Seven New Bands For Games Indicate Outstanding Show

Seven bands which had not previously appeared at the Glengarry Highland Games have already indicated they will be at Maxville, August 4th, to take part in the North American championship competitions and march with the massed bands.

An Irish pipe band may also be competing. The Tyrone Pipe Band from New York has applied for an entry form and Secretary John Jamieson expects they will be here.

Others new to the Glengarry Games include the Clan MacFarlane band of St. Catharines; the Kenmuir pipe band of Newark, New Jersey, a Class A entry; the Lanark and Renfrew Scottish.

Not intending to compete, but set to play with the massed bands are the Brockville pipe band and the Carleton Place Legion band.

The Black Watch, of Montreal, are to compete this year after a long absence and the Black Watch Cadets band is coming along as well.

A new feature this year will be an exhibition of Scottish country dancing by a dance team from the Royal Scottish Country Dance Society. The team is to accompany the Black Watch band to Maxville. Eighteen bands last year set a new record at the Glengarry Highland Games and posed a problem when the large hollow square proved too tight for them to manoeuvre comfortably.

The infield has been enlarged for this year's Games but Mr. Jamieson sees the possibility of as many as 25 bands marching en masse on August 4th. Perhaps the greensward will again be too small for comfort.

Youngest daughter of the late D. R. MacDonald, ex-MPP Glengarry, Mildred Grace MacDonald, died Sunday at Hotel Dieu, Cornwall, following a lengthy illness. Word of her death was received with regret by many relatives and family friends in Glengarry.

Miss MacDonald was born in Alexandria, the daughter of Donald R. MacDonald and his wife, Mary Chisholm. She was educated in the local schools and in the Convent of St. Sion, Saskatoon, Sask., and had since resided in Montreal.

To mourn she leaves two brothers and four sisters: Rod MacDonald, in Clarendon, Alberta; Dr. Howard MacDonald and Miss Theresa MacDonald, Montreal; Miss Catherine MacDonald, Mrs. Tillie Tobin, Cornwall; Mrs. Dugald Chisholm, Helen, of Round Lake, N.Y.

Attended by many relatives and family friends the funeral was held Tuesday morning, leaving Miller's Funeral Home, Cornwall, at 9:30 o'clock for St. Mary's Church and cemetery, Williamstown. Rev. Donald B. McDougald, P.P., chanted the funeral mass.

The pallbearers were Donald MacDonald, Archibald MacDonell, John B. MacDonald, Ivan Grant, Timothy McMahon and Eugene MacDonald.

Relatives and friends were present from Montreal, Ottawa, Round Lake, N.Y., Schenectady, N.Y., Cornwall, Alexandria and many other sections of the county.

Four Injured Sunday In Crash At Green Valley

Two vehicles were demolished but the seven occupants escaped serious injury Sunday afternoon when a farm truck and car crashed at the intersection of the Glen Roy road and Highway 34, south of Green Valley.

Taken to hospital were Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Menard, of Bath, Ont., Donald G. MacDonald and Gordon Munro, of Munroe's Mills.

Mrs. Menard suffered a broken ankle bone while he escaped with minor injuries. Munro also suffered only minor injuries but MacDonald was detained in hospital with scalp lacerations. Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Menard were unhurt.

OPP Constable L. A. Miller, of Lancaster, reported the accident occurred about 2:30 p.m. Sunday. A 1952 half-ton truck owned by Munro was proceeding east on the 9th concession road and was entering the highway when it collided with Menard's southbound 1962 model station wagon.

The Munro vehicle then veered over onto the east shoulder of the highway and struck a telephone pole. Both vehicles were described as total losses with damage estimated at $4,500.

The Menard family was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Menard, Green Valley.

CORNWALL—City council agreed Monday to support study of a Raisin River development program conceived back in 1954.

If the long-term project eventually achieves success, the narrow river which winds through Stormont and Glengarry farmland between Long Sault and Lancaster could become not only a tourist attraction, but a first class conservation area.

But council was informed first steps will involve a Department of Lands and Forests survey and the establishment of a Raisin River Conservation Authority.

Kenneth Barton, a Martintown businessman who has headed the Raisin River Development Committee for a number of years, led a delegation seeking the city's support in obtaining a study of the Raisin River watershed.

"We have been informed by the Department of Lands and Forests that resolutions must be submitted by at least three municipalities in order to have a conservation authority set up," Mr. Barton told council. "On the basis of population Cornwall would have two votes in the authority and be a great asset to our cause."

Mr. Barton pointed out that Charlottetown and Cornwall townships have both submitted resolutions calling for the study. Cornwall has now become the third municipality.

With the aid of another member of the delegation, George Taylor, of Martintown, Mr. Barton explained the Department of Lands and Forests will first arrange for a meeting of all municipalities in the watershed of the Raisin, sometimes called the Black River. Reaction will be determined at this meeting and if two-thirds of the delegates vote in favor, a conservation authority will be set up.

Mr. Taylor said a survey would then be conducted, and the authority would later decide which project, if any, was worthwhile carrying out. "Fifty per cent of the cost would be borne by the Department of Lands and Forests," he stated.

It was pointed out that a short canal would have to be dug to connect Hoople's Creek, just west of Long Sault, with the source of the Raisin River. Hoople's Creek runs into Lake St. Lawrence and would provide a channel for the passage of more water through the Raisin River.

Despite Ald. Ralph Carrara's contention that the city give the proposal more study, a close vote finally gave the city the go-ahead on submitting a resolution to the Department of Lands and Forests.

In a reply to a question by Mayor Nick Kaneb, Mr. Barton assured council that the city would only be asked to share a small cost of the program if it eventually goes through, and by submitting the resolution is under no financial obligation. If the city later decided to share in the development program, it was contended only about two per cent of the cost would fall upon the municipality, because only a small portion of the watershed lies within the city.

Other members of the Raisin River delegation who spoke briefly were Reeve Herbert Maginnis, of Osnaburk township and Reeve John Lawrence MacDonald of Cornwall township.

From its source near Hoople's the Raisin River rolls languidly through Lunenburg, St. Andrews, Martintown and Williamstown, before running into the St. Lawrence River at Lancaster.

Counties' Children's Aid Society Names New Executive Director

On Wednesday, June 20th, the Board of Directors of the Children's Aid Society of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry at Cornwall met with their new executive director, Mr. Rene Charbonneau.

Mr. Charbonneau assumed his duties on June 18, 1962. His appointment has been confirmed by Mr. William Bury, Director of Child Welfare for the Province of Ontario, as well as by the C.A.S. Board of Directors.

His interest in work with children and families has taken him to many areas of our province. He spent three years as a Supervisor with the Children's Air Society at Sudbury, like Cornwall, a bilingual city; from there he moved farther north to become Local Director of the Fort Francis C.A.S. In his three years there, he had considerable experience with Indians as there were seven reservations in the territory.

He returned briefly to Ottawa, the city in which he had earned his B. Com. at Ottawa University and his Master's degree at St. Patrick's College School of Social Welfare. He worked for the National Indian Affairs Department and with the Ottawa C.A.S. before returning to the northland as Local Director of the C.A.S. at Kirkland Lake.

The United Counties area is not unfamiliar to him. During World War II, he spent two years at Valleyfield, Que., in a regiment which included a number of men from the United Counties.

His family has moved to Cornwall with him and they presently reside on Yates Avenue.

At the Board meeting, a report by the Joint Committee of the Family Service Bureau and the Children's Aid Society was presented. The Committee noted that both inside and outside Cornwall there

IT'S OUR OPINION

No Cure For This Disease

Quietly, silently, like a thief in the night, the Dutch Elm disease has been creeping up on Glengarry's finest shade trees. Two or three years ago, as we recall, came the warning that this menace to the elm was spreading into this area and already the toll is to be found in dead and dying trees.

Scientists have not come up with an answer to this pest which moves inexorably from one tree to the next. The death of the tree can be delayed by spraying, but the only defense against further spread of the disease, we are told, is a drastic one.

The infected tree must be cut down and burned on the spot.

Tragic it is to see the lordly elm destroyed. But if this be the only way to curb spread of the disease to other elms then is it not time for a province-wide campaign? Elms that are already infected should be cut down and burned if we are to save the species.

A complementary campaign might call for planting trees of another species with the hope they will be ready to partially take the place of the elms now dying.

An Idea For Easing Holiday Traffic

Traffic deaths are so commonplace today we tend to shrug them off, to accept them almost as inevitable. It is no longer a question, each weekend, whether there will be fatalities on our highways. The guessing is confined to estimates of how many will die in traffic mishaps.

Umpteen motorists are doomed to die in traffic accidents each holiday weekend, the safety experts warn on the eve of a long weekend. More often than not their estimates are on the low side. Tuesday's papers may record 40 deaths across Canada, where 30 had been expected.

The traffic toll is a daily commonplace but some accidents, such as the triple fatality, July 1st, at the Green Valley crossing, are uncommonly tragic. Three youths died when the car in which they were riding was struck by a CPR freight. One of them was hitchhiking a ride to Green Valley and had been picked up by the death car after walking almost all the way from Alexandria. He climbed into that back seat, possibly only minutes before it was made a shambles by a speeding train.

"We crossed these tracks when the west-bound freight was in sight," one woman told us. "We passed the hitchhiker and thought of picking him up; but decided it was safer not to," she added.

So fate spins its web. Possibly the next car southbound from town stopped to give him a ride. That momentary delay brought it to the crossing just as the westbound freight was clearing it, and the driver may have been totally unaware there was a second track on which an eastbound freight might be thundering down on him. He drove right into its path.

So three young people met death on the highway through a combination of unfortunate circumstances. Just so must many of our traffic accidents occur. Such things shouldn't happen, we say; they can't happen to us. But death and injury are ever-present on today's heavily travelled highways and by-ways.

Maybe We're Not Imperturbable Enough

Just about a decade ago, we recall it, we editorialized on the subject of imperturbability, a $64 word that might be freely translated as "calmness." A noted American medical man had come up with this key to longer life under the feverish conditions in which we live today.

Develop imperturbability, he suggested; and this was his advice on how to reach that state of calmness:

Avoid raising your voice. Don't get angry and shout. All you do is raise your own blood pressure, not the other fellow's.

"Don't get crowded. Take things one at a time. Accept disturbances and annoyances as they are. Don't tear yourself apart because you are not succeeding in some given effort.

"Don't avoid trouble — but meet it with equanimity.

"Don't argue with stupidity. Walk away from arguments over futile or trivial matters."

He didn't mean we should slow our lives to the speed of a turtle. Most people are happiest when they are extremely active, he reminded; "but you can accomplish far more if you have equanimity and imperturbability. It's the guy who gets excited who raises his blood pressure."

Keep your pulse rate down, he also warned; with this suggestion for doing just that — "reading is wonderful for those who want to cultivate calmness. Read before going to bed, and on awakening. No dull books; read something interesting. In 15 minutes to an hour you can be ready to sleep, and go to sleep in a minute, relaxed."

That sounded like good advice to us ten years ago and then and there our mind was made up. We would develop imperturbability, learn to accept what came with equanimity. Our blood pressure we'd hold down, our pulse we'd slow to an even tempo.

Since then we've avoided raising our voice, except in the choir of a Sunday, when at times we have been accused of shouting. Even then we don't get angry, though. We remain calm in the thought our accusers have no proper ear for music.

We don't let ourself get crowded, much. We strive to take one thing at a time. But this has been a hectic time, these past two months that knew an election and what seemed like an excessively heavy work load. There was the job to get done even as our mind kept meandering to the new golf course, and our feet wanted to follow. That golf bug just might have raised our blood pressure a notch.

We didn't avoid trouble, though, even on the golf course where the Garry River gives the most trouble. It couldn't be avoided, so we tried to lose our golf balls in it with equanimity.

If reading is good for the pulse rate we must have been making good medicine. Can't remember a night in the decade when we didn't read something interesting before dragging ourself off to bed.

We've followed that doctor's advice so faithfully over the past ten years, we've been so imperturbable, we can't understand why after only a decade we should be feeling at least twenty years older.

That's the one thing we cannot take with equanimity. Maybe there's something missing in our approach to imperturbability.

Friday, July 12th, 1912 —

C. L. Hervey, C.E., expects to have engineers at work in a few days locating a St. Polycarpe - Cornwall railway which is to traverse Glengarry, passing about half a mile north of Williamstown. A charter has been obtained for the railway. — Dr. K. and Mrs. McLennan and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Gormley are this week enjoying to the full the unsurpassed scenery of the Saguenay. — J. A. Lalonde, carpenter, left Monday evening for Regina, where he has secured a lucrative position. — Alex. Grant, of Dunvegan, took his departure for Saskatoon the early party of the week. — The distressing news has come to hand of the death by drowning in the Western States of the late Angus McGillivray, formerly of Athol. — Mrs. G. Bradley and children left on Friday to spend the summer at River Front on the St. Lawrence. — We understand Messrs. Smillie and McDiarmid intend to shortly close their Dominionville store.

SIXTY YEARS AGO

Friday, July 11th, 1902 —

We learn that John H. McPherson, 20-3rd Kenyon, has purchased for his son-in-law, Arch McPhee, now of Michigan, the old Reformatory farm, north of Alexandria. The price paid was $2,800. — H. H. Christie, of Williamstown, has passed the Matriculation for entering the medical faculty of McGill. — During the past week the Carriage Works shipped four carloads of carriages to the West. Two go to Vancouver and two to the Winnipeg Exhibition. — J. J. McIntosh, contractor, has commenced erection of the frame work for his new residence on St. George street. — Messrs. Donald and Alex. McDonald (Grove) are finding an increasing demand for their new article of manufacture, cement piping for culverts, etc. Several municipal councils are now ordering their product. — Dr. C. A. Stewart passed through St. Elmo on Monday on his way to Moose Creek, where he goes to practise medicine. — Colin McRae has commenced the erection of a residence to be built at the corner of Main and Elm streets, station.

NO MATCHMAKER US

Coupla months ago we got the idea this paper was moving into the big time. A letter, ostensibly from a lonely young lady, and bearing a Lachute postmark, asked insertion of a classified ad in the "personal" column.

"Young woman wishes to meet kind, honest and sincere gentleman between 30 and 45 for companionship," it read.

The signature seemed solid and inveterate matchmaker that he is, the editor ran the ad in hopes of sparking a romance.

Several presumably kind, honest and sincere gentlemen from Glengarry responded and their missives were forwarded to the Lachute lassie.

Now the editor is wondering if he shouldn't leave matchmaking to the womenfolk and refuse to insert such ads. Back from Lachute last weekend came the letters he forwarded, marked by the postal authorities "unclaimed." Also returned for the same reason was our bill for the ad.

Now the editor is totalling up his losses, including all that postage, and he'll write it off to experience. From now on he'll keep in mind that marriages are made in heaven.

P.S.—Would-be swains are assured their letters have been burned, unread.

The war between the sexes never will be won by either side. Too much fraternizing with the enemy.

A IS FOR ALMA

Seems as though we're heading into a dry summer and your Rambling Reporter is hoping his mere mention of the fact will bring on at least two days of rain. The soil could use a week of steady watering.

What got us on the subject of weather was a list of the stormy girls that may be expected to hit less favored climes this summer in the form of hurricanes. We don't have to worry about wind in this garden spot of America but we do follow with interest the progress of hurricanes down South if only because we see our freedom from their wrath as compensation for the long winters we have to weather.

Darned if we're familiar with more than half of the girls who may hit the headlines if there are enough hurricanes. They're Alma, Becky, Celia, Daisy, Ella, Flossy, Greta, Hollie, Inez, Judith, Kendra, Lois, Marsha, Noreen, Orpha, Patty, Rena, Sherry, Thora, Vicky and Wilma.

Seems the weathermen don't know any girls whose names start with Q, U, X, Y or Z. Their choices must be short, clearly pronounced, quickly recognized and easily remembered.

We're not going to argue with the Weather Bureau over its choice of names. Certainly we're happy to see they haven't roped Mary into it. That's a grand old name, as the songwriter put it, and it would seem rather ludicrous if the headlines proclaimed "Thousands flee coastline on approach of Mary."

The same might be said for Annie, Betty, Claire and a host of other girls whose company we relish.

We can see their point in using Hallie, though we've yet to meet a girl of that name. She sounds like a comet and a lot of our forebears were scared of Haley's Comet awhile back. Another we'd run from is Sherry (we don't like wine), and Orpha sounds awful to our ears.

After this weekend heat wave we're almost ready to say let the hurricanes come; their tail might bring us needed rain. Actually, though, we're not so selfish as to wish a hurricane on our cousins to the South.

We'll take the rain without the hurricane.

A fellow down the street has a wife who is outspoken, but not by many people.

ANONYMOUS LETTERS

Heard tell in the wake of the recent election of more than one anonymous letter being received, containing remarks that were ill-bred to say the least.

Surprised we were to learn that there are among us people so cowardly as to hide behind anonymity, so unprincipled as to put on paper remarks they would be ashamed to make in public.

Surely we should not be afraid to express our opinions openly; certainly we shouldn't write a letter we have not the nerve to put our names to.

People who receive such letters should consider the gutless source, and ignore them.

tion I told them of the Maxville games.

They were interested, so I promised to send to them the ad from "The News". Therefore I spent much time looking thru several issues that I had on hand, in vain, as there were no ads. Today the issue of July 5th came, and I looked for ads and when there was none for the Games in that, I scanned every item in the paper and I came across two items of interest.

One in the Rambling column said that Editors never get lost because their subscribers are always telling them where to go. The other item was the one from the "Cochrane Northland Post" which said that the owners of automobiles are not taxed in proportion to the owners of real estate.

I would like to ask where has that guy been living, and has he yet to buy his first car? And how come the editor of the Northland Post or any other editor on the North American continent allowed it space in the paper?

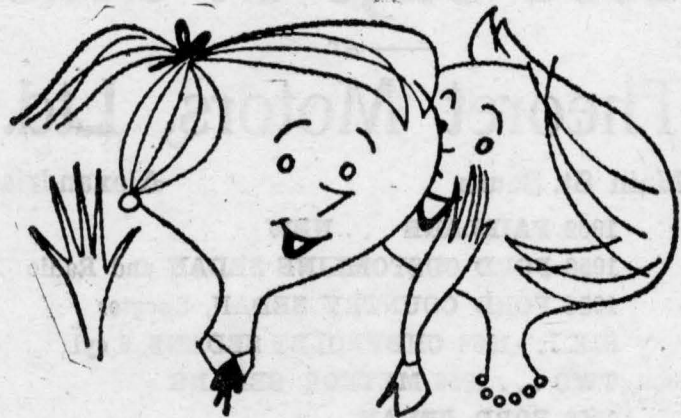

In the first place the Federal government, Canada, U.S. and Mexico, levies a tax on manufacture and sale of all cars, in my understanding. Next, in a great many places there is a local or state or provincial sales tax. Ask any one from Quebec for instance. Next the purchaser has to pay a tax to use the roads and has to affix a metal tag to his car each year to show that he has paid the tax. Next he has to pay a tax each year to drive the car on the roads and carry a certificate to show that he has paid it to any officer of the law who asks to see it. Next before he can drive it he has to purchase fuel and approximately 25% of what he pays is Federal or State or Provincial taxes.

I hope that plenty of people will write to the editor of the Northland Post and give him the wrong directions so that he surely will "GET LOST."

Yours,
THOMAS F. FAHEY.

P.S.—How about that ad notifying motorists to carry plenty of insurance that is on page 6 of the July 5th issue. I don't see where that applies to real estate.

SPORTS

in the GLENS

by ANGUS H. McDONELL

Summer Sports Salad—That is a real photofinish the softball clubs are giving us as they hit the scheduled closing . . . Wouldn't a lighted diamond with bleacher seats at the Alexandria Park Grounds be an ideal location for the playoffs? Greater sports obstacles have been overcome in the Glens so let's look to the future . . . McCrimmon are pulling away and their two games this week with Greenfield are really important. Our scouts tell us that semi-finals and finals under the lights will shatter all past attendance records . . . That was a thoughtful gesture of W. K. MacLeod to donate a 'Most Valuable Player' trophy. 'Little Willie' as he is popularly known, was about the youngest football player in the Golden Twenties. He was Dunvegan's star centre half, a real holler guy who could head and toe the ball to his forwards with skill and accuracy . . . Kevin Weir and Neil Macdonald among our promising youthful Glengarry Club golfers . . . Another golf competition slated for Sunday, July 22nd, as a result of the first being such an outstanding success. This one will be a mixed four-ball eightsome . . . We met 'Red' Kelly in Cornwall last week. That red hatch is not tinted, it's the real McCoy. Member-elect Kelly is skating smoothly between the Red and Blue political lines and we hope he does like Bucko McDonald, retire before the ward heelers start throwing their crude body checks. We regret not meeting Sutherland (Suddie Scott) MacDonald while visiting recently from Edmonton. Suddie was a pretty fair halfback and a handy guy to have on your side of the snowbank during some of those Greenfield vs. Maxville-Christie's Pit hockey games . . . We recently met a bright young St. Regis steel worker, Ronald Thomas, home from Syracuse. Colin Chisholm taught him his A.B.C.'s, and later on to St. Lawrence High School. We asked him if he was related to Angus Thomas of Chisholm Park lacrosse days . . . "He is my father," was the modest reply. "Nuff said." While mentioning lacrosse the younger generation are making a great effort this season to bring back the grand old game, such as Wilson, Roundpoint, Wheeler, Seymour, Ward, Jacobs, Benedict, etc. Rumor has it that the austerity dollar has moved to Lansdowne Park from Parliament Hill making matters rough for Frank Clair. We always thought that the money pinch would hit Rough Riders first, much the same as Senators in the old N.H.L. days. Well, if Perry Moss and Sandy Stephens have a George Ratterman-Peahead Walker repeat performance, Ottawa officials will consider their problems much lighter.

Notes In The Mail

Iona grad, Rosalie Geandreau pens a card from Wyoming as she returns from a West Coast holiday and Seattle World's Fair . . . Claude Bennett, Ottawa's fledgling alderman, also a Fair visitor . . . Niece Carol DaPrato advises from Calgary that she will soon be shopping for a one day headgear and a Stampeder football helmet won't do. Using a phrase from insurance jargon, "A veil will be attached to and forming part of . . ." After saying "I will," Carol will travel to Germany where her Army husband will be posted . . . Mrs. James (Peggy Roary Fraser) Robertson writes from the coast wishing to be remembered to friends and relatives as they motor from Pasadena to their Montana ranch. . . Mrs. John Carroll, nee Lenore Osborne, chronicles to Highland Chief from Lausanne, Switzerland, that F/L and Mrs. John B. MacDonald (Cornwall) recently visited with the Carrolls and that their new cousin is quite a gracious young lady having been Miss Denmark (Cinema) 1959.

Note to Chief Dupuis: We have Highland Games grandstand seats. Cancel permit for Mill Square Kiltie Band Concert.

Go-Karts At St. Raphael's

Go-Karts, one of the newest fads in the sport field, will be one of the feature entertainments at St. Raphael's Social. A track is being prepared and would-be enthusiasts can try their skill at the steering wheel. Pony rides are also available for the younger set. —Adv.

All Teams In Contention As Play-Offs Near

The Border Softball League race goes into the home stretch with all five teams bunched and the winner in doubt until the final games are played Sunday.

League play-offs will be decided at a meeting Monday night.

After Tuesday night's games Alexandria was in top spot, three points ahead of Maxville and Lancaster. But Alexandria must win its last game to ensure first place. The other teams have two more games to play.

Alexandria has 25 points; Maxville and Lancaster 22; Williams-town 20 and Apple Hill 19.

The close race may have been partly responsible for high feelings when Apple Hill played at Lancaster Sunday. The game was stopped because of fights and spectators on the field but was later resumed.

Lancaster eked out an 8-7 win but Apple Hill protested and was awarded the game at a special league meeting Tuesday. Lancaster took its case to the president of the EOASA and the victory was given back to Lancaster.

Holds Soccer Lead

McCrimmon retained its lead in the soccer loop this week, beating Cornwall 2-1 on goals by Gordie Fraser. Levac counted for Cornwall on a penalty shot.

Greenfield won 4-1 over Glen Sandfield, Friday, with Jackie Smith booting in two, Wilbert McDonald and Donald Alex McLean one each for the victors. Dougald McLean scored for the Glen on a penalty shot.

Lochiel won 2-0, Tuesday, over Cornwall, goals going to Raymond Quesnel and Gordon MacMillan. Jackie Smith retained his scoring edge over Gordie Fraser 10 to 9.

To be played Saturday night are two games scheduled for July 28th—Glen Sandfield at Lochiel, and McCrimmon at Greenfield.

The standing:

	P	W	L	T	F	Pts.
McCrimmon	8	6	1	1	18	9 13
Greenfield	8	4	3	1	22	15 9
Lochiel	8	3	2	3	9	7 9
Glen Sandfield	8	2	4	2	12	17 6
Cornwall	8	1	6	1	11	24 3

is no service for the voluntary placement of children. The idea of a merger of the two Agencies was also raised. It was felt that this should only be considered on the basis of improving service to the community, making more efficient use of staff and funds. "Enjoy outdoor living with an outdoor phone"

EVERY YEAR AT THIS TIME we remind our readers about the benefits of outdoor telephones . . . and every year more and more customers find out for themselves how right we are. But then, it's inevitable I guess. The growing trend to outdoor living during the summer months coupled with the increasing tendency to keep in touch by telephone was bound to create a demand for this type of service. With an outdoor phone you can receive and make calls right there in your own backyard, whether you're busy prettifying the petunias, cooking over your barbecue, or just relaxing on your patio or in your favourite garden spot. It will save the wear and tear of having to run inside on hot summer days to answer the phone. And besides, you'll get much more out of those friendly telephone visits if they're made from the quiet relaxed atmosphere of your garden. Why not call us and ask about our portable telephones with outlets for patio or garden? They're easy for us to install and you'll find the price is low.

WHEREVER YOU GO this summer, chances are that you'll be near a public telephone — whether it's an indoor booth, or the familiar outdoor booth, or the handy new Walk-Up or Drive-Up variety. When you're travelling you can use them to call ahead to make sure of accommodation, or warn the folks at your destination if you're a little off schedule, or greet friends along the way. You'll find public telephones a great convenience wherever you are. Use them often. Remember, it's your "phone away from home."

HAVE FUN on your vacation this year but please remember to be "water-wise." The Canadian Red Cross tells us that nearly 1,000 people in this country are destined to die by drowning this summer unless every individual learns and practices water safety. They suggest a few important tips to keep in mind during the summer months. Never dive into unknown waters! You might strike a dangerous object like a submerged rock or log. Never swim after dark! It is also unsafe to stand up or change places in a boat. And remember, Federal Boating Regulations require that you provide a life jacket for EACH passenger on board. Water skiers, give swimmers and boats wide berth! When stopping, never lean forward. Do a sit-down fall on the back of the skis, etc., etc. Most of these rules are just common sense, but they're worth thinking about again and again because they do save lives. Think about all the rules of water safety this summer. Have a pleasant vacation and be sure to come back alive!

YOU HAVE A HAND IN THINGS CANADIAN
when you own Life Insurance

Surprising? Yes—but true. Like most people, you have probably thought of your life insurance as protection for your family —as a good way to save money regularly —as a valuable collateral if you need a loan for an emergency.

Actually, your life insurance dollars are more than an investment in your personal security and your family's. These dollars are also an investment in Canada. They stimulate growth and progress and help make this country a better place in which to live and work.

At this moment, 9 BILLION DOLLARS of life insurance savings are invested in important Canadian enterprises—through the purchase of bonds and stocks and through mortgages.

These hard-working dollars are helping to finance great projects all over this country such as pipelines, shopping centres, bridges and highways, homes, apartment and office buildings, schools, factories, industrial plants and power developments. These investments create employment opportunities, too. The income from these investments benefits you directly by reducing the cost of life insurance to you and the 9 million other Canadian policyowners.
