Newsbriefs

Halloween suspects

CHESTERVILLE — Winchester OPP has identified three suspects in connection with the vandalism that took place in Chesterville on Hallowe'en night, but haven't pressed charges. "We don't have sufficient evidence to charge them at this time," said Sgt. Jim McWade, yesterday morning. Although they can't be identified publicly, McWade said none of the suspects are from Chesterville. It's not likely any charges will be pressed, but the OPP has let the three people know they are suspects, he said.

Glass recycling

BERWICK — Finch Township Council signed a petition circulated by the Township of Bathurst calling for blue box recycling of glass. The blue box program is popular across Ontario for recycling newsprint and other paper materials. Township Reeve, Don Shane, however, had misgivings about the proposal saying it could be too expensive to recycle glass. "Only 50 per cent is good. What are you going to do with the rest of it," he said.

Toy deadline

CHESTERVILLE — The last day to drop off toys for the village's toy drive at the Bank of Nova Scotia is Dec. 19. People are encouraged to bring in good used or new toys for children up to the age of 13 before the Tuesday deadline. The drive has gone well so far and any extra toys will be given to Rev. Allan Tysick of Dundela to be distributed to needy families in the area. The toy drive is an annual thing in the village in which people are asked to donate toys to be distributed by the Rotary Club to underprivileged families.

New truck

MOOSE CREEK — Roxborough Township will receive a new fire truck for one of its fire departments next year. The township decided last week to purchase a new pumper truck from a company in Carleton Place for its Avonmore department. The truck will cost the township $100,000. Council hasn't decided what it will do with the present fire truck, which is about 25 years old, that the new one will replace.

Soil and crops

WINCHESTER — The Dundas County Soil and Crop Association will be honoring farmers at its annual awards meeting today. The annual meeting starts at 10 a.m. and wraps up in the afternoon. The meeting will feature the naming of the Dundas County Farmer of the Year. Awards of merit will also be handed out to farmers at the meeting recognizing them for soil conservation practices.

Police crackdown

Four Chesterville residents charged in drug raid

Greg Kielec
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — Four Chesterville residents were among 30 area residents charged in a major drug raid on residences throughout the counties of Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Thursday.

Charged in the raid with drug trafficking were James McIntosh, 29; Tracey Merkley, 22; Diane Lacelle, 24, and Larry Lauzon, 28, of Chesterville. All four are to appear in court to face the charges in January. A 22-year-old Morewood resident, Sandra Hardy, was also charged by police with trafficking.

Police executed the raid on a number of communities in Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, in a joint effort involving 65 police officers to crack down on an increasing drug trade in the area.

Sgt. Jim McWade of the Winchester OPP detachment, said the raid was made in Chesterville to address complaints of increased drug trade in the village. "As a result, it was part of Project Shoreline."

The raid, code-named Shoreline because it covered all of SD&G, south to the St. Lawrence River, netted $284,000 in drugs. Seized in the raid were quantities of marijuana, hashish, and a large quantity of LSD and cocaine.

Sgt. Al Crocker, of OPP district headquarters in Long Sault, said the raid has confirmed police suspicions that cocaine is becoming the drug of choice for users in the area.

But the popularity of cocaine hasn't reduced the popularity for another drug which has prevalent use in the area -- LSD.

Crocker said police were surprised with the amount of LSD seized in the raid. "There seems to be an increase of LSD," he said.

Police seized about 17,000 "tabs" of LSD, worth about $130,000 on the street. Police had thought the chemically-formed drug was becoming less popular because the side effects it can cause to users.

The amount of drugs netted in the raid shows that drugs aren't just an urban problem anymore, he said. "I don't think the country and rural area is exempt from drugs anymore."

The affirmation of drug use in the area through the raid didn't come as a surprise to Chesterville Reeve Jim Cook. Cook said village officials had been aware of drug use in the village and "had reports which were passed on," to police.

"I'm not surprised. It's apparently something that has been going on for some time," he said Friday.

Osnabruck assessment to up taxes next year

Greg Kielec
Record Staff

OSNABRUCK CENTRE — About 60 per cent of Osnabruck Township's taxpayers will see an increase in their tax bills next year due to a change in the assessment of their properties.

Osnabruck Council decided at a meeting last Tuesday night to implement a market value assessment to determine the amount of taxes paid by residents next year.

The assessment will more accurately reflect the changed values in properties in the township over the past half-century. And it will also mean many people who have done renovations and improvements to their homes will pay more in taxes.

On the brighter side of the tax change, 40 per cent of the township's ratepayers will see a decrease in their taxes because of the change to market value assessment.

Because the township isn't allowed to increase the money it generates through taxes with the assessment changes, taxes for less valuable properties have to be decreased to make up for the increase on more valuable properties.

Osnabruck Deputy Reeve Carson Elliott, who will likely be one of the estimated 60 per cent of ratepyaers to pay an increased assessment, said the change was needed.

"There hasn't been a real assessment of the township per se since the 1940s," he said Council realized a couple of years ago there were inadequacies in the system and decided a revamping was in order. "It was really outdated," Elliott said of the assessment.

The assessment was done by students the past summer through the Ontario Ministry of Municipal Affairs.

The change to market value assessment will also mean a large increase in taxes paid on vacant lots.

"Vacant properties are going to see a substantial increase," Elliott said. Properties hardest hit will be those ready for development in and around the village of Ingleside.

Although the vote for the change to market value assessment wasn't unanimous, with Councillor Donald McElheran voting against the proposal, Elliott said it was a logical move for the township to make.

"I think we're ready for it. Other municipalities have done it," he said.

Council knows the assessment change isn't going to be popular with all township residents. To help residents find out why and how their assessments are going up, open houses will be held next month with MMA officials present to explain the new system.

Christmas magic

Brittany Ouderkirk, 4, of Ingleside had fun hamming it up with Santa Claus at the Newington fire hall Sunday. She was one of about 80 children to turn up for the pre-Christmas visit. Children were given candies and fire safety literature at the fire hall.

Youths injured in high-speed police chase

CORNWALL — Two Cornwall area youths were injured when the car they were in crashed near Moose Creek while being chased by police Sunday morning.

The two youths were hurt, one receiving serious injuries, when the car they were in went off Avonmore Road on a series of curves near Moose Creek. The car went into a ditch, struck a tree and rolled over, coming to rest right-side-up in a field.

A third youth in the vehicle managed to flee the scene on foot.

The high-speed chase started at Highway 2 west of Long Sault, after the car fled a RIDE spot check along the highway at 2:35 a.m. Dec. 10.

The vehicle, which had been reported stolen one hour earlier to Cornwall City Police, accelerated and fled the scene and two OPP cruisers gave pursuit.

The OPP cruisers pursued the car for approximately 14 kilometres, at speeds of up to 170 kilometres per hour losing sight of the car several times. The final time police lost sight of the vehicle is when the accident occurred.

When police arrived on the scene, the driver and one of the two passengers were at the scene with injuries and the car was resting upright in a field.

One 16-year-old youth was taken to Police seize Chesterville video games

Greg Kielec

CHESTERVILLE — Charges are pending after police seized four video gambling machines at the Sierra Grande Hotel in Chesterville Thursday, allegedly used for illegal gambling.

The machines, valued at $3,000 a piece, and their contents, were seized in a raid Dec. 7 involving two members of the Winchester OPP detachment, one Casselman OPP officer and an officer from the OPP gaming section in Toronto.

Police decided to seize the machines after undercover officers gathering evidence at the hotel for a drug raid executed on Thursday discovered people playing the machine were receiving payoffs for winning a certain amount of credits in the video games.

"By playing the games they get credits, and they're getting paid off in cash for their accumulated credits,' said Sgt. Jim McWade of the Winchester OPP detachment.

Police executed a massive raid in June on Eastern Ontario businesses, seizing 241 of the video poker machines and also seizing an undetermined amount of cash. The total value of the machines was estimated at $750,000.

McWade said police had known about the machines in Chesterville but decided to seize them the same time a major drug raid was executed throughout the area on Thursday.

Charges are pending against some employees and the company which owns the hotel. Anyone caught giving illegal payoffs for credits accumulated on such machines can be charged with keeping a common gaming house.

Thomas Beardsall, owner of the Sierra Grande Hotel, told The Record in July his business had such machines, but that they were strictly for entertainment. His business wasn't targetted in the June raid.

The June raid culminated a six month gambling investigation resulted in 300 charges being laid against various persons and corporate bodies. The investigation involved 200 officers from 26 agencies.

The investigation was initiated by the OPP gaming section as a result of complaints that payoffs were being made to players by operators of establishments with the machines.

The machines, some of which were displayed at a press conference in Long Sault in late June are capable of earning more than $1,000 a week.

Police decided to take action when it became apparent the video machines were becoming a serious problem. Under present law, only slot machines which dispense one or more free games are legal. Amusement games such as the game Pac-Man are legal.

New school board chairman facing challenge

Greg Kielec
Record Staff

SOUTH MOUNTAIN — Roy Hastings is optimistic things will improve for the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry public school board. And with recent shortfalls in provincial funding for the board, optimism may prove to be the new board chairman's strongest asset.

Hastings, a 71-year-old retired school teacher, took over the position of chairman from Joe Gunn at a meeting Dec. 1. And he will head the board through one of its toughest times since it was formed 20 years ago.

The board's past year has been one of controversy and turmoil; protests over the elimination of full day French Kindergarten, a shortfall in provincial funding, one of the reasons blamed for the Kindergarten program cut, and tax pooling changes which will reduce board revenue next year. On top of those issues is the issue of the transfer of public schools to the separate board.

All thrown together, the issues that have plagued the board over the past year -- part of the reason why Gunn abdicated his chairmanship this year because of increased time demands -- should make an interesting term for the former finance committee chairman.

Hasting's first major chore will come next year when he and board members try to keep their budget increase in the single digits while at the same time, not make any cuts to school programs.

The amount of money the board levies from SD&G municpalities, which in turn is raised through municipal taxes, increased by 17 per cent last year because of decreased provincial funding.

And while the province is promising an 8.2 per cent increase in funding for school boards this year, what the province announces and what the local board receives are often significantly different figures.

An increase in funding last year of 6 per cent announced by the province actually turned into a decrease of 5 per cent, an 11 per cent difference between what the province said the board would receive and what the board actually received.

Hastings said the trend in reducing grants started by the province last year is a trend that will likely continue. "We're noticing it more and more," he said last week.

Twenty years ago, the province paid 60 per cent of education costs with school boards picking up the remaining 40 per cent through tax levies. Since then, the amount of funding provided by the province has dropped to 37 per cent.

Hastings said he will let ratepayers know who is responsible for large tax increases the school board may be forced to pass every year. Part of his work as chairman will be letting supporters know how little financial support the board receives from the province, he said.

Numerous changes made by legislators in Toronto have had an adverse affect on the SD&G school board, Hastings said. One change is a new law passed by the province which forces employers to pay the cost of OHIP for employees. The changes, starting next year, will cost the board $450,000 a year, almost two per cent of the total money the board pays on salaries for its 200 employees.

A plan to allocate more commercial taxes to the separate school board will also cost the board. The board expects to lose $76,000 in the first year the tax pooling is implemented and could lose $6.5 million by 1995.

The province has promised $180 million in compensation for 13 boards it says will lose money under the tax pooling plan. But it has been estimated by the province's public school trustee association the losses will be much greater. It has estimated that 48 boards will lose up to $400 million by 1995.

If the predictions by the trustee association are accurate, the SD&G public school board could be a big loser under the tax pooling plan which is to be implemented next year.

And the public board still loses money every year because it and the province operate on different fiscal years. The board's fiscal year ends in the fall and the province's budget in which school funding is provided isn't passed until the spring.

The time lapse between the two fiscal years means the board must borrow money to cover its expenses until the provincial budget is passed. Hastings estimates the borrowing costs the board a large amount of interest annually.

The increased financial constraints placed on the board means budget time next year won't be something trustees will look forward to, especially if the board doesn't get the 8.2 per cent funding increase promised by the province for Ontario school boards.

"It's a whole new ball game," Hastings said, describing what will happen if the board doesn't get the increase. "We're going to have to look over things."

He hopes this year there will be no

Most area residents realize drugs aren't just a city problem but are a problem in small towns and rural areas as well. It is one reason why there is an increased emphasis in schools in the area on education to show students the dangers of drugs.

"I think everyone is aware; it is everyone's problem," he said.

The knowledge that drugs are a problem in the area has prompted the village to look at programs through the recreation department to give drug-users an alternative for their time.

"We're working on things," Cook said.

The village has been given "various suggestions" on things it can do to provide an alternative to using drugs.

But he added, a combination effort is needed to help reduce the problem of drug use. All levels of government must join together, coupled with education in schools, to battle the problem of drug use.

"The schools are doing a pretty good job on this," he said. But more effort is needed from areas other than schools; the schools can't do it alone.

Crocker said the success of the police's eight-month-long operation that culminated on Thursday guarantees more such joint operations will be carried out in the future.

Although the raid turned up a number of drugs being used in the area, it didn't locate any crack, a drug formed from cocaine, but far more potent. Police intelligence has determined crack is being used but is only being shipped sporadically in the area, Crocker said.

The increased drug use can be linked with an increase of break and enters and theft in the area. There is a "close parallel" between the increase in drug use and increased crime, Crocker said.

program cuts from decreased funding; that budget trimming be kept "outside the classroom door", a phrase trustees have adopted as their slogan for next yer.

Hastings remains optimistic the province will come through with the promised 8.2 per cent funding increase for the board. But he added: "We haven't had much reason for a lot of optimism."

If the board gets the increase, it could be in a good position during upcoming salary negotiations with employees. Salaries will be the only area eligible for extra money this year, everything else in the board has been frozen, he said.

"There is no growth. They (program co-ordinators) are having to live on what they used last year."

Former board chairman Joe Gunn said last week it is likely the board will be hurt by a shortfall in provincial funding again this year. He said although an 8.2 per cent increase has been promised the province, it is likely the board won't get it and will be "screaming again" for more funding.

Gunn decided this year not to run again for chairman of the board because of the increased demand board activities have put on this time. He says the positions of chairman and trustees will soon have to be made full-time because of the large demand they place on board members' time.

Readers warned to be on the lookout for 'Pen pals'

Mark Brennae
Record Staff

CHESTERVILLE — The Chesterville Record received a letter to the editor this week.

This in itself is not so strange; we hear from lots of our readers.

What was unusual about this particular piece of correspondence was its return address and the disclaimer printed in large type on the envelope.

It came from an inmate of the Indiana State Penitentiary in Michigan City and contained a heart-rending plea for someone to write to him to help relieve the intense loneliness caused by his 20-year sentence for robbery. Abandoned by family and friends the letter writer asked that it be published in the hope that a reader of this newspaper would respond and a friendship struck.

What piqued our curiosity was the disclaimer on the outside of the envelope which warned in large type: "This stamp identifies this correspondence as having been mailed by an offender incarcerated at the above correctional institution (Indiana State Prison). "WARNING": Not responsible for contents. Any enclosed money orders should be referred to your local postmaster before cashing."

We weren't in luck. There was no money order in the envelope, just the incarcerated robber's plea for a pen pal, but to satisfy our curiosity we called Michigan City and spoke to Barry Nothstine, the state prison's administrative assistant.

What was uncovered should serve as a notice to those trusting souls who respond to this type of letter.

"These people are creating 'theft by deception', as it is known in this state, the victims being the people they correspond with,' he said in a telephone interview last Friday.

In a well-orchestrated scam, prisoners appeal to newspaper editors to print their letters, telling of their loneliness.

Readers answer the inmate's appeal, and write him.

Over a short period, a relationship is established whereby the pen pal is convinced of the inmate's innocence to the degree that he agrees to distribute money orders to the inmate's past victims in order to clear the convict's conscience.

The inmate arranges for money orders to be smuggled into the institution. These orders are altered by the convict and sent out to the unsuspecting pen pal, who will be able to keep, he is told, a money order for his trouble.

The pen pal does not realize the money orders have been altered to read $700 (the maximum value of American money orders), instead of their true amount of one dollar.

The pen pal delivers the money orders as instructed, but fails to realize the destination for this money are not the residences of past victims, but rather, those or others involved in the scam; it could be relatives, or friends.

The pen pal suspects nothing until contacted by a bank and informed of the falsified money orders, for which he or she is now responsible. The pen pal is still footing the bill.

Before the authorities can get involved, the money has been allocated to family, or to lawyers in the hopes of an expedient release for the inmate. Meanwhile, the pen pal turned victim is out thousands of dollars.

"I know of one offender who was convicted of over 55 separate offences...that's over $38,500," Nothstine said.

Although not the only mail scam prisoners have begun to use, it is one which has been discovered at an alarming frequence. Since the U.S. federal government began a crackdown three years ago, 20 to 25 inmates have been convicted of theft by mail at the Indiana prison alone.

The procedure for inspecting mail in U.S. penitentiaries is similar to that used in this country. In-going and out-going mail is opened and inspected for contraband such as money, drugs or electronics. Everything is checked, including behind the stamp.

If money is found, it is deposited into the inmate's savings account, to which the inmate has quarterly access. Lettes are never read, unless they are accompanied by contraband.

Asked if this scam could find its way into Canada's penal institutuions, Nothstine pointed out, "All it takes is the idea." But so far, it seems, the idea has not caught the fancy of Canadian inmates.

"We have never, ever experienced any problems of that nature. Is it because our inmates are more honorable, or is it because our inmates are less entrepreneurial? I don't know," says Jim Murdoch, unit manager at Joyceville Penetentiary.

Although he has not encountered the scam first-hand in the 529-inmate, minimum-security institution, Murdoch isn't surprised. "Some of the developments in American prisons are really quite interesting," he said.

But will they be interesting enough to inmates in Canadian institutions to try? Murdoch doesn't think so.

"The societal milieu is a little bit different. Here, very many post offices and trust companies and banks have personal relationships with the people that deal there. It is a smaller society and that would probably help to deter some of this."

Sharon Hogan, assistant regional administrator of communications for eight years at Millhaven, one of Canada's larger maximum security prisons, had never heard of such a money making scheme.

"I can't think of any instances that come to mind. If he is doing it under the guise of business, we would certainly intercept it, because an inmate cannot conduct business while he is incarcerated.

"On the other hand, if he's trying to set up some sort of scam,...if a member of the public was duped, they would have to bring it to our attention and the person would be charged."

Almost every prison official contacted had heard of schemes inmates concocted in order to earn a living from within the walls, but no one had heard of this particular scam which had until recently, reached eipdemic proportions in the U.S. mid west, particularily Indiana and Missouri.

Helene Lessard of Canada's only female penetentiary, the Prison for Women in Kingston, had never heard of it. Nor had authorities at the 500 inmate, medium security complex at Collins Bay.

"I'm quite surprised, most intrigued. It's not a common thing," says James MacLotchie of the John Howard Society. "I don't think people are writing letters anyway, as much as they used to."

Murdoch doubts scams such as these will find their way into Canadian penetentiaries because of the safeguards the penal system has provided.

As well, prisons in this province have an effective liaison with the Ontario Provincial Police who operate a "Pen Squad", which acts as voice to the police community assigned to investigate any crime committed within the province's penal institution.

Canadian prisons have not had to stamp disclaimers on their envelopes. The question is, will this soon come to pass?

IN MEMORIAM

MERKLEY — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Carl Douglas, who died Dec. 16, 1985.
Wishing today as we wished before,
That God could have spared you many years more.
No one knows the grief we share
When we are all together and you're not there.
Life goes on, we know that's true,
But not the same, since we lost you.
Though absent, you are always near,
Still loved, still missed, still very dear.

Sadly missed,
Muriel,
Elaine, Denis and Family,
Lynn, Jim and Family,
Lorraine, Rick and Philip

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear father who passed away Dec. 9, 1985.
He only takes the best.
In tears we saw you thinking.
We watched you fade away.
Our hearts were almost broken.
You fought so hard to stay.
But when we saw you sleeping
So peaceful, free from pain.
We could not wish for you to return to suffer such pain again.

Always remembered by Oscar and Dorothy

IN MEMORIAM

LE CLAIR — In loving memory of our son and brother Gerry who passed away Dec. 13, 1985.
There was no time to say goodbye,
The day you went away,
You left us, oh so suddenly,
Our hearts still ache with sadness,
And silent tears still flow.
What it meant to lose you,
No one will ever know.

Sadly missed by,
Mom and Dad and Family

IN MEMORIAM

GAUTHIER — In loving memory of Janice, our only daughter and sister, and Robby, our only grandson and nephew, whom God called home on Dec. 14, 1986.
You had a smile for everyone,
You had a heart of gold.
You left the sweetest memories
This world could ever hold.
To us you were so special
What more is there to say
Except to wish with all our hearts
That you were here today.

Forever missed and remembered with love,
Glenn, Audrey
and Stephen Dafoe

POLLOCK — In loving memory of Velma Pollock who passed away December 16, 1975.

Dump supervisor's resignation not settled yet

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

MAPLE RIDGE — Winchester Township Road Superintendent, Arden Carruthers wants to get out of the garbage business. But it isn't certain yet how or when his recently submitted resignation as dump superintendent will be accepted.

Carruthers will stay on as the landfill site superintendent at least until he meets with the tri-municipality landfill committee to discuss how the dump on Boyne Road between Chesterville and Winchester should be managed in the future.

Carruthers submitted his resignation as dump supervisor at a council meeting Dec. 4, but was asked by council to stay on until the landfill committee, which is made up of representatives from the councils of Chesterville, Winchester and Winchester Township, decide how to replace him.

Carruthers, who is also a full-time road superintendent, told council that the position of dump supervisor should be a full time job. "It's too big a job for the amount of time that has to be put into it," he said.

He felt he was unable to fulfill his duties as dump supervisor while being the township's road superintendent. The dump supervisor has to ensure a steady supply of soil to cover waste on a daily basis.

And with the township planning to start recycling, the supervisor must learn how to separate recyclable material from trash. "You need to have someone who knows the value of stuff there," he said.

Township Reeve Claude Cousineau agreed the responsibilities of a dump supervisor require the position be a full-time job and he's optimistic the two village's Chesterville and Winchester, will agree to hire a full time supervisor.

He also foresaw the need of more than one dump attendant. "I don't think that down the road that one person is going to be able to look after it," he said.

Carruthers said he was tired of taking criticism for a job that was considered to be part-time. He had been receiving complaints from the Ministry of Environment, council and residents over the way the dump was being managed.

Although his contract as dump supervisor expires in March, 1990, he wants to quit as soon as possible.

Cousineau is hoping Carruthers will stay on as dump supervisor until March to give the landfill committee ample time to come up with a plan for the future management of the landfill site.

Still to be decided is whether the new supervisor is to be a township employee or a contractor, he said.

Cousineau also proposed a shipping fee be introduced for those people who bring waste to the dump without separating recyclable material.

Chesterville Councillor Shirley Coons, who is on the landfill committee, said Friday, that the committee hasn't been convened yet to deal with the matter. The committee doesn't meet on a regular basis and is called together only when landfill site related problems need to be dealth with, she said.

Coons suggested that when the dump attendant's contract comes up for renewal it should be expanded to include all the work that is done at the dump. The dump attendant should be able to supervise himself, she said.

Council votes to keep options open on LCBO agency store

OSNABRUCK CENTRE — Osnabruck Township Council has rejected a request by a Liquor Control Board of Ontario Union member to take a stand against agency liquor stores.

Allen Hubley was at council last Tuesday night requesting Osnabruck Council not opt for an agency liquor store in the village of Ingleside if given the option by the LLBO.

The village has a seasonal liquor store located in a trailer at the west end of the village's mall. Hubley told council if it wants to upgrade LCBO services, it should settle for nothing less than a full-fledged LCBO outlet.

The LCBO created two agency stores in the area, one in Finch and one in Crysler this year, as part of trial plan to expand services to rural areas. The stores are located in an existing business and operated by the store employees.

The LCBO says the stores are improving service for its customers. But the LCBO union maintains the stores provide poorer service while at the same time saving the liquor board money.

Hubley said while full-fledged LLBO outlets stock between 300 and 2,000 brands of liquor, agency stores only stock 30 to 50 brands. Agency stores also usually have less room for liquor products and the employees aren't as qualified to handle situations such as how to deal with a drunken customer or a minor wanting liquor.

"It (full outlets) is a lot better than the direction they're moving to," he said in a phone interview last week. "The agency service is the bare minimum."

But Osnabruck Deputy Reeve Carson Elliott disagrees. "I know the agency stores are more popular," he said last week. And council would prefer an agency store if it could have one year-round, he said.

There already is significant interest in the agency store concept in the township. Three businesses in Ingleside and one in Newington have already written the liquor board asking for an agency store, Elliott said.

Ultimately, it will be the LCBO which will decide if Ingleside should get an agency liquor outlet. It isn't up to council to decide if it should get an agency store, he said.

But Hubley said the union isn't quite ready to take no for an answer on the agency stores. It wants to find out from village residents if they are in favor of an agency store, he said.

The union will follow up its recent request with the distribution of leaflets to village residents providing information on agency stores. After the leaflets are distributed, petitions will be sent out asking residents support a full liquor outlet.

Hubley said the union has canvassed 60 municipal councils so far and about 80 per cent of them have lent support to the union position. "I think we're going two for three or better in favor," he said.

Holstein club gets briefing on new rules on obtaining pedigrees for grey cows

AVONMORE — Stormont Holstein Club farmers were briefed Thursday on the new regulations governing the process that allows grey cows to become purebred Holsteins through interbreeding over a shorter period of time.

Murray Howse, the first vice-president of the Ontario Holsteins Club told local members at the Avonmore Community Hall, how the changes, going into effect next month across Canada, would work.

According to Bill Van Loon, a club spokesman, the changes will enable owners to get certification for the offspring of grey cows, also known as nip cows, who are crossed with purebred Holsteins.

As long as the calves are at least 50 per cent purebred they will get a pedigree stating their origin. Under the old rules, the calves of grey cows could only be classified as purebred after five generations of interbreeding.

The change in regulations will also reduce the fees for pedigrees from $100 to $10, Van Loon said.

The changes were made in part to keep track of grey cows that are being interbred with Holstein cows and how well they are bred. "It will still take four or five generations before they become purebred," he said.

Under the previous regulations farmers wishing to interbreed their grey cows with Holsteins had to wait for about 10 to 15 years, the passing of about five generations before their cows were recognized as Holsteins.

Now farmers can have their calves recognized purebred after one cross breeding if their calf is actually 50 per cent purebred.

The changes will allow many grey cows to qualify as purebred Holsteins, but Van Loon stressed the continued importance of keeping the regulations governing pedigrees stringent. "I still think you have to keep a very tight control or otherwise you are going to weaken the purebred," he said.

The Holstein club meeting was also its annual meeting and several changes were made to the club's executive. Larry Jackson, of Monkland, was elected president, while Elaine Legault, of Moose Creek was elected first vice-president and Peter Beaudette, of St. Andrews, was elected second vice-president.

The board of directors is also getting five new faces for 1990. They are Hans Uhr, of Crysler, Glen McKay of Moose Creek, John Morrow of Maxville, Ralph Boer, of St. Andrews and Frank Hakvoort of Avonore. There are so directors in all.

Finch parade

Cold weather Saturday didn't dampen the spirits for those taking part in the annual Finch Santa Claus parade. Crowds along the route were treated to a large variety of floats which wound their way around the village, ending up at the Finch arena. Pictured clockwise, from top left, two young participants hide behind the protection of a stuffed bear; a gifted woman walked the parade route; a woman and float companion rock along parade route; the Lions were ferociously throwing away candy; and an ethnic Christmas was highlighted on one float.

Finch couple is named 1989 Farmer of the Year

Yves Cossette
Record Staff

The Stormont Soil and Crop Association presented Mary and Bill Van Loon of Finch with the Farmer of the Year Award at their annual meeting in Avonmore, Dec. 6. Presenting the award is Bert Beaudette, (left) last year's winner, to Van Loon.

AVONMORE — For a man who is highly visible in almost every Stormont County Farm organization, it was still a surprise when he and his wife were named farmer of the year by the Stormont Soil and Crop Association last week.

"I'm just a little bit stunned. It was a complete surprise to me," Bill Van Loon told association members when he received the award last Thursday at a meeting.

His wife, Mary, who was the co-recipient of the award wasn't present at the meeting and had no idea the Van Loons would get the award. And although his wife wasn't there Van Loon refused to take full credit for the award. "I give her just as much credit as myself," he said.

The Van Loons own and operate a 320 hectare (800 acre) farm west of Finch on Highway 43 where they milk 35 Holstein cows, market hogs and produce 200 hectares (500 acres) of cash crops, mostly corn and wheat.

Farming in Stormont County now for ten years, Bill Van Loon has been key player in all the farm organizations he belongs to. He served as a director for the Stormont Soil and Crop Association for six years from 1982 to 1988 and was an Eastern Ontario director for the Soil and Crop Association for four years.

Van Loon is also active in the Stormont Milk Committee where he is a past chairman. He gave up the post last year because he wanted to see someone else be chairman.

Both Van Loon and his wife are members of the Stormont Agricultural Society and they both serve as directors.

His active role in all the local farm organizations stems from his belief that the only way to get things done is to get involved. "If you want something solved, go to a meeting and get yourself heard," he said.

And Van Loon is one of those people who likes to be heard. "Somebody's got to do it. Wherever I am I like to get involved," he said.

Born in the Netherlands, Van Loon is a native of the Dutch province of North-Brabant. When he was 13-years-old, he came to Canada with his family. His father was a dairy farmer.

In 1960, he married his wife Mary and together they started farming in the Maxville area. Ten years ago they sold that farm and relocated to Finch and bought a farm there.

In addition to their role in Stormont farm organizations the Van Loons are also active in the village of Finch. They have been members of the St. Bernard's Parish council for the past five years.

Language apartheid

The Prescott-Russell Separate School Board can consider itself the proud creator of a form of language apartheid, not unsimilar to the racial apartheid now being practised in South Africa.

The decision by school board trustees to disallow two English schools to participate in extra-curricular activities with the board's 26 French language schools is a regressive move, a step back towards the stone age.

And what makes the action stick out even more is that it has happened at a time when the goals of freedom, liberation and democracy and fairness are being realized in even the most oppressive countries in Eastern Europe.

How can Canadians condemn the Soviets, East Germans, the Czechs and South Africa for violations of civil rights, when a similar type of thing is happening here in our own country?

By disallowing English students to participate in activities with French students, the Prescott-Russell board is exercising a form of language apartheid, segregating two groups along language lines.

And by making such a move, the board is simply adding fuel to the anti-bilingualism fire which has steadily picked up steam since the provincial election in 1986.

The move is not as flagrant as human right violations under the South African apartheid government where racial segregation -- the segregration of blacks and whites -- is practised and strictly enforced by the government. But it is cause for concern.

It is decisions like the one made by the Prescott-Russell board which give fuel to right-wing English rights groups who can then say their negative prophecies about the effect of the province's bilingualism policy is coming true.

The board should seriously consider reversing its decision. It may think its making history for its French students, but it is making a much darker future for English-French relations, at least it its two counties.

Big brother

Those who think our neighbors south of the border don't really care what us Northerners think of happenings below the border must not have read Saturday's edition of The Ottawa Citizen.

In the classified section of the paper was an ad offering a chance for a prospective employee to play "Big Brother", keeping an eye on Canadians for our friendly giant south of the border.

The job entails "dissemination and articulation of U.S. foreign policy to the media and public: monitoring editorial views regarding U.S. government policies and bilateral issues", among other things.

People applying for the job must also draft press releases, media reaction reports "and other correspondence planning press activities" (such as annual Christmas parties, etc.) It's incredible how the U.S. government looks after us Northerners, especially those in the media.

If anyone doesn't think the U.S. is interested in what goes on north of the border, they are very mistaken.

Maybe our own Prime Minister Brian Mulroney should apply for the job. He has managed to pull the wool over the eyes of many Canadians, including the issue of free trade, an issue which, coincidentally, involves the U.S.

If he can't sell U.S. government propaganda to Canadians, then no one can. Then again, who really needs it?

From Chesterville's Past

09 From the Record Dec. 16, 1909

A distinct earthquake, which lasted five seconds was felt all over Ottawa city and district Friday morning. It began at 1:24. Windows were rattled, beds shaken, and particularly in the southern part of the city the shock was severe. Dr. Klotz of the Dominion Observatory said this morning that the oscillation was one-three-hundredth of an inch of the earth's particles, and moved in easterly-westerly and northerly-southerly directions. He said it was due to the readjustment of the strains in the earth's crust and took place along the weak line. Many people have also felt the shock.

The Annual Christmas entertainment of the Morewood Methodist S.S. will be held on Monday evening, Dec. 27th. Mrs. Rev. Ernest Thomas, who gave such excellent satisfaction a year ago, will provide most of the literary part this year again, and Mrs. Laura Kerr of Morrisburg will assist in the musical program. An unusually good time is expected.

The pupils of S.S. No. 18 Winchester (The Boyne) assisted by local talent will hold their Closing Entertainment in the schoolhouse Thursday evening, December the 23. A good program consisting of choruses, dialogues, recitations, etc. will be rendered. Everybody welcome. Admission 15 cents.

69 From the Record Dec. 13, 1969

The new Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Separate School Board got off to a curious but definite start Monday. At Williamsburg, deputy returning officer Reginald Gagne convened the inaugural meeting presided over the swearing in of recently elected trustees, watched over the election of new chairman, Lindey Latour and vice-chairman Patrick Beavers, then recessed the meeting. The new school board announced a survey will be made to determine the precies needs of all schools in the system with a view to equalizing opportunity for all tri-county students.

This week the Chesterville Public School board met for the last official meeting of its lifetime. Starting the new year, the system disappears and a regional board will take over. School board chairman Lorne Thompson will still be in the thick of things as he is the elected representative from this ward on the new board.

Preparations are hurrying along to welcome Santa Claus to Chesterville on Saturday. He will be on the street in the parade at 2pm and hundreds will be on hand to roar a welcome. The latest word is that he will make it easily regardless of the weather. Chamber of Commerce president Paul Monast reports the parade is shaping up nicely under the master hand of parade master Bert Gillard.

For the first time in its history, Chesterville's Santa Claus Parade has been postponed because of bad weather. The parade was to have been held at 2pm last Saturday, but winds busting the 100km per hour forced its postponement to this Saturday. It will leave Brookside Gardens at 11am and Santa will greet village and area children in the community hall shortly after 12.

Imagining the equality of women

For the Record

Yves Cossette

One of the world's great pop icons met his untimely end nine years ago Dec. 8 when John Lennon was shot by Mark David Chapman outside his New York City home.

Hailed as a genius by admirers around the world and as a demagogue by others, the former Beatle was known for the controversy that followed him whether it was his "bed-in" tour of the world with his wife Yoko Ono promoting world peace in the late sixties or his widely publicized addiction to heroin in the mid-seventies.

Part of the prolific song writing duo of McCartney-Lennon and later by himself, Lennon used his songs and public status to confront and question conventional wisdom on the way we, as a people addressed social and moral issues.

Whether his viewpoints were right or wrong is not the question. There are many who would argue his crusade for peace was idealistic, unrealistic or simply a threat to the status quo. But right or wrong he provoked debate. People talked about him and discussed his ideas and they still do. Everything about him was public.

If there was something Lennon understood it was how important debate was to a democratic and open society. The free flow of ideas is what keeps people, societies, from growing stale, or stagnant.

However, North Americans are all to frequently afraid to debate issues in government or at the grassroots level for fear of upsetting the status quo, the safe haven of familiarity.

The Nixon administration had the FBI spy on Lennon in the early 1970s because the U.S. government considered Lennon's peace crusade to be a threat to the conventional wisdom that nuclear terror and the Cold War were a secure way of keeping world peace.

Ironically, it is the East Europeans, suppressed by dictatorship for 40 years, who are altering that status quo at a revolutionary pace. They are freely discussing change without having any idea where it will take them, because they know things can't stay the same. Any fears of upsetting the status quo are crushed by the momentum they've gained.

Canadians should follow the example of the East Europeans and start seriously debating our society's resistance to changing our attitudes towards women.

Ours is a society where one-in-every-ten married women is physically abused by her husband. Ours is a society where rape is still not taken seriously; where the victim is all too often portrayed as the culprit. Ours is a society where women still do not get the same professional opportunities as men.

We live in a country where too many men with the acquiesence of some women still feel the male should dominate. It was all too evident in Mark Lepine's rampage last week at L'Universite de Montreal when he shot and killed 14 young women.

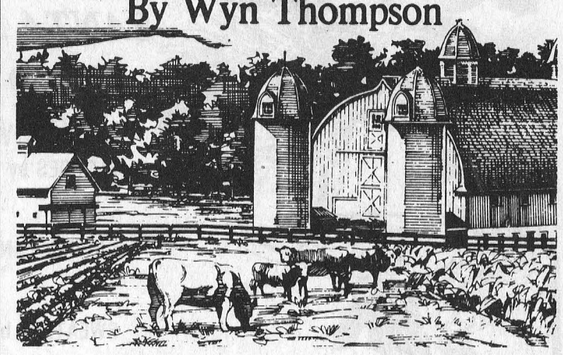
Why exactly there is such a reluctance to change our attitudes towards women is anyone's guess. It has something to do with maintaining the status quo. Maybe it's simply because male dominance is threatened or the perception that traditional family values are threatened should women succeed in their quest for equality.

The reluctance to change is even evident in Canada's smallest communities where women still frequently choose to deny their individuality when they enter marriage by giving up their identity by taking their husband's given name and surname to become Mrs. John Doe.

The tragedy in Montreal, though, makes it imperative for Canadians to take up the challenge, like Lennon did, when he challenged the status quo, to "imagine" a Canada where women's equality is accepted and respected in practice.

The Farmer's Wife

By Wyn Thompson



A cold, steady wind whistles over the hill and around and about Hill House, causing the rooster weather vane on the roof to creak and moan. Our black dog, Lady, curled comfortably on the seat of a soft rocker has the right idea.

Such a cold, blustery day prompts me to pay attention to matters about the home: planning measures, wrapping the last of the presents, filling the big country baskets with greens, and placing the treasured cloth on the dining table, then adding the Christmas candles.

Taking a break in my rocking chair and shamelessly admiring my morning's work, I recall how much time we spend in the kitchen, especially during the Yuletide month.

A male friend of ours, who since retirement has become engrossed in the culinary arts, says that when it is rich with the aroma of roasting fowl or the enticing smell of freshly baked sweet treats, his kitchen draws people just like a powerful magnet.

Because the kitchen is his favourite spot, many of his Christmas gifts are kitchen-oriented. And while enjoying the pleasure of rocking, I recall some of his gift ideas and kitchen projects.

First, I recall with what pleasure he haunts antique stores and kitchen shops always on the lookout for kitchen gifts. A bean pot picked up at a flea market becomes a lovely gift when filled with a couple of packages of assorted dried beans and a favourite bean recipe.

His painted fruit baskets need only a bow to become a handy present and they are particularly nice when filled with samples of his homemade jellies, relishes, and other specialities from his pantry.

Amanda, Sam's wife, always delights me with some of her home-grown produce; this year I am secretly hoping for a braided string of garlic. Another friend never fails to appear at mealtime during the Yuletide month with a warm pan of buns and a little crock of whipped butter in hand.

One of the greatest satisfaction is to share what you have been given, and, for us, sharing Christmas with the grandchildren brings a special joy. I have a room, a tiny room, in Hill House which I absentmindedly termed the Christmas Room when the first grandchild was quite young.

This room over the years, for that grandchild is now 16 years old, has taken on a Yuletide magic far beyond my wildest imaginings when I so carelessly designated it. This essence of mystery has been handed down carefully from one grandchild to another grandchild.

Today I recall a Dutch friend I worked with, more years ago than I care to remember, and of how she introduced me to "Black Peter" who checked on each child to see if he had been bad or good.

Some other traditions she recalled for me. It seems in years gone by, at midnight on Christmas Eve in Holland the young men of towns and villages gathered in the principal square. They chose one of their members as "star-bearer" and started a winding procession which paraded through the community.

The star-breaker held aloft a large, star-shaped lantern, lighted with many candles and mounted on a pole. This signified the Star of Bethlehem. The others, some dressed in fantastic costumes, followed along behind, singing the Gloria and collecting donations from the spectators.

This money was turned over to the town at the end of the parade while the star-breaker and company were provided with a festive dinner. The money was used to make Christmas brighter for those who needed a lift of the spirit.

St. Nicholas also came on Christmas Eve. He questioned each child closely and then poured a shower of candy on the floor. While the children were scrambling for the sweet treats, St. Nicholas disappeared.

But the next morning the children would find the wooden shoes they had left on the table or hearth filled with gifts, proof that their patron saint had not forgotten them.

Then, on Christmas Day, she would laugh remembering, the young and old would go to the canals to spend the day on the ice. It was traditional, she said, to visit friends and neighbours by skating to them. It is from this old Dutch custom that has come our traditional visiting of friends on Christmas afternoon.

This friend I can no longer visit with, but I remember her fondly as each Christmas draws near.

From Swiss friends we heard of the following Christmas activities which brighten their Yule season. As the people of Switzerland are a mixture of Italian, French, Austrian, and German, so are their Christmas customs.

Picture the snow-swept valleys dazzling white under a bright sun. Majestic peaks rise on every side, and evergreen forests are silhouetted blue-black against the sparkling snow. This is the wonderland of Bilten, Kt Glarus, where our friends live and this is the story they have related to us.

Father Christmas, his jovial red face and white beard framed by a long-furred robe, appears in the Alpine villages on Christmas Eve. He marches up and down the streets in the company of his wife, Lucy, who wears a round cap over her long plaits of hair, a smart lace bodice, and a silk apron. She gives gifts to the girls; he gives presents to the boys.

For the Swiss children, the joys of Christmas last much longer than they do in most countries. The children place one shoe outside their door for two Saturdays preceding Christmas and find them filled with candy and walnuts if they have been good. And, of course, with the dawning of Christmas, find their trees loaded with presents.

Yes, regardless of where you live, Christmas is a magical, busy time. In our joyful activities let us not overlook the little pleasures that surround us; the sound of church bells, wreaths hung on house doors, or the tree in the village square.

We can take time to notice the artistry of ice on a pond, a flock of snowbirds, or the tracks of partridge on the lawn. And during this Yuletide season, while delivering your gifts, if you come upon a snowman wearing an old tweed cap, and red-plaid muffler, take time to smile, and bow, and say "Merry Christmas!"

Young blood is shed for Red Cross

NDDHS students give blood to regain trophy

MAPLE RIDGE — A lot of blood was shed Dec. 1 as North Dundas District High School successfully fought to wrest the Corpuscle Cup away from the defending champs; Seaway District High School.

Despite the bloodshed, casualties were light, although a few of the donors felt a little weak after giving up 450 millilitres of their blood.

The real winners, however, are the eventual recipients of the blood that was donated by students at NDDHS Friday, Dec. 1.

Of the 110 students who donated blood, 73 were NDDHS students, said NDDHS teacher Carl Ward. All students aged 17 or older were eligible to give blood and the 73 that did represented half of the over-17 student body. There are 148 students 17 or older at NDDHS.

The heavy turnout by the local students ensured the Corpuscle Cup belonged to NDDHS. Last April, Seaway won the cup by a narrow margin.

The twice yearly competition was started in 1981 as an incentive to get students over the age of 17 to give blood. 'The kids like to compete. We're very pleased with the results," said Ward.

Many of the North Dundas students donating blood felt the competition was only a secondary reason for giving blood.

Valerie Shaver, a Grade 12 student, agreed the competition was a good incentive, but it wasn't the main reason why she gave blood. "I think it's a good opportunity to help somebody else and if I could do it, why not."

Shaver was giving blood for the first time and found the experience a little unpleasant, but that didn't deter her. "You shouldn't just sit back and expect other people to do it," she said.

Another Grade 12 student, Martha Link had a personal motive in mind when she gave blood. Her mother and her sister had to have blood transfusions, so the importance of blood donorship had special meaning for Link. "I think it's good because I'm giving to other people."

Last Thursday's blood donor clinic and competition had been promoted heavily in advance by Ward and the school's student head girl and head boy

Captured corpuscle
North Dundas District High School regained the Corpuscle Cup Dec. 1 with about 40 more students donating blood than from rival Seaway District High School. Pictured above, with the coveted trophy are Chris Van Bridger, NDDHS head boy, and Jenny Sommerhalder, NDDHS head girl. The school holds the competition twice annually to encourage students to donate blood to the Red Cross.

Area man is homeless after early morning fire destroys mobile home

Yves Cossette

CHESTERVILLE — An area man is homeless after an electric heater sparked a fire which destroyed his mobile home south of Chesterville early Wednesday morning Dec. 6.

Despite efforts by the Chesterville and Morewood fire departments to put out the blaze, the home and its contents, worth an estimated $20,000, could not be saved, said Chesterville Fire Chief Ross Casselman.

The trailer, which was owned by Garnet McCooeye, was uninsured. It was one of three located on property owned by Chesterville contractor Jim Sullivan at the corner of County Road 7 and County Road 8.

The exact cause of the fire was difficult to determine, but Casselman thinks it originated from an electrical heater which was near flamable material. "It was hard to tell. Everything was burned pretty bad," he said.

The fire department was called to the fire at 4:20 a.m. last Wednesday and spent an hour putting out the fire. Their efforts were hampered when a water truck from the Morewood Fire Department was held up for about two to three minutes by a train at the railway crossing in Chesterville.

But Casselman said the delay didn't make a difference. The trailer was already beyond saving before fire department was on its way. "We could see the flames from the fire hall before we left," he said.

According to Casselman it took Chesterville firefighters four to five minutes to respond to the fire. But with trailer fires it is usually difficult to save anything.

Casselman considered mobile homes dangerous in event of a fire. "These trailers go like a book of matches once they get started. They're only a thin shell," he said.

News of the fire and that McCooeye's home was uninsured travelled fast. People were offering help and donating things to McCooeye on the day following the fire, according to Sullivan.

He estimated the trailer to be worth about $6,000 without its contents. "I didn't realize he hadn't any insurance, otherwise I would have badgered him (to purchase some)," he said.

McCooeye recently bought the trailer from Sullivan. It was insured up until that point, he said.

Sullivan and McCooeye spent Friday cleaning up the ruins and took the remains of the home to the Boyne Road dump. McCooeye is staying with friends in the Chesterville area for the moment and Sullivan has offered to let McCooeye use one of his mobile homes until he is able to make some other arrangements, he said.

Local Junior C hockey league embroiled in controversy

Mark Brennae
Sports Editor

Tom Van Dellen has quit his position as Executive Council representative to the EOJCHL for the Chesterville Flyers because of the league's refusal to hear a protest he had filed over the eligibility of two players.

"I'm flabbergasted," said Van Dellen, in a telephone interview last Thursday.

"I've just gotten so depressed, so fed up, that was it...I tried my best."

The protest had to do with the league's apparent approval of two players, Charles Cusson of the Casselman-Cambridge Stars and Mike Valiquette of the St. Isidore Eagles, as being eligible to play in the Junior C loop.

Van Dellen was one of several council members to express his concern two weeks ago that approval was granted for the players without proper procedure being followed.

According to the Chesterville representative, "decisions were made at both meetings that could not be made according to the constitution of the Eastern Ontario Junior C Hockey League."

Van Dellen contends that on Nov. 26 a league general meeting was held in Embrun at which time Charles Cusson, by a vote of 8-4, was allowed to join the Casselman team, even though he is not eligible by the league constitution to play, because of his status as a B carded player.

Not only does Van Dellen feel such a decision can only be made at an executive council meeting, which is closed to the public, but asserts that the presence of Cusson's father at the meeting, might have influenced the voting because of his position as a judge.

"There was some sort of intimidation taking place, maybe prior to the meeting," concurred North Stormont representative Kevin Mackler.

Furthermore, contends Van Dellen, a vote, with the mandatory two-thirds approval, was never taken. "There was no vote. I know for sure," an emphatic Van Dellen told the Record.

"There was never a vote," agreed Mackler. "There was never a confirmation on this kid from St. Isidore."

Chalres Lavictoire, coach of the Clarence Beavers not only agreed there was never a vote taken, but hinted league president Bob Clark had been pressured to allow Cusson to play.

"He had no real choice, and to see that the kid's father is a judge...he would have sued the league."

Complicating matters further is Van Dellen's contention that minutes of the first meeting were never taken. It is at this point and only at this point where Van Dellen and Kevin Mackler disagree.

Mackler claims the league president Bob Clark assigned the task of taking the minutes to Denis Gregoire.

Gregoire says he took private notes, but they were not elaborate. He believes Clark has them, but that there is no mention of the vote on Valiquette.

"There was some kind of conspiracy.....I hate to say it, but I believe by our President."

Kevin Mackler
Executive Council
North Stormont 86ers

Casselman Star's Charles Cusson, shown here in a game Nov. 6 against the Flyers, in which he scored three goals and assisted on three others. Cusson is one of two players whose eligibility in the EOJCHL is being questioned by Chesterville executive representative Tom Van Dellen. Van Dellen resigned last week over the controversy.

The problem, according to both men, began at a meeting in mid-October at which time a third player, Rockland forward Martin Amyot, was allowed to rejoin his club after a short stint in Junior B.

On Nov. 26, both men contend, the league president announced that the league had to allow Charles Cusson to play for Casselman on the basis that Valiquette had been given the go-ahead. If Cusson was not given similar consideration, the league could be opening itself up to a lawsuit based on discrimination.

Mackler insists a fix is on.

"I don't know what took place. There was some kind of conspiracy, let's say, at this (the first) meeting brewed up. Number one, I hate to say this, but I believe by our president."

Mackler insists he overheard a conversation that he was perhaps not supposed to hear.

"During table conservation, Gaetan Lalonde, the manager of St. Isidore, says to Bob Clark, 'you know that player you and I talked about there?' Bob Clark says 'yeah, no problem that's okay'."

The rule in question states that no Junior A player is permitted to play in the league unless he played previously in the league, or graduated from the local minor hockey association.

The rule is in place in order that the league not become competitive to a point where there is no place for a player with Junior C level skills to play.

The existence of the league depends on the ability of the league to provide it with Junior C players.

Ron McRostie, Russell's representative, says the point is moot. He contends that he doesn't want to see the league watered down, but by the same token, suggests the players in question are not of the gamebreaking variety.

In short, so what?

"The one kid, Cusson, that they brought up, he was carded as a Junior A for a year and a half, but virtually never played... he tried out with three Junior B teams and didn't even make them. So he couldn't have been a quality Junior A player, so I can't see him as any threat."

A check by The Record indicates Cusson played three seasons with the CJHL's Brockville and was cut at the beginning of this season.

Valiquette also played Junior A, but rode the bench before coming to St. Isidore. Amyot played last year with the EOJBHL Brockville Tikis.

The point, say Mackler and Van Dellen, is that the door is now open to all teams to stock up on A and B carded players.

Clark has said any team doing so would first have to present its case at an executive meeting. If the possibility of a discrimination law suit is all the league is worried about, the league would virtually be forced to accept any players, the two dissenting team reps say.

McRosite doesn't see this as a problem.

"If I could get a Junior A player to come down, and it was legal, and if he had played his minor hockey in Russell, then it's legal, but is the guy going to come. Seriously, is the guy going to come from Junior A to C? That's a little embarrassing."

Embarrassing is what the whole situation is. And what does the league president say?

Bob Clark says he cancelled Van Dellen's protest because a week had gone by before the protest was filed and the deadline for filing is 48 hours. Van Dellen claims to have informed Clark in time that he would not be able to officially file the protest for a few days, and says that was acceptable to Clark, but the president tells it differently.

Attempts to clear the matter up by league legal representative Heidi Sprung have proven fruitless. Sprung, an Ottawa lawyer, has failed to return calls placed to her office for the past three weeks.

"I'm flabbergasted...I've just gotten so depressed, so fed up, that was it."

Tom Van Dellen
former Executive Council
Chesterville Flyers

"He did not approach me for a protest. In any event, even if he had, it has to be in writing within 48 hours...as soon as I would walk in through the door with a meeting where the protest was not within 48 hours, they would just slap my wrist and that's it."

As for Cusson's father being present at the meeting, Clark insists he was there only as observer, and did not intimidate any of the voters.

When asked if decisions of this kind can be made at general meetings, Clark assured, "Everything went according to the constitution. I will tell you... according to the constitution, a general meeting, or an executive council meeting or whatever, has the right."

Stay tuned.

Van Dellen 'shortchanged'

Flyers coach Kirk Anderson feels Tom Van Dellen was shortchanged by the league, in his bid to overturn a ruling on the eligibility of two EOJCHL players.

"It's a shame, just a big shame," said Anderson, when told of Van Dellen's decision to quit his post as executive director of the Chesterville's hockey club.

"He put a lot into our team, attending meetings, and was a director at large. I don't blame him one bit."

Van Dellen's frustration stems from League President Bob Clark's decision to overrule a launched protest which was filed on behalf of the Flyers by Van Dellen, who felt voting procedures were not properly followed.

Anderson says the league might be in jeopardy of losing its local content. He feels the recent ruling, allowing Junior A players Charles Cusson and Mike Valiquette to play may start a trend whereby to compete, all teams will be forced to bring in outside talent and Anderson feels "this could lead to a division of the league."

Anderson, agrees with Van Dellen and Kevin Mackler of the North Stormont 86ers in his assertions that bending the rules for some creates problems for others, especially the weak sisters of the league, such as Chesterville, North Stormont and Clarence. He feels the recent ruling, allowing Junior A players should either put a quota on the number of Junior A players eligible to play, or open up eligibility completely.

"We'll play by the rules. Let me know what the rules are."

Late goal gives 86ers 3-3 tie

Jason Flanagan's goal late in the second period gave North Stormont 86ers a 3-3 tie with Casselman, in an EOJCHL game last Thursday in Finch.

Flanagan's goal, set up by Dave Lavergne and Kenny Konink, came as all three North Stormont goals did, with the 86ers enjoying a man advantage.

Casselman took a 1-0 lead on a powerplay goal of their own. With Dave Leroux off for high-sticking, Star captain Martin Hughes beat Richard Gauthier in the 86ers goal.

The Stars went up by two three minutes later, on Denis Boulerice's score. On that goal, Charles Cusson, a centre of some controversy this week, recorded an assist.

There had been some question as to the eligibility of Cusson, as well as St. Isidore's Mike Valiquette; an issue that was buried by the league's brass.

North Stormont came up with two quick goals just under two minutes apart, to tie the game.

Kevin Villeneuve beat Casselman netminder Mario Larouche at 5:44 for a powerplay marker which put the 86ers on the board.

Eighty-four seconds later, with Matthieu Berthiaume sitting out a slashing penalty, Roch Benoit pulled North Stormont even, with assists going to Mike Stewart and Bobby MacLeod.

Casselman jumped ahead in the second period when Brent Leclair scored at 17:29, but Flanagan's goal at 2:17, enabled the 86ers to register their third tie of the campaign.

With the draw, North Stormont moves into a sixth place tie with Clarence. Both teams have nine points, however, the Beavers have played one game fewer.

Flyers' defence rests despite 11-6 victory

Mark Brennae
Sports Editor

After letting in 10 goals against Rockland last Sunday, one would presume that improving his defence would have to be the top priority for Kirk Anderson and his Chesterville Flyers.

If Monday night was an indication of how the Flyers play when defence is a priority, one could only wonder what kind of budget cuts Anderson would make if he were a finance minister. Can you say 'Double digit GST'?

I knew you could.

Monday night, against the leagues worst offensive team, the Russell Lions, Captain Kirk's crew still managed to allow six goals. Fortunately, Ken and Kevin Byers, and Tom Reno, fresh from a year's hiatus south of the border, had their scoring touches, combining for nine of the Flyers 11 goals in an ugly 11-6 win.

Reno and Ken Byers each scored three times, and Ken's brother Kevin, twice to lead Chesterville, now 6-10-0.

Going into the game, Russell, 2-14-0 had allowed the opposition 153 goals, while scoring just 52 of their own. Chesterville had scored 79 times, while allowing the opposition 104.

Kevin Byers put Chesterville into flight just six seconds into the game, when he beat Jeff Tremblay in the Russell goal; a sign of things to come.

"From six seconds in, I knew the game would not be in doubt," said the coach. who then decided to abandon a newly implemented defensive system in order to "shake things up."

The Flyers built up a six goal on goals from Ken Byers, who had three, Reno, and Ray Sherrer, before Russell replied to make it 6-1.

"Up until they scored the goal, I was trying to keep the goals against down," said the Flyers coach, "but after the goal, I thought I'd take a look at a different combination."

That different combination included centres and wingers playing the blueline position. "I was just mixing and matching. I didn't really care. We got the two points, that's what we watned."

The Flyers scored four in the first, four more in the second, and three in the third period to provide themselves a cushion.

The Lions, who are struggling through a rebuilding year played the game with only 14 players. Missing were defencemen Shawn Audette and Dean Prevonick and forwards Luc Groulx and Scott Allen. All four missed the games in order to study for exams. Defenceman Glen Steele also missed the game with a broken collar bone.

The Lions did well despite the shortage of skaters, scoring three goals in the second and third periods.

Other Flyer marksmen were Kevin Byers, with his second, and Shawn Taggart, as well as Reno, with his second, third and fourth goals.

FLYER FACTS

...Marc Saucier played the first two periods in goal, stopping 14 of 17 shots, before giving way to Ben Henry in the third period. Henry stopped 12 of 15 shots directed his way.

...Flyers were outshot 32-23.

...Scott Gibson made his debut in a flyer uniform last night (no points, one minor slashing penalty)...he is defenceman, who played Junior B in Winchester last year. Anderson feels the 19-year-old will bring to the team some "added toughness."

...Scott Bell, Ray Sherrer, Dan Dubois and Chris Leblanc are the Flyer representatives for Dec. 27's All Star game.

Team One wins big

Team One unleashed a powerful offensive attack to not just win, but totally dominate two Intermediate Novice House League hockey games last week.

Last Thursday, Team Three took it on the chin, as One ko'd Three 9-2. Team Five didn't fair much better against One on Saturday, as they were thrashed 8-2.

Thursday, Joey Hillis scored five goals to lead One over Three. Rory Moriarty tallied twice in a losing cause for Three. Hillis scored twice in the first, once in the second, when One registered three goals, and twice in the third, when One scored four times.

Also scoring for One were, Tiffany Holmes, Jonathon Chambers, Marty Link and Jordan Dale Hill.

Saturday, Chambers scored three goals, and Matthew Carkner and Hillis chipped in with two apiece as One felled Five 8-2.

Carkner staked One to the early led on a goal at 13:15. The score remained 1-0 until the 5:40 mark, when Chambers completed a passing play with Carkner and Julian Whittam to put One up by two. Chambers second tally, at 14:15, was the first of four One would score in the second period.

Less than two minutes later it was 4-0 on Hillis' first score. After Chambers completed the hat trick to make it 5-0, John Pringle finally got Five on the board at 2:20, to make it 5-1. One's five goal lead was restored 55 seconds later on a goal from Micheal Allen which closed out the scoring in the period.

In the final frame, Five's Tyler Shortt tallied at the 10:30 mark, but One replied with goals from Hillis and Carkner.

Van Kessell leads Midgets

Gerry VanKessell scored three times and Brad Robinson tallied twice as the North Dundas Midget B Demons won one game, and lost another in UCMHL play last week.

VanKessell provided all the offence in a 3-2 win over South Grenville last Thursday, but Robinson's pair was scored in a 6-4 defeat to Kemptville the following night.

Thursday, VanKessel scored a goal in each period, including the game-winner late in the final frame, to pull out the win.

Goaltender Brad Pringle had his opposition shut out until the 12:53 mark of the final period, when Steve Lawrence scored to cut the 2-0 lead provided by VanKessell, to one.

The score was tied at 6:57, when Lawrence set up Jim Doris, but VanKessell's third of the game, with three and a half minutes remaining, turned out to be the difference.

The following evening, T. Robinson scored three times and set up another to help Kemptville conquer the Demons.

Kemptville took a 3-2 lead to the dressing room on goals from K. Callaghan, K. Thompson, and Robinson's first of the night.

Replying for North Dundas were Troy Helman and Brad Robinson, just 46 seconds apart.

Robinson scored the only goal in the second period, tying the game at three.

North Dundas took a short-lived lead in the third on VanKessell's first of the night, but Kemptville replied with three goals in the last four minutes to take the contest.

Peck 'n' Bec lead Coors Lite

Randy Peck and Bec Macdonald each scored twice to propel Coors Lite to a 6-1 victory over St. Albert in one of three Embrun Broomball League games played last Thursday.

In other action, Independent Radiator defeated Embrun Black Hawks 3-1, and Embrun Plumbing ditched Dunbar 8-1.

Lite 6-St. Albert 1

In the early game, Peck and MacDonald gave Lite a 2-0 lead after one period with goals five minutes apart.

The third period belonged to Coors Lite, who scored four times, including three goals in the span of 6 minutes and 32 seconds to make the score 5-0. Darrell Campbell put Lite up by six, and with 90 seconds to play, Mario Dion broke Scott Stevenson's shutout bid when he connected on a pass from Pierre Savage.

Also scoring for Lite were Denis Desjardins and Mark Ryan.

Rad 4-Hawks 1

In Thursday evening's second game, Dave Bols scored two goals late in the first period as Independent Radiator beat the Black Hawks 4-1.

Steve Bols scored an unassisted goal to give the Rad a 1-0 lead midway through the opening frame. The Hawks tied it 29 seconds later when Dave Holmes scored at 10:55.

The Rad got that one back and more, when they scored three times in less than three minutes.

Francois Marion put Lite up 2-1 with seven minutes to play in the period, and 73 seconds later, Bols made it 3-1 on passes from Gaetan Simard and Marc Beauregard with the Hawks playing a man short.

Beauregard set up Bols with under four minutes remaining to complete the scoring.

Plumbing 8-Embrun 1

The evenings final game was somewhat more one sided, with Embrun Plumbing running away on Dunbar with an 8-1 trouncing.

Dunbar's only goal came with 49 seconds to play in the opening frame, off the stick of Laurier Blanchard. But, by that point, the Plumbers had already built up a 5-0 lead.

Steve Harps, Archille Pietrantonio and Norm Lemieux each scored twice to lead Plumbing.

Harps' goals came at the 16:19 and 14:24 marks to provide the Plumbers with a quick two goal lead. The lead was extended to three on a goal from Bill Moran, and just over a minute later, at 3:17, Pietrantonio made it 4-0. Lemieux's first of the night made it a five goal lead until Blanchard got Dunbar on track with his last minute tally.

The Plumbers got that one back at 16:50 of the second period on Lemieux's second of the night.

Midway through the period, Norm Bissaillon made it a 7-1 game with an unassisted score.

Demons suffer goal slump

WINCHESTER — North Dundas PeeWee B Demons scored only two goals in two games last week and not surprisingly, lost both encounters.

In an exhibition game played in Winchester Dec. 3, the Demons came up with a pair of second-period goals but the visiting South End Capitals scored once in the first and twice more in the third to edge North Dundas 3-2.

S. Grimes put the Caps ahead at 14:08 of the opening frame but the Demons countered with a pair in the second.

Brian Heuff, at 14:31, and Kyle Marriner, one minute later, scored the Demon goals, but third-period tallies from M. Hibberd and E. Cosgrove gave victory to the Caps.

Last Thursday, the Demons were held scoreless by Metcalfe goalkeeper Pat Jones, who shut out North Dundas by a score of 5-0.

Metcalfe scored two in the first, two in the second, and one more in the third.

The Demons killed off three shorthanded situations, but came up short on three powerplays of their own.

Kemptville takes tourney

CHESTERVILLE — Dave Pilon decided the issue here Sunday in the final minute of play.

The towering Smiths Falls Bears defenceman shattered a scoreless tie between his club and the Kemptville Royals with just 13 seconds left in regulation time. Pilon's goal, set up by Dan McPhee and Jason Mussel, made champions out of the Bears as they completed an undefeated day in the 1989 North Dundas Demons Midget "A" Tournament.

Smiths Falls rolled to a 4-1 win over the Alexandria Glens in their opening round encounter and then blasted the Char-Lan Midget Rebels right out of the competition, 7-2, in the semi-final round.

Their opposition, the Kemptville Royals crowned the South Stormont Flyers 5-2 in their first game and then edged the host North Dundas Nestle Demons 2-1 in an exciting overtime game in the semis.

The Metcalfe Mustangs lost for the first time, in three meetings, to North Dundas in the tournament's first game Sunday morning, 2-1, but regained their stride and ran away with the tournament's consolation title.

Metcalfe nipped the Alexandria Glens 2-1 in the "B" final, getting both goals from Todd Hay, who scored from Darrell Warren and Chris Wynn, to put the Mustangs up 1-0 at 12:40 of the second period and from Warren again in the third period to win it with 5:40 left on the clock. Rusty Vachon surrendered a goal to the Glens' Marc Sequin with 4:36 left in the second frame, but shut down the opposition the rest of the way.

Chris Wynn ruined Bill Zrymiak's shutout in the Mustangs' opening 2-1 loss to North Dundas, scoring with 28 seconds left in the game.

Andrew Henderson had given North Dundas a 1-0 lead, scoring unassisted at 12:40 of period one. Scott Francis then hit from Tony Holmes at 12:45 of period two to make it 2-0, Demons.

Demons' coach, Bernie Harper, said he received a superb all-around effort from the team and noted the great goaltending of Bill Zrymiak and Matt Giles. The win snapped a three-game winning string the Mustangs had going over North Dundas.

Metcafle. under the direction of new coach Gord Reaney then bounced back with a 3-0 win over South Stormont Flyers. Rusty Vachon posted the perfect game while Darrell Warren, Jason Gervais and Darin Lampman netted the goals. That win qualified the Mustangs for their "B" final game with Alexandria.

Alexandria lost their first game 4-1 to Smiths Falls and then eliminated the Carleton Place Kings 4-3 to reach the consolation game.

North Dundas was unable to extend their win string beyond their opening 2-1 win over Metcalfe losing a 2-1 overtime decision to Kemptville in the "A" semi-final game.

Tony Holmes gave North Dundas a 1-0 lead scoring from Tim Casselman with 3:31 left in the first period, but Kemptville tied it up on Pat Poirier's goal at 10:55 of the second stanza and won it when Jason Gundy scored with 2:14 left in overtime.

Coach Harper called the loss in OT a, "heartbreaker. We played great and gained a measure of revenge on the Royals, but penalty trouble signalled the loss."

Bowman leads PeeWee C's

In PeeWee C play, North Dundas No. 1 Demons received a hat trick performance from Clayton Bowman in their 5-2 win over their counterparts from Metcalfe in a game played at Chesterville last Thursday.

Jamie Birtch and Shawn Johnson set up Bowman's first goal, at the 13:41 mark of the period, providing the Demons with an early lead.

Metcalfe tied the contest late in the period on a goal from R. Heatherall. North Dundas then came up with two goals in a two minute span to go up by two.

At 7:54, David Dauphinee finished off a play with Anthony Mann and Jason McDonald, and a minute and 39 seconds later, Bowman scored his second to make it 4-1.

Metcalfe got to within one, before Johnson and Bowman, with 48 seconds left, tallied for the Demons.

Demons dealt double losses

CHESTERVILLE — Coming off a three-game losing streak sparked the Kemptville Royals here Friday night as they rolled over the North Dundas Nestle Demons 9-4 in an UCMHL Midget A contest.

The night before in Metcalfe the home town Mustangs galloped to a 6-3 victory over the visiting Demons.

Demons' coach, Bernie Harper, noted that the 6-3 loss came on the anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor and thought that bombing and the one his team received coincided.

Harper described the game as chippy and scrappy, " Metcalfe beat us 5-2 the week before and just reinforced how good they are. We can't score from the penalty box and were beaten by poor defensive zone positioning and passing. I thought we played a good half period (the first), that was it."

Metcalfe led 1-0 after a period and 4-2 after two frames. Kirk Meldrum, Chris Wynn, Todd Hay, Glenn Murphy, Geoff Ross and Scott Reaney scored for the winners. Derek Burger posted the win.

Kent Young netted two for the Demons. Tony Holmes scored the other on a pass from Dave Harper.

Here Friday night against Kemptville the Demons received a "Royal" thumping, losing 9-4.

The Royals led 1-0 after a period, but blew the game wide open, taking an 8-1 lead in the second period.

Don Tataryn paced Kemptville with a three-goal effort. Pat Poirier and Pete Johnston potted a pair each.

Todd Halpenny marked his return to the Demons' lineup, after a serious knee injury, with a goal. Scott Francis, Dereck Holmes and Willy O'Connor supplied the other goals. O'Connor, Shawn Backes, Tim Casselman, Tony Holmes, Jason "Big J" Kennedy and Dereck Holmes all drew assists.

Demons took 11 and Kemptville 10 minor penalties.

Avonmore keeps on winning

Avonmore kept on with its' winning ways, and Berwick continued to struggle in North Stormont Intermediate Hockey League action last week.

Avonmore raised its record to 9-2 on the strength of Kevin Poapst's three goals, in a 4-1 victory over Finch.

Two nights later, on December 10, Avonmore went to 10-2 winning a shootout with last place Berwick by a score of 9-7.

The loss for Berwick was their second in three nights, after falling 6-1 to Crysler.

In the only other NSIHL game played last week, 3rd place Crysler and 2nd place Finch layed to a 2-2 tie.

November nice to ND Novices

CHESTERVILLE — Three wins and a tie have made the month of November a very successful one for the UCMHL's North Dundas (Lannin's Lumbermart) Senior Novice Demons.

The Demons earned seven of a possible eight points posting three shutout wins and a 2-2 tie.

Kevin McLeod has been red hot between the pipes for the Demons. On Nov. 18 he blanked the Kemptville Novice Royals 3-0. Trevor Walker supplied the offensive support with two goals. Jeff West snapped in the other one. Shawn Peddle, Justin Gravelle and Nathan Arsenault earned an assist each.

Wesley Ross and Trevor Walker were North Dundas' goal-getters in their 2-2 (Nov. 19) tie with Morrisburg. Shawn Peddle and Jeff West picked up assists.

Trevor Walker snapped in two goals leading the Demons to their 5-0 (Nov. 21) victory over the Metcalfe Mustangs.

Justin Gravelle added a goal and two helpers while Sean Williams chipped in a goal and one assist. Jeff West notched a single goal. Clayton Oldford and Shawn Peddle each collected two assists.

Sean Williams scored the winning goal in North Dundas' 2-0 (Nov. 28) decision over the Morrisburg Lions. Williams gave his team a 1-0 lead when he beat Brandon Cassell on a relay set up by Trevor Walker at 8:41 of the first period.

Jeff West added an insurance goal scoring from Clayton Oldford and Shawn Peddle with 4:29 remaining in the third period.

Hay leads 'Stangs

WINCHESTER — Jeff Hay scored three goals and Pat Jones played perfectly between the pipes here last Thursday as the Metcalfe Mustangs blanked the North Dundas Demons 5-0 in UCMHL Pee Wee B action.

Metcalfe outshot the Demons 16-12 en route to their victory.

Devils dump CC Raiders

MAPLE RIDGE — It was playoff style basketball here last Thursday as the host North Dundas Devils shocked the CCVS Raiders 62-57 posting a wild come-from-behind victory.

Guard Chris Van bridger broke through centre, grabbed a bullet pass from Sean Salter, who was coming out of the North Dundas zone along the right side, beat a defender to the board and laid in the tie-breaking basket with 1:09 left in the game.

Van Bridger's basket put the Devils up 56-54.

CCVS netted one of three free throws and closed the gap to 56-55 at 1:06. A steal and dunk with 1:00 left on the clock put CCVS up 57-56.

From that point on Devils' coach Deanna Corbett-White said her heart was in her throat.

What she saw was a fitting finish for a hard-fought win.

Chad Simpson dropped in a deuce with 45 seconds to go to put the Devils up 58-57 and set the stage for the team's first victory in two SD&G League starts.

Sean Salter then went to the line with 30 seconds left and calmly dropped in a pair of free throws to open up a 60-57 gap for Dundas.

Big Ashley Byers iced the victory in fitting fashion, stealing just outside the paint and barrging his way to the window where he gently laid in a one-handed lay-up for the final 62-57. Byers' deuce came with nine seconds left and sealed the win.

Coach Corbette-White watched her team fight their way through four quarters to what she called, "a great win, the guys worked hard, all of them."

The game was tied 10-10 at the quarter, 26-24 at half and 42-38 at three-quarter time. CCVS took over in the early stages of the final quarter leading 47-44 with 5:57 left, 49-45 at 5:20. Devils rallied on points by Dave Harper, Todd Marcellus, Chad Simspon and Ashley Byers to get their team back into it.

Dave Harper, who nailed four free throws and two field goals in succession in the third quarter led the winners with a game high 22 points. Chad Simpson had 10 while Ashley Byers and Sean Salter each drained nine points. Chris Van Bridger and Todd Marcellus completed the scoring with six points each.

North Dundas opened the season last Tuesday (Dec. 5) losing 60-44 to the Panthers at St. Joe's.

North Dundas led 37-36 after three quarters, after trailing 25-24 at the half but fell apart in the fourth quarter when they were outscored 24-7.

"We fell apart in the fourth quarter. We had 26 turnovers in the game, we threw the ball away too much. We missed two foul shots when we were down by six. If we make those it's a four-point game, I think that was the turning point," the coach explained.

Chad Simspon paced North Dundas with a dozen points. Sean Salter dropped in nine, Ashley Byers eight, Chris Van Bridger seven (hit for Devils only three-point shot), Dave Harper six and Phil Byers two points.

Nguyen Lam terrorized the Devils netting a game high 35 points. He ripped the twine for 16 points in the fourth quarter alone.

SENIORS STRUGGLE

While her Junior Devils are even at a win and a loss, Coach Corbett-White's Senior Devils are struggling with two one-sided losses.

She had five players available for last Tuesday's 88-37 drubbing by St. Joe's and had her full compliment of six ready for Thursday's 65-24 loss to the powerful CCVS Raiders.

Thursday the Seniors were down 51-7 in the third quarter before rallying in the fourth but got no closer than 65-24.

Karim Oliver led the Devils attack netting 13 points. Jason Kennedy dropped in four while Trevor Plumb (3), Andy Harvie (2), Craig Lyon (1) and Darren Hutt (1) completed the scoring.

R. Primeau (14) and Fred Esfords (10) led the CCVS offence.

Craig Lyon paced the Dundas attack in the 88-37 tragedy hitting 13 points. Jason Kennedy drained 10. Darren Hutt (9), Andrew Harvie (3) and Trevor Plumb (3) completed the scoring picture.

Sean Clark led the highly ranked Panthers dunking 27 points. Bryan Murphy finished with 17.

The Panthers led 16-8, 40-20, 57-33 and 88-37.

Tomorrow, Thurs., Dec. 14, the Devils will tangle with the Spartans on their court at Seaway District High.

TIPS FOR TRAVELERS...con't

In my last column I wrote about travelling at this time of year; how our metabolism was at a low, and we were probably fatigued. There are some important things to take into consideration when travelling. Remember to travel well prepared, ready for the unexpected.

- If you're taking prescription drugs, be sure to pack enough for your entire trip.
- Carry an extra prescription, written in its GENERIC NAME to make it easier to fill in a foreign country.
- If you combine two kinds of pills in one bottle to save space, make sure to label the bottle to remember which is which.
- You might not have broken a pair in the last twenty years, but be sure to take along an extra pair of glasses or contact lenses, as well as your prescription. You don't want to remember the Eiffel Tower or the Majo Mahal as one big blur.

Here's some non-prescription items you might want to include on your traveller's checklist:

- Antacid tablets.
- Aspirins
- Motion-sickness pills.
- Your favourite (and most effective for your skin type) sunscreen.
- Antiseptic spray or lotion.
- Adhesive bandages.
- Diarrhea medicine.
- Eye drops.

To help avoid motion sickness:

- Children are less likely to get car sick if they can see out the front window of the car.
- Stay near the centre of a boat, near the water level, or out on deck. Lie down with eyes open.
- Or try sucking a lemon for seasickness, or nausea.
- If you feel airsick, look at a point on the distant horizon. This helps decrease the perception of motion.

To help avoid "Montezuma's revenge":

- If you are travelling in a country where food and drink are questionable, particularly avoid salads, and fruit unless you can buy it in its skin.
- Don't drink the water. Remember: this means ordering drinks without ice and brushing your teeth with bottled water.

To help the Long-Distance Driver:

- Researchers have found that drivers who take a break for a hearty meal have better reaction times than those who do not.
- Remember: "Sleepy drivers tend to rest in pieces!"
- If you want to avoid back problems, be sure you don't have to stretch for the pedals. Adjust your car seat properly, and sit back.
- If you drive a lot, invest in a firm, flat backrest.
- We all know that seat belts save lives, but did you kow how effective they are? They reduce the risk of serious injury or death by 55 to 75 per cent. Is that convincing enough for you to buckle up?!? Have a safe and happy trip!

My Silent Achievers this week are all of you who so enthusiastically braved the cold to take part in parades these last two week-ends. A special hug to my own elves; Fay, Brad, Dave, Paul, Trish, Kathy, Sherri, and Trevor. Well Done, All!

We are so very lucky to be able to do it for ourselves.

Shelp's 6 shelve Blue

Green took over top perch of the Men's Town Hockey League standings, with their 7-2 victory over Blue this past week, thanks to Darryl Shelp's six goals.

The win, combined with White's 7-0 whitewashing of Maroon, gave Green 11 points after eight games, one more than second place Maroon.

The six goals increased Shelp's lead in the scoring race to four points over White's Terry Barkley. Shelp has 19 points, including 13 goals, while Barkley, who tallied three times for White in their win over Maroon, has 15 points, nine of which are goals.

Shelp started the onslaught over Blue with two quick goals just five minutes into the game.

At the ten minute mark, Keith Moore assisted on number three, giving Shelp a natural hat trick.

A little over a minute later, Barry McShane put Blue on the board when he beat Green goaltender Rob Carkner.

But Shelp, who wears the number nine, the same as Montreal's revered Rocket, launched Green into a 5-1 lead with just thirty seconds remaining in the opening frame.

Shelp's fifth of the night at the 12 minute mark, was the only scoring in the second period.

Six minutes into the final frame, Shelp scored his sixth, giving Green a 6-1 lead, until Jerrold Boulanger replied for Blue. For Bolanger, the goal was his 11th on the season, second only to Shelp. Jamie Utman finished off the scoring, giving both he and Wally Vandekemp three point nights.

The loss leaves Blue in last place, with two victories in eight tries.

Meanwhile, in a game also played last Wednesday evening, Terry Barkley scored three times and Kevin Boyce and Dean Williams each contributed three points as White shut out Maroon 7-0.

White scored two in the first, two in the second and three more in the third period, to raise their record to 3-4-1.

Barkley opened the scoring midway through the first period, on a pass from Pete Van Kessel. White took a two goal lead into the second period on a goal from Wade Levere.

Williams goal with 48 seconds gone in the first period, and Barkley's second, with 22 seconds remaining, put White on top 4-0 after two periods.

White went up by five when Gary Beisheim tallied, four minutes into the final frame.

Barkley's powerplay goal, completed the hat trick with 6:49 to play, and 33 seconds later, Boyce scored to close out the scoring.

NGS midgets win two league tilts

FINCH — North Glen-Stor Midget A's took a pair of scheduled games in Lower St. Lawrence Minor Hockey League last week.

Last Wednesday, Paul Jackson and Chris Leroux combined for all the goals in leading NGS to a 6-4 win over Char-Lan Rebels.

The following night, NGS used three third-period goals to ease past Cornwall 3-1.

In the Wednesday game, NGS scored three times in the first, once in the second and twice in the third to beat the Rebels.

Leroux scored four goals and set up the other two, both from Jackson, who was in on one of Leroux's scores.

Thursday, Anson Acres, John Grady and Jeff MacLean scored third period goals to erase a 1-0 Cornwall lead and lead NGS to victory.

Morewood, Russell still tied

Morewood and Russell went about it differently, but both ended up with a victory last Sunday, to remain tied atop the standings of the Winchester an District Broomball League.

Russell 2-Cloverdales 1

Russell needed overtime to down Ormond 2-1. Meanwhile, Morewood got two goals each from Brian Como, Guy Marion and Gerald Eby as the Vikings pumped Prescott Road 8-0. With the victories, both clubs sport 10-1 records in the A division.

Steve Bols scored both Russell goals, including the winner in overtime on a pass from brother Frank, who also set up his sibling's first tally. Doug Sloan scored the loan Cloverdale goal, a powerplay score, at the 12 minute mark of the second period, six minutes after Bols had given Russell a 1-0 lead. The loss leaves Ormond in last place of the A pool, with a 6-5 record, seven points behind Morewood.

Vikes 8-Knights 0

The Viking Trio of Como, Marion and Eby, which sit one, two, three in the individual scoring standings collected a total of 13 points as Morewood ran away from Prescott Road. Eby scored three goals, and set up three others, while Como and Marion each had a pair of goals and a pair of passes.

Vince Cousineau, tenth in the points race, opened the scoring with an early goal on a pass from Eby. Fifteen minutes later, at the 7:44 mark, Como notched his 14th of the year, on passes to put the Vikes up 3-0.

Morewood exploded for five second period goals to send Prescott Road to its' seventh loss against four victories.

Eby and Marion got their two goals in the period, while Larry St. Pierre came up with a single to lead Morewood.

Como leads the scoring race with 38 points, two more than second place Marion, and five more than Eby, who sits in third place.

Toyes Hill 9-Raiders 1

Paul Melenhorst scored twice to lead Toyes Hill past Winchester 4-1, in a Winchester and District Broomball League game last Sunday. Melenhorst's goals came as insurance, in the second period, with Toyes Hill already up 2-1.

Ivan Peterson put Toyes Hills ahead with a goal from Kevin Kennedy, midway through the first period.

That lead was extended to two on a goal from Bill Steele.

The Raiders got on the board with 81 seconds remaining in the opening frame, when Bert Ruiter tallied the only Winchester score.

With the win, Toyes Hill moves into third place in the A division, with a 7-4 record, one point more than Ormond.

Manotick 3-Newington 0

Manotick pulled into third place in the B pool, with a 3-0 blanking of Newington.

John Bradley and Daryle Payne combined for all the scoring. Payne set them up, and Bradley put them in.

Two first period goals, at 17:13 and 4:10 gave Manotick at lead it would never relinquish. Bradley's second period score gave him the hat trick, and completed the scoring.

Rick Cureston recorded the shutout in the Manotick goal.

The win enabled Manotick skip past Newington in the B pool standings. Manotick moved to 2-9-0, Newington fell to 1-9-1.

MNR hikes fishing, hunting licences by 10 to 25 %

It is going to cost local fishermen, hunters and trappers more for licences in the new year.

The Ministry of Natural Resources, in a news release issued last week, announced fees will be increased by an average of 10 to 25 per cent beginning January 1.

Resident small game, deer and moose hunting licences will rise 10 per cent, while non-resident deer and bear hunting licences will go up by 25 per cent.

Hunting examinations will cost $7.50, up from $5. Trappers will pay $6 for a licence, an increase of 50 cents.

Seasonal resident sport fishing licences, introduced two years ago, will cost $11.50, up from $10, and four-day licences will cost $6.50, up from $5.

"These increases are necessary to ensure that our resources remain healthy and available for future generations," Natural Resources Minister Lyn McLeod said.
