Putting the lid on it

Village worker Dennis Hunter, left, and an employee of RAN Steel Works replaced the cover on the riser column at the Morrisburg water tower Wednesday afternoon. The thick sediment the two men were standing in was shovelled out by engineer Ray Halko, who claimed the tower hasn't been cleaned in over 10 years. Halko also said the facility was in dire need of either major repairs or even replacement. —M. Thompson photo

Morrisburg water tower is in "terrible shape" says engineer

MIKE THOMPSON
Leader staff

MORRISBURG—It's too early to say for sure but the prognosis looks rather bleak.

Early last Tuesday morning, an engineering firm specializing in water retention facilities examined the village's 35-year old tower and voiced several concerns.

The engineering firm will be preparing a full report later this week.

"She's in terrible shape," summarized Ray Halko, president of RAN Steel Works.

Halko has been examining water towers for more than 22 years and said that the village's facility "ranked at the very end of the scale."

Since establishing his own private firm 13 years ago, Halko has inspected over 500 towers all across Ontario and is frequently asked to do work for various provincial ministries.

The professional engineer attributes the tower's "poor condition" to a lack of preventive maintenance.

In the late 1950's, many communities along the St. Lawrence Seaway were given their own water towers on behalf of Ontario Hydro.

However, very few of the municipalities were aware of the proper maintenance required to ensure their longevity.

"It's just like your car," Halko explained. "If it has a small rust spot on the body, and you leave it alone, it's bound to get bigger."

Halko expressed particular concern about the riser column (the centre tube) that fills the tower with water.

In fact, Halko had to plug about a dozen small holes with ¼-inch to ½-inch screws.

As for the tank itself, he said "the interior was highly-pitted" adding that "corosion takes its structural toll."

Halko also rejected any ideas that the tower was cleaned less than five years ago.

"You can't fool me. I shovelled sediment in their that had to be there at least 10 to 15 years."

He also mentioned that he noticed several buckles in the tower's support columns.

"I can't say for sure just how they got there but they are a matter of concern."

Halko will submit his detailed results to McNeely Engineering, which in turn, will present a comprehesive report to council next month.

Halko plans to include some recommendations, the least of which will be the total replacement of the riser column.

He estimated the cost for that item to be close to $150,000.

"The rest of it will depend on what council wants to do and how much money they're willing to spend."

"If the tower is getting too small then maybe they should be looking at replacing it but if it's (tower) serving the purpose then maybe they'd be better off just patching it up again."

Halko said the bare minimum would be to sandblast the inside of the tank and repaint the walls with water-resistant paint.

"It's hard to say just how much that would cost but I'm telling you now that when you're talking about water towers you're talking big money."

Seafarers Training Centre

College offers new lease on life

MIKE THOMPSON
Leader staff

WILLIAMSBURG TWP—Last Friday St. Lawrence College sent a life-line out to the old Seafarers' Training Centre.

The college's department of Trade and Technology is in contention of establishing an emergency training program for seafarers at the old SIU building on Highway 2, just east of Morrisburg.

Katheryn Wycliffe, program administrator for the Ministry of Colleges and Universities confirmed that St. Lawrence and two other Ontario colleges have submitted proposals to develop a Marine Emergency Duties (M.E.D.) program in the southern part of the province.

The other two schools vying for the program are Niagara and Georgian.

Wes Libby, Dean of Trade and Technology at St. Lawarence College, is very optimistic about his school's chance of receiving the program.

In fact, he said the Seafarers' building has many advantages over the other two college proposals.

"It's very well laid-out," he said Friday. "Furthermore the building was specifically designed for the purpose of offering emergency training to seamen."

Libby said other obvious bonuses include an extensive library and on-site living quarters.

"I also think it's rather appropriately located on the St. Lawrence."

"A considerable amount of time and effort was spent developing our proposal and I hope all the hard work pays off," he said confidently.

Wycliffe said there are various sources of funding available for such a project including funding from the Federal Department of Employment and Immigration, and the Department of Transportation as well as the provincial Ministry of Skills and Development and the Ministry of Colleges and Universities.

She added that similar programs in other provinces share the cost with "the employer" which in this case would be the shipping companies.

Capt. John Daniels, Chief Certification and Training Officer with the Canadian Coast Guard said that the ship owners will voice their opinions this Friday, May 19.

"I understand that's when the three college proposals will be brought to the attention of the industry at large, that is the ship owners, the (Seafarers' International) union and other interested parties.

Capt. Daniels feels the result of that meeting will have a significant affect on just where the training facility will finally be located.

Experts estimate that over 1,000 sailors need to be upgraded on basic emergency training.

Capt. Daniels said that all officers aboard ships are already required to have adequate emergency training however, last year the Federal government made it mandatory for all sea voyaging crew members to have basic M.E.D. training within the next two years.

Iroquois council investigates variety of housing programs

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

IROQUOIS — Iroquois council is investigating possibilities of expanding the market for existing housing, and also the need for additional non-profit housing.

With three subdivisions on the go, and four applicants on the waiting list for senior citizens' apartments, council invited Ministry of Housing representatives last Tuesday to explain options for these trends in development.

Local developers also attended the meeting.

Eastern Regional Housing representative Jennifer Garland described a number of programs available to municipalities who can demonstrate a need for affordable housing. But Reeve John McAllister's main concern, which is to "capture a market" for the new developments, went largely unaddressed.

Affordable housing programs

The Federal Provincial non-profit housing program is on a 60-40 per cent cost sharing basis, aimed at obtaining housing for persons with low to moderate incomes. Eligible groups include seniors, childless couples, singles, and disabled people who can live independently.

Forty per cent of this accommodation is slated for those in "deep core need", or those who cannot find suitable rental accommodation in the community without paying more than 30 per cent of their incomes in rent.

Approximately 7,000 units were allocated for Ontario in 1988, and a similar number is slated for each of the next three years.

Also described was the Homes Now program which should provide the creation of 30,000 affordable rental units in Ontario over the next few years.

About 70 per cent of units will be occupied by low-income tenants who will pay rent based on about 25 per cent of their incomes, rather than on the size or type of accommodation.

Gillard stressed that allocations are based on need, and that income cut-off levels are used to determine these areas.

If a municipality wishes to develop non-profit housing, it must undertake a study to determine the need.

The study includes an updated municipal housing statement, and a survey requesting information on rental costs and income in the community, which is interpreted by the ministry to determine eligibility.

The four classes of need are defined as deep core, shallow core, non-core shallow, and market rent need, with a different income cut-off for each.

The Village of Iroquois with a population of 1200 would be eligible for up to $5,000 to update

Wells pleads guilty to weapons charge

MORRISBURG — In provincial court here yesterday, Lloyd Wells of Morrisburg pleaded guilty to possession of an unregistered restricted weapon.

He was given a conditional discharge for two years, the condition being that he is not to possess any firearm for the above length of time.

Another charge, possession of stolen property, was withdrawn.

Subsequently, Wells will not receive a criminal record as a result.

On February 3 this year, two .38 calibre hand guns which had been the property of the village since early Seaway days were reported missing from the village vault.

Wells and Rick J. Vaughan, also of Morrisburg were charged with possession of stolen property and possession of an unregistered restricted weapon.

An OPP investigation revealed that the guns were removed sometime between September 1988 and February 3, 1989.

Both firearms were recovered by the Morrisburg OPP

Three area women are slightly injured

MORRISBURG — The corner of Fifth and Ottawa Streets, Morrisburg was the scene of yet another vehicle accident when two vehicles collided last Thursday at 1:45 p.m.

Three area women received minor injuries, after their car was hit broadside in the intersection by a vehicle travelling south on Ottawa Street.

Michael Tryon, of Morrisburg, was driving his 1975 Chevrolet south on Ottawa Street, when he struck a vehicle owned and driven by Isabelle Eady, of R.R.3, Williamsburg. The Eady vehicle, travelling east on Fifth Street, stopped at the stop sign, and Since Tryon had the right of way, Eady has been charged with failure to yield.

The Morrisburg Fire Department quickly became involved using the Jaws of Life to pry open the dented car door on the driver's side and free Eady.

In a state of mild shock with minor injuries, Eady was placed on an ambulance stretcher and taken to Winchester District Hospital for treatment, where her passengers Flossie Tupper and Beverly Tupper, both of Williamsburg, were also treated for slight injuries.

The Tryon vehicle received moderate damage to the front, and Eady's 1985 Ford had a housing statement completed about six years ago, and $1,250 on a survey. About a year from the time of application would be required for the entire study.

An updated housing statement, with all the facts and figures, would be an asset since it could be shown to potential industrial clients, said manager of the Cornwall Housing Authority, Bill Hulls.

Question period

"A municipally established board, service organization or church group can do it," said Hulls.

"What about a municipality like ours with available property for residential development," asked McAllister. "What can we do to promote it, and you to help?"

Gillard replied that the programs available from her office dealt with non-profit housing.

But interest-free loans are available for interested groups or a $7,000 advancement is available for developers who would like to convert dwellings to apartment units.

The reeve stated that another problem Iroquois faced is that it can't get additional units without a survey, and such a survey would probably indicate there wasn't a need.

But a joint study with Matilda Township may reveal sufficient need, said Gillard.

This would require a resolution from both councils.

She added that a survey and public meeting could make the public aware that groups of people other than seniors can be eligible for non-profit housing.

"I hoped the ministry wouldn't focus on rental housing. Is the ministry aware of the effect this has on home ownership, real estate, rental and market value?" asked developer Brian Baker.

A preferable focus, according to Baker, would be an assisted home ownership to encourage families to get into home ownership.

Hulls acknowledged the merits in a home ownership program, and without such a program he himself would never have been able to afford his first home.

He admitted the government took away potential tenants from the private sector and from the home ownership market, but the ministry doesn't move in unless asked.

Chairman of the Cornwall Housing Authority Fred Empey urged council not to become discouraged about applying for assistance.

"The best we can do is try, and we will try, but we can't do it alone," said McAllister.

The issue of a joint study will be on the agenda of a meeting between Iroquois and Matilda councils within the next two weeks.

Registered nurses needed

The Easter Seal Society urgently needs registered nurses to work with physically disabled children aged 7-19 at residential summer camps, from mid-June to late-August.

One camp has no nurses, four others are understaffed and it is less than two months until the season is due to start.

The Easter Seal camps are located near Kirkland Lake, Perth, Collingwood, London and Port Colborne. Nursing salaries are negotiable depending on experience, full board is provided for the duration of the camping season and travel costs to and from camp will be reimbursed.

Applicants must have a current Ontario Registration and a minimum of one year's recent clinical experience. Nurses who intend to specialize in pediatric rehabilitative or public health nursing will find the Easter Seal camping program a valuable career experience.

Iroquois council briefs

IROQUOIS — Beach personnel for the summer swim program should be getting a raise this year, as council recommended the recreation committee pay them $8.00 an hour, and passed a by-law that all other summer students be paid $5.00 by the hour.

•

Council gave Knox Presbyterian Church approval to pave their parking lot and the existing sidewalk at the front of the church at no cost to the village.

•

Council approved a $100 donation to Upper Canada Playhouse, on receipt of a letter from the Playhouse requesting funding. They urged an increase over last year's donation of $50, for this "one of a kind" tourist attraction.

Council will contact their insurance agent about possible liability to the Village should Gary Lepman be permitted to locate a chip wagon on the beach.

Since it would be there from July to September, council would like insurance coverage against acts of vandalism to be in place.

The wagon owner wrote council requesting permission to locate his chip wagon on the beach during the summer, promising to take care of grounds, and pass health inspection requirements.

The matter will be brought to the agenda of council's next meeting at which time rent to be charged the wagon owner will also be discussed.

Council amended the terms of the Golf Club agreement to include a term lease of 25 years.

•

Council accepted a tender from Dibblee Construction for a total of $49,685.90 for 1800 tons of paving and 70 tons of patching in Iroquois. Dibblee's bid was the lowest of four tenders, $49,770.00 by Cornwall Gravel, $52,237.40 by Beaver Road Builders, and $66,172.10 by G. Tackaberry and Sons Construction Limited.

•

Council approved a request from Knox Presbyterian Church for use of the Civic Centre on Sunday, May 28 to show a film "Cry from the Mountain," produced by World Wide Production of Billy Graham Industries and sponsored by local churches.

Owners of the Grenkie subdivision have reached an agreement with council on an outstanding engineer's bill ($8,000) from last summer, the amount to be shared by both parties.

However, approval for the subdivision has been withheld until it is known how the deficiencies will be resolved.

Speaker explains project to combat world blindness

The annual meeting of the C.N.I.B., Dundas County Unit was held on Tuesday, May 9 in the Lions Hall, Winchester. After the chairman, Olive Cass, introduced the head table, over fifty people enjoyed a delicious pot-luck supper.

District Administrtrator, Doug MacArthur, announced his resignation from the C.N.I.B., effective June, 1989.

Treasurer, Tom Ayerst, reported the 1989 canvass amounted to $20,727.22. $20,100.00 was remitted to C.N.I.B. as of December, 1988.

Mr. Howard Biccum, who has resigned from the C.N.I.B. board was presented with a framed certificate in recognition of many years of service, by Doug MacArthur.

Dr. Garth Taylor, noted ophthalmologist, of Cornwall was guest speaker. Dr. Taylor spoke on "Project Orbis", in which he is a participant. This project is an international, not-for-profit flying teaching hospital dedicated to combatting world blindness. A DC-8 jet has been converted into a hospital with operating theatre, examination and laser treatment area, recovery room, classroom and an audio-visual studio of professional broadcast standard. Strict licencing laws around the world prohibit doctors from performing surgery in foreign countries. ORBIS provides a neutral forum that allows doctors from different countries to share knowledge and gain hands-on surgical experience.

In addition to the surgical exchange on-board the plane, other educational activities enhance the ORBIS program and continue after the departure of the plane.

Project ORBIS is a humanitarian non-political organization and has proved to be effective as an ambassador of good will. ORBIS crosses barriers and brings people together who work towards the common goal of alleviating world blindness.

Dr. Taylor was thanked by Howard Biccum.

Lois McIntosh gave the report of the nominating committee. Executive members for 1989-1990 are: chairman, Graham Barkley; secretary, Carole Brouse; treasurer, Tom Ayerst; In-Memoriam chairman, Stella Potter; social convenor, Lois McIntosh; county campaign chairman, Olive Cass.

Scouting movement in need of assistance

MORRISBURG — Now that the end of the scouting and guiding year is at hand, both movements are looking for assistance in the form of volunteers for September '89-'90.

If you have time and energy to devote a few hours a week, young people in the following groups need your leadership.

Morrisburg Scouts (12-14 years) are looking for leader assistants since they are expecting about 11 cubs to join their ranks next year, bringing their number to 33. Please contact Bill Sheldrick at 543-2113.

Morrisburg Cubs are in need of assistants who could work into a leadership role. Anyone interested in helping may reach Jim Hummell at 543-2142.

Morrisburg Guides will need a complete new staff of three to four leaders since all Guide leaders as well as a junior leader are leaving, and an influx of Brownies is expected in the fall. These Brownies will also be in need of a leader.

If you can help either Guides or Brownies, Diane Hill may be reached at 543-3404 or Robin Lane at 543-3412.

Williamsburg Scouts and Guides would also like more leaders. A Scout troop is in the works for September, requiring helpers.

A Beaver leader and two helpers, assistant Cub leaders, helpers for the Girl Guides and two leaders for the Brownies will be necessary if these groups are to continue their programs.

Please contact Jerry Robinson at 535-2461, or Marg Lewis at 652-4758 if you can help with Williamsburg Cubs or Scouts, and Janice Buter at 535-2389 if you can help out with Guides or Brownies.

Family Unity Month

In Ontario, and in many other jurisdictions, the month of May has been observed for many years now as Family Unity Month, in order to stress the family as the basic unit, the very foundation of our society. The province-wide event encourages everyone to recommit themselves to the concept of the family, by spending more time, and spending it to greater advantage, with family members. It is a perfect opportunity for all of us to reflect on the importance of the family to our well-being. The preservation of cultural, religious and familial traditions begins with the family, and provides the surest and strongest foundation for the future.

Throughout the long history of mankind, the family has been our most important social institution, where love, caring, moral values and responsibilities are taught. Our programs and policies should all be planned and executed to support and strengthen the family unit. In recent years, unfortunately, this has not always been the case. Looser laws, fewer moral restrictions and inhibitions have undermined the devotion in many families.

Remember, just last week, when you said to yourself that this week you would spend more time with your family. Well, it's next week already. Because of the fast pace of today's living, and our busy daily schedules, many of us may not take enough time to reflect on just how much our family means to us, or the important part which the family plays in our own lives.

The term "family" is used today to refer to many different relationships which may exist between adults and children, in-laws and senior family members, or the bond that extends the family through many generations to perpetuate the lineage. Whatever the relationship, any family needs constant attention to keep it strong and united, so that all of its members may be enriched.

Time spent regularly with your family could well be a part of the formula to bring greater happiness, fulfillment, security and satisfaction, not only to you, but to every member as well. Just try it — this month and every month.

Is your home a fire-trap?

This year tens of thousands of fires will cause more than a billion dollars in damages to Canadian property. Indeed, a fire will break out somewhere in the country in the very next seven and one-half minutes. In one recent year, some 600 Canadians died as a result of fires. However, in spite of these troubling statistics, most people remain unconvinced that it can also happen to them, and often they fail to take the proper precautions to minimize their loss.

At a recent one-day workshop on fire hazards and security, the Fire Commissioner for the Province of Alberta told delegates that the greatest danger from fire is in the home — and specifically, in the kitchen. If we concentrated on home fire safety, we could eliminate one-third of all fires, 77 per cent of fire deaths and 59 per cent of the injuries resulting from fires, he stated. The Commissioner also pointed out that about one-half of all kitchen fires are due to overheated cooking oil or fat, which in many cases, has been left on the stove unsupervised.

Smoking, which has been traditionally the chief cause of fires in Canada, no longer accounts for the majority of bedroom fires in the country. Children playing with matches or lighters, mechanical or electrical failure, and general ignorance and carelessness now account for the bulk of all fires in sleeping areas.

Although the situation has somewhat improved since these statistics went into the records, much remains to be done to make our homes as safe as possible from fire danger. While the development of such products as home sprinkler systems and fire-extinguishing range hood sensors offer encouraging possibilities for the future, it is also essential that every homeowner remain ever alert to the dangerous practices which take such a high toll annually in lives and property.

Millions will say 'Amen'

The many millions of Canadians who are protesting the Wilson-Mulroney leaky budget will agree with the sentiments expressed by one letter-writer to the Ottawa Citizen. He writes, in part:

"I have listened to Michael Wilson's rhetoric and wonder if this is the same man who, in his pre-election hyperbole, extolled the financial management skills of both himself and the government.

He cited higher employment, lower unemployment levels, lower interest rates and stable inflation rates. The P.M. echoed these outrageous claims as evidence of the government's financial performance. There was scarcely a word about the mounting deficit, only a word here and there about how successful the government had been at reducing the annual increments.

In a pre-election goodie, Barbara MacDougall stated that the country's unemployment insurance fund was in such good shape that premium rates were to be lowered, effective Jan. 1st, 1989. Premiums for employees and employers would be reduced and disadvantaged regions in the nation would be helped.

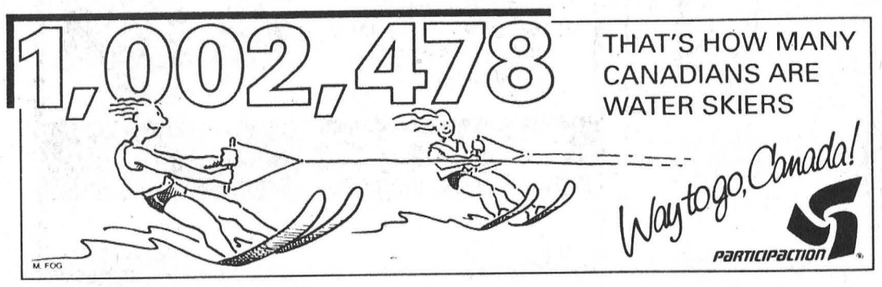
Mulroney and Wilson cited these changes as evidence of superior planning. Our economy was to be further enhanced by the free trade agreement.

Such exaggerated claims were accepted by an electorate overcome with pre-election gratuities and promises. La Belle Province got special bribes to ensure political plutality. It was already in the bag.

Now, within a few short months, this government led by this same unholy trio, shouts in hysteria that our proud nation is heading for economic disaster. Blaming the irresponsible Liberals of yesteryear, these leaders now disclaim any responsibility for a deficit which, in a few short months, has gone from a manageable, controllable inconvenience to a cancerous growth to be expeditiously excised.

We, the taxpayers, are told that this deficit is somehow our fault, that our tax dollars have been too few and that our exhorbitant demands for service have propelled the nation into impending bankruptcy.

Like Quebec, "Je me souviens", and 1992 is really not so far away."



This Week In Morrisburg's History

Compiled from The Leader's fyles
by Bonnie McNairn

The May 16th, 1979 issue of The Leader reported that incumbent Liberal, Ed Lumley, aided by Federal Liberal Finance Minister Jean Chretien officially cut the ribbon to declare the Transport Canada Training Institute in Cornwall open. Lumley had been accused of using the opening of the $58 million dollar institute as an election goodie.

Morrisburg Lions Club treasurer Ted Foggo had handed in his resignation as the club treasurer after serving the organization since 1972. Ted and his family were moving to Saskatchewan.

Baskets of yellow mums decorated Lakeshore Drive United Church for the marriage of Deborah Ann Barkley to Jacques Roland Houle.

Dr. W.L. MacLennan, minister of Knox Presbyterian Church, Morrisburg was honored on the occasion of his 45 years since being ordained minister of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Kopas Pool and Patio was offering an inground pool special featuring a 16 x 30 foot pool installed for $4,500.

It was reported in the May 16th, 1969 issue of The Leader that the new trout pond in Williamsburg Township which had recently been opened was, according to local fishermen, an unqualified success. The trout pond was actually a man-made lake created from a quarry where fill was taken during the construction of the MacDonald-Cartier Freeway.

It was a solemn and nostalgic occasion on Sunday, May 11, when the Anglican congregation of Christ Church, Dixons Corners gathered for a final act of worship. The little white frame building which had served as the spiritual home of its people for 85 years was destined for demolition. Dixons Corners, like many other communities, had changed over the years. The blacksmith shop, the cheese factory, the Presbyterian Church built in 1885 and the post office built in 1852 were now all gone.

The act of secularization of the building of Christ Church at Dixons Corners sparked area interest in the history of the Church of England in Dundas County. The Lutheran Church at Riverside Heights was identified as the first protestant Church in Upper Canada. The original church was built in 1790 and its first minister was Rev. Samuel Schwerdtfeger. He also ministered in Matilda, now Iroquois, where a Lutheran Church was built in the centre of the commons in 1792. Rev. J.V. Weagant became pastor of Williamsburg Township and Matilda church in 1808 and in 1811 he was ordained to Holy Orders in the Church of England. Though he continued his ministry in the Lutheran Church, he was found to be employing the use of the Church of England prayer book. Though the majority of the service continued to be said in German, Mr. Weagant introduced the use of English. Reverend Gerbrand Beek Lindsay, his successor, was the first to preach exclusively in English.

At the Dominion a 7.5 ounce tin of sockeye salmon was 53 cents and regular size cigarettes were $4.53 a carton.

The May 15th, 1959 issue of The Leader reported Mrs. Lillian Allison of Chesterville, a 40-year-old housewife, had been selected as the Grenville-Dundas candidate to run for the Liberals in the up-coming provincial election.

At Morrisburg Collegiate, James Ball received the S.D.&G. Shield and Pin for the smartest and most efficient Cadet and the Canadian Legion Shield was presented to Betty Merrikin for the best cadet (girl). Lieutenant Robert Jones and Sergeant Robert Dowson had the best platoon among the boys and Lieutenant Isla Whittaker and Sergeant Eleanor Styles had the best platoon among the girls.

Hunter Arnold Meyer of Morrisburg received his degree in civil engineering from Queen's University.

Headlines in the May 20th, 1949 issue of The Leader read St. John's Church to Celebrate 165th Anniversary. The anniversary celebration was set for July 3. St. John's was the oldest Protestant congregation in what was formerly Upper Canada and in fact was the oldest west of St. John's. It was founded by United Empire Loyalists who came to Upper Canada from New York State.

Rev. W.M. Reeves of Woodville, Ontario had accepted a call to the pastorate of the United Church at Morrisburg, to succeed Rev. J.G. Stones, who had made a move to Montreal.

The Morrisburg Golf Club was now open for play and this year's membership rates were $12 for men, $8 for women and $16 for a couple.

Headlines in the May 18, 1939 issue of The Leader read Royal Train to Stop Here. The Royal train bearing the King and Queen in their Cross-Country tour was to make a short stop in Morrisburg to take on water.

Both the Morrisburg Golf and Tennis Clubs had organized for the coming season. Jack Toshack was appointed president of the Golf Club and Leslie McCormick held the same position in the Tennis Club. George H. Challies was honorary president of the Golf Club, J.E. Christensen vice-president, and W. Roy White secretary-treasurer. Honorary president of the tennis Club was Ralph G. Fetterly, vice-president Ernest Millward and Secretary-treasurer Beverly McGowan.

At Becksted and Rae, Coronet Paint was 81 cents a quart and onion sets and multipliers were 10 cents a pound.

Highlighting the four-day visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth to Ottawa was the unveiling of the National War Memorial in Confederation Square on May 18. It was expected some 31,000 people from 30 district towns would be making their way to Ottawa to get the special accommodation set aside for them for the arrival of Their Majesties.

The May 24th, 1929 issue of The Leader reported Iroquois post office had changed hands, when Charles R. Bouck of Matilda assumed charge as postmaster replacing Kenneth McIntosh.

Hilda Beatrice Thompson of Morrisburg and Mary Elaine Harkness of Iroquois were among the graduates of the training school for nurses at Brockville General Hospital.

At the Dominion, Richmellow coffee was 49 cents a one-pound tin and medium size pineapples were two for 33 cents.

Letters to the Editor

The Morrisburg Leader,
Morrisburg, Ontario.
K0C 1X0
Dear Editor:

Some comments on the budget

We have all seen the advertisements on the television where the government has spent $2.7 million to tell Canadians how badly off we are. We all know that previous Liberal governments and our present government have been spending more money each year than we are collecting in revenue incomes; and putting Canada in annual deficit position each year. As we have to borrow this money to meet the deficit, the government borrows from Canadians (Canada Savings Bonds) and from foreigners. As the government has to pay interest on these loans, our annual budgetary deficits keep increasing each year. On March 31, 1989, the Canadian National Debt is $350 billion. We must be fair with the Mulroney government, in-as-much as they have reduced the annual budgetary deficit from $34.4 billion to $28.9 billion, that is $5.5 billion from March 31, 1985, but this was achieved in prosperous times.

On April 26, 1989, Michael Wilson gave us his "leaky budget". Instead of cutting expenses on "Spending Programmes" he has decided to tax ordinary working people to death much more than he has the large business corporate sector. In 1990/91 he hopes to take $70.4 billion from taxes from Personal Income Tax from you and I, but approximately $14.8 billion from big business. Isn't it strange that the big banks and financial organizations could be taxed at least $500 million, which they do not pay. Is this because big business spent millions of dollars during the election to promote "Free Trade", thus helping the Conservatives back to power?

Here are some items in this budget that are likely to hit your pocket book, where it hurts.

1. Your contribution to the UIC is to go up from $1.95 per $100 to $2.25 per $100 from 1990 to 1992. This means that your cost is to go up 15.4 per cent. And with Barbara McDougall's plans you will have to work more weeks to qualify for UIC benefits and your benefit period for collecting benefits is reduced. Could this be done to satisfy the Americans, who consider this and the $2.9 billion that the government contributes, as an unfair subsidy?

2. In 1987, the government introduced a temporary "3 per cent surtax on Federal Income Tax". This surtax is now to go up to 5 per cent in 1990. (up to $15,000 Federal Income Tax) and 8 per cent in 1991, if your Federal Income Tax is over $15000. And this tax is now permanent, not temporary.

3. Then there is a tax measure that is popularly known as the "Clawback". This means that if your net income is over $50,000, the government take back some of the family allowance (baby bonus) and old age security that is given to our elder citizens over age 65, so our Social Security network that the Mulroney government always piously mouthed as a "Sacred Trust", is now being threatened. This new tax measure is the thin edge of the wedge to further encroach on our social benefit system in future years. The Americans envy our social system and, because of the so called Free Trade of the Mulroney gang, the Americans who want to invest in Canada want our system to be brought into line with their system. Again we have technically sold out our enviable social package to those Americans down south.

4. Our SIN taxes, cigarettes, liquor, and gasoline, which most people enjoy in limited amounts are taxed more heavily. So even life's fewer pleasures are taxed to death. It is surprising that they have not thought of taxing us after we die.

5. Because the "Transfer Payments", to the provinces are cut by $271 million, this is going to affect Health, Education and Welfare services. Because the Provincial governments get less money, they are going to increase Provincial Taxes (Ontario Budget, May 17, 1989) or they are going to pass on less money to the Municipalities. This means that our local municipal rates and taxes will go up. So look for increases in our tax rates, school boards and welfare.

6. Michael Wilson has increased taxes on very large corporations ($10 million capital value) to increase by $1 billion. But they can claim this tax against their surtax payments. Up to the end of 1986, the Corporate Tax Deferrals amounted to $33.9 billion. What is this figure at March 3, 1988? Obviously it must be more.

Now you have some facts. Now you know where the Progressive, or should I say the Regressive Conservatives, stand, as fiscal policy managers. They stand on the backs and in the pocket books of the working population. This government is like an octopus with its eight tenacles into every pocket and purse. The people of Canada put this government into power on the strength of Free Trade and look what this got us. We are fast becoming a colony of America.

Thank you.

Yours sincerely,

Peter A. D'Cruz,

Partners Against Crime

The secretary of the Morrisburg Block Parent program, Linda Bowers, discussed ways of getting the community involved with OPP Sgt. Ralph Thompson Tuesday. Coincidentally, May 14th to the 20th marked Police Week across Ontario. This discussion is a fine example of this year's theme of "Policing is a Community Affair". Bowers said there still are applications available for anyone interested in becoming a Block Parent. —M. Thompson photo

Matilda looks at proposal to stop flooding

CATHERINE THOMPSON
Leader staff

BRINSTON — Two weekends ago, an inch to two inches of rain flooded crop lands here for the second time this spring, reminding Matilda council of an ongoing and serious problem.

"The South Branch has been weighing on our minds the last few weeks," said councillor Norm Tinkler, Matilda's representative on the South Nation River Conservation Authority at a regular meeting last Thursday.

Council had invited Authority chairman, Johnny Whitteker, General Manager of the Authority, Dennis O'Grady, Anna Smail, provincial appointee, and Engineer Phil McNeely to present a proposal on alleviating the flooding.

McNeely is presently involved in engineering work on flooding of the Bear Brook River, Cumberland Township.

"You certainly have a large and active farming area dependent on tile for drainage," said McNeely, suggesting council approach the Land and Water Management Branch of the Ministry of the Agriculture and Food, and ask the director to agree that drainage of land is required for agricultural purposes.

"Under the Drainage Act, if the director signs, it's just like any other petition," explained O'Grady. "You appoint an engineer who prepares a preliminary report, and proceed under the Drainage Act."

Council already has good information on the problem, since Stidwell Engineering completed a preliminary study two years ago. At that time, $1.5 million of proposed improvements to the South Branch of the South Nation River were suggested.

"Just get your application together in the right form, and get your member of parliament involved. Farming does represent a major industry in the area, and as such would merit consideration," said McNeely.

The report would identify the benefitting owners, the accompanying area and the work planned.

"This would be a way that OMAF may get something on the table that you people can look at," said McNeely. "If a majority or 60 per cent of the benefitting owners sign, council may go ahead with a final report."

He added that if the proposal were right, there would be a lot of benefitting groups — county and township roads, and farmlands which would be eligible for a one-third grant from the Ministry of Agricultural and Food.

The whole area would take in well over 5,000 acres of benefitting land in both Matilda and Edwardsburgh Townships.

Whitteker explained how the conservation authority and the Ministry of Natural Resources could pick up another third of the project costs.

"If an area is flooded, we as the authority may agree to do a petition at 25 per cent of one-third costs, and the ministry may agree to do their share at around 75 per cent."

This would leave the benefitting landowners to pick up the remaining tab of 30 to 40 per cent.

"But you'd have to be sure of that before going to the people," said Whitteker. "We wouldn't have much trouble putting a drain through on two thirds but we'd have a heck of a problem with one third."

Councillors expressed impatience to go ahead with the proposal, and contact the Ministry of Agriculture and Food for facts and figures to help them with their presentation.

According to McNeely, the application could be put together in two to three weeks. Tinkler suggested the township put money aside in case the proposal didn't proceed as smoothly as predicted.

"The $30,000 report isn't the big item in a million plus project, it's a way of getting the first step so people know what they're getting into," said McNeely.

Recreational facilities get financial boost from Tourism Ministry

WILLIAMSBURG — The recreation park at Williamsburg will receive a much-needed face lift this summer thanks to a Ministry of Tourism and Recreation Capital Conservation grant totalling $19,400.

The grant, which has too be matched by the township, will go towards new lights and poles at the ball diamond, a new ballfield fence and lights for the tennis courts.

"Hydro has been after us for some time now to do something with the lighting," says township clerk Mike Waddell pointing out that the existing lighting does not meet standards.

Along with Williamsburg, the Chesterville and District Agricultural Society received a $67,085 Capital Grant for New Recreation Facilities for a grandstand project and Prescott received a $177,613 Capital grant for the Prescott Harbor and Park Facilities project.

In total there were grants for 49 Eastern Ontario recreation projects announced by Ontario Minister of Tourism and Recreation, Hugh P. O'Neil.

The regional grants form part of $28 million to be spent province-wide in two phases this year under the Ministry's Capital Conservation and the Capital Grants for New Recreation Facilities Program.

Capital Grants help communities throughout Ontario develop innovative recreation projects and improve and maintain existing facilities.

The Capital Conservation Program was created in 1985 to improve existing recreation facilities throughout the province. It is designed to encourage communities to repair and renovate facilities such as arenas, swimming pools and community centres. Highest priority is given to buildings built before 1973.

The Capital Grants program for new recreation facilities provides support for the development of new and innovative sports, fitness and recreational facilities.

IN MEMORIAM

VAN ALLEN — In memory of Wilhemine Van Allen, a dear Aunt who passed away June 23, 1988.

VAN ALLEN — In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother, Wilhelmine Van Allen who passed away May 23, 1988.
God knew that she was suffering
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed her weary eyelids
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.

Barbara and Gordon and grandchildren

In memory of our parents, grandparents and great grandparents Olive E. Murphy who passed away May 19, 1979 and Ranald C. Murphy who passed away May 24, 1987.
Our lips cannot tell how we miss you
Our hearts cannot tell what to say
God only knows we miss you both
In our homes that are lonesome today
A million times we have needed you
For advice along the way
If love could have saved you
You'd be with us to-day.

HESS — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Gerald, who passed away May 19, 1988.
We do not need a special day
To bring you to our minds
For the days we do not think of you
Are very hard to find,
If all this world were ours to give,
We'd give it, yes and more,
To see your smiling face coming through the door.
Sadly missed, Betty, children and grandchildren

UCV celebrates Queen's birthday in 1860's style

MORRISBURG — The St. Lawrence Parks Commission is out to prove that the best things in life are free.

Over the years, local residents have shown great support for Upper Canada Village and in recognition of this, The St. Lawrence Parks Commission will host a special day for area residents.

On Sunday, May 21st, everyone will be admitted into the Village absolutely Free-of-charge and will be royally entertained as the Village celebrates Queen Victoria's birthday just like it was celebrated in the 1860s.

In those days, the Queen's birthday meant fun and celebration and, at Upper Canada Village, the tradition lives on. The public can enjoy a range of activities, from a band recital by the Old Bethpage Village Brass Band to militia drills and inspection at the Fairgrounds.

A parade will file past Cook's Tavern, which will also be the site of a demonstration by the Temperance Society. Those who like to actively participate are welcome to test their abilities in the athletic games at the Fairgrounds or cheer their favorite baseball team playing by 1860s rules.

Upper Canada Village, open from May 15th to October 15th, 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., is an accurate depiction of a small rural community around 1860. Last year, close to 250,000 people visited the site, rated as one of the top ten historical attractions in North America by the Michelin Green Guide of Canada.

Also open and Free-of-charge is the Battle of Crysler Farm Visitor Centre, located adjacent to the Village. Visitors will have the opportunity to enjoy a fascinating audio-visual presentation and exhibit displays focussing on one of the most important battles in the War if 1812.

The Village is located 11 km east of Morrisburg off Highway No. 2, Exit 750 or 758 off Highway No. 401.

UCW discuss the roles of church

INGLESIDE — Lois Johnson, replacing president Joan Hofman, presided at the May meeting of the general UCW of Trinity United Church, Ingleside.

The CGIT conducted the worship service with the theme "Motherhood" using the scriptural text verse 6, chapter 22 of the book of Proverbs. The readers were Kathi Antoine, leader, Heather Eligh, Tammy Moke and Peggy Antoine. Lois Johnson thanked the group on behalf of the UCW members.

The program presented by Unit 1 consisted of a film strip "The Growing Church" telling of the establishment of a church which started with nine people and grew to 250 people in 14 months. Meadowvale West Church Campus in Mississauga is used by four denominations Anglican, Lutheran, Presbyterian and United. Besides regular services these groups hold ecumenical services during the year as well as sharing fund raising and social events. Within the city there are many ministries for ethnic groups.

In downtown Vancouver it was necessary to demolish an 18 year old church, a new one is being built for these displaced and needy people. In Fort McMurray the church is providing services for transient workers and the lonely, as a symbol of stability. In these and many communities the church is growing in faith and providing new ministries.

The correspondence, read by Reta Raymond, included a thank you letter from Beryl Morrison for her 90th birthday party.

The Drop-in Centre, held the last Thursday of each month, is open to all denominations. For information call Margaret Markell 534-2003. The successful program for the last meeting was "Old School Days."

Joan Poapst announced we will cater to the Boy Scouts' Banquet in May and Marion Green reported 97 cookbpoks have been sold.

Summer events will be held August 4-6 at Bishop's College, Lennoxville, P.Q.

Enid Wasson announced the Conference UCW Executive will meet May 10-11 at St. Anicet, P.Q.

Following the adjournment lunch was served.

Womens Institute told about environment

MORRISBURG — President Beatrice Shaver welcomed 15 members and one guest to the May 11th meeting of the Morrisburg Women's Institute held at the Civic Centre.

Delegates were chosen to attend the District Annual Meeting in Winchester on May 24th.

Four members will attend a seminar on the "Challenge and Fun" of Waste Management on June 10th at North Dundas District High School. It is sponsored by the Eastern Ontario Area Women's Institutes in the nine districts of Dundas, Stormont, Glengarry, Prescott, Russell, Carleton East, Carleton West, Grenville North and Grenville South.

Maurine Casselman, Convenor of the meeting, displayed waste products which are not biodegradable.

She then introduced guest speaker, Mrs. Stella Rose, a member of the Mountain Municipal Council whose talk was on waste management.

She stressed the need for local councils to get behind a recycling program to be responsible for the amount of garbage they produce daily. It can be accomplished by recycling, re-use and composting.

She concluded her talk with the following statement.

"Our environment is our home. Its condition determines the quality of our life. The environment is both our inheritance and our bequest to our children. Protecting our environment is a responsibility that we all share. Waste management is the challenge of the future."

God Save the Queen was sung and lunch served by Maurine and her committee, Marian Thompson and Geraldine Carr.

Thirteen Seaway track and field athletes advance to Regional

CORNWALL — Led by a small but powerful senior girls team at the S.D.&G. track and field meet here Thursday, Seaway District High School will be represented by 13 athletes in 21 events at the Eastern Ontario Secondary School Association championship Thursday.

Despite last Thursday's all-day rain, combined with chilly temperatures, several of Seaway's athletes came through for first place medals and personal best performances.

It was senior girls, Laura Dawley, Lisa VanHoof, Kim Bucking, Robin Bouck and Tanya Dunning who really showed their stuff claiming five first place finishes for Seaway.

Leading the way was field specialist Laura Dawley who claimed firsts in shot put and discus and a second in javelin.

Boosts personal best

Dawley was particularly strong in shot put boosting her personal best from 10.43 meters to 11.38m. In fact almost all of her throws during the event were over her personal best and she was over the 11m mark at least twice.

For her first in discus Dawley came up with a 27.48m throw and her second in javelin was from a throw of 31.34m.

Following the results of the senior girls triple jump even coach Keith McIsaacc was wondering why he hadn't placed Kim Bucking in it in previous years.

Kim scored an easy victory in the triple jump with a jump of 8.93m and then moved to the track for a second in the 400m hurdles with a 1:18.0 time and a third in the 100m hurdles with a time of 20.9.

Also on the track was Lisa VanHoof who scored a first in the 100m with 13.5 time and a third in the 200m with a time of 29.5. In high jump she produced a 1.50m jump for a second.

The final first place finish for the senior girls came from the four by 100 relay team which consisted of Tanya Dunning, Bucking, Robin Bouck and VanHoof.

Impressive debut

Making an impressive debut for the Seaway boys at the midget level was Rob Domanko who claimed a pair of firsts and a third, all on the track.

Domanko kicked it off with a time of 10:52 to win the 3000m and added a second first in the 1500m with a time of 4:51.5. His third place finish came in the 800m with a 2:22.0 time.

The only other first for the Seaway boys came from Shawn Backes in junior shot put. Shawn threw 12.12m to win the medal in shot put and then produced a personal best throw of 29.36m in discus for a third place finish here.

Qualify with PBs

Also in javelin, Becky Fawcett qualified in the midget girls category with a PB throw of 20.06m and Randy Whitteker in senior boys with a PB throw of 40.00m.

Laurin Rushton qualified in junior girls triple jump with a jump of 8.40m for a fourth place finish and Robert Farlinger qualified in midget boys triple jump with a 9.88m jump for a fourth place.

On the track Nikki Easter had qualifying runs in the junior girls 100m with a time of 14.2 for second place and in the 400m with a time of 1:10.65 for a third.

Troy Suddard ran the senior boys 400m hurdles in 1:08.0 for a second place finish.

Miss qualifying

Several other Seaway athletes produced good performances to finish just outside of the qualifying placements.

Thomas Schraner just missed on the track with fourths in the 800, 1500 and 3000m races and Eric Millward was fourth in the 100m.

Becky Fawcett had a fifth in midget girls shot put with a PB throw of 8.03m and Jason Smith a fifth in senior boys discus with a 3.16m throw.

Jim Primrose took a fifth in junior boys triple jump with a 10.92m jump.

Fifth place finishes went to Robin Bouck in the senior girls 100m, Troy Suddard in senior boys steeplechase, and Tara Crowder in junior girls 3000m.

Picking up sixth place finishes were Lawrence Chan in midget boys long jump, Jeff Burgess in senior boys javelin, Shawn Markell in senior boys discus and shot put, Robin Bouck in senior girls 200m and long jump, and Troy Suddard in senior boys long jump.

Javelin athletes were up against a strong wind. Above Kelly Tryon gets set for a throw

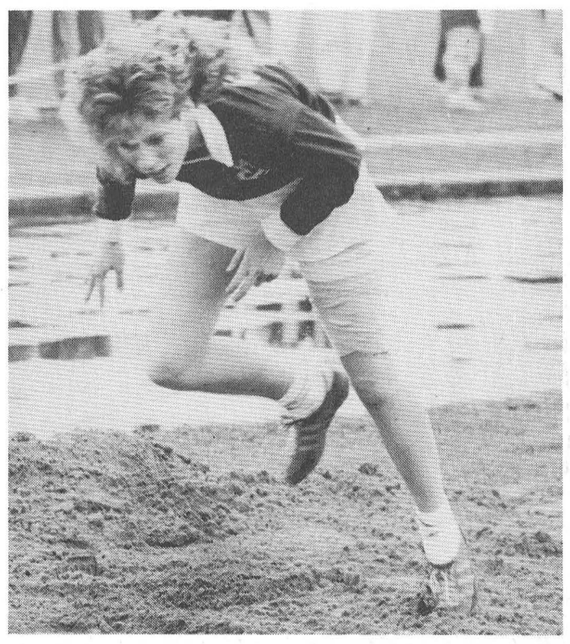
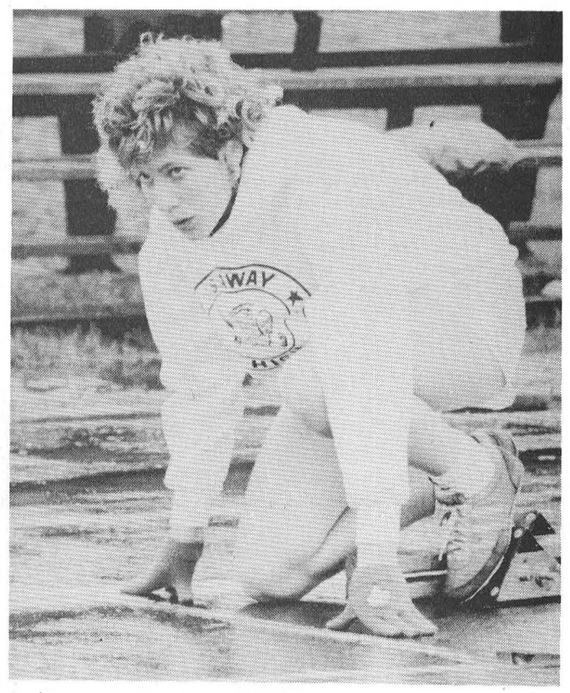
Troy Suddard second in hurdles





Kim Bucking posts first in triple jump and qualifies in 100 and 400 m hurdles.

Glengarry High, top school at SD&G meet

CORNWALL — It rained, and then it rained some more but it didn't stop the athletes representing Glengarry District High School from claiming the S.D.&G. track and field championship hosted by General Vanier here Thursday.

The Glengarry athletes claimed 415 points for the AA school championship, narrowly beating out North Dundas and La Citadelle tied at 399 points.

The A school championship went to St. Joseph's who finished third overall with 321 points.

Glengarry had the best boys team collecting 277 points, the senior boys winning their age category with 126 points.

The top girls team was North Dundas with 272 points, its strength coming from the midget girls with 116.

The top senior and junior girls teams were from La Citadelle with 107 and 88 points respectively while Cornwall Collegiate led the junior boys field and St. Joe's the midget boys.

The best individual senior boy was Ken Herman of Glengarry and top midget boy was Mike Jeaurond also of Glengarry.

Jill Blasko of General Vanier and Karrie-Lynn Thompson of North Dundas shared the top senior girl award and Laurie Dupuis of General Vanier was the top junior female. The top junior boy was John Markell of St. Joe's.

In the midget girls category, Karen Amott of CharLan, Laurie Zyrmiak of North Dundas and Shoana Blackadder of St. Lawrence tied as top athlete.

The Leader Sports

First champions at Cedar Glen

WILLIAMSBURG — Dave Bird, Lea Anne Munro and Ken Young all stepped into the winner's circle here Saturday, kicking off the Cedar Glen Golf Calendar with the first championships of the year.

Bird claim the opening tournament championship with a 76, Munro won the ladies field with an 89 and Kent Young's 84 gave him the junior championship.

For the men, Randy Leclair won B flight with an 83, Pete VanKessel C flight with a 95 and John Phifer D flight with a 97.

The ladies flight winners were Lori Hutt in B with a 112, Lisa Schell in C with a 114 and Nadene Harper in D with a 123.

It was a 68 that did the talking for men's net wins, Steve Willmets, Merle Reaney and Reg Harper all posting 68s to win low net in A, B, and C flights respectively. Brian Young, however, won D flight with the low net of the day at 66.

The ladies net winners were Cyndie Summers with a 73 in A flight, Micheline Lexmond with a 74 in B flight, Deanna Marchand with a 75 in C and Dawn Berry with a 77 in D.

Junior winners were Jo-Anne Larocque who had the low net with a 72, Todd Larocque who claimed low gross in D with a 108 and Chrys Reaney who had low net in D with an 83.

Big catches in local fish derby

MORRISBURG — There weren't very many outdoor activities that could be enjoyed over the weekend thanks to the extremely wet conditions but it didn't effect local fisherman, 102 of whom participated in the Charlie's Sport Shop Pike and Pickerel Derby.

In fact for five locals, it was time well spent, for when the derby closed Sunday they were the recipients of more than $500 in cash and prizes.

Although the number was down from last year's 131 participants and the winning fish were slightly smaller, derby sponsor Charlie Cassell was happy with the results.

For the first time ever organizers found themselves with a tie for the winning pike. Kevin Whitteker of Cardinal and Kevin Casselman of Williamsburg both weighed in pike Saturday that tipped the scales at 12 pounds, 8.75 ounces.

Both fish measured a 36 inch length and a 16.5 inch girth.

For Casselman, however the win was a little disappointing.

"Kevin caught his pike in his motor prop and lost part of its stomach," explained Doug Cassell. "It was obvious that if this hadn't happened he would have had the winner."

For his second place pike that weighed in at 11 pounds 4.50 ounces, Donald O'Donahue from the Riverside area received a rod and reel valued at $80 from Direct Factory Sales.

In the pickerel division Darren Robertson of Morrisburg claimed the top prize money of $190 with his pickerel weighing eight pounds, seven ounces with a 28 inch length and 15 inch girth.

Second prize of a rod and reel, again from Direct Factory Sales, went to Korey Casselman of Williamsburg with his pickerel weighing six pounds, 14.5 ounces.

All of the top prize winners were fishing in the St. Lawrence but none wished to disclose their exact locations.

In total nine pickerel and eight pike were weighed in.

"A lot more were brought in, but weren't officially registered because they were smaller than the leaders," says Cassell.

In both categories the weight of the winning fish was down from last year's prize getters. The 1988 winning pike weighed 14 pounds, 1.5 ounces and the winning pickerel tipped the scales at six pounds, nine ounces.

"The winning fish in both categories are an average size," says Cassell. "The water is cold and high and the fishermen don't know where the fish are this year."

Indoor soccer ends with win

MORRISBURG — After getting beat up in Toronto in March, the Spartans Soccer Club continued to sputter through April as they were man-handled at the Cornwall City indoor tournament and then continued to slide at the Royals tournament in Ottawa.

But last week in Kingston, when things looked the bleakest, the Spartans came up with their best effort in months to stop their losing streak at 12 games and register a 2-0 shutout for goalkeep Bill Ault.

In Cornwall the results were painful, the Spartans losing to Hampstead Foster of Montreal 4-0, Brampton Eagles 3-0 and finally the Easterners of Halifax 11-0.

In Ottawa it was much of the same story with a 2-0 loss to the Condors of Brampton, a 1-0 loss to Toronto and a 6-0 loss to East York Todmorden.

Heading to Kingston last weekend, the team was fairly confident they would finally break their 10-game indoor losing streak which stretched all the way back to early February.

They faced two old-rivals they had beaten in the past and were looking for at least a win and a tie.

They opened their round-robin against Kingston Menu Santos who handed them a 3-0 loss and despite a good effort against the Kingston Alpines, they finished on the wrong side of the 1-0 score.

Game three against the Cornwall league rival Cosmos was an important one the Spartans now having run their losing streak to 12 games. They wanted a win badly to finish off the indoor season on some kind of positive note.

Playing with a minimum of six players, the Spartans out-played the Cosmos for the duration of the game.

Their first goal came from Jay Merkley who fed a pass in front of the goal where Brian Bennett was waiting to left foot it home. They made it 2-0 when Pat Burke converted a penalty kick mid-way through the game.

Then with just four minutes left in the game Burke was red-carded for a pushing match and the Spartans were forced to play short-handed.

But the defensive pair of Bob Fowler and Neil Cherry were up to the challenge, helping Bill Ault to record his first shut-out of the indoor season.

Hoy completes Red Sox spring training, managers happy with performance

CARDINAL — Cardinal's Peter Hoy is emerging successfully from Minor League Spring Training with the Boston Red Sox, and will be starting with the Elmira Red Sox Minor League in June.

The six-foot, seven-inch right hander signed a one year contract for Spring Training with the Red Sox last year, and has been in Winter Haven, Florida since March working out with the other rookies.

Peter's father, Jack says he has pitched well this spring in a two-division minor league on an exhibition schedule of 35 games.

His overall record is three games won, and one lost, in games where he had the decision. "The managers of the Red Sox are happy with him," says Jack.

The 19th Hole

MORRISBURG — Last week's rain finally caught up to us at the Morrisburg Golf Club Sunday, when it was decided that due to course conditions it would be best to postpone the Hugh Hutchison Memorial Opening Day tournament until this weekend.

Tee-times are available from 10-12:30 for Sunday and anyone who signed for last week can keep the same time slot. If you had signed for last Sunday and are unable to make it on the 21st please call in and have your name removed from the list.

A reminder that the opening is a two-person scramble so get a partner and come out. Registration is $5 all of which will be used for prizes and a potluck supper will follow.

The ladies got really lucky for their opening night, getting the only sunshine of the week. Some 75 golfers were out for the opening Tuesday, which was sponsored by The Morrisburg Leader.

Leading the field was Barb Sheridan with a 43 followed by Debbie Mabo with a win in B flight with a 48. Judy Laurin won C flight with a 58 and Irma Mutchler claimed D flight with a 56 followed by Jane Lee with a 62. The win in D plus went to Bonnie VanMoorsel.

The most honest golfer of the evening was Bonnie Baker and Sue Jones was the hidden hole low winner with a five on number seven. The hidden hole high was won by Pat McEwen and Marg Felker won the door prize.

The ladies nine hole ladder tournament is posted as is the year-long match play tournament which has as top prize a 1990 membership. So get your name on the list.

As well the couples match-play ladder tournament is ready to roll so all those who have signed check the ladder for your position and make your first challenge. Anyone still interested in playing in the couples ladder tournament can sign up this week.

The men also opened their year last week but the weather didn't co-operate. Despite it all 53 men showed up, all of whom we might add got nine holes in. Another handful stopped in for their dinner.

The evening was sponsored by Eckel Industries but names of the winners were not supplied.

A reminder to the men that the 1989 men's match play sign-up sheet is posted and right now it is mostly A flight players who have signed. Please remember that you play within your own flight and there are nice prizes at the top of each. The winner of each flight then advances to the final to play off for a 1990 membership.

Registrations are being taken for all 50th Anniversary events, and the tournament on Saturday, June 3 is over half full. So get your name in now. The $15 entry fee covers golf, a prize table valued at $1,000 a dinner featuring barbecued pig and a dance.

Coming Up — Sunday, May 21, Hugh Hutchison Memorial Opening Day Tournament. $5. entry fee. Potluck supper. Tee-times available from 10 a.m. on.

Nancy Van Allen, of Morrisburg was presented with a $100 cheque on Friday from Brian Wheeler, manager of Morrisburg Freshmart for research and education by the Multiple Sclerosis Society. Nancy and her volunteers raised a total of $1100 from Thursday to Saturday by selling bouquets of carnations and single silk flowers in time for Mother's Day.

Matilda council briefs

BRINSTON — Matilda Council is looking at a major overhaul of the Dundela Rink. The recreation committee had budgeted for repairs to the rink, which must be raised since it is in a low-lying area, and boards around the rink need to be replaced.

Since the rink is situated in a low-lying area, the holding tank for the septic system is under water and not functioning properly. "The Department of Health has been in, and isn't too happy," says Barb Scott, recreation representative.

As a result of holding tank problems, council is debating moving the rink and septic system and is considering acquisition of an adjacent area of land. Negotiations between George Shaw, a Dundela property owner, and council are ongoing.

•

Council has agreed in principle that the Matilda Resource Centre use the Dundela Church under terms of a special agreement. Terms of the agreement, which is between the Resource Centre and council, have not yet been worked out, but the intent is that part of the church be used as a community resource area to help Matilda residents.

•

So far, all signers of a water survey in Brinston to be conducted free of charge by the Ministry of the Environment, have been 100 per cent in favor.

•

Council approved the appointment of Proctor and Redfern consultants to conduct an official plan review of the township.

•

Road superintendent Bob Kuske has been noticing an unusually large number of vehicles using the Matilda landfill site, and will be placing a sign at the gate to remind people that only Matilda and Iroquois residents are to use it.

•

Matilda Township received a letter from Duane Crawford, drain superintendent of the Township of Edwardsburgh, stating that no mention of paying maintenance fees on the Chess Drain will be made until a complaint is discussed.

The letter describes an "insufficient outlet for drainage from assessed lands in Edwardsburgh Township" in the Chess Drain, and Clerk Bill Horner contact Crawford on the matter.

Allocations for Tile Drainage this year have been received in the amount of $105,800, and $53,900 in applications have been made.

•

A recommendation will be made to the 12-member Local Architectural Conservation Advisory Committee that six members be appointed for two years and four for one year. Reeve Lorne Mellan is ex-officio member, and Arliss Casselman is a two-year appointee.

•

A consideration meeting for the Arnold-Barkley Drain will be held on September 25, at next Matilda Council meeting. Four ratepayers have been assessed for the drain.

Court Security
Whose responsibility?

Just at a time when police forces have been expanding their activities to include more community-based and social-awareness programs, those programs are being threatened by a bill currently before the provincial legislature.

Bill 187 will give municipalities the full responsibilty of providing security for all provincial courts in the area.

The problem is — the government is not providing sufficient money to go along with the extra responsibility.

If this bill becomes law, either municipal taxes must be increased or local police forces will have to provide officers for courthouse duty by taking them away from other activities.

Activities such as the R.I.D.E. Program, which has been so successful in reducing the number of drunk-driving accidents.

Activities such as classroom visits to schools, informing students of the dangers of drugs and alcohol, and how to avoid them.

Activities such as crisis intervention teams, greater involvement in the community and increased visibility on the streets.

At present, court security arrangements are a series of ad hoc agreements among municipalities, local police forces, and the O.P.P.

Two reports commissioned by the government to look into court security recommended that the province be responsible for security in the provincial courts.

As has been the case so often with the Peterson Liberal Government, the reports were ignored, and municipalities will now have to bear full responsibility and cost.

There is one last chance for a reprieve. The bill is being studied by the Justice Committee, and municipalities and police forces from across the province have appeared before the committee asking that the bill be withdrawn and re-written.

Correction

MORRISBURG — A story in last week's issue of The Leader concerning ladies auxiliary representatives of the Morrisburg Legion winning a card tournament had the right general idea but the wrong deck of cards.

While it was misunderstood and reported by The Leader that the ladies, Dorothy McBain, Goldie Daoust, Sarah Merkley and Jean Vaughan had won the Zone Euchre Championship, in fact the game they were playing was cribbage.

"We didn't even place in the euchre tournament," says Merkley. "And we're getting phone calls about how we can now advance to the District euchre final."

The ladies, will however be pegging away at the district cribbage championship in the near future. They won at the zone level by a full eight points over the second place finishers.

The Leader regrets any inconvenience the mistake may have created.

"When we built our new R-2000 home, the only things we left out were the drafts."

Chris & Gail Lazenby, R-2000 Homeowners, Stirling

"I guess the best word to describe our old place was drafty. It was a great place. We loved it. But we could never keep it comfortable enough.

"So when we decided to buy a new house, we decided to go R-2000. We checked into it and found that R-2000 would do two things. Cut down on energy costs, and make the place a lot more comfortable.

"The double-glazed windows are great. The ground source heat pump gives us air conditioning in the summer, too. And the fireplace keeps the living room cozy.

"Before we couldn't imagine what it would be like living without drafts. But at times it gets hard to remember what it was like living with them."

Minister sympathetic toward cuts at SLPC

MIKE THOMPSON
Leader staff

CORNWALL — There was a certain amount of irony to the Minister of Tourism's visit here Friday.

In a 15-minute speech, Hugh O'Neil told a group of more than a 100 tourism-related business-people that not only is the tourism industry in Ontario alive and well, it's thriving.

But following his optimistic address, he told reporters that his government is forced to make some rather deep cuts in programming and scheduling this year.

O'Neil was responding to questions about the provincial government's decision to order the St. Lawrence Parks Commission to shorten the operating season of some of its parks.

The commission expects that some 30 jobs will be directly affected by the rescheduling.

Furthermore, the Federal government's announcement in early April to make it tougher for Canadians to file for unemployment insurance will also pose serious problems for the commission's 300 seasonal staff.

O'Neil was sympathetic but said the decision was part of his government's policy to be fiscally responsible.

"It's rather unfortunate but we've had to cut-back this year. I understand that it may be an unpopular move but that's what the committee recommended."

The minister was referring to the province's Standing Committee on Public Accounts, which reviewed the spending practices of the commission on November 17.

As part of the committee's recommendations, it suggested that the commission roll-back spending during the quiet shoulder seasons.

"That committee has representatives from all three parties and they requested the commission cut-back on some of the operating seasons and we, as the government in power, must respect their decision," he said.

Ironically, five minutes earlier, O'Neil said "tourism has become a tremendously effective tool for economic development."

"It creates jobs and wealth that can substantially improve the quality of life for everyone in the community."

The minister added that tourism has become a $10 billion-a-year business in Ontario, which represents nearly five per cent of the Gross Provincial Product.

More directly, O'Neil said the tourism industry generates more than $240 million-a-year locally with a third of that going to taxes.

O'Neil was in Cornwall to help the Seaway Valley Tourist Council unveil its Tourism Showcase which featured displays from various local tourism businesses, including the St. Lawrence Parks Commission and the City of Cornwall.

Area seniors receive a $7,000 grant

WILLIAMSBURG — A group of retired people from Williamsburg will receive a New Horizons grant for $7,000, the Honourable Perrin Beatty, Minister of National Health and Welfare, announced today.

Williamsburg Township Senior Citizens' Group will complete renovations of quarters.

New Horizons is a federal government program that enables retired people to create projects of their own choosing. It offers grants to groups who undertake activities for the benefit of them selves and others in the community. The accent is on local needs as seen by older people and on their willingness to meet such needs.

Cornwall Airport to receive new terminal

OTTAWA — The Honourable Paul Dick, Minister of Supply and Services, announced May 4 on behalf of Transport Minister Benoit Bouchard that the federal government will contribute a lump sum of $275,000 towards construction of a new terminal building at Cornwall Regional Airport.

The proposed 170 square meter building will accommodate offices for the airport manager and commercial operators, ticket counters and public washrooms. The building can be expanded at a later date if required.

"Regional airports are vital to the economies of the municipalities they serve," said Mr. Dick, "and the money being provided for the new terminal building at Cornwall Regional Airport is a demonstration that the federal government recognizes that fact and is prepared to assist when it can."

Cornwall Regional Airport has a scheduled commercial air service operated by Pem Air Ltd., serving the general public and the Cornwall business community with two flights daily to Toronto. A flying club and charter services operate out of the airport and aircraft repairs are also available.

Funding for the terminal is being provided under Transport Canada's financial assistance program for local and local commercial airports. The Airport Commission is to provide a design, tendering and construction.

Once Transport Canada and the Airport Commission have reached and signed an agreement on project plans, two years are allowed for construction.

Ride Program blitz

TORONTO — Victoria Day weekend will kick off the first of long weekend R.I.D.E. blitzes this summer.

For the first time, the Ministry of the Solicitor General, in conjunction with the Ontario Provincial Police, regional and municipal forces, is sponsoring a co-operative R.I.D.E. program, to take place on long weekends during the summer.

The concept, initiated by a co-ordinated traffic management group looking at ways to solve common accident-causing problems will continue through until Thanksgiving Day weekend.

R.I.D.E. teams will be out in full force in towns and cities and on roads leading to cottage country, beaches and resort areas.

The goal is to reduce drinking-driving motor vehicle accidents by increasing the risk of apprehension. The program has already proved effective in influencing driver behaviour during the festive season.

Long weekends in the summer are traditionally a time when accidents due to impaired driving occur.

Don't mix boating, booze warn Ontario police

TORONTO — Statistics show that one out of two Ontarians will be involved with boating this year. With that in mind, the Ontario Provincial Police has prepared information designed to alert the public to dangers related to boating.

Last year, fatalities were up, with 64 killed compared to 43 in 1987. Approximately half of fatal accidents are alcohol-related.

"Alcohol consumption is more hazardous on a small boat than on shore," said S/Sgt. Larry Smith. "It throws off co-ordination, balance and judgment, which are very important factors in safe boating."

Eighty-five per cent of those killed were not wearing life jackets.

"Life jackets won't work if you don't wear them," said Smith. "It is difficult even for a good swimmer to locate a jacket and put it on after capsizing."

Hypothermia is another dangerous factor that should be considered. Most lakes have an average temperature of 2 degrees Celsius in May, and at that temperature, life expectancy can be measured in seconds.

"Cold water chills 25 times faster than cold air. If your boat capsizes, you should try to get as much of your body out of the water and onto the boat as you can. Of course, you should also dress warmly for this kind of weather. Even though the air may feel warm, the water isn't," said Smith.

More than three-quarters of the fatal accidents that occurred last year could have been prevented if boaters had respected basic safety rules and used proper safety equipment, according to Smith.
