced to cough up this year in order to keep its teaching staff. But it will be a substantial amount and the school will still lose several teachers who look for greener pastures elsewhere.

The cost of instruction rises each year in almost every school as boards are forced to acquiesce to the renewed demands for higher salaries than the schedules call for. The teachers may not belong to a union, yet they are more rigidly organized than any labor body. Increases must be across-the-board, to the unqualified, fledgling teacher as well as to the veteran members of the staff. The board of trustees has the choice of meeting their demands or being left without a teaching staff. If it takes too firm a stand it can be listed by the teaching fraternity and will find no applicants when it goes seeking staff.

So the teacher has come into his own as one of the better paid members of the community. And it must be recalled that he was not always in that fortunate position. Today's emphasis on higher education and the exploding school population have put him in the driver's seat when salary is being discussed. There still are not enough qualified teachers to go round and that is undoubtedly due to the hard row they had to hoe in pre-World War II days when the profession was ill-paid and held in low esteem by penny-pinching trustees and the ratepayers as a whole.

Publicity could be a worthwhile weapon school boards might use in their annual duel with the teachers. Trustees like to keep their new salary agreements secret, perhaps because they are ashamed of their enforced leniency with public funds or because they feel the ratepayer will resent such "spend-thrift" use of his money. The competition for teachers is probably the major reason for this secrecy. Each board may be unwilling to admit it is breaking the code by offering fringe benefits.

But these are tax dollars the trustees are paying out to teachers and the money a school board spends should be as publicly reported as the expenditures of a town council. If council must publish its auditor's report each year, why should not a school board be legally bound to do likewise. If the people who pay school rates were informed on the increase of education costs each year, the teachers might think twice before demanding increases not called for in their salary schedules.

An informed public might help curb these annual demands for extra increments but we may have to be satisfied with the long range solution. If teachers' salaries continue to escalate, inevitably more people will be attracted to the profession. When the supply of teachers becomes more than equal to the demand, the poor teacher will be weeded out and our educational system will be the beneficiary.

In the meantime it can get expensive.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

WHAT YEAR WAS WILLIAMSTOWN SETTLED?

Kingston, Ont.

The Editor, The Glengarry News,

Dear Sir,

There is a problem that has been bothering me for a considerable length of time. On entering Williamstown we are told that the settlement was founded in 1774. I would like to know who was responsible for selecting this date and what was the historical proof for the date selected.

The permanent settlement of Upper Canada dates from the arrival of the United Empire Loyalists. Since the Crawford Purchase of this area by the British was in October 1783, I cannot see how a legal settlement of the lands could have been made nine years earlier even before the beginning of the American Revolution.

Perhaps someone will be kind enough to furnish satisfactory historical evidence for the claim that the sign makes. If this cannot be done, I would suggest that 1784 would be a much more accurate date.

Yours sincerely,

Edward S. St. John

WITH OUR RAMBLING REPORTER

by Ed.

Happy Easter . . . and may you ramble joyfully through the summer ahead.

WE EASE INTO EASTER

It was a long time coming this Easter of 1965 but finally it's with us and we can look forward to a quickening of the tempo of everyday life and business. Even the weather has been waiting for this signal to warm up and get on with the earth's greening.

Don't ask us why a late Easter almost invariably is coupled with a late spring. Perhaps the 40 days of Lent inhibit nature's rebirth even as we mortals strive to slow down our normal pace and ease into Easter.

From here on in the brakes will be off, the pace will quicken, until we find ourselves galloping through summer and living it up for all it's worth with one eye out for another winter slowdown.

This is life in the temperate zone today, and perhaps we're fortunate to be living under climatic conditions that know four seasons. The deep freeze of winter and the gradual thaw of spring provide us with time to recoup our physical forces, to rest up for the mad days of summer.

We'd probably be as intemperate as the unhappy people of Alabama had we no winter weather to slow our pace and give us time to think a bit. Our temperate zone is undoubtedly what keeps us temperate in a time of tensions.

We've floundered through another winter and it's with a sense that this in itself is an achievement that we wish you all a very Happy Easter.

A post-Lenten thought—most of us use very weak thread when we mend our ways.

A RETROGRADE STEP

Grade XIII students in the Cornwall schools won't be reading their examination results in the Standard-Freeholder this year, that paper reports. At the request of the school principals, the Collegiate Board has decided individual results will no longer be published.

Names of outstanding pupils will be printed, but the school principals feel publication of results does more harm to the students who fail than to the pupils who pass.

Such thinking is not new to Cornwall. Other papers in other towns and cities have been following this line for years; but we don't agree with such principals. They are doing away with one of the spurs to learning in a mistaken effort to save the feelings of those who do not measure up to the challenge, in our opinion. More truthfully, it might be said, they are catering to the parents of those pupils; and in doing so they will be taking initiative away from future Grade XIII classes in their schools.

IT'S SPRING AGAIN!

The time of year is almost here when Winter takes a beating. (I wrote, I fear, of this last year but this will bear repeating.)

The sun will rise of April skies and warm the farmers' furrows, with groundhogs, moles and kindred souls emerging from their burrows. Returning crows disturb repose of those who love to slumber, and in the air the scent is there of new-cut piles of lumber.

The cans one sees on maple trees with sap a runnin' over — The little shoots among the roots of grass and scented clover. The ice has gone — the stream flows on — the milldam's overflowing — a butterfly flits slowly by to look for flowers growing. The cats and dogs and hens and hogs enjoy the sunshine's glamor, and in the bogs the little frogs will voice their sunset clamor.

The smell of earth suggests the birth of violets and roses of gummy twigs and cedar sprigs to please our eyes and noses. Ah, Spring! Hooley! It's here to stay till Summer days mature it. If it were found the whole year round I think we could endure it. If you observe these signs of Spring and in observing capture, the joys such observations bring will fill your heart with rapture!

Remember the old ironstone butter crock in the cellar when father used to make a dollar a day and feed at least six children. Those were the days when the canny housewife said: "Go easy on the butter, it's 20 cents a pound."

We feel the factor that makes for a Good XIII is a rivalry between several keen students who have been classmates through most of the grades and who are out to win top standing. It's a harmless, friendly type of competition, but it can tone up an entire class. If it is lacking the grades may suffer.

A part of that youthful rivalry is the ambition to come first; and what satisfaction is there in winning all the marbles if no one is ever to be so informed. This is a human trait even adults are addicted to. Why stifle the initiative of our school kids when even the Department of Education recognizes outstanding Grade XIII results with an award as an "Ontario Scholar"?

Socialist thinking in government seems designed to tax all of us down to a common denominator, meanwhile robbing the ambitions of all initiative to earn. Now they would remove one of the initiatives to learn.

BELL LINES

by L. M. Holtby your telephone
manager

WHO PAYS FOR TELEPHONE EXPANSION?

It has occurred to me that telephone users in Alexandria might be interested in a fundamental fact of Company business operations — and one which might not be widely realized. It is the matter of where the Company obtains the hundreds of millions of dollars needed yearly to build new exchanges, construct new local and Long Distance circuits, and buy telephone sets and other facilities required to serve an ever-expanding economy and population.

Some people may automatically think that these construction expenses come out of telephone bills, but this is not so. It is the Canadian investor — either private individuals or investment firms — who, by buying Company stocks or bonds, make telephone growth possible. (The reason that they invest in the Company, of course, is that they expect the money to be wisely used, and to pay interest or profit over the years.)

Your telephone bill pays the costs of providing you with telephone service — the wages, maintenance costs, taxes, etc. — plus a reasonable profit which is returned to the investor. But your telephone bill does not pay the huge amounts necessary to make the Company grow fast enough physically to serve new families and businesses. For these sums, the Company depends on the investing public, and, in turn, the investing public demands that our business be healthy and well managed. If it is not, and does not return them a reasonable profit, then they would invest their money elsewhere. (Incidentally, any Canadian can invest in the Bell — it's not a "limited club" by any means!)

Bell shareholders (there are over 200,000 — the largest number of any Canadian company) benefit immediately and directly, of course, from each successful year of Company operation. But a vast number of other Canadians are also indirectly affected, because the chances are that their insurance or mutual fund companies, or the pension plan they subscribe to, also invest in Bell stock. And finally, even a person who has no direct or indirect financial interest in successful Company operations also benefits from its growth, because in growing it helps create additional jobs in a wide variety of industries. This, of course, contributes to the prosperity of every Canadian.

Peewees Win Gardens' Championship To Close Out Successful Season

(By Angus H. McDonnell)

Before a fine cross section representative crowd of fans made up of parents, Alexandria's businessmen and the salt of the earth hockey supporters who are always on hand, Alexandria Lions' peewees won convincingly two successive games Sunday afternoon in the Gardens to become worthy champions of the annual Peewee Tournament sponsored by the Alexandria Minor Hockey Association.

In the Class "A" Section, Howard Morris' youngsters defeated Gatineau 3-2 to win the Board of Trade Trophy, and less than an hour later met Maxville, the tournament "B" finalists, in the grand championship winning this game and the Glengarry Gardens Trophy 6-4.

Eight "A" teams four "B" teams from near and distant points were on hand Saturday morning as the first scheduled round got under way.

In the "A" group, Ottawa Rock-cliffe stopped Dorval 8-5, and Gatineau squeezed by their neighbors, Buckingham 2-1. Hawkesbury kept Massena under control with a 4-1 score, while Alexandria had too many guns going for them, side-tracking Cornwall 6-0.

Maxville's "B" team got away on the right foot, stopping Vankleek Hill 4-3. St. Andrew's handled Alexandria's "B" team 3-1, earning the right to meet Maxville in the finals.

The Peewee Millionaires had too many shooting irons for St. Andrew's to handle and Maxville won the game and the MacDonald Trophy 8-3. The trophy was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Archie M. MacDonald.

Saturday's play closed with the "A" semi-finals that saw Gatineau eliminate Rockcliffe 3-1. Andy McNulty scored his second shutout of the day as Alexandria defeated Hawkesbury 5-0.

Sunday's opening game at 1:30 p.m. had Alexandria meeting Gatineau in the "A" final with the Championship and Board of Trade trophy at stake.

Gatineau, like Ahuntsic in the Lake Placid series, were highly rated as they had been strong contenders in the earlier Quebec City and Joliette peewee tournaments. Alexandria's Andy McNulty continued his shutout form and Johnnie Bower type of play for the first two periods, displaying a baseball glove hand in grabbing the slap shots. Gatineau's goalie Carol Martin also kept his net clear during this time.

From the third period face-off Donnie Morris carried the puck to the Gatineau net hanging on to the rubber while Bruce Libbos got in the clear, then Morris set up his line mate Libbos who scored in 30 seconds. Gatineau came right back in the next minute and Richard Latulippe on a pass from Peter Blair tied the score 1-1.

During the next five minutes, both defences held their net forts until the 6:40 mark when Bruce Libbos relayed a pass to Michael Kelly who made no mistake.

The insurance marker was tallied by Alexandria with less than four minutes left to play. Facing off deep in the Gatineau end Donnie Morris, who generally wins the draw, shot across the goal mouth where Brian Proulx blasted a short corner drive to give the home forces a two-goal lead.

While Jack Flax was announcing the last minute of play, Gatineau's Tony McCarthy broke loose to score and make the final count 3-2 for the young Lions.

Following a short rest Alexandria came right back, and although showing fatigue at times commanded the play to win the Grand Championship from Maxville 6-4.

Barry Cochrane, with the help of Mike Haramis, scored Maxville's first-period goal while Lee Taillefer combined with Donnie Morris when Alexandria tied the count at 1-1.

The young Lions moved into a 2-1 lead by counting the only goal of the second period. Michel Danis pulled the trigger at the blue line, then Jeff Mosher completed the scoring effort.

Alexandria scored four times in the final period while Maxville potted three to make the final read 6-4. Lions' Bruce Libbos earned two goals and one assist with singles by Donnie Morris and Luc Potvin. Frank Brewer, Gilles Lalonde and Barry Cochrane tallied singles for Maxville with Mike Haramis setting up Cochrane in the last scoring play of the game.

Jean Paul Touchette, Chairman of Alexandria's Industrial Commission, speaking briefly with words of praise, presented the Board of Trade Trophy following the first game to Captain Donnie Morris and co-captain Bruce Libbos. Mrs. Archie M. MacDonald, first lady of Counties Council, officiated following the second game, congratulating the youngsters as the Glengarry Gardens Trophy was accepted by Captains Donnie Morris and Bruce Libbos. George Currier and Roger Levert refereed both games.

The teams: Gatineau, Goal, Carol Martin; defence, Michel Maisonneuve and Pierre Charret; center, Bob Luck; wings, Peter Blair and Richard Latulippe; alternates, Tony McCarthy, Marc Routhier, Ralph Fallandreau and Michel Viellelette.

Maxville: Goal, Michael Quart; defence, Barry Rombough and Frank Brewer; center, Gilles Lalonde; wings, Michael Haramis and Barry Cochrane; alternates, Bruce McDonald, Richard Scott, Bobby Gutoskie, Richard Guindon, Garry Rozon, and Donald Munroe.

Alexandria: Goal, Andy McNulty; defence, Lee Taillefer and Michel Danis; center Donnie Morris; wings, Bruce Libbos and Blair MacDonald; alternates, Brian Proulx, Michael Kelly, Jerome Poirier, Luc Potvin, Michel Seguin, Michel Genua, Serge Bedard and Donnie MacRae, Geoffrey Mosher.

Outside Institutes Dunvegan Meeting

Over 60 ladies attended the Dunvegan's Women's Institute held in the Orange Hall on March 25th. Institute members were present from Maxville, McCrimmon and Vankleek Hill. The motto, The Life we Live is the Life we Teach, prepared by Mrs. Cameron MacLeod, was read by Mrs. Leslie Clark. The roll call was responded to by 20 members.

The president, Mrs. Lloyd Nixon, expressed the deep regret felt by the members of the Institute in the passing away of Mrs. A. F. MacQueen. The late Mrs. MacQueen was a charter member of the Dunvegan Women's Institute. She was the 1st vice-president the first year, and each succeeding year she held an office until at the time of her death she was Curator and Convener of Historical Research and Current Events. She had been president for two years. During the 30 years as an Institute member, she gave freely of her time and talents to further the work of the Women's Institute. Two minutes silence was observed in her memory.

A donation of $5.00 was made to the Farm Improvement Competition.

Mrs. E. Higginson of Vankleek Hill, was the guest speaker and she gave a very interesting and informative talk on how to grow flowers at home. ## SPORTS

in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

The curtain was rolled down on the Alexandria minor hockey stage Sunday about five o'clock. As the lights of Glengarry Gardens dimmed, the entrance and promenade were still illuminated with the expressions of satisfaction and admiration displayed by the champion peewees, tired and slowly leaving their dressing room; members of their families, hockey fans, especially Ourltown's business leaders, and finally the justifiably delighted sponsors of the annual tournament who are so dedicated to Minor Hockey.

It has been this writer's good fortune to have travelled with the Champs on several trips during the season. We have remarked at times that it was a pity one of those top flight games with a championship at stake could not take place in the Gardens so that the fans, especially parents, business men and representatives of Council could see and become convinced that the Glens' youngsters are on a par, and even better than other noted areas, thus deserving the support we have been claiming. Our wish was realized with great satisfaction Sunday afternoon.

Pause for a moment and consider that Alexandria played seven games against highly rated clubs in the past five weekends; first the elimination of Hawkesbury in play-offs; then they lost a 3-2 decision to Buckingham in ODA finals; were beaten by Verdun in Three Rivers, but came right back to win four in a row over Beaconsfield, Ahuntsic, Gatineau and Maxville. Harold Hume's young Millionaires were as tough to handle as any, especially difficult was scoring on goalie Michael Quart.

With this record established, and winning the final round right at home, if this is not the spark that will create greater interest in the operation of the Gardens and once again putting Alexandria firmly on the hockey map, then those who have been providing the leadership might just as well do like the Arabs, fold their tents and silently steal away.

THE LATE "TAB" LAROCQUE
Members of the older sports brigade learned with regret of the death last week of Octave Larocque, one of the Glens' pioneer hockey and lacrosse greats.

"Tab" as he was known throughout his life was a native of Williamstown. He was a barber by trade.

We heard of "Tab" Larocque's feats in the realm of sport before we ever saw him play goal with Williamstown against Alexandria at the Alexander Hall rink.

Likely "Tab" Larocque's greatest hockey year was in 1913-14 when he travelled by horse and cutter to Alexandria where his net minding was on a par with the calibre of play in front of him by Donald John "Little Archie" McMillan, Edgar McRae, Tommy Lowrey and Joe Marcoux, to mention a few. The team was ousted by Hull when they hit the Allan Cup trail.

We learned of "Tab" Larocque's death during one of those delightful sport reminiscing moments while chatting with a couple of veteran athletes, the dean of Counties Council, John Lawrence McDonald, from Harrison's way, and Dr. James Arthur "Paddy" Sullivan, who learned to skate on the river ice in his beloved Williamstown.

John Lawrence spoke highly of this noted hockey and lacrosse player, recalling that "Tab" Larocque played defence for St. Andrew's in the last of the 10 man field lacrosse in 1927. Age wise, "Tab" was then a Johnnie Bower type, a remarkably tough, bruising defence-man. Dr. "Paddy" Sullivan, who played with and against some of the later NHL giants during his Uni-

HOMER SKEIN SNAPPED

Montreal and Detroit having won at home on Saturday and Sunday in the fifth games of the NHL semi-finals, some of the scribes and commentators brought out the "homer" tab. A win away from home had to happen. It did in the Tuesday series when Les Habs handed Leafs the moth balls for the season right in the Gardens winning that classic game 4-3 in overtime. A few minutes earlier Chicago won at home over Detroit 4-0 to tie their round at three wins each.

We thought Toronto played their best game for some time and could have won, however, this was the Flying Frenchmen's finest hour thus far in the Stanley Cup playoffs. Les Habs spotted Toronto a 3-1 first period lead. They kept skating and while tying the score lost their ace defenceman, Laperriere with a broken ankle. Misfortune was spurned and with an even greater display of desire and vim they scored the big goal in overtime.

As we go to press (Thursday) Montreal will rest while Chicago are in Detroit to play the seventh game of their series.

HITHER AND YON

The Glens have two fine bantam goalies coming up in Michael Quart and Andy McNulty . . . Andy deserves plenty of credit for the ambition to learn our hockey, a game that was foreign to him before the McNultys took up residence in Alexandria last year . . . Andy has lots of desire and travelled a long way this season towards higher rating when he steps up to the next bracket. "Little Alex" MacDonald was in his favorite seat on Sunday in the west end Gardens' gallery right behind the net, heading the Greenfield fans. Picture memo . . . parents or fans may obtain a copy of the Lake Placid peewee group photo by leaving your order with Mrs. Mosher at News Office.

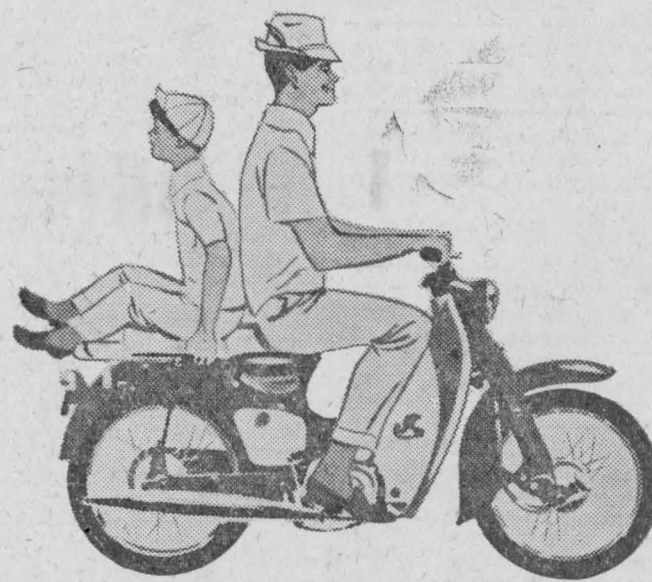

Thanks to Piper Roger Martin who was also on hand a week ago to greet the peewees . . . The manager of the Gatineau Club was high in his praise of the way the annual peewee tournament was handled . . . we concur.

And now we head to the Niagara fruit lands on our annual Easter visit with the kinfolk . . . if Detroit eliminates Chicago tonight (Thursday) not even the Easter Bunnies will be hopping around in the Black Hawk reserve of St. Catharines.

8—In Memoriam

JEAUROUD—In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother, Mrs. Ferdinand Jeauroud, who passed away April 15, 1963. We stood beside your bed, dear Mom. Two years ago today, There was nothing more we could do, Before you passed away. We clasped your hands, and spoke your name, But all our words were just in vain. You did not know that we were there, That's why it was so hard to bear. The blow was hard, the shock severe, To part with one we loved so dear, And as the months add to years, Please God, forgive a silent tear. And another wish that she was here. There are others, yes we know, But she was ours and we miss her so. —Sadly missed by husband, daughters, sons and grandchildren. 15-1p
