MAY BECOME NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE—The ruins of St. Raphael's Church could be taken over by the Township of Charlottetown for designation as a national historic site if the federal government agrees to the move. Toronto officials of the Department of Tourism here to inspect the ruins, Monday, also were shown the possibility of other historic St.

Raphael's buildings being included with the ruins in a park site. It was suggested by them that if and when a new parish church is built it might be adjacent to the ruins, on the spot, right rear, where the memorial chapel once stood. This aerial picture of the former church, taken some 20 years ago, shows the fine setting to advantage.

Tourism Officials Visited St Raphael's Monday Visualize Church Ruins As Historic Site

The walls of historic old St. Raphael's Church will remain standing parish council members were confident, following a meeting on Monday with a delegation of Toronto government officials who came to St. Raphael's to assess the site as a tourist attraction.

Larry Ryan of the Ontario Heritage Department explained that his department had been created by the government to encourage and promote the preservation of old historic buildings of primary importance and as such these ruins should surely qualify for financial assistance. He felt the walls were a significant monument to the dedication and skill of the early settlers and the superlative work of the craftsmen of that era. He further advised local officials to approach the federal government to have it declared as a National Park Site and thus make it eligible for cost sharing assistance.

Mr. Ryan also suggested that the new church be built at the right rear of the old one where the memorial chapel had been, from an aesthetic point of view this would lend the new church a tremendous spiritual quality. Bill Patterson of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission further supported this suggestion. He said this had been done in Coventry, England and if this idea was carried out it would be a situation not duplicated anywhere else in Ontario.

Additional local history was brought to the attention of the visiting delegation when Sister Claire Macdonald of Iona Academy took them on a guided tour of Iona and its surroundings—the original dwelling of Bishop Alexander Macdonell; the old sundial made by the same mason who built St. Raphael's church; the log building which was the first public school in Ontario and later the first seminary.

Area historians feel that in time all these items should be of sufficient interest to constitute a national park in the area, and the stabilizing of the church walls would be the first step in this direction.

When fire reduced the walls to a mere shell last August 10th, the parishioners were left with the problem of not only having to build a new church, but what to do with the remains of the old one. Since the site of the old church was by far the best location for building, some parishioners felt the walls should be knocked down and the new church built on the same site. However, the majority of the parish council members felt this part of their heritage should be preserved and decided to attend to this matter before making a decision on where to build.

Contact was made with Hon. James Auld who was Minister of Tourism at that time. His department advised that transactions were possible only through a municipal agency so the parish council approached the Township of Charlottetown to consider their problem. They accepted the proposal as the township has several other historic sites and they felt this could be part of a historic tour which they plan to organize for the area.

A meeting had been arranged for December but the heavy snowfall hindered any kind of a survey which had to be postponed until May.

Present from the Department of Tourism and Information were Minister Fern Gindon, Frederick J. Boyer, executive director and Dick Perdue, executive assistant, also Larry Ryan, executive director of the Ontario Heritage Foundation; Richard Apted, director of the Historical Branch of the Provincial Archives and Bill Patterson of the St. Lawrence Parks Commission.

Deputy Reeve Bruce Sova was spokesman for Reeve Adrian Gadois who was absent due to the reeves' convention in North Bay. Councillors Roger Lefebvre, Ewen McDonald and Jacques Roy were also present as well as Archibald Macdonell, who represented the Glengarry Historical Society, and Jim Braden of the Stormont Historical Society.

Business Section A Real Mess

The Main Street business section is minus both street and sidewalks from Gernish to Kenyon and presents a desolate appearance as work proceeds on new connecting links.

Much of the work this week consists of digging for and installing the new storm sewers which will run to the Garry River from both North and South. Good speed is being made on the smaller 12" pipe running South to Peel and which is not as deeply sunk. The big 36" main which will run as far as Kincardine makes slower going.

Some 30 posts will have to be moved on Main and Kenyon St. West as sidewalks are being narrowed wherever possible to allow for a wider street surface.

EDITORIAL

IT'S OUR OPINION

Not So Bad For Business

The Main Street business section is all cut up, just as was expected, but the actual operation was far from as nerve-shattering as we had looked for. The chattering shriek of the jackhammer was totally missing and though that big bull had a roar of its own as it gouged up the solid concrete street surface, the noise level was not nearly as high-pitched as we had expected.

Much of the main drag looks as though it had reverted to a pre-horse and buggy era. Those temporary sidewalks may get like goo when it rains, the gravelled street may not prove dust-proof when traffic resumes; but it seems we'll be able to live with the make-do through much of the summer until Main Street has had its face-lifting and normal traffic is restored.

Things are seldom as black as they are painted and Main Street merchants who were crying havoc at the prospect of summer business lost, now have a more optimistic mien. Customers continued to beat a path to their stores last week in spite of torn pavement and temporary walks. There was a new sense of adventure in braving the uncertain footing and the chance of a front-end loader dumping half a ton of concrete on one's head. Those giant mechanical monsters provided an air of excitement and derring-do that pleased not only the young folk but staid elders who may have been masking the fact there is nothing more conducive to a sense of well-being than in watching others work.

Who among us has not his radar tuned to the delights of sidewalk superintending? And Alexandria, in this summer of 1971, promises hours and days and weeks of soulful satisfaction for those who like to stand and gaze. If you have an hour to waste, a day to put in, a week of loafing, our town has much to offer.

Your muscles will automatically flex with a new sense of power as you watch that steel-toothed dozer rip up slabs of concrete and asphalt that were hard-nosed enough to carry the traffic of more than three decades.

There is a mixture of excitement and nostalgia in overseeing the ravaging of our street. There is no shortage, so far, of sidewalk superintendents and you are invited to come to town almost any day this summer and get in on the fun. An extra spirit of adventure will be found in figuring out which street to take to avoid a dead end.

The major surgery on our Main Street, now underway, isn't going to be all that bad for business. People like to be where the action is and our town is really moving, right down the main drag.

Welfare For Teenagers

Unemployment is undoubtedly the primary problem plaguing the country and the Ottawa Government should be taking a more imaginative approach to the restoring of jobs than the present policy of pouring inflationary dollars into make-work programs that offer very limited employment opportunities. Hundreds of millions of dollars are being poured into public works that only scratch the surface of unemployment while threatening a new escalation of inflation.

One is left wondering how accurate are the Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures on unemployment when one reads that fit and healthy high school dropouts are collecting unemployment pay. Almost incredible we find the reports that 16-year-olds can now leave home and get on the welfare rolls.

A Toronto alderman charged in mid-May that 80 inhabitants of "progressive" Rochdale College were receiving welfare. There were other newspaper reports of senior high school students quitting classes, leaving home, registering as unemployed and refusing work. They were then eligible for welfare and Canadian taxpayers must be left wondering how far this welfare gambit is to be allowed to go before an entire generation is encouraged to think the world owes them a living.

Residents of Rochdale College, that controversial student residence in Toronto, supposedly are students. As such, how do they qualify for welfare unless like benefits are obtainable by every other university student in the land? If minors at 16 are now eligible for welfare simply because they no longer live at home it would seem the government welfare administrators have set out to encourage the hippie type and those other young people who refuse parental guidance. Some of that welfare money could be helping finance a dope habit and we'll probably be hearing soon that some sociologist is using welfare funds to set up communes for the kids.

The restoring of a buoyant economy would automatically take care of most of today's jobless who are unemployed through no fault of their own. If government welfare rolls are to be opened to teenagers, though, a whole generation would be encouraged to let George do it while they relaxed under the paternal beneficence of give-away government.

High unemployment rates would become permanent then and one wonders how the welfare state would be financed when there no longer were workers to be taxed through the nose.

Too Many Restrictions For Selfish Gain

We get taken to task in the letters column this week by a union man who minces no words in castigating us for our anti-union bias. His ire is aroused by editorial opinion we borrowed from another weekly newspaper and Frank Periard goes so far as to class this pen-pushing, full-time entrant in the rat race as a big business profiteer.

It is to laugh, Frank. We've been slaving for so many years to keep up with the increasing demands of big government we consider ourselves more serf than member of the Establishment. There are times when we even think there would be some measure of protection for us against the power-crazy bureaucrats if we could shelter under the wings of a big union. We keep trying to swim against the current, though, and retain a bit of individual initiative.

Nice to know, Frank, that your membership in a trade union is paying off in wage rates more than a bit above the average, but you seem to have missed the point of the editorial that has so raised your gorge. The editor of the Wingham Advance-Times was making the point that "if you want high wages just seek out a trade where manpower is scarce". As evidence he referred to the new wage agreement ratified by plumbers and steamfitters in the London area which calls for an hourly rate of $8.87 in two years.

That represents an increase of some 25 per cent over wage rates that are already much above the average and our Wingham contemporary thought the settlement out of proportion. So do we; and it is not entirely an anti-union point of view. Organized Labor is as entitled to the better life, to higher pay and easier working conditions, as is any other class of society. But when its demands become too self-centred and impose a burden on the rest of society there should be room for dissent.

Those London plumbers are not alone in demanding and getting generous settlements that act as a spur to inflation at a time when more than half a million Canadians are jobless because of a sick economy. A free-spending federal government is primarily responsible for today's unemployment rolls and the threat of a plunge into depression, now facing this nation. And that government argues that its punitive taxes are needed to meet the demands of the consumer for more public services, more security, and still more giveaway of tax dollars.

Big business continues to insist on its profits and no doubt these are often excessive. We hold no brief for this capitalist system, except that we see it preferable to the socialist economy Ottawa is now trying to foist on the nation. When taxes reach the punitive stage there is no profit incentive to turn the wheels of industry. When Labor insists on annual increases in pay and fringe benefits without a corresponding rise in productivity, industry gets priced out of the market place. Products made in Japan and other countries flood the store shelves and Canadian manufacturers lay off workers or completely shut down.

These annual demands for six to twelve per cent increases in take-home pay, with fringe benefits that add to the overhead, have become a bad habit. And some of the most flagrant offenders are public servants and service unions that add not one bit to the country's productivity. They only serve to cheapen the dollar all segments of society must have for purchasing power.

We quote from your letter, Frank, "A person today that tries to keep up with the tremendous high prices must make good wages". We agree, but those high prices are escalating each time a generous labor settlement results in increased costs of production or services. It is a vicious circle and the more Organized Labor presses to keep up with the escalating costs of living the cheaper our dollar becomes and grimmer grows the fight of the unorganized to make do with a limited income.

You are among the fortunate few, Frank, who have had a trade such as welding to provide a pay cheque for more than twenty years. A lot of young people without a trade today may envy you and wonder at Ontario Labor laws that protect your U.S. based union and leave you in a position to demand $8.87 an hour. You have virtually a Closed Shop, we understand, in that only one apprentice is permitted for every five journeymen.

Such restrictive regulations have brought us to a stage where it is often impossible to obtain the services of a plumber, a bricklayer, or many other artisans. Our over-organized society is fast approaching the day when too many university graduates will find no demand for their talents and those who might have supplied a need in the trades are barred from apprenticeship by government licensing.

Know Is Work Backwards

(The Ridgeway Dominion)

Those of us who were brought up to believe that people who could work, should, that it was the thing to do to be honest, pay one's bills, save for our old age, are definitely out of step with today's living.

A new set of values is in style. While we used to expect young people to become self-supporting at the latest in their early twenties, it is now necessary to continue their education up into the late twenties.

At the same time we are pressing for earlier retirement. So that while a man used to work until age 65 he is now retiring at 60 or even 50. Yet at that age his family is still in high school or university.

This would seem to put the burden of supporting the mass of retired people and the mass of young people waiting for jobs, on to the group of people between 30 and 50. Yet for the mass of workers we are striving for a four-day week.

Added to that, in a free society, where people may work or not as they please, it is reasonable to suggest that unemployment will rise rather than decline.

Is it any wonder that we can expect this small group that is burdened with the load of supporting others, to find the strain too much and drop out, or decide they might as well join the leisure classes and choose not to work.

And then somebody is going to have to start working to live, and we'll be right back where we started some years ago.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

NOT OVER PAID

Port Elgin, Ont.

The editor,
The Glengarry News,

After reading your editorial of May 13th issue of the Glengarry News of which I am a subscriber, I have come to the conclusion that you do not print all the facts, but only what you want to print in order to show your anti-unionism. I am referring to the London Plumbers who negotiated their new agreement faithfully as the laws require.

First of all you fail to mention, maybe it's ignorance on your part, to distinguish the difference between qualified tradesmen. These plumbers are part of a great association that in order to belong to it, a person must serve a five-years experience at the trade, years experience at the trade. Then when this is accomplished, a Dept. of Labor Test must be taken in order to receive a certificate of qualification. This Association is known as the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry of U.S.A. and Canada, which includes Steamfitters and Pipe High Pressure welders, who under their agreements receive the same hourly rate.

The welders that you refer to in your editorial are welders that weld and repair such things as shovel teeth, bulldozer blades and tracks, boom sticks, reinforcing steel that lay in concrete. All this does not require special skills because let's face it, anyone that fools around with a welding machine for a time will weld a bead or weld two pieces of steel together. Whereas a pipe welder is constantly working under more critical conditions and codes such as the Petroleum Refinery Piping Code B313 or the 100% critina of Section VIII and IX of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers not forgetting the more demanding Nuclear Code and the CWB namely the Canadian Bureau of Welding which all your Steelworker and Iron worker welders must hold tickets for in order to be able to make this sort of money that you refer to as high wages.

Our United Association apprentices must sacrifice five years of their life to become a journeyman at a small percentage of the journeyman's rate. And in order to meet the Dept. of Labor's requirements must pass the test. Therefore contradicting your statement, "Nor is there a particular High Standard of formal education required before entering the plumber trade."

I admit that, like politics, there are some that get in to our ranks from under the table, but more so in politics.

Now, you state that the "Little Folks" are paying for their services. I totally disagree with this. Didn't it ever occur to you that you "Big Folks" business people were once asked by the Federal government to slack off or reduce (Continued on page 3)

One good thing about having no Main Street is having no parking meters.

FUMES THAT MAKE US FUME

They were tearing up Main Street just outside our office door last week and the noise factor wasn't nearly as bad as we'd expected. The thing we couldn't take was the diesel fumes the big dozer and trucks were polluting the air with.

The diesel engine is a hardy work horse, no doubt, but it's got a bad breath we can do without. Even when it's idling that engine on those big trucks spews out a steady stream of something that smells like a mixture of carbon monoxide and cancer germs.

When the truck becomes mobile it coughs up a cloud of the stuff calculated to leave every sidewalk superintendant coughing up his lungs.

Those fumes emanating from the exhaust of a diesel motor we find hard to take and we've had to inhale them long before they started tearing up Main Street. Our place of abode is uncomfortably close to the intersection of two highways and it happens our place of repose is just about at the point where the trucker turning onto Highway 43 gives her the gun, kicks her into the overdrive, or something. Whatever it is he does, it assaults our ears as we lie there trying to woo sleep and just about then our lungs get a lethal dose of diesel fumes they find even harder to take than our pipe tobacco.

The common or garden carbon monoxide spewed out of a car's exhaust is deadly stuff, too, and it's nice to know governments are moving to rid our air of it. They'd better be doing something with the diesel engine, too. Controlling those god-awful fumes just might prove the answer to cancer.

Now that they're tearing up the street we're left wondering where the car cowboys are tearing up the street.

A FIRED-UP TRAFFIC TIE?

The new fire hall on Kenyon Street West is now housing the fire trucks and it's to be hoped our citizenry will not give fire a place to start, at least until some kind of road surface has been restored to the main drag. No doubt there are plans to cope with the problems of blocked off streets under construction.

Our firemen will rally in any emergency in a minimum of time, we have no doubt. It's the tail-gaters we're concerned with now.

Those car cowboys who seem to ooze out of the asphalt by the hundreds whenever the siren sounds are going to have problems. They can't zoom up and down a Main Street that's closed to traffic, at the first faint whine of the fire alarm. Kenyon Street West may be all cut up, too, come a fire call; and how are the boys going to be expected to rally to the scene if there are no roads?

Conditions could be somewhat chaotic through the summer and it may even happen the firemen will be able to answer a call without worrying about what's coming after them.

We won't know until the road work's all done this fall how the location of the new fire hall is going to work out. We have a horrible picture, though, of what answering a fire call may involve.

Say the siren sounds; and it's serious. Some Johnnie-on-the-spot firemen wheel out the trucks and start staring down Kenyon to Main. Before they can bank right or left at the bank corner they've been meeting a rushing flow of traffic heading for the fire hall and there's plenty more tail-gaters to contend with at the highway intersection. Then that went West on Kenyon are feverishly seeking space for a U-turn to get in on the fun and at Main it's a toss-up which direction the fire trucks are going to take.

It all adds up to traffic tie-ups and late arrival at the scene of the fire. Accidents could happen, too, and we'd hate to see them involve the neighbor kids on Kenyon.

Small town fire brigades have yet to come up with a solution to the problems imposed by motorists who like nothing better than to follow a fire truck bumper to bumper. Our highway intersection offers a special problem and it may come to pass that council will have to ordain "They shall not pass".

Unless traffic is halted at the corner of Kenyon and Main as soon as the siren sounds we wonder if the trucks will get through.

HORTICULTURISTS ELECT NEW SLATE

"Raindrops of water descending from the clouds", reads the dictionary, "and most beneficial to growing plants", add the gardeners, which is why the persistent rain on Wednesday, May 26th did not deter members of Maxville's Horticultural Society from attending their pot luck supper and plant sale.

Forty-two members sat down to supper, and a number came in later.

After supper, Ernest McPhail, representing the nominating committee, submitted the following list of officers for the forthcoming year:

Past president, Mrs. Hugh Smith President, George Matsell, Vice president, Mrs. Keith McDougall.

Sec. treasurer, Mrs. Rodger Guindon.

Directors, Mrs. Wilfred McEwen, Mrs. James McCartney, Mrs. L. J. McNaughton, Mrs. Archie Hughes, Mrs. Harold Blaney, Mrs. Bert Beaudette, Mrs. Wm. McIntosh, Mrs. R. L. I. Fjarlie, Miss Bertha Ferguson, Arnold Scott.

Mrs. Hugh Smith, the retiring president, then added the name of Mrs. George Matsell, who will assist Mrs. Guindon with the secretarial duties, and act as public relations officer.

The names were accepted, and officers elected by those members present.

A successful plant sale followed the election, and the newly elected directors picked up the plant premiums to be delivered in their various districts.

SCHOOL FASHION SHOW

There was a large crowd of style-conscious ladies at the Maxville High School this week when the girls of Grade 12 staged their annual fashion show. This presentation features garments made by the girls in the home economics classes from Grades 8 to 12, under the direction of Mrs. Malcolm Grant.

The show was organized by Audrey Hill and Suzanne Sabourin, with an attractive stage setting of cedar and picket fencing designed by Barbara McEwen. Mrs. Grant was presented with a bouquet of red carnations. Pipe-Major John MacKenzie piped the evening in, and music for the showing of the costumes was provided by Marilyn Campbell at the organ.

There was a fine variety of garments modelled by the girls. Dresses of course and many pantsuits, skirts and jumpsuits. There were several attractive vests and ponchos, and the smart hot pants. The fashionable peasant style was noticeable, a few pairs of slacks and also the gaucho pants. And a unique Unisex outfit. Several lucky little girls modelled pretty clothes made for them by their older sisters. The last showing was the beautiful evening gowns, which the girls modelled with their escorts.

Commentators for the modelling were Sandy Ramsbottom, Nancy Haramis, Wendy Crawford, and for a change of viewpoint, two of the escorts—Mike Leblanc and Glen Campbell. Entertainment at intermission consisted of school talent — highland dancing, tap dancing and songs, to the music of Pipe-Major MacKenzie.

Rambling...

And then how do the firemen get to the new fire hall?

If town council and the fire brigade have trouble figuring out a foolproof answer maybe the car cowboys can come up with a way to get them there in the least possible time without fouling up the fire trucks.

your tremendous profits in order to help fight inflation, which you all totally refused to do. And don't tell me you, yourself agreed to reduce your profit because the News is still 10c. Why didn't you take it down to 5 or 6 cents per copy, and also don't blame it on your high cost of labor.

I wish I could understand why "Survival in a period of inflation often creates the need for some drastic increases in the prices of goods and services." I'm beginning to wonder who is the one that is being greedy. The Establishment or the worker.

Well at least some of our MPs have a conscience and are refusing this outrageous raise that the Federal government is forcing on to our political representatives. This is another example of the co-operation of the "Big People" to help inflation. Especially when they know the Canadian majority is against it.

Did the retailer, wholesaler give up on his profits a little, or did he give more to the producer for his product? Did he reduce the prices to help the consumer? No he didn't; the price for milk and bread which is a necessity of life is still ridiculously high.

I have been connected with the piping industry all my life, being a welder (High Pressure) for over 20 years, and I go along with the London plumbers and fitters and all other areas that get pay increases as good as London's because a person today that tries to keep up with the tremendous high prices must make good wages.

You will no doubt blame this on high cost of labor but, if the "Big People" such as yourself learn to control and relax your profits (because you are the greedy ones not the worker) and give a chance to the "Little People", who are the producer, consumer and worker, to enjoy a decent and better way of life instead of trying to choke them by high prices, taxes for this, taxes for that, maybe you wouldn't be faced with these big demands made by such people as the London Plumbers. If you believe the writings of the Wingham Advance Times, you are as all wet as they are.

Sir, with due respect to you and your position I wonder if you have the guts to print this letter in the News as I have written it.

Fraternally yours,
 Frank (Gidou) Periard

Member Local 819, United Association of Plumbers and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe-fitting Industry of the United States and Canada.

RICH GET RICHER

RRI Summerstown, Ont.
 The editor,
 The Glengarry News,

The prominence given my nomination as Glengarry NDP candidate, in your issue of Thursday, May 27, is greatly appreciated. Your fairness to all political parties is heartily agreed with.

Your editorials on the editorial page were enlightening and interesting—"The unfair tax of all", was another example of how the rich get richer and the poor get poorer. Whilst advocating heavy income taxes, Ronald Reagan, Gov. of California and others of his ilk, are not "paying their way", (Don't do as I do, do as I tell you to do). The industrial worker, on the other hand, is forced to pay his. It is regularly taken off his pay cheque.

Why is the one segment of society permitted free rein and the other forced to pay through the nose?

As in the U.S., our governments are comprised of the free reiners and wheel-dealers who are not concerned with the well-being of our people. The farmer, like the industrial worker, is being bled white by these over-fat leeches who live off the sweat and blood of all workers.

The farmer is exploited to the full by the machinery trusts on the one hand and the milk and meat processing plants on the other, aided of course by government price control and the quota system. The only industry in Canada which submits to price control.

It is high time that the farmer and factory worker understood that they are both in the same boat. They must either work together or sink separately. They have been kept apart these many years and both exploited (divide and conquer).

It is good to know that the farmer has at last been organized into a union. Now all farmers can speak with one strong voice and demand justice and organized labor will support them to the hilt.

After all, scratch a labor man lightly and you will find a farmer or his son, who was forced to leave the farm due to the economic injustices of the owners of our governments. We are all brothers and sisters.

The big manufacturing concerns and financial institutions which pour millions of dollars into the political campaigns of both the liberals and conservatives, are the owners. They bet on both horses—they think they can't lose.

Since the rise of the NDP, they are not so sure.

They lost in Manitoba. It looks black for them in Saskatchewan where they govern by a slim majority. And how does it look in Ontario? Still blacker. The common people are rising throughout

In The Shower Room with Sue!

GDHS Sports by Susan Conway

Extra curricular activities play an important role in the life of every school. This year, mixed with academic studies, they tended to add flavor and color to GDHS. On Thursday, May 27th, "Talent Night" brought the activities to an end. This was the students' opportunity to demonstrate to parents and friends what they had accomplished.

Before the opening exercises in the cafeteria, visitors could view displays in the gym and corridors. In the gym they were given the chance to see how accurate they were in the games of archery and golf. Farther down the hall at the electronics counter, the spectators were able to test their voices and heart beat with the numerous electronic devices. There were other presentations for the art, leathercrafts and agricultural science clubs. The model parliament exhibit with its booths for the NDP, Liberal and Conservative parties caused quite a bit of lively talk, which sometimes bordered on heated arguments.

In the cafeteria, the students performed excellently in the two French plays "L'Anglais tel qu'on le parle" de Tristan Bernard and "Le Petit Malade", and the Shakespearean excerpt from Romeo and Juliet. Two folk dance numbers and gymnastic routines on the parallel and uneven bars and floor were presented.

This part of the program was followed by distribution of awards. First the bowling and chess stars received their silver for keen competition this season. After this all the winning captains and track and field athletes were honored for their fine effort this year in inter-mural and interscholastic activities.

The highlight of the evening was awarding of trophies to the male and female sportsman of 1970-71. The qualities necessary to be a winner are summed up very well by the inscriptions. They read, "To be presented annually to the girl or boy who through ability, co-operation and example contributed the most to the athletic program at GDHS."

There were many students who deserved these awards but in the end only two could be chosen. Mr. Lloyd announced that Jean Guy Bender was the male athlete of the year, while Mrs. Pierre Rouette presented me with the female trophy in memory of her late husband.

Both Jean Guy and I felt honored and proud to receive this tribute.

The evening was a great success. Mr. Jeaurond again would like to thank all those who made it possible through their help and co-operation. I feel that Mr. Jeaurond must be thanked especially for all the hard work and time he put into the whole extra-curricular program.

Second Diamond For Playground

A second ball diamond is being laid out at the south end of the playground area reports Recreation Director Bill Upper. Seating from the south end of the arena will be moved in for the use of fans.

The men's softball league starts Monday night and they will play on Monday and Thursdays. Lady softballers play Wednesdays and their loop opens next week, too. Girls take over the diamond Tuesdays and Fridays and they start a week later.

Minor baseball, set for Saturdays, will see the little leaguers starting play in two weeks.

Improvements at the arena this summer will include installation of 10 new Mercury lights and seven radiant heat units, the first year contribution of the Richelle Club.

Susan. The more kids of all ages participating the more fun everyone will have.

Arts and Crafts—Today art is for all children, not just for the gifted few, notes Betty Sabourin, in charge of Arts and Crafts. Children growing in skill and in awareness of color and shape, need to be given time to assimilate new ideas before they attempt to capture them in any particular media. Students of all ages enjoy experimenting with new materials.

With this in mind the instructor does not simply present the materials and then allow the children to "go to it".

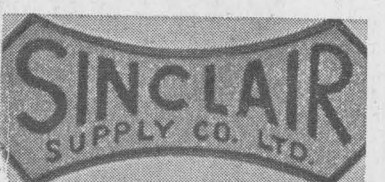

My job is to see that the child learns basic techniques and is encouraged to observe the world around him and to express his own ideas. Because money must be allocated very carefully, to cover various types of art and craft work, a disciplined attitude on the part of both students and instructor is essential. Due to our limited budget multi-purpose materials will be available to stimulate your child's native creativity. New and exciting media, such as lino-printing, wood cuts and Darwi ceramics

GETS 25-YEAR PIN—Mrs. Arthur Quesnel had 25 years of membership in the Daughters of Isabella recognized when she received a 25-year pin from Miss Laura Sabourin of Cornwall, Provincial Vice-

Regent. Mrs. Aurele Lajoie, local regent, looks on. Mrs. Quesnel was a member of the Circle at Rigaud before the Alexandria group was organized some 17 years ago. —Photo by Robert

J. R. Urquhart Died At Cornwall

Funeral of John R. Urquhart of 435 Ninth St. E., Cornwall, was held on Saturday at McArthur and MacNeil Funeral Home. Burial was in Kenyon Presbyterian Church, Dunvegan.

Born on Nov. 17, 1884 in the Baltics Corners area, Mr. Urquhart was well known as a stationary engineer on sawmill and road projects and was an amateur fiddler of some note in Glengarry in his more active years. He once operated a sawmill at McCrimmon's Corners.

A resident of Cornwall for the past 25 years, he worked at the former Beach furniture plant and at Cornwall General Hospital prior to his retirement 15 years ago. In his youth, he worked in Montreal for a number of years.

He married the former Cassie MacDermid, formerly of Greenfield, on Feb. 28, 1923 and the family resided at Maxville and McCrimmon before moving to Cornwall.

Mr. Urquhart is survived by his wife; by one daughter Mrs. Bernard Best (Christina) of Ottawa; and by four grandchildren.

He was a member of St. John's Presbyterian Church and of the Loyal Orange Lodge at McCrimmon's Corners.

will be introduced this summer.

As we have provided children with an environment in which they can create with words, movement and music, let us discover a corresponding growth in their ability to manipulate materials.

Service Pins For Isabella Group

Long service pins were presented to veteran members of the Our Lady of Fatima Circle, Daughters of Isabella, at a communion mass held last Thursday. Rev. Maurice Lariviere, chaplain, offered the mass in the K of C Hall.

Miss Laura Sabourin of Cornwall, provincial vice-regent, presented a pin to a 25-year member, Mrs. Arthur Quesnel. Ten-year pins were presented to:

Mrs. Zoltique Courville, Mrs. Maurice Lefebvre, Mrs. Dorla Brebant, Mrs. Royal Gareau, Mrs. Raymond Rochon, Mrs. Eldege Vaillancourt, Mrs. Henri Nolin, Mrs. Aime Lalonde, Mrs. Wilfrid Decoste, Mrs. Bruno Masse, Mrs. Omer Quesnel, Mrs. Emile Leroux, Mrs. Francine Rouette, Mrs. Ambrose Lalonde, Mrs. Henri Groux.

Miss Sabourin showed a film "From Infancy to Adolescence". Father Lariviere answered questions posed by the film. A gift was presented the vice-regent.

Husbands of the members were present and a social hour was spent enjoying a buffet lunch.

Seven Homemaking Clubs Had Skits At Annual Achievement Day

Separates for Summer, how your personality and temperament influences your choice of color and a glorious range of fabrics were the basis for the afternoon program of the Glengarry County 4-H Homemaking Club Achievement day at Glengarry District High School.

Seven clubs participated in exhibits, demonstrations and skits. Pat Lawson introduced all members of the Alexandria Club in demonstrating the correct fit, using models to show a contrast between the right and wrong way to make alterations.

The Brodie Club showed how they learned to do by doing in their "Measurements and Pattern Alterations" demonstration. Martintown's Friendly Sewing Centre skit even mentioned prices as fashions made from patterns and materials supposedly purchased in their centre were modelled.

"Look Right for Play" by Picnic Grove's Spring Maidens, who had designed a three-panel poster, gave some smart ideas using the same pattern for casual or formal occasion clothes.

Dawn Campbell was commentator for the McCrimmon Club exhibit Colors For You. Her green outfit was a perfect match for the green tablecloth, on which the handsome poster bearing large green printing stood, telling their color fashion story.

The account of Dalkeith Club's Mix and Match was told by Marjorie MacDonald whose red, white and blue outfit matched the display which highlighted the versatility of different fabrics.

Linda McLeod of the Glen Nevis Club used a color wheel as she pointed out the warm and cool colors that can be chosen for your summer wardrobe.

Each club modelled its own fashions and provided a commentary.

Mrs. Heather Butt, home economist, chaired the days events, the morning session having featured the judging of a class of summer separates. Martha Krol and Connie Howes presented Mrs. Butt with a gift at the conclusion of the day, as she will leave this area for Brockville this summer.

Miss Lynda Sweiger, Lanark County, visiting home economist, commented on the afternoon's work.

Provincial honors were awarded by Mrs. Donald MacLachlan, provincial board director, Federation of Women's Institute of Ontario, to Susan Baxter, Alexandria; Judy Calvank, Dalkeith; Marjorie MacDonald, Dalkeith; and Barbara MacGillivray, Dalkeith. These girls completed 13 projects.

For those who completed six 4-H clubs, county honors were presented by Mrs. Neil Blair, district vice-president, Women's Institute, to Yvette Lalonde, Martintown, Colleen Campbell, Dawn Campbell, Linda Denovan, Joyce MacLennan, Dalkeith; Kyle McDonnell, Dalkeith; and Brenda MacRae, Lancaster.

Certificates of achievement were presented to Helen Baxter, Marilyn Aulenback, Susan Baxter, Karen Brown, Gail Epp, Suzanne Lafleur, Margaret McCormick, Cathy MacDonald, Colleen McCormick, Alexandria; Anna Fraser, Barbara MacGillivray, Heather MacPherson, Brodie; Judy Calvank, Linda Denovan, Connie Howes, Helen MacDonald, Marjorie MacDonald, Gwen MacGillivray, Joyce MacLennan, Leslie McLeod, Sandra Lothian, Dalkeith; Kyle McDonnell, Glen Nevis; Colleen Campbell, Dawn Campbell, Joan Fulton, Phyllis MacMaster, Lorna MacMillan, McCrimmon; Donna Foubert, Judy Jarvis, Yvette Lalonde, Mary Ann Peters, Mary VanLoon, Josie Van Rool, Martintown; Marian Cornelissen, Carol Lahmemann, Cindy Ley, Brenda MacRae, Laurie Milne, Diane Samson, Donna Smiths, Picnic Grove.

Club leaders and assistants were Mrs. Ken Brown, Mrs. D. J. Baxter, Alexandria; Mrs. Lynus MacPherson, Mrs. Angus E. MacMillan, Brodie; Mrs. Alex D. MacLeod, Mrs. Campbell MacDonald, Dalkeith; Mrs. D. C. MacRae, Mrs. Mary McLeod, Glen Nevis; Mrs. Robert Campbell, McCrimmon; Mrs. Stephanie Dupuis, Mrs. John Peters, Martintown; Mrs. Gordon Ferguson, Mrs. Robert MacRae, Picnic Grove.

The fall project will be dairy fare, milk in its many forms, cheese and other dairy products. Needlecraft is the choice for the spring, 1972, project.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Villeneuve of Parishville, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Legault and family of Cornwall spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Villeneuve and Mr. and Mrs. Laurent Montcalm and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore N. Dewar of Niagara Falls, Ont., visited with Boyd Johnson on Saturday.

Mrs. Duncan MacDonald of Smiths Falls visited on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Mary A. Ross. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boisvenue of Ottawa, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Villeneuve and family.

Mrs. Norma Benton left on Monday to spend six weeks on a tour of the British Isles and several European countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay Baker of Elgin, Ont., spent the weekend with Miss Tena McLennan.

And Lang Syne . . .

was tendered Mrs. R. R. Macdonald, who leaves shortly to join Mr. Macdonald, manager of the Banque Canadienne Nationale at Vankleek Hill. An address was read by Mrs. M. J. Morris and Mrs. R. J. McCallum presented a complete set of golf clubs.

Fire destroyed the barn, garage and ice house of John F. MacRae, Curry Hill, on Friday night. — Two new teachers will be on the staff of Maxville Public School next term as a result of resignations. Miss Mary Stuart will bring to a close 48 1/2 years of teaching. Miss Mora McLeod has also resigned.

FIFTY YEARS AGO—

Friday, June 3rd, 1921

An enthusiastic meeting of the shareholders of the Alexandria Farmers' Co-operative Company was held in the Star Theatre here, the object being to discuss the question as to whether the present store premises of the company should be extended in order to handle the trade more satisfactorily. The farmers are to be canvassed with a view to increasing the share capital. — Active building operations have been begun by Donald Duperron, G. W. Empey and H. A. Christie of Maxville, who were among the recent fire sufferers. — Our town fathers are trying out a new system of fire alarm in the form of a siren. The noise is weird enough and should be very appealing at night. — The removal of the fence and levelling of the grounds at St. Finnan's Cathedral, have made a marked change for the better. — The marriage of Miss Christena Mc-

Rae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. MacRae, Laggan, to Thomas G. Maltby of Montreal, took place Thursday evening, May 26th, in Calvary Congregational Church at Montreal.

SIXTY YEARS AGO—

Friday, June 2nd, 1911

The Crystal Block, owned by D. Courville, and H. R. Cuddon's Jewellery establishment and dwelling were destroyed by fire early Thursday morning, with most of their contents. — J. J. Irvine, formerly of Alexandria, but now of Montreal, a few days ago received his degree in Medicine at McGill University. — Contract for the erection of the new Presbyterian Church here, has been awarded to J. J. McIntosh of this place. It is to be built of cement blocks on a concrete foundation, heated by hot air furnaces and lighted by electricity. — John R. McRae left Sunday for Toronto, where he has secured a good position. — Capt. J. A. Cameron of the Princess Louise Dragoon Guards, arrives home this weekend, and will at once proceed to recruit his Cavalry Corps for the coming camp at Petawawa. Young men with suitable horses should see him without delay.
